(577)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Registered and unregistered documents—Priority—Vendee under registered sale-deed competing with auction purchaser at a sale under a decree on a prior unregistered mortgage-deed.—Held that a title resting on a registered sale-deed of the 29th August 1895 could not be defeated by a sale in execution of a decree obtained on the 20th April 1897 in a suit upon an unregistered mortgage of the same property dated the 21st July 1894 to which suit the vendee of 1895 was not a party. BALDEO PRASAD v. BALDEO, A.W.N. 1901, 112. (13 A. 288, 28 C. 139, F.; 7 A. 888, Overrueld.) [R., 30 A. 238=A.W.N. 1908, 99=5 A.L.J. 607.]

(578)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1871, s. 50)—Suit governed by Registration Law at institution—Registered and unregistered sale-deeds —Procedure—Construction of section.—Under s. 6, Act I of 1868 (General Clauses), a suit is governed by the Registration Law in force at its institution, and not by that in force at its hearing. A compulsorily registrable registered sale-deed has no precedence over a prior optionally registrable unregistered deed of sale of the same property. [D., 4 A. 227; Cons., 7 C. 570 =9 C.L.R. 224; R., 6 B. 168, 13 B. 229] Where the rights of the patries are intended to be taken away by a penal legislation of the kind referred to in s. 50, the language of the law must be construed very strictly against any derogation of right. AGRA SINGH v. ABLAKI KOOER, 4 C. 536=3 C L.R. 436.

(579)—S. 50—Registration Act, XIX of 1843 —Deed—Registration—Priority—Sale.—A deed of sale registered under Act XIX of 1843 has priority over an unregistered deed of an earlier date. MALESHAPPA KARVIRAPPA v. BASSAPPA N. SHETAVNEKAR, 1 B.H C. 10. [D., 7 B.H.C. O.C. 45, 1 B. 574.]

(580)—S. 50—Registration Act, XIX of 1843 —Sale of land—Priority.—By Act XIX of 1843, any unregistered deed of sale is invalidated by a registered deed of sale of the same property, provided that the latter be authentic. And this preference is not confined only to those cases where the earlier and unregistered deed of sale has not been carried into effect. PRABHUDAS HIRACHUND v. DHONDU BHIKAM BHAT, 2 B H C. 222. [R., 1 B. 574; D., 9 B.H.C. 121.]

(581)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Scope of—Notice—Sale—Compulsorily registrable—Possession—Effect.—If a prior encumbrancer or vendee was in possession under a compulsorily registrable document, which, owing to his own fault, he omitted to get registered, a subsequent registered purchaser or encumbrancer will be entitled to oust the unregistered vendee or encumbrancer from possession and take the property free from any charge, notwithstanding the fact of his having had notice of the possession of such unregistered purchaser or encumbrancer. HARNAM DAS v. HIRA, 90 P.R. 1885 F.B (126 P.R. 1884, 14 P.R 1885, Appr.; 2 P.R. 1885. D.; 18 P.R. 1878, 70 P.R 1880, 37 P.R. 1882, 102 P.R. 1883, 159 P.R. 1883, R.) [D., 15 P.R. 1908.] See, also, SHANKAR DAS v. DAMODAR DAS, 90 P.R. 1885, note. [Cited, 90 P.R. 1885.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, .XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(582)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) — Registered and unregistered documents — Priority—Notice — Sale. — The holder of a registered deed of sale of immoveable property who, at the time of the making of his contract of sale, had notice of a prior unregistered mortgage, which did not require registration, is not entitled to priority by reason of s. 50 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, over the holder of the unregistered mortgage. DIWAN SINGH v. JADHO SINGH, 20 A. 252=A.W.N. 1898, 82. [R., 25 A. 366=A.W.N. 1903, 81.]

(583)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Priority—Possession under unregistered document—Sale—Notice.—Where a registered purchaser has notice that his vendor had previously conveyed away the property to some third person by an unregistered conveyance, it is contrary to equity and good conscience that his title (though under the registered deed) should be allowed to prevail. But although the fact of the unregistered purchaser having taken possession is not conclusive evidence of notice, such possession is, in the great majority of cases, very cogent evidence of notice. NANI BIBEE v. HAFIZULLAH, 10 C. 1073. [Appr., 16 M. 148, F.B.; R., 8 A. 540, 27 B. 452, 1 L.B.R. 293]

(584)—S. 50—Registered sale deed — Lien under unregistered deed — Registration Act (XIX of 1843).—Under Act XIX of 1843, a registered sale deed does not give the purchaser any preferential right to avoid an unregistered lien created by the seller to his judgment-creditor. BISSONATH SINGH v. RAJ CHUNDER ROY, W.R 1864, 141.

(585) — S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 50)—Priority — Sale.—A registered sale—though of a subsequent date, is, under s. 50 of Act XX of 1866, entitled to priority over an unregistered mortgage of the same property which is earlier in date. ALI AZIM KHAN v. ISLAM KHAN, 14 W.R. 483.

(586)—S. 50—Act XVI of 1864, s. 68—Registration—Registered and unregistered sale-deeds —Priority—Possession. — Under s. 68 of Act XVI of 1864, in the absence of proof of fraud, a later registered deed of sale has priority over an earlier unregistered one, even where the registration is optional and even though the person claiming under the unregistered deed holds possession under it. GOOROO DAS DAN v. KOOSHOOM KOOMAREE DOSSEE, 9 W.R. 547. [R., 9 B.H.C. 121, 2 B. 299, 5 C. 336=4 C.L.R. 257; D., 7 C. 753=10 C.L.R. 129.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(587)—S. 50—Registered and unregistered deeds of sale, conflict between—Effect of Act XIX of 1843.—A genuine deed of sale under which possession has passed to the purchaser, and which was given by the owner of the estate at a time when registration was not compulsory is not invalidated by a subsequent deed given by that owner's heir and successor, the registration of which is compulsory merely because the last deed was registered and the first was not. The provisions of Act XIX of 1843, do not apply where the vendors are different persons. IMRIL SINGH v. KOYLESHOO KOER, 11 W. R. 559. [R., 12 W.R. 217, 9 B.H.C. 121, 6 B. 168, F.B.]

(588) — S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)—Registered and unregistered conveyances —Priority—Sale-deed.—Where property (worth less than Rs. 100 and whose conveyance, in consequence, is optionally registrable) was conveyed by the owner twice over, by an unregistered document and a registered instrument, respectively, held that the fact of the vendor having given possession to the first and unregistered vendee, though such possession might have continued down to the date of the second registered sale, did not necessarily prevent the operation of the enactment in s. 50 of the Registration Act that "a registered document shall take effect as regards the property therein comprised, against every unregistered document relating to the same property;" and that the only case in which the title of the prior unregistered purchaser can prevail over that of the subsequent registered purchaser for value is when the latter takes with notice of the former—Prinsep, J., dissenting; a purchaser under a registered conveyance subsequently executed cannot succeed in a suit to eject one, who holds possession under a prior but unregistered conveyance, the registration of which is optional.—Per Prinsep, J. NARAIN CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. DATARAM RAY, 8 C. 597, F.B.=10 C.L R. 241. [R., 10 C. 424, 10 C. 1073, 10 C. 1087, 8 A. 540, 13 C. 70, 16 M. 148, F.B., 2 O.C. 74.]

(589) — S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 50)—Unregistered deed of sale—Registered certificate of sale—Priority.—A subsequent registered certificate of sale of immoveable property by the Court does not take precedence over a prior unregistered deed of sale of the same property where the registration of such unregistered deed is optional under the provisions of the Act. If a creditor cause to be sold property which does not belong to his judgment-debtor at all, the purchaser cannot acquire a title against the real owner by merely registering his certificate. LAKHMICHAND WALCHAND v. KASTUR BECHAR, 9 B.H.C 60. [Diss., 12 B.H. C. 241; F., 8 B. 489; Appr., 6 B. 193, F.B.; R., 20 B. 158.]

(590)—S. 50—Registration—Priority—Sale-deeds.—The law requires, if there are two deeds

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

of sale, that effect shall be given to the latter deed, supposing it to be registered, rather than to the earlier one unregistered, notwithstanding knowledge or notice of the unregistered deed on the part of the party to the registered deed. The benefit of priority over an earlier unregistered deed of sale does not extend to a registered document which, although in form a deed of sale, is in truth a fraudulent deed of gift. NETTRO GOPAL CHUNDER v. DWARKANATH MULLICK, 1 W.R. 314. [R., 4 B. 126, F.B.]

(591)—S. 50—Sale of same property to two persons—Registration—Priority — Registration Act (XIX of 1843).—A registered sale-deed is entitled to priority, under Act XIX of 1843, over an unregistered one (both the sale-deeds being in respect of the same property), even though the former is subsequent in date, and the vendees under both the deeds bona fide bought the property. SYUD NUZUR ALI v. SYUD EMDAD ALI, 1 W. R. 206.

(592) — S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)—Scope of—Expression "duly registered," meaning of—Instruments which are not both optionally registrable—Priority—Act (VIII of 1871), s. 50—Vendee not taking possession from vendor—Effect—Fraud.—S. 50 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) has no application to cases where the contest is between an unregistered instrument whenever executed and a registered instrument executed before the Act came into force. It applies only to cases where the registered instrument is subsequent to the Act. The section has no retrospective effect, and the words "duly registered" in the section mean duly registered under that Act and not under any prior Act. The plaintiff, vendee of the land in dispute under a registered deed of sale dated 1st February, 1872, sued to recover possession from the defendants who claimed the same land by purchase from one X, who had purchased from the plaintiff's vendor by an unregistered deed of sale dated 15th July, 1871. The sale-deed relied on by the plaintiff was compulsorily registrable, and the other relied on by the defendant was optionally registrable. Held that, under s. 50 of Act VIII of 1871, which was in force when the instruments in question were executed, the contest can only be between instruments both of which are optionally registrable and that, consequently, by virtue of its being registered, the sale deed of the plaintiff was entitled to no priority over the earlier deed under which the defendant claimed. Held also that, by merely omitting to take possession of the land on his purchase, the defendant's vendor was not guilty of any positive fraud or of any concealment or negligence so gross as to amount to fraud that would entitle the plaintiff to relief against him. SHIVRAM v. SAYA, 13 B. 229. [R., 20 B. 158, 3 Bom. L.R. 679.]

(593)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)—Purchase of property under prior unregistered sale—Vendor taking lease of property sold from vendee—Decree for rent against vendor—Subsequent sale under registered deed—Priority—Effect of decree for rent.—Certain property was purchased by A from B in 1876, but the sale-deed was not registered. On the day of purchase, the vendor took a lease of the property from the vendee who, in 1878, sued the vendor for rent due under the lease and obtained a decree. B having sold the property in 1881 under a registered sale to another person the latter brought the present suit against A in 1888 for recovering possession.—Held (1) that, under s. 50 of the Registration Act (III of 1877), the plaintiff's registered deed, though subsequent in date, must prevail over the defendant's unregistered earlier deed, and (2) that the decree for rent obtained by the defendant A in the suit for rent in the year 1878 did not give him priority over the plaintiff under s. 50 of the Registration Act (1877). Assuming that the defendant's ownership was not in dispute in the rent suit in which the decree was passed, as appears to have been the case from there being no declaration of his title as owner, the decree merely adjudicated as to the relationship of landlord and tenant between the defendant and his vendor created subsequently to the sale. The title of the defendant as owner was not merged in the decree, but rested exclusively on his deed of sale although his vendor B might not, whilst he was his tenant, be able to dispute it. KESHAV PANDURANG v. VINAYAK HARI, 8 B. 355, F.B. [F., 28 C. 139; R., 27 B. 452.]

(594)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)—Notice of earlier unregistered deed, effect of, on priority claimable by holder of subsequent registered deed.—Though s. 50 of the Registration Act which provides that certain documents shall, if duly registered, take effect, as regards the property comprised therein, against unregistered documents relating to the same property, makes no reference whatever to the holder of the subsequent registered documents having notice of the prior unregistered one, yet, the equitable doctrine of notice has been held to be applicable to such cases so that the registered holder cannot avail himself of the provisions of s. 50 of the Act, if, at the time he registers the deed, either he himself or an agent, whose knowledge is the knowledge of the principal, has notice of an earlier deed, which, though executed, is not registered, and the registration which he has actually effected cannot give him priority over the unregistered deed of which he has such notice. DIWAN SINGH v. JADH SINGH, 19 A. 145=A.W.N. 1897, 19. (13 C. 70, 10 B. 105, 16 M. 148, F.; 8 A. 540, R.) [Affirmed on appeal., 20 A. 252; F., 30 A. 238=A.W.N. 1908, 99=5 A.L.J. 607; R., 27 B. 452, 25 A. 366=23 A.W.N. 81, 9 C.W.N. 14.]

(595)—S. 50—Certificate of sale—Registration—Priority—Unregistered lease.—A certificate

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

of sale is not a document of such a character as to be entitled by law to any priority, by virtue of its being registered, over an unregistered lease. FAKIRCHAND GOVINDRAM v. KAHANDAS, 3 B.H.C. A.C. 367.

(596)—S. 50—Act XX of 1866—Priority—Certificate of Court's sale.—An unregistered deed of sale accompanied by immediate possession ought to be preferred to a subsequent registered certificate of a Court's sale or to a subsequent deed unaccompanied by possession. MANMAL valad SURATMAL v. DASHRATH valad NARAYAN, 9 B.H.C. 147. [Appr., 7 C.753=10 C.L.R. 129; R., 1 B. 624, 2 B. 299, 27 B. 452=5 Bom. L.R. 144.]

(597)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 50) —Act XX of 1866, ss. 18 & 50—Execution sale—Contest between two rival auction-purchasers—Certificate of sale—Act VIII of 1859, s. 259.—Of the purchases of the plaintiff and the defendant, two auction purchasers, the plaintiff's purchase was prior, but his certificate of sale was not registered. The defendant was in possession, and his certificate was registered. Registration was optional in both cases. Held that, under Act XX of 1866, s. 50, the defendant's title was entitled to priority over that of the plaintiff. PANHA KHUMAJI v. FATTA UPAJI, 12 B.H.C. 179. [Appl., 5 C. 336; D., 4 C.L.R. 257, 10 C. 250, 7 C. 753.]

(598)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Priority—Auction sale.—Plaintiff was the purchaser at an auction sale of the properties of one M, judgment-debtor. He held an unregistered mortgage-deed, dated 1869, and obtaining a decree, purchased, in execution of that decree in 1875, his judgment-debtor's interests. The defendants held a possessory mortgage, dated 1873, from the same M of the same properties, and their deed was a registered one. The plaintiff sued to obtain possession of the share of M. Held that the defendants' registered mortgage was entitled to priority over the plaintiff's, and that the plaintiff's suit ought to be dismissed as he was not willing to acknowledge and pay off the prior incumbrance; held, also, that the fact that the plaintiff was an auction-purchaser on a decree passed in respect of a prior unregistered bond gave him no superior rights over the defendants, and that the priority of the defendants' registered bond conferred by the Registration Act was not affected by the circumstance of a decree having been obtained on the unregistered bond of a prior date. RAGHUBANS KUAR v. GANGA PHUL, A.W.N. 1886, 133.

(599)—S. 50 (=Registration Acts, 1871 & 1877, s. 50)—Decrees.—The omission to register decrees does not make them ineffectual against subsequent registered assignments or decrees, as they are excluded from the operation to s. 50. KOLLURI NAGABHUSHANUM v. AMMANNA, 3 M. 71. [D., 6 M. 88, 18 B. 355.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(600)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Decrees—Registered and unregistered bond —Priority.—A decree obtained upon a subsequent registered hypothecation bond had no priority over a prior decree obtained upon an unregistered hypothecation bond. The Court could not go behind either of the decrees, whose priority must be determined according to their respective dates. PARSHADI LAL v. KHUSHAL RAI, A.W N. 1882, 15.

(601)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Registered transfer— Unregistered mortgage-deed—Decree—Priority—"Not being a decree or order," Construction of.—A purchaser under a registered deed of sale will be entitled to priority over a purchaser in execution of the subsequent decree obtained upon an unregistered mortgage prior in date to the registered sale, the registered vendee not being a party to the decree on the unregistered mortgage. (7 A. 888, Diss.).—Whenever an unregistered mortgage is merged in a decree, a transferee under a registered-deed subsequent to the mortgage is precluded from claiming priority under s. 50, Registration Act, only when the decree can be used as evidence against the registered transferee. The words "not being a decree or order" in s. 50, construed as "not being a decree or order to which the registered vendees or his vendor (before the sale) was a party." ISHAN CHANDRA DEY v. GONESH CHANDRA PARSI, 28 C. 139=5 C.W.N. 419. [F., 4 C.L.J. 490.]

(602)—S. 50(=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)—Registered and unregistered documents — Priority — Decree on uregistered mortgage.—Where a mortgagee, under an unregistered hypothecation bond, the registration of which was optional, obtained a decree thereon and attached the hypothecated property in execution he was entitled to priority over the holder of a registered mortgage in respect of the same property which was executed subsequently to the unregistered bond, but prior to the decree. BAIJNATH v. LACHMAN DAS, 7 A. 888=A.W. N.1886, 93. (A.W.N. 1882, 15, A.W.N. 1884,136, D.) [Not F., 6 C.P.L.R. 112, 28 C. 139, A.W. N. 1901, 112.]

(603)—S. 50—Registered deed—Decree on prior registered deed—Priority.—A decree subsequently obtained on a prior unregistered deed would not give priority on a deed registered before the decree though after the first deed. For, here, the real competition is between the two deeds and not between a registered deed and a decree. RAM DITTA MAL v. AMIR CHAND, 195 P.R. 1889.

(604)—S. 50(=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)—Decree or order founded on unregistered document —Document to be prior to registered document.—The section implies that the decree or order founded on an unregistered document shall be prior in date to the registered document affecting the same property. RAMDAYAL KASHINATH v. HARNATH SHEOBALAM, 5 C. P.L.R. 109.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(605)—S. 50 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Construction of words "decree or order."—The "decree or order" contemplated by s. 50 does not mean a decree or order obtained on an unregistered document subsequently to the execution of the registered instrument. MIRAN PINJARA v. RAMASA, 6 C.P.L.R. 112. (11 C. 667, R.) [R., 8 C.P.L.R. 109.]

(606)—S. 50 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)—Mortgage—Sale of land mortgaged to mortgagee—Lease of land to mortgagor as tenant—Mortgagor, sale of land by—Registration—Priority.—The suit land was mortgaged with possession by A to B in 1879, but it remained in the possession of the mortgagor as tenant of the mortgagee under an unregistered lease. In 1881, A sold the land to B under a deed which was not registered, and in 1883, he again sold the same under a registered deed to C, who obtained possession and got the land transferred to his name in the revenue records. —B brought the present suit against C for recovering possession. The defendant contended that his subsequent deed of 1883, being registered, had priority over the plaintiff's unregistered deed of 1881. The plaintiff urged that the possession of A as his tenant subsequent to his mortgage and sale amounted to possession by himself which possession was constructive notice of his title to the defendant. —Held, (1) that under s. 50 of Act III of 1877, the defendant's subsequent registered deed of 1883 gave him priority over the plaintiff's unregistered deed though prior in date, and (2) that the possession of A was no notice, either actual or constructive, to the defendant, of the plaintiff's title. The defendant having purchased the land from A whom he found to be in possession had no reason to suppose that A was in possession otherwise than as owner. MORESHWAR BALKRISHNA v. DATTA, 12 B. 569. [R., U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 574, 22 B. 213, 27 B. 452.]

(607)—S. 50 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Civ. Pro. Code, s. 316 - Registration of certificate of sale—Prior unregistered optionally registrable mortgage—Rights of purchaser.—A purchaser of land, at a Court-sale, in execution of a decree for money, does not acquire priority by registering his certificate of sale, as against a mortgagee, whose mortgage is optionally registrable and unregistered, but prior in date to the institution of the suit. [F., 9 M. 495; R., 16 M. 148.] Semble:—A certificate of sale issued by a Court under s. 316, Civ. Pro. Code if duly registered, takes effect under s. 50 of the Registration Act, 1877, against all unregistered incumbrances. RAMARAJA v. ARUNACHALA, 7 M. 248.

(608)—S. 50 (= Registration Act—1877, s. 50) Priority—Mortgagee under registered mortgage—Auction-purchaser under decree on prior unregistered mortgage.—Under s. 50 of the Act, the decree or order which is not to be affected by a registered document must be a decree or order made prior to the execution and registration of the registered document. In a suit by a registered mortgagee for setting aside an auction-sale held under a decree on an unregistered mortgage, where the registered mortgage had been executed after the unregistered mortgage but before the decree thereon, held that the decree on the unregistered mortgage was a perfectly good one, but only that it did not affect the plaintiff's right to have it declared that it was subject to his lien; and hence that the auction-purchaser under the former decree could take only subject to the rights of the registered mortgagee. JAGRUP RAI v. RADHEY SINGH, 13 A. 238. F.B. = A.W.N. 1891, 63. (8 A. 23, 6 M. 83, R.) [F., 28 C. 139, A.W.N. 1901, 112.]

(609)—S. 50 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Registration—Notice—Priority of mortgages. —S. 50 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, will not give priority to a mortgagee who with notice of a prior not compulsorily registrable incumbrance over the property mortgaged to him proceeds to register his own subsequent mortgage. GOVIND PRASAD v. NASR ULLA, A.W.N. 1897, 90. (A.W.N. 1897, 19, F.)

(610)—S. 50 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)—Possession of over twelve years under prior valid unregistered sale, effect of, on rights under subsequent registered hypothecation.—Rights created under a registered hypothecation bond might be affected not only by lapse of time as between creditor and debtor, but also by possession of the hypothecated property for the required statutory period, by a third person on a claim inconsistent with the rights of both the creditor and the debtor, as in the case of such possession held by a purchaser under a prior valid unregistered sale of the land; nor does s. 50 of the Registration Act in any way interfere with the operation and effect of the established principle of limitation and prescription governing such cases. NALLAMUTHU PILLAI v. BETHA NAICKAN, 23 M. 37. [R., 26 M. 72 = 12 M.L.J. 410.]

(611)—S. 50 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Registration Act (XX of 1866) - Unregistered mortgages optionally registrable, registered mortgage not entitled to priority—Registration Act (III of 1877), s 50, Retrospective effect.—The unregistered mortgages sought to be enforced by the plaintiff in this case were each for a sum under Rs. 100 and were, under the Registration Acts, 1866 and 1871; optionally, not compulsorily, registrable. The intermediate mortgage of 1870 on which the defendant relied had been registered, but the registration could not bestow any priority over the plaintiff's mortgage. Nor could s. 50 of the Act be taken to operate retrospectively, so as to confer priority on the defendant's mortgage of 1870, in virtue of its registration, over even the plaintiff's earlier mortgage of 1869. Further, as the registered purchaser at a Court-sale, defendant had taken only subject to existing liens. RUPCHAND DAGDUSA v. DAVLATRAV VITHALRAV, 6 B 495. [F., 16 B. 486; R., 7 B. 146, 13 B. 229, 28 B. 153; Expl. & D., 5 C. L.J. 527.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843) —continued.

(612) — S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 50) —Holder of subsequent registered mortgage—Notice of previous mortgage unregistered, effect of, on priority between mortgagees.—A subsequent registered purchaser or mortgagee cannot avail himself of the registration of his deed against a prior unregistered purchase or mortgage of which he has notice. The object of the rules of registration is to take care that, by the fact of deeds being placed upon a register, those who come to register a subsequent deed shall be informed of the earlier title, and such end and object is accomplished if the person coming to register a deed has, aliunde, and not by means of the register, notice of the deed affecting the property, executed before his own. So, if the subsequent mortgagee, at the time of taking his registered mortgage, has had notice of the prior unregistered mortgage, the non-registration of such prior mortgage cannot be availed of by himself or by his assigns under s. 50 of the Registration Act (XX of 1866). SHIVRAM v. GENU AND HANMANTRAV SADASHIV, 6 B. 515. [Appl., 12 B. 569; R., 7 B. 146, 9 B. 427, 16 M. 148=3 M L.J. 54, F.B., 20 B. 158, 20 B. 390, 27 B. 452, 28 B. 153=5 Bom. L. R. 892, 11 C.W.N. 1078=6 C.L.J. 719; D., 5 C. L.J. 527.]

(613)—S. 50—Mortgage—Miraspatra—Registration — Priority. —A registered miraspatra was entitled under Act XIX of 1843, to preference over an unregistered miraspatra of a prior date accompanied with possession. HARNAMGIR v. WILLIAM SPIRES, 2 B.H.C. 204. [R., 8 B H.C. A.C. 50, 9 B.H.C. 121; D., 7 B. H.C.O.C. 45, 1 B. 574.]

(614) —S. 50—Mortgage—Registration—Possession—Act VIII of 1859.—Plaintiffs sued to recover possession of land under a mortgage duly registered. They alleged that they were put in possession under the mortgage, but that they were subsequently dispossessed by the defendants under a decree obtained by them against the mortgagors. Defendants pleaded that they had given the plaintiffs the option of satisfying their claim and retaining the fields or of giving up the fields to them and allowing them to satisfy the plaintiffs' claim. They also stated that the plaintiffs, as mortgagees with prior registered bonds, had no right to possession, but had only to have their claim paid off. The suit was decreed by both the lower Courts. The High Court on appeal modified the decree of the Courts below by awarding possession to plaintiffs, on condition that they satisfied the claim of the defendants as decree-holders; or if plaintiffs declined complying with this condition, the defendants to be entitled to possession of the land on satisfying the amount of the plaintiffs' claim under their mortgage. BHIKAJI v. VALLABHDAS, 2 B.H.C. 209.

(615)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) — First unregistered mortgage — Subsequent registered mortgage—Money decree on first mortgage subsequent to second mortgage – Priority.— On the 7th July 1871; P gave G an unregistered hypothecation bond for Rs. 98. G sued on it and obtained a money-decree on the 14th June 1872. Meanwhile P gave, on the 6th May 1872, a registered usufructuary mortgage of the same property to B. In execution of the decree in favour of G, the property was sold and came into the hands of G himself. In a suit by B, the usufructuary mortgagee, for possession, held that, if G pleaded priority of lien under his bond of 7th July 1871, he was estopped by the provisions of s. 50. Act III of 1877, and that, if he pleaded the decree of 14th June 1872, the purchase at the sale in execution of that decree was subject to the respondent's lien, as that decree was a mere money-decree and was subsequent in date to the bond in favour of B. Held, further, that the provisions of s. 50, Registration Act, III of 1877, had a retrospective effect. GOKUL v. BASAHU, A.W. N. 1881, 127.

(616)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50)— Registration—Registered and unregistered mortgages—Priority—Act XVI of 1864.—A deed of mortgage executed in 1876 and registered under s. 50 of Act III of 1877, cannot claim priority over an unregistered deed of mortgage in respect of the same property executed before Act XVI of 1864 came into force. SHEORAJ SINGH v. LAUNGA KUARI, A.W.N. 1881, 120. (4 B. 459, F.)

(617)—S 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) — Registered and unregistered mortgages — This was a suit for possession of a house purchased by the plaintiff at a sale in execution of a hypothecation decree which he had obtained against the owner of such house on two unregistered mortgage bonds. The suit was resisted by the defendant who was in possession of the house as a mortgagee under a registered mortgage-deed later in date than the bonds of the plaintiff but prior to the decree obtained on those bonds. Held that the defendant's registered mortgage-deed gave him a title to the possession of the house, superior to that of the plaintiff under his bonds and decree. RAM SAHAI v. GAUNA LAL, A.W N. 1881, 161.

(618)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 50) —Priority of registered document—Mortgage.— Under s. 50 of the Registration Act XX of 1866, a duly registered deed of conveyance has priority over a prior unregistered deed of mortgage of the same property, although the registration of the latter is optional. GAYARAM MAZUMDAR v. MADHUSUDAN MAZUMDAR, 4 B.L.R. App. 73. (9 W.R. 282, 10 W.R. 37, F.)

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(619)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Mortgage—Sale of property comprised in an unregistered mortgage—Liability of purchaser—Notice.—Property was purchased, which was the subject of an unregistered mortgage, the registration of which was not compulsory. The purchaser had no notice of the mortgage at the time of execution of the sale-deed in his favour, but received notice before the sale-deed was registered. Held that the mortgage was binding on the purchaser. KHIALI RAM v. HIMMATA, A.W.N. 1908, 99=30 A. 238=5 A.L.J. 607. (19 A. 145, 25 A. 366, Appl.)

(620)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Prior mortgage not compulsorily registrable—Mortgagee in possession—Subsequent registered mortgage—Priority—Evidence Act, s. 110.—Where a prior usufructuary mortgagee is in possession under an unregistered instrument, which was not compulsorily registrable, a subsequent mortgagee under a registered instrument must be presumed to have had notice of such possession, and could not claim any priority over the unregistered instrument. BHIKHI RAI v. UDIT NARAIN SINGH, 25 A. 366 =A.W.N. 1903, 81. (9 Moo. P.C. 18, 16 C. 414, 16 M. 148, 20 A. 252, R.) [Appl., 5 A.L.J. 607 =A.W.N. 1908, 99=30 A. 238; R., 9 C.W.N. 14, 11 C.W.N. 1109, P.C.=9 Bom. L.R. 1062= 17 M.L.J. 465=4 A.L.J. 750=6 C.L.J. 674=2 M.L.T. 394=31 B. 566.]

(621)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) — Unregistered usufructuary mortgage—Long possession thereunder — Invalid sale to same mortgagee—Subsequent mortgage by registered document—Priority of title.—An unregistered usufructuary mortgage had been executed in respect of certain property. After a long time, the property was transferred to the mortgagee and patta therefor was entered in his name. Subsequently, plaintiff obtained a mortgage of the same property by means of a registered instrument and sued to recover possession of it. Held that there was nothing in s. 50 of the Registration Act to affect the operation of the law of limitations in favour of a person who claimed under an unregistered document. Long possession of the usufructuary mortgagee though under an unregistered instrument could not be superseded by a later registered instrument. The fact that the defendant mortgagee latterly claimed under an invalid sale did not make his possession the less adverse to the plaintiff. Consequently plaintiff could not recover possession. BUDANKAYALA BALAKRISHNAMMA SUBUDHI v. VINAYAKA RAVA SINGI BISOYI, 26 M. 72=12 M.L.J. 410. (23 M. 37, R.)

(622)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Retrospective effect—Statutes, Construction of — Unregistered mortgage of 1861— Act XIX of 1843, s. 2 - Act XVI of 1864— Subsequent registered mortgage.—It is a well-recognised principle of law of the construction of statutes, specially when the rights and liabilities of the parties are altered thereby, that they are not to have retrospective operation unless the language is such as plainly to require such a construction. Hence where an unregistered mortgage was made in 1861, when registration was not compulsory, and a registered mortgage was made in 1900, held, that the former had priority over the latter, inasmuch as the effect of giving a retrospective effect to s. 50 of the Indian Registration Act, would be prejudicial to the vested rights which the plaintiff had at the date of the passing of that Act. By the repeal of Act XIX of 1843 she had acquired a privilege which she did not possess before, viz., priority for her mortgage over subsequent instruments, whether registered or not registered. HARGOVIND v. KISHAN KOER, 3 A.L.J. 320=A.W.N. 1906, 113=28 A. 607. (2 M. 147, 20 B. 390, F.)

(623)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Sale of absolute occupancy holding in execution of simple-rent-decree against tenant—Sale certificate not registered—Subsequent sale by purchaser at Court-sale under registered conveyance—Optionally registrable but unregistered mortgage-deeds of date prior to execution sale—Priority between registered sale-deed and mortgage-deeds.—An absolute occupancy holding was sold in execution of a decree for rent against the original tenant but not free of incumbrances. Nor was the certificate of sale registered. The purchaser at Court sale sold it by a registered sale-deed to the present defendant. The plaintiff sued to enforce upon the holding two optionally registrable but unregistered mortgages in his favour of date anterior to the execution-sale. The question was as to the priority between the plaintiff's mortgages and the defendant's sale-deed. Held, a registered conveyance will prevail against an unregistered mortgage none the less because it is itself based upon an unregistered, but optionally registrable, conveyance; for, the object of the Registration Act is unmistakeably to secure subsequent purchasers and mortgagees against prior unknown conveyances and incumbrances. The defendants are entitled to priority, notwithstanding the fact that their vendor held the holding under an unregistered sale-deed. SETH RAMLAL v. BHURIA, 1 N.L.R. 125.

(624)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Registered and unregistered documents—Mortgagee under registered deed—Holder of decree on prior unregistered deed—Priority.—The words in s. 50 of the Registration Act —" not being a decree order, whether such unregistered document be of the same nature as the registered document or not "—mean that if a decree has been obtained to bring property to sale under a hypothecation bond, or under a money bond, and, under that decree the property has been attached, that decree cannot be ousted by a subsequent registered instrument. The section cannot in any way make a decree effect a transfer of more than the interest which the judgment-debtor possessed. Therefore, a mortgage-deed registered under Act III of 1877 would be entitled to priority over a decree subsequently obtained on a prior unregistered mortgage in respect of the same property. THE HIMALAYA BANK v. THE SIMLA BANK, 8 A. 23 = A.W.N. 1885, 310. (A.W.N. 1884, 136, A.W.N. 1885, 63, 6 M. 88, R.) [F., 28 C. 139 ; Appr., 13 A. 288, F.B.; R., 20 B. 158.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(625)—S. 50 (= Registration Act, III of 1877, s. 50)—Registered mortgage deed — Notice of previous valid unregistered mortgage, effect of.—When it is proved that a subsequent encumbrancer under a registered conveyance had notice of a valid prior unregistered encumbrance and of possession by such encumbrancer, or of such conveyance without possession, the provisions of s. 50 of the Registration Act should not be strictly construed by the Courts so as to defeat the title of the prior unregistered encumbrancer. KRISHNAMMA v. SURANNA, 16 M. 148, F.B. = 3 M.L.J. 54. [F., 19 A. 145, 56 P.R. 1900, F.B. = 26 P.L.R. 1900, 31 M. 54 ; R., 8 C.P.L.R. 109, 1 L.B.R. 293, 27 B. 452, 25 A. 366, 9 C.W.N. 14, 29 M. 362, 17 M.L.J. 597.]

(626)—S. 50—Mortgage without possession—Konkan—Registration.—In Konkan, possession is necessary to complete a mortgage. But the registration of a mortgage without possession cures any defect or imperfection that may have arisen from the non-completion of the transaction by delivery of possession. A deed so registered must be held good against a non-registered mortgage. HARI RAMACHANDRA v. MAHADAJI VISHNU, 8 B.H.C.A.C. 50. [F., 8 B.H.C. A.C. 55 ; R., 11 B.H.C. 41, 5 B. 2, 5 B. 5, 2 B. 299, 6 B. 168, F.B.]

(627)—S. 50—Act XIX of 1843—Unregistered mortgage—Sale subject to mortgage - Liability of purchaser to pay off mortgage.—Where land was sold by a deed of sale, which made mention of a prior unregistered mortgage, and directed the purchaser to pay off the same, the purchaser was bound to redeem the mortgage, inasmuch as what he purchased was only an equity of redemption. KISHORBHAI GALLABHAI v. JORABHAI DAJI, 7 B.H.C. A.C. 56.

(628)—S. 50—Priority—Unregistered mortgage without possession—Purchase at Court sale.—Where property sold in Court auction was subject to a Gujarat san-mortgage, the rule that an unregistered mortgage without possession was not valid against a purchaser with possession, did not apply, inasmuch as the purchaser at an auction sale in execution of decree buys only the right, title and interest of the debtor, whatever that may be, burdened with all valid liens created by him. The question of registration did not arise in this case, as neither the mortgage nor the instrument of sale was registered. MATHURADAS RANCHODDAS v. KALIA KHUSAL, 7 B.H.C.A.C. 24. [F., 9 B.H.C. 304 ; R., 11 B.H.C. 41, 1 B. 581, 2 B. 299, 6 B. 168 ; D., 6 B. 193, F.B.]

(629)—S. 50—Registered and unregistered mortgage—Possession—Priority.—V mortgaged certain property to U under a registered deed, V then mortgaged the same property to H, but the deed was not registered. U brought a suit against the mortgagor and obtained a decree for possession of the property which he took no immediate steps to execute. Then H obtained a similar decree and in execution thereof, he was put in possession of the property. U then applied for execution of his prior decree and in execution H was dispossessed. In a suit by H to recover possession of the property from U, held that U's mortgage being prior in point of time and registered, he was entitled to have possession of the mortgaged property till his claim should be satisfied, and in execution of his decree, which was also prior in point of time to the decree of plaintiff, he would be entitled to dispossess the plaintiff H who had obtained possession under an unregistered mortgage, and it was immaterial whether the plaintiff had obtained his possession through a decree of a Civil Court or in any other manner. Registration made the defendant's mortgage complete, though he did not obtain possession of the property mortgaged at the time the deed to him was executed, and any subsequent disposition of the equity of redemption by the mortgagor would be subject to the mortgagee's lien. UMAJI valad MANAJI PATIL DUMALE v. HARI RAMCHANDRA KULCARNI, 4 B.H.C. A.C. 143. [R., 6 B. 168.]

(630)—S. 50 — Registration — Unregistered mortgage without possession—Purchase with possession—Priority.—An unregistered mortgage without possession is not valid against a purchaser with possession. GANPAT BAJASHET v. KHANDU CHAUGSHET, 4 B.H.C. A.C. 69. [R., 7 B.H.C. O.C. 45, 9 B.H.C. 121, 2 B. 299, 6 B. 168, 5 Bom. L.R. 148 = 27 B. 452 ; D., 7 B.H.C. 24.]

(631)—S. 50—Registration—Mortgage without possession—Subsequent purchase—Priority.—A registered mortgagee, although without possession, is entitled to priority over a subsequent purchaser. SUNDAR JAGJIVAN v. GOPAL ESHVANT, 4 B.H.C. A.C. 68. [Cons., 18 B. 332 ; R., 9 B.H.C. 121, 6 B. 168, F.B.]

(632)—S. 50 (= Registration Act, III of 1877, s. 50) —Conflict between unregistered deeds executed before Registration Acts and those executed after them—Priority.—The Registration Act, III of 1877, does not operate so as to exclude instruments executed before the Registration Act, XX of 1864, came into operation, on the ground of their non-registration. DESAI LALLUBHAI SETHABHAI v. MUNDAS KUBERDAS, 20 B. 390. (2 M. 147, 1 B. 574, R.) [Disappr., 9 M.L.T. 431, F.B. = 21 M.L.J. 213 ; F., 28 C. 139, 1 N.L.R. 158, 28 A. 607 = 3 A.L.J. 320 = A.W.N. 1906, 113.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843) - continued.

(633)—S. 50—Act XIX of 1843, s. 2—Mortgage—Registration—Notice—Priority.—An unregistered mortgage prior in date cannot take effect against a subsequent registered mortgage. S. 2 of Act XIX of 1843 specially provides that the superior claim of the holder of a registered deed is not to be affected by any other deed in respect of the same property which may not have been registered, whether the holder of the registered deed had or had not notice of the unregistered deed. SUNKUR SAHOY v. SHEO PERSHAD SOOKOOL, 16 W R. 270.

(634)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Prior unregistered deed and subsequent registered deed—Priority—Notice—Sale—Mortgage. —A holder of a registered instrument of sale or mortgage has no preference over the holder of an earlier, but unregistered instrument, if he has had notice of the latter at the time the instrument was executed in his favour. HATHISING SOBHAI v. KUVARJI JAVHER, 10 B. 105. (B.P.J. 1883, p. 83, F ; 6 M. 88, 5 M 73, D.) [R., 19 A. 145, 9 C.W.N. 14, 27 B. 452]

(635)—S 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Conflict between an unregistered hypothecation bond and a subsequent registered conveyance—Notice.—Land was hypothecated under an unregistered bond, and subsequently sold by a registered conveyance, in which the prior hypothecation was recited, and the sum then due to the encumbrancer left with the purchaser under an express or implied agreement on his part to pay it over to the encumbrancer. Under these circumstances, the purchaser cannot take advantage of s. 50 of the Registration Act, and avoid the prior unregistered encumbrancer. RAMACHANDRA v. KRISHNA, 9 M. 495. [R., 16 M 148.]

(636)—S. 50 — Unregistered mortgage — Decree—Priority.—An unregistered mortgage without possession, and a decree obtained on the mortgage, do not deprive of priority a subsequent conveyance duly registered KANU KHANDA v. KRISHNA BHULAJI SHET, 5 B. H C A.C 147. [R., 7 B.H.C.O.C. 45, 3 B. 30, 6 B. 168, 12 B. 217; D., 22 B 939.]

(637)—S. 50—Subsequent registered mortgage, effect of, on prior unregistered bond.—Under s. 2, Act XIX of 1843, a subsequent registered mortgage, would invalidate a prior unregistered bond. GOPAL DOSS v. DOONEE CHOWDHRY, W R. 1864, 226.

(638)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) — Registered and unregistered mortgages — Priority — The priority conferred by s. 50 of the Registration Act on one incumbrance over another in virtue of its being registered, is not in any way affected by the decrees that may be subsequently obtained on them, such decrees merely giving effect to the respective rights under the bonds. SHAHI RAM v. SHIB LAL, 7 A. 378=A.W.N. 1885, 63. [F., 8 A. 23, Appr., 13 A. 288, F.B.; D., 7 A. 888.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(639)—S. 50—Registration—Priority—Mortgage deeds.—S. 50 of the Registration Act will give priority to a registered mortgage over a previously executed unregistered mortgage, but the claim of the first mortgagee would not be defeated by a sale made in execution of a decree upon the second mortgage when he was not made a party to it. TIMMU v. DEVA RAI, 5 M. 265.

(640)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Unregistered mortgage—Subsequent registered sale—Vendee having no notice of the mortgage Priority.—A subsequent registered sale will take effect against a prior unregistered mortgage, if the vendee had no notice of the mortgage, BACHCHA LAL v. HANUMAN, 10 Ind. Cas. 233 (24 C. 825, 1 C.W.N. 665, 31 C. 990, 6 C.L.J. 410, 11 C.W.N. 839, 5 Ind. Cas. 179, 19 A. 145, 25 A. 336, 5 A.L.J. 607, 30 A. 238, A.W.N. 1908, 99, R.)

(641)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Earlier unregistered mortgage, priority of later registered mortgage over—Effect of notice of prior mortgage.—The law gives the holder of a registered mortgage priority over an unregistered mortgage, though the latter may be of earlier date. But, however, in order to check the perpetration of fraud under cover of this provision of law, the Courts do not generally give such priority to the subsequent mortgagee who, at the time of obtaining his mortgage, had notice of the earlier mortgage. The onus is upon the party alleging such knowledge or notice to aver the same in his pleadings and to prove it. CHINNAPPA REDDI v. MANICKAVASAGAM CHETTI, 25 M. 1. [R., 9 C.W.N. 14, 17 M.L.J. 319.]

(642)—S 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) —Prior unregistered mortgage with possession —Subsequent registered mortgage with notice of prior mortgage—Priority of registered over unregistered mortgage.—Where a subsequent mortgagee under a registered deed of mortgage had actual notice of a prior unregistered mortgage with possession, the registered mortgage could not have any priority over the other. MADHO RAO v. JAGANNATH, 8 C.P L R. 109. (5 C.P.L.R. 97, 6 C. P.L.R. 112, 16 M. 148, F.)

(643)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) San mortgage optionally registrable but unregistered—Subsequent registered mortgage — Priority—Decree passed on unregistered san mortgage—Purchaser at execution sale—Priority of mortgagee under registered mortgage— San mortgages — Transfer of possession — Custom of Guzraat.—Under the earlier Registration Acts, the competition about priority was only recognised in regard to documents of like kind, either optional or compulsory. Apart from the doctrine of equitable notice, registration under those acts by itself conferred no priority on a registered document if its registration was compulsory as against a document whose registration was optional. But since the Registration Act, III of 1877, however, the competition obtains in a more general form, and confers priority on documents required to be registered and accordingly registered since the Act was passed, over all prior unregistered documents of an antagonistic character. [R., 22 B. 945, 27 B. 452.] A san mortgage is not within the exceptions mentioned in s. 50 of the Act. A mortgage under Act III of 1877 is entitled to priority over a decree obtained subsequently to the registration of such deed upon a prior unregistered bond. The principle of this rule is that the decree and sale only give effect to the rights under the bond, and cannot confer any higher right. [F., 28 C. 139=5 C. W.N. 419.] In the case of san mortgages, the transfer of possession necessary under the general Hindu law is not essential, and such mortgages under the custom of Gujarat, have always been held to be valid charges, as between mortgagor and mortgagee, even when not accompanied by transfer of possession. But this privilege as to possession is liable to be defeated in case of the transfer of interests to third parties under registered instruments. JETHABAI DAYALJI v. GIRDHER, 20 B. 158.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1863, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(644) —S. 50 —Acts XVI of 1864, XX of 1866 and VIII of 1871 —Reg. IX of 1827, s. 6, cl. 1 —Prior unregistered sale with possession—Subsequent registered mortgage without possession.—On the 15th December 1863, D sold to H for valuable consideration, two fields (Nos. 185 and 186) in the Collectorate of Satara, and executed a deed of that date, whereby he conveyed those fields to H who was then duly put into possession of the same. That deed was unregistered. The provisions of Reg. IX of 1827 and of Act XIV of 1843 applied then to that Collectorate. D, in pursuance of an arrangement with B, executed to him a registered mortgage dated 14th February 1864, for Rs. 300, whereby he purported to secure to B the same two fields. B then knew that H was in possession of the fields as purchaser. Held that, according to the true construction of Reg. IX of 1827, s. 6, cl. (i), the title of H having been completed by possession, there was no property in the fields left in D to mortgage to B, and that therefore, H (the purchaser) had a better title to the fields than B, the mortgagee. Semble.—The effect would have been the same under the provisions of Act XVI of 1864 or of Act XX of 1866. History of Registration given and the provisions of the various enactments relating thereto discussed. BALARAM NEMCHAND v. APPA valad DULU, 9 B. H.C. 121. [F., 9 B.H.C. 147; R., 1 B. 574, 1 B. 624, 2 B. 299, 4 B 126, F.B., 6 B. 168, F.B., 7 C. 753=10 C.L.R. 129, 12 B. 569, 17 B. 486, 27 B. 452=5 Bom. L.R. 144; Expl., 4 B. 89; D., 18 B. 332.]

(645)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 50) —Mortgage—San mortgage - Mortgage without possession in Gujarat—Registration Act, XX of 1866, s. 50— Notice.—Under s. 50 of the

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

Registration Act XX of 1866, a registered instrument had priority as regards the property comprised therein over every unregistered instrument relating to it, whether or not the grantor of those instruments be the same. As between himself and his mortgagor and also as against any subsequent unregistered assignee of the latter, an unregistered san mortgagee in Gujarat has a perfectly valid charge upon the property mortgaged; but if the mortgagor or his heir or such assignee convey it to another by a registered instrument, while the san mortgagee's title remains unregistered, the latter might be defeated. Quære—Whether notice, to the purchaser, of the existence of a prior unregistered mortgage would in any way affect the provisions of the Registration Act. MAKANDAS KALIDAS v. SHANKARDAS HARIBAI, 12 B H. C. 241. (9 B.H C 60, Diss.) [Overruled, 6 B. 193, F.B.; R., 22 B. 213; F., 27 B. 408, 1 N. L.R. 125; Cited, 5 N.L.R. 82.]

(646)—S. 50—Mortgage—Possession—Registration—Notice.—The Hindu Law undoubtedly gives preference to a subsequent mortgagee, who has obtained possession, over a prior mortgagee, who has neglected to obtain it, but it is nowhere said that a mortgage without possession is not binding on the mortgagor. A purchaser with possession at a Court-sale (the sale certificate being registered) purchases only the right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor in the property, subject to all charges with which it may have been previously burdened by him, e.g., the lien of a prior mortgagee without possession, but having a registered mortgage-deed. He acquires nothing by his purchase but what still remains in the judgment debtor, and the question of notice can have no application to him. CHINTAMAN BHASKAR v. SHIVRAM HARI, 9 B.H C. 304 [F., 1 B. 581; R., 11 B.H.C. 41, 6 B. 168, 6 B. 490; D., 6 B. 193, F.B.]

(647)—S. 50—First and second mortgages—Second mortgagee obtaining conveyance of land for consideration and without notice of unregistered prior mortgage — Priority.—Plaintiff claimed to obtain possession of land his title to which had accrued on his foreclosing a mortgage of those lands obtained by him from the original owners. Defendants alleged purchase by them in execution of a decree obtained on a previous mortgage of the land to them. The lower appellate Court having found that the title of the defendant had priority as his mortgage was prior in date, it was objected on special appeal by the plaintiff that that Court was in error, since the prior mortgagee had no special lien upon the lands; he was entitled only to sell the rights and interests of the judgment-debtor, the mortgagor, under the decree obtained against him which rights and interests had already passed away under the previous foreclosure of the second mortgage. The High Court reversed the above decision and decreed the plaintiff's suit. The liens of the two mortgagees were different in character; that of the first mortgagee was a simple contract without any conveyance of the land and without registration or notice to the public. Nor had the second mortgagee, the plaintiff, any notice, but he obtained transfer of the lands for valuable consideration and, acting upon his mortgage-deed, foreclosed by usual process of law. Plaintiff who was an innocent purchaser for valuable consideration without notice of the contract of the earlier mortgage to the defendant could not be bound by it. NOBO COOMAR DOSS v. GORACHAND MOOKERJEE, 2 W.R. 286.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(648)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 50) —Mortgage perfected prior to passing of Act —Priority of mortgage as against registered sale-deed executed subsequently.— Where before the Registration Act of 1864 a mortgagee acquired complete title as such, s. 50 of Act XX of 1866 did not operate to invalidate that title. The mortgage, though not registered, was good as against a sale-deed executed subsequent to Act XX of 1866 came into operation and which was registered. SREEMUTTY FYEZOONNISSA v. MOULVIE SADUTOOLLAH, 22 W.R. 3.

(649)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 50) — Priority of mortgage executed subsequent to, over deed of gift executed prior to, passing of Registration Act.—S. 50 of the Registration Act ought not to be construed with retrospective effect so as to disturb titles acquired at a time when there was no law of registration in force in the Province. It was held, therefore, that a mortgage-deed executed and registered in 1892 could not be allowed to prevail against unregistered deed of gift executed in 1865 before the passing of the Registration Act. MUSAMMAT NAZIR SAHIBA v. SITARA KHANAM, 7 O. C. 342.

(650)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, III of 1877, *s.*50)--Registered and unregistered deeds--Priority —Notice of previous unregistered encumbrance —Mortgage deeds.– There were two mortgages of the same land, the first of which was an unregistered mortgage for Rs. 50 to K and other defendants without possession, and the second was a registered mortgage for Rs. 100 to the plaintiffs. In the deed of the latter it was recited that K was a tenant of the land paying rent in kind and it was admitted that K was in possession of the land from two years prior to the mortgage, and under the terms of the mortgage he was to hold as tenant till the date on which they were promised to be given possession. The lower Courts gave the plaintiffs a decree against the mortgagor for the mortgage debt and dismissed the claim against K and others, the alleged prior mortgagees. The plaintiffs in second appeal claimed a decree for possession of the land, their mortgage being registered, and the Chief Court held that the decree for the mortgage-debt was erroneous as the plaintiffs were not suing for money, but for the possession of the land. Also, under s. 50 of the Registration Act, the registered mortgage must take effect against every unregistered document relating to the same property, not being a decree or order. Unless, therefore, the plaintiff had notice of the prior contract, in which case, he would be bound by it (Specific Relief Act, s. 27-b), he could claim to be put in possession of the land, and the mortgagor having been in possession at the time of the registered mortgage, he was in a position to give possession to the plaintiffs. ARUR SINGH v. CHUHAR KUSHAL SINGH, 37 P.R. 1882. [Overruled, 115 P.R. 1890; R., 90 P.R. 1885, 56 P.R. 1900.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(651)—S. 50—Act XIX of 1843—Registered kobala, not entitled to priority over prior unregistered mortgage with enjoyment.—Plaintiff sued to recover land as purchaser from A under a deed of sale made on 4th September 1863. The defendant claimed to be in possession under a mortgage by conditional sale made by the same A in August, 1862. He also relied on a bond of August 1863 by A purporting to pledge the same properties to the defendant as security for a debt. The lower appellate Court found both the instruments put forward by the defendant to be genuine, and decreed that the plaintiff was only to obtain possession upon discharging the encumbrances created by them. Plaintiff appealed to the High Court on the ground that, as the mortgage in question was never registered, while the kobala of the 4th September was so, Act XIX of 1843 gave priority to the latter, and, therefore, the mortgage ought not to have had effect given to it. But the High Court was of opinion that there was ample evidence before the lower appellate Court for the mortgage having been found by it to be genuine; it saw no reason for supposing that it did not consider all the evidence bearing on the point and therefore held that the objection was untenable. The High Court was also of opinion that Act XIX of 1843 did not apply to a case where enjoyment had actually taken place under the first deed. SYUD FURZUND ALLY v. SYUD ABDOOL RUHIM, 4 W.R. 30. [R., 12 W.R 217=3 B.L.R. 312, 9 B.H.C. 121, 7 C. 753=10 C.L.R. 129.]

(652)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, XX of 1866, s. 50)—Purchase not accompanied by possession—Registered and unregistered kobalas—Priority.— S. 50 of Act XX of 1866 refers to cases where the purchase has not been completed by possession. Before priority should be given to a party's registered kobala, the Judge ought to find whether or not the other party's purchase on an unregistered bond had been followed by possession at the time of sale. NARAIN DOSS v. GUNGA RAM DHARAH, 20 W.R. 287. [R., 4 C.L.R. 257; D., 5 C. 336, 7 C. 753.]

(653)—S. 50—Prior unregistered kobala—Subsequent registered kobala—Act XIX of 1843 —Fraud of vendor in second sale, effect of.—Act

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

XIX of 1843 gives the preference, generally to the subsequent registered kobala over a prior unregistered one. In order to avoid the operation of that law, the plaintiff would have to show that the vendor had not only sold and parted with his rights in the property, but had also made over possession to him. It was alleged by the plaintiff in this case that the second sale was really a sham, an illusory sale got up merely for the purpose of defeating the plaintiff's title under his prior purchase, and it was held that if that allegation were established, that would entitle the plaintiff to a decree, because there would be then fraud on the part of the vendor and the subsequent vendees, which would not be allowed to stand in the way of plaintiff's right. MUSSAMUT BUTOOLUN v. MUSSAMUT OZEERUN, 8 W.R. 300. [R., 4 B. 126, F.B.; D., 22 W.R. 273.]

(654)—S. 50—Act XVI of 1864, s. 68—Priority of lease registered under Act, over earlier unregistered conveyance.—Suit by a purchaser against his vendor and the vendor's lessee for confirmation of possession and for setting aside the lease. The conveyance was unregistered, but the lease, which was of a later date, was registered under Act XVI of 1864. Held that the lease had priority over the conveyance. GOBIND CHUNDER ROY v. POORNO CHUNDER SEIN, 10 W R. 36. [Appr., 5 C. 336=4 C.L.R. 257; R., 4 B.L.R. App. 73; D., 7 C. 753=10 C.L.R. 129.]

(655)—S. 50—Act XIX of 1843—Pottahs—Registered and unregistered pottahs—Priority.—Act XIX of 1843 refers to deeds of sale or gift and to mortgages, and is not applicable to pottahs. Therefore a registered pottah which is subsequent in date cannot prevail over a prior unregistered pottah. ANUND CHUNDER CHOWDHRY v. CHUNDERNATH ROY, 5 W.R. 205.

(656)—S. 50 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 50)—Right to juice of trees if immoveable property.—S. 50, Act XX of 1866, has no application to the case of a right to take the juice of date trees, which is more a right to, or benefit arising out of, standing trees or timber than a right or benefit to arise out of land coming under the description of immoveable property. JALU NAMDAR v. BEICHA NAMDAR, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 394=12 W.R. 366. [Cons., 72 P.R. 1884.]

(657)—S. 50—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXII, r. 10, 143 P.R. 1889.

(658)—S. 50—Competition between an unregistered deed of 1865 and a registered deed under the present Registration Act—Failure of the holder of the former deed to enforce his right—Laches—See LACHES, 1 N.L.R. 158.

(659)—S. 50—See LIS PENDENS, 6 A. 444=A.W.N. 1884, 158, 32 P.R. 1898.

(660)—S. 50—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 2 Ind. Cas. 495.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(661)—S. 50—See MORTGAGE—SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY, 11 B.H.C. 41, 7 A. 577=A.W.N. 1885, 115.

(662)—S. 50 does not protect a purchaser who purchased with knowledge of an unregistered incumbrance—Pre-emptor no better than an ordinary vendee—See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 A.L.J. 112=A.W.N. 1908, 42=3 M.L.T. 223=30 A. 130.

(663)—S. 50—See RIGHT OF SUIT—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE, 20 M. 250.

(664)—S. 50—Mortgages—Prior unregistered mortgages, subsequent registered mortgagee with notice of, not entitled to the priority under—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 53, 8 A. 540=A.W.N. 1886, 174.

(665)—S. 50—See Nos. 269, 325 to 327, 333, 334, 367-a, 437, 458, 579, 517 to 521, supra.

(666)—Ss. 50, 89—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r, 94, A.W.N. 1882, 51.

——S. 51 (=s. 51 of 1877=s. 51 of 1871=s. 56 of 1866=ss. 56 and 59 of 1864).

(667)—S. 51—Relase by co-sharers in a permanent tenure to one among themselves--Registration—Stamp—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 11 and 12, 12 C.W.N. 478.

(668)—S. 51—See No. 344, supra.

(669)—Ss. 51, 89—Sale certificate granted under s. 316, Civ. Pro. Code—Copy of certificate registered under s. 89, Registration Act—Sale certificate not a registered document, under art. 10, Limitation Act, 1877—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 142 P.R. 1908, F.B.

——S. 52 (=s. 52 of 1877=s. 52 of 1871=s. 57 of 1866=ss. 36, 38 of 1864.)

(670)—S. 52—Bond registered under Act XVI of 1864, refusal of Deputy Commissioner to enforce—Appeal to Judicial Commissioner—Jurisdiction of High Court.—The petitioner whose application for the enforcement of a bond specially registered under Act XVI of 1864 had been refused by the Deputy Commissioner was deemed by the High Court to be in the position of a decree-holder whose application to execute his decree had been dismissed or thrown out of Court. The High Court refused to proceed on the present petition complaining of the refusal of the Deputy Commissioner, observing that the petitioner's proper course, if he was dissatisfied with that order, was to appeal to the regular appellate tribunal against the order of the Deputy Commissioner, and if he obtained no relief from that tribunal, i.e., the Judicial Commissioner, he should then come up, in the usual course, by way of special appeal, to the High Court. In re JUGTI SAHOO, 6 W.R. Mis., 121. [D., 17 W.R. 154.]

(670-a)—S. 52 (1)—Absence of the signature of executant below presentation endorsement—His signature below execution endorsement—Due "presentation."—On a document adduced in evidence, there appeared to be an endorsement

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

that it was presented for registration and below it the signature of the registering officer but not that of the executant. Further down there was an endorsement of execution and payment of consideration, below which there was the signature of the registering officer as well as the thumb impression and signature of the executant. Held that the provisions of s. 52 (1) of the Registration Act had been sufficiently complied with and the presentation had been duly made. KABUL SINGH v. HARI NARAYAN, 11 A.L.J. 617.

(670-b)—S. 52--See No. 376-a, supra.

(671)—Ss. 52, 58, 59 and 60—Date of registration—Time from which period of limitation begins to run for purposes of art. 10 of the Limitation Act—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 92 P.R. 1906=126 P.L.R. 1906.

(672)—Ss. 52, 58, 60—Registration endorsement—Statement by executant made to the registering officer—Certificate of the registering officer, admissibility of—Evidence Act, ss. 91 and 92.—The endorsement of the registrar on the back of a deed of gift, which purported to be an unconditional one, contained the following statement purporting to have been made to him by the executant, "agar mahub lahu roti kapra denge to hiba jaiz hai warna najaiz samjha jaega." Held, that the endorsement could not be said to have been made under s. 52, or s. 58 of the Registration Act, and therefore the certificate of the Registering Officer could not be admitted under s. 60 of the Act. Held, further, that the record of the statement could not be admitted in evidence under ss. 91 and 92 of the Evidence Act. MUNNI v. SHYAM BIHARI, 14 O.C. 80.

—— S. 53 (=s. 53 of 1877=s. 53 of 1871=s. 58 of 1866=s. 57 of 1864).

(673)—Ss. 53, 54 and 55—Act VIII of 1859, s. 273.—Act XX of 1866, s. 52—Appeal—Execution—Procedure—Repeal.—Orders in execution under ss. 53, 54 and 55 of Act XX of 1866 are not appealable. Though this Act has been repealed by Act VIII of 1871, the procedure under it has been saved by ss. 53, 54 and 55 of the latter Act. RAMANAND v. THE BANK OF BENGAL, 1 A. 377. (7 W.R. 130, 17 W.R. 512, Cited.)

—— S 54 (=s. 54 of 1877=s. 54 of 1871=s. 59 of 1866=s. 58 of 1864).

(674)—S. 54—See No. 673, supra.

—— S 55 (=s. 55 of 1877=s. 55 of 1871=s. 60 of 1866).

(675)—S. 55—See Nos. 336, 673, supra.

—— S. 57 (=s. 57 of 1877=s. 57 of 1871=s. 65 of 1866=ss. 50, 60 of 1864).

(676)—S. 57 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 57)--Registration copy—Admissibility without proof of loss of original.—S. 57 of the Act expressly provides that copies of registered documents signed and sealed by the registering officer shall be admissible for the purpose of proving the contents of the original documents. Proof of loss of the original is not necessary. PARBAT RAO v. GOPIKA BAI, 2 C.P L.R. 110. [R., 10 C.P L.R. 59; Cited, 11 C.P.L.R. 27.]

(677)—S 57 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 57)—Certified copy of registered document, admissibility in evidence of—Public document—Evidence Act, ss. 65 (e) and (f) and 74 (2).—A private document which has been registered does not become a public document uuder s. 74 (2) of the Evidence Act; and a certified copy of it cannot be used to prove the contents of the original either under s. 65 (e) or (f) of that Act or under s. 57 of the Registration Act. RAJ GOBARDHAN SINGH v. MUSAMMAT NASIBAN, 7 O C. 365. (7 O.C. 327, 22 W.R. 303, R.)

(678)—S. 57—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 65, cl. (e), and s. 74, cl. (2), 7 O.C. 327.

(679)—S. 57 (5)—Registration office, copy of sale-deed when admissible—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 65 (f), 11 Ind. Cas. 50.

(680)—S. 57—See No. 424, supra.

—— S. 58 (=s. 58 of 1877=s. 58 of 1871=s. 66 of 1866=ss. 30, 36 of 1864).

(681)—S. 58—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 92 P.R. 1906=126 P.L.R. 1906.

(682)—S. 58—See Nos. 671, 672, supra.

(683)—Ss. 58, 59 and 60 (=ss. 58, 59 and 60, Registration Act, 1877)—Document—Secondary evidence—Fact mentioned in endorsement may be proved.—Ss. 58, 59 and 60 of the Indian Registration Act (III of 1877) provide that the facts mentioned in the endorsement may be proved by those endorsements provided the provisions of s. 60 have been complied with. THAMA v. GOVIND, 9 Bom. L.R. 401.

(684)—Ss. 58 to 60—See CONSIDERATION, 80 P.R. 1868, 8 P.R. 1878.

(685)—Ss. 58, 60, 87 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 58, 60, 87)—Unregistered conveyance—Subsequent bond confirming conveyance—Registration of conveyance after time instead of bond—Registration—"Defect of procedure."--A sale-deed of immoveable property which ought to have been registered, was not registered owing to the expiry of the time for presenting it for registration. The vendor, however, subsequently gave the vendee a bond confirming the conveyance. On presenting for registration the bond with the conveyance annexed to it, the usual entries and the certificate of registration were either by mistake or for some other reason, entered on the conveyance and not on the bond. Held that, even assuming that it was the bond that was registered, it was doubtful whether such an obvious attempt to defeat the provisions of the Registration law would be allowed to succeeed and the document admitted in evidence; that in any case, the provisions of ss. 58, 59, 60 of the Registration Act had not been complied with, and that the bond was to all intents and purposes, unregistered; and that such defect was not a "defect of procedure" within the meaning of s 87, and one which could be passed over. MATHURA DAS v. MITCHELL, 4 A. 206 = A.W.N. 1882).

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(686)—Ss. 58, 87 (=Registration Act, 1871, ss. 58, 85)—Registration—Omission to take signature of person admitting execution of document — Validity of registration.—When the execution of a document is admitted by the executant or his representative, and the document is registered, the omission of the Sub-Registrar to endorse on it the signature of the person making the admission, cannot affect the validity of the registration. MAN BHARI v. NAUNIDH, 4 A. 40 = A.W.N. 1881, 78.

——S 59 (=s. 59 of 1877 = s. 59 of 1871 = s. 67 of 1866)

(687)—S. 59—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 92 P.R. 1906 = 126 P.L.R. 1906.

(688)—S. 59—See Nos. 336, 671, 683, 684, supra.

(689)—Ss. 59, 60--Burden of proof—Mortgage-deed - Evidence —See BURDEN OF PROOF—DOCUMENTS RELATING TO LOANS SUITS RELATING TO, 17 A. 428 = A.W.N. 1895, 93.

——S. 60 (=s. 60 of 1877 = s. 60 of 1871 = s. 68 of 1866 = s. 37 of 1864.)

(690)—S. 60 — See DEED -- PROOF OF DEEDS, 6 W.R. 105.

(691)—S. 60—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 92 P.R. 1906 = 126 P.L.R. 1906.

(692)—S. 60 — Effect of endorsement by Registering officer — See MORTGAGE — REDEMPTION, 3 Ind. Cas. 291.

(693)—S. 60—See NOS. 342, 345, 354, 368, 370, 332, 393, 522, 523, 671, 672, 683 to 685, 689, supra.

(694)—Ss. 60, 87 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 60, 87)—Registration of deed—Omission to seal deed, effect of.—The sealing of a deed is not an essential part of the act of registration. The omission of the registering officer to seal a deed is a mere defect of procedure which is cured by the provisions of s. 87 of the Registration Act. SITA NATH BANDOPADHYA v BISSESSUR ROY BHAUDHURI, 9 C.W.N. 528.

(695)—Ss. 60, 87—Registration Act, XX of 1866 — Document not received at Registrar's public office—Error not vitiating registration.—The bond in this case hypothecated immoveable property. It was presented for registration to the Sub-Registrar of K when he was absent from K on duty as revenue officer at G within his District. He, nevertheless, received the bond and registered it. No one having been actually appointed to act for the Sub-Registrar on the occasion of his absence, it did not appear that he acted in any manner otherwise than in good faith. The High Court held that, though he should have received the bond for registration only at his public office at K, yet, his procedure although erroneous, did not invalidate the registration of the bond. KALIAN MAL v. MUSAMMAT BHAGWATI, 7 N.W. P. 119.

——S. 64 (=s. 64 of 1877 = s. 64 of 1871 = s. 72 of 1866 = s. 23 of 1864).

(696)—S. 64—See NOS. 371, 372, supra.

——S. 65 (=s. 65 of 1877 = s. 65 of 1871 = s. 73 of 1866 = s. 25 of 1864).

(697)—S. 65—See NOS. 371, 372, supra.

——S 66 (=s. 66 of 1877 = s. 66 of 1871 = s. 74 of 1866).

(698)—S. 66—See NOS. 371, 523, supra.

——S. 67 (=s. 67 of 1877 = s. 67 of 1871 = s. 78 of 1866 = s 27 of 1864).

(699)—S. 67—See NO. 523, supra.

——S. 68 (=s. 68 of 1877 = s. 68 of 1871 = s. 79 of 1866 = s. 61 of 1864).

(700)—S. 68—See NO. 523, supra.

——S. 69 (=s. 69 of 1877 = s. 69 of 1871 = s. 80 of 1866 = s. 64 of 1864).

(701)—S. 69—Registration Act (XX of 1866), ss. 36, 80—Powers and duties of Registrar—Evidence—"Representative, assign or agent," meaning of.—S. 80 of the Registration Act in no way empowered the Registrar-General to pass any rule directing by what particular description of evidence a person, producing a deed to be registered, shall prove his right to have it registered. It cannot empower the Registrar-General to frame a special law different from the oridinary law of evidence in force in all the Civil Courts of the country as to what particular fact shall be proved by oral, and what by documentary evidence. What the Registrar is required by law to inquire is, whether the deed is executed by a certain person or not. He has no business to inquire, what actually passes or should pass under such a document or whether the interest of any third person is affected by it. He cannot assume the functions of a Civil Court and inquire into the possible effect or operation of such a document. The representative, assign, or agent mentioned in s. 36 means the representative, assign, or agent of one of the executants of the deed. In the matter of RAM CHUNDER BISWAS, 16 W.R. 180. [Appl., 21 A. 281 = A.W.N. 1899, 59.]

——S. 71 (=s. 71 of 1877 = s. 71 of 1871 = s. 82 of 1866 = s. 66 of 1864.)

(702)—S. 71—See NOS. 353, 375, 400, 524, supra.

(702-a)—Ss. 71, 72, 73, 76, 77—Failure of executant to appear and admit execution—Refusal by Sub-Registrar to register document—Establishing right to have document registered—Application to Registrar—Mention of wrong

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

section—Dismissal of application—Suit for registration of document whether lies.—The executant of a document did not appear before the Sub-Registrar, who refused to register the document. The person, in whose favour the document was executed (the plaintiff), then moved the Registrar. But the application was described as one under ss. 71 and 72 of the Registration Act, although it was one under s. 73, and was accompanied by a copy of the reasons recorded by the Sub-Registrar under s. 71 for refusing to register and was verified as required by s. 73. The facts were all stated in the application. The application was dismissed by the Registrar, so the present suit was brought under s. 77 for having the document registered: Held, that the suit was maintainable. A Court, in the administration of justice, should not refuse an application, which, on the merits, it ought to grant and in law can grant, simply because the applicant asks the Court to exercise its admitted powers under a wrong section. Regard should be had to the substance rather than to the form of the proceedings. The scope of a suit under s. 77 of the Registration Act depends upon the proved or admitted facts and circumstances, and not upon the erroneous mention of a section of the statute in an application to the Registrar. Failure on the part of the executant to appear and admit execution of a document is equivalent to denial of execution. BECHUN SAHU v. SYED ALI RASUL, 16 Ind. Cas. 614.

(703)—Ss. 71, 77—Right of suit—Refusal to register — Absence of agreement to register.—Where there was no agreement in a mortgage bond, that the executant should register the bond, a suit did not lie for damages for failure to register the same. GIRDHAR DALPAT v. HARIBHAI NARAYAN, 7 B H C. A C. 3.

——S. 72 (=s. 72 of 1877=s. 72 of 1871=s. 83 of 1866=s. 62 of 1864.)

(704)—S. 72 (=Registration Act, 1877, s.72)——Registration Moharir not proper officer to receive appeals.—S. 72 does not contemplate the presentation of an appeal to a Registration Moharir as a legal presentation. DRIGPAL SINGH v. GOVIND PANDA, 9 C.P.L.R. 45.

(705)—S. 72—See NOS. 337, 375, 376, 524, 702-a, supra.

(706)—Ss. 72, 73 (=Registration Act, 1866, ss. 83, 84)—'Appealed against,' meaning of—Execution denied— Registration refused—Petition to District Judge—Power of Judge to examine witnesses as to execution—Remand.—A person claiming under a document presented it for registration. The alleged executant appeared and falsely denied the execution of the said instrument; thereupon the Sub-Registrar refused to register the deed, although the person claiming under the document was ready to give proofs of the execution of the deed. The District Registrar affirmed the order of the Sub-Registrar. An application to the District Court under s. 84 (2) of Act XX of 1866 was also dismissed, the Judge holding that "he had no authority to examine witnesses in this matter or to determine whether the deed of sale was executed or not" Held that the Judge was wrong in declining jurisdiction, that the petition made to him was not an appeal from the decision of the Sub-Registrar or Registrar-General, but was a mode of bringing the question before the Judge as a Court of Original jurisdiction, in order to determine whether an order ought to be made for the registration of the document, and that the Judge had power to examine witnesses and to determine whether there has been a false denial of the execution of the document, but he had no power to remand the case to the Sub-Registrar for the purpose of examining witnesses. The words "appealed against" in s. 84 of the Act only mean "complained of" or "objected to." In the matter of the petition of SANKAR DOBAY, 4 B.L.R. A.C. 65=12 W.R. 385. [Affirm., 12 W.R. 500; Expl, 15 W.R. 487.]

(707)—Ss. 72, 73, 74 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 72, 73 and 74)—Appeal—Order refusing registration.—The plaintiff presented a receipt purporting to be executed by the defendant in his favour to the Sub-Registrar. The defendant having denied execution, registration was refused. The plaintiff appealed from the order of the Sub-Registrar to the District Registrar, but his appeal was dismissed on the ground that no appeal lay. The plaintiff then brought a suit in the Civil Court for a decree directing the document to be registered. Held that under s. 72 (Registration Act) no appeal lay to the Registrar and the plaintiff should have proceeded under s. 73. Held further, that by virtue of the provisions of s. 77 of the Registration Act, the Court was not competent to order registration. GANGA DIN v MATA DIN, 2 O.C. 77.

(708)—Ss. 72 to 75 (=Registration Act, III of 1877, ss. 72 to 75)—Registrar a Court for purposes of s. 195, Crim. Pro. Code.—A Registrar acting under s. 72 to 75 of the Registration Act, III of 1877, was a Court for the purposes of s. 195, Crim. Pro. Code, and his sanction was therefore necessary for a prosecution. ATCHAYYA v. GANGAYYA, 2 M L.J. 64=15 M. 138, F.B.

——S. 73 (=s. 73 of 1877=ss. 73, 74, 75 of 1871 =s 84 of 1866.)

(709)—S. 73 (=Registration Act, 1871, s. 73)—Registration—Person "claiming under document"—Petition to have document registered.—Where is appears, on the face of a document, that the person applying for its registration is not a person "claiming" under it, his petition for its registration cannot be entertained. Per Stuart, C. J.—The mere fact that it so appeared on the face of the document could not preclude the petitioner from applying to have the document registered. Per Oldfield, J.—When the document is duly executed and the requirements of the law are fulfilled, it is the duty of the Court to order registration without going into the question whether or not the petitioner could claim under it. BISH NATH, In re, 1 A. 318, F.B.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(710)—S. 73 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 73) —Refusal to register document—Denial of execution—Suit for registration.—Where the registration of a document is refused by the Sub-Registrar on the ground of denial of execution, a suit for the registration of the document is not maintainable unless an application under s. 73 of the Registration Act has been previously made to the Registrar. BHAGWAN SINGH v. KHUDA BAKHSH, 3 A. 397, F B. (2 A. 46, Observed upon.) [F., 9 C. 150, 7 M. 535, 16 M. 341, 24 A. 402; Appr., 11 C. 750; R., 1 A.W.N. 98, 4 L.B.R. 88, 14 Bur. L.R. 161; D., 5 A.W.N. 329, 16 A. 303.]

(711)—S. 73—See Nos. 268, 336, 343, 353, 375, 376, 386, 416, 417, 420, 421, 524, 702-A, 706 to 708, supra and No. 788, infra.

(712)—Ss. 73, 74, 75 (Registration Act, XX of 1866, s. 84)—Appeal.—There is no appeal to the High Court against an order of the District Judge passed under s. 84 of Act XX of 1866. The High Court cannot interfere even under Reg. 11 of 1827, s. V, cl. 2. Ex parte DHARAMDAS BHAVANIDAS, 3 B.H.C. A.C. 104.

(713) Ss. 73, 74, 75 (= Registration Act, 1866, s. 84)—Res judicata.—A suit to have a registered kobala declared fictitious and void as against plaintiff was held to disclose no good cause of action, seeing that, on a petition preferred according to the provisions of s. 84, Act XX of 1866, a competent Court had already decided that the defendant was entitled to obtain registration of the deed. RAM CHANDRA PAUL v. BECHARAM DEY, 8 B.L.R. App. 28, note=10 W.R. 329. [Not F., 7 C. 736=9 C.L.R. 471; Expl., 8 B.L.R. App. 26= 15 W.R. 487.]

(714)—Ss. 73,74, 75 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 84)—Registration—Evidence.—In a case in which, on an application made under s. 84, Act XX of 1866, the party alleged to have executed the document presented for registration did not deny execution, but said that he had been compelled to execute it, and the Judge, not thinking the objection sufficient, directed that the deed should be registered; held that it was not necessary for the Judge to take evidence before directing registration. PRASANNA KUMAR SANDYAL v. MUTHURANATH BANERJEE, 8 B.L R. App. 26=15 W.R. 487.

(715)—Ss. 73,74, 75 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 84), appeal under—Procedure—Notice—Language—Deputy Registrar, Powers of.—A petition of appeal to the High Court under s. 84 of Act XX of 1866, should be in English, only when the party understands that language sufficiently for the purposes of verification, and when this is not the case, a translation accompanying the vernacular petition will be proper and sufficient. A notice in accordance with the provisions of cl. 4, s. 84, of the Act, ought to be issued on both the registering officer, and on the other persons interested in the matter. The Deputy Registrar of the High Court is competent to fix the time for the hearing of the case, and to require the appellant to insert, at the head of the petition of appeal, the names of such persons as are interested in the matter as also to serve them with notice. The document the registration of which has been refused should always be put in with the petition of appeal, and the presentation of the latter should be in the office in the same way as in the case of miscellaneous appeals. In the matter of JUGUN PATNEE, 12 W.R. 2.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(716)—Ss. 73, 74, 75—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADERS—REMUNERATION, 7 B.H.C A.C. 132.

(717)—Ss. 73, 74, 75—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 12 W.R. 2.

(718) Ss. 73, 74, 75—See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE, 2 B.L.R.A.C. 105=10 W.R. 483, 9 B.L.R. 433=14 M.I.A. 129=16 W.R. P.C. 26.

(719)—Ss. 73 to 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 73 to 77)—Jurisdiction of Civil Court to order registration, when arises—"In such case," meaning of.—A Civil Court is competent, under s. 77 of the Registration Act, to order the registration of a document which the Sub-Registrar has refused to register because its execution was denied, only when an appeal has been preferred before the Registrar within the time prescribed therefor in s. 73 of the Act, and after inquiry, registration has been again refused. Where, therefore, a Sub Registrar refused to register a document on the ground of denial of execution, and an appeal was made to the Registrar after the time prescribed therefor, who therefore dismissed it without inquiry as being beyond time, held that a Civil Court would not interfere to compel the registration of the document. [R., 11 O.C. 353.] The words 'in such case' with which s. 74 of the Act opens, are equivalent to saying, "when, under the last preceding s. 73, an application has been presented to the Registrar within thirty days after the making of the order of refusal by the Sub-Registrar" UDIT UPADHIA v. IMAM BANDI BIBI, 24 A. 402=A.W.N. 1902, 99.

(720)—Ss. 73, 74, 77—Refusal of Registrar to register document because no evidence produced—Suit for registration maintainable.—Where the District Registrar, on an application duly presented within time under s. 73 of the Registration Act, has fixed a date for the purpose of an enquiry under s. 74, and has then refused to register the document because no evidence has been adduced before him, the refusal comes within the purview of s. 77, and a civil suit is maintainable for the purpose of enforcing the registration of the document. (13 C. 264, F.; 24 A. 402, D.) Observations at pp. 406, and 407 of the report of I.L.R. 24 All., held obiter. ABDUL HAKIM KHAN v. CHANDNA, 9 A.L.J. 4=13 Ind. Cas. 83=34 A. 165.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(721)—Ss. 73, 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 73, 77)—Registration of document presented after time—Registration Act, 1871, s. 24—Discretion.—Where an application for the registration of a document, presented after the expiration of the period allowed by law, is dealt with under s. 24 of the Registration Act, and registration ordered by the Registrar on compliance with the requirements of law, such exercise of discretion cannot be questioned either by a succeeding Registrar, or by a Civil Court in a suit instituted under s. 77 of the Act. DURGA SINGH v. MATHURADAS, 6 A. 460=A.W.N. 1884. 173. [F., 21 B. 69, 21 B. 724; R., 30 B. 304=7 Bom. L.R. 742.]

(722)—Ss. 73, 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 73, 77).—A Civil Court is competent, under s. 77, to order registration of a document, which the Sub-Registrar has refused to register because its execution was denied, only when an appeal has been preferred before the Registrar in the time prescribed therefor, and, after inquiry, registration has been again refused. KUNHIMMU v. VIYYATHAMMA, 7 M. 535. [F., 16 M. 341; Appr., 24 A. 402; R., 2 O.C. 77.]

(723)—Ss. 73, 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 73, 77)—Suit to compel registration.—Under the Registration Act of 1877, a suit to compel registration is maintainable only when the provisions of s. 77 of the Act have been strictly complied with, including the presentation of the application to the Registrar under s. 73 within the proper time. Independently of s. 77, no suit will lie. (3 A. 397, F.; 2 A. 46, Diss.) One of the objections to the maintenance of a suit of this nature lies in the circumstance that, under the Registration Act, the document cannot be received in evidence, because it has not been duly registered, under its provisions. EDUN v. MAHOMED SIDDIK, 9 C. 150=11 C.L.R. 440. [F., 4 L.B.R. 88, 9 C. 851; Expl., 16 A. 303=14 A.W.N. 94; Appr., 7 M. 535, 16 M. 341, 2 O.C. 77; R., 11 C. 750, 24 A. 402=22 A.W.N. 99, 9 B. 63.]

——S. 74 (=s. 74 of 1877=s. 76 of 1871=s. 84 of 1866.)

(724)—S. 74—See Nos. 268, 341, 386, 416, 524, 707, 708, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, supra and No. 788, infra.

(725)—Ss. 74, 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 74, 77)—Suit to compel registration, when not maintainable.—If non-registration of a document has resulted from the refusal of one of the parties to it to execute it, that matter must be nquired into by the Registrar as directed by s. 74, before any right to sue under s. 77 of the Registration Act would arise. LAKHIMONI CHOWDHRAIN v. AKROOMONI CHOWDHRAIN, 9 C. 851=12 C.L.R. 527. [R., 11 C. 750, 24 A. 402=22 A.W.N. 99.]

(726)—Ss. 74, 82 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 74 and 82)—District Registrar's power to delegate to Sub-Registrar, functions prescribed by s. 74.—The functions prescribed by s. 74 are entirely in the Registrar himself. He cannot delegate them to the Sub-Registrar. The delegation, by the Registrar, of his functions of inquiry under this section is illegal. Therefore, a Sub-Registrar, holding an inquiry under s. 74, acting under the orders of the Registrar cannot be said to be acting within the meaning of s. 82 of the Act. Where a witness makes a false statement before the Sub-Registrar in such a case, he cannot be prosecuted under s. 82 of the Act. MATA DAYAL v. QUEEN-EMPRESS, 24 C. 755.

——S 75 (=s. 75 of 1877=s. 76 of 1871=s. 84 of 1866.)

(727)—S. 75—Registration—Remedy for refusal—Act XX of 1866, s. 84.—The remedy for refusal to register an instrument is by a petition to the Judge under s. 84, Act XX of 1866. A regular suit to enforce registration does not lie. TULSI SAHU v. MAHADEO DAS, 2 B.L.R. A.C. 105=10 W.R. 483. (10 W.R.F.B, 51, Rel. on.) [F., 12 W.R. 335=4 B.L.R. A.C. 65.]

(728)—S. 75 (=Registration Act, XX of 1866, s. 84)—Refusal of registration—S. 84, Act XX of 1866—Petition to District Judge—Trial by Judge—No remand.—Where registration of a document has been refused, because the execution of it is denied by one of those said to have executed it, and a petition under s. 84, Act XX of 1866, is presented to the District Court by the party claiming under the document, to establish his right to have the document registered, the Judge must himself decide the question whether the document was executed or not and not remand the case to the Sub-Registrar for the examination of witnesses; the petition above referred to not being an appeal but a step intended to bring the question before the Court. OBHOY CHURN MOHAPATTUR v. SHUNKER DOBEY, 12 W.R. 500.

(729)—S. 75—Registration Act (XX of 1866), s. 84—Refusal to register—Power of District Court.—Held (by Kemp, J.) that when a person executing a document refuses to admit the fact of its execution, and the Sub-registrar, without taking any step to satisfy himself of the fact of execution, refuses to register it and the order of refusal is confirmed by the District Registrar, the aggrieved party cannot enforce registration of the document by a regular suit; but that the District Court has power, under s. 84 of Act XX of 1866, to examine witnesses, to make some enquiry into the fact of execution of the deed, and to order the Registrar to register it; the Court may also remand the case to the Sub-Registrar to examine witnesses, &c. Held by Markby, J. contra. Unless a special power were given for the purpose, the Civil Court cannot direct the Registering Officer to register a document which he had refused to register. In the matter of SUNKUR DOBEY v. OBHOY CHURN MOHAPATTUR, 12 W.R. 385. [Affirmed, 12 W.R. 500=4 B L.R.A.C. 65.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(730)—S. 75—Act XX of 1866, s. 84—Registration—Appeal.—No appeal lies to the High Court against an order made by a District Court on a petition under s. 84 of the Registration Act XX of 1866. SALIGRAM MISSER v. MUSSAMUT JANKEE KOER, 9 W.R. 122.

(731)—S. 75—Act XX of 1866, s. 84—Application for declaration of right to get document registered—Summary determination of fact of execution—Court not bound to determine any issue respecting consideration.—The question for determination in this case related to the functions of the Court when an application has been made to it under s. 84 of Act XX of 1866 providing that, where the registration of a document shall have been refused, any person claiming thereunder may apply by petition to the Court for establishing his right to have the document registered. The High Court held that the Legislature has intended that the Civil Court should summarily determine the fact of execution in cases in which it has not been admitted, and also that, on such proof of the fact of execution and of compliance with the requirements of the Act, it is the duty of the Civil Court to order registration without concerning itself to enquire whether or not consideration has been received or if the petitioner is for any other reasons disentitled to claim to enforce the deed. In such cases, therefore, the Court is not bound to determine any issue respecting payment of consideration. SHEO NEWAZ v. AJOODHYA KOONBEE, 2 N.W.P. 254.

(732)—S. 75—See NOS. 38, 268, 416, 418, 524, 708, 712 to 719, supra, and NO. 788, infra.

——S. 76 (=s. 76 of 1877=ss. 71, 72, 76 of 1871).

(733)—S. 76 (=Registration Act, 1871, s. 76) —Civ. Pro. Code (VIII of 1859), applicability of, to proceedings under Registration Act—Appeal from orders directing or refusing registration—Review—Ground other than error of law discovery of new evidence—Order under Registration Act, 1871—Suit to contest order of registering officer.—The procedure prescribed in Act VIII of 1859 (old Civ. Pro. Code) is applicable to proceedings under the Registration Act (VIII of 1871=III of 1877), including the power to admit a review. [R., 29 B. 698, 14 M.L.J. 471, F.B.] The words 'no appeal lies from any order under this section' in s. 76 of Act VIII of 1871 (=III of 1877) exclude an appeal not only from an order directing registration but also from one refusing registration. [Appl., 6 C. 168, 10 M. 179. F.B; R., 12 A. 510, 33 C. 1323=10 C.W.N. 986=3 C.L.J. 545.] Under the Civ. Pro Code of 1859, it was competent for a Judge to entertain an application for review on grounds other than error of law or of discovery of new evidence. N.B.—In this case the Officer admitting the review was different from the one who passed the order sought to be reviewed. [Diss., 6 C. 236=6 C.L.R. 549, 2 M. 10; Appl., 10 M. L J. 134; Dist., 15 C. 166; R., 9 A. 36] An order rejecting an application for registration, under s. 76 of Act VIII of 1871, was one in the nature of a 'decree' so as to admit of a review. Quære.—Whether, after the rejection of an application for registration of a document, the defeated party can have recourse to a regular suit for obtaining registration? In the matter of the petition of HADGEE ABDOOLLAH, 2 C. 131=3 I.A. 221=26 W.R. 50, P.C.=3 Sar. 221. (14 M.I.A. 129=9 B.L R. 436, D.)

(734)—S. 76—See Nos. 340, 353, 386, 417, 419, 702 (a), supra.

(735)—Ss. 76, 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss 76, 77)—Suit for registration of document.—The mere fact of an applicant not having adduced any evidence before the Registrar, in respect of the execution of a deed, would not make his order one not refusing registration within the meaning of s. 76 of the Registration Act, so as to preclude the applicant on that ground alone from pursuing his remedy by civil suit under s. 77 of the Act. SAJBULLAH SIRKAR v. HAZI KHOSH MOHOMED SIRKAR, 13 C. 264.

(736)—Ss. 76, 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss 76 and 77)—Registration—Suit to compel registration—Grounds of such suit.—Where, a Registrar refused to register a document presented to him, upon the grounds that there was not sufficient proof that the document was executed by the authority of the alleged executant, and that there was undue and unexplained delay, in presenting the document for registration, it was held, that a suit would lie under s. 77 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, to compel registration. Held also that, in a suit under s. 77 of the Registration Act, the Court is only concerned with the genuineness of the document sought to be registered, and not with its validity. KANHAYA LAL v. SARDAR SINGH, A.W.N. 1907, 46=4 A.L.J. 171=29 A. 284. (25 C. 93, 24 C. 668, R.)

(737)—Ss. 76, 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, ss. 76, 77)—"Refusal to accept" and "Refusal to register," difference between—Suit to compel registration.—S. 76 (a) of the Registration Act shows that cases of "refusal to accept" were within the meaning of the words "refusing to register" s. 77 of the Act applies to the refusal to register a document as well as to refusal to accept the same for registration. NARASIMHA NAYANEVARU v. RAMALINGAMA RAO, 10 M.L.J. 104.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

——S. 77 (= s. 77 of 1877 = s. 15 of 1864).

(738)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Document not compulsorily registrable--Suit to compel registration.—Under the Registration Act a suit will lie on the part of a purchaser to compel registration of his kobala in a case in which the value of the property conveyed is under Rs. 100 and registration is therefore not made compulsory by the Act. TOPA BIBI v. ASHANULLA SARDAR, 16 C. 509. (6 M.H.C. App., 9, 10 W.R. 360, Cited.)

(739)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77)—Suit to register document—Scope of enquiry.—Held, that in a suit filed under s. 77 of the Registration Act the Court should enquire into nothing more than whether the defendant ostensible executant signed and delivered to the plaintiff the document in question in the suit. NAWAB v. ARJAN DAS, 78 P.L.R. 1904 = 13 P.R. 1904. (24 C. 668, 11 P.R. 1903, 84 P.L.R. 1903, 18 M. 255, R.)

(740)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Suit for direction to register documents—Scope of enquiry—Issues—Execution—Compliance with requirements of law—Effect and binding nature of the documents.—In a suit for a decree directing the registration of certain documents, the enquiry in Court is to be directed to two points only, namely, (1) whether the documents had been executed; and (2) whether certain requirements of the law as to presentation for registration in due time to the proper office, and in the manner generally prescribed by the Registration Act, had been complied with by the person presenting the documents for registration. The defendant in such a suit may possibly have good reasons why he should not be bound by the documents, but the law does not allow him to advance such reasons in a suit under s. 77 of the Indian Registration Act W. W. BROUCKE v. RAJAH SHAHEB MOHAN BIKRAM SHAH, 14 C W.N. 12 = 5 Ind. Cas. 20. (24 C. 668, 18 M. 255, 29 A. 284, R.)

(741)—S. 77 — Time for presentation of a document.—The document must be presented for registration within 30 days of the decree; otherwise it will become inoperative. DUDA MAL v. FAQIR MUHAMMAD, 120 P R. 1888 and ABDUL HALIM v. GHULAM MIAN, 70 P. R. 1887.

(741-a)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Suit for registration of document — Limitation—Last day a holiday—Suit filed on reopening of Court — Stare decisis — General Clauses Act (X of 1887), s. 7--General Clauses Act (I of 1897), s. 10—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 5.—Where a Registrar having refused to order the registration of a document on the 29th November, the plaintiff instituted a suit for the registration of the document under s. 77, Registration Act of 1877, on the 2nd January following, the Court being closed on the 29th of December and the following days until it reopend on the 2nd January: Held—That, in view of previous decisions of the Court and of the legislative sanction impliedly accorded to the rule there laid down by the General Clauses Acts of 1887 and 1897, the suit should be held to have been properly instituted. (5 C. 906, 18 C. 231, 631, Commented on) Per D. Chatterjee, J.—S 5 of the Limitation Act has no application to suits under s. 77 of the Registration Act. AHAD BAKSH v. SHEIKH BAHAR ALI, 16 C.W.N 721 = 14 Ind Cas. 173.

(741-b)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Suit for registration of a document—Limitation—Order striking off a case for compulsory registration of a document — Review—Final order refusing to register—Period of thirty days when to run from.—Where the plaintiff applied to the Registrar for compulsory registration of a deed of sale and the case was struck off, but on the plaintiff's application for review the case was restored and the Registrar, after taking evidence on both sides, made his final order refusing to register the deed and the plaintiff instituted a suit in the Civil Court under s. 77 of the Registration Act within 30 days from the date of this order:—Held, that the final order of the Registrar made after the restoration of the case was the order of refusal in respect of which the plaintiff was entitled to institute a suit in the Civil Court, and the plaintiff's suit was not barred by limitation. SHEIK SAJED v SARODA PROSAD CHAUDHURY, 17 C.W.N. 585 = 18 Ind. Cas. 450 = 18 C L.J. 45.

(742) - S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Suit to compel registration of document —Execution admitted — Plea of cancellation of document no bar.—In a suit under s. 77 of the Registration Act to compel registration of a document, the only question to be considered is the factum of execution, and when this is admitted, the plaintiff is entitled to claim registration. That the contract embodied in the document was cancelled after its execution is no defence to the suit. And where the instrument has been presented for registration in time and accepted, it is no defence to say that the document was not registered within a certain time, for the law fixes no time within which the registration of such a document must be completed. BALAMBAL AMMAL v. ARUNACHELA CHETTI, 18 M. 255. [Appr., 24 C. 668 = 1 C.W.N. 444, 11 P. R. 1903 = 84 P.L R. 1903, 13 P.R. 1904 = 78 P.L R 1904; R., 14 C.W.N 12.]

(743)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1864, s. 15) —Suit brought under—Execution admitted but collateral agreement invalidating original document set up—Document to be registered. —In a suit under s. 15 of the Registration Act against a person to compel him to join in the registration of certain documents, where the defendant admits the execution of the documents but sets up a collateral agreement which would render the documents of no legal

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

force, the document ought to be registered, execution having been admitted, even although the agreement relied on is found by the Court to be genuine. RAMANADAN CHETTY v. VIJIASAMY, 4 M.H.C. 425. [D., 1 C.L.J. 126.]

(744)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Suit to enforce registration of document—Execution admitted—Question of validity of document.—In a suit to enforce the registration of a document under s. 77 of the Registration Act, a Court cannot go into any matter affecting the validity of a document apart from its genuineness. HAZURI MAL v. KUTAB UD-DIN, 84 P.L R. 1903=11 P.R. 1903. (18 M. 255, 24 C. 668, F.) [R., 13 P.R. 1904=78 P. L.R. 1904]

(745)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1864, s. 29)— Sale-deed — Execution not admitted. —A Registrar is justified in refusing to register a sale deed under Act XVI of 1864, when all the requirements of s. 29 had not been carried out before him. BHAGVAN JAYARAM v. VITHOBA GOVIND, 4 B.H.C.A.C. 140.

(746)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1867, s. 77) —Limitation Act, 1877, s. 7—Minor's suit to enforce registration after time.—The Registration Act being a special Act, complete in itself, s. 7 of the Limitation Act would not apply to a suit by a minor under s. 77 of the Registration Act for a decree directing a document to be registered. Such a suit brought more than thirty days after refusal of the Registrar to register would be barred by limitation. VEERAMMA v. ABBIAH, 18 M 99. F.B. [Not F., 30 B. 275=7 Bom. L.R. 697; F, 20 M. 249, 8 M. L.J. 265=22 M. 179, 24 A. 402, 30 C 532; R., 18 M 484, 20 B. 543, 20 M. 476=23 M. 389, 4 O.C. 182.]

(747)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Suit to compel registration not maintainable independently of.—Independently of the provisions of s. 77 of the Registration Act, no suit can be maintained for compelling the registration of an executed document, or for getting a fresh document executed and registered by the defendant. The document sought to be registered by means of such a suit cannot, except under the special provisions of s. 77, be received in evidence so as to enable the Court to ascertain the existence of a document requiring registration. Moreover, such a suit will not lie upon the general principle that, when a statute creates a right or an obligation and provides a method of enforcing it, that method, and not the remedy at the common law, must be followed. Where, as in this case, plaintiff had possession of the document within the time allowed for its registration, he could have himself presented it for registration and proceeded under the provisions of the Act. He had a complete remedy under the Act, and having neglected to take the possible and proper steps thereunder he has only himself to blame, nor can a decree be given for execution and registration of a similar document, since the defendant has in fact already executed one. VENKATASAMI v. KRISTAYYA, 16 M. 341=3 M.L J. 169. [F., 6 M.L.J. 263; D., 20 M. 19, 20 M. 250.]

(748) — S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77)—Suit to enforce registration maintainable independently of.—Plaintiffs alleged that, after the execution of a lease-deed by the lessor's agent, the lessor refused to be a party to the registration of the deed, and instituted the present suit praying that the defendants be ordered to cause the registration of it. Reversing the decision of the lower appellate Court to the effect that the plaintiff's suit was barred by s. 77 of the Registration Act, the High Court held that that section, being an enabling one, contained nothing which could bar a suit of any description, that the refusal by a party to a deed to register it gives a cause of action outside the provisions of the Registration Act for a suit like the present one. ABDULLAH KHAN v. JANKI, 16 A. 303=A.W. N. 1894, 94. (2 A. 46, F.; 3 A. 39, 3 A. 397, 9 C. 151, D.) [R., 4 L.B.R. 88=14 Bur. L. R. 161.]

(749)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1864, s. 15) — Suit under -- Suit to be limited to object specified in section—Power of Court.—Where it is necessary to institute a suit under s. 15 of the Registration Act to enforce registration, the suit should be limited to that object. It would be improper for the Court, after making the order to compel the registration, to suspend the further hearing of the case until registration had been effected, and then proceed to consider and decide upon the rights of the parties. HAKIM KHADAR SAIB v KHADAR BHIBI, 3 M H.C. 149. [R., 4 M H.C. 425.]

(750)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —New bond in cancellation of old bonds—Registration refused—Suit on original bonds—Novation.—Where in consolidation of some old bonds, and in consideration of a further advance, a new bond was executed, and the obligor subsequently refused to register the new bond, denying execution, and the plaintiff's proceedings under the Registration Act proved a failure, and thereupon the plaintiff sued on the old bonds and to recover the advance made in cash, held that, under the circumstances, there had been no novation, nor, as the suit was not on the new bond, had the principle laid down in 3 A. 397 any reference. MAHABIR RAI v. DEBI DAYAL, A.W.N. 1881, 98.

(751)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Order—Registrar—Suit to set aside the order. —A suit to set aside an order, brought under s. 77 of the Registration Act must be instituted within 30 days from the making of it: the making of the order means not merely recording it in writing but communicating it to the party concerned so as to bind him by it. ABDUL ALI v. MIRJA KHAN, 5 Bom. L.R. 622=28 B. 8.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(752)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 77)—Suit under—Power of Court—S. 30, Guardian and Wards Act, 1890—Guardian acting without permission or in contravention of permission.—In a suit under s. 77, Registration Act, it is not competent for the Court to go into any matter affecting the validity of a document apart from its genuineness. S. 77 does not contemplate a suit for a decree declaring the validity or the binding character of the document. The question of validity of the document is left to be determined in a proper suit, (18 M. 255, Appr.) [F., 54 P.L.R.1903=11 P.R. 1903, 78 P.L.R. 1904=13 P.R. 1904, 29 A. 284, A.W.N. 1907, 46=4 A.L.J. 171; R., 14 C.W.N. 12.] If a guardian executes a deed in contravention of the terms of the permission, his act will not be void, but voidable. He or his successor may be compelled to register it, if it was proved to be genuine, even though such deed be voidable at the option of the minor. The infant will be entitled to avoid the deed, but only on condition he restores any benefit received thereunder to the person from whom it was received; but the Court cannot grant such relief to the latter unless he brings another suit. RAJ LAKHI GHOSE v. DEBENDRA CHANDRA MOJUMDAR, 24 C. 668=1 C.W.N. 444. [R., 22 M. 289, 3 C.L.J. 260, 14 C.W.N. 12.]

(753)—*S.*77 (=Registration Act, 1877, *s.*77)—Decree in a suit under, directing, but not fixing period for, registration of document—Omission to present document within thirty days of decree, whether could vitiate subsequent registration.—The defendant, in this case, had obtained a decree, against the present plaintiff, which directed a certain document to be registered by the latter but said nothing about its presentation for registration within thirty days from the passing of the decree. The said defendant did not present the document, for registration, within thirty days, after the passing of the first Court's decree, but did so present it within such period after the passing of the decree on an unsuccessful appeal by the present plaintiff and plaintiff, in the present suit, asked for a declaration that the registration was bad. Held, there is no positive enactment in s. 77 of the Act that a document directed to be registered, by a decree thereunder, ought to be presented for registration within thirty days after the passing of the decree and though, to give effect to the intention of the section, the decree made under it could have provided that the document should be presented for registration within such period, yet, it was not competent for the Court in the present suit, to go behind the express decree and incorporative into it a condition not imposed by the Court, which passed the same. GOPINATH ADHICARY v. GADADHAR DAS, 33 C. 1020.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(754)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 77)—Transfer of right of management of temple endowment—Sufficiency of description—Refusal to register where description regarding some of the properties is insufficient.—The right of the manager of a Hindu temple, even though such management involves the holding of immoveable property forming part of the endowment of the temple, is not immoveable property within the meaning of the Act. The incident of reference, in an instrument of transfer of such right, to the endowment cannot alter the character of transfer. Where a document covering more properties than one is presented for registration and the description of one of the properties is sufficient to satisfy the requirements of the Act, while those with regard to the rest are not sufficient, the registering officer ought not to refuse registration in regard to the document as a whole. He ought to register the document as regards the property whose description is correct. Where the right to manage a temple and its endowments is transferred, the description would be sufficient if the deed mentions the name and situation of the temple, extent of the lands and the registry. KESAVA PILLAI v. KUNNUSAMI PILLAI, 15 M.L.J. 30.

(755) — S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1866, s. 82)—Sale deed—Refusal to register—Suit to recover deed—A sale-deed to the plaintiff was duly executed by the vendor and the purchase money was paid, and when the deed was presented for registration, the defendant instigated the vendor to deny the receipt of the purchase-money, whereupon the Sub-Registrar refused to register. The plaintiff sued the vendor and the defendant for the recovery of the deed of which the latter had obtained possession. Held that the plaintiff was entitled to sue for the document itself, as the defendant had no right to it after it had been received back from the Sub-Registrar, and that the plaintiff was also entitled to ask, as against the defendant, for such aid as the Court could afford towards procuring the due registration of the document according to law. MITTER SEIN v. NARAIN SINGH, 1 N.W.P. 289.

(756)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1864, s. 15)—Registrar's improper refusal to register.—This was a suit under s. 15 of Act XVI of 1864 to establish the right to have a certain instrument registered. The lower Court held that the section did not apply to the present case and that the Registrar was right in refusing to register when the parties would not attend and did not assent to the registration. The High Court was also of opinion that s. 15 of the above Act applies only to cases in which the Registrar has refused when, under the circumstances, he ought not to have refused to register. GOOROO DOSS DUTT v. DWARKANATH MANNA, 6 W.R. Mis. 61.

(757)—S. 77—Lease not requiring registration—Suit to compel registration—Express covenant

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

to register.—Where in a lease there has been no express covenant to register it, nor, at the time of its execution, was there any provision of law in force, rendering the registration of the lease compulsory in order that the lease may be operative, from which an implied agreement to register might be inferred, no suit can be maintained simply to compel the registration of the deed embodying the lease. AHSUNA BEGUM v. KHEERUN SINGH, 10 W.R. 360. [D., 16 C. 509.]

(758)—S. 77—Claim arising from unregistered document—Existence of document proved—Claim sought to be proved debors the document.—In a case where it is made to appear that the cause of suit arises from a document which by law requires registration, but has not in fact been registered, the plaintiff cannot be permitted to establish a claim independently of the document whose existence is shown. To permit this, would be to enable parties to escape from the consequences which the law has attached to non-registration. RAMPERSHAD v. MUSUMUT RANEE MEWA KOER, 2 N.W.P. 12.

(759)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1864, s. 15)—Deed presented for registration, return of, without registration—Suit to enforce contract against resiling vendor—Act XX of 1876, s. 84.—Plaintiff alleged that defendant had agreed to sell certain property to him; that when the deed was executed and taken to the Registrar's office, the defendant objected to the registration on the ground that the full price had not been paid, on which the Registrar returned the deed to the defendant. The defendant then having sold the same property to the other defendants, this suit was brought to set aside the subsequent sale and to enforce the contract entered into by the principal defendant with the plaintiff and to have his purchase registered under a decree of Court. Both the lower Courts rejected the claim and dismised the suit, the Judge of the Lower Appellate Court holding that the only course for plaintiff to adopt was to come in under s. 84 of Act XX of 1866, and that, having failed to follow the course prescribed by law, the plaintiff cannot be allowed to sue for the specific performance of the contract owing to the defective nature of the plaint. The High Court, however, held that, as the plaintiff's case had arisen from acts done under s. 15 of Act XVI of 1864, which was the law in force when the Registrar refused to register the deed, the provisions of the subsequent law could not deprive the plaintiff of his right to bring an action. It was further held that the present case was not one coming either under the provisions of s. 15 of Act XVI of 1864, or of s. 84, Act XX of 1866, though the plaintiff asked for registration. It was a suit to enforce a contract from which the vendor had resiled, and the prayer for registration did not alter the nature of the suit, and consequently, notwithstanding the subsequent sale to a third party and registration of such subsequent deed, nothing in the Registration Act could prevent the plaintiff from enforcing his contract. BHEEMUL MAHTOON v. MUSSAMUT OLIMUSSA, 8 W.R. 423.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(760)—S. 77—Registration of fraudulent deed, effect of—Suit by purchaser to compel vendor to complete sale by registration, maintainability of.—Registration can give no efficacy to a fraudulent and collusive deed. The remedy given by the Registration Act by appeal when a registry officer refuses to register, does not affect a purchaser's remedy by suit to compel the vendor to do all that is legally requisite to complete the sale, including the registration of the deed. RAMPHUL LALL v. CHUNDY PURSHAD, 1 N.W.P. 287.

(761)—S. 77—Suit for cancelment of mortgage deed—Registration Act—Process of execution—Right to suit.—The powers conferred on the Court under the sections of the Registration Act for enforcement by process of execution of the payment of a bond including the power to set aside a decree made thereunder, to stay execution and to cause the bond to be kept in safe custody, are by no means inconsistent with the right to maintain a suit for the cancelment and annulment of a deed of mortgage alleged to be false and fraudulent, the mortgagors denying execution thereof and all knowledge of its execution and registration. SREE RAM v. HOKOON SINGH, 2 N.W.P. 467.

(762)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 77)—Suit to compel registration — Limitation—Act No. XV of 1877 (Indian Limitation Act), ss. 5 and 6.—Held, that s. 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, applies to a suit brought under s. 77 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, to compel registration of a document. SURAJ BALI PRASAD v. THOMAS, A.W.N. 1905, 175=2 A.L.J. 714=28 A. 48. (23 A. 277, F.)

(763)—S. 77 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 77)—Suit for registration of document—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 5, whether applicable.—The provisions of s. 5 of the Limitation Act, 1877, control the special rule of limitation in s. 77 of the Registration Act, 1877. Therefore, where the Court was closed on the 30th day after the making of an order of refusal to register a document by the Registrar, and a suit under s. 77 of the Registration Act was brought on the next open day: Held, that the suit was within time. AHAD BAKSH MOLLA v. SHEIKH BABAR ALI, 5 Ind. Cas. 416. (8 C. 910, 10 C.L.R. 333, F.)

(764)—S. 77—Suit for order directing registration of document—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), ss. 5, 6—30 days expiring during a Court holiday—Suit instituted on reopening day if barred.—The provisions of s. 5 of the Limitation Act apply to suits under s. 77 of the Registration Act (III of 1877). When therefore the period of limitation provided in that section for a suit for an order directing the registration of a document expired during the X'mas holidays. Held—That the suit, if instituted on the day the Court re-opened, would not be barred by limitation. MATABBAR MOLLAH v. SASI BHUSAN GHATAK, 16 C.W.N. 20. (8 C. 910, F.)

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(765)—S 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Limitation Act, 1877, s. 14—Applicability to suits under Registration Act, s. 77,—S. 14 of the Limitation Act, which provides for cases in which a plaintiff, in perfect good faith, but under a mistake, institutes proceedings in a wrong Court, is applicable not only to the provisions of the Limitation Act itself, but also to those of all Acts providing a special time for the limitation of suits such as that in s. 77 of the Registration Act. KHETTER MOHUN CHUCKERBUTTY v. DINABASHY SHAH, 10 C. 265 [F., 8 B. 529; R., 12 M 467, 18 M. 99, F.B., 20 B 543, 4 O.C. 182; D., 17 C. 263; Doubt., 30 C. 532, F.B.]

(766)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Suit under s. 77, Registration Act, 1877—Limitation.—S. 5, Limitation Act, 1877, applies to suits to compel registration instituted under s. 77 of the Registration Act. NIJABUTOOLLA v. WAZIR ALI, 8 C. 910 = 10 C.L.R. 233. [R., 18 M. 99.]

(767)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Limitation—Joinder of claims.—In calculating the 30 days under s. 77 of the Registration Act, the day on which the order was passed ought to be excluded. No other claims can be joined in a suit brought under s. 77, Registration Act. But, if such a claim is joined, the Court should direct the plaint to be amended, and should not dismiss the suit. VENKATARAMACHENDRA RAO v. VEERAMMA, 9 M. L. J. 107.

(768)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Presentation of document in time—Withdrawal by party presenting—Subsequent presentation for registration after expiry of time limited —First presentation not rendered void by subsequent withdrawal.—A document was presented for registration within the time allowed by law. It was however impounded on the ground that the proper stamp duty had not been paid. On its being returned by the Collector to the Registrar the party who presented it applied for its return to the Registrar and was given back to him by the Registrar. Sometime after, the party again presented it for registration and registration was refused on the ground that the document had been presented after the expiration of 8 months from the date of execution Hence a suit under s. 77 of the Registration Act for a decree directing the registration of the document. Held that the withdrawal of the document was a mere irregularity and as there is no enactment, which provides that if a party presenting a document subsequently withdraws it before Registration, it shall be deemed not to have been presented, it could not be held that the first presentation was rendered void and of no effect by the subsequent removal of the document from the Registrar's office. ADKU PATEL v RAMCHANDRA, 3 C.P.L.R. 67.

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

(769)—S. 77 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 77) —Suit under s 77 of Act III of 1877 —Appeals to the High Court—Amount of Court-fee.—The Court fee payable on appeals to the High Court in suits under s. 77 of the Registration Act, is ten rupees, irrespective of the value of the suit. JANTOO v. RADHA CANTO DOSS, 8 C. 515 [F., 12 M.L.J 83, 31 M. 89 = 3 M.L.T 73 = 17 M L.J. 573.]

(770)—S. 77—See APPEAL—GENERAL, 43 P.R. 1896.

(771)—S. 77—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, sch. II, art. 17 (3), 21 P.R. 1895.

(772)—S. 77—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 9 W R. 576.

(773)—S. 77—Suit to direct registration of will disposing of property worth more than Rs. 2,500—Jurisdiction of Munsiff's Court—See JURISDICTION OF MUNSIFF'S COURTS, 17 M L.J. 572, F.B = 3 M.L T. 73 = 31 M. 89.

(774)—S. 77—Suit to compel registration of document—Limitation expiring on holiday—Filing of suit on re-opening of Court—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ss. 4 & 5, 20 M. 249 = 7 M.L J. 94.

(775)—S. 77—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s 5, 74 P.R. 1890.

(776)—S. 77—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 14, 30 C. 532 = 7 C.W N. 550.

(777)—S. 77—See Nos. 267, 273, 341, 359, 386, 401, 402, 417, 418, 420, 702 a, 703, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 725, 735, 736, 737, supra.

(777-a)—Ss. 77, 36—Maintainability of suit—Refusal to register for not summoning witnesses under s 36 of the Act.—Where a document was presented for registration to the Sub Registrar after the death of the executant, and the registration was refused on the ground that heirs of the deceased executant were not summoned under s 36 of the Registration Act, and the order of refusal was upheld by the Registrar on appeal, held that a suit to have the document, registered was maintainable under s. 77 of the Registration Act. HAYAT ALI v. MUHAMMAD SADIQ, 9 A.L.J. 756 = 16 Ind. Cas. 97.

——S. 82 (= s. 82 of 1877 = s. 80 of 1871 = ss. 91, 92, 93, 94 of 1866 = s 70 of 1864).

(778)—S. 82 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 82) —Execution, Denial of—Prosecution—Stay of proceeding pending civil suit.—Where the special Sub-Registrar sanctioned the prosecution of the petitioner under s. 82 of the

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—continued.

Registration Act for having denied the execution of a mortgage deed which was found by him to be genuine, and the petitioner applied to the Magistrate to defer the criminal proceedings until the decision in a civil suit brought by him for a declaration that the mortgage-bond was a forgery and that it was not binding on him, held that the application should have been granted. GOBERDHONE PRAMANICK v. ISWAR CHUNDER PRAMANICK, 5 C.W.N. 44. [R. & D., 31 C. 858]

(779)—S. 82 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 82)—Misjoinder.—Where an accused person was tried in one trial for offences under s. 82, Act III of 1877, and ss. 467 and 471, I.P.C., the trial was held bad for misjoinder. BIRENDRA LAL BHADURI v. EMPEROR, 30 C. 822=7 C.W N. 639. [R., 11 C.W N. 715.]

(780)—S 82 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 82) —Sanction to prosecute.—No sanction is necessary before instituting a charge under s. 82 of the Act. GOPEENATH v. KULDIP SINGH, 11 C. 566, F.B. [R., 11 M. 500]

(781)—S. 82 (a) (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 82 (a))—Acting in execution of the Act—Questions to parties about the circumstances under which the deed was executed—Parties making false statements.—A district Registrar cannot be considered to be "acting in execution of the Act" III of 1877 (The Indian Registration Act), in questioning the parties who signed the document as to the circumstances under which they signed. If, therefore, such persons make false statements to the officer, they cannot be guilty of an offence under s. 82 (a) of the Registration Act, 1877. QUEEN-EMPRESS v. BABAJI, 1 Bom. L R. 686.

(782)—S. 82 (c) (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 82) (c)—False personation—Interpretation.—To complete the offence of false personation, under s. 82 (c) of the Registration Act, 1877, fraudulent intent is not necessary; hence, where a person at the instance of another goes to the Registrar and demands the return of document which had been presented for registration representing that he is that other person, he commits the offence of false personation, within the meaning of s. 82 (c) of the Registration Act, 1877. EMPEROR v. KALYA, 5 Bom. L.R. 138.

(783)—S. 82—See No. 726, supra.

——S. 85 (=s. 85 of 1877=s. 83 of 1871).

(784)—S. 85—See No. 372, supra.

——S 87 (=s 87 of 1877=s. 85 of 1871=s. 88 of 1866).

(785)—S. 87 (=Registration Act, 1871, s. 85) —Presentation of document for registration by agent—Registration of document by registering officer—Saving of irregularity.—Where a document executed by the agent for his principal was presented for registration by the agent and was registered, the registering officer holding that the power of attorney produced by the agent authorised him to act for principal in such matters, the registration was not invalid and the irregularity, if any, was saved by the provisions of s. 85 of the Act. HAZARI LAL v. DEBI PERSAD, 1 C.P L.R. 87. (24 W.R. 75, 1 A. 465, F.)

(786)—S 87 (=Registration Act, 1877, s. 87) —Omission of registering officer to sign certificate of registration fatal to validity of registration.—The certificate must be signed by the registering officer to make the registration of a document valid and binding according to law. The omission to sign is not a defect of procedure within the meaning of s. 87 of the Act. DAUJI ALASPURI v. PUNJAJI, 6 C.P L R. 125. (1 A. 473, D.)

(787)—S. 87—See Nos. 41, 354, 367-a, 370, 373, 376-a, 377, 382, 383, 384, 385, 393, 403, 416, 525, 526, 685, 686, 694, 695, supra.

(788)—Ss. 87, 23, 24, 25, 73, 74, 75, 19, 21, 35, 49 (=Registration Act, 1866, ss 88, 22, 24, 84, 19, 21, 36, 49)—Registration—Limitations—Effect to be given to s. 49—"District Court"—Jurisdiction of High Court, N.W.P.—For the purpose of Act XX of 1866, "District Court" means the principal Court of original Civil jurisdiction in a District and includes the High Court in its ordinary original civil jurisdiction. The N.W.P. High Court having no ordinary original civil jurisdiction is not competent under Act XX of 1866, s 88, to direct the registration of an instrument, the registration of which has been refused by the Registrar and the Registrar General. Ss. 22 and 24, Act XX of 1866, make it imperative that the instruments therein referred to shall be presented for registration within four or at most eight months from the date of their execution, but the Act fixes no time within which the registration must be completed. Where a deed of sale is presented for registration within the period required by s. 22, and is accepted by the Registering Officer who, without the vendors appearing, registers it by mistake, and the registration is declared by a competent Court to be invalid, the registering officer may, although the period of 4 months has expired, proceed to compel the appearance of the vendors, and, on their admission, register the deed. Such registration may be effected by the Registering officer voluntarily, and without an order from the District Court under s. 84, notwithstanding that an application by the parties concerned to have it registered has been refused by the Registrar, and that the Registrar-General has deemed the first (invalid) registration to be due registration. [Appr., 5 M.L J. 29; R., 11 C. 750, 15 C 548, 16 C. 189, 18 M. 255.] It is not clear that the words "unless it shall have been registered in accordance with the provisions of this Act" in s. 49, are not, especially as regards strangers to the deed confined to the procedure on "admitting to registration" without reference to any matter of procedure prior to registration or to the provisions of ss. 19, 21, or 36 of the Act, or other provisions of a similar nature. In considering the effect to be given to s. 49, that section must be read in conjunction with s. 88, and with the words of the heading of part X "Of the effects of Registration and non-registration." It is scarcely reasonable to suppose that it was the intention of the Legislature that every registration of a deed should be null and void by reason of a non-compliance with the provisions of ss. 19, 21, or 36 or other similar provisions. It is rather to be inferred that the Legislature intended that such errors or defects should be classed under the general heads "defects in procedure" in s. 88 of the Act, so that innocent and ignorant persons should not be deprived of their property, through any error or inadvertence of a public officer on whom they would naturally place reliance. SAH MUKHUN LALL PANDAY v. SAH KOONDUN LAL, 15 B.L R. 228 = 24 W.R. 75 = 2 I.A. 210 = 3 Sar. 509. [F., 11 A. 319; Appl., 1 A. 465 = 4 I.A. 166, 23 M. 580; R., 7 C.L.R. 223, 4 A. 384, 7 A. 590, 17 B. 94, 23 A. 233; D., 14 C. 449, 5 C.L.J. 188.]

Registration Act (XVI of 1908, III of 1877, VIII of 1871, XX of 1866, XVI of 1864, XIX of 1843)—concluded.

—— S. 88 (= s. 88 of 1877 = s. 86 of 1871 = s. 89 of 1866 = s. 69 of 1864).

(789)—S. 88. See Nos. 345, 370, supra.

—— S. 89 (= s. 89 of 1877).

(790)—S. 89 (= Registration Act, 1877, s. 89) —Sale certificate—Registration.—A sale certificate must be regarded as a registered document, when a copy of it has been transmitted by the Court, and filed by the Registrar under s. 89 of the Indian Registration Act. TINNAPA v. MURUGAPPA, 7 M. 107.

(791)—S. 89—See Nos. 354, 666, 669, supra.

Registration and Limitation Act Amendment Act.

See ACT XII OF 1879.

Registration of Land Act.

See BEN. ACT VII OF 1876.

Registration of Assurances Act.

See ACT XVI OF 1864.

Registration of Books, Press.

See ACT XXV OF 1867.

Registration of Certain Deeds Act.

See ACT XIX OF 1843.

Registration of Mahomedan Marriages and Divorces, Bengal Act.

See BEN. ACT I OF 1876.

Registration of Ships Act.

See ACT X OF 1841.

Registration, Societies Act.

See ACT XXI OF 1860.

Registration Manual.

This circular directs Judges to furnish information as to Moonsiffees to the Registrar-General of Assurances for his Registration Manual, Civ. Cir. No. 10, dated 22nd September, 1869, 12 W.R. Civ. Cir. 7.

Registration Memoranda.

This circular deals with indents to be made forms A and B for the preparation of Registration Memoranda. Cir. No. 8, dated the 26th February, 1867, 7 W.R. Civ. Cir. Orders, p. 4.

Re-grant.

See GRANT.

(1)—Confiscation by Government and re-grant —Leases created meanwhile - How far valid.— Plaintiff sued to eject defendant from a plot of ground leased out to him by Government. On the land so leased out the defendant had erected a building, and he contended that one of the conditions of the re-grant by Government of the plot of ground to the plaintiff was that he should ratify this lease; but that was found against. The only other ground on which the defendant's right under the lease could be maintained was that Government were rightful owners on the date they created the lease. That depended upon the question whether there was a confiscation at first and a re-grant, in which case Government should be deemed to be rightful owners, or a mere abandonment and occupation by Government. As there was no evidence on this point, the case was remanded for a finding as to whether there was a confiscation. In absence of evidence on this point, the defendant must be ejected from the land, but must be paid the cost of the materials of the building. KURREEM BUX v. SHADEE RAM, 19 P.R. 1866.

Regrating.

(1)—Offence of—Applicability.—The common law of offence of engrossing or regrating, applies only with respect to the necessaries of life. DOOLUBDASS PETTAMBERDASS v. RAMLOLL THACKOORSEYDASS, 5 M.I.A. 109 = 7 Moo. P. C. 239 = Perry O.C. 232 = 1 Sar. 403.

Regular Appeals, Bengal.

See BEN. ACT XV OF 1853.

Regulations.

1.—IMPERIAL REGULATIONS.
2.—BENGAL REGULATIONS.
3.—BOMBAY REGULATIONS.
4.—BURMA REGULATIONS.
5.—MADRAS REGULATIONS.
6.—PUNJAB REGULATIONS.

Regulations—continued.

——1.—Imperial Regulations.

———Reg. I of 1877 (The Ajmere Courts).

[REP. IN PT. ACT IX OF 1887 ; ACT VI OF 1888, S. IX, REP. IN PT. AND AMDED. REG. IX OF 1893 ; AM., REG. IX OF 1890 SEC. 4 A. INS., REG. VII OF 1907.]

(1)—S. 17—See No. 4, infra.

(2)—S. 18, powers of High Court on reference made under.—When, under the provisions of s. 18 of Reg. No. 1 of 1877, the Commissioner and District Judge of Ajmere makes a reference to the High Court asking for a ruling upon a question of law, or, amongst other things, upon the construction of any document, arising out of an appeal which has been heard by him, and upon which he has expressed his own opinion, the power of the High Court is limited to expressing its opinion on the specific point referred to it, and it is not competent to the High Court to go into the question whether such point has really arisen in the case or to enter upon the merits of the case in any other respect. KALIAN MAL v. RAM KISHEN, 21 A. 163=A.W.N. 1899, 4.

(3)—S. 21—Jurisdiction—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 57.—In a suit for partition filed in the Court of a Subordinate Judge of the first class in Ajmere, the Court, acting under s. 57 of the Code of Civil Procedure, returned the plaint on the ground that the subject-matter of the suit was beyond its jurisdiction. There was an appeal against that order to the Court of the Commissioner of Ajmere-Mairwara, which rejected it, holding the same view as the Subordinate Judge. Held that, under these circumstances, the chief Commissioner of Ajmere Mairwara had no power to refer the question of jurisdiction under s. 21 of the Ajmere Court's Regulation, 1877, to the High Court for its opinion. RAJ MAL v. PANNA LAL, A.W.N. 1902, 215.

(4)—Ss. 21, 17—See ATTACHMENT—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1885, 57.

(5)—Ss. 21, 36—Reference to High Court by the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere and Mairwara—Reference to Chief Commissoner by Commissoner of Ajmere—Appeal from Commissioner's decree passed in accordance with Chief Commissioner's judgment.—A question, arising before the admission of a civil appeal in the Court of the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere and Mairwara, as to whether the appeal lies to him or to the Privy Council, is a question arising "in the trial of an appeal" within the meaning of s. 21 of Reg. I of 1877, and could be referred by him to the High Court. Per Spankie, J. contra. Where the Commissioner of Ajmere refers under s. 36, Reg. 1 of 1877, to the Chief Commissioner a question of the nature mentioned in s. 17, and, on receipt of his opinion, passes a decision in accordance with it, the appeal from such decision lies to the Privy Council and not to the Chief Commissioner. THAKUR OF MASUDA v. THE WIDOWS OF THE THAKUR OF NANDWARA, 2 A. 819, F.B. [R., 8 P.R. 1903, Rev., 30 A. 290=5 A.L.J. 584=A.W.N. 1908, 109.]

Regulations—continued.

—— 1.—Imperial Regulations—continued.

(6)—S. 36—See No. 5, supra.

———Reg. II of 1877 (The Ajmere Land and Revenue Regulation).

[REP. IN PT., REG. I OF 1888. REP. IN PT., LOCALLY, REG. III OF 1895. S. 6. AM., REG. IX OF 1893, S. 3 AM., REG. V OF 1907.]

(1)—S. 41—Usufructuary mortgage—Proprietary rights, losing or parting with—Expropriatary tenant.—Per Richards, J.—A usufructuary mortgagor, by placing the usufructuary mortgagee in possession temporarily, loses his proprietary rights within the maaning of s. 41 of Reg. II of 1877 of the Ajmere Code. The mortgagor, who before the mortgage was and since the mortgage remains, in cultivation of lands, is an occupancy tenant in respect to these lands. Per Karamat Husain, J.—An owner of a holding, who makes a usufuctuary mortgage of his holding, does not lose or part with his proprietary rights, either temporarily or permanently, within the meaning of Reg. II of 1877, of the Ajmere Code, and does not become an expropriatary tenant of his khudkasht in that land. Held, further, that, where a mortgagor in the mortgage-deed promises to make over possession of the mortgaged property, which is his khudkasht to the mortgagee, s. 41 of the Ajmere Land and Revenue Regulations does not apply. Rules of interpretation of statutes discussed. NEMI CHAND v. GANESH, 7 A.L.J. 370=5 Ind. Cas. 503.

———Reg. III of 1877 (The Ajmere Laws).

[REP. IN PT , ACT III OF 1879 ; ACT X OF 1882; ACT XII OF 1882 ; ACT XIII OF 1889 ; REG. IX OF 1893.]

(1)—S. 33—Rule of damdupat—Applicability to suit for redemption.—The language used in s. 33, Reg. III of 1877, has reference only to cases in which money is payable by the defendant to the plaintiff, and not to a suit for redemption of mortgage. NEMI CHAND v. RADHA BALLABH, 26 A. 354. (13 M.I.A. 404, F.)

(2)—Ch. 2—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PREEMPTION, 11 Ind. Cas. 670.

———Reg. XIII of 1887 (The Hazara Tenancy).

See PUN. ACT XVI OF 1887, s. 5, (1) (c) and (e), 109 P.L.R. 1901=1 P.R. 1902.

———Reg. III of 1891 (Sylhet Jhum).

(1)—Jhum cultivation—Legislation to extinguish right to carry on such cultivation outside settled estate—Compensation—Onus to prove that statute applies—Statement of facts in preamble of statute—Value—Question of fact or law—Concurrent findings—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 13—Transactions inter alia.—Reg. III of 1891 when applied to any lands would have the effect of confiscating proprietary rights and giving compensation in exchange. The onus therefore lies on Government to show, that the facts of any case are such as to bring it within its operation. The Government must prove that at the Permanent Settlement, the officers of the Government, included among the assets of the estate, income derived by its owners from jhum cultivation carried on beyond the limits of the estate. The argument, that under the Regulations then in force no assets not arising out of the estate could be lawfully taken into account, and that a strong presumption was thus raised that the course which was in accordance with law was followed in a particular case, was not entertained in the face of the preamble to the Regulation which shows that in a number of cases the income of jhum cultivation carried on beyond the estate was rightly or wrongly taken into account. It was proved that as early as 1837, the owners of the estate received kabuliyats from tenants carrying on jhum cultivation on the disputed land, that in 1842 and 1843 they succeeded in defeating an attempt on the part of persons interested in the adjoining mouzah to exercise rights over the land, and that on several occasions they successfully resisted proposals on the part of the Revenue authorities to settle portions of the land as ilam land, open for settlement. Held, that from this and other evidence of continuous possession and enjoyment, it should be inferred that the land was included within the permanently settled estate of the owners, and the Regulation had no application to it. The question here was in one sense a question of fact, but every point in the process of the reasoning involved considerations of law, and thus although the findings of the Courts in India were concurrent, the Judicial Committee could review such findings in appeal. MAHOMED ALI HAIDAR KHAN v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 12 C W N. 1095. P.C.=4 M L T. 234=10 Bom. L R. 1102 =8 C L J. 436=18 M.L.J. 549=36 C. 1=P.L R. 1908, Journal p. 110=1 Ind. Cas. 182=35 I.A. 195.

Regulations—continued.

——1.—Imperial Regulations—continued.

——Reg. II of 1900 (The Hazara Upper Tanawal Reg.)

(1)—Operation of.—Regulation II of 1900 is not applicable to a suit pending at the time when it came into force, for there is nothing in the Regulation which is retrospective in effect. Before Regulation II of 1900 came into force the District Court of Hazara had jurisdiction over the Tanawal and Phulera tracts of the Hazara District. The Nawab of Amb and the Khan of Phulera occupied a somewhat anamalous position before Regulation II of 1900 was passed with respect to Tanawal and Phulera tracts. There was no difficulty in suing them in the Civil Courts in the ordinary way and in getting decree executed against them within those tracts. SAMUNDAR KHAN v. ATA MUHAMMAD, 104 P.L R. 1904=73 P. R. 1904.

Regulations—continued.

——1.—Imperial Regulations—concluded.

——Reg. VII of 1901 (The North-West Frontier Province Law and Justice Regulation.)

[SCH I REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903 SS. 89 TO 92 REP., REG. V OF 1904, S 3. S. 87-A ADDED. REG I OF 1906, SS. 34 TO 41 : REP., REG. II OF 1906, S. 3.]

Jurisdiction of Chief Court, Punjab, to hear appeal from North-West Frontier Province—See CHIEF COURT, JURISDICTION OF, 50 P. R. 1907, F.R.=63 P.W.R. 1907.

——2.—Bengal Regulations.

——Reg. I of 1793 (Bengal Permanent Settlement.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. SS. 10, 11, REP. IN PT., ACT IV OF 1846. S 10 SUPPLEMENTED IN BENGAL AND EASTERN BENGAL, BEN REG. I OF 1801, S. 8. DECLARED IN FORCE—THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS ACT XV OF 1874, S 6; IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S 3, AS AMENDED BY REG III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—See PERMANENT SETTLEMENT, 6 W.R 311.

(2)—See PRESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 3 W.R. 45, P.C.=7 M.I.A 283.

(3)—S. 8 (1)—Applicablity—See BEN. ACT VI OF 1870, s. 1, 15 C.W.N. 300=9 Ind. Cas. 688.

(4)—S. 8, cl. 4—See GHATWALI TENURE, 4 W.R. P.C. 77=6 M I.A. 101.

(5)—S. 8, cl. 4—See SERVICE TENURE, 1 W.R. 26, P.C.=10 M.I.A. 16.

——Reg. III of 1793 (Zila Courts.)

[REP., ACT VI OF 1871.]

(1)—Lease of ferry by Government—Infringement by Government of rights of lessee—Suit by lessee—Jurisdiction—Regs. III of 1793 and III of 1803—Act IV of 1872.—Ferry tolls form one of the State rights which, in 1849, were substituted in the Punjab for that part of the revenue raised by former rulers by means of custom and transit duties. A suit for an alleged infringement by the Government of the Punjab, of a right of ferry granted to the plaintiff by the Goverment, can be brought in the Courts of the province under Regs. III of 1793 and III of 1803, according to which the Courts established by the East India Company have jurisdiction in regard to the acts of the Government "in superintending the collection of revenue, &c." The

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

Government having once formally submitted to the jurisdiction of its own Courts, in certain matters connected with the collection of revenue, by means of Regulations III of 1793, and III of 1803, and such submission having been acted on for a long space of time, it can hardly be said that the submission rests so completely on the formal words of the Regulations that, if those words are taken away by the repealing Act IV of 1872 without express reservation of the submission in the same Act that takes them away, the submission is abrogated and abolished. This was a suit by the lessee of a ferry against Government for damages for infringement of his rights. The allegation against Government was that they, by their Railway servants, carried materials and workmen for the construction of a bridge across the river in their own boats, not far from the plaintiff's ferry. It was held on the evidence that there was no infringement of the plaintiff's rights and that his suit was therefore liable to be dismissed. SUJAN SINGH v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 56 P.R. 1876. [On appeal, 30 P.R. 1877.]

(2)—Party obtaining possession—Limitation — Pendency of collusive suit.—A sued the widow and heir of B for half of a certain mehal. It appeared that B obtained a decree against three ladies (the daughters-in-law and widow of H), and that under that decree half of the mehal in question was sold to B. B, however, succeeded in getting the whole Mehal into his possession in 1845. A the heir of the three ladies above-named, sued to recover half, and was met by the plea of limitation. Held, that this defence must prevail unless A could take the case out of the operation of Regulation III of 1793 by alleging violence, or frauds, or some other good and sufficient excuse. In this case there was but a faint and improved allegation of violence and none of fraud, and the principal point relied on, viz., the pendency of a suit, would not interfere with the running of the period of limitation as it was evidently a collusive one. MUSSUMAT JUSWUNT KOONWUR v. MUSSUMUT PARBUTTY KOONWUR, 7 M.J. 258.

(3)—A suit instituted in 1817, to recover Altumgha lands in right of an ancestor who died out of possession of them in 1798, held to be barred by the Bengal Statutes of Limitations, Reg. III of 1793 and II of 1805. GEORGE JAMES GORDON v. KHAUJEH ABU MOOHUMMUD KHAN, 2 Knapp. 225.

(4)—See ACT OF STATE, 6 P.R. 1867.

(5)—See LIMITATION—LAW OF LIMITATION, W.R. 1864, 2.

(6)—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 W.R. P.C. 24=3 M.I.A. 1.

(7)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 3 W.R. P.C. 5=10 M.I.A. 165.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(8)—S. 13—See RAJ—SUCCESSION TO, 6 W.R. P.C. 1=2 M.I.A. 344.

(9)—S. 14—Act XIV of 1859, s. 1, cl. 16—Suit for possession—Subsequent suit for mesne profits.—The plaintiff had instituted a suit for recovery of possession of land and obtained a decree for possession. He subsequently brought a suit for recovery of wasilat of the land. Held per Peacok, C J., Norman and Seton-Karr, JJ. (Stear and Kemp, JJ., dissentiente), that under Reg. III of 1793, s. 94, plaintiff was entitled to recover wasilat for 12 years prior to suit, excluding from such computation the period of the pendency of the suit for possession, from the date of the plaint till the final decree. ANNADA GBRIND CHOWDHRY v. RANI SWARNAMAYI, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 7.

(10)—S. 14—See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 W.R. 221.

(11)—S. 14—See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONERS, 2 C.L.J. 16.

(12)—S 14—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 4 W.R. P C. 103=6 M.I.A. 494, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 75=12 M.I.A. 366=11 W.R. P.C. 29.

(13)—S. 14—See LIMITATION — LAW OF LIMITATION, 2 W.R. 65.

(14)—S. 14—See LIMITATION— MISCELLANEOUS, 3 W.R. P.C. 31=8 M I.A. 225, 5 W. R. P.C. 68=10 M.I.A. 476, 7 M.I.A. 238, 4 W. R. P.C. 63=8 M.I.A. 308.

(15)—S. 14—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 12, 6 W.R. 57, 1 W.R. 35.

(16)— S. 14—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 14, 2 W.R. 45.

(17)—S. 14—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 19, 3 B.L.R. P.C. 37=12 W.R. P.C. 36=13 M.I.A. 37.

(18)—S. 14—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 132 and 144, 16 W.R. P.C. 19=8 B.L.R. 122=14 M.I.A. 101.

(19)—S. 14—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 75=12 M.I.A. 366=11 W.R. P.C. 29.

(20)—S. 14—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 149, 7 W.R. P.C. 21=11 M.I.A. 345.

(21)—S. 14 — See MAHOMEDAN LAW — DOWER, 6 M.I.A. 211.

(22)—S. 14—See MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE, 5 W.R. P.C 83=10 M.I.A. 540, 7 M.I. A. 323.

(23)—S. 15—See POSSESSION — ADVERSE POSSESSION, 1 M.I.A. 482.

(24)— S. 16—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LIMITATION AND ADVERSE POSSESSION, 1 W. R. P.C. 51=8 M.I.A. 199.

(25)—S. 16— See MONEY PAID UNDER DECREE, 3 W.R. P.C. 11=10 M.I.A. 203.

Regulations—continued.

——2—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(26)—S. 21—See INTEREST—STIPULATION IN THE NATURE OF PENALTY, 12 B.L.R. 451 =21 W.R. 352.

——Reg. IV of 1793 (Civil Procedure).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1874.]

(1)—Reg. IV of 1793—Reg. X of 1800—Zamindari—Partition.—By Reg. IV of 1793, it is provided that, in suits regarding succession, inheritance, marriage, and caste, and all religious usages and institutions, Mahomedan laws with respect to Mahomedans, and Hindu laws with respect to Hindus, are to be considered as the general rules by which Judges are to form their decision; according to the true construction of which the Mahomedan law of each sect ought to prevail as to the litigants of that sect, and not the general or Soonee Mahomedan law. In a suit, therefore, by a party in possession of one moiety of a Zamindary, for recovery of the other, on the ground that the estate was, according to the family rule indivisible, it was held by the Judicial Committee, that the property not being a Jungle Mahal, within the provisions of Reg. X 1800, the family rule, if proved, was abrogated by Reg. XI of 1793, and (the title-deeds set up in the pleadings not being satisfactorily proved) that the descent must be governed, according to Reg. IV of 1793, by the laws of the religious sect to which the litigant parties belonged. The Judicial Committee, in affirming the judgment of the Court below, held the Zemindary divisible among the co-heirs of the deceased Zemindar, according to the laws of the Sheeah or Imameean sect of Mahomedans to which they belonged, according to which law, property descends to the daughters of a deceased brother, in preference to the surviving brother. RAJAH DEEDAR HOSSEIN v. RANEE ZUHOOR-OON-NISSA, 2 M.I.A. 441=2 Suther. App. 5=1 Sar. 217.

(2)—Practice—Supplemental answer—Fresh issue—Ben. Reg. XXVI of 1814.—The permission under s. 5 of Bengal Reg. IV of 1793, to a defendant to file a supplemental answer, does not entitle him to make a new case, or raise a fresh issue, in contradiction of his former defence. By s. 10 of Bengal Regulation XXVI of 1814, the Sudder Amin is bound to record a proceeding specifying the points at issue, and to call for evidence for and against the claim. DOUGLAS v. THE COLLECTOR OF BENARES, 5 M.I.A. 271=1 Sar. 434.

(3) — See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 19, 1 C.W.N. 513.

(4)—See BEN. REG. X OF 1800, 2 M.I.A. 441.

(5)—S. 15—See RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS, 8 W.R. P.C. 3.

(6)—S. 25, applicability of, to landed proprietors.—The objection was taken in this case that the law under which the Judge had acted, namely, s. 25, Reg. IV of 1793, was not applicable to the defendants who were landed proprietors, but it was held that s. 3 of Reg. IX of 1799 had extended the provisions of that section to all classes, and neither of the regulations had been rescinded by Act X of 1861. SHAIKH KUDRUTOOLLAH v. RAGHOOBUR DUTT CHOWDHRY, 6 W.R. Mis. Rul. 50.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

——Reg. VI of 1793 (Sadar Diwani Adalat).

[REP., ACT XXIX OF 1871.]

S. 9—See BEN. REG. XLVIII OF 1793. s. 24, 4 B.L.R. App. 44=13 W.R. 162.

——Reg. VII of 1793 (Bengal Decennial Settlement).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. S. 20, REP., IN PT., BEN. REG. VII OF 1796 EXPLD., REG I OF 1801. S. 14, SS. 23 TO 25 REP., BEN. REG XVII OF 1805, S. 58. REP., S. 55. REP. IN PT., BEN. REG. V OF 1812, S. 3. S 62 REP. BEN. REG. XII OF 1817, AS EXT. BY BEN. REG. I OF 1819, S. 4 (2). SS. 1 TO 3, 5 TO 12, 42, 44 TO 47, 61, 63, 68 TO 101. REP., SS. 21. 35 REP., IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. SS. 16 TO 18, 28, 29, 48, 56, 57, 59, 60, REP. S. 67 REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876. SS. 51 TO 55, 64, 65 REP., IN EASTERN BENGAL AND LOCALLY IN BENGAL ACT VIII OF 1885. SS. 19, 66, REP. IN PT., SS. 20, 21, AM., S 33 REP., ACT I OF 1903. DECLARED IN FORCE— THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S 6, IN THE SONTHAL PARGANNAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3].

(1) — See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT — ENHANCEMENT, EXEMPTION FROM, Marsh 424.

(2) — See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT — ENHANCEMENT, LIABILITY TO, 4 B.L.R.P.C. 8=13 W.R. P.C. 11=13 M.I.A. 248.

(3)—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 15 W.R. 474.

(4)—See SAYER, 5 M.I.A. 467.

(5 & 6)—S. 5 — See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—MISCELLANEOUS, 22 C. 214, P.C.=22 I.A. 131.

(7)—S. 41—Applicability—See BEN. ACT VI OF 1870, s. 1, 15 C.W.N. 300=9 Ind. Cas. 688.

(8)—S. 41—See BEN. ACT VI OF 1870, s. 48, 10 C.W.N. 637=3 C.L.J. 530=33 C. 390.

(9)—S. 41—See BEN. ACT VI OF 1870, ss. 50, 55, 10 C.W.N. 598=33 C. 596=5 C.L.J. 299.

(10)—S. 41—See GHATWALI TENURE, 14 W.R. P. C. 28=5 B.L.R. 529=13 M.I.A. 438.

S. N. Dar
Advocate High Court
Jammu & Kashmir
Srinagar.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(11)—S. 41—See SERVICE TENURE, 5 B.L.R. 529, P.C.=14 W.R. P.C. 28=13 M.I.A. 438, 10 M.I.A. 123, 1 W.R. P.C. 26=10 M.I.A. 16.

(12)—S. 46—Suit for malikana —Quære.—Whether, under s. 46, Reg. VIII of 1793 a suit for the recovery of malikana would lie at all? BHULI SINGH v. MUSSAMAT NIMU BEHU, 4 B.L.R.A.C. 29=12 W.R. 498.

(13)—S. 46—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 132, 4 B.L.R.A.C. 29=12 W.R. 498.

(14)—S. 48—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT — ENHANCEMENT, LIABILITY TO, 14 C. 133.

(15)—Ss. 48, 51—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, NOTICE OF, 21 W.R. 439.

(16)—Ss. 49, 51 — See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, LIABILITY TO, 1 W. R. 367.

(17)—S. 51—Valid notice, contents of—Undivided taluk—Joint settlement—Separate collection—Assessment—Measurement—Separate tenancy—Declaratory decree—Liability of taluk to enhancement, not in issue.—A talukdar is entitled to a notice of demand for enhancement of rent under s. 51 of the Bengal Decennial Settlement Regulation (VIII of 1793). The notice should contain one of the grounds mentioned in the said section; a notice not containing any such ground is bad in law. A declaratory decree declaring a talukdar's tenure liable to enhancement should not be passed, where the question of the liability to enhancement of the taluk as a dependent taluk under the provisions of s. 51 of the Bengal Decennial Settlement Regulation was not put in issue. A taluk was situated within three zamindaries. The settlement of it was a joint one, but the collection was separate. The proprietor of two of the zemindaries caused the entire taluk to be measured, assessed with rent upon the area found therein, granted a dowl to the holders of the taluk, who agreed to pay their share of rent thus assessed. Held per Mitter, J.—That the effect of the dowl, was to constitute the fractional share of the undivided taluk a separate and distinct tenure with which the proprietor of the remaining zemindary had no concern. Hence in a suit for enhancement of rent of a taluk by the zemindar, the proprietor of the remaining zemindary was not a necessary party. THE BANK OF HINDUSTAN, CHINA AND JAPAN, LD. v. BABU SHIB DOYAL TEWARY, 8 C.L.J. 329.

(18)—S. 51—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 4 B.L.R.P.C. 8=13 W.R. P.C. 11=13 M.I.A. 248.

(19)—S. 51—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, EXEMPTION FROM, 1 W. R. 339.

(20)—S. 51—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, GROUNDS OF, 20 W.R. 459.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(21)—S. 51 - See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, LIABILITY TO, 1 W.R. 37, 3 W.R. 172, 8 W.R. 496, 12 W.R. 112, 12 W.R. 320, 13 W.R. P.C. 11=13 M.I.A. 248, 22 W.R. 383, 24 W.R. 146, 2 Hay 220, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 26.

(22)—S. 51—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, NOTICE OF, 19 W.R. 338.

(23)—S. 51—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, RIGHT OF, 14 W.R. 251.

(24)—S. 51—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 42.

(25)—S. 51—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—ACCRETION TO TENURE, 9 W.R. 379.

(26)—S. 51, cl. 4—See GHATWALI TENURE, 3 C. 251.

(27)—S. 51—See NOS. 15, 16, supra.

(28)—Ss. 54, 55, 61—Abwabs suit by landlord to recover—Long period of payment of abwabs—Effect—See ABWABS, 17 C. 131=16 I.A. 152, P.C.

(29)—S. 55 — See CONTRACT — ILLEGAL CONTRACTS, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 44=11 W.R. 395.

(30)—S. 55—See NO. 28, supra.

(31)—S. 61—See NO. 28, supra.

——Reg. X of 1793 (Court of Wards).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1874.]

(1)—Bengal Reg. X of 1793 — Scope of Regulation. — The prohibition contained in Bengal Reg. X of 1793 is confined only to a person actually under the guardianship of the Court of Wards. JUMOONA DASSYA v. BAMASOONDARI DASSYA, 1 C. 289, P.C.=3 I.A. 72 =25 W.R. 235=3 Sar. 602.

(2 & 3)—See COURT OF WARDS, 8 C. 620=11 C.L.R. 285, 9 W.R.P.C. 9=11 M.I.A. 468.

(4)—See LUNATIC, 10 B.L.R. 364=19 W.R. 163.

(5)—See MAJORITY, 1 B.L.R. F.B. 49=10 W.R.F.B. 36.

(6)—See MINOR—SUITS BY AND AGAINST MINORS, 16 W.R. 231.

(7)—S. 21—See GUARDIAN—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS, 10 C. 15.

(8)—S. 33—See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 2 W.R. P.C. 19=9 M.I.A. 287.

——Reg. XI of 1793 (Bengal Inheritance).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. APPLICATION RESTRICTED — (IN BENGAL, EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM), BEN. REG. X OF 1800; (IN BENGAL), BEN. REG. XII OF 1805, S. 36. SS. 2 TO 6 REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. S. 3 AM., ACT XII OF 1891, DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(1)—Zamindari—Family usage — Partition —Reg. X of 1800.—The family usage, that a Zamindary has never been separated, but devolved entire on every succession, though proved to have existed as the custom for many generations, will not exempt the Zamindary from the operation of Reg. XI of 1793, which provides, in case of intestacy, for the division of landed estate among the heirs of the deceased, according, to the Mahomedan or Hindu Law. Regulation X of 1800 does not apply to undivided Zamindaries, in which a custom prevails, that the inheritance should be indivisible, but only to Jungle Mahals, and other entire districts, where local customs prevail; and therefore, only partially and, to that extent, repeals Reg. XI of 1793. RAJAH DEEDAR HOSSEIN v. RANEE ZUHOOR-OON NISSA, 2 M I.A. 441=2 Suther. App. 5=1 Sar. 217.

(2)—Applicability of—To a Raj—Quære.—Whether Ben. Regs. XI of 1793, and X of 1800 being confined to cases in which there is no deed or Will executed, apply to the case of a Raj? BABOO GUNESH DUTT SINGH v. MAHARAJA MOHESUR SINGH, 6 M.I.A. 164=1 Sar. 521.

(3)—See HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE, 9 W.R. P.C. 15=12 M.I.A. 1.

(4)—See HINDU LAW — INHERITANCE, 32 C. 6.

(5)—See BEN. REG. IV OF 1793, 2 M.I.A. 441.

(6)—See BEN. REG. X OF 1800, 2 M.I.A. 441.

(7)—S. 5—Primogeniture—Preamble and s. 5 —Family custom—Bhuiya—Raj.—Reg. XI of 1793 was not aimed at abolition of all customs of primogeniture, but customs which had originated in "considerations of financial convenience" and which were "repugnant both to the Hindu and Mahomedan laws." S. 5 of the said Regulation merely gives effect to the general intention expressed in the preamble. A custom of descent according to the law of primogeniture may exist by kulachar or family custom, although the estate may not be what is technically known as Raj; such a kulachar is in nowise taken away or rescinded by the application of Reg. XI of 1793. BHUIYA SARAT KUMAR DAS MAHAPATRA v. AKSHOY NARAIN DAS, 13 C.L.J. 305.

——Reg XV of 1793 (Interest).

[REP. ACT VIII OF 1868.]

(1)—Suit for arrears of rent—Interest.—In an action for recovery of arrears of rent due to the plaintiff, under a sub-lease of a pergunna, the defendant pleaded, that the sub-lease was part of a loan transaction, for the purpose of securing to the plaintiff an illegal interest upon the loan, and was void under Reg. XV of 1793. The Courts in India, held, that it was an usurious transaction, and dismissed the action. Upon appeal, this decision was confirmed by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. WISE v. KISHENKOOMAR BOUS, 4 M.I.A. 201.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(2)—Interest—Reg. XV of 1793 —Bond-debt—Payment — Interest. — Where payments are made upon a bond, the payments, if less than the interest due on the bond, will be applied to the interest, and a decree for the principal sums and the balance of interest up to the date of the decree will be awarded. LUCHMESWAR SING BAHADUR v. SYUD LUTF ALI KHAN, 8 B L R. 110, P C.=2 Sar. 700=2 Suther. 461. [F., 28 A. 25=2 A.L.J. 585=A. W.N. 1905, 167.]

(3)—Interest— Reg. XV of 1793 and Reg. XVII of 1806.—Reg. XVII of 1806 is not inconsistent with Reg. XV of 1793, as the former refers to accumulations of interest, whatever the rate may be, and the latter to rates of interest. RAJA BARDA KANT RAI v. BHAGWAN DAS, 1 A. 344.

(4)—See APPEAL—ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 24 W.R. 17.

(5)—See INTEREST—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 W.R. Mis. 22.

(6)—See MORTGAGE — ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE, 2 Hay 17.

(7)—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, B.L. R. Sup. Vol. 613=6 W.R. 240.

(8)—See MORTGAGE — MISCELLANEOUS, 10 B.L.R. 386, P.C.=17 W.R. 262=14 M.I.A. 443.

(9)—See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—MISCELLANEOUS, Marsh 632.

(10)—Bengal Reg. XV of 1793 — Construction—Interest—Mortgage — Redemption—Accounts - Construction of Bengal Regulation XV of 1793 as to usurious interest.—A mortgage, lease, and agreement, held to constitute one mortgage security, the three instruments being entered into as a devise to avoid the usury laws within the meaning of s. 9, Bengal Reg. XV of 1793. Interference with the rate of interest was a thing of positive law and cannot be extended beyond the provisions of Reg. XV of 1793. [R., 5 A. 419.] The mortgagors in this case were entitled to redeem at any time before the expiration of the term created by the lease on payment of what might be due on the mortgage security for principal and interest at 12 per cent. per annum. In a suit by mortgagors under a usufructuary mortgage to establish their right to cancellation of the mortgage-deed, to the possession of the lands, and to payment of the surplus, held, that the onus lay on the plaintiffs to show that the mortgagees in possession were paid in full by receipt of the profits. Bengal Reg. XV of 1793, s. 2, re non-production of accounts of receipts by the mortgagees in possession is still in force and unrepealed by Act XVIII of 1855. A mortgagee is not an assurer of the continuation of the same rate of profit which his mortgagor was able to raise; therefore an estimate of a proceeding rental does not suffice to show actual receipt. The duty to which the mortgagees are bound by s. 11, Reg. XV of 1793, is to keep accounts of gross receipts from the property mortgaged, and also the expenses of management and preservation. The gross receipts must be such as the mortgagor himself, would have been entitled to; and if he could not, by reason of an intervening lease, call for an account of the collections, neither can his mortgagee; and if a valid engagement is made, qualifying the usufructuary possession, the account of the receipt must be subject to that modification. The mortgagee need not personally attest the accounts if he has no personal knowledge of them. The Legislature never intended that a man should swear positively to knowledge of that of which he can have no personal knowledge. Presumptions against mortgagees for non-production of accounts must have reasonable limits, and not be mere conjuctures based on in exact data. SHAH MAKHANLAL v. SRIKRISHNA SINGH, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 44=11 W.R. P.C. 19=12 M.I.A. 157=2 Suther. 190 =2 Sar. 403. [R., 14 W.R. 66, 4 M. 113, 26 B. 363; D., 16 W.R. 251.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(11)—Ss. 3, 4, 10 and 11—See MORTGAGE—ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE, 5 A. 419=A.W.N. 1883, 43.

(12)—S. 4—See No. 11, supra.

(13)—S. 6—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 12, 5 W.R. 51.

(14, 15, 16)—Ss. 8 and 9—Usury—Ss. 8 and 9, Reg. XV of 1793 forbid the maintenance of any suit arising out of an usurious transaction.—A granted a bond to B to secure an advance of money. C acted as B's agent. A lease was afterwards granted by A to D, a servant of C, at colourable rent, and subsequently, an under-lease was made by D to E, a relative of A, the consideration for which was also colourable and made with a view to elude the usury laws. Held that the bond, lease and the under-lease formed one entire transaction, which was tainted with usury, and therefore, void under Beng. Reg XV of 1793, ss. 8 and 9. THOMAS ALEXANDER WISE v. JAGABANDHU BOSE, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 69=12 M.I.A. 477=2 Sar. 469.

(17 & 18)—S. 9—See No. 14, supra.

(19)—Ss. 9 and 10—Rate of interest—Usufructuary mortgagee.—In a suit on a bond executed together with an assignment to the plaintiff of the rent of certain mehals framed out to other parties, the Judge dismissed the suit under s. 9, Reg. XV of 1793, holding that a deduction of a certain sum from the jumma of the assignment was a device to obtain more interest than the legal rate. Held that, under the decision of the Privy Council in

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

Anundo Mohun Pal Chowdhry v. Kishen Chunder Banerjee, 8 Moore's I. A. 358, that section does not apply where the transaction of the bond and the assignment are one and the same, and where the plaintiff has a claim to be treated as a usufructuary mortgagee under s. 10 of the same law. RASSMONEE DOSSEE v. MONSHAR ALLY, 1 Hay 483.

(20)—S. 10—Redeemed, meaning of—Jurisdiction of Court—Suit for redemption of mortgage and profits valued at less than Rs. 1,000—Munsiff passing a decree for over a thousand rupees—Bengal, N.W.P. & Assam Civil Courts Act (XII of 1877), s. 19—S. 10 of Reg. XV of 1793 means that, once a mortgage debt has been satisfied by receipt of rents and profits, the mortgage is to be considered as satisfied and discharged. The word "redeemed" as used in the section was not used in the sense that the mortgage had been redeemed in the full sense of that word, that is, satisfied and possession given to the mortgagor. So long, therefore, as the property remains in the hands of the mortgagee, the mortgagor can bring a suit for redemption, even if the mortgage had been satisfied over twelve years before suit. The pecuniary jurisdiction of a Court is, ordinarily speaking, determined by the value stated by the plaintiff in his plaint, and such jurisdiction is not ousted by the Court finding that a decree for a sum exceeding the limits of its pecuniary jurisdiction should be given to the plaintiff. Where a suit for redemption of a mortgage and recovery of rents and profits valued at less than a thousand rupees was brought in the Munsif's Court, held that the Munsif could pass a decree awarding more than a thousand rupees to the plaintiff. SUDARSHAN DAS SHASHTRI v. RAM PRASAD, 7 A.L.J. 963=7 Ind. Cas. 385. (16 A. 286, F.; 13 C.W.N. 493, Diss.)

(21)—S. 10—See MORTGAGE—ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE, W.R. 1864, 109.

(22)—S. 10—Mortgage made while Regulation in force—Redemption—Accounts—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 9 A.L.J. 131.

(23)—S. 10—See NOS. 11 and 19, supra.

(24)—Ss. 10 and 11—See MORTGAGE—ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE, 13 C.L.R. 128.

(25)—S. 11—See BURDEN OF PROOF—MORTGAGE, A.W.N. 1883, 90.

(26)—S. 11—See MORTGAGE—ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE, 5 W.R. 53, 1 Hay 182, 14 W.R. 66.

(27)—S. 11—See MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE, 5 W.R. P.C. 47=10 M.I.A. 340.

(28)—S. 11—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 1 W.R. P.C. 19=10 M.I.A. 1, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 44 = 11 W.R. P.C. 19=12 M.I.A. 157.

(29)—S. 11—See NOS. 11 and 24, supra.

Regulations—continued.

—2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

——Reg. XIX of 1793 (Bengal Revenue Free Lands) (Non-Badshahi Grants.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN ACT I OF 1903. SS. 12 TO 14. 16. 19 REP., BEN. REG. II OF 1819 AM., REG. XIV OF 1825. S. 10 REP. IN PT., ACT X OF 1859, S. 28 S 23 REP., ACT VIII OF 1868, S. 2 (2). REP. IN PT.. S. 18, REP. ACT XVI OF 1874. SS. 21, 22, 29 TO 34. 36 TO 46, REP., BEN. ACT VII OF 1876. S. 4 REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1891, SS. 2, 3, 8, 10, 15 AM., SS. 25, 35 REP., ACT I OF 1903. REP., IN ASSAM (EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886. DECLARED IN FORCE—(WITH MODIFICATIONS) IN CUTTACK, BEN. REG. XII OF 1805, SS. 17, 24 ; THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6 ; IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 4 M.I.A. 466.

(2)—Grant—Sale under Act XI of 1859—Suit by purchaser for recovery of possession or for assessment of rent and mesne profits — See GRANT — GENERAL, 35 C. 931=9 C.L.J. 119=3 Ind. Cas. 301.

(3)—See GRANT—CONSTRUCTION, 12 W.R. 251.

(4)—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—GENERAL, W.R. 1864, 217.

(5)—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 15 W.R, 483.

(6)—See SETTLEMENT—EFFECT OF SETTLEMENT, 8 B.L.R. 197=16 W.R. 35.

(7)—S. 1—See GRANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 A. 732.

(8)—S. 6—See LANDLORD and TENANT — FORFEITURE, 21 W.R. 26.

(9)—Ss. 6, 9, 10--See BENGAL ACT VIII OF 1869, s. 28, 6 C.L.R. 301.

(10)—S. 9—Resumption—Rent suit.—A decree for resumption under s. 39, Reg. II of 1819, does not entitle the proprietor of lakhiraj land to bring a suit for a kabuliat in a revenue Court before the revenue has been fixed, and the lakhirajdar has agreed to pay the same. Until this has been done, the relation of landlord and tenant cannot come into existence. MADHAB CHANDRA BHADORY v. MAHIMA CHANDRA MAZUMDAR, 8 B.L.R. App. 83, Note =12 W.R. 442. [R., 15 W.R. 474 ; D., 15 W. R. 345.]

(11)—S. 9—See NO. 9, supra.

(12 & 13)—S. 10—Ben. Reg. II of 1805, s. 3, cl. 3—Land held without payment of rent for 60 years—Suit for rent—Limitation—Effect of cl. 3—Possession under grant—Suit for assessment—Demand for arrears.—By a pottah in the nature of lease in perpetuity, granted by the ancestor of A in the year 1796, to the ancestor of B of a piece of land, B and his heirs were to enjoy a house built thereon, in consideration of setting up an idol in the house, without payment of rent. Upwards of sixty years after the date of this grant, during which period the idol remained and its worship uninterruptedly continued, no rent having been paid by the grantee or his heirs, A, without any demand for rent, or bringing a suit for assessment of the property, brought a suit against B to recover six years' arrears of rent for the house, at the rate fixed by s. 10, Ben. Reg. XIX of 1793. Held reversing the decree of the Sudder Court that, B and those under whom she claimed having been in undisturbed possession and the cause of action having arisen sixty years before the institution of the suit, the suit was barred by cl. 3 of Ben. Reg. II of 1805. Quære :—Whether the twelve years' limitation provided by s. 3, cl. 1 of Ben. Reg. II of 1805, can be held applicable to such a suit. [F., 1 Agra 167, 8 W.R. 232; Expl., 9 W.R. F.B. 1=B.L.R. F. B. 774; Rel. on, 12 W.R. 440; D., 5 W.R. 191.] Cl. 3, s. 3 of Ben. Reg. II of 1805 takes away from the Courts all authority to take cognizance of any suit whatever if the cause of action shall have arisen sixty years before the institution of the suit; it distinguishes between the effect of the twelve years' limitation and that of sixty, by precluding all enquiry into any original defect in the title under which the possession for the latter period commenced; it makes it in effect, in cases in which the section applies, unavailing to show that the possession commenced under a grant made null and void by Reg. XIX of 1793. A demand for arrears of rent should be proceeded by a suit for assessment of rent under s 10, Ben. Reg. XIX of 1793. CHUNDRABULLEE DEBIA v. LUCKHEE DEBIA CHOWDRAIN, 5 W R.P.C. 1=10 M.I. A. 214=1 Ind. Jur. N S. 25=1 Suther. 602= 2 Sar. 119.

(14)—S. 10—Landlord and tenant—Lakhiraj grants—Resumption.—Where grants for holding lands exempt from payment of revenue have been made since 1st December, 1790, and the person who succeeds to the proprietary right in the estate takes possession under s. 10, Reg. XIX of 1793, and dispossesses the grantee of the proprietary right, he is authorised and required to collect the rents from such lands at the rates of the pergunnah. A decree, therefore, declaring the zamindar's right to assess rent on lands held under such grants, establishes, as between him and the person in possession the relation of landlord and tenant. RANI SHAMA SUNDARI DEBI v. SITAL KHAN, 8 B. L.R. App. 85, Note=15 W.R. 474. [Appr., 3 C. 501, 1 C.L.R. 596 ; R., 24 W.R. 447, 16 C. 449.]

(15)—S. 10—Act X of 1859 (B.C.), s. 28—Construction—Lakhiraj tenures.—Construction of Act No. X of 1859, s. 28, in respect to the operation of the law of Limitation in suits brought under Ben. Reg. XIX of 1793, s. 10, and II of 1819. S. 30, for resumption and assessment of lands as mal, or rent paying lands held as lakhiraj. Review of Bengal Regulations relating to lakhiraj tenures within the provinces included in the perpetual settlement. HURIHAR MUKHOPADYA v. MADAB CHANDRA BABU, NABA KRISHNA MOOKERJEE v. KAILAS CHANDRA BATTACHARJEE, 8 B.L.R. 566, P.C.=14 M.I.A. 152=20 W.R. 459=2 Suther. 454=2 Sar. 713. [R., 21 C. 38, F.B.; F., 20 W.R. 465.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(16)—S. 10—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 1—Resumption—Assessment.—Where a zemindar had obtained an ex parte decree declaring certain lands to be his mal lands, it was held that his only remedy was to have the rates at which he was authorised under s. 10, Reg. XIX of 1793, to collect the rents determined and to obtain a kabuliat, and his only course was to sue in the Collector's Court under cl. 1, s. 231, Act X of 1859. ROHINI NANDAN GOSAIN v. RATNESWAR KUNDU, 8 B.L.R. App. 89, Note =15 W.R. 345. [F., 8 B.L.R. App. 82=17 W.R. 363.]

(17)—S. 10—Reg. XLIV of 1793, s. 8—Land granted by Zemindar "rent free" for public purpose—Rent—Revenue.—A zemindar by a sunnud in 1850 (after reciting that there was no water in talook A, and that, the river being at a distance, great inconvenience was felt for want of water, in consequence of which desertions took place in the village) granted to B, 22 bigas of land rent-free, stipulating that B should dig a tank on the land, and continue to distribute water. In a suit to annul the grant, on the ground that it was void under s. 10, Reg. XIX of 1793, held by the majority of the Court (dissentiente Levinge, J.), that grants of land made by zemindars free of rent are void under the provisions of that enactment. But further held by the majority of the Court (dissentientibus Trevor, J., and Loch, J.) that the grant in question was valid, the reservation of a right to the use of the water by the tenants of the zemindaree being a benefit of service in the nature of rent reserved to the zemindar; and that the grant was therefore either not one of those intended to be dealt with by s. 10, Reg. XIX of 1793, or was one which the zemindar was empowered to make by Reg. XLIV of 1793. PIZIRUDDIN v. MADHUSUDAN PAL CHOWDHRY, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 75=2 W. R. F.B. 15. [Appl., 25 W.R. 245; Expl., B. L.R. Sup. Vol. 774=9 W.R. 1; D., 3 W.R. 177.]

(18)—S. 10—Reg. II of 1819, s. 30—Resumption, Lakhiraj.—A suit brought under s. 30. Reg. II of 1819, must be assumed to relate only to lakhiraj created prior to 1st December 1790, and is therefore not exempt from limitation under s. 10, Reg. XIX of 1793. HEERA MONEE DABEE v. KOONJ BEHARY HOLDAR, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. App. 8=2 W.R. 207. [F., W.R. 1864, 212; R., 8 B.L.R. 566, P.C.=14 M.I.A. 152=20 W.R. 459.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(19)—S. 10—Rent-free grant—Resumption—Zemindar.—Held by Peacock, C.J., and Jackson, and Macpherson, JJ., that the grant by a zemindar for valuable consideration of a piece of land to be held without payment of rent is valid as against the heir of grantor or a purchaser from him by private sale of the Zemindari; and that, under s. 10, Reg. XIX of 1793, such heir or purchaser is not entitled to resume the land. Bayley, Norman and Seton Karr, JJ., Contra. MAHOMED AKIL v. ASADUNNISSA BEBEE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 774, F.B.= 9 W.R. F.B. 1. [F., 12 W.R. 361; Appl., 8 A. 552= A.W.N. 1886, 221; R., 6 N.W.P. 373, 2 A. 545.]

(20)—S. 10—Reg. II of 1819, s. 30—Act X of 1859, s. 25—Act XIV of 1859—Rent—Enhancement—Onus.—A suit was instituted in the Civil Court prior to the coming into operation of Act XIV of 1859, to enforce a right under s. 10, Reg. XIX of 1793. Held that the suit was not barred by s. 28, Act X of 1859. The onus was on the plaintiff to prove that the case fell within s. 10, Reg. XIX of 1793. PARBATI CHARAN MOOKERJEE v. RAJKRISHNA MOOKERJEE, B L.R. Sup. Vol. 162. [F., 1 C. 378=25 W.R. 209; R., 8 B.L.R. 566, P.C.=14 M.I.A. 152=20 W.R. 459, 8 C. 230.]

(21)—S. 10—See BEN. ACT XI OF 1859, ss. 11, 13, 54, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 446=12 W.R. 440.

(22)—S. 10—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 2 W.R. 303, W.R., F.B. 174.

(23)—S. 10—See GRANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 A. 545, F.B., 2 W.R. 15.

(24)—S.10—See LAKHIRAJ TENURE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. App. 8=2 W.R. 207, 2 W.R. 205.

(25)—S. 10—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 130, 4 W.R. 53.

(26)—S. 10—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF —GENERAL, 2 W.R. 15, 12 W.R. 440.

(27)—S. 10—See NO. 9, supra.

——Reg. XXVI of 1793 (Minority of Native Landholders).

[REP., ACT XXIX OF 1871.]

(1)—See GUARDIAN—DUTIES AND POWERS OF GUARDIAN, W.R. 1864, 83.

(2)—See MAHOMEDAN LAW — GIFT, 5 W.R. 4.

(3)—See MAJORITY, 1 B.L.R.F.B. 49=10 W.R. F.B. 36.

(4)—S. 2—See MINOR — CONTRACTS BY MINORS, 5 W.R. 2.

——Reg. XXVII of 1793 (Sair).

[REP., ACT XXIX OF 1871.]

(1)—See BAZAARS, 16 W.R. 268.

(2)—See CONTRACT—ILLEGAL CONTRACTS, 21 W.R. 383.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(3)—Right of zemindar to establish market on his own land—Reg. VI of 1882, s. 9—See MARKET, A.W.N. 1907. 248=4 A.L.J. 728=29 A. 740.

(4)—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—GENERAL, 5 M.I.A. 467.

(5)—S. 5—Illegal cesses.—S. 5, Reg. XXVII of 1793, is inapplicable to bazaars not existing in 1793. MOONSHEE AFTABOODDEEN AHMED v. MOHINEE MOHUN DOSS, 15 W.R. 48.

———Reg. XXXVI of 1793 (Registry of Wills and Deeds).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1864.]

(1)—S. 17—See EVIDENCE — SECONDARY EVIDENCE, 8 W.R. 438.

———Reg. XXXVII of 1793 [Bengal Revenue-free lands (Badshahi Grants)].

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. SS. 7 TO 9, 11, 14 REP., BEN. REG. II OF 1819. AM., BEN. REG. XIII OF 1825, S 5. AM BEN. REG. XIV OF 1825. S. 10, REP. IN PT., SS. 13, 25, 34 REP., ACT XVI OF 1874. SS. 16 TO 18, 24, 26 TO 29, 31 TO 33, 35 TO 41 REP., BEN. ACT VII OF 1876. SS. 2, 3, 5, 10 AM., S. 2 (2), REP. IN PT., SS. 20, 30 REP., ACT I OF 1903. REP. (IN ASSAM, EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886. DECLARED IN FORCE — (WITH MODIFICATIONS) IN CUTTACK, BEN. REG. XII OF 1805, S. 25; THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS. ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6; IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—Capability of land to be resumed by Government under, whether sufficient to make it revenue-free within s. 78, Land Registration Act—See BEN. ACT VII OF 1876, ss. 3 (10), 78, 8 C.L.J. 523.

(2)—See GRANT—CONSTRUCTION, 2 Agra 284.

———Reg. XLIV of 1793 (Grant of Leases).

[REP., ACT XXIX OF 1871.]

(1)—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, LIABILITY TO, 14 C. 133.

(2)—See GHATWALI TENURE, 13 B.L.R. 124, P.C.=I.A. Sup. Vol. 181.

(3)—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—GENERAL, 2 W.R. 15.

(4)—S. 5—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, RIGHT OF, 11 W.R.P.C. 10 =12 M.I.A. 263.

(5)—S. 5—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—MISCELLANEOUS, 4 C. 612.

(6)—S. 5—See SERVICE TENURE, 10 M.I.A. 123.

(7)—S. 5, power under, to avoid subsisting engagements, extending only to purchaser at revenue sale and his heirs—Enhancement of rent.—In this case, their Lordships, with regard to the construction of s. 5 of Reg. XLIV of 1793, decided that, in terms, power was given only to the purchaser himself and his heirs, and not a power attaching to the Zamindari so as to pass to subsequent purchasers. Read with the language of the exception in s. 7, it is clear that what was aimed at by s. 5 was not the destruction of the tenure but the increase of rent under certain specified and equitable limitations. Their Lordships arrived at the conclusion that, by s. 5, a power was given to a purchaser at a Revenue sale to avoid the subsisting engagements as to rent, and to increase the rent to that amount at which, according to the established usages and rates of the pergunnah or district, it would have stood had the cancelled engagement so avoided never existed. RANEE SURNOMOYEE v. MAHARAJAH SUTTESCHUNDER ROY BAHADUR, 2 W.R.P C. 13=10 M.I A. 123=2 Sar. 60. [F., 4 C. 612; Appl., 5 W.R Act X, Rul. 63; Diss., 4 C.L.R. 422; R., 3 W.R. 178, 9 W.R. 1, F.B.=B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 774, 9 W.R. P.C. 3, 11 W.R. P.C. 10, 12 W.R. 154, 12 W.R. 383, 13 W.R. P.C. 24, 14 W.R. 107, 13 B.L.R. 124, 22 W.R. 29, 6 N.W.P. 373, 24 C. 334, 1 C.L.J. 579.]

(8)—S. 8—See BEN. REG. XIX OF 1793, s. 10, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 75=2 W.R. F.B. 15.

———Reg. XLV of 1793 (Execution-sales of Malguzari and Lakhiraj lands.)

[REP., ACT IV OF 1846.]

(1)—S. 12 — See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 11 A. 12, s. 18, 11 W.R. 261.

(2)—S. 12—See NOTICE, 8 M.I.A. 427.

(3)—S. 12—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—SETTING ASIDE SALE, 8 M.I.A. 427.

———Reg. XLVIII of 1793 (Quinquennial Register).

[REP., (IN BENGAL AND EASTERN BENGAL) BEN ACT VII OF 1876, (IN ASSAM) REG. I OF 1886.]

(1)—S. 14—See CAUSE OF ACTION, 17 W.R. 400.

(2)—S. 24—Reg. VI of 1793, s. 9—Transmission of decree to Collector—Entry in books.—Reg. XLVIII of 1793, s. 24, and Reg. VI of 1793, s. 9, positively direct the Zilla and City Courts to transmit their decrees to the Collector, but give no power whatever to those Courts to make any orders on the Collector as to how he is to enter the result of those decrees in his books. NIMDHARI SING v. KANCHAN SING, 4 B.L.R. App. 44=13 W.R. 162.

(3)—S. 24, cl. (2)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ART. 182, STEP-IN-AID OF EXECUTION, 4 B.L.R. A.C. 158=13 W.R. 141.

(4)—S. 24, cl. 2—See MUTATION PROCEEDINGS, 13 W.R. 141.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

——Reg. XIII of 1795 (Extending Ben. Reg. VII of 1793 to Benares.)

[REP., BEN. REG. XXVII OF 1814.]

See GRANT—CONSTRUCTION, 2 Agra 284.

——Reg. XX of 1795 (Execution-Sales of Malguzari lands).

[REP., ACT IV OF 1846.]

(1)—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—WRONGFUL AND INVALID SALES, Marsh 592=2 Ind. Jur. O.S. 1=9 M.I.A. 324 =5 W.R. P.C. 7.

(2)—S. 12—See BURDEN OF PROOF—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE, Marsh 592=2 Ind.Jur.O.S. 1=5 W.R.P.C. 7=9 M.I.A. 324.

——Reg XLI of 1795 (Non-Badshahi Lakhiraj, Benares.)

[REP., (EXCEPT IN CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873.]

(1)—S. 10—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 1 Agra 167.

(2)—S 10—See GRANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 A. 545, F.B.

——Reg. LVIII of 1795 (Commission on Jama; Copies of decrees)

[REP., ACT XII OF 1876.]

This circular enquires whether the provisions of ss. 3 and 4, Reg LVIII of 1795, are observed in each district. Civil Cir. Memo. No. 1, 23 W.R. Rules and Orders of the H C , p. 3.

——Reg. XI of 1796 (Resisting Process).

[REP., ACT XVII OF 1862.]

(1)—See CONFISCATION, 7 W.R. P.C. 47=4 M I.A. 246.

(2)—See FORFEITURE OF PROPERTY, 7 W.R. P.C. 47=4 M I.A. 246.

(3)—S. 4—See FORFEITURE OF PROPERTY, 7 W.R P.C. 18=11 M.I.A. 223.

——Reg. XVI of 1797 (Appeals to Privy Council).

[REP., ACT VI OF 1874.]

(1)—See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—STAY OF EXECUTION PENDING APPEAL, 14 W.R. 361.

(2)—S. 4—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 221, 338, 362—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 36—Appeal to Privy Council—Execution of decree—Jurisdiction—Security.—In a suit in which an appeal to the Privy Council from a decree of the High Court has been admitted and is still pending, the Court of original jurisdiction which made the decree first appealed from has power to issue execution. But such Court, if it has notice of the appeal to the Privy Council, should stay its hand until the parties have had an opportunity of applying to the High Court under s. 41, Reg. XVI of 1797. Although, as a general rule, the High Court will take security under s. 4, Reg. XVI of 1797, before allowing execution of a decree while there is an appeal to the Privy Council pending, yet the Court may, under certain circumstances, allow execution without taking security. J. P. WISE v. RAJKRISHNA ROY, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 541= 6 W.R. Mis. 84. [R., 7 W.R. 136, 12 W.R. 296, 14 W.R. 205, 33 C. 927=3 C.L.J. 67.]

(3)—S. 4—Security for execution of decree—Appeal to Privy Council.—After execution has once gone out under a decree of the High Court, subsequently appealed to Her Majesty in Council, it is beyond the power of the High Court, and not within the scope of s 4, Reg. XVI, 1797, to set aside the execution. JOYNARAIN PATTER v. RUSSICK MOHAN BANARJEE, B. L.R. Sup. Vol. 744, F.B.=8 W.R. 144. [R., 12 W.R. 296; Expl., 33 C. 927=3 C.L.J. 67.]

(4)—S. 4—Appeal to Privy Council—Execution—Security.—Plaintiff obtained a decree for possession which was reversed by the High Court on appeal, and restitution of the property was ordered. Plaintiff, having appealed to the Privy Council, applied to be allowed to remain in possession of the property upon the security which he has already given. Held that the High Court had no jurisdiction, under s. 4, Reg. XVI, 1797, to suspend the restitution, and that the defendant was entitled to enforce restitution without giving security. In the matter of the petition of RAJKISSEN SINGH, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 605=6 W.R. Mis. 111. [F., 9 W.R. 402, F.B.=B.L.R. Sup. 985, 1 B.L.R. A.C. 146=10 W.R. 131, 16 W.R. 289; R., 3 C. 720=2 C L.R. 75.]

(5)—S. 4—See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—STAY OF EXECUTION PENDING APPEAL, 6 W.R. Mis. 17, 45, 5 W.R. Mis. 37, 10 M.I.A. 196, 8 W.R. 275.

(6)—S. 4—See SURETY—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 B.L.R. App. 126=14 W.R. 410.

——Reg. I of 1798 (Bengal Land Conditional Sales).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. REP. (EXCEPT IN THE PUNJAB, THE N.W. FRONTIER PROVINCE AND THE SONTHAL PARGANAS), ACT IV OF 1882. DECLARED IN FORCE—IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3; IN THE PUNJAB (EXCEPT SUCH PARTS AS RELATE TO INTEREST), ACT IV OF 1872, S. 3; IN THE N.W. FRONTIER PROVINCE (EXCEPT SUCH PARTS AS RELATE TO INTEREST), REG. VII OF 1901, S. 4.]

(1)—Reg. I of 1798—Reg. XVII of 1806, s. 7—Mortgage—Tender.—If a mortgagor deposits money in Court without placing any actual restriction on its being paid over to the mortgagee, but with express notice that the mortgagor denies the existence of any mortgage, and intends to sue to recover back the money so deposited, this would not be such a deposit, within the meaning of Regs. I of 1798 and

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

XVII of 1806, as would save the right of redemption. ABDOOR RUHMAN v. KISTO LALL GHOSE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 598=6 W.R. 225. [F., 6 A. 398=A.W.N. 1884, 137 ; D., 25 W.R. 259.]

(2)—See APPEAL — ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 19 W.R. 122.

(3)—See MORTGAGE — GENERAL, W.R. 1864, 219.

(4)—See MORTGAGE — ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE, 2 Hay 17.

(5)—See MORTGAGE — REDEMPTION, B. L.R. Sup. 613, F.B.=6 W.R. 240, W.R. 1864, 183.

(6)—See REVISION—GENERAL, 107 P.R. 1890.

(7)—S. 2—See MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE, 5 B.L.R. 389=13 W.R. 364.

(8)—S. 2—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 5 W.R. P.C. 47=10 M.I.A. 340, W.R. 1864, 219, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 141, 6 B.L.R. App. 53=14 W.R. 278.

(9)—S. 3—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 1 W.R. P.C. 19=10 M.I.A. 1.

——Reg. V of 1799 (Bengal Wills and Intestacy).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. SS. 5, 6, AM., BEN. REG. V OF 1827. SS. 2, 3, REP. IN PT., ACT XL OF 1858. SS. 1,2,3,7,8 REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. TITLE REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1891. SS. 2,3, REP. IN PT., S. 7 REP IN PT. AND AM., ACT I OF 1903. S. 2 REP. IN PT. [IN BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT), EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM], ACT XXI OF 1870, AM. (IN AGRA); ACT XIX OF 1886, REP. (IN BURMA), ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 18. DECLARED IN FORCE—THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT), EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, SS. 6, 7; IN THE CENTRAL PROVINCES AND THE SAMBALPURE DISTRICT (SS. 4,5,6, WITH A MODIFICATION, ACT XX OF 1875. S 3 : THE MODIFICATION REP. IN THE SAMBALPURE DISTRICT, ACT VII OF 1905 ; IN AJMERE (SS. 4, 5, 6, WITH A MODIFICATION), REG. III OF 1877, S. 3.]

(1)—See LUNATIC, 10 B.L.R. 364=19 W.R. 163.

(2)—S. 4—Order under Regulation, if a decree—Appeal if lies against order—Administration of estates of persons dying intestate—Order deciding claims of rival claimants for possession of properties—Order for security—Regular suit, if necessary to be brought—Jurisdiction of Judge to make order, when arises.—The proceeding for the administration of the estate of a person dying intestate under Regulation V of 1799 is not a suit, and the order by the District Judge selecting one of several persons as the claimant, into whose possession the properties should go, and calling upon him to furnish security, is not a decree, as it does not adjudicate or conclusively determine the rights of the parties with regard to all or any of the matters in controversy, and is not appealable as a decree. It is not appealable as an order, as it does not fall within the description of appealable orders under the Civil Procedure Code, nor is any provision made for appeal in the Regulation itself. But the memorandum of appeal may be treated as an application for revision. (25 C. 757, 13 C.L.J. 467, R.) A District Judge has no jurisdiction to make any order under s. 4 of Reg. V of 1799, unless a claimant has taken possession and a regular suit has been preferred by the party out of possession. It is only during the pendency of such regular suit for adjudication of the dispute between the rival claimants, one of whom is in possession, that the Judge is authorized to take security from one of the parties and to place him in possession of the disputed property. SETARA BEGUM v. SYED FAIZ ALI KHAN, 13 C.L.J. 677.

(3)—S. 5—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—RELATIONSHIP OF LANDLORD AND TENANT, 4 B.L.R. App. 80=13 W.R. 194.

(4)—Ss. 5, 7—Rejection of application to be put in possession of the estate of the deceased—Appeal.—During the course of a proceeding under Regulation V of 1799, the appellant applied under ss. 5 and 7 of the Regulation that the property of the deceased intestate might be handed over to him on the ground that he was the heir. The Court dismissed the application; held, that the order rejecting the application was not appealable. BHURE LAL BRAHMAN v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 10 Ind. Cas. 414.

(5)—S. 7—Suit against Secretary of State before the property of a deceased vested in him—Premature.—A District Judge, purporting to act under s. 7 of Regulation V of 1799, took possession of the property of a deceased person, whose property was not claimed by any person. A creditor of the deceased brought a suit for recovery of his dues against the Secretary of State. Held, that the liability of Secretary of the State does not arise, unless property vests in him under the Regulation. RAM NARAIN DUBE v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, 4 A.L J. 144=A.W.N. 1907, 66=29 A. 277.

(6)—S. 7, applicability of, only to moveable property—Claim to immoveable property, not subject to one year's limitation.—In this case the High Court held that the decision of the Principal Sudder Ameen on several of the issues was manifestly erroneous. He should not have held that the suit was barred because it was not brought within one year of the proclamation issued under s. 7 of Reg. V of 1799. The section of the law applies only to moveable property and not to landed estate which was the subject of the present suit. Also the section of the Limitation law, viz., cl. 5, s. 1.

Regulations—continued.

—— 2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

Act XIV of 1859, which the Principal Sudder Ameen had applied, referred to summary decisions and orders, and in the present case there had been no summary decision or order passed against the plaintiffs in any Court. SHIB RAM LAL v. RAJ COOMAR MITTER, 6 W.R. 48.

(7)—S. 7—See PROPERTY, 15 W.R. 302.

(8)—S. 7—See No. 4, supra.

——— Reg. VII of 1799 (Recovery of arrears of Rent and Revenue.)

[REP. ACT XVI OF 1874.]

(1)—Summary suit for rent under Ben. Reg. VII of 1799—Act X of 1859—Reg. VIII of 1841, s. 4.—Where a summary suit for rent under Reg. VII of 1799, was commenced before the passing of Act X of 1859, it was held that the unsuccessful party was not, by reason of the decision in that suit having been given after that Act came into operation, deprived of his right, under s. 4, Reg. VIII of 1841, the contest the justice of the summary decision by a regular suit. GOBIND CHUNDER MOOKERJEE v. KALLA GAJEE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 626=2 Ind. Jur. N.S. 119=7 W.R. 185.

(2)—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908. O. XXI, r. 2, 1 B.L.R. A.C. 76=10 W.R. 104.

(3)—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—PAYMENT OF RENT BY TENANT, 2 W.R. 57.

(4)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 12, 5 W. R. 100.

(5)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 181, 17 W.R. 471.

(6)—See BEN. REG. VIII OF 1819, s. 18, cl. 4, B.L.R. Sup. App. 10=5 W.R. 100.

(7)—Suit for balance after execution of decree for rent—Suit under Rent Act to recover sum due after sale in execution of decree under — See RIGHT OF SUIT—DECREES, Marsh 340=2 Hay 445.

(8)—S. 15, cl. 7—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—EJECTMENT, 2 W.R. 154.

(9)—S. 25—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—DEFAULTERS, 13 W.R. 302.

——— Reg. I of 1800 (Guardians and Minors not subject to Court of Wards).

[REP., ACT XL OF 1858.]

See LUNATIC, 10 B.L.R. 364=19 W. R. 163.

——— Reg. VIII of 1800 (Bengal Revenue-free lands.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903, S. 19, REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. REP. EXCEPT S. 19. BEN. ACT VII OF 1876. TITLE REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1891. REP. (IN AGRA, EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873, IN ASSAM (EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886. DECLARED IN FORCE — THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6; IN THE SONTHAL PARGANNAS (S. 19), REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

Regulations—continued.

—— 2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(1)—See EVIDENCE — MISCELLANEOUS DOCUMENTS, 9 W.R. 105.

(2)—Entries in registers kept under—Evidentiary value—See TITLE, 16 C.W.N. 683.

(3)—S. 21—See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION, 9 M.I.A. 39.

——— Reg. X of 1800 (Bengal Inheritance).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1907. EXT. TO CUTTACK, BEN. REG. XII OF 1805, S. 36.]

(1)—Application of the Regulation to undivided Zamindari.—Reg. X of 1800 does not apply to undivided Zemindaries in which a custom prevails that the inheritance should be indivisible, but only to Jungle Mahals, and other entire districts where local customs prevail; and therefore, only partially, and to that extent, repeals Reg. XI of 1793. By Reg. IV of 1793, it is provided, that in suits regarding succession, inheritance, marriage, and caste, and all religious usages and institutions, Mahomedan laws with respect to Mahomedans and Hindu Laws with respect to Hindus, are to be considered as the general rules by which Judges are to form their decision; according to the true construction of which the Mahomedan law of each sect ought to prevail as to the litigants of that sect, and not the general or Soonee Mahomedan law. RAJAH DEEDAR HOSSEIN v. RANEE ZUHOOR-OON-NISSA, 2 M.I.A. 441=2 Suther. App. 5=1 Sar. 217.

(2)—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 32 C. 6.

——— Reg. II of 1803 (Zilla Courts, Ceded Provinces.)

[REP., ACT VI OF 1871.]

(1)—Putni lease granted when—was in force—Lease void—Suit to recover possession of mouzahs leased —Limitation, starting point of. — Where, when Reg. II of 1803, as amended by Reg. II of 1805, was in force, a putni lease of certain mouzahs was granted and the lease was void, the period of limitation for a suit by the rightful owner to recover possession of the mouzahs ran from the date on which the cause of action arose (i.e.,) when the lease was granted. RAI BANOMALI ROY BAHADUR v. JAGAT CHANDRA BOWMICK, 1 C.L.J. 319=9 C.W.N. 673=15 M.L.J. 267=32 C. 669, P.C.=2 A.L.J. 794=32 I.A. 80=8 Sar. 784.

(2)—See ACT OF STATE, 6 P.R. 1867.

(3)—See JURISDICTION—CAUSES OF JURISDICTION, 1 W.R.P.C. 35=8 M.I.A. 291.

(4)—S. 3—See MORTGAGE — FORECLOSURE, 7 M.I.A. 323.

(5)—S. 18—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 W.R. P.C. 95.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(6)—S. 18, cl. 3—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 4 W.R.P.C. 111=7 M.I.A. 104.

——Reg. III of 1803 (Civil Suits, Ceded Provinces)

[REP., (EXCEPT IN CERTAIN AREAS) ACT, XIX OF 1873]

See BEN. REG. III OF 1793, 56 P.R. 1876.

——Reg XXXI of 1803 (Non-Badshahi grants, Ceded Provinces).

[REP., (EXCEPT IN CERTAIN AREAS ACT XIX OF 1873]

S. 6—Settlement of land by proprietor renenue free — Condition rendering other lands of grantor liable for the revenue of the lands granted, whether enforceable — See GRANT—CONSTURCTION, 21 A. 12=A.W.N. 1898, 149.

——Reg. XXXIV of 1803 (Interest, Ceded Provinces.)

[REP. ACT XV OF 1874.]

(1)—See MORTGAGE—ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE, 2 A. 593, P.C.=7 I.A. 51.

(2)—Ss. 9, 10, provisions as to interest under, not affected by subsequent enactments (Acts XXVIII of 1855, XIV of 1870)—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 2, saving of previous legal relations by.—In this suit for redemption, the plaintiff alleged that both upon the construction of the mortgage-deed and under the provisions of ss. 9, 10 of Regulation XXXIV of 1803, which governed and regulated the operation of that deed, the amount of money which the defendant derived by way of profits from the mortgaged property was sufficient to pay off the mortgage-money with interest at the above Regulation rate of 12 per cent., per annum. The said Regulation provided that the rate of interest allowable to the mortgagee was not to exceed 12 per cent., per annum, any contract for higher rate notwithstanding. The mortgage, in the present case, was of the year 1846, and the provisions of the above Regulation relating to interest attached as incidents to the mortgagor's right, such provisions not having been disturbed by any of the subsequent enactments (Acts XXVIII of 1855 and XIV of 1870) of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 2. SAMAR ALI v. KARIM-UL-LAH, 8 A. 402=A.W.N. 1886, 139.

(3)—Ss. 9, 10 — Mortgage — Liability to account—Validity of agreement.—When a mortgagor contracted that he should not have any right or claim to an account of mesne profits during the time of the mortgagee's possession, such a stipulation is valid in law and binding on the mortgagor even though it is opposed to ss. 9 and 10 of Reg. XXXIV of 1803. BUDRI PRASAD v. MURLIDHAR, 6 C.L.R. 257, P.C. =2 A. 593=7 I.A. 51=4 Sar. 100.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(4)—S. 10—See Nos. 2 and 3, supra.

(5)—S. 12—See MORTGAGE — FORECLOSURE, 5 B.L.R. 389=13 W.R. 364.

——Reg. LII of 1803 (Court of Wards, Ceded Provinces.)

[REP., (IN AGRA, EXCEPT IN CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873. REP. (IN THE CENTRAL PROVINCES AND THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT), ACT XVII OF 1885. EXERCISE OF FUNCTIONS BY LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR IN AGRA VALIDATED, ACT XIX OF 1886, S. 2.]

(1)—See COURT OF WARDS, 9 W.R.P.C. 9 =11 M.I.A. 468.

(2)—S. 7—See COURT OF WARDS, 5 A. 142, P.C.=9 I.A. 182=13 C.L R. 232.

(3)—S. 37—Disqualified proprietor—Procedure preliminary to taking estate under Court of Wards—Procedure to be followed strictly.—The provisions of the regulation should be strictly followed in order to effect the disqualification of any particular person; and it must not be assumed that a female proprietor was necessarily a disqualified person from the estate being in fact under the charge of the Court of Wards. (11 M I.A. 468, R.) It follows, therefore, that it rests upon one seeking to invalidate an adoption by reason of the provisions of s. 37 of the Regulation (i.e., on the ground that the person making it was a disqualified proprietor), to give strict proof, not only that the estate was in the actual possession of the Court of Wards, but that the necessary legal preliminaries to the disqualification of the female proprietor had regularly taken place. ISHRI PRASAD SINGH v. LALL JAS KUNWAR, 22 A. 294=A.W.N. 1900, 82.

——Reg. V of 1804 (Native Officers).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1874.]

S. 15—See APPEAL—ORDERS, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 370=12 W.R. 323.

——Reg. II of 1805 (Limitation).

[REP., ACT VIII OF 1868.]

(1)—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LIMITATION AND ADVERSE POSSESSION, 5 W.R. 136.

(2)—See LIMITATION — MISCELLANEOUS, 5 W.R. P.C. 95, 1 M.I.A. 446.

(3)—See POSSESSION—ADVERSE POSSESSION, 1 M.I.A. 482.

(4)—See BEN. REG. III OF 1793, 2 Knapp. 225.

(5)—See BEN. REG. II OF 1803, 1 C.L.J. 319=9 C.W.N. 673, P.C.=15 M.L.J. 267=32 C. 669=2 A.L.J. 794=32 I.A. 80.

(6)—S. 2—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 6 W.R. P.C. 3=2 M.I.A. 390.

(7)—S. 2—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 149, 5 W.R. 115.

(8)—S. 2, cl. 2—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 4 M.I.A. 466.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(9)—S. 2, cl. 2—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 3 W.R. P.C. 31=8 M.I.A. 225.

(10)—S. 3—See BEN. ACT XI OF 1859, ss. 11, 13, 54, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 446=12 W.R. 440.

(10)—S. 3—See LIMITATION — MISCELLANEOUS, 6 W.R. P.C, 24=3 M.I.A. 1, 5 W. R. P.C. 68=7 M.I.A. 238.

(11)—S. 3—See POSSESSION—SUITS FOR POSSESSION, 22 W.R. 165.

(12)—S. 3, cl. 1 — See LIMITATION — GENERAL, 4 W.R. P.C. 103=6 M.I.A. 494.

(13)—S. 3. cl. 2—See LIMITATION—QUESTION OF LIMITATION, 1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 23, Marsh 22=1 Hay 55.

(14)—S. 3, cls. 2 and 3—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 132 and 144, 16 W.R.P.C. 19=8 B.L.R. 122=14 M.I.A. 101.

(15)—S. 3, cl. 3—See LIMITATION—LAW OF LIMITATION, 9 W.R. 158.

(16)—S. 3, cl. 3—See POSSESSION — ADVERSE POSSESSION, 8 W.R. 232.

———Reg. XII of 1805 (Cuttack Land-revenue.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. AM., BEN. REG. XIV OF 1825. S. 31 REP. IN PT., ACT X OF 1840. S. 24, REP. IN PT., ACT X OF 1859, S. 28, S. 32 REP., ACT XVI OF 1864. SS. 12 TO 16 REP., ACT XVI OF 1874. S. 30 REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1891. S. 36 REP. IN. PT., S. 37 REP., ACT XI OF 1893, SS. 1, 31 REP. IN PT., SS. 2 TO 11 REP., SS. 18, 20, 22, 26, 28, 30 AM. ACT I OF 1903.]

(1)—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 32 C. 6.

(2)—S. 33—Applicability—See BEN. ACT VI OF 1870, s. 1, 15 C.W.N. 300=9 Ind. Cas. 688.

———Reg. XVII of 1805 (Joint Undivided Estates.)

[REP., ACT XXIX OF 1871.]

See LUNATIC, 10 B.L.R. 364=19 W.R. 163.

———Reg. II of 1806 (Civil Procedure.)

[REP., ACT X OF 1861.]

(1)—See ATTACHMENT—SUBJECTS OF ATTACHMENT, 12 W.R. 391.

(2)—See LEASE—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 W.R. 63.

(3)—See MESNE PROFITS — MISCELLANEOUS, 9 W.R. 450.

(4)—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—PROCEEDS OF SALE, RIGHT TO, 12 W.R. 48.

———Reg. XVII of 1806 [Bengal Land (Redemption and Foreclosure.)]

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. REP. (EXCEPT IN THE PUNJAB, THE N. W. FRONTIER PROVINCE AND THE SONTHAL PARGANAS), ACT IV OF 1882. SS. 7 AND 8 DECLARED IN FORCE—IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3, IN THE PUNJAB, ACT IV OF 1872, S. 3; IN THE N.W. FRONTIER PROVINCE, REG. VII OF 1901, S. 4.]

(1)—Conditional sale—Year of grace, when commences—Date of order of first Court—Punjab Civil Code, part II, s. 6, cl. 7.—A conditional vendee obtained a decree on 28-9-1865 to the effect that, if the vendor did not pay within the year of grace the sum found due to the vendee, the conditional sale would merge into an absolute sale. On appeal by the vendor, the appellate Court on 3-5-1867 confirmed the order of the first Court except in the matter of interest. Held that the year of grace ran from the date of the order of the first Court (i e., 28-9-1865). Reading s. 6, cl. 7 of the Punjab Civil Code, Part II, by the light of Reg. XVII of 1806, it would appear that a conditional vendor probably lost his right to have his appeal heard if he did not lodge the sum decreed within the year of grace, for, by his omitting to do so, the sale becomes an absolute one, and the fact of an appeal having been lodged could not extend the year of grace within which it was absolutely necessary to pay the money, if the conditional vendor wished to obviate the operation of the law. JEHANGEER v. SAIN DASS, 42 P.R. 1870.

(2)—Mortgage—Notice of foreclosure—Regulation XVII of 1806.—The words "legal representative" in Regulation XVII of 1806 are not used in the sense of a universal legal representative, such as an heir; a purchaser of mortgaged property is included within the meaning of the term, and, as such, is entitled to notice of foreclosure whether he be a purchaser of the whole property or of a distinct and definite portion only, and whether the mortgagee has or has not consented to the assignment. GANGA GOBIND MANDAL v. BANI MADHAB GHOSE, 3 B.L.R.A.C 172=11 W.R. 548. [F., 23 W.R. 25, 31 P.R. 1883; Expl., 23 W.R. 96.]

(3)—Mortgage — Foreclosure proceedings — Service of notice—Substituted service when permissible—Demand by registered notice—Burden of proof—Evidence.—In order that the mortgagee should obtain foreclosure of the whole mortgage every mortgagor should be served with a notice. In a suit for foreclosure of a mortgage by way of conditional sale it is for the plaintiff to prove a demand from each mortgagor prior to issue of notice, the failure to prove which would be fatal to his suit. The demand may be made by means of a letter sent through post registered, it would be presumed that the letter reached its destination when it is not returned to the mortgagee through the Dead Letter Office, though the presumption is neither obligatory nor conclusive. The contents of the letter being in the nature of a demand should be proved. It is not essential that service of notice under the Regulation should be personal. The provisions of the Civil Procedure Code as to service of process, so far as they are not contrary to the Regulation, are applicable by force of s. 647 of the Code, to the service of notices issued under the Regulation. The finding of the District Judge in the foreclosure proceedings that notice has been duly given to the mortgagor is not even prima facie evidence of the provisions of the Regulation having been complied with, the services of the petition for foreclosure and the notice in the form prescribed by the Regulation must be strictly proved. Though substituted service is not confined to cases in which it is established that the mortgagor is keeping out of the way, yet the stringent requirements of the Regulation would not, in the absence of strict proof of evasion of service, be complied with by substituted service of notice. Substituted service on one of the mortgagors who was a female not being considered sufficient, and the allegation not having been established that she made an admission of having been duly served with notice the foreclosure proceedings were held as infructuous. SHEIKH FAZAL ILAHI v. HAZARI SINGH, 63 P.L.R. 1902=48 P.R. 1902.

Regulations—continued.

—2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(4)—Misprints in notice.—Held, that mere clerical slips or misprints, which can possibly mislead no one, in a notice issued under Reg. XVII of 1806, do not render the foreclosure proceedings void. The use of the word "Act" in the vernacular and "Resolution" or "Zarlution" for "Regulation" cannot be held to mislead the mortgagor when the application for issue of notice as well as the rest of the notice itself is properly worded in all particulars. JIWAN RAM v. AMIR BEG, 124 P.L.R. 1901=38 P.R. 1901. (24 P.R. 1895, 25 P.R 1897, 5 P.R. 1901, 9 P.L.R. 1901, R.) [R., 21 P.R. 1903=83 P.L.R. 1903, 109 P.R. 1901.]

(5)—Act IV of 1882—Procedure—Foreclosure of mortgage.—Held that where notice of foreclosure of a mortgage by conditional sale had been duly issued in accordance with the provisions of Regulation XVII of 1806, the coming into force of Act IV of 1882 during the time limited by the above mentioned notice would not prevent such notice taking the legal effect provided for by the Regulation. BAIJ NATH RAI v. SHEOBARAN RAI, A.W.N. 1894, 2.

(6)—Interest—Reg. XV of 1793.--Reg. XVII of 1806 is not inconsistent with Reg. XV of 1793, as the former refers to accumulations of interest, whatever the rate may be, and the latter to rates of interest. RAJA BARDA KANT RAI v. BHAGWAN DAS, 1 A. 344.

(7)—Mortgage--Foreclosure--Notice.—A notice issued by the District Court under Reg. XVII of 1806, which did not bear the signature of the Judge whose seal alone was fixed to the document, was held to be informal and bad, and the foreclosure proceedings were, therefore, invalid ab initio. BASDEO SINGH v. MATADIN SINGH, A.W.N. 1882, 25.

(8)—Foreclosure proceedings taken under the Regulation, validity of—Notice issued under the Regulation, procedure necessary to be observed in the issue of—Duty of Civil Court—Redemption, Suit for—Objection to attachment—Dismissal for want of prosecution, effect of—Regular suit necessary to set aside the order.—A person, who relies upon the foreclosure of a mortgage under Regulation XVII of 1806, must prove that each step required by that Regulation was properly performed. Where, therefore, it is proved that the notice issued to the mortgagors did not contain the signature of the presiding officer, the mere fact that the order passed stated "as the service has been duly effected, let the application be consigned to the records," was no proof that the prescribed procedure had been followed. In the absence of proof of such procedure, the foreclosure cannot be deemed to have been complete. The action of the Civil Court in issuing and serving notice is purely ministerial, and it is only when a mortgagee seeks for possession of property that the Court is called upon to decide judicially whether the prescribed procedure has been followed. When an objection to an attachment had been thrown out on the ground that the objector failed to deposit the necessary process-fee, the order disallowing the objection is conclusive against the party against whom it has been passed, if no regular suit has been brought within a year to get the said order set aside. DHARMA v. MADAR SINGH, 12 Ind. Cas. 345. (11 O. C. 180, F.)

(9)—Mortgage — Onus — Promulgation of statute.—Reg. XVII of 1806 took effect, not from the date on which it was passed by the Governor-General in Council, viz., 11th September 1806, but from the date of its promulgation. Suit in 1863 for the redemption of certain property in Zillah Sarum conveyed to the defendant by a deed of conditional sale in 1801, the day of payment on failure of which the sale was to become absolute being the 28th September 1806. Held that the onus of showing that the Regulation was promulgated in Sarum prior to the 28th September, 1806, lay on the plaintiff who sued for redemption; and that, as he had failed to give such evidence, his suit must be dismissed. SARIFUNNISA v. SHEIKH INAYET HOSSEIN, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 415=5 W.R. 88. [R., 1 M. 22, 6 C. 564=7 C.L.R. 583, 8 M. 185; Cons., 7 B.L.R. 136, P.C.=13 M.I.A. 560=15 W.R. P.C. 35; D., 14 W.R. 375.]

(9-a)—Punjab Alienation of Land Act (XIII of 1900), s. 9—Mortgage of conditional sale—Mortgagor not member of agricultural tribe—Service of notice under Regulation (XVII of 1806)—Commencement of year of grace—Mortgagor notified as member of agricultural tribe subsequent to commencement of year of grace-

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

But before its expiry—Suit for possession after expiry of year of grace—Not a suit on mortgage—Power of Deputy Commissioner to interfere—Power of Civil Court to make reference.—On 23rd July, 1909, a notice of foreclosure was issued under Regulation (XVII of 1806), to a mortgagor who was not then a member of an agricultural tribe under the Land Alienation Act. The notice was served on 17th August, 1909, and the year of grace began to run against the mortgagor. On 26th May, 1910, the mortgagor's tribe was declared to be an agricultural tribe. After the expiry of the year of grace, the mortgagee sued the mortgagor for possession of the mortgaged land as proprietor thereof. Held, that :—(1) the suit for possession was not a suit on a mortgage ; (2) as soon as the year of grace expired, the mortgagee became ipso facto full owner of the mortgaged land (38 P.R. 1904, 20 P.R. 1905, 38 P.R. 1905, R.); (3) the fact that the mortgagee became a member of an agricultural tribe before the expiry of the year of grace could not stop the year of grace from running, with the effect of vesting in the mortgagee the proprietary rights in the land at its expiration ; (4) the mortgage had ceased to exist after the expiry of the year of grace, and that, consequently, the Deputy Commissioner was precluded from exercising his powers of interference under s. 9 (2) of the Punjab Land Alienation Act ; (5) the Civil Court was not bound to make a reference under s. 9 (3) of the Act, as the suit was not instituted on a mortgage. BULANDA v. DIWANU, 109 P. W.R. 1912=14 Ind. Cas. 332.

(10)—This circular enjoins observance of the proper practice with regard to the taking of formal contemporaneous proof of the service of notice in foreclosure-proceedings under Regulation XVII of 1806. Civ. Cir. No. 8 of 7th March 1874, 21 W.R. H.C. Rules and Ors. 16.

(11)—See ACT I OF 1868, s. 6, 2 C.P.L.R. 130.

(12)—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 16, 12 C. 614.

(13)—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 105, 162 P.L.R. 1903=71 P.R. 1903.

(14)—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 115, A.W.N. 1882, 2, A.W.N. 1882, 32.

(15)—Suit for redemption — Proceedings under, necessary to extinguish title of mortgagor—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 23, 25, 9 Ind. Cas. 431.

(16)—See LETTERS PATENT, HIGH COURT, 1865—CALCUTTA, s. 12, 11 B.L.R. 301.

(17)—Suit for foreclosure—Suit for possession barred—Effect—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 31, 9 Ind. Cas. 1038.

(18)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 120, 14 A. 405, F.B.=A.W.N. 1892, 108, A.W.N. 1886, 69.

(19)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 134, 148, 9 A. 97.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(20)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 135, 16 C. 693=16 I.A. 85, P.C.

(21)—Mortgage by conditional sale—Bar of remedy while Regulation was in force—No revival of remedy after T. P. Act—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 135, 147, 8 C P.L.R. 83.

(22)—Suit for redemption of a mortgage by way of conditional sale — See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 148, P.L.R. 1900, p. 167.

(23) — See MORTGAGE — CONDITIONAL SALE, 15 W.R. 35, P.C.=7 B.L.R. 136=13 M.I.A. 560.

(24)—Mortgage—Conditional sale — Agreement to pay interest annually and in default of payment for six years mortgage to become sale—Applicability of, to such agreement—See MORTGAGE—CONSTRUCTION OF MORTGAGE-DEEDS, 50 P.R. 1906.

(25)—See MORTGAGE—CONSTRUCTION OF MORTGAGE-DEEDS, 3 C.L.J. 601, P.C.=10 C. W.N. 778=28 A. 496=3 A.L.J. 712=1 M.L.T. 297.

(26)—See MORTGAGE — REDEMPTION, 5 W.R.P.C. 47=10 M.I.A. 340, W.R. 1864, 183, 28 P.R. 1908=41 P.W.R. 1908=141 P.L.R. 1908=7 B.L.R. 136, P.C.=13 M.I.A. 560=15 W.R. 35, 6 B.L.R. App., 53=14 W.R. 278.

(27)—See MORTGAGE—SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY, 10 W.R. 86=1 B.L.R. S.N. 3.

(28)—See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, W.R. 1864, 189.

(29) — See PRE-EMPTION — RIGHT TO PRE-EMPT, 35 P.R. 1881, 11 A. 164=A.W.N. 1889, 48.

(30)—See RES JUDICATA—GENERAL, A. W.N. 1892, 51.

(31)—See RES JUDICATA—PARTIES, P.L. R. 1900, p. 241.

(32)—See REVISION—GENERAL, 3 A. 576.

(33)—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 2, 2 C.P.L.R. 130.

(34)—See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—MISCELLANEOUS, Marsh 632.

(35)—S. 7—See INTEREST — SPECIAL CASES, 28 P.R. 1897.

(36)—S. 7— See MORTGAGE — FORECLOSURE, 9 W.R. 116.

(37)—S. 7—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 3 A. 653, F.B.=A.W.N. 1881, 42, Marsh 617, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 141.

(38)—S. 7—See BEN. REG. I OF 1798, B. L.R. Sup. 598, F.B.=6 W.R. 225.

(39)—Ss. 7 and 8—Mortgage by way of conditionale sale—Foreclosure proceedings—Notice—Defects in—Demand of interest that was not due.—A notice under Reg. XVII of 1806 is not defective merely because it was issued by one of the mortgagees, nor does demand of interest more than the amount due render the notice invalid. BAWA DALIP SINGH v. BAWA JAIMAL SINGH, 134 P.L.R. 1910=8 Ind. Cas. 555. (3 A. 653, 3 A. 182, 84 P.R. 1882, R.)

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(40)—Ss. 7 and 8—Notice, Irregularity in.—When the notice issued to the mortgagor under Regulation XVII of 1806 was headed—"Application for issue of a notice of foreclosure under ss. 7 and 8 of Regulation XVII of 1806," and the body of the notice contained the words "it is notified to you by this notice that if you shall not pay up the entire mortgage-money, etc., noted in the application, and thus redeem the said land in the manner provided for in the foregoing section of the said Regulation within one year, the mortgage will be finally foreclosed." Held that the omission to specify s. 7 in the notice was fatal to the validity of the notice. The word 'section' in the notice being singular the mortgagor had not noticed which of the two sections specified in the heading were referred to. RAM CHAND v. SANDAL KHAN, 83 P.L.R. 1903=21 P.R. 1903. (5 P.R. 1901=2 P.L.R. 1900, p. 465, 28 P. R 1901, 9 P.L.R. 1901, 38 P.R. 1901, 124 P.L.R 1901, 123 P.R. 1894, 24 P.R. 1895, 28 P,R. 1897, R.) [R., 28 P.R. 1908.]

(41)—Ss. 7, 8—Mortgage—Foreclosure proceedings—Prescribed procedure imperative—Omission to affix seal on notice—Fatal defect—Punjab Land Alienation Act (XIII of 1900), s. 9 (3)—Consignment of foreclosure proceedings to record-room—Commencement of Act before expiry of year of grace—No pending proceedings.—Where foreclosure proceedings were consigned to the record-room before the year of grace had expired, and after the consignment of the record, but before the expiry of the year of grace, the Punjab Alienation of Land Act came into force: Held, that there were no proceedings for the enforcement of the conditional sale clause pending before the Court at the time of the commencement of the Act. Held, also, that:—1. Where a mortgagee sues for possession of the mortgaged property, upon the ground that he has become owner thereof under the terms of the conditional sale clause, it is incumbent upon him to prove affirmatively, that each and all of the conditions prescribed by ss 7 and 8 of Regulation XVII of 1806 have been duly fulfilled. He must show that the foreclosure proceedings were valid in every respect. His plaint should distinctly allege, not only that the year of grace had expired, but that the procedure prescribed by law, both preparatory to and in connection with the notice of foreclosure, had been duly observed. A plaintiff, who neither sets forth these necessary particulars in his plaint, nor adduces any proof in support of the special relief which he seeks to enforce, cannot avoid the consequences of his neglect, by merely relying on the circumstances that the defendant did not plead the non-observance of the prescribed procedure but defended the suit on other grounds. The provisions of Regulation XVII of 1806 are not merely directory but imperative, prescribing conditions precedent to the right of the mortgagee to enforce forfeiture of the estate of the mortgagor, and have for their object to protect mortgagors, who are often poor and ignorant men, from fraud and oppression on the part of the money-lenders. The prescribed procedure must, therefore, be strictly followed. The omission to affix the seal of the District Judge upon the foreclosure notice renders the foreclosure proceedings bad in law and is fatal to a suit by the mortgagee for possession as owner. MUSSAMMAT BAKHTAWARI v. SHIBAN LAL, 69 P.W.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 621=121 P.L.R. 1912=59 P.R. 1912. (16 P.R. 1888, 106 P.R. 1889, R.; 105 P.R. 1907=184 P.W.R. 1907; D., 11 C. 111=11 I.A. 186, 185 P.R. 1889, F.)

(42)—Ss. 7, 8—Mortgage by way of conditional sale—Foreclosure—Notice.—When it appeared that, in the notice issued under ss. 7 and 8 of Regulation XVII of 1806, the year of grace was set down as running from the date of the notice itself, and not from the date of service of notice. Held that the defect in the notice was fatal. THAKUR DAS v. MUHAMMAD BAKHSH, 74 P.L.R. 1906. (46 P.R. 1904, 3 C. 397, F; 99 P.R. 1895, R.)

(43)—Ss. 7 and 8—Defective notice—Redemption in the manner provided for by the Regulation—Mortgagor instituting a suit for redemption within the year of grace.—Held, that a notice under s. 8, Reg. XVII of 1806, is not defective, merely because the designation of the District Judge is not written but is impressed by a seal. Held, also, that a notice in which the mortgagor is informed that if he shall not redeem the property mortgaged in the manner provided for in s. 7 within one year from the date of the notice, the mortgage will be finally foreclosed is valid, although no mention of interest is made in it. Held, further, that the mortgagor's right to redeem is lost if he does not tender or deposit the principal and the amount of interest due within the year of grace, and his filing a suit to get determination of the amount due to the mortgagee has not the effect of extending the period of one year allowed by the Regulation. FAKIRA v. PIYARE LAL, 57 P.L.R. 1901=21 P.R 1901.

(44)—Ss 7, 8—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 9 A. 20=13 I.A. 113, P.C.

(45)—Ss. 7 and 8—See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, 134 P.L.R. 1901.

(46 & 47)—Ss. 7,8—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, ss. 2 (c), 67, 86, 6 A. 262, F.B.=A.W.N. 1884, 79.

(48 & 49)—Ss. 7 and 8—Mortgage by way of conditional sale, foreclosure of—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 99, 157 P.L.R. 1906=2 P.R. 1907.

(50)—S. 8—Mortgaged property situate on two districts—Foreclosure—Service of notice.—Where mortgaged property is situate in two districts, an order made by the Judge of one district for foreclosure of the whole of the mortgaged property is a sufficient compliance with Bengal Regulation XVII of 1806, s. 8. [F., 2 A. 313, 5 C.L.R. 599.] Service of the order of foreclosure on the widow of a deceased mortgagor, who was also the guardian of a minor adopted son of the deceased, is effectual as regards the widow and the adopted son. RASMONEE DABEA v. PRAN KISHEN DASS, 7 W.R.P.C. 66=4 M.I.A. 392=1 Suther. 207 =1 Sar. 369.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(51)—S. 8—Mortgage—Notice.—Held, that it is not necessary that the actual wording of s. 8 of Reg. XVII of 1806 be reproduced in the notice word for word and that the use of words ' pay off ' instead of ' redeem ' did not invalidate the notice. MUSSAMMAT SARDHARI v. CHIRANJI LAL, 9 P.L.R. 1901=28 P. R. 1901. [R., 21 P.R. 1903=83 P.L.R. 1903.]

(52)—S. 8—Mortgage—Foreclosure.—S. 8 of Reg. XVII of 1806 contemplates a previous demand of payment of the mortgage money but it is not necessary that the demand should be for any specific amount. Held, that a notice issued under s. 8 of Reg. XVII of 1806 is not invalid if the official designation of the Judge signing it is not in his handwriting. Held, further, that a mistake in the description of the property given in the notice does not make it invalid. WALI MUHAMMAD v. RAMJI LAL, P.L.R. 1900, p. 465=5 P.R. 1901. [R., 21 P.R. 1903=83 P.L.R. 1903; D., 109 P.R. 1901.]

(53)—S. 8—Mortgage by conditional sale—Validity of notice of foreclosure—Appeal—Objection to notice made, on appeal, for the first time.—A notice issued under s. 8 of the Regulation cannot be held to be defective simply because (1) the area of land and khasra and khewat numbers were entered neither in the notice nor in the application for its issue, (2) the amounts of principal and interest were not specified in the notice, and (3) the signature of the Judge on the notice was not his proper official signature, the official designation being in print instead of being in the Judge's own hand. Where a defendant, in a suit for possession of immoveable property, on a deed of conditional sale, alleged to have been foreclosed under the Regulation, had practically admitted the validity of a notice issued under the Regulation, it is doubtful whether the defendant is entitled on appeal to raise, for the first time, objections to the validity of the notice. BHAGIRATH v. NATH MAL, 105 P.R. 1907. (16 P.R, 1888, 11 C. 111, P.C. R.)

(54)—S. 8—Mortgage of house by way of conditional sale—Reg. XVII of 1806, applicability of.—The provisions of Reg. XVII of 1806 apply to a mortgage by way of conditional sale of houses, so as to prevent the sale from becoming absolute until foreclosure proceedings have been taken under s. 8 of that Regulation, on account of the fact that both in the older Reg.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

I of 1798 and in the recent repealed preamble of Reg. XVII of 1806 the words " landed property " are used, though in the same preamble, the word " land" occurs; that the words " land," " landed property," and " grounds" are used in a very general way throughout these Regulations, notably so in the Regs. VII of 1795 and and II of 1805 ; and that there seems no reason why the evils set forth in the preambles of Regs. I of 1798 and XVII of 1806 should not apply to the house property as well as to landed property. RANJIT v. YIRKHA, 117 P.R. 1885. [Cons., 88 P.R. 1888, 18 P.R. 1898 ; D., 108 P.R. 1912=17 Ind. Cas. 864.]

(55)—S. 8—Redemption proceedings — Right when lost.—Before a mortgagor in a case of mortgage by conditional sale, executed before the Act of 1882, could be held to have entirely lost his right to redeem under the Regulation XVII of 1806, it must be proved that the procedure prescribed therein had been strictly followed, e.g., it must be proved that there was a previous demand by the mortgagee from the mortgagor of payment of the mortgage-debt. Where, therefore, the mortgagee produced a copy of the proceedings, which directed him to bring a suit, held that there was not sufficient compliance with the Reg. XVII of 1806 and the mortgagor did not lose his right to redeem. BADAL RAM v. TAJ ALI, 4 A.L.J. 717=A.W.N. 1907, 266. (N.W.P. 1868, 358, R.)

(56)—S. 8—Mortgage by conditional sale—Foreclosure— Parwanah—" Official signature " —Procedure.—Held that a parwanah, or notification to the mortgagor, issued in a suit for foreclosure of a mortgage by conditional sale under the provisions of s 8 of Reg. XVII of 1806, which bore the seal of the Court and the initials of the Judge of the Court from which it issued, was a good and sufficient notification within the meaning of the Regulation. BHAGHWAT KURI v. BALDEO RAI, A.W.N. 1906, 309=29 A. 145=3 A L.J. 857. (11 C. 111, D.; 16 A. 59, quoad hoc, Overruled.)

(57)—S. 8—Mortgage by conditional sale—Stipulated period—Covenant accelerating payment—Mortgagee spending money for protecting property and for improvement — Interest. — Under s. 8, the right of the mortgagee by conditional sale to apply for foreclosure does not arise, until the period stipulated in the proviso for redemption has expired. That period is not affected or altered by a contract in the mortgage deed, making, without reference to redemption, the whole principal lent payable upon failure to pay interest at a certain time. A separate stipulation which, for other purposes, accelerates the time at which the principal is to become due, and makes no provision for the mortgagor making payment for avoiding forfeiture, cannot be taken into account in considering what are to be regarded as the ' stipulated period.'' Compound interest on sums spent by the mortgagee to protect the subject of the security, or simple interest on money spent in improvement, will not be allowed. KISHORE MOHUN ROY v. GANGA BABU DEBI, 5 M.L.J. 261, P.C.=23 C. 228=22 I A. 183=6 Sar. 249.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(58)—S. 8 — Extension of time by mutual agreement—Right of mortgagee to immediate decree under Reg. XVII of 1806—Transfer of Property Act, s. 2.—It is within the power of parties to a mortgage to bargain as they choose in the way of enlargement of time in cases under Reg. XVII of 1806; such extension of time is not fatal to the whole proceeding. The year of grace allowed by s. 8 is a matter of procedure. Where valid and effectual proceedings taken under Reg. XVII of 1806 had arrived at a close (i.e., the period of grace under s. 8 had expired) when the regulation was still in force, the mortgagee acquired an immediate right to have a decree declaring the property to be his absolutely; such right would fall under cl. (c) of s. 2 of the Transfer of Property Act and would be enforceable even after the Act came into operation. BAIJNATH PERSHAD NARAIN SINGH v. MOHESWARI PERSHAD NARAIN SINGH, 14 C. 451. [F., 20 B. 759; D., 14 C. 599, 15 C. 357; R., 11 M. 403.]

(59)—S. 8—Forclosure—"Parwanah" signed by Subordinate Judge in charge of the current duties of the District Judge's office under s. 8 of Act VI of 1871.—Held that a "parwanah" purporting to be issued under the provisions of s. 8 of Regulation XVII of 1806, but signed, not by the District Judge but by the Subordinate Judge in charge of the current duties of the office of the District Judge was not a good notice in law. PIRBHU LAL v. GANPAT, A.W. N. 1894, 53.

(60)—S. 8—Mortgage by conditional sale—Right of entry on default of payment--Foreclosure proceedings—Suit for possession--Cause of action—Limitation Act, XIV of 1859, s. 1, cl. 12—Effect of foreclosure proceedings—Foreclosure proceedings—Notice—Copy of application--Presumption as to service--Validity of proceedings.—Where a kut-kobala or a Bangalee deed of conditional sale expressly reserves to the mortgagee the right of entry upon the mortgaged premises on default of payment within the stipulated time, Reg. XVII of 1806, or any other law, does not render such a stipulation inoperative between the parties, and the mortgagee is entitled to take possession of the properties mortgaged, immediately on default of payment. Therefore the cause of action for a suit instituted by the mortgagee against the mortgagor to recover possession of the mortgaged property arises on the date of that default. No new cause of action arises by reason of the foreclosure proceedings. Consequently such a suit instituted more than 12 years from the date of default in payment of the mortgage debt would be barred by limitation under Act XIV of 1859, s. 1, cl. 12. The effect of the foreclosure proceedings laid down in Reg. XVII of 1806 is simply to bar the right of redemption. If, on the day of the expiry of the year of grace, a valid subsisting right of a mortgagee exists in a holder of a kut-kobala, the omission of the borrower to repay the mortgage loan before that date has the effect of transferring the rights on the latter to the former, who acquires from that date absolute ownership in the property mortgaged. But if, on the other hand, the mortgage rights of a holder of a kut-kobala have been extinguished by lapse of time or other causes, previous to that date, the foreclosure proceedings, even if duly carried out, are entirely ineffectual, and do not affect any person's right in the least. [F., 12 C. 614; R., 11 A. 144, 26 A. 4; D, 22 W.R. 543=14 B.L.R. 315, 6 C. 564=7 C.L.R. 582, 10 C. 68.] Where, in foreclosure proceedings, the mortgagee has failed to establish that the notice of the proceedings to be served upon the mortgagor was accompanied by a copy of the application, as required by Reg. XVII of 1806, this omission has the effect of rendering the foreclosure proceedings invalid and ineffectual. Where it is shown that a notice of foreclosure was served according to the usual course of business in the Sheriff's office, it may be assumed, in the absence of any very satisfactory contradiction, that a copy of the application was duly served therewith. But where, in the order of the Judge, in the return of the Sheriff, and in the deposition of the serving peon, only a notice is mentioned and it appeared that according to the practice of the High Court on the original side, had the application accompanied the notice, it would have been so mentioned in the order of the Judge and the return of the Sheriff, it cannot be presumed that the copy of the application accompanied the notice. DENONATH GANGOOLY v. NURSING PROSHAD DASS, 14 B. L R. 87=22 W.R. 90. [F., 2 C. 311.]

(61)—S. 8—Suit for foreclosure—Barred by limitation if no proceedings taken under the Regulation — Limitation, period of 12 years—Limitation Act (1877), art. 147—Transfer of Property Act, no provision for foreclosure before passing of.—A mortgage by conditional sale made in 1865 provided that the mortgage money should be repaid in 1866. In a suit for foreclosure and for possession of the mortgaged property brought in 1910, held that no proceedings having been taken under Regulation XVII of 1806, and the mortgagee's right to make an application for foreclosure having become extinct by reason of efflux of time, he could not take possession without obtaining foreclosure in accordance with the provisions of the Regulation and the claim was barred by time. Held, further, that art. 147, Limitation Act (1877), did not apply to foreclosure proceedings under Regulation XVII of 1806. SHYAM CHANDER SINGH v. BALDEO, 10 A.L.J. 522=17 Ind. Cas. 467.

(61-a)—S. 8—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 11 A. 144.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(62)—S. 8—See LUNATIC, 10 B.L.R. 364=19 W.R. 163.

(63)—S. 8—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 2 N.L.R. 113.

(64)—S. 8—See MORTGAGE—ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGEE AND MORTGAGOR, 1 W.R. P.C. 19=10 M I.A. 1.

(65)—S. 8—See MORTGAGE—CONDITIONAL SALE, 109 P.R. 1901, 75 P.R. 1874.

(66)—S. 8—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 5 W.R. Mis. 31, 14 W.R. 278.

(67)—S. 8—See Nos. 39 to 48, supra.

———Reg. XVIII of 1806 (Canal Tolls).

[REP., ACT XII OF 1873.]

See BEN. REG. VI OF 1819, s. 3, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 630=7 W.R. 191.

———Reg. XIX of 1806 (Duty on Spirits.)

[REP. BEN. REG. IX OF 1810.]

(1)—Butwara Law — Jurisdiction of Civil Courts.—Any possession, which may be given or be said to be given, under the Butwara Law, can have no force against third persons, who were no parties to it. By a Butwara, the rights of under-tenure-holders are in no way affected, and though, as between share-holders, the assignment of specific lands to each share-holder has a binding effect, yet such arrangement does not, of itself, entitle the share-holder to obtain khas possession, to the deprivation of the rights of the tenants on the land. There is no jurisdiction in the Civil Court to disturb a Butwara effected by properly constituted authorities in accordance with law. BEMOLA-SOONDURY CHOWDHRAIN v. PUNCHANUN CHOWDHRY, 3 C. 705.

———Reg. IV of 1808 (Kanungoes, Benares, etc.)

[REP. (EXCEPT IN CERTAIN AREAS) ACT XIX OF 1873.]

See KANUNGO, 2 P.R. 1867, Rev.

———Reg. VII of 1809 (Stamps).

[REP. BEN. REG. I OF 1814.]

S. 1—See APPEAL—ORDERS, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 370=12 W.R. 323.

———Reg. XIX of 1810 (Bengal Charitable Endowments, Public Buildings and Escheats.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. REP. AS TO ENDOWMENTS FOR THE SUPPORT OF MOSQUES, HINDU TEMPLES OR OTHER RELIGIOUS PURPOSES, BEN. REG. XVII OF 1816, S. 16. REP. AS TO PROVISION BY BOARD OF REVENUE FOR DUE REPAIR OF PUBLIC EDIFICES OF THE DESCRIPTION OF BRIDGES, SERAIS, AND KATTRAS, ACT XX OF 1863. TITLE AND SS. 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 14, 15 REP. IN PT., SS. 3, 4, 8, 9, 12, 13 AM., ACT I OF 1903. REP. (IN AGRA), ACT VIII OF

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

1884. (IN ASSAM), ACT V OF 1897. DECLARED IN FORCE—THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6; IN AJMERE (WITH A MODIFICATION), REG. III OF 1877, S. 3.]

(1)—See ACT XX OF 1863, ss. 14, 18, 6 P.L.R. 1901.

(2)—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 6 W.R. P.C. 3=2 M.I.A. 390.

(3)—Endowments affected by, management of—See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT, 34 C. 587.

———Reg. V of 1812 (Bengal Land-revenue Sales.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903, S. 2 EXPLD. (IN BENGAL), BEN. REG. XVIII OF 1812, S. 2. S. 28 REP. IN PT., BEN. REG. XII OF 1824. S. 28, RESIDUE REP., BEN. REG. VII OF 1830. SS. 5 TO 23 REP., ACT X OF 1859. S. 1 REP., SS. 2, 3, 4, 26, 27, REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. SS. 24, 25, REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876. SS. 2, 3, 4, 26, 27 REP. (IN EASTERN BENGAL AND LOCALLY IN BENGAL), ACT VIII OF 1885. S. 25 AM., SS. 26, 27, REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903. REP. (IN AGRA, EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873; (IN ASSAM, EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886. DECLARED IN FORCE—THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6; IN THE SONTHAL PARGANNAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—Notice of suit for arrears of rent—Decree in former suit.—A suit for arrears of rent at a certain rate decreed in a former suit may be maintained without notice under Reg. V of 1812; the decree itself being held to be sufficient notice. RAMJEEBUN BOSE v. TRIPOORA DOSSEE, W.R.F.B. 93=Marsh 396=2 Hay 449.

(2)—Payment of Tehwari and Salami—Reg. V of 1812.—Held that certain items designated tehwari and salami, not being uncertain and arbitrary in their character, were not illegal cesses, but specific sums which the tenants agreed to pay to the landlord as part of the consideration upon which the tenancy was created, and were therefore recoverable under the Reg. V of 1812. PUDMANAND SINGH BAHADUR v. BAIJ NATH SINGH, 15 C. 828. (11 C. 175, R.) [Diss., 17 C. 726, F.B.]

(3)—See APPEAL—ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 3 W.R. Mis. 17.

(4)—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, NOTICE OF, W.R. 1864, 312, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 73.

(5)—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—EXECUTION BY COLLECTOR, 22 W.R. 212.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(6)—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—FORFEITURE, W.R. F.B. 34.

(7)—See RENT, SUIT FOR, W.R. F.B. 93.

(8)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE AND CESS—GENERAL, 5 W.R. P.C. 41=1 M.I.A. 383.

(9)—S. 3—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 2, cl. 4 and s. 179, 10 C.W.N. 527=4 C.L.J. 527.

(10)—S. 3—See APPEAL—ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 19 W.R. 170.

(11)—S. 3—See CESS, 22 C. 680.

(12)—S. 10—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—GENERAL, 12 B.L.R. 229, P.C.=19 W.R. 353.

(13)—S. 26—Reg. V of 1827, s. 3—Appeal against order for attachment and appointment of manager.—There is no appeal to the High Court against an order of the Judge of the District Court issuing a precept to the Collector to hold an estate in attachment and to appoint a manager under s. 26, Reg. V of 1812, and s. 3, Reg. V of 1827. In the matter of the petition of the COLLECTOR OF FURREEDPORE, 12 B.L.R. 366, F.B.

(14)—S. 26—Reg. V of 1827—Joint undivided estate—Management by Collector—Surplus profits, disposal of High Court's power of superintendence.—When a joint undivided estate has been attached under s. 26, Reg. V of 1812, and made over to the management of a Collector under Reg. V of 1827, the Zillah Judge has jurisdiction to direct the Collector to divide the surplus profits of the estate among the several share-holders according to their respective shares, and the High Court cannot, under its general powers of superintendence over the Subordinate Courts, interfer with the order of the Judge. In the matter of the petition of the COLLECTOR OF RUNGPORE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 655=7 W.R. 273=2 Ind. Jur. N.S. 178.

(15 & 16)—S. 26—See APPEAL—ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 20 W.R. 262.

(17)—S. 26—See DISTRICT JUDGE, JURISDICTION OF, 20 W.R. 54.

——Reg. VIII of 1812 (Saltpetre).

[REP. BEN. REG. IV OF 1814.]

Effect of—See NIMAK SAYER MAHAL, 13 C.W.N. 454=36 C. 267=1 Ind. Cas. 967.

——Reg. XIV of 1812 (Leases, Ceded and Conquered Provinces, Cuttack).

[REP. ACT XXIX OF 1871.]

(1)—S. 2—Construction.—The proper construction of s. 2, Reg. XIV of 1812, is that the lease therein referred to is to be null and void as against the Government but not against the Court. KARUNNAKER MAHATI v. NILADHRO CHOWDHRY, 5 B.L.R. 652=14 W.R. 107. [R., 6 N.W.P. 373.]

——Reg. XX of 1812 (Registry of Deeds).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1864.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—concluded.

S. 5—See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS—HUNDIS—MISCELLANEOUS, 4 W.R. 98.

——Reg. I of 1814 (Stamps).

[REP., BEN. REG. X OF 1829.]

See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS DOCUMENTS, 9 W.R. 86.

——Reg. IV of 1814 (Repealing Bengal Reg. VIII of 1812).

[REP., ACT VIII OF 1868.]

Effect of—See NIMAK SAYAR MAHAL, 13 C.W.N. 454=36 C. 267=1 Ind. Cas. 967.

——Act XIX of 1814 (Partition of revenue-paying estates).

[REP. (IN AGRA), ACT XIX OF 1863; (IN BENGAL AND EASTERN BENGAL), BEN. ACT VIII OF 1876; (IN ASSAM, EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886.]

(1)—See BURDEN OF PROOF—INTERVENORS, 17 W.R. 143.

(2)—See BURDEN OF PROOF—PARTITION, 16 W.R. 200.

(3)—See CONTRIBUTION, SUIT FOR—VOLUNTARY PAYMENTS, 5 W.R. 112.

(4)—Partition under—Revision by Civil Court—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 4 C. 510.

(5)—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 2 W.R. Mis. 51.

(6)—See PARTITION—EFFECT OF PARTITION, 16 W.R. 110.

(7)—See PARTITION—PARTITION, HOW EFFECTED, 22 W.R. 453, 5 C.L.R. 257, P.C.

(8)—See PARTITION—PRIVATE PARTITION, 66 P.R. 1869.

(9)—See PARTITION—RIGHT TO PARTITION, 17 W.R. 137, 21 W.R. 225.

(10)—See PARTITION—SUITS FOR PARTITION—JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT, 8 B.L.R. App. 72=17 W.R. 217, 16 W.R. 190, 6 W.R. 15, 18 W.R. 147, 2 B.L.R. App. 40 (b).

(11)—See PARTITION—MISCELLANEOUS, 4 B.L.R. App. 97, 1 B.L.R. S.N. 6.

(12)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE AND CESS—SETTING ASIDE SALE AND ITS EFFECT, 8 B.L.R. 230=17 W.R. 21.

(13)—S. 3—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 20 W.R. 182.

(14)—S. 4, cl. 2, s. 20—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 6 B.L.R. 658=15 W.R. 471.

(15)—S. 9—Butwara—Enhancement of rent—Jurisdiction—Reg. XIX of 1814, s. 9, Act XX of 1859, s. 13.—Plaintiff and defendant were co-sharers in the same village. By a subsequent butwara, defendant's dwelling-house was included in plaintiff's share, and the Collector under s. 9, Reg. XIX of 1814, directed that it, together with 7 bighas of adjacent land, should be retained by defendant on his paying plaintiff an yearly rent of Rs. 3 a bigha. Plaintiff then sued to enhance the rent. Held that the Revenue Courts had no jurisdiction to try a suit like this. Per Glover, J. The rent so fixed on that land must be considered the fixed rent of the homestead of the house and ground and not, therefore, capable of enhancement. SHAW KHAIRUDDIN AHMED v. SHEIKH ABDUL BAKI, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 65=11 W.R. 410. [F., 17 W.R. 151; D., 16 W.R. 140.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(16)—S. 9—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, GROUNDS OF, 9 W.R. 145.

(17)—S. 20—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 138, W.R. 1864, 30.

(18)—S. 20—See PARTITION—EFFECT OF PARTITION, 1 W.R. 323.

(19)—S. 20—See PARTITION — MISCELLANEOUS, 12 W.R. 134.

(20)—S. 20—See NO. 14, supra.

(21)—S. 30—See PARTITION — PRIVATE PARTITION, 2 C.L.R. 134.

(22)—S. 30—See PARTITION—RIGHT TO PARTITION, 5 W.R. 186.

——Reg. XXVI of 1814 (Civil Procedure).

[REP., ACT XII OF 1873.]

(1)—See REVIEW—JURISDICTION TO REVIEW, 8 W.R. 483.

(2)—S. 4—See REVIEW—REVIEW BY JUDGE OTHER THAN JUDGE IN ORIGINAL CASE, 3 W.R. P.C. 45=7 M.I.A. 283.

(3)—S. 10—See NEW TRIAL, 1 W.R. P.C. 51=8 M.I.A. 199.

(4)—S. 10—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 9 M.I.A. 39.

(5)—S. 10—See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—RE-HEARING, 1 W.R. P.C. 51=8 M.I.A. 199.

(6)—S. 10—See BEN. REG. IV OF 1793, 5 M.I.A. 271.

(7)—S. 10, cl. 3—See MORTGAGE—ACCOUNTS BETWEEN MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE, 1 W.R. P.C. 19=10 M.I.A. 1.

——Reg. XXVII of 1814 (Vakils).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1874.]

(1)—S. 25—See COSTS — TAXATION OF COSTS, 6 W.R. Mis. 35.

(2)—S. 25—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER — REMUNERATION, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 334=6 W.R. 108.

——Reg. XXIX of 1814 (Bengal Ghatwali Lands.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. S. 3, REP. IN PT., S. 5 AM., ACT I OF 1903. DECLARED IN FORCE IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—Ghatwali estates in Beerbhoom—Land taken for public purposes—Right of zemindar

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

to compensation money—Right of Ghatwal to compensation money.—In the ghatwali estates, which are situated in the district of Beerbhoom and which have become a subject of special legislation (viz., Reg. XXIX of 1814) neither the zemindar nor the under-tenants of the ghatwal have any right to claim a participation in the compensation money given for land, appertaining to the ghatwali estate, taken up for public purposes. As the title of a ghatwal is not that of an absolute owner, and as he is only entitled to enjoy the profits of the ghatwali mahal during his life without power of alienation, the compensation money obtained in respect of such land is only a money equivalent of a portion of that mahal. He can therefore only enjoy its interest without any right of spending any portion of it. He is bound to keep its interest as a part of the ghatwali property, so that his successor may obtain it, quite undiminished in value. The above observations apply only to the principal amount of the compensation money. But as to the interest which subsequently accrues, the ghatwal is entitled as absolute owner. RAM CHUNDER SINGH v. RAJA JOHER JUMMA KHAN, 14 B.L.R. App. 7 =23 W. R. 376.

(2)—See GHATWALI TENURE, 18 W.R. 91, 9 C. 187, P. C.=9 I.A. 104.

(3)—S. 2—See GHATWALI TENURE, 22 C. 156.

(4)—S. 4—See ACT X OF 1870, 23 W. R. 376.

——Reg. V of 1816 (Bengal Kanungos).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. EXT. BEN. REG, I OF 1819, S 4 (1). SS. 1, 3 REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874, SS. 5, 11 AM. S. 10, REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903. REP. (IN ASSAM), ACT XII OF 1891.]

——Regs. V of 1816, XII of 1817, I of 1819.

Construction of—See PATNI TENURE, 2 Ind. Cas. 998.

——Reg. VI of 1816 (Settlement, Cuttack etc.)

[REP., ACT VIII OF 1868.]

Power of Courts to settle cases by oath—Reg. III of 1802—See ACT X OF 1861, 4 M. H.C. App. 3.

——Reg. XI of 1816 (Succession, Cuttack),

[REP., ACT XI OF 1893.]

S. 3—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 3 W.R. 116.

——Reg. XIX of 1816 (Ferries).

[REP., BEN. REG. VI OF 1819.]

(1)—Ferry right—Extinction of the right—Ben. Reg. XIX of 1816—Limitation Act, 1908, s. 23—See FERRY, 18 C. 652.

(2)—See BEN. REG. VI OF 1819, s. 3, B.L.R. Sup. 630=7 W.R. 191.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

——Reg. V of 1817 (Hidden Treasure).

[REP., ACT VI OF 1878.]

(1)—S. 6—See TREASURE TROVE, 4 W.R. Mis. 7.

(2)—S. 8—See HIDDEN TREASURE, 15 W. R. 525.

——Reg. XII of 1817 (Bengal Patwaris.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. EXT., BEN. REG. I OF 1819, S. 4 (2). S. 32 SUPPLEMENTED, ACT XX OF 1848. SS. 2, 4, 5, 6, REP. SS 9, 11, 27, 31, 32, 33, REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. SS. 8, 13, 15, 16, 17, 30, 33 REP. IN PT., SS. 26, 28 REP. ACT XII OF 1876. SS. 31, 35 AM., S. 32 REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1891. TITLE AND SS. 1, 23, 27, 29, 30 REP. IN PT., S. 18 A.M, ACT I OF 1903. REP (IN AGRA, EXCEPT IN CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873; (IN ASSAM), ACT XII OF 1891. DECLARED IN FORCE IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS; REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—Construction of—See PATNI TENURE, 2 Ind. Cas. 998.

(2)—S. 16.—See EVIDENCE ACT, I OF 1872, s. 35, 23 C. 366.

(3)—S. 16—Teiskhana Register prepared by patwari, not a public document—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 35, 74, 18 C. 534.

——Reg. XX of 1817 (Bengal Police).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. FORMS 2, 3, 8, 14 REP., REG. VII OF 1829. S. 30 (4) REP., ACT XVIII OF 1835. S. 27 REP., ACT X OF 1859. SS. 9, 12 TO 20, 22 TO 26 REP., ACT XVII OF 1862. SS. 1 TO 8, 10, 11, 29 (10), (11), 30 (3), (6), 31, 33, 34 REP., SS. 29 (1) TO (4), (9), 30 (2) REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. S. 29 (5) TO (8) REP., ACT VIII OF 1875. S. 28, 32 REP., SS. 21 (10), 29 (1) TO (4) REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876. S. 21, REP. LOCALLY IN BENGAL, BEN. ACT VI OF 1870, S. 2, AS MOD. BY BEN. ACT I OF 1871, S. 1. S. 21 REP. LOCALLY IN BENGAL, BEN. ACT V OF 1887, S. 38. TITLE AND S. 30 (HEADING) REP. IN PT., S. 29 (HEADING) & CL. (12) AM., FORMS 1, 4, 5, 7, 9 TO 12, 15 TO 21 REP., ACT XII OF 1891. REP. IN PT., (IN AGRA), ACT XVI OF 1873. REP. (IN ASSAM), ACT V OF 1897. S. 29 AND S. 30, CLS. 1, 2 AND 5, DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6, AND SCH. IV, AS AMENDED BY ACT XII OF 1891. Obsolete in Eastern Bengal.]

(1)—Whether obliges Daroga to keep register of Chowkidari chakran lands—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss 32 (2), 35, 13 C.W.N. 71, 1 Ind. Cas. 376.

(2)—S. 10—Stipulation in kabuliat, between putnidar and Zamindar, repayment of dak charges.—A stipulation, in putni Kabuliat of

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

1855, between a zamindar and a putnidar, that the latter shall pay the salary and expenses of amlahs of dak chowki houses and appoint them and superintend their work, under the system of Zemindari dak then prevalent, imposes upon the putnidar the liability of paying dak charges, although the system of running dak has come to an end. JILLAR RAHMAN v. BIJOY CHAND MAHTAP, 28 C. 293. (3 W. R.S.C.C. Ref., 17, F.; 4 W.R. 6, R.)

(3)—S. 21—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 7, 18 W.R. 298.

——Reg. III of 1818 (Bengal State Prisoners.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. SUPPLEMENTED, ACTS XXXIV OF 1850 AND III OF 1858. SS. 4, 9, REP IN PT., S. 8 REP., ACT XVI OF 1874. S. 9 A.M. ACT XII OF 1891. S. 4 REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903 DECLARED IN FORCE—THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT, EASTERN BENGAL AND AGRA, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, SS. 6, 7, IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.; IN THE ANGUL DISTRICT, REG. I OF 1894, S. 3; IN THE CHITTAGONG HILL-TRACTS, REG I OF 1900, S.4; IN THE ARAKAN HILL DISTRICT, REG. IX OF 1874, S. 3; IN LOWER BURMA, ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 8; IN UPPER BURMA (EXCEPT THE SHAN STATES), ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 4; IN KACHIN HILL-TRACTS, AS REGARDS HILL TRIBES, REG. I OF 1895, S. 3; IN CERTAIN TRACTS IN THE CHIN HILLS, REG. V OF 1896, S. 3; IN THE PUNJAB, ACT IV OF 1872, S. 3; DECLARED IN FORCE IN THE N.-W. FRONTIER PROVINCE, REG VII OF 1901, S. 4; IN THE CENTRAL PROVINCES AND THE DISTRICT OF SAMBALPURE, ACT XX OF 1875, S. 3; IN OUDH (WITH MODIFICATIONS, AND WITH THE EXCEPTION OF S. 10), ACT XVIII OF 1876, S. 3; IN AJMERE, REG. III OF 1877, S. 3; IN BRITISH BALUCHISTAN, REG. I OF 1890, S. 3.]

(1)—Nature, validity and scope of Regulation —Reg. III of 1818—Applicability of Regulation to Calcutta—Impropriety of issuing writ where it will be disobeyed.—Reg. III of 1818 having been passed by legislative authority which had no power to bind European British subject it must be taken as applicable, and enacted with reference only to natives and other persons subject to the jurisdiction of the Provincial Courts. The Regulation appears to have been passed by the Vice-President in Council under the provisions of the 37 George III, c. 142, s. 8, not 13 George III, c. 63, s. 36. The Regulation is one which falls within that class of laws which authorizes the infliction of penalties, the privation of liberty, even the destruction of life, with a view to the future prevention of crime, and insuring the safety and well being of the public. It falls within the principle salus populi suprema lex. It makes provision against the possibility that the party may be confined on charges which may be false and malicious and which he has no opportunity of answering. It was passed by legislative authority having full power to enact it as it stands. It does no more than give to the Governor-General in Council a power analogous to that which the Parliament of the United Kingdom exercises when by a legislative enactment it suspends the Habeas Corpus Act. In enacting Act III of 1818 which extended the effect of the Regulation to Calcutta, the Indian Legislature did not exceed its powers. Where the Superintendent of the jail holds the prisoner under a warrant in writing of the Governor-General in Council, such order must prevail as against the command of any writ which the High Court has the power to issue. In such a case, the Court ought not to issue a writ which it would be the duty of the Superintendent of the jail to disobey. In the matter of AMEER KHAN, 6 B.L.R. 392.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(2)—British subject arrested in Calcutta and detained in the mofussil—See ACT OF STATE, 6 B.L.R. 392.

(3)—Inferences to be drawn from fact of deportation under—See LIBEL, 13 C.W.N. 895=6 M.L.T. 73=36 C. 883=3 Ind. Cas. 224.

(4)—Deportation under—Libel—Mitigation of damages—See LIBEL, 14 C.W.N. 713=1 Ind. Cas. 81=37 C. 760.

(5)—See MAIN PRIZE, WRIT OF, 6 B.L.R. 456.

(6)—S. 2—See HABEAS CORPUS, 6 B.L.R. 459.

——Reg. I of 1819 (Bengal Kanungos and Patwaris.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. SS. 1, 2, 3 REP., ACT XII OF 1873. TITLE AND S. 4 (5) REP. IN PT, ACT XII OF 1891. S. 4 AM., S. 4 (6) REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903, REP. (IN AGRA, EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873; (IN ASSAM), ACT XII OF 1891. DECLARED IN FORCE IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

Construction of—See PATNI TENURE, 2 Ind. Cas. 998.

——Reg. II of 1819 [Bengal Land-revenue Assessment (Resumed Lands).]

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. SS. 11, 12, 13 (3), 14, 19 EXT., BEN. REG. VII OF 1822, S. 19 (2). SS. 5, 6, 8, 10, 11, 13, 15, 22; AM., BEN. REG. IX OF 1825, S. 5. AM., BEN. REG. XIV OF 1825, S. 6. SS. 22 TO 24 AM., BEN. REG. III OF 1828, S. 10. S. 30 REP., BEN. ACT VII OF 1862. S. 19 (2) REP., ACT XII OF 1873. SS. 2, 24 (2), 25, 27 REP., SS. 19 (1), 20, 21, 26 REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. SS. 11, 19 REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876. S. 29 REP. SS. 4, 12 REP. IN PT., SS. 6, 12, 26 (2) AM., ACT XII OF 1891. S. 3 (1) REP. IN PT., SS. 13 (3), 14, 21 (2) AM., ACT I OF 1903. REP. (IN AGRA, EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS) ACT XIX OF 1873; (IN ASSAM EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886. DECLARED IN FORCE—THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6; IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3 AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—Milkiat property, released after proceedings held under Regulation, covered by entry in Collectorate register of revenue-free estates—Ordinary milkiat property not so registered—Distinction—Applicability of s. 78, Bengal Act VII of 1876, to such estates—See BEN. ACT VII OF 1876, s. 78, 35 C. 747.

(2)—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 4 M.I.A. 466.

(3)—Purview of—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 92 and 93, 2 C L.J. 431.

(4)—Resumption proceedings—Question whether lands are endowed or not—Adjudication not final nor foreign to enquiry—See DEBUTTER PROPERTY, 6 Ind. Cas. 26.

(5)—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 17 C. 590=17 I.A. 40.

(6)—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 4 M.I.A. 466.

(7)—See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—PRACTICE AS TO OBJECTION, 4 M.I.A. 466=1 Sar. 385.

(8)—See BEN. REG. XIX OF 1793, s. 10, 8 B.L.R. 566 P.C.=14 M.I.A. 152=20 W.R. 459.

(9)—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—GENERAL, 1 W.R. 116.

(10)—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 3 W.R. P.C. 45=7 M.I.A. 283.

(11)—S. 16—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 13 W.R. 180.

(12)—S. 30—Act X of 1859, s. 28—Lakhiraj—Resumption—Revenue and Civil Courts—Jurisdiction.—The plaintiff, the purchaser of a putnee lease, sought to obtain a declaration of his mal right by setting aside an alleged rent-free tenure in certain lands held rent-free from the time of a former talookdar, alleging that he had called for the defendant's documents; and, as the defendants refused to produce them, the plaintiff instituted this suit before the Collector under Reg. II of 1819. The defendant pleaded a lakhiraj title from before 1790. The suit was referred to the Civil Court under Bengal Act VII of 1862, and the plaintiff obtained a decree. On appeal by the defendant,—Held that, prior to the passing of Reg. II of 1819, under their ordinary jurisdiction, the Civil Courts were competent to entertain regular suits by zemindars for declaration of their right to resume revenue illegally alienated subsequently to 1790, and for possession of the land held rent-free under grants of titles which had their origin subsequently to 1790. Held, by Trevor, J., Seton-Karr, J., and Glover, J., that such suits were unaffected by the passing of Reg. II of 1819, s. 30, which related only to resumption of lakhiraj existing prior to 1790. Norman, C.J., Phear, J., and Jackson, J., dissenting held that, since the passing of Reg. II of 1819, regular suits for the resumption of all tenures held rent-free, in which the defendant alleged a valid rent-free grant, have been instituted and down to the passing of Bengal Act VII of 1862, might have been maintained or referred to the Collector under s. 30 of that Regulation. Held, by a majority of the Court (dissentientibus Trevor, J., Seton-Karr, J., and Glover, J.) that the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to try this cause was not affected by s. 28 of Act X of 1859. SONATAN GHOSE v. MOULVI ABDUL FARAR, B. L. R. Sup. Vol. 109=2 W.R. 91. [F., 2 W.R. 258, 7 W.R. 470; Appr., 8 B.L.R. 566=14 M.I.A. 152=20 W.R. 459; Appl., 16 W.R. 173; R., B. L. R. Sup. Vol. 162, 4 W.R 53, B. L. R. Sup. Vol. 774=9 W.R. 1, F.B., 8 B. L. R. App. 85, Note=15 W.R. 474, 8 B.L.R. App. 87, Note=15 W.R. 440, 24 W.R. 447, 8 C. 230, 16 C. 449; D., 34 C. 223=5 C.L.J. 192.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(13)—S. 30—Resumption—Decrees—Presumption—Errors of procedure—Invalid decrees.—In a suit for resumption where plaintiff stated that defendant was holding the land in dispute under a pretended lakhiraj title, without specifying whether that title was anterior or posterior to December, 1790, it was found that defendant had not proved that his alleged lakhiraj existed prior to that date, and the suit was decreed. Held that, from the fact of the Court having adopted a procedure which is only sanctioned in the special cases provided for by s. 30, Reg. II of 1819, it was not a necessary inference that the decree was made under that Regulation. Held, that, even if made under s. 30, Reg. II of 1819, a resumption-decree bearing an earlier date than 2 W.R. F.B., 9 would not establish that the grant resumed was of earlier date than 1st December, 1790. A decree made under Reg. II of 1819 prior to 2 W.R. F.B., 9, for the resumption of grants of latter date than 1st December, 1790, cannot be held to be void, for error in procedure in a trial does not per se render void a decree which, on the face of it is one the Court was competent to make. MADUSUDHAN SAGORY v. NIPAL KHAN, 8 B.L.R. App. 87, Note=15 W.R. 440. [F., 8 B.L.R. App. 82=17 W.R. 363; Appr., 8 B.L R. App. 85, Note=15 W.R. 474; Expl., 16 C. 449.]

(14)—S. 30—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 2 W.R. 302.

(15)—S. 30—See COLLECTOR, 1 Ind. Jur. O. S. 84.

(16)—S. 30—See COLLECTOR, W.R. F.B. 70, Marsh 265=2 Hay 107, Marsh 483.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(17)—S. 30—See LAKHIRAJ TENURE, B.L. R. Sup. Vol. App. 8=2 W.R. 207.

(18)—S. 30—See BEN. REG. XIX OF 1793, s. 10, B.L.R. Sup. App. 8=2 W.R. 207, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 162.

(19)—S. 30—See RES JUDICATA—COMPETENCY OF COURT, W.R. F.B. 70=Marsh 265=2 Hay 107, 1 W.R. 218.

(20)—S. 30—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—GENERAL, W.R. 1864, 132, 2 W.R. 91.

(21)—S. 30—See RESUMPTION, RIGHT OF—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 15 W.R. 483.

———Reg. VI of 1819 (Ferries.)

[REP., (EXCEPT IN BENGAL AND EASTERN BENGAL) ACT XVII OF 1878 (IN BENGAL AND EASTERN BENGAL), BEN. ACT I OF 1885.]

(1)—Reg. VI of 1819, not applicable to farmer of tolls.—However analogous the position of a farmer of tolls and a farmer of a ferry may be, Reg. VI of 1819 which applies to the former does not extend to the farmer of the tolls. In the matter of the petition of, BUNKOBEHARRY GHOSE, 11 W.R. 26.

(2)—See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 23, 2 A. 411 F.B.

(3)—S. 3—Reg. XVIII of 1806, XIX of 1816—Act VIII of 1859, s. 1—Ferry—Resumption—Compensation.—When a ferry previously held under private management has been declared to be a public ferry by the Government under s. 3, Reg. VI of 1819, an individual claiming compensation for the loss alleged to have been sustained by him in consequence of the extension of the authority of the Government, cannot maintain an action in the Civil Courts to enforce his claim. THE COLLECTOR OF PUBNA v. RAMANATH TAGORE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol 630=7 W.R. 191. [R., 34 C. 470=5 C. L.J. 669=11 C.W.N. 356.]

———Reg. VIII of 1819 (Bengal Patni Taluqs).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. SUPPLEMENTED, AND APPLICATION OF SS. 9, 11, 13, 15 AND 17 EXT., BEN. REG. I OF 1820. S. 9, REP. IN PT. AND SUPPLEMENTED, ACT XXV OF 1850. SUPPLEMENTED, ACT VI OF 1853. SS. 18, 19, REP. ACT X OF 1859. AM., APPLICATION OF S. 13 EXT., S. 16 REP., BEN. ACT VIII OF 1865. APPLICATION OF S. 13 EXT. (IN ASSAM), BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, S. 62, SS. 2, 3 (3) 8 (2), 9, 15 (2) REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. TITLE AND PREAMBLE REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1891. SS. 9, 14 (2) AM., S. 17 (8) REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903. DECLARED IN FORCE IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—Suit to set aside sale—Rights of unregistered proprietor.—An unregistered proprietor of a putni tenure can sue to set aside a sale held under the Regulation. JOYKRISHNA MUKHOPADHYA v. SARFANNISSA, 15 C. 345.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations —continued.

(2)—Puttah as to patni taluqs including jote jamas—Sale for arrears of rent, inapplicability of the regulation as to.—A pattah, by which certain specified Taluqs were granted on patni tenure by the predecessors-in-title of the present plaintiffs to those of the present defendants, included in it certain jote jamas and lakheraj lands as well and one entire annual amount was reserved as the rent due for the patni lands and the jote jamas together. Held that inasmuch as, by the above settlement on lease, which included jote jama and rent-free lands, there was no appropriation of what the rent was in respect of the land covered by the patni tenure and what the rent was that was reserved in respect of the jote jamas, the settlement cannot be properly regarded as a patni tenure within the meaning of the Regulation so as to warrant proceedings of sale for arrears of rent under the same. Also, where, in point of law the Regulation has no application, the mere fact that the parties have stated that it shall apply cannot render the same applicable. HAYES v. RUDRANUND THAKUR, 33 C. 381=3 C.L.J. 373.

(3)—Unregistered tenant—Notice of sale not given—Suit to set aside sale and to recover possession.—Plaintiff sued for a declaration of his right to, and for possession of, a certain tenure which stood in the name of one C; the plaintiff alleged that the right, title and interest of the latter in the tenure were sold in 1863 in execution of a decree held by the talukdar, K, and that her husband had then become the purchaser. The talukdar subsequently brought a suit against C for rent and ejectment and obtained an ex parte decree in execution of which he ousted the plaintiff's husband. The plaintiff brought this suit after the death of her husband. The defendant pleaded that the plaintiff ought to have paid the rent decreed against the recorded tenant and that her failure to pay the same made the plaintiff liable to be ejected. Held that until the plaintiff adopted means to have her name registered in the zamindar's serishta and was so registered as transferee, the defendant was not bound to give notice to the plaintiff to pay the arrears of rent due on the tenure which he had purchased and that the plaintiff's suit should be dismissed. BHOBO TARINEE DOSSEE v. PROSONNO MOYEE DOSSEE, 13 B.L.R. 150, Note.

(4)—Sale of tenure—Purchaser's name not registered—Sale—Notice.—A suit by the purchaser of a tenure which is liable to be sold under Reg. VIII of 1819, who has not registered his name as tenant, for the reversal of the sale on the ground of no notice of sale having been served upon him, is liable to be dismissed, inasmuch as an unregistered tenant is not entitled to notice of sale. DHUNPUT SINGH ROY BAHADOOR v. VILLAYET ALI, 13 B.L.R. 153, Note=15 W.R. 211.

(5)—Rent sale under Bengal Reg. VIII of 1819—Notice of sale—Mode of service—Validity of sale.—The procedure laid down in Reg. VIII of 1819 as to service of notice must be strictly followed to give validity to a sale under it; so that where service upon the defaulter personally was proved, but not service at his kachari, held, the sale must be set aside. MAHOMED ZAMIR v. ABDUL HAKIM, 12 C. 67. (9 C. 619 =10 I.A. 19, 9 C. 931, F.) [F., 27 M. 94= 13 M.L.J. 479; Appl., 19 C. 699; Expl., 19 C 703.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(6)—Attachment for arrears of rent—Wrongful attachment—Liability to account for receipts and disbursements under.—Under Regulation VIII of 1819, a sezawal cannot be deputed and lands attached under its provisions, unless the arrears of rent claimed shall have been actually due for an entire month before the date of attachment. Whenever a person is proved to have exercised the power of attachment alluded to above illegally, he is bound to give a true and full account of all receipts (unauthorised cesses not excepted) and disbursements made by his agents, during his attachment, and only such disbursements as are shown to be necessary and bona fide can be allowed. GOBIND CHUNDER BURMONO v. ALLABUX, 2 Hay 347.

(7)—Putni Regulation (VIII of 1819)—Putni sale—Claim by se-putnidar in the surplus sale-proceeds.—A se-putnidar who is not an assignee of the defaulter-putnidar is not entitled to participate in the surplus proceeds of the sale of the putni for its own arrears held under the Putni Regulation. MOTI LAL GHOSE v. BISSESSUR HAZARA, 3 C.W.N. 60.

(8)—Arrears of rent—Patni sale—Purchaser.—No sales for arrears of rent, not even sales under Reg. VIII of 1819, have ipso facto the effect of cancelling tenures created by defaulting owners; they merely give to a purchaser the power to cancel such tenures if he thinks proper. MADHUSUDHAN KUNDU v. RAMDHAN GANGULI, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 431=12 W.R. 383.

(9)—Scope of Regulation.—Reg VIII of 1819 was intended to apply to leases that might have been avoided by the grantor or his heirs during the time that the rule of 1793, rendering all leases granted for a term exceeding ten years, was in force, but which (so far from having been avoided) had been acted upon by both parties, after the expiration of the ten years, and were treated and considered as in existence at the time of the passing of the Regulation. SHEO PESHAD SINGH v. KALLY DASS SINGH, 5 C. 543=5 C.L.R. 138.

(10)—Proceedings under Reg. VIII of 1819 for recovery of rent and sale of tenure—Illegal exaction of rent—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 2.—Where, a tenant, on his tender of the balance of rent being refused by the Zemindar, had deposited it in the Munsif's Court under s. 46 of Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), the Zemindar got an order for sale of the tenure, upon proceedings under Reg. VIII of 1819, despite the tenant's protest that the rent had been already paid, and the tenant paid the rent claimed again to prevent the sale, a suit for the recovery of the amount by the tenant was one cognizable by the Small Carse Court, under s. 6, Act XI of 1865, and therefore a special appeal was barred by s. 27, Act XXIII of 1861. As the Zamindar had recourse to the provisions of law to bring the tenure to sale, it was not an "illegal exaction of rent" so as to bring the tenant's suit, for the recovery of the sum paid by him, under cl. 2, s. 23 and s. 10 of Act X of 1859. KRISHNA KISHOREE SHAHA v. BISESHUR MOZOOMDAR, 4 C. 595=3 C.L.R. 177. (2 Hay 519, F.)

Regulations—continued.

— 2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(11)—Notice — Irregularity — Sale, setting aside.—In a suit to set aside a sale held under the Putni Regulation, it was found that the notices were stuck up in the Collector's Office Board, outside the Court, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., and were not put up at all on Sundays. Held that this was a sufficient compliance with the terms of the Regulation. SACHI NANDAN DUTTA v. MAHARAJ BEJOY CHAND MAHATAP BAHADUR, 11 C.W.N. 729. (32 C. 953, Expl. & D.)

(12)—Patni tenure—Creation of tenure—Two estates comprised in one tenure—Power given by Kabuliyats to bring tenure to sale under Reg. VIII of 1819, legality of—Suit for declaration that tenure liable to sale under Regulation —Party—Collector not made party to suit—Suit improperly framed—No declaration should be made.—A patni tenure comprised two estates bearing separate towji numbers. By the kabuliyat, express power was given to the landlord, in default of payment of any part of the rent due for any year, to bring the tenure to sale under Reg. VIII of 1819. The landlord made two applications to the Collector to sell the tenure under the Regulation. Both were refused, and on the second occasion, the Collector's action was upheld by the Board of Revenue. The landlord brought a suit for rent and interest and a declaration of his right to have the tenure sold under the Regulation. The Collector was not made a party to the suit. Held, that the Collector ought to have been made a party, and that, the suit not being properly framed, no declaration should be made. MANINDAR CHANDRA NANDI v. ANNODA MOHAN ROY, 15 Ind. Cas. 586.

(13)—Sale set aside—Rent for period between sale and reversal, patnidar, liable for.—When a sale of a patni under Reg. VIII of 1819 is subsequently set aside, the zemindar is entitled to rent from the patnidar for the period intervening between the sale and its reversal. If the patnidar has been dispossessed by the auction-purchaser during this period, he will be entitled to mesne profits from the latter. AMRITA SEKHAR BANERJEE v. BEJOY CHAND MAHTAB, 4 C.L.J. 547.

(14)—This circular declares that certificate of payment of purchase-money of tenure sold

Regulations—continued.

—2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

under Reg. VIII of 1819 is not liable to stamp as conveyance. Rev. Cir. No. 4, 25 W.R. Rev. Cir. 6.

(15)—See ABATEMENT OF RENT, 1 C.L.R. 526.

(16)—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 184, art. 2 (b), sch. III, 23 C. 191.

(17)—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 195 (e), 17 C. 162.

(18)—See BURDEN OF PROOF—RENT, SALE FOR ARREARS OF, 21 W.R. 397.

(19)—See EVIDENCE — MISCELLANEOUS, DOCUMENTS, 8 B.L.R. 504, P.C.=16 W.R. 29, P.C.=14 M.I.A. 259.

(20)—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 C.L.R. 283.

(21)—See LANDLORD AND TENANT — TRANSFER OF TENANT'S INTEREST, 12 W.R. P.C. 43.

(22)—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 11 W.R. P.C. 5=2 B.L.R. P.C. 10=12 M.I.A. 244.

(23)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 29, 62, 30 C. 440=7 C.W.N. 520.

(24)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 139, 4 B.L.R. App. 86=13 W.R. 267, 11 W.R. 102.

(25)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 19 C. 787.

(25-a)—See PATNI TENURE, 6 W.R. 8.

(26) — See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT — AUTHORITY OF AGENTS, 14 W.R. 36.

(27)—See RENT, SUIT FOR, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 10=11 W.R. P.C. 5=12 M.I.A. 244.

(28)—See RES JUDICATA—JUDGMENTS ON PRELIMINARY POINTS, 12 W.R. P.C. 43=3 B.L.R. P.C. 48=13 M.I.A. 160.

(29)—See REVIEW—GROUND FOR REVIEW, 17 W.R. 182.

(30)—See RIGHT OF SUIT—GENERAL, 3 C.L.J. 288.

(31)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—GENERAL, 1 C.L.R. 236.

(32)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—DEFAULTERS, W.R. F.B. 92.

(33)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—DEPOSIT OF MONEY AND STAYING SALE, 13 C. 331, 11 W.R. 357.

(34)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—INCUMBRANCES, 15 W.R. 446.

(35)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—SETTING ASIDE SALE AND ITS EFFECT, 11 W.R. 87=9 B.L.R. 89, Note, 16 W.R. 128, W.R. 1864, 4, 24 W.R. 129, 24 W.R. 63, 20 W.R. 132.

(36)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—SURPLUS PROCEEDS OF SALE, RIGHT TO, 20 C. 241.

(37)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE AND CESS—GENERAL, 6 B.L.R. App. 5=14 W.R. 283.

Regulations —continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations —continued.

(38) — See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—BREACH OF WARRANTY, 18 W.R. 276.

(39 & 40)—S. 3, cl. 3—Act VIII of 1885 (Bengal), s. 3—Rent, meaning of lease, construction of.—Where by a putni lease, the annual jama (rent) was fixed at Rs. 6,000 and, besides the said rent, the putnidar (lessee) undertook to deposit into the Collectorate the Government Revenue of Rs. 40,156-4-9½ fixed for the share of estate granted in putni and payable by the lessor, kist by kist, failing which, the putni lease was to be cancelled and would become null and void and the landlord was to take khas possession. Held, that the payment by the putnidar of the Government Revenue, though no doubt was a part of the consideration to be tendered by the lessee for the enjoyment of the tenure, it was not money payable to the landlord and as such was not rent within the meaning of s. 3 of the Bengal Tenancy Act and could not be recovered as rent under the special provisions of the Putni Regulation. MAHARAJA BAHADUR SIR JOTINDRA MOHAN TAGORE v BIBI JARAO KUMARI, 3 C.L.J. 7=10 C.W.N 201=1 M.L.T. 8=33 C. 140, P. C=33 I.A. 30.

(41)—Ss. 3, 6—Compensation money—Apportionment—Putnidar, transferee of, and zemindar—Non-registration of transferee's name in Zemindar's sherista—Transferee, status of.—The omission by a transferee from a putnidar to pay a fee and security to the Zemindar does not affect in any way his title. His rights are perfected upon the transfer by the putnidar and are not in any way contingent for their validity upon the payment of the fee and the security. The only effect of the failure of the transferee to secure registration of his name is that the landlord is not bound to recognize his purchase and may sell up his tenure in execution of a decree for arrears of rent obtained against the registered tenant. The status of a putnidar or durputnidar does not depend upon registration or consent of the zemindar. The compensation money in the hands of the Collector represents the value of the land acquired by the State. That sum has to be distributed amongst the holders of interest of different degrees in the land acquired Each claimant can prove the value of his interest, in other words, the measure of the loss sustained by him by the acquisition, and when he does this, he becomes entitled to a proportionate share of the compensation money. If the zemindar allow an abatement of rent to the putnidar, the rent abated primarily represents their annul loss, and they may reasonably claim, out of the compensationmoney, the capitalised value of that rent. But if they do not allow any abatement of rent, if they recover from the putnidar the whole of the original rent although the latter has lost the income derivable from the acquired portion of the land, they do not suffer any immediate loss by reason of the acquisition. GANPAT SINGH v. MOTI CHAND, 16 C L J. 301=17 Ind. Cas. 171. (12 C. 622, 15 C. 345, R.)

(42)—Ss. 3, 11—See SALE — SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—INCUMBRANCES, 21 C. 720, N.

(43 & 44)—S. 5—See ABWABS, 9 Ind. Cas. 47.

(45)—Ss. 5 and 6—Transferee of a putni—Deposit by unregistered transferee.—The zemindar is not bound to accept payment of rent from an unregistered transferee of a putni, nor is he bound to recognise any deposit of rent made by such a transferee in his own name. A payment by the transferee, to prevent an impending sale, for which the zemindar had applied in spite of the tender and deposit of rent, cannot, therefore, be recovered back by suit. SAIBESH CHANDRA SARKAR v. KUMAR BONOWARI MUKUNDA DEB, 10 C.L.J. 453=4 Ind. Cas. 371. (14 W.R. 489, 17 C. 162, 20 W.R. 380, P.C., Relied upon; 24 W.R. 63, D.)

(46)—Ss. 5 & 7 — See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF PURCHASERS, 20 C. 247.

(47)—S. 6—Putni, share of, without the consent of the Zemindar, effect of—Co-sharer landlords collecting share of rent separately, if constitutes separate tenancy—Sale in execution of decree for share of rent, effect of.—A purchaser of a share of a putni acquires a valid title in the property although his purchase was not recognised by the Zemindar. He is not exempted from liability for rent jointly with the transferor if the landlord chooses to recognise him as one of the joint-holders of the putni. S 6 of the Putni Regulation only prevents any splitting of the tenure and apportionment of the rent without the sanction of the landlord. (26 C. 103, F.; 11 W.R. 294, D.) One of the co-sharers in the Zemindari who had a 5 annas interest brought a suit for his share of the rent against the registered putnidar and obtained a decree, in execution of which, he sold a 5 annas interest in the putni. Held, that the effect of the sale was precisely the same as that of a sale under a money-decree; that is, the right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor at the time of the attachment passed. (20 W. R. 275, D.) No separate tenancy is constituted under a co-sharer landlord merely by his collecting his share of the rent separately from the tenant. AOSUB ALI PRAMANIK v. BISSESHURI, 8 C.L.J. 554.

(48)—S. 6—Appeal—Second appeal found unsustainable—Extraordinary jurisdiction of High Court.—No appeal lies from an order of the Civil Court under s. 6 of Bengal Reg. VIII of 1819. A party appealing to the High Court, when the law gives him no right of appeal, cannot, at the hearing, ask the Court to treat the appeal as an application for the exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction. In re SOORJA KANT ACHARJ CHOWDRY, 1 C. 383.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(49)—S. 6—See APPEAL—ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 25 W.R. 222.

(50)—S. 6—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TENANTS' LIABILITY FOR RENT, 26 C. 103 =3 C.W.N. 38.

(51)—S. 6—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TRANSFER OF LANDLORD'S INTEREST, 25 C. 445=2 C.W.N. 108.

(52)—S. 6—See NOS. 41, 45, supra.

(53)—S. 7—See No. 46, supra.

(54)—Ss. 7, 15—Arrears of rent — Patni Talook—Amaldastak.— If, by reason of the patnidar's not giving security, the Zamindar withholds his amaldastak and also abstains from availing himself of the power which the law gives him of collecting the rents himself, it would be inequitable to allow him to recover from the patnidar the rent which the withholding of the amaldastak has prevented his collecting. SREEMUTTY BIDHOOMOOKHI DEBI v. RAJA NILMONY SINGH DEO, 1 C. L R. 464.

(55)—S. 8—Construction of.—The provision in s. 8 of Reg. VIII of 1819 requiring the notice of sale to be punished before the 15th Bysack applies to the notice to be published in the mofussil and not to the notice to be affixed at the Collectorate. The words "the same shall then be stuck up in some conspicuous part of the Cutchery" in s. 8 only mean that the petition should be stuck up in a conspicuous part of the Cutchery within a reasonable time before the sale. SHEIK NIAMAT ULLAH v. A.H. FORBES, 2 C.W.N. 459.

(56)—S. 8—Suit for rent — Publication of sale notice.—If there is a cutcheri upon the land of the defaulting putnidar (i.e., the land of the taluk in question), the notice, under s. 8 of Reg. VIII of 1819, must be published at that cutcheri ; if there is no such cutcheri, the notice must be published at the principal town or village within the taluk. THE MAHARAJAH OF BURDWAN v. KRISTO KAMINI DASI, 9 C. 931=13 C L.R. 427, F.B. [F., 12 C. 67.]

(57)—S. 8—Sale of patni talook—Service of notice—Sufficient service—Defaulting co-sharer.—A and B were co sharers of a patni which was sold for arrears of rent by the Zamindar and purchased by C. In a suit by A against B and C and the Zamindar, the plaintiff alleged that no sufficient notice had been given. Held, on the question of notice, that once it was found that the notice had been posted up in the cutcherry of the defaulter in accordance with cl. 2, s. 8, Reg. VIII of 1819, it was not essential to the validity of the sale that any other notice should have been given to the defaulters themselves, or that the service should have been verified in the manner directed by the section. JOTENDRO MOHUN TAGORE v. DEBENDRO MONEE, 2 C.L.R. 419. (9 W.R. 242, 16 W.R. 80, Cited & F.)

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(58)—S. 8—Sale of putni taluk for arrears of rent—Publication of notice.—All the formalities required by Reg. VIII of 1819 must be strictly complied with, before a summary sale by auction of a putni taluk for a non-payment of rent should be proceeded with. The zemindar, who institutes the proceeding, is exclusively responsible for its regularity. The due service or publication of the notice should not be left a matter of controversy but the evidence should be secured immediately and exist in writing, and be referred to by the proper officer as part of the foundation of the sale. MAHARAJAH OF BURDWAN v. TARASUNDARI DEBI, 9 C. 619=10 I.A 19=13 C.L R. 34 P C.=4 Sar 414. [F., 9 C. 931, F.B. on appeal, 14 C. 365 P.C., 12 C. 67, 27 M. 94=13 M.L.J. 479; Appl., 19 C. 699 ; Rel. on. 19 C. 703; Expl., 14 C. 365, P.C.=14 I.A. 30; R., 18 C. 363, F.B., 2 C.W.N. 459, 27 C. 308.]

(59)—S. 8—Arrears of rent—Sale of putni tenure—Defect in notice required by Reg. VIII of 1819, s. 8—Notices of mid-year sales and of sales for a year's rent in default, under cls. 3 and 2 respectively, difference in.—A zamindar having an interest in a putni taluq has under the provisions of Reg. VIII of 1819, a power of sale in the case of default in payment of the rent ; but that power of sale, which is given as a very summary remedy, and which may be exercised immediately on arrears arising, is given under important conditions, the fulfilment of which is of the utmost consequence not only to the person having a right to the taluq but to all those who have rights under him ; not only to the putnidars, but to the sub-lessees, mortgagees, and other incumbrancers whose rights may be affected or extinguished by the sale taking place. Such a power of sale is only exercisable subject to a condition as to notice to the defaulter. To bring into operation the provisions of cl. 3, s. 8, relating to a mid-year sale, the serving a notice, according to that section, intimating to the putnidar that payment of ¾ of the balance due will prevent a sale, is a condition precedent to any sale taking place under this clause. Where a notice relating to a mid-year sale followed cl. 2 instead of cl. 3, s. 8, and intimated that payment of the whole arrear would be the only way to stay the sale, held, that the notice was essentially defective. AHSANULLA KHAN BAHADUR v. HARI CHARAN MAZUMDAR, 20 C. 86, P.C.=19 I.A. 191=6 Sar. 252. [F., 20 C. 746.]

(60)—S. 8—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—SETTING ASIDE SALE AND ITS EFFECT, 2 Hay 398.

(61)—S. 8—See WITNESS—WEIGHT TO BE ATTACHED TO EVIDENCE, W.R. 1864, 381.

(62)—S. 8, cl. 2—Statutory sale of under-tenure—"Substantial" construction of word—Special leave to appeal to Privy Council—Practice.—The statutory sale of an under-tenure under Reg. VIII of 1819 cannot be set aside, because one of the witnesses to the notice (which was in fact served) turns out not to be substantial. The High Court's construction of the word 'substantial' in s. 8 of the above Regulation, as meaning a wealthy man from whom damages could be recovered by the putnidar in the event of the attestation being false, was held by the Privy Council to be too limited a view; wealth being only one element in the position and status of the witness. If he lived in the neighbourhood, and was a respectable man and of good character, their Lordships saw no reason why the Judge might not properly come to the conclusion that he was a substantial person. [R., 25 W.R. 141, 18 C. 363; D., 14 C 365 = 14 I.A. 30, P.C.] Where special leave to appeal to the Privy Council is granted on a petition wherein material mis-statements are made, objections should be taken by the respondent by a preliminary motion to rescind the leave to appeal, or at any rate before the hearing of the appeal, when called on, has been entered on. Where it was not clear that material mis-statement in the petition had been made with an intention to deceive, and the objection to the appeal was only taken at a late stage of the hearing, the Judicial Committee declined to dismiss the appeal, but refused the appellant the costs of the appeal. RAM SABUK BOSE v. KAMINEE KOOMAREE DOSSEE, 14 B.L.R. 394, P.C. = 23 W.R. 113 = 2 I.A. 71 = 3 Sar. 432. [F., 4 A. 500 = 9 I.A. 70, P.C.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(63)—S. 8, cl. 2—Suit for rent—Notice of sale.—It is not enough if the notice of sale under Reg. VIII of 1819 is served upon the zemindar or his agent; the object of the Regulation being to make known also to the holders of the under-tenures and ryots and the residents of the place that the patni will be sold if the arrears are not paid off within the time specified, the notice must be stuck up in the zemindar's cutcherry as prescribed in cl. 2, s. 8 of the Regulation. If the notice of sale is not so published, there will be such a material irregularity as to avoid the sale. GOBIND LALL SEAL v. CHAUDHURRY MAITY, 9 C. 172.

(64)—S. 8, cl. 2—Service of notice of sale, proof of.—Due service of notice in the manner prescribed by Reg. VIII of 1819, s. 8, cl. 2, is essential to the validity of the sale; so long as that service is effected, the provisions as to the verification of the service are merely directory and the non-observance of those provisions would not vitiate the sale. BHUGWAN CHUNDER DASS v. SUDDER ALLY, 4 C. 41 = 2 C.L.R. 357. (9 B.L.R. 91 = 14 W.R. 489, 9 W.R. 242, 14 B L.R. 393 = 23 W.R. 113, R.; 25 W.R 14, D.)

(65)—S. 8, para 2—Notice of sale of tenure under Reg. VIII of 1819—Mode of publication—Local publication of notices—Object—"Mofussil," construction of.—If there is katchari on the land of the defaulting putnidar (i.e. the land which the zemindar is seeking to sell for default of rent), the notice must be published there; and if there is no such katchari, it must be published at the principal town or village on the land in question. The notice must be published in the manner prescribed in s. 8, para. 2; service on the defaulting putnidar personally alone is insufficient. [R., 17 C. 474, 19 C. 703, 27 C. 308.] The object of directing local publication of notices is to warn the under-lessees of the contemplated sale proceedings and also to advertise the sale to those who might bid; and this object would be frustrated if it were deemed sufficient to publish the notices at a distant katchari or to serve them personally on the putnidar. The word "mofussil" in "the notice required to be sent into the mofussil" in para. 2, s. 8 of the Regulation, is opposed to the sadar katchari of the zemindar, and refers to the subordinate estate, the subject of the sale proceedings. The failure by a zemindar to publish the notice of sale either at the katchari or any other place upon the land of the defaulting putnidar was held in the case to constitute a non-observance of "a substantial part of the prescribed process," and to afford "a sufficient plea" for the defaulting putnidar within the meaning of the Regulation. THE MAHARANI OF BURDWAN v KRISHNA KAMINI DASI, 14 C. 365, P.C. = 14 I.A. 30 = 4 Sar. 772.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(66)—S. 8, cl, 2 — See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—SETTING ASIDE SALE AND ITS EFFECT, 19 C 699, 2 W.R. 188, 9 W.R. 242.

(67)—S. 8. cl. 2—See STATUTE, CONSTRUCTION OF, 2 W.R. 188.

(68)—S. 8, cls. 2, 3—Arrears of a half-year's rent—Sale—Non-compliance with substantial requirement of regulation justifying reversal of sale, when?—Non compliance, when not a ground of setting aside the sale—"Certificate to which effect," meaning of—Service sworn to before Munsif — Certificate of Munsif.—If a zemindar chooses to bring into operation the provisions of cl. 3, s. 8, Regulation VIII of 1819, and to get a half-year's rent by means of the regulation, he must strictly comply with the condition laid down in that section. All the requirements in cl. 2 of s. 8, must be imported into cl. 3 of that section mutatis mutandis; therefore, the service of notice is a condition precedent to the sale being held and the notice so served must be a good notice, that is to say, it must be a notice, which shall put all parties concerned in saving the tenure from sale in possession of the knowledge of what really they will have to do if they desire to save the tenure and would-be purchasers in possession of information as to the amount they will have to spend if they wish to purchase the property. A substantial compliance with the substantial portions of the Regulation is a condition precedent to the right of the zemindar to bring the tenure to sale under the provisions of the Regulation, and a non-compliance with any one of the substantial requirements "is, in the words of s. 14, a sufficient plea" to set aside the sale. [Affirmed, 20 C. 86, P. C.] In mid-year sales for six months, arrears, the Legislature does not deal so harshly with the defaulter as it does in respect of a year's arrears of rent. In mid-year sales for six months' arrears, if a notice, instead of showing that the sale may be prevented by payment of the whole of the balance du , or of 75 % of such balance, states that the sale will take place unless the whole of the balance is paid, as in a proceeding under cl. 2 for the whole year's arrears, it is a non-compliance with a substantial requirement of the Regulation, such as to justify the reversal of the sale. [Affirmed, 20 C. 86, P.C.] The provisions of cl. 3 of s. 8 are not so stringent as those of cl. 2 of the same. Non-publication, therefore, of the petition to the Collector containing a specification of the balance of rent due, as required by cl. 3 is not a ground for setting aside the sale; similarly non-presentation of the petition on the precise day, the 1st Kartick, specified in cl. 3, s. 8, is no ground for setting aside the sale, the presentation of the petition on the 2nd Kartick, when the 1st was a Sunday, being a sufficient compliance with the section. [R., 2 C.W.N. 459; Affirmed, 20 C. 86, P.C.] The words "certificate to which effect" in cl. 2, s. 8, mean a certificate to the effect that the peon did come before the Munsif or Police officer, as the case may be, and did make a voluntary oath as to the service of the notice. Where, after serving notice, the peon went before the Munsif with an affidavit which had been prepared and sworn to, the jurat of the Munsif would have been as much a certificate as if the peon had made a deposition on oath and the Munsif had recorded the fact of his so having made the deposition on oath. AHASANULLA KHAN BAHADOOR v. HURRI CHURN MOZOOMDAR, 17 C. 474. [Affirmed, 20 C. 86, P.C.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(68-a) - S. 8 cl. 3—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF PURCHASER, 15 W R. 180.

(69)—Ss. 8 and 10—Publication of notice of sale—Form of notice—Order as to lots to be sold.—This was a suit to set aside a sale for arrears of rent held under Bengal Regulation VIII of 1819. Plaintiff alleged that the sale could not stand by reason of various irregularities in contravention of the rules especially as to the publication of the Zemindar's petition to the Collector and of the notice to the tenants under the 2nd clause of s. 8 of the Regulation. Held, the provisions of the Regulation have been seriously disregarded and the irregularities in the case are sufficient to vitiate the sale. The original petition and the original notice ought to have been stuck up and not certified copies of them. The notice must have specified, in order, the lots to be sold and should have throughout remained stuck up until taken down at the time of the sale. BEJOY CHAND MAHATAP v. ATULYA CHARAN BOSE, 32 C. 953=3 C.L.J. 46. [Expl. & D., 11 C.W.N. 729.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(70)—Ss. 8, 10, 14—Patni sale only voidable, not void—Suit to set aside sale—Mortgagee of defaulting patnidar, if entitled to bring such suit—Notice in ss. 8 and 10, what to contain—One lot comprising several tenures—Notices specifying only one, bad—Sale irregular—Patni Regulations, provisions to be strictly complied with.—A patni sale is not void, but only voidable, by reason of any irregularities in the transaction, and it can only be avoided by a suit under the provisions of s. 14 (1) of the Patni Regulation. (20 C. 746, 10 Ind. Cas. 90, 13 C.L.J. 404, 16 C.W.N. 805, R.) A mortgagee of the defaulting patnidar is entitled to bring such a suit. The notice mentioned in ss. 8 and 10 of the Regulation must contain the various lots to be sold with the amounts claimed in respect of them. Where a lot comprised three tenures and the notice specified only one: Held, that the notice was bad and the sale irregular and liable to be set aside. The provisions of the Patni Regulation, which allow of sales in a summary manner, must be strictly complied with. HARIHARNATH DAS v. RAJANI KANTA LAIK, 15 Ind. Cas. 537.

(71)—Ss. 8, 11—Reg. I of 1820—Act X of 1859, s. 105—Patnee—Durputnee—Transfer — Sale of putnee taluk for arrears of rent—Effect on durputnee—A Zemindar had created a patnee tenure in respect of a taluk in his Zemindari. The putneedar had, in his turn, granted a durputnee. In execution of a decree obtained by the zemindar against his putneedar for arrears of rent due to him, he brought the putnee taluk to sale and purchased it himself. The Zemindar was, later on, put in possession of the property purchased by him. The durputneedar now sued to recover possession of the taluk by avoiding the sale. The question for decision was whether the purchaser of the putnee taluk could disturb the possession of the durputneedar. Held that, under the description putnee taluk and durputnee taluk, it must be prima facie intended that the tenure called a putnee tenure was one transferable by sale, and upon the creation of which, it was stipulated by the terms of the engagements interchanged that, in case of an arrear occurring, the estate might be brought to sale. If so, according to the terms of Reg. VIII of 1819, the tenure might not only be brought to sale, but it might be sold free from incumbrances. Consequently, according to the effect of s. 105 of Act X of 1859 and ss. 8 and 11 of Reg. VIII of 1819, and probably also of Reg. I of 1820, the effect of the sale of the putnee taluk was to destroy all incumbrances which had been created by the putneedar including the durputnee. The suit was therefore not maintainable. BRINDABUN CHUNDER SIRCAR CHOWDHRY v. BRINDABUN CHUNDER DEY CHOWDHRY, 13 B.L.R. 408=21 W.R. 324=1 I.A. 178, P.C.=3 Sar. 365.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(72)—Ss. 8, 14—Publication of notice—Onus—Putni sale set aside—Auction purchaser, right of.—The burden of proving that the publication of the sale notice, if the same be in controversy, is duly made in compliance with Reg. VIII of 1819, is on the landlord. (9 C. 619, P.C., 14 C. 365, P.C., R.; 9 W.R. 242, Expl.) On the setting aside of a putni sale, the auction-purchaser, under s. 14, Reg. VIII of 1819, is clarly entitled to get back his purchase-money together with interest on it. BEJOYCHAND MAHATAB v. AMRITA LAL MUKERJEE, 27 C. 308.

(73)—Ss. 8 (2) & 14—Omission to serve notice—Prejudice.—Omission of service of notice in strict compliance with s. 8 (2), on the spot or at the cutchery not 'sufficient plea,' under s. 14, in the absence of proof that under-tenants were prejudiced by the sale. GOUREE LALL SINGH v. JOODHISHTEER HAJRAH, 1 C. 359 = 25 W.R. 141. [D., 4 C. 41; Diss., 2 C. 311; R., 13 C.L.R. 429, 14 C.365 = 14 I.A. 30; Compare, 32 C. 953.]

(74)—S. 8, cl. 2 & s. 14—Publication of notice.—Non-publication of the notice of sale previous to the day of sale or receipt of notice on the date of sale not a 'sufficient plea,' within the meaning of s. 14, to set aside a sale. MATEENGEE CHURN MITTER v. MOORRARY MOHUN GHOSE, 1 C. 175 = 24 W.R. 453. [R., 1 C. 359; Diss., 18 C. 363, F.B.] See, also, BAIKANTHA NATH SINGH v. MAHARAJAH DHIRAJ MAHATAB CHAND BAHADUR, 9 B.L.R. 87 = 17 W.R. 447; RAM SABUK BOSE v. KAMINEE KOOMAREE DOSSEE, 14 B.L.R. 394, P.C. = 23 W.R. 113 = 2 I.A. 71.

(75)—Ss. 8, cl. (2) & 14—Putni tenure being sold for arrears of rent—Compliance with rules for publication of notice essential to validity of sale—Notice of sale not stuck up within the meaning of s. 8, cl. 2—"Sufficient plea" within the meaning of s. 14 to have sale set aside.—Compliance with the rules for publication of notice in a conspicuous part of the Collector's Cutcheri, in accordance with s. 8, cl. (2) of Reg. VIII of 1819, is an essential preliminary to the validity of the sale. Where, upon evidence, it was established that the notice of sale was not stuck up at all within the meaning of s. 8, cl. 2 of Reg. VIII of 1819: held that it was a "sufficient plea" for the defaulting putnidars, within the meaning of s. 14, for having the sale set aside. RAJ NARAIN MITRA v. ANANT LALL MUNDUL, 19 C. 703.

(76)—Cl. 3, s. 8 and s. 14—Publication of notice.—The words "cause similar publication to be made" in cl. 3 of s. 8 of Reg. VIII of 1819, refers to a publication similar to that, which is prescribed by the preceding cl. 2; the requirements in that clause, so far as the publication of the notice of sale and the period at which it is to be published, must be imported into cl. 3 mutatis mutandis. Reg. VIII of 1819 is a very important regulation and ought, as a rule, to be strictly observed. Non-compliance with the direction in s. 8, cl. 3, of the Regulation to publish the notice referred to therein before the 15th Kartick is a "sufficient plea within the meaning of s. 14 of the Regulation, for setting aside the sale. SURNOMOYI DEBYA v. GRISH CHUNDER MOITRA, 18 C. 363, F.B. (1 C. 175, Diss.)

(77)—S. 9—Suit to recover the deficiency for which defaulting purchaser is answerable, if maintainable in Civil Court.—A suit to recover the deficiency for which defaulting purchaser is made answerable under s. 9 of Reg. VIII of 1819 is maintainable in a Civil Court. RAGHU RAM HAZRA v. MOHESH CHANDRA BANDOPADHYA, 7 C.W.N. 111.

(78)—S. 9—Agreement of putnidar with stranger for purchase by latter and reconveyance to former—Legality—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 23.—A contract entered into by a putnidar with a stranger, stipulating that the latter would purchase the putni which had been advertised for sale under Reg. VIII of 1819, and reconvey it to the putnidar receiving the amount of the purchase-money with interest and a further sum in addition from him, is invalid under the provisions of s. 23 of the Contract Act, as being in contravention of the provisions of s. 9 of the Putni Regulation. MOHAN LAL BABU v. UDAI NARAIN BHADURI, 14 C.W.N. 1031.

(79 & 80)—S. 9—Purchase by one of the defaulters, effect of—Contribution, Suit for—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, arts. 61 and 99.—When, at a sale under Reg. VIII of 1819, a putni is purchased by one of the defaulters, there is nothing in the Regulation to make the sale absolutely void, though it is voidable. Payment of any rent for the putni by the purchaser, until the sale is set aside, is made on his own account. For a suit for contribution for such payment, against the former co-owners of the putni, the cause of action does not arise and limitation does not begin to run until the sale is set aside. MATANGINI DEBYA v. PRASONNAMOYEE DEBYA, 3 C.L.J. 93.

(81)—Ss. 9, 13, cl. (3) (4)—Payment of patni rent by darpatnidar—No darpatni rent due at the time—Payment from private fund—Possession taken by darpatnidar—Suit for arrears of darpatni rent—Set off, whether can be claimed by darpatnidar without rendering account—Eviction by landlord—Suspension of rent—What is necessary to constitute eviction—Actual physical expulsion, if necessary—Mesne profits, decree for, obtained by evicted tenant, whether revives claims for rent—Defaulting patnidar purchasing tenure—Evicting darpatnidar—Annulment of darpatni.—The plaintiffs were the patnidars and the defendants dar-patnidars under them. The defendants, to preserve their own interest, made certain payments to save the patni from sale for arrears of rent under Regulation VIII of 1819, s. 13. While making the payments, the defendants stated that the rent due from them had been paid in full and that what was paid was an advance from private funds. They then obtained possession of the patni taluk. The plaintiffs brought a suit for rent in respect of the dar-patni. The defendants did not offer to render an account of the sums collected by them during their possession of the tenure, but asked that the amount sought to be recovered by the plaintiffs may be set off against the amount deposited by them: Held, that the defendant's plea must be overruled, that they could not drive the plaintiffs to a separate suit to determine whether they had or had not by means of their possession already realized the amount advanced by them, and that the defendants were not entitled to claim a set-off. The principle of law is that a landlord who has evicted his tenant is not entitled to claim rent from him in respect of the period of eviction. (6 Ind. Cas 478, 11 C.L J. 591, 5 Ind. Cas. 105, 11 C.L.J. 601, Rel. upon.) To constitute an eviction within the meaning of the above rule, it is not necessary that there should be an actual physical expulsion from any part of the premises; any act of a permanent character done by the landlord, with the intention of depriving the tenant of the benefit of the enjoyment of the demised premises or any part thereof, will operate as an eviction. (17 C.B. 30, 25 L J.C.P.44, 1 Jur. N.S 1099, 4 W.R. 56, 14 W. R. 58, F.) The fact that the evicted tenant has obtained a decree for mesne profits does not revive the claim for rent which was extinguished by reason of the misconduct of the landlord; the decree for mesne profits in his favour does not necessarily restore him to all the advantages he would have enjoyed, had his possession not been illegally disturbed. (13 W.R. 338, 6 Ind. Cas. 478, 11 C. L.J. 591, Rel. upon; 14 W.R. 43, R.) A defaulting patnidar purchased in the name of another person the patni in arrears, in contravention of the express provisions of s. 9 of the Patni Regulation, and took possession of the dar-patni tenure in the name of the ostensible purchaser: Held, that the patnidar was not entitled to annul the darpatni tenure created by himself, and as he, under colour of law, evicted the darpatnidar, he was not entitled to get any rent from the latter for the period of dispossession. KALANAND SINGH v. JARAO KUMARI, 17 Ind. Cas. 238.

Regulations —continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(82)—Ss. 9, 14—Ejectment—Putni sale—Sale, when confirmed—Sale, when no balance due, if valid—Sale, when notice not served, if void — Sale, validity, if can be collaterally impeached— Costs.—A sale under the Patni Regulation does not require to be confirmed. Such a sale becomes final and conclusive when the whole of the purchase money has been paid under s. 9 of the Regulation, and a suit to set aside a sale of putni taluk sold for current arrears of rent is to be instituted within one year from the date of such payment. (13 C.L. J. 339, R.) S. 14 of the Putni Regulation contemplates a suit for reversal of the sale on the ground that no balance was due. When a putni sale is impeached on the ground that the notices required by the Regulation have not been duly served, the sale is voidable and capable of reversal in a suit properly constituted and commenced under s. 14 of the Putni Regulation. The validity of a putni sale may not be attacked collaterally in a suit for ejectment brought by the purchaser or his representative in interest. A judgment rendered by a Court having jurisdiction over the parties and the subject-matter, unless reversed or annulled in some appropriate proceeding, is not open to contradiction or impeachment in respect of its validity, verity, or binding effect, by parties or privies in any collateral action or proceeding. The position is different when a judgment shows on its face that it is void for want of jurisdiction either of the person or the subject-matter; such a judgment is treated as a nullity, collaterally impeachable by any person interested, wherever it is brought in question. But the doctrine has no application to a case where the validity of the sale is intended by the Legislature to be determined in a suit, properly constituted and brought in a Court of competent jurisdiction, within the time allowed by law, and against parties sought to be affected by the result. In deciding a question of costs, the Court is entitled to consider not merely the conduct of the parties in the actual litigation, but also the matters which led up to the litigation. RAMSONA CHOWDHURANI v. SONAMALA CHOWDHURANI, 13 C.L.J. 404=10 Ind. Cas. 90=16 C.W.N. 805.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations —continued.

(83)—S. 10—See NOS. 69 and 70, supra.

(84)—S. 11—Res judicata—Decision in rent suit by defaulting patnidar—Subsequent rent suit by purchaser of patni under Patni Regulation—Whether former decision res judicata in later suit—Action in ejectment by purchaser at patni sale—Limitation—Incumbrance—Adverse possession, when incumbrance.—Although the position of a purchaser at a patni sale may not be precisely that of a purchaser at a revenue sale, (7 Ind. Cas. 849=13 C.L.J. 293=15 C. W.N. 706, R.) yet he is not privy in estate to the defaulting proprietor and does not derive his title from him, as, under s. 11 of the Patni Regulation, he acquires property free of all encumbrances that might have been created upon it by the act of the defaulter, his representatives or assignees. (5 B.L.R. App. 5= 14 W.R. 283, 12 C. 82(90), Relied on.) Therefore, a suit for rent by the purchaser cannot be barred as res judicata, because a previous suit for rent by the defaulter failed on the ground that the relationship of landlord and tenant between the then plaintiff and the defendant was not established. If an action in ejectment is brought by the purchaser, limitation will run against him only from the date when his purchase became final. (25 C. 167, F.) The interest of a person in adverse possession is an incumbrance only when the adverse possession had continued for the statutory period.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(11 Ind. Cas. 453=14 C.L.J. 136, Relied upon.) Therefore, where the defaulting patnidar was not dispossessed for ten years before the patni sale, the trespasser's title by adverse possession had not been prefected, and consequently there was no incumbrance to be annulled by the purchaser. SATISH CHANDBA SINHA v. MUNJANALI DEBI, 15 Ind. Cas. 869=17 C. W.N. 340.

(85)—S. 11—Cancellation of under-tenures—Sale for arrears.—Lands appertaining to a certain talook were sold for arrears of rent under Reg. VIII of 1819. The plaintiff was holding the same from the owner under a kaimi jumma tenure. Held that under s. 11 of that Regulation, the plaintiff's tenure was cancelled. MOHINI CHUNDER MOZUMDAR v. JOTIRMOY GHOSE, 4 C.L.R. 422. (4 C.L.R. 6, 10 M.I.A. 123, R.)

(86)—S. 11—Arrears of rent—Sale of sub-tenures—Encumbrances—Regs. VII of 1799, VIII of 1819, I of 1820 and VIII of 1831—Act X of 1859, s. 105.—Ben. Reg. VIII, s. 11 of 1819, it is true, gives express power to sell the tenure, free from all incumbrances that may have accrued upon it by the act of the defaulting proprietor, his representatives or assignees; but the power so given is confined to the case of tenures where the right of selling or bringing to sale for an arrear of rent has been specially reserved by stipulation in the engagements interchanged on the creation of the tenure. A mortgagee had foreclosed under Ben. Reg. XVII of 1806, and a decree was made in 1854 for possession of the mortgaged taluk. In 1855, a summary suit was brought by the zemindar against the heirs of the talukdar (the mortgagor) for arrears of rent, to which the mortgagee was not made a party. A decree for sale was made ex parte, and the taluk sold by auction, under Act VI of 1858. The mortgagee then brought a suit to recover possession of the taluk, and to set aside the sale by the zemindar for arrears of rent. Held reversing, the decision of the High Court, that, as it was an istimrari taluk the zemindar had no power, by the Bengal Regulations, or Act X of 1859, s. 105, to sell the tenure, and the sale declared invalid. FORBES v. BABOO LUTCHMEPUT SINGH, 10 B.L.R. 139, P.C.=17 W.R. 197=14 M.I.A. 330=2 Suther. 654=3 Sar. 27. (W.R. F.B., 260, Appr.) [R., 21 W.R. 94.]

(87)—S. 11—Effect of Regulation--Putnidar.—Effect of Ben. Reg. VIII of 1819, s. 11, in respect of Putnee tenures. Held, that a sale or transfer of Putnee tenure by a Putneedar is not binding, unless made in strict conformity with the provisions of that Regulation. Regulation VIII of 1819 regarding the relative rights of zemindars and patni talukdars considered. Where a share in a putnee taluk is transferred by a registered putnidar without the express consent of the zemindar and in disregard of the Regulation cited, the transfer is not binding on the zemindar. WATSON v. THE COLLECTOR OF JILLA

Regulations—cotninued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

RAJSHAHYE, 3 B.L.R. P.C. 48=13 M.I.A. 160=12 W.R. P.C 43=2 Suther. 269=2 Sar. 500. [R., 8 C.L. J. 554; L., 17 C. 398.]

(88)—S. 11—See RENT, 13 B.L.R. 198=21 W. R. 326.

(89)—S. 11—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—INCUMBRANCES, 21 C. 702.

(90)—S. 11, cl. 1—See PATNI TENURE, 15 W.R. 445.

(91)—S. 11, cl. 2—See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—ACQUISITION OF RIGHT, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 63.

(92)—S. 11, cl. 3—Incumbrance—Cancellation of.—A purchaser of a putni taluk at a sale held under Reg. VIII of 1819 is entitled to cancel the tenancy of those who are not khudkasht raiyats (i.e. resident and hereditary cultivators of the lands in dispute) and who do not come within the proviso to cl. 3, s. 11 of the Putni Regulation, and to eject them. It is immaterial whether they are occupancy or non-occupancy raiyats. JOGESHWAR MAZUMDAR v. ABED MAHOMED SIRKAR, 3 C.W.N. 13.

(93)—S. 11, cl. (3)—Incumbrance, annulment of — Raiyati rights — Khudkasht raiyat.—A raiyat is not protected from ejectment under s. 11, cl. (3) of the Putni Regulation by a purchaser at a sale under the Regulation, unless he is a khudkasht or a resident cultivator. ISHAN CHANDRA NANDI v. GOUR MOHAN PODDAR, 15 Ind. Cas. 468. (3 C.W.N. 13, F.)

(94)—S. 11—See NOS. 42, 71, supra.

(95)—Ss. 12, cl. 4, 18—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 12, 5 W.R. 100.

(96)—S. 13—"Profits," meaning of--Mortgagee of tenure in possession under s. 13—Liability for rent.—The word "profits" in the 4th clause of s. 13 of Reg. VIII of 1819 means that which remains to the putnidar after the payment of the rent of the putni. Where the subject of a mortgage is leasehold property, and the mortgagee is put in possession, under circumstances which amount to an assignment of the leasehold interest, the mortgagee becomes liable as a rule to pay the rent. (10 C. 443). So that, a mortgagee, who enters into possession of a tenure under s 13 of Reg. VIII of 1819, must pay the rent to the landlord, before applying the collections to the liquidation of his own debt; and consequently the tenure-holder will not be liable, in case of default, for the rent, during the period of such possession. LALA BHARUB CHANDRA KARPUR v. LALIT MOHUN SINGH, 12 C. 185.

(97)—S. 13—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—DEPOSIT OF MONEY AND STAYING SALE, 8 C. 954.

(98)—S. 13, cl. 3—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—DEPOSIT OF MONEY AND STAYING SALE, 12 W.R. 313.

(99)—S. 13, cls. (3) (4)—Darputnidar, deposit by—Possession obtained on untrue allegation—Rent, suit for, by putnidar—Darputnidar, if can set off—Putnidar, defaulting, purchase by —Effect of —Partial eviction —Eviction, what is —Mesne profits, obtaining, effect of.—A darputnidar, when he made a deposit to save the putni tenure from sale, stated specifically, that the rent due from him had been paid in full and what was lodged was an advance from private funds. Upon this representation deliberately made, he obtained possession of the putni taluk and was in possession when the putnidar brought a suit for rent for three years against him. It was found in the rent suit that the darputnidar when he made the deposit, was in arrear of a portion of the rent. Held that the darputnidar could not deduct the amount deposited from the claim of the rent under cl. (3) of s. 13 of the Putni Regulation, as his case fell under cl. (4) of that section. It was not open to him to resile from the position he deliberately took up at the time he made the deposit. A defaulting putnidar, by his purchase at a sale under the Putni Regulation, does not acquire a right to annul a durputni tenure created by himself or his predecessor. He cannot take recourse to the provisions of the Putni Regulation to enable him to effectuate a fraud upon the under-tenure-holder. Where the putnidar deliberately brought a putni tenure to sale, and, in defiance of a statutory provision, by purchasing the property himself, took possession of the darputni tenure in the name of the ostensible purchaser. Held, that the putnidar was not entitled to claim rent from the darputnidar in respect of the period of eviction. A landlord, who has evicted his tenant, is not entitled to claim rent from him in respect of the period of eviction. To constitute an eviction, it is not necessary that there should be an actual physical expulsion from any part of the premises; any act of a permanent character done by the landlord, with the intention of depriving the tenant of the enjoyment of the demised premises or any part thereof, will operate as an eviction. The fact that the evicted tenant has obtained a decree for mesne profits does not revive the claim for rent which was extinguished by reason of the misconduct of the landlord. The decree for mesne profits in his favour does not necessarily restore him to all the advantages he would have enjoyed, had his possession not been illegally disturbed. KAMALANAND v. JARAO KUMRI, 17 C.L.J. 96.

Regulations - continued.

—2. - Bengal Regulations—continued.

(100)—S. 13 (4)—Dar-putnidar put in possession for paying putni rent—Payment of further arrears when in possession—Payments of first charge on the putni—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885,) s. 171 (1), (b)—Mortgagee's prior right to surplus sale proceeds—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 69.—Where a dar-putnidar, having advanced certain arrears of rent due on a putni which was already subject to defendant's mortgage, was placed in possession of the putni under para. 4, s. 13 of Reg. VIII of 1819, and then, the plaintiff, an assignee of the dar-putni, paid the next three instalments of the putni rent, but failing to pay the fourth instalment, the putni was sold under the Regulation: Held --That the plaintiff was not entitled to recover out of the surplus sale-proceeds the instalments of rent paid by him when he was in possession of the putni. That, as regards the arrears paid by the darputnidar, assuming that the amount was a charge on the putni, defendant's mortgage of prior date had priority over it. Quære —Whether it was open to the darputnidar to seek the relief provided by s. 171. sub-s. (1), cl. (b) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and, if it was, whether the remedy was available after election by him of the remedy under s. 13, cl. (4) of the putni Regulation. Held, further, that the plaintiff could not claim on the basis of s. 69 of the Contract Act RAMJIBAN BHADRA v. TAZUDDIN KAZI, 15 C.W.N. 404 =9 Ind. Cas. 489.

Regulations - continued.

—2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(101)—S. 13, cl. 4—Durpatnidar's lien, if superior to landlord's charge—See LANDLORD AND TENANT— MISCELLANEOUS, 7 C.L.J. 952=35 C. 737.

(102)—S. 13, cl. 4—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT — DEPOSIT OF MONEY AND STAYING SALE, 4 B.L.R.F.B. 77=13 W.R.F.B. 1.

(102-a) -S. 13—See NO. 81, supra.

(103)—*Ss.*13 and 14, cl. (4)—Under-tenure-holder making deposit—Suit for possession, if necessary—Lien when extinguished—Statutory lien—Contract how revived—Estoppel—Silence —Statement by putnidar, who has no interest, if binds transferee.—Per Stephen, J.—A special suit to declare the lien, created by s. 13, cl. 4 of the Putni Regulation, terminated by satisfaction of the debt is unnecessary, when the plea of suit is set up as a reply to a claim for rent and the defendant uses it only as a basis for resisting that claim. The creation of a gribi estate is formal act both according to the language of Reg. VIII of 1819, s. 14, and according to universal practice and cannot be inferred from the conduct of parties. When a contract has terminated, it cannot be revived unless by the incorporation of its terms is a new one. Per Mookerjee, J.—The under-tenure-holder who makes the deposit under s. 13, cl. 4 of Putni Regulation is entitled to remain in possession only so long as the full amount advanced, with interest, is not realized from the usufruct of the tenure. If, after his debt has been satisfied, he does continue in occupation, he does so at his peril and renders himself liable to account for the profits received in excess. His position is analogous to that of a mortgagee in possession who stays on the premises after his dues have been satisfied. The lien is extinguished by satisfaction of the debt from the profits of the tenure. No order of the Collector is necessary in this behalf, nor his recourse to a regular suit essential to alter the legal position of the parties. The moment the lien is extinguished, the defaulter becomes entitled to recover possession. S. 13, cl. 4 of the Putni Regulation makes it a condition precedent to the creation of the lien that the amount lodged should be advanced from private funds and should be paid by the tenure-holder after he had already paid the whole of the rent due from himself. The lien in question is creation of the Statute; and statutory liens cannot be created by consent; the provision of the law must be strictly complied with before reliance can be placed upon the lien. A mere treatment of the under-tenure-holder by the landlord as a usufructuary encumbrancer is not sufficient to create the statutory lien. A statement in the plaint, unchallenged and made by the putnidar after his interest has been transferred is in no way binding upon the transferee. (1 C.L.J. 23=32 C. 357, R.) When silence is of such a character and under such circumstances that it would be a fraud upon the other party, for the party which has kept silence to deny what his silence has induced, it will operate as an estoppel. JAKHOMULL MEHARA v. SARODA PROSAD DEY, 7 C.L.J. 604.

Regulations—continued.

— 2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(104)—S. 14—Limitation — Rent claim deposited to prevent sale—Excess rent, exaction of —Refund, Suit for—Special limitation under S. 75, Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) and art. 14, Limitation Act (1908), applicability of. —Where the putnidar sued for a declaration that the taluk held by him bore money rents and not paddy rents, and for refund of the amount deposited by him in excess of the proper rent under s. 14 of Reg. VIII of 1819: Held—That the suits were not governed by the special limitation prescribed by s. 75 of the Bengal Tenancy Act and by art. 14 of Act IX of 1908. S. 75 of the Bengal Tenancy Act contemplated exactions by means other than the process of law. Further, the special limitation prescribed by s. 75 of the Bengal Tenancy Act applies only where a tenant sues for penalty in addition to the excess amount realised by the landlord. It does not take away the right to recover the excess realised by the landlord, apart from the provisions of that section, within the ordinary period of limitation. The determination of what is the rent payable for a tenure is beyond the scope of the Collector's power under s. 14 of the Putni Regulation. The Collector's investigation and award under this section refer only to a particular demand and they do not stand in the way of a suit for declaration as to the proper rent payable for the tenure. To bring a suit for refund of the excess amount realised by the zemindar in proceedings under the Putni Regulation, it is not necessary to set aside the Collector's award under s. 14 of the Regulation. There is no provision of law for setting aside such an award. NAGENDRA LAL CHOWDHRY v. SRIMATI RAJU BIBEE, 17 C.W.N. 374=17 Ind. Cas. 504. (24 A. 467, 29 C. 367, D.; 9 C.L.J. 91, R.) tenure can sue to set aside a sale held under Reg. VIII of 1819. Although a zamindar is not bound to recognise any one except the registered tenant, in any proceedings taken with reference to any matter connected with the tenure, it is nevertheless open to any person interested in that tenure, or, as the law puts it, "desirous of contesting the right of the zamindar" to sue him on account of any illegal act, by which his rights may have been affected in respect of that tenure. CHUNDER PERSHAD ROY v. SHUVADRA KUMARI SHAHEBA, 12 C. 622. [F., 15 C. 345.]

(105)—S. 14—Sale of putni taluk—Suit to set aside by unregistered proprietor—Right of suit.—An unregistered proprietor of a putni

Regulations—continued.

— 2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(106)—S. 14—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—SETTING ASIDE SALE AND ITS EFFECT, 20 C, 746, 21 W.R. 252.

(107)—S. 14—See VOLUNTARY PAYMENT, 26 C. 896.

(108)—S. 14, cls. 1 (6)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT — DEPOSIT OF MONEY AND STAYING SALE, W.R. 1864, 53.

(109)—S. 14—See Nos. 70, 72 to 76, 82, 103, supra.

(110)—S. 15— Confirmation of sale—Sale when becomes final and conclusive—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 12, 13 C.L.J. 339.

(111)—Cl. 1, s. 15—Certificate under—Unregistered certificate.—A certificate of payment under cl. 1, s. 15 of Reg. VIII of 1819 is admissible in evidence without registration. Quære—Whether an unregistered sale certificate under s. 315 of the old Civ. Pro. Code (of 1877), is admissible in evidence. ABDOOL AZIZ BISWAS v. RADHA KANTO KOBIRAJ, 5 C. 226. (6 M. H.C. App. 39, R.)

(111-a)—S. 15—See No. 54, supra.

(112)—S. 17, cl. 3—Arrears of rent of a patni. —By cl. 3, s. 17 of Regulation VIII of 1819, arrears of rent for a patni being considered personal debts, a person who was no party to an original decree for arrears of rent on account of a patni cannot be held liable for them. INDER CHUNDER BANERJI v. ESHUN CHUNDER ROY, 1 Hay 474.

(113)—S. 17, cl. (3)—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 65—Conflict between—Rent—First charge.—S. 65 of the Bengal Tenancy Act cannot be held to give to the landlord the first charge on the sale proceeds of a putni mahal, for arrears of rent due beyond those of the current year in which the sale took place or of the year which had expired, if the sale took place at the commencement of the following year, inasmuch as, under the provisions of s. 17 of Reg. VIII of 1819, such antecedent balances are expressly declared to be recoverable only as personal debts of the landlord. (6 C.W.N. 794, Diss.) There is a conflict between s. 65 of the Bengal Tenancy Act and s. 17, cl. (3) of the Reg. VIII of 1819. (6 C.W.N. 794, Diss.) Where the arrears of rent claimed are for balances due for periods prior to the current year, for which the arrears are due when the sale is held in the middle of the year, or prior to the year proceeding if the sale be held at the commencement of the following year, these balances must be treated as personal debts recoverable under the ordinary procedure for recovery of debts, and not as rents recoverable under the provisions of the Tenancy Law, and in such a case, the provisions of s. 65 of the Bengal Tenancy Act would not have any application. JOGONATH v. SYED MOHI-UD-DIN MIRZA, 6 Ind. Cas. 371.

Regulations – continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(114)—S. 17, cl. (c)—Antecedent balances, if recoverable by re-sale of the tenure.—Under the provisions of s. 17, cl. (c) of the Putni Regulation, arrears of rent for a period antecedent to the period, to recover the rent of which the tenure had been sold, must be regarded as personal debts recoverable under the ordinary procedure for the recovery of debts and not by re-sale of the tenure. KSHITISH CHANDRA ACHARYA CHOWDHURY v. KHULNA LOAN COMPANY, LTD., 16 C.W.N. 804=14 Ind. Cas. 728. (6 C.W.N. 794, F.; 37 C. 747, Diss.)

(115)—S. 17—See BEN. ACT, VIII OF 1885, ss. 65, 195 (e), 6 C.W.N. 794.

(116)—S. 17, cl. 6—See DAMAGES—DAMAGES, SUITS FOR, 21 W.R. 219.

(117)—S. 18—Arrears of rent decreed, cause of action on non-payment of—Regular suit under Reg. VIII of 1819, s. 18.—Non-satisfaction of the decree passed in a summary rent suit, i.e., the non payment of the arrears rent decreed therein, provides cause of action for a regular suit under s. 18, Reg. VIII of 1819. NOBO KISHEN MOOKERJEE v. MODHOOSOODHUN GANGOOLY, 4 W.R. 99.

(118)—S. 18, cl. 4—Limitation—Cause of action—Ineffectual execution proceedings in summary trial.—Regular suit against a gumashta's immoveable property under cl. 4, s. 18, Reg. VIII of 1819, after failure to recover in execution in a summary suit under Reg. VII of 1799. Held, that the cause of action in the regular suit was the same as that in the summary suit, and that the period of limitation must be reckoned from the time at which the plaintiff discovered that he could not obtain satisfaction of the decree in the summary suit. SREENATH GHOSAL v. BISSONATH GHOSE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. App. 10=5 W.R. 100.

——Reg. X of 1819 (Salt).

[REP., ACT VIII OF 1875.]

S. 36—See SALT, 1 Hay 247.

——Ben. Reg. XVI of 1819, Ferries (amending.)

See BEN. ACT I OF 1866.

——Reg. I of 1820 (Bengal Patni Taluqs).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. AM., BEN. ACT VIII OF 1865, S. 3. S. 2, AM. AND REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903. DECLARED

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

IN FORCE IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S 3.]

See BEN. REG. VIII OF 1819, ss. 8, 11, 13 B.L.R. 408, P.C.=21 W.R. 324=1 I.A. 178.

——Reg. VI of 1822 (Court of Wards).

[REP., IN BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, BEN. ACT IV OF 1870; IN AGRA (EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873; IN THE CENTRAL PROVINCES AND THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT, ACT XVII OF 1885.]

(1)—See COURT OF WARDS, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 199=3 W.R. 82.

(2)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT—MISCELLANEOUS, 23 W.R. 362.

——Reg. VII of 1822 (Bengal Land-revenue Settlement Regulation).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN ACT I OF 1903. PORTIONS EXT., BEN. REG. IX OF 1825, SS. 2, 3, 5 (9). REP. IN PT., S. 5 EXPLD., S. 23 SUPPLEMENTED, BEN REG. IX OF 1833, SS. 2, 3, 5 TO 11 SS. 23 (3) REP. IN PT., ACT VIII OF 1835. S. 31 (2) REP. IN PT., ACT XXV OF 1837. EXT., ACT XXXI OF 1858. S. 22 REP. SS 20 et seq. REP., IN PT., ACT X OF 1859. EXT., ACT XI OF 1859, S. 60. S. 25 REP., ACT XX OF 1865. S. 29 SUPPLEMENTED, BEN. ACT III OF 1868. S. 2 (1) TO (5) REP., SS. 2 (6), 5 (2), 6 (1), 7 (1), 9 (2), 12 (2), 15, 16, 17, 20 (2), 23 (3), 29 (5) 30, 31 (2), 33 (1) REP., IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. S. 27 REP., S. 29 (1), (5) REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876: TITLE REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1891. TITLE AND SS. 1, 7 (1), (6), 29 (1), 31 (2), 33 (1), 35 REP. IN PT., SS. 2 (6), 3, 5, 6 (2), 7 (1), 8, 9 (3) 10 (1), (3), (9), 13, 16, 17, 20, 23 (1), 24 (2), 26 32, 33 AM., SS. 5 (1), 6 (4), 7 (4) REP., ACT I OF 1903. REP. (IN AGRA, EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873, REP. (IN ASSAM, EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886.]

(1)—Settlement from Government—Rate of rent recorded—Letting lands to tenants—Rate of rent.—Where a person takes settlement of land from Government at a certain rate which is recorded under Reg. VIII of 1882, he is not bound by such rate but may let the land to tenants at any other rate that may be agreed upon. ZEMIR MANDAL v. TARINI CHARAN SINGH, 11 C.L.J. 60=5 Ind. Cas. 296. [Appr., 11 C.L.J. 364=37 C. 449=14 C.W.N. 470=5 Ind. Cas. 565.]

(2)—Thakbust award — Ben. Reg. VII of 1822—Act XIII of 1848—S. 32, Act VIII of 1859 — Pendency of appeal to the Privy Council.—An award under Bengal Reg. VII of 1822, of the thakbust of survey authorities, in a disputed question of boundaries, having been made in 1848, a suit was brought in 1861, respecting the same boundaries. Semble, that as the award had not been contested during the three years limited by Act XIII of 1848, it operated as a bar to the suit,

Regulations—continued.

——2—Bengal Regulations—continued.

By s. 32, Act VIII of 1859, a plaintiff is bound to satisfy the Court that his right of action is not barred by lapse of time. In deducting any period under Reg. VII of 1822, it must be shown that plaintiff was "from good and sufficient cause precluded from obtaining redress." The pendency of an appeal to the Privy Council does not put party, who, subject to that appeal, is the owner of an estate, under a legal disability to bring a suit in that character against third parties. RAJA SAHIB PRAHLAD SEN v. MAHARAJAH RAJENDRA KISHOR SINGH. 2 B.L.R. P.C. 111 (137)=12 M.I.A. 292=12 W.R. P.C. 6=2 Suther. 225 =2 Sar. 430. [Appr., 15 W.R. 191; R., 15 W. R. 232, 9 C. 125.]

(3)—Wajib-ul-arz—Cess—Government sanction.—A wajib-ul-arz prepared under the authority of Reg. VII of 1822, contained a provision as to Chaukidari cess. Held, that, unless it was shown that it was specially sanctioned by the Government, it was an illegal and unauthorised cess. MAHTAB GIR v. RAMZANI, 8 Ind. Cas. 689.

(4)—Settlement proceedings under Reg. VII of 1822, read with Reg. IX of 1825—Raiyati land held by Settlement Officer to belong to defendant's and not to plaintiff's holding—Decision if "award"—Plaintiff's suit to recover—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, arts. 14, 46—Tenant if may sue to recover from person with whom land settled by landlord and by whom he has been dispossessed—Issues, trial of —Several issues if should be tried together.—Where a Collector, in settling land under Reg. VII of 1822, decided that a certain area of land did not form part of the plaintiff's holding as alleged by them, but was part of the defendants' holding. Held—that the decision of the Collector was not an award within the meaning of art. 46, Limitation Act of 1877. Held, further—that an order by which land belonging to the plaintiffs was given by the Collector to others without any warrant of law need not be set aside by the plaintiffs, and art. 14, Limitation Act, does not apply to a suit by the plaintiffs to recover the land. It was not intended by the provisions of Regulation VII of 1822 that the Collector should decide disputes as to title between raiyats in which the zamindars or Sadar malgujars had no interest and which could in no way affect the assessment. S. 14 of the Regulation does not apply to a case in which rival tenants claim, not only a tenancy of the same nature, but the same land under the same nature of tenancy. The decision in 20 C. 709 was never intended to be applied to a tenant seeking to recover his own holding. The practice of trying all the issues in a case together defeats the object of the law in requiring the various issues to be kept separate and distinct, and cannot but lead to confusion. RAJANI KANT MUKERJI v. RAM DULAL DAS, 17 C.W.N. 55=17 Ind. Cas. 881.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(5)—See BEN. ACT XIII OF 1848. W.R. F. B. 12=1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 5=Marsh 37.

(6)—See BEN. ACT VI OF 1870, ss. 60, 61, 9 Ind. Cas. 322.

(7)—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, LIABILITY TO, 16 C. 586.

(8)—See ESTOPPEL—DENIAL OF TITLE, 10 W.R. 22=1 B.L.R.A.C. 1.

(9)—See LIMITATION—LAW OF LIMITATION, W.R. 1864, 140.

(10)—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 12 W.R. P.C. 6=2 B.L.R.P.C. 11=12 M.I. A. 292.

(11)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 45, 5 C.L.R. 452.

(12)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 45, 3 A. 738.

(13 & 14)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 46, 6 W.R. 75.

(15)—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER, 6 B.L.R. 54=14 W.R. 239.

(16)—See POSSESSION—ADVERSE POSSESSION, 10 M.I.A. 511.

(17)—See PRE-EMPTION — CONSTRUCTION OF WAJIB-UL-ARZ, 26 A. 549=1 A.L.J. 279, 7 A.L.J. 1040, F.B.=7 Ind. Cas. 680.

(18)—See RES JUDICATA—MATTERS IN ISSUE, 1 B.L.R.A.C. 1=10 W.R. 22.

(19)—See RIGHT OF SUIT—AWARDS, SUITS CONCERNING, 7 N.W.P. 169.

(20)—See SETTLEMENT — EFFECT OF SETTLEMENT, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 107.

(21)—See SETTLEMENT — RIGHT TO SETTLEMENT, 6 W.R. 218.

(22)—See SURVEY AWARD, 11 W.R. 389.

(23)—S. 6, cl. 3—See GRANT—CONSTRUCTION, 4 B.L.R. P.C. 36=13 W.R. 31.

(24)—Ss. 7, 9—Rent, Enhancement of—Settlement officer, powers of—Jamabandi.—Where a settlement was carried out under Reg. VII of 1822. Held, that the Settlement Regulation did not authorise the settlement of fair rents. All that the settlement officer was entitled to do was to record the existing rent. ISHUR CHANDRA SARKAR v. TROYLUKHYA NATH SINGHA, 17 C W.N. 865=19 Ind. Cas. 675.

(25)—S. 9—Duties of Collectors and Settlement Officers—Entries in khewats and khataunis—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 35—N. W.P. Land Revenue Act (XIX of 1873), s. 91.—The language of Reg. No. VII of 1822, regarding the particulars which a Settlement Officer had to enter in the record prepared by him, is extremely wide. The information which he had to collect was intended to be utilised in the Courts of Justice in determining the rights of litigants before them. The Settlement Officer was directed to ascertain "the real nature and extent of the interests held, more especially where several persons may hold interests in the same subject-matter of different kinds or degrees." This would include the case of mortgagors and mortgagees whose interests in property are of different kinds or degrees, and entries in khewats and khataunis would be admissible under s. 35, Indian Evidence Act, to prove the existence of a disputed mortgage. Any entry contained in a wajib-ul-arz prepared under the provisions of Act XIX of 1873, is prima facie evidence of its accuracy. ROBERT SKINNER v. CHANDAN SINGH, 6 A. L.J. 197=31 A. 247=2 Ind. Cas. 215. [R., 5 Ind. Cas. 77.]

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(26)—S. 9—Act XIX of 1873, s. 91—Rent-roll—Presumption.—According to s. 9 of Reg. VII of 1822, the decisions of the Courts are to be regulated by the rolls of rent and modes of payments avowed and ascertained at the Settlement, and recorded in the Collector's proceedings, until distinctly altered by mutual agreement or after full investigation in a regular suit. This Regulation was repealed by Act XIX of 1873, s. 91 of which enacted that all entries in the record of rights made and attested as the law directs shall be presumed to be true until the contrary is proved. But before a rent-roll is entitled to the benefit of the presumption in its favour which the law gives, it is essential that a Court be satisfied that it is a trustworthy document, and is what it purports to be—the record of rents avowed by the parties and ascertained by the Settlement Officer. PARAHU v. GANPATJI, A.W.N. 1886, 26.

(27)—S 9—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, RIGHT OF, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 5.

(28)—S. 9—See EVIDENCE—SECONDARY EVIDENCE, 1 Agra 139.

(29)—S. 9, cl. 1—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 1 A. 373.

(30)—S. 9—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TENANT'S LIABILITY FOR RENT, 32 C. 463, 32 C. 463, Note.

(31)—S. 9—Right of zamindar to establish market and to collect cesses, &c., on his own land—See MARKET, A.W.N. 1907, 248=4 A. L J. 728=29 A. 740.

(32)—S. 9—See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1904, 117.

(33)—S. 9—See SETTLEMENT — MISCELLANEOUS, 23 W.R. 436.

(34)—S. 9—See NO. 24, supra.

(35)—S. 10, cl. 1—Arrangements made at the settlement, alterable during the settlement term, only on consent—Reg. VII of 1882, Government engagements under, Civil Courts not competent to interfere with.—Where the parties have been managing a village and making collections not according to a private arrangement between themselves but according to the arrangement fixed at the settlement, such arrangement cannot be altered during the term of the settlement except by consent. A decree such as was passed by the Assistant Commissioner providing for the management of the village and the payment of the Government revenue being made by the plaintiffs in future, would be inoperative as ultra vires. The Settlement Officer makes the settlement with the superior proprietor, and by cl. 1, s. 10 of Reg. VII of 1822, Government is empowered to make its election which of two classes of proprietors it will admit to engagements, and the Civil Courts have no power to question the exercise of its discretion in the matter. GHYNA v. MUSSUMAT HURDEVI, 42 P. R. 1869.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(36)—S. 10, cl. 3—Lumbardars, appointment of, rests with Government and not with Civil Court.— The selection and appointment of Lumbardars belongs to the Government under cl. 3, s. 10, Reg. VII of 1822, and the Civil Courts have no jurisdiction in the matter. The Chief Court accordingly refused to determine the question which arose as to the propriety of the order by which the Deputy Commissioner had set aside an order of a previous officer who had recorded the defendants exclusively as Lumbardars. MAHOMED BUKSH v. HUSSA, 27 P R. 1869.

(37)—S. 10, cl. 3—See RIGHT OF SUIT—CONTRACTS, SUITS ON, 16 P.R. 1870.

(38)—S. 10, cls. 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8—Tanki-tenure, nature of settlement of—Origin and incidents of such tenure—Liability of entire village to be sold on default, so as to destroy the rights of all the tenure-holders—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 7 C. L.J. 460.

(39)—S. 10, cl. 8—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE AND CESS—TENURES THAT ARE PROTECTED IN SUCH SALES, 14 W.R. 1.

(40)—S. 14—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 6 C.L.R. 365.

(40-a)—S. 20—See SETTLEMENT—MODE OF SETTLEMENT, 2 Agra 258.

(41)—S. 33—See SURVEY AWARD, 1 Agra 267.

———Reg. X of 1822 (Garo Hillmen).

[REP., ACT XXII OF 1869.]

(1)—Ss. 2, 3, 8 — See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR — MISCELLANEOUS, 9 W.R. 426.

(2)—S. 3—See NO. 1, supra.

(3)—S. 8—See NO. 1, supra.

———Reg. XI of 1822 (The Bengal Government Indemnity Regulation).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. REP. (EXCEPT SS. 2, 36, 38), ACT XII OF 1841. TITLE REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1891. S. 2 REP., ACT I OF 1903. REP. IN PT. (IN AGRA, EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873. REP. (IN ASSAM, EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS). REG. I OF 1886. SS. 36 AND 38 DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT

Regulations—continued.

——2—Bengal Regulations—continued.

THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6, S. 38 DECLARED IN FORCE—IN THE ANGUL DISTRICT, REG. I OF 1894, S. 3; THROUGHOUT AGRA, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICT, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 7; IN OUDH, ACT XVIII OF 1876, S. 3.]

(1)—See BENAMI TRANSACTION—GENERAL, 5 W.R. 154.

(2)—See PATNI TENURE, 13 W.R. P.C. 24 =13 M.I.A. 317.

(3)—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE AND CESS—PURCHASERS, RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF, 3 W.R. 178.

(4)—See TENURE, 23 W.R. 245.

(5)—S. 6, cl. 3—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE AND CESS—GENERAL, 6 W.R. P.C. 15=3 M.I.A. 42.

(6) S. 29—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 134, 148, 9 A. 97.

(7)—S. 30—Government sale of land—Effect on under-leases.—By s. 30, all under-leases are extinguished by a Government sale of the proprietor's lands for arrears of revenue, and an auction-purchaser takes the lands clear of all under-tenures. WATSON v. SREEMUNT LAL KHAN, 5 M.I.A. 447=1 Sar 468.

(8)—S. 30—See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE AND CESS—GENERAL, 5 M.I.A. 447.

(9)—Ss. 30 to 33—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, RIGHT OF, 11 W.R. P.C. 10=12 M.I.A. 263.

(10)—Ss. 30, 32, 33—See SERVICE TENURE, 10 M.I.A. 123.

(11)—Ss. 30, 32, 33—See SETTLEMENT—EVIDENCE OF SETTLEMENT, 3 W.R.P.C. 5 =10 M.I.A. 165.

(12)—Ss. 30, 33—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, RIGHT TO, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 23=12 M.I.A. 263=11 W.R.P.C. 10.

(13)—S. 31—See No. 9, supra.

(14)—S. 32—See Nos. 9, 10, 11, supra.

(15)—S. 33—See Nos. 9, 10, 11, 12, supra.

(16)—S. 34—Representation—Entire estate in Collector's rent roll—See BEN. ACT XI OF 1859, s. 37, 12 C.L.J. 407=8 Ind. Cas. 786.

——Reg. VI of 1823 (The Bengal Indigo Contracts.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. SUPPLEMENTED, BEN. REG. V OF 1830. SUPPLEMENTED, AND S. 5 (3) REP., ACT X OF 1836. SS. 7, 8 REP., ACT VII OF 1870. SS. 3 (1), 6 REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. SS. 1, 3 (7) REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876. PREAMBLE AND S. 3 (4), (5), (6), (7), (9) REP. IN PT., S. 6, AM., ACT XII OF 1891. S. 4 (2) REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903. REP. (IN ASSAM), ACT XII OF 1891. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT), EASTERN BENGAL AND AGRA, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, SS. 6, 7.]

(1)—See DAMAGES—MEASURE AND ASSESSMENT, 1 Agra 69.

(2)—S. 5, cl. 2—See DAMAGES — MEASURE AND ASSESSMENT, 3 Agra 77.

(3)—S. 5, cl. (4)—Contract to sow indigo—Default in sowing.—Held that, in a contract to sow indigo, not sowing would be prima facie evidence of dishonesty; and that, in order to claim the benefit of cl. 4 of s. 5 of Regulation VI of 1823, it was necessary to show that the negligence to sow had been accidental. LAL MAHOMED BISWAS v. WATSON, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 3=4 W.R. 62.

(4)—S. 6—Suit under—Maintainability.—A plaint under Reg. VI of 1823 was presented to the District Judge of Azamgarh to recover certain moneys on certain indigo contracts with interest. The District Judge rejected the plaint, being of opinion that the whole of Reg. VI of 1823 had been repealed or become absolute. Held on appeal that the Regulation had not become repealed by Act XVI of 1874 or any other enactment and that the Judge's reasons for rejecting the plaint were wrong. MARTIN v. KAULESHAR RAI, A.W.N. 1888, 155.

——Reg. I of 1824 (Acquisition of Land for Public Purposes).

[REP., ACT VIII OF 1868.]

(1)—Lands within zemindari used for salt works and relinquished by Government—Right of Government to re-settle such lands—Assessment.—Upon the relinquishment by Government of lands, used for salt works till after the Regulation I of 1824, situate within a permanently settled zemindari, the mutual rights of the zemindar and the Government are governed by that regulation. Such lands, whether belonging to a permanently-settled estate or not, were held "rent-free" by the Salt Department; and the fact of "khalari" payments having been made to the zemindar by Government would not interfere with the right of the Government to re-settle the lands with any person, though, on a re-settlement with others, the zemindar should be assessed only, to the extent of the lands held by him. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL v. RANI ANANDOMOYI DEBI, 8 C. 95, P.C.=8 I. A. 172=4 Sar. 281=5 Ind. Jur. 612.

(2)—S. 9, cl. 11, s. 14—See SETTLEMENT—MISCELLANEOUS, 23 W.R. 197.

(3)—S. 14—See No. 2, supra.

——Reg. I of 1825 (Criminal Procedure).

[REP., ACT XVII OF 1862.]

Land taken by Government without formality prescribed by—Right of owner to maintain suit against Government for rent—See TRESPASS, Marsh 56=W.R. F.B. 18=1 Hay 122.

Regulations—continued.

—— 2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

——— Reg. VII of 1825 (Execution of Decrees).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1874.]

(1)—See JURISDICTION—SUITS FOR LAND, 1 A. 431.

(2)—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—RIGHT OF PURCHASER ON SETTING ASIDE SALE, 4 B.L.R. F.B. 11=12 W. R. 8.

(3)—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—SETTING ASIDE SALE, 3 W.R. 70.

(4)—See VENDOR AND PURCHASER — BREACH OF WARRANT, 18 W.R. 276.

(5)—S. 5—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—SETTING ASIDE SALE, 8 M.I. A. 427.

(6)—S. 5—See SUMMARY SUIT, 8 M.I.A. 427.

(7)—S. 7—See ATTACHMENT—LIABILITY FOR WRONGFUL ATTACHMENT, 20 W.R. 433.

——— Reg. IX of 1825 (Bengal Land-revenue Settlement.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. EXT., ACT XI OF 1859, S. 60. S. 5 (9) REP. IN PT., ACT XX OF 1865. PREAMBLE AND SS. 2 (1), 3, 8 REP IN PT., S. 9, REP., ACT XII OF 1891. SS. 3, 4, 5 (8), 6, 8 AM., S. 5 (10) REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903. REP (IN AGRA, EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873. REP. (IN ASSAM, EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886, DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICTS) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6.]

(1)—See BEN. ACT XIII OF 1848, W.R. F.B. 12=1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 5=Marsh 37.

(2)—See ESTOPPEL—DENIAL OF TITLE, 10 W.R. 22=1 B.L.R.A.C. 1.

(3)—See POSSESSION—ADVERSE POSSESSION, 10 M.I.A. 511.

(4)—See RES JUDICATA — MATTERS IN ISSUE, 1 B.L.R. A.C. 1=10 W.R. 22.

(5)—S. 5—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—MISCELLANEOUS, 9 W.R. 426.

(6)—S. 9—See EVIDENCE — SECONDARY EVIDENCE, 1 Agra 139.

——— Reg. XI of 1825 (Bengal Alluvion and Diluvion).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. SUPPLEMENTED (IN BENGAL AND EASTERN BENGAL), BEN. ACT IV OF 1868. S. 4 (1) REP. IN PT. (IN EASTERN BENGAL AND LOCALITY IN BENGAL), ACT VIII OF 1885. S. 5 REP. IN PT. ACT I OF 1903, AM. (IN PUNJAB AND N-W. FRONTIER PROVINCE), PUN. ACT I OF 1899, S. 4. DECLARED IN FORCE — THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT), EASTERN BENGAL AND AGRA EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS. ACT XV OF 1874, SS. 6, 7; IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1889, S. 3; IN THE PUNJAB, ACT IV OF 1872, S. 3; IN THE N.-W. FRONTIER PROVINCE, REG. VII OF 1901, S. 4; IN THE CENTRAL PROVINCES AND THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT, ACT XX OF 1875, S. 3; IN OUDH (WITH MODIFICATIONS, AND WITH THE EXCEPTION OF S. 1), ACT XVIII OF 1876, S. 3.]

(1)—Right to Chur land — Incrementum latens—Reg. XI of 1825—Law in Bengal.—Suit for a portion of chur land thrown up by a tidal and navigable river. The appellants sought to disturb a possession of 7 years' duration, and proved the land to be a re-formation on a site identical with lands originally included in their zamindary and afterwards swept away: Held, that they had a better title to it than the respondents who claimed it as an accretion to their settled chur, but failed to prove that it was a gradual and imperceptible accretion as contemplated by law. Review of the law of alluvion in Bengal as declared by Regulation XI of 1825 and decided cases. NOGENDER CHUNDER GHOSE v. MAHOMED ESOF, 10 B.L.R. 406, P.C.=18 W.R. 113=3 Sar. 151. [F., 22 W.R. 238, 22 W.R. 324=14 B.L.R. 219, Appr., 3 C.L.J. 316; R., 21 W.R. 446, 2 B. 19, 8 C.W.N. 676, 6 C.L.J. 149.]

(2)—This circular in consequence of certain Rulings of the High Court and the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, modifies orders made under Regulation XI of 1825 and Act IV (B.C.) of 1868. Rev. Cir. No. 5, 23 W.R. Rev. Cir. p. 33.

(3)—See ALLUVION—GENERAL, 53 P.R. 1867, 47 P.R. 1868, 72 P.R. 1869, 15 P.R. 1872, 17 W.R. 163, 12 W.R. 229.

(4)—See ALLUVION—FORMATION OF CHURS OR ISLANDS, 4 W.R. 59, 5 W.R. 139, 9 W.R. 312, 6 B.L.R. 255=14 W.R. F.B. 25, 3 W.R. 94.

(5)—See ALLUVION—LAND INUNDATED AND REFORMED, 72 P.R. 1869, 47 P.R. 1868, 15 P.R. 1872, 12 P.R. 1870, 6 C.L.R. 249, P.C.=7 I.A. 73.

(6)—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, GROUNDS OF, 5 C.L.R. 33.

(7)—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—ACCRETION TO TENURE, 4 C.W.N. 508, 2 Hay 515, 3 Agra 152.

(8)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 3, 7 I.A. 73.

(9)—Re-settlement of land by Government as ruling power with those entitled to such settlement under, and Act XXXI of 1858—Effect — See SETTLEMENT — EFFECT OF SETTLEMENT, 20 C. 732.

(10)—S. 2, cl. 4—See ALLUVION—CHARGE IN COURSE OF RIVERS, 14 W.R. 268.

(11)—S. 2—Usage governing rights of proprietors of contiguous estates, divided by a river.—In 1837, land which had gradually accreted to the plaintiff's zemindari on the north side of the river G, which separated two districts, was temporarily assessed at a low rate, the land then being scarcely culturable. In 1847, the value of the land having meanwhile increased, the settlement was renewed at a greater revenue. On the expiration of this settlement in 1857, the land in consequence of a sudden change in the river G, was found capable of identification on the southern side of the river. There was no evidence of any usage within s. 2 of Reg. XI of 1825, that the main channel of the river G should be taken as the constant boundary, not only between the two districts, but also between the zamindaries on each bank divided by the river. Held (reversing the judgment of the High Court), that the plaintiff was entitled to the land and to have a settlement made in respect of it. RUGHOOBUR DYAL SAHOO v. KISHEN PERTAB SAHEE, 5 C L R 418, P.C.=6 I.A. 211=4 Sar. 64.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(12)—S. 2—See ALLUVION—GENERAL, 11 W.R.P.C. 42=3 B.L.R.P C. 5=13 M.I.A. 1.

(13)—S. 2—See ALLUVION — CHANGE IN COURSE OF RIVERS, 3 B.L.R.P.C. 5=11 W.R.P.C. 42=2 Suther. 47 = 13 M.I.A. 1= 2 Sar. 473.

(14)—Ss. 2, 4, cls. (1) and (2)—Sudden change of river course—Land cut off from one village and added to another—Land recognisable—Suit regarding land—What section of the Regulation applicable.—By a sudden change in the course of a river, a piece of land was cut off from one village, and added to another, and it was clearly recognisable on the spot: Held, that a suit regarding the land was not governed by s. 2 but by s. 4, and again not by cl. (1) but by cl. (2) of the latter section of Reg. XI of 1825. MUHAMMAD HUSAIN v. MUHAMMAD SHOQAT HUSSAIN, 9 Ind. Cas. 263.

(15)—Ss. 2, 4, cl. (2)—See ALLUVION—CHANGE IN COURSE OF RIVERS, 6 I.A. 211.

(16)—Ss. 2, 4 (iii)—See CUSTOM, 6 A. 479 =A.W.N. 1884, 185.

(17)—S. 3, cl. 3—See ALLUVION—FORMATION OF CHURS OR ISLANDS, 6 W.R. 123.

(18)—S. 4—Alluvion—Submersion of land under water Re-appearance on its old site—Sufficient identification—Ownership.—Land belonging to the plaintiff which had submerged under a river re-appeared on its old site and was sufficiently identified to be the plaintiff's land. It had not come out by gradual accretion nor by sudden cutting off by the action of the river. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to the land, that s. 4 of Reg XI of 1825 did not apply to the case. BHAGWAN RAI v. GOPI RAI, 10 Ind. Cas. 311.

(19)—S. 4—Gradual accretion.—Land which is washed away and which re-appears afterwards on the old ascertained site is not land gained by increment within the meaning of the Regulation, and such land continues to be the property of the original owner, unless his title to it after such re-appearance is extinguished by adverse possession for over twelve years on the part of a trespasser. BAHADUR RAI v. RAM JANAM RAI, 1 A.L.J. 371. (13 M.I.A. 467, 3 C. 796, A.W.N. 1882, 8, R.)

(20)—S. 4—Possession, Suit for—Accretion—Holding of tenant.—The rule that, when it is once admitted that the plaintiff was the landlord, then prima facie all the land belonged to him and he was entitled to possession of it till the contrary could be proved by those who claimed some title to the land, is not applicable, when, on the plaintiff landlord's own showing, the state of things was such that the land would be presumed to fall under s. 4 of Reg. XI of 1825 and to be an accretion of the jote of the defendant. CHOWDHURY MAHADEO PERSHAD v. MATHURA TANTI, 11 C.L.J. 148=5 Ind. Cas. 723.

(21)—S. 4—Mouzahs on opposite sides of river—Claim for alluvion.—Plaintiffs and defendants were zemindars of two mouzahs on the opposite sides of a river. The suit was brought for alluvial land on the plaintiffs' side of the river. The main defence was that the land had been bodily washed across, and, therefore, it still remained the property of the defendants. The land undoubtedly belonged to plaintiffs under the deep stream rule and defendants failed to prove, before the Assistant Commissioner, that the land came under the 'rooh girdanee' rule. It appeared that the accreted land had not merely moved on by the shifting of the river; but had been completely submerged and thrown up again in a new form quite unrecognizable. Held that the defence failed. There was another accretion moving bodily from the defendants' side, of which defendants still remained in possession; and it was held that if the land in suit lay between this detached piece and the river, the only question would be how much of it lay directly in front of the defendants' land and how much in front of the plaintiffs'. NOORDEEN v. FUTTEH ALI, 65 P.R. 1869.

(22)—S. 4—Alluvion—Gained by gradual accession.—Where it was found that there was no gradual accession and the site was identifiable, held, that in the absence of local usage, and in accordance with the general principles of equity, the application of which is expressly directed in the fifth clause of s. 4 of Reg. XI of 1825, the plaintiffs were entitled to the land in suit. HASHMAT v. DULLA, 171 P.L.R. 1901=66 P R. 1901. (5 B.L.R. 521, 36 P.R. 1898, F.; 19 A. 238, D.)

(23)—S. 4—Diluviated land, rights to.—The Regulation refers only to cases of gain, of acquisition by means of gradual accession, which an individual proprietor may make from that which has been part of the public territory, the public domain, and not the confiscation or destruction of any private person's property.

Regulations —continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

Diluviated lands re-forming on their old sites remain the property of their original owner, and it is immaterial whether the lands have re-formed gradually or otherwise. The plaintiffs owned a two annas share in a village called A and the defendant owned a village called D. The river Rapti flows between the two villages. The plaintiff sued to be maintained in proprietary possession of a certain plot, alleging that such plot had appertained to his village, and that it had been submerged by the Rapti, and that it had re-appeared and accreted to his village. The defendant denied all these allegations and asserted the contrary. The lower appellate Court decreed in favour of the defendant on the ground that the land had been the subject of fluvial action for 10 years, and that, in the course of time, had gradually accreted to the village, D, without deciding to which village it had previously appertained. Held, that the case should be remanded to the lower appellate Court for deciding whether the site on which the alluvion had appeared was part of village A or village D. RAMCHARAN TIWARI v. JASAI PANDEY, A.W.N. 1882, 8. (3 C. 796, 13 M.I.A. 467, R.) [R., 1 A.L.J. 371.]

(24)—S. 4—See BEN. ACT XXXI OF 1858, 7 C.W.N. 846.

(25)—S. 4—Right of ryot having no pre-existing rights to land, to later accretion to such land—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 20, 180, 33 C. 444=4 C.L.J. 63.

(26)—S. 4—See ALLUVION—GENERAL, 14 W.R. 254.

(27)—S. 4—Alluvion — Gradual accession—See ALLUVION,—CHANGE IN COURSE OF RIVERS, A.W.N. 1905, 271=2 A.L.J. 821=28 A. 256.

(28)—S. 4—See ALLUVION —CHANGE IN COURSE OF RIVERS, A.W.N. 1885, 173.

(29 & 30)—S. 4—Title to gradual accretions by alluvion—See ALLUVION — FORMATION OF CHURS OR ISLANDS, 14 C.P.L.R. 97.

(31)—S. 4—See ALLUVION—LAND INUNDATED AND REFORMED, 5 B.L.R. 521, P.C.= 14 W.R. P.C. 11=13 M.I.A. 467, Marsh 136 =W.R. F.B. 45=1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 44.

(32)—S. 4—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—ACCRETION TO TENURE, 15 W.R. 87, 16 W. R. 95.

(33)—S. 4, cl. 1—Alluvial lands—Accretion——Re-formation.—According to cl. 1, s. 4, Reg. XI of 1825, all gradual accessions from the recess of a river or the sea are an increment to the estate to which they are annexed without regard to the site of the increment. Mere proof of identity of site (without proof of ownership) is not sufficient to defeat the right by accretion which the law gives to an adjacent owner. KATTERMONEE DOSSEE v. RANEE MONMOHINEE DABEE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 353=3 W.R. 51. [Disappr., 5 B.L.R. 521=13 M.I.A. 467=14 W.R. 11, P.C.; F., 6 W.R. 40, 8 W.R. 206, 9 W.R. 312, 14 W.R. 164; Appl, 8 W.R. 164; R., 5 W.R. 283, W.R. 1864, 64, 7 W.R. 103, 2 B. 19, 10 C.W.N. 540=4 C.L.J. 51.]

(34)—S. 4, cl. 1—Construction.—The meaning of the clause is that the incidents of the original tenure attach to the increment. GOLAM ALI v. KALI KRISHNA THAKUR, 7 C. 479=8 C.L.R. 517. [Commented on, 11 C. 696; R., 26 C. 739.]

(35)—S. 4, cl. 1—Accretion to parent tenure —Rate of rent.—The words "increase of rent to which he may be justly liable" in cl. 1, s. 4 of Reg. XI of 1825, indicate that it was not intended to lay down any inflexible rule applicable to all cases. In the absence of any special circumstances, the rate of rent to be assessed upon the accretion should be in proportion to that paid for the parent tenure. CHOORAMONI DEY v. HOWRAH MILLS COMPANY, LIMITED, 11 C. 696.

(36)—S. 4, cl. 1—Occupancy ryot, Right of—Jote tenure.—The terms of Reg. XI of 1825, s. 4 (cl. 1) are clear. Held by the Full Bench. —A person who has an occupancy right in a jote is entitled to the benefit of s. 4, cl (1) of Reg. XI of 1825. GOURHARI KAIBURTO v. BHOLA KAIBURTO. 21 C. 233, F.B. (15 W.R. 87, 149, 16 W.R. 95, F.; 24 W.R. 404, N.F.) [F., 8 C.L.J. 541, 5 C.L.J. 26, Note; Expl. & D., 33 C. 444=4 C L.J. 63; R., 13 C.W. N. 267=8 C.L.J. 538.]

(37)—S. 4, cl. 1—Admissibility — Dastak — Registration Act (III of 1877), s. 17, cl (d)—Non-occupancy raiyat — Accretion.—An unregistered dastak, which merely allows the plaintiff to take possession of the land and to cultivate it, is not a lease for any term exceeding one year, or a lease from year to year or a lease reserving a yearly rent, within the meaning of cl. (d) of s. 17 of the Registration Act, and is, therefore, admissible in evidence. A non-occupancy raiyat can claim a newly-formed land as an accretion to his holding under cl. (1), s. 4 of Reg. XI of 1825. AHMED BEPARI v. TOKI MAHOMED, 8 C.L J. 538=13 C.W.N. 267= 4 Ind. Cas. 511. (16 W.R. 95, R.) [R., 13 C.W.N. 269=8 C.L.J. 537=4 Ind. Cas. 518.]

(38)—S. 4, cl. (1)—Non-occupancy raiyat—Accretion.—A non-occupancy tenant can acquire a right to hold a newly-formed land as an accretion to his holding under cl. (1) of s. 4 of Reg. XI of 1825. AMJAD ALI v. KADERJAN BIBI, 8 C.L.J. 537=13 C.W.N. 269 =4 Ind. Cas. 518. (8 C.L.J. 538, F.; 4 W.R. 57, 4 C.L.J. 63=33 C. 444, D.)

(39)—S. 4, cl. 1—Non-occupancy riayat—Accretion—Terms of holding accreted land.—S. 4, cl. (1) of Reg. XI of 1825 applies to the case of a person who is not an occupancy raiyat. (4 C.L.J. 63=33 C. 444, Expl.) The person to whose land the accretion is formed is entitled to hold the accreted land on the same terms as that by which the land to which it is an accretion is held. MIAJAN v. AKRAM ALI BHUIYA, 8 C.L.J. 541. (21 C. 233, F.) [R., 8 C.L.J. 537.]

Regulations*—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(40)—S 4 (i)—Dhardhura.—The law in Reg. XI of 1825, s. 4 (i) as to gradual accession of land, does not apply where the land is claimed according to the custom of dhardhura. ISHRI PRASAD v. JAGMOHAN RAM, A.W.N. 1881, 2.

(41)—S. 4, cl. 1—See ALLUVION—GENERAL, 19 A. 238=A W.N. 1897, 39.

(42)—S. 4 (1) — See ALLUVION — LAND INUNDATED AND REFORMED, 11 W.R 189.

(43)—S. 4, cl. 1—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—ACCRETION TO TENURE, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 48, 2 Agra 406, 9 W.R. 379, 4 W.R. 57, 26 C. 739.

(44)—S. 4, cls. 1 and 4—See ALLUVION—FORMATION OF CHURS OR ISLANDS, 4 W.R. 54.

(45)—S. 4, sub ss. 1 and 5, Reg. XI of 1825—Change in the river's course—Alluvion and diluvion.—The mere fact that a change in a river's course has placed land belonging to A in contiguity to the lands of B could never deprive A of the lands and transfer them to B. If, after temporary aberrations, a river at last leaves the land of A in statu quo ante in contiguity to the lands of B, it cannot be held to be an accession to B, his next neighbour. Neither the specific provision of Reg. XI of 1825, nor the general principles of equity and justice, lend the slightest support to the pretension of the appellant, which is to land that would be gained, not from the river, but from a neighbour. JAGGOT SINGH v. BRIJ NATH KUNWAR, 27 C. 768, P.C.=27 I.A. 81=4 C.W.N. 555=7 Sar. 699. [F., 5 C.L.J. 47, Note; D., 1 M.L.T. 101.]

(46)—Act XVIII of 1876, s. 4, cl. (2)—Alluvion and diluvion—Ownership, change of—Reformation—Principles.—A river, which separated two estates situated respectively on its north and south banks, shifted its course to the north laying bare to its south certain lands which originally belonged to the estate on the north bank but so as still to leave a channel between this land and the estate on the south bank. Held, that this was not a case of slow and gradual accretion by the inch or foot or yard. The original ownership of the re-formed land, therefore, remained unaffected. THAKURAIN RITRAJ KOER v. THAKURIAN SHARFARAZ KOER. 9 C.W.N. 889, P.C.=27 A. 656=2 A.L.J. 623=8 O C. 293=2 C.L.J. 185=7 Bom. L.R. 872=15 M.L.J. 349=32 I.A. 165=8 Sar. 873. (13 M.I.A. 467, R.)

(47)—S. 4, cl. 2—See ALLUVION—LAND INUNDATED AND REFORMED, 22 W. R. 238, W.R. 1864, 64.

(48)—S. 4, cl. (3)—Suit for possession—Reformation—Accretion—Accession, Meaning of—Government, rights of, if different from that of

Regulations*—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

private owner—Submersion—Continuity, presumption of case not made in the plaint, if open to plaintiff—Adverse possession—Maps, Thak and Survey, effect of—Presumption—Onus of proof of lands existent at the Permanent Settlement—Abandonment of submerged land, proof of.—When Government acquires property under cl. (3) of s. 4 of Reg. XI of 1825, either as an island surrounded by an unfordable channel or as an accession to lands held by Government, it does not become a trustee for the public; it is entitled to deal with the property in the same way as any other part of the territory of the State at its disposal. If it permanently or temporarily settles the estate to which it has thus acquired title, the holder of the settlement is entitled to the benefit of the principle of reformation, and when question arises between Government itself and a neighbouring riparian owner, Government should not be placed in a worse position than a person who has derived title from it and it is not precluded from claiming the land upon submergence and after reappearance. (13 M.I.A. 467, 5 B.L.R. 521, 10 B.L.R. 406, R.) No inflexible rule can be laid down as to the manner in which an intention not to abandon submerged lands may be proved, but it would depend upon the circumstances of each particular case. Mere submergence of lands in the possession of Government does not operate in law as an abandonment on its part and a reversion thereof to the public territory. The state of things described in the Thak and Survey Maps cannot be presumed to have existed at the time of the Permanent Settlement. The question what lands were included in the Permanent Settlement is a question of fact and not of law, which may or may not be satisfactorily proved by subsequent Survey Maps. The onus of proving that any particular lands were included in the Permanent Settlement of 1793, is clearly on those who affirm that such was the case and the burden of proof is not necessarily shifted by the production of the Thak and Survey Maps showing that specific lands are included in a particular estate. The Thak and Survey Maps are valuable evidence of the state of things at the time they are made, but it does not follow that they show conclusively what was the state of things at the time of the Permanent Settlement. ANANDA HARI BASAK v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 3 C.L.J. 316. (30 C. 291, F.)

(49)—S. 4, cl. 3—See ALLUVION—FORMATION OF CHURS OR ISLANDS, 6 B L.R. 343=14 W.R. 352, 9 W.R. 401, 6 B.L.R. App. 93=14 W.R. 424, 17 W.R. 73, 6 B.L.R. 261, Note=13 W.R. 366.

(50)—S. 4, cl. 3—See ALLUVION—LAND INUNDATED AND REFORMED, W.R. 1864, 73.

(51)—S. 4, cl. 3—See CHUR LANDS, 14 W. R.F.B. 25.

(52)—S. 4, cl. 3—See RIGHT OF SUIT—GENERAL, 12 W.R. 204.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(53)—S. 4, cls. 3 and 5—See ALLUVION—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 Agra 342.

(54)—S. 4, cl. 4—See ALLUVION—GENERAL, 10 W.R. 68.

(55)—S. 4, cl. 4—See ALLUVION—FORMATION OF CHURS OR ISLANDS, 20 W.R. 276.

(56)—S. 4, cl. 5—Act IX of 1847, s. 7—Reappearance of submerged land as chur—Right of Government.—Where the site of a submerged village formed part of a permanently settled estate and the proprietor thereof continued to pay her quota of Government revenue, although the village was submerged, the submergence of the site does not deprive the owner of her property, and its re appearance on the old site as an island surrounded by a channel which is not fordable, does not entitle the Government to take possession of it under Reg. XI of 1825, s. 4, cl. 3, referred to in Act IX of 1847, s. 7. COLLECTOR OF RAJSHAHYE v. RANI SHAMASOONDREE DEBIA, 14 B L R. 219 =22 W.R. 324. [R., 2 B. 19.]

(57)—S. 4, cl. 5—See ALLUVION — LAND INUNDATED AND REFORMED, 8 W.R. 287.

(58)—S. 4—See NOS. 14 TO 16, supra.

(59)—S. 5—See ALLUVION — LAND INUNDATED AND REFORMED, 14 W.R. P.C. 11= 5 B.L.R. 521=13 M.I.A. 467.

(60)—S. 5, cl. 5—See ALLUVION—MISCELLNEOUS, 8 W.R. 206.

———Reg. IV of 1827 (Sadr Amins.)

[REP., ACT X OF 1861.]

(1)—S. 3—See TITLE, 5 W.R. P.C. 61=1 M.I.A. 494.

———Reg. V of 1827 (Bengal Attached Estates Management).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT V OF 1897. SS. 2, 3, 4 REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1874. S. 2 REP. IN PT., S. 3 AM., ACT I OF 1903. DECLARED IN FORCE—THROUGHOUT BENGAL (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT), EASTERN BENGAL AND AGRA, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, SS. 6, 7; IN THE CENTRAL PROVINCES AND THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT (WITH AN EXCEPTION AND A MODIFICATION) ACT XX OF 1875, S. 3: THIS MODIFICATION REP. IN THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT, ACT VII OF 1905; IN AJMERE (WITH MODIFICATIONS), REG. III OF 1877, S. 3.]

(1)—See BEN. REG. V OF 1812, s. 26, B.L.R. Sup. 655=7 W.R. 273=2 Ind. Jur. N. S. 178.

(2)—S. 3—See APPEAL—ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 20 W.R. 262.

(3)—S. 3—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—RELATIONSHIP OF LANDLORD AND TENANT, 4 B.L.R. App. 80=13 W.R. 194.

(4)—S. 3—See BEN. REG. V OF 1812, s. 26, 12 B.L.R. 366, F.B.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(5)—S. 26—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—EXECUTION BY COLLECTOR, 22 W.R. 212.

———Reg. III of 1828 [Bengal Land-revenue Assessment (Resumed Lands).]

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. S. 9 REP., ACT XII OF 1873. S. 10 (4), (5) REP. IN PT., S. 11 (1) REP., ACT XVI OF 1874. TITLE, SS. 1, 10 (2), 12, 13 (1), (2), REP. IN PT., SS. 2 to 8 REP., SS. 10 (2), (3), 13 (1) AM., ACT I OF 1903. S. 13 (2) REP., BEN. ACT I OF 1905. REP. (IN AGRA, EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873. REP. (IN ASSAM, EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG I OF 1886. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT BENGAL, (EXCEPT THE SAMBALPUR DISTRICT) AND EASTERN BENGAL, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 6.]

(1)—Sunderbuns.—Though certain portions of Reg. III of 1828 go to show that the Sunderbuns, up to that date, continued the property of the State and had not been permanently settled with any one, that was intended to be said generally with regard to the tract of country known as Sunderbuns taken as a whole, and it could not have been intended to undo the effect of any lease granted by any duly constituted Revenue authority. Per Banerje, J., TAMOHA BIBI v. ASHUTOSH DHUR, 14 C.W.N. 513.

(2)—See LIMITATION — MISCELLANEOUS, 4 M.I.A. 466.

(3)—See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—PRACTICE AS TO OBJECTION, 4 M.I.A. 466.

(4)—See SPECIAL COMMISSIONERS, 1 W.R. P.C. 20=9 M.I.A. 479.

(5)—See WASTE LANDS, 26 C. 792=3 C.W.N. 695.

(6)—S 4, cl. 5—See REVIEW—REVIEW BY JUDGE OTHER THAN JUDGE IN ORIGINAL CASE, 3 W.R. P.C. 45=7 M.I.A. 283.

(7)—Reg. III of 1828 (Bengal), s. 13, cl. (2)—Sunderbuns—Limitation—Question of disputed boundaries—Onus.—The Sunderbuns were not included in the perpetual settlement but remained the property of the Government. Bengal Regulation III of 1828 made provision for the immediate settlement of the limits of the Sunderbuns by fixing peremptorily a period at which the demarcation of those limits should be final. Any person objecting to the line of demarcation could not be heard unless he declared and offered proof that, at the time of the survey by the Commissioner appointed under the said law, he was in occupation of a definite quantity of land cleared under cultivation within that time. A person in occupation of cultivated land might, within three months, either pray for further investigation or put forward his claim to hold particular lands free from assessment. [F., 13 W.R. 180.] Where boundaries have been determined by the Commissioner under cl. 2, s. 13, of Bengal Regulation III of 1828, and no appeal therefrom made to the Special Commissioner within three months, such determination is a bar to a suit seeking to open the question of boundaries. In a question of disputed boundaries between the permanently assessed mouzah of a neighbouring zemindari adjoining the Sunderbuns, the Zamindar having taken a lease from Government of part of the lands as within the limits of the Sunderbuns but afterwards claimed by him as part of his mouzahs, the onus is upon him to identify the lands so claimed as forming part of his settled estate. RAJA BARADAKANT ROY v. THE COMMISSIONER OF THE SUNDERBUNS. 2 B.L.R.P.C. 33=12 M.I.A. 225=11 W.R.P.C. 14=2 Suther 184=2 Sar. 413.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

——Reg. VII of 1828 (Benares Family Domains.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903, REP. IN PT. AND AM., ACT XIV OF 1881.]

(1)—S 13—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 17, A.W.N. 1894, 4.

(2)—S. 20—Family Domains of the Maharajah of Benares—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts.—The lessees of a village lying within the Family Domains of the Maharaja of Benares, constructed a dam across a stream running between that village and a village called K, lying down the stream and within the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts of Mirzapore. The proprietors of the village K, objected to this and one of the Mirzapore Magistrates made an order directing that an opening should be kept open in the dam. Therefore, the lessees of the former village sued the proprietors of the latter village and others in a Court established under Reg. VII of 1828, for the Family Domains, for a declaration of their right to construct the dam, and the cancelment of the Magistrate's order. The proprietors of the latter village on the other hand, subsequently brought the present suit against the lessees of the former village in the Court of the Munsif of Mirzapore, claiming to restrain them from closing the opening which was to be left in the dam and from obstructing the flow of water. Held that the present suit was not barred by the provisions of s. 12 of Act No. X of 1877, as the injunction sought by the plaintiffs did not fall within the category of claims mentioned in s. 20 of Reg. VII of 1828. MAHARAJAH OF BENARES v. JAGGANNATH DAS, A.W.N. 1881, 116.

——Reg. X of 1829 (Stamps.)

[REP., ACT XXXVI OF 1860.]

(1)—See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—VALUATION OF APPEAL, 8 M.I.A. 193.

(2)—See STAMP, 2 W.R. P.C. 9=8 M.I.A. 492.

(3)—See STAMP ACT, 1862, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 142.

(4 & 5)—S. 17—See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—VALUATION OF APPEAL, 7 M.I.A. 261.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(6)—S. 17—See STAMP, 7 M.I.A. 261.

——Reg. XIV of 1829 (Security from foreign litigants.)

[REP., ACT X OF 1861.]

(1)—S. 2, cl. 1—See SECURITY FOR COSTS, 7 M.I.A. 431.

(2)—S. 2, cl. 1—See WAIVER, 7 M.I.A. 431.

——Reg. V of 1831 (Munsifs, Sadr Amins and Principal Sadr Amins.)

[REP. ACT XVI OF 1868.]

S. 26, cl. 2—See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—CASES WHERE APPEALS LIE OR NOT, 13 M.I.A. 343.

——Reg. VI of 1831 (Appellate Judges at Allahabad.)

[REP., ACT XII OF 1891.]

(1)—S. 7—Reference to Judge of one High Court—Establishment of another High Court—Practice.—An appeal had been brought to the Sudder Adawlut of the North Western Provinces, and the Judges of that Court gave a decision. Then an application had been made for a review, and an order was made that the case should be heard on review. It was so heard before four Judges, who were equally divided in opinion. By the law as it then stood, the case was, under the provisions of s. 7, Reg. VI of 1831, referred for the opinion of one or more Judges of the High Court of Calcutta. In the meantime, the Crown did erect a High Court at Agra in the North Western Provinces, which had the effect of abolishing the jurisdiction of the Sudder Adawlut. The Chief Justice of the Agra High Court gave a decision in the case. Held, that the Chief Justice had jurisdiction to hear such reference and determine the case. MUSSAMAT UDEY KUNWAR v. MUSSAMAT LADU, 6 B.L.R. 283, P.C.=13 M.I.A. 585=15 W.R. P.C. 16=2 Suther. 388=2 Sar. 628.

(2)—S. 7—See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF CALCUTTA, 15 W.R. P.C., 16=6 B.L.R. 283=13 M.I.A. 585.

——Reg. VIII of 1831 (Summary suits for arrears of Rent.)

[REP., ACT X OF 1859.]

S. 4—See BEN. REG. VII OF 1799, B.L.R. Sup. 626, F.B.=2 Ind. Jur. N.S. 119=7 W.R. 185

——Reg. VII of 1832 (Modifying Ben. Reg. V of 1831.)

[REP., ACT VI OF 1871.]

(1)—S. 7—See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—SMALL CAUSE COURT SUITS, 3 W.R. Mis. 19.

(2)—S. 9—Effect of apostacy—See HINDU LAW—CONVERSION, 4 A.L.J. 365=A.W.N. 1907, 151=29 A. 487.

(3)—S. 9—Scope and effect—See HINDU LAW—CONVERSION, 15 C.W.N. 545, P.C.=8 A.L.J. 552=13 Bom. L.R. 427.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(4)—S. 9—See HINDU LAW—CONVERSION, 25 A. 546=A.W.N. 1903, 137.

(5)—S 9—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 3 W.R. 206.

———Reg. IX of 1833 [Bengal Land-revenue (Settlement and Deputy Collectors)]

[SHORT TILTE GIVEN, ACT I OF 1903. SS. 14, 15 REP. ACT X OF 1859. S. 19 REP., ACT X OF 1873 S. 4 REP., ACT XVI OF 1874 TITLE AND S 1, AM. AND REP. IN PT., S. 2 REP , SS. 3, 8, 24, 25 REP. IN PT., SS. 12, 13, 16 AM., ACT I OF 1903. REP. IN PT. (IN AGRA EXCEPT CERTAIN AREAS), ACT XIX OF 1873, AM. (IN AGRA), ACT XIX OF 1886 REP. (IN ASSAM, EXCEPT THE LUSHAI HILLS), REG. I OF 1886. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT AGRA, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 7.]

(1)—See BEN. ACT XIII OF 1848, W.R.F.B. 12=1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 5=Marsh 37.

(2)—See POSSESSION— ADVERSE POSSESSION, 10 M.I.A. 511.

(3)—Ss. 6, 7 and 9—See RIGHT OF SUIT—AWARDS, SUITS CONCERNING, 2 Agra 340.

(4)—S. 7—See NO. 3, supra.

(5)—S. 9—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 4 W.R. 79.

(6)—S 9—See RIGHT OF SUIT—AWARDS, SUITS CONCERNING, 7 N.W.P. 169.

(7)—S. 9—See NO. 3, supra.

———Reg. XIII of 1833 (Zilas of Ramgar, Jungle Mahals and Medinapore.)

[REP., ACT XII OF 1876.]

S. 2—See RES JUDICATA—COMPETENCY OF COURT, Marsh 80=W.R. F.B., 26=1 Hay 148.

*———Reg. III of 1872 (Sonthal Parganas Settlement.)

[S. 9 AM., S. 19 REP., REG. II OF 1886, SS. 4, 5. S. 4, REP., S. 6 AM., REG. V OF 1893, SS. 2, 24. S. 3, SCH, AM., REG. III OF 1899, S. 3. S. 25, SCH. REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1903. S. 9 SUPPLEMENTED, REG. II OF 1904. SCH. REP. (AS TO BEN ACT VIII OF 1862), ACT IV OF 1907. SS. 5, 11, 13, 25, 26 AM., SS. 5 A. 25 A. 27, 28, INS., S. 8 REP. IN PT., S. 23 REP. S. 24, AM. AND REP. IN PT., REG. III OF 1908. DECLARED IN FORCE IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS, REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—The Sonthal Pergunnahs, Reg. III of 1872—Partition of mal raiyati land between mal raiyats—Whether binding on the ghatwal.—As between two mal raiyats with whom a settlement has been made under Reg. III of 1872, there may be a partition of the waste and jungle lands, though such partition cannot be binding upon the superior landlord, the ghatwal, and will only subsist during the currency of the settlement. DOMAN PANDEY v. PANCHU KOLE, 5 C.W.N. 185.

(2)—S 3 Suits exceeding Rs. 1,000 in value, in Sonthal Pergunnahs — Effect of s. 2, Act XXXVII of 1855 and s 3, Reg. III of 1872, when read together—Act XII of 1887, suits exceeding Rs. 1,000, to be tried in Courts established under—See BEN. ACT XXXVII OF 1855, s. 2, 18 C. 133.

(3)—S. 5—Suits referred to by Reg. III of 1872, s. 5—Officers competent to try—Settlement proceeding before the Deputy Commissioner—Appeal to High Court.—The officers appointed under s. 2 of Act XXXVII of 1855, and not the settlement officers as such, are those empowered to try the suits referred to by Reg. III of 1872, s. 5, and to certify issues under the section to the Civil Courts. Where a Deputy Commissioner tried certain issues referred to him as a Civil Court under Reg. III of 1872, s. 5, by a Settlement Officer, and, having been previously invested with the powers of a Settlement Officer himself, amended the settlement record in accordance with his findings, held that no appeal lay to the High Court, if the Deputy Commissioner acted as Settlement Officer, and that his having tried the issues as a Civil Court without jurisdiction was not, in view of his being invested with the powers of a Settlement Officer, such an irregularity as to necessitate the interference of the High Court to set aside his order. TARINI PERSHAD MISRA v. MAHAMUD CHOWDHURY, 7 C. 376.

(4)—S 5 — Jurisdiction to try suits— Act XXXVII of 1855, s. 2—Appeals from orders of Settlement Officers.—Under Notification of 7th May, 1872 of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal, which was in force at the time of this appeal, it was directed that, until further orders, the officers appointed under s. 2 of Act XXXVII of 1855 should entertain and adjudicate suits for land under s. 5 of Sonthal Reg. III of 1872. Held that, according to this Notification, the officers appointed under s. 2 of Act XXXVII of 1855, and not the Settlement Officers, as such, were the persons empowered to try suits, and, consequently, to certify issues to the Civil Courts under s. 5 of Reg. III of 1872. The High Court had no jurisdiction to hear an appeal from an order made by a Settlement Officer in the Sonthal Pergunnahs as such. TARINI PROSAD MISSER v. HURRISH CHUNDER CHOWDHRY, 8 C.L.R. 548.

(5)— S. 5— Settlement proceedings —Civil Court's jurisdiction.—During the time of the settlement in the Sonthal Pergunnahs, the plaintiff instituted certain proceedings and complained that she had not been able to get possession of certain lands of which she had a mokurari lease from the defendant. Somehow or other the matter came before the Sub-Judge and the Settlement Officer gave permission to the Sub-Judge to try this case without payment of stamp fees; the matter was treated by the Sub-Judge as a regular suit and was tried by him accordingly, though without recording issues. The Sub-Judge dismissed the case, but the decree was not made until after the settlement had terminated. Held that, so far as the proceedings before the Sub-Judge were concerned, the matter could properly be regarded as proceedings taken under the Civ. Pro. Code, although the proceedings before him were not necessarily irregular in consequence of his failure to record issues, and that s. 5 of Reg. III of 1872 was not applicable to the case. SONAMONI DASI v. LILANUND SINGH, 11 C.L.R. 30.

* The star mark indicates that this regulation was passed by the Imperial Legislature, though applicable only to certain province.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(6)—S. 5—See APPEAL—ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 6 C.L.R. 555.

(7)—Ss. 5 and 8—Suit instituted before Settlement Officer under Regulation without Court-fee—Suit transferred to Civil Court—Institution Court-fee whether necessary—See COURT-FEE, 12 C.W.N. 917.

(8)—S. 8.—See NO. 7, supra.

(9)—Ss. 9. 11, 25—Settlement record, entry in, effect of—Conclusive as to rights of parties having subsisting interest — Reversioner, not bound.—Ss. 9, 11, and 25 of the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation make an entry in a settlement record conclusive as to the rights of the parties who have subsisting interest and who are in existence at the time the record is made. When, therefore, an estate was represented by a Hindu widow and she allowed another person, one of the reversioners, to be recorded as the owner, the other reversionary heir, after the death of the widow, is not bound by the record, but may question its validity on the ground of collusion between the widow and the recorded owner. KANGAI CHANDRA MONDAL v. MADHU SUDAN MONDAL, 17 C.L.J. 587=20 Ind. Cas. 417.

(10)—S. 11—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 7 C.L J. 101.

(11)—S. 11—See NO. 9, supra.

(12)—Ss. 11 and 25—Suit for establishment of lakhiraj title and amendment of record-of-rights—Lakhirajdar, proprietor — Jurisdiction —Suit for declaration that lands are lakhiraj—Onus.—In a suit for establishment of lakhiraj title and amendment of the record-of-rights, held, that the lakhirajdar is a proprietor within the meaning of s. 25, Reg. III of 1872. The jurisdiction of a Civil Court in this case was not barred by ss. 11 and 25 of the Regulation. (18 C. 146, D.) When the plaintiff in the above case seeks to have it declared that the lands are his lakhiraj, the onus is, in the first place, on him to prove that they are so. RAMRANJAN CHUCKERBUTTY v. NANDA LAL LAIK, 22 C. 473.

(13)—Ss. 11, 25—Settlement Record, entry in, effect of—Conclusive as to rights of parties—Proprietor and tenant.—At the last Cadastral

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

Survey in Sonthal Parganas, certain land in mouza B was included in mouza A by the Assistant Settlement Officer and specifically excluded from mouza B. The order of the Assistant Settlement Officer was affirmed on appeal, and on revision by the final Court. In a suit brought by the proprietor of the mouzas A and B against the makararidars and darmakararidars of mouza A for a declaration that the disputed land was not included in mouza A. Held, that, as a final decree under s. 11 of the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation was passed against him by the Settlement Court, the suit was barred under s. 25 of that Regulation. RAJA RAM RANJAN v. SATIS CHANDRA, 17 C.L.J. 599. (18 C. 146, F.)

(14)—S. 24, meaning of.—S. 24 of the Regulation means that a record of rights must (that is, it is compulsory on the Settlement Officer to do it) be notified and published in the manner directed therein, that is, by posting it conspicuously in the village; and that it is discretionary with the Settlement Officer to publish it in any other manner that he may think convenient, for the purpose of informing persons interested in the settlement proceedings of the result of the enquiry which he had made. NADIAR CHAND SINGH v. CHUNDER SIKHUR SADHU, 15 C. 765.

(15)—Ss. 24, 25—Suit to set aside order of Settlement Officer—Limitation.—The words in s. 25 of Reg. III of 1872 indicate that a suit, brought to set aside an order of the Settlement Officer, is within time if brought within three years from the date of the publication (of the record of rights required to be notified under s. 24), or if there is any subsequent order of the Revenue Court, from such date. The order of the Revenue Court must be one which follows and does not precede the publication of the record-of-rights. RAM NARAIN SINGH v. RAM RANJUN CHUCKERBUTTY, 13 C. 245.

(16)—Cl. 4, s. 25 — (Sonthal Perguunahs Settlement), application of—Suit to establish that defendant was not tenant of lands in dispute—Matter decided by Settlement Court.—According to the grammatical construction of cl. 4 of s. 25 of Reg. III of 1872, the introductory words, which impose a personal limitation on the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts, must apply to suits of all the three classes to which the clause relates, so that the bar to the jurisdiction can take effect only when the suit is a suit to contest the finding or record of a Settlement Officer, and involves also the determination of the rights of the zemindars or other proprietors as between themselves. [D., 22 C. 473; F., 17 C.L.J. 599.] Where the defendant had been recorded in the record of rights made by the Settlement Officer as a tenant of the lands in dispute, and a suit was brought to establish, by avoiding the instrument under which he held, that he was not a tenant and to oust him of his possession, the

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

High Court was of opinion that the suit must be held to 'regard' a matter decided by a Settlement Court in the sense of s. 11 and to be consequently unmaintainable. RAM CHURN SINGH v. DHATURI SINGH. 18 C. 146. [D., 22 C. 473 ; F., 17 C.L.J. 599.]

(17)—S. 25—See Nos. 9, 12, 13, 15, supra.

*——— Reg. III of 1879 (The Assam Local Rates).

[S. 5, REP. INPT., ACT V OF 1897.]

(1)—S. 317 — Rates payable by tenant, amount of contract by tenant to pay in excess of maximum — Realisation in execss, whether gives landlord any right.—The maximum rate at persent imposed under s. 3 of the Assam Local Rates Regulation is one anna in the Rupee. And although a contract between the landlord and tenant for the latter to pay the full amount of local rate may be justified, one to pay anything in excess of that maximum is not legal. A landlord cannot get a decree for rates at more than one anna in the Rupee, even if for a long time he had been realising more than that. UPENDRA NATH SEN v. KAMESWAR KOLITA, 5 Ind. Cas. 80.

*——— Reg. I of 1886 (The Assam Land and Revenue).

[SS. 70 (1), 72, 74 (2), 75, 79, 81, 85 AM., REG. II OF 1889, S. 1, AM., ACT V OF 1897. SS. 12, 68, 90 (2) AM., SS. 53A, 69A, 116A, 144A INS., REG. II OF 1905, WHERE AND WHEN NOTIFIED.]

(1)—S. 8—See NO. 4, infra.

(2)—S. 8 (b)—'Acquired'—Actual possession of, and settlement with, third person—Heirs of original settlement holder if can claim settlement—See EX-PARTE DECREE, 15 C.L.J. 241.

(3)—S. 6, r. 80 (i) of the Government Rules —Settlement of land, first applicant if entitled to—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.—Rule 80, cl. (i) of the rules framed under Reg. I of 1886 lays down a principle for the guidance of settlement officers, and does not confer a right on the first applicant to a settlement. It directs that, in cases where settlement is not made with the first applicant, the reasons therefor should be stated in writing. It does not follow from this that if the reasons are not recorded, the first applicant is entitled to a settlement. (17 C. 819, 24 C. 239, D.) Under s. 6 (a) of the Regulation, no right to settlement arises merely by reason of the fact that the plaintiff was the first applicant. ANANDA KISHORE SEN v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 14 C.W.N. 990=7 Ind. Cas 90.

(3-a)—S. 12—See NO. 4, infra.

* This star mark indicates that this Regulation was passed by the Imperial Legislature, though applicable only to certain provinces.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(4)—Ss. 39 and 151, 2 Prov. (b), 12 and 154 of the Assam Land and Revenue Reg., 1886—Effect when read together—Rights of settlement holder—Order by Government of India before passing the Assam Regulation regarding right of nisf-kherajdar.—Ss. 39 and 151, read together, amount to this—that a settlement made by a Settlement Officer, unless interfered with by the Chief Commissioner, is final ; but the settlement-holder does not thereby acquire any right to the property as against any other person claiming rights to it. When property has been settled with a nisf-kherajdar by the Revenue authorities, held that, having regard to the provisions of s. 2, prov. (b), s. 12 of the Regulation, and the order of the Government of India, a Civil Court can only give the nisf-kherajdar, who objects to that settlement, a declaration of his right to a settlement of the lands in question, and cannot, in view of s. 154, give him a decree for possession. MADHUB NATH SURMA v. MYARANI MEDHI, 17 C. 819. [R., 24 C. 239.]

(5)—S. 59—Suit for rent due before Regulation came into force.—S. 59 of the Regulation applies to rent becoming due subsequently to the Regulation coming into force, and not to rents already due on the date of its coming into operation. BROJO NATH CHOWDHRY v. BIRMONI SINGH MONIPURI, 15 C. 227.

(6)—Ss. 70, 71, Assam Land and Revenue Regulation (1886)—S. 37, Act XI of 1859—Incumbrance—Laches of old proprietor—Right of purchaser at revenue sale—Shikmi haziram rights—Pleading—Changing nature of defence in Appellate Court.—On a construction of the provisions of ss. 70 and 71, Assam Land and Revenue Regulation, held, that the word "property" in s. 71 includes not merely an entire estate but also a share in an entire estate in respect of which revenue has been separately apportioned ; consequently, a purchaser of a part of a permanently settled estate is entitled to the benefit of s. 71 of the Act, quite as much as a purchaser of an entire estate. The "incumbrance" under s. 71 of the Regulation, includes not merely an incumbrance created by the previous holder, but also an incumbrance created by his acquiescence or laches, and a purchaser at a revenue sale is entitled to avoid the interest acquired by any one by adverse possession. [F., 3 C.L.J. 387.] When defendants claim to hold certain lands as part and parcel of their shikmi haziram taluq, and not as cultivating raiyats of those lands, they cannot be allowed to change their ground in the High Court. MAHOMED NASIM v. KASI NATH GHOSE, 26 C. 194=3 C.W.N. 108.

(7)—Ss. 70, 71 — Annulment of incumbrances—Effect of sale—Part of estate.—The purchaser of a share of an estate at a sale held under s. 70 of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation is entitled to hold the property free of all incumbrances. The word 'property' in s. 71 includes not only an entire estate but also a share in an entire estate. (26 C. 194, F.) The purchaser, moreover, is entitled so to hold as soon as his purchase is completed. It is not necessary for him to take any steps to have the property freed from incumbrances. An incumbrance existing not only upon the part of the estate sold, but also over other parts, is, after the sale, annulled so far as it extends over the part of the estate which has been sold JAWAD ALI v. JNANADA SUNDARI DUTT, 3 C.L.J. 387.

Regulations—continued.

—2.—Bengal Regulations—continued.

(8)—S. 71—See NOS. 6, 7, supra.

(9)—Ss. 96 to 98, 119, 154, sub-section (1) cl. (e)—Suit for partition—Suit for possession by purchaser of land dispossessed after purchase, maintainability of—Imperfect partition—Civil Court, jurisdiction of.—The plaintiff, in this case, sought to recover possession by partition of a small portion of land in two plots in the district of Sylhet as forming the land which he had purchased out of the share of a former proprietor. In a previous suit between the parties, the Civil Court declared that, if the Collecter refused partition, the plaintiff might apply to it for partition. The Collector having refused partition, the plaintiff again applied to the Civil Court for partition. Both the lower Courts decreed for the plaintiff. The main ground of appeal to the High Court was that the partition sought for, being an "imperfect partition" within the meaning of s. 96 of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation, the suit was not maintainable, having regard to the provisions of s. 154, cl. (e) of the said Regulation. Rampini J. was of opinion that the suit related to a case of imperfect partition and was not maintainable in a Civil Court. On the other hand, Brett, J. was of opinion that the present case was not one for imperfect partition as defined in the Regulation and was one which was not covered by the Regulation. Further, the vendor of the plaintiff was in exclusive possession of the land claimed, prior to the purchase and the plaintiff, after his purchase, was in possession and was afterwards dispossessed. Under the ordinary law, he was entitled to have the land, which he purchased, determined and separated and possession of it given to him and that was the relief he sought for in the suit. The Assam Regulation contained no provision to meet the circumstances of the present case. Consequently, he was of opinion that the suit was maintainable. In consequence of this difference of opinion, the case was referred to Ghose, J. Held, in the present case, the claim was not for a perfect partition and it was doubtful whether a perfect partition could be claimed by the plaintiff in this case from the Revenue authority. Whatever that might be, the present claim was not for "imperfect partition," as defined in the Regulation. (23 C. 514, D.) For, the expression "imperfect partition" as defined in the Regulation, is only referable to a division of the entire estate and not to a specified portion thereof. If it was not for 'imperfect partition,' then under s. 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure the Civil Court must have jurisdiction to entertain the suit, there being nothing in the Regulation barring the cognizance of such a suit. Further, the Revenue authorities had no jurisdiction under the regulation to grant the relief which the plaintiff asked for and the legislature could not have intended that the plaintiff should have no relief even in the Civil Court. Appeal dismissed. GOURI KRISHNA SYAM CHOWDHURY v. INDRAMANI DEBI, 1 C. L. J. 421=32 C. 1036.

(9-a)—S. 96—See NO. 16, infra.

(10)—S. 97—See NO. 8, supra.

(11)—S. 98—See NO. 8, supra.

(12)—S. 119—See NO. 8, supra.

(13)—S. 151—See NOS. 4, 8, supra.

(14)—S. 154—Assam Land and Regulation, 1886—Suit for possession and for declaration of right to settlement—Civil Court—Jurisdiction.—A question merely as to the right to obtain a settlement from the Revenue authorities does not seem to be excluded from the jurisdiction of the Civil Court by the provisions of s. 154 of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation. In a suit for possession and for a declaration of plaintiff's right to a piece of land on the strength of possession and a pattah from the cadestral survey authorities, the Civil Courts cannot give the plaintiff more than a declaration of his right to a settlement. A decree for possession, if given, must be set aside. PATAN MARIA v. BHABIRAM DUTT BARNA, 24 C. 239=1 C.W.N. 94. (17 C. 819, F.) [F., 12 C.W.N. 40, Note.]

(15)—S. 154—Declaration, Suit for, that lands settled with plaintiff by revenue authorities had been wrongly included within the lands subsequently settled with defendant, if lies—Plaint, misdescription in—Amendment, if absolutely necessary to entitle plaintiff to relief.—A suit lies for a declaration that certain plots of land settled with the plaintiff by the revenue authorities had subsequently been wrongly included in the settlement made with the defendant, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 154 of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation. (17 C. 819, 24 C. 239, 1 C.W.N. 94, R.) If a Court comes to a clear finding that certain plots of land of the plaintiff's settlement have been, to the extent alleged in the plaint, actually included wrongly in one of the plots of the defendant's settlement, it would not be justified in withholding the relief to which the plaintiff is entitled, merely on the ground that the plaint contained a misdescription as to the number of the plot of the defendant's settlement and that the plaint had not been amended. NASIR MEA v. ARMAN ALI, 17 C.L.J. 118=18 Ind. Cas. 745.

(16)—Ss. 154 (c), 96—See PARTITION—SUITS FOR PARTITION, JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT IN, 23 C. 514.

Regulations—continued.

——2.—Bengal Regulations—concluded.

* ——— Reg. V of 1893 (The Sauthal Parganas Justice.)

[S. 4 AM. REG. III OF 1899, S.2. S. 2, REP. ACT I OF 1903. DECLARED IN FORCE IN THE SANTHAL PARGANAS REG. III OF 1872, S. 3, AS AMENDED BY REG. III OF 1899, S. 3.]

(1)—S. 15—Sanction for prosecution—Appeal against order of Deputy Commissioner of Sonthal Perganas revoking sanction granted by Subordinate. Court — Jurisdiction — S. 195, Crim. Pro. Code. — For the purposes of s. 195, Crim. Prc. Code, the Court of the Deputy Commissioner of Sonthal Perganas shall be deemed to be subordinate to the Court of the Commissioner of Bhagalpur. An appeal against an order of the former Court revoking a sanction granted by a Court subordinate to it, lies to the latter Court and not to the High Court. MANNA LAL CHOWDHRY v. PADMAN MISSER, 30 C. 916.

(2)—S. 24 — See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, ss. 23, 24, 26C, 23S.

———Reg. XIX of 1854.

See PARTITION—MISCELLANEOUS, 14 W. R. 335.

—— 3.—Bombay Regulations.

———Reg. I of 1800 (Civil Court, Surat.)

[REP., BOM. REG. I OF 1827.]

(1)—S. 13—See LIMITATION — MISCELLANEOUS, 1 M.I.A. 414, 5 W R. P.C. 31=1 M.I.A. 154.

(2)—S. 13—Application of—See MORTGAGE —REDEMPTION, 11 Bom. L.R. 318=2 Ind. Cas. 469.

———Reg. II of 1800 (Suits in such Courts.

[REP., BOM. REG. I OF 1827.]

S. 7—See ABATEMENT OF SUIT, 5 W.R. P. C. 59=1 M.I.A. 470.

——Bom. Reg. I of 1814 (Interest).

[REP. BOM. REG. I OF 1827.]

See JUDICIAL OFFICERS, LIABILITY OF, 3 B.H.C. App. 1.

———Reg. II of 1827 (Caste questions; Pleaders).

[REP. IN PT., ACT I OF 1846; ACT X of 1861; ACT X OF 1873; ACT XII OF 1873; ACT XII OF 1876; BOM. ACT VI OF 1866; (LOCALLY) ACT XIV OF 1869. REP. IN PT. AND AM., ACT XVI OF 1895. CH. VI REP. ACT XVIII OF 1879, S.42 (AS AM. BY ACT I OF 1903), WHEN NOTIFIED. SS. 21, 47 TO 54 AND 56 DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF BOMBAY, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 5.]

* This star mark indicates that this regulation was passed by the Imperial Legislature, though applicable to certain provinces

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

(1)—See ACT XXIII OF 1871, s. 4, 17 B. 224.

(2)—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—APPOINTMENT AND APPEARANCE, 12 B. 85.

(3)—S. 5 — See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 115, 10 B. 610, F B.

(4)—S. 5—See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF—BOMBAY, 7 B. 341.

(5)—S. 5, cl. 2—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 73, 74 and 75, 3 B. H. C. A. C. 104.

(6)—S. 5, cl. (2)—See SUPERINTENDENCE OF HIGH COURT, 20 B. 50.

(7)—S. 11—Caste question—Suit for declaration to be called the Ayya of Hiremath—Use of name—Allegation of damages.—The plaintiff sued to obtain a declaration that he was entitled to the fees and privileges appertaining to the Hiremath at Kamalapur by reason of his title to be called the Ayya of that Hiremath, and he asked for a perpetual injunction to restrain the defendants from using the name "Ayya of Hiremath." The first Court, held that the suit was barred by s. 11 of Reg. II of 1827. On appeal, the lower appellate Court held that the plaintiff was not entitled to the office claimed by him. On second appeal, the plaintiff contended that his case fell within the principle that the unauthorised use of the name of one person by another gave a cause of action to the former where the use was calculated to deceive and inflict pecuniary loss. Held, (i) That the question for determination was whether any damages had been incurred or not: but the plaint did not afford any clear indication that what was complained of was the user of a name by the defendant in a manner calculated to deceive any one. (2) That all that the plaintiff complained of was that the defendant had assumed a name to which the plaintiff alone had the exclusive right; and that that assumption would enable, and had enabled, the defendant to attract to himself a large number of the plaintiff's followers, and thereby appropriated to himself fees, which would have gone into his (plaintiff's) pockets. It was, therefore, a claim to a caste office or to enjoy certain privileges and honours at the hands of the members of a caste in virtue of that office. That was a caste question, not cognizable by Civil Court (6 B. 725, Appl.) The law does not recognize the absolute right of a person to a particular name to the extent of entitling him to prevent the assumption of a name by a stranger. The mere assumption of that name which is the patronymic of a family, by a stranger who has never before been called by that name, whatever cause of annoyance it may be to a family, is a grievance for which law affords no redress. GADIGEYA ADIVEYA HIREMATH v. BASAYA MALLAYA RAPATI, 12 Bom. L.R. 358=6 Ind. Cas. 519 =34 B. 455.

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

(8)—S. 21 — If applicable to suits between Mahomedans.—A dispute as to the right to an office, as for example the office of Khatib among the Mahomedans, is not a caste question within the meaning of the term as used in s. 21 of Reg. II of 1827, which has no application to suits between Mahomedans. SAYED HASHUN SAHEB v. HUSSANSHA, 13 B. 429. [R., 12 C.L.J. 74=14 C.W.N. 1057.]

(9)—S. 21—"Caste," Construction of—Caste question — Arrangement between members of caste for purpose of paying off debts of caste.—The term "caste" in s. 21 of Reg. II of 1827, is not necessarily confined to Hindus, but comprises any well-defined native community governed, for certain internal purposes, by its own rules and regulations. In the present case, an agreement had been entered into by the members of a certain Mahomedan caste for the purpose of paying off the debts of the caste out of certain contributions to the caste funds; and a suit was brought to recover a certain sum from a member of the caste, on the basis of this agreement. Held that it was a caste question, and as such was not cognizable by the Civil Courts. ABDUL KADIR v. DHARMA, 20 B. 190. [R, 26 B. 174, 31 B. 366=9 Bom. L.R. 451.]

(10)—S. 21—Yajman vritti—Rights of officiator — Jurisdiction — See HINDU LAW — GENERAL, 13 Bom. L.R. 1171.

(11)—S. 21—Suit by some members of a caste for declaration of exclusive right to worship at temple, cognisability of, by Civil Court—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 7 B. 323.

(12)—S. 21—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 6 B. 725, 11 B. 534, 19 B. 507, 5 B. 83, 5 B. 84, F.B. (note).

(13)—S. 21—See RIGHT OF SUIT—OFFICE OR EMOLUMENT, SUITS RELATING TO, 2 B. 470.

(14)—S. 21. cl. (1)—See RIGHT OF SUIT—CASTE QUESTIONS. SUITS CONCERNING, 3 Bom. L.R. 718, 26 B. 174.

(15)—S. 43—See PUBLIC SERVANT, 4 B.H. C. A.C. 93.

(16)—S. 52—Pleader's fees, basis of—Actual value of the property—Plaint must show real value and Court-fee value—Court—Practice.—On a question raised as to whether the basis for the calculation of pleader's fees under s. 52, Reg. II of 1827, should be the actual value of the property or the valuation of the claim for Court-fee purposes: Held, that the words of the Regulation point to the actual value as the basis of the remuneration, while the Court-fee value in suits of this class may bear no relation to the actual value. The principle and rule of taxation ought as far possible to be such as to secure that the successful party should recover from his opponent such costs as are necessary to enable him to place his case properly before the Court, and this end can best be secured by adopting the actual value as the basis of the taxation. In view of this conclusion, it will in future be right for the real as well as the Court-fee value to be stated on every plaint and memorandum of appeal, and, in case of dispute, for an issue to be raised as to the real value. MEHERBAI v. MAGANCHAND, 7 Bom. L R. 131=29 B. 229.

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

(17)—S. 54—One pleader appointing another on his behalf—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 36—Chap 1, cl. 18(i) of the High Court Circular Orders—Proviso to the rule not ultra vires, —This was a reference for the opinion of the High Court concerning the legality of the proviso to cl. 18 (i) of chap. I, of the Circular Orders of the High Court directing that one pleader may appoint another pleader to appear on his behalf and that the hearing of the case should in such cases be allowed to proceed unless the Court sees reason to the contrary. It had to be determined whether the above rule was consistent with cl. 1 of s. 54 of Reg. II of 1827, and the High Court was of opinion that there was nothing inconsistent with that enactment in a rule authorising one pleader to ask another to hold a brief for him. The section regulates the mode of the appointment of the pleader and is intended to prevent a client being prejudiced by the absence of his pleader and the rule authorises the pleader so appointed to transact, with the leave of the Court, the business entrusted to him. The rule was passed with the object of facilitating the work of the Court and obviate unnecessary adjournments of cases, and was never intended for the purpose of allowing the more experienced pleaders to get their client's business transacted by the agency of their inexperienced juniors. So, where the client objects to such a procedure on the part of his own pleader, the Court would then "see reason to the contrary," as also where the Court itself considers that the rule was being abused, and would act accordingly. In re SHIDAPPA, 22 B. 654. [R., 9 O.C. 65.]

(18)—S. 54. cl. 1—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER, APPOINTMENT AND APPEARANCE, 1 Bom. L.R. 92=23 B. 657.

(19)—S. 56 — Pleader — Misconduct—Disciplinary jurisdiction—High Court.—Pleaders are a privileged class enrolled for the purpose of rendering assistance to the Courts in the administration of justice. Their position, training and practice, give them influence with the public and it is directly contrary to their duty to use that influence for the purpose of bringing the administration of justice into contempt. A pleader presiding at a public meeting and procuring the passing thereat of a resolution contemptuously denouncing or protesting against the conduct of a Judge of the High Court in passing sentence at a trial at the Criminal Sessions is guilty of misbehaviour under s. 56 of Reg. II of 1827. GOVERNMENT PLEADER v. J. M. SAMANT, 10 Bom. L.R. 1169=33 B. 252.

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

(20)—S. 56 — High Court — Disciplinary jurisdiction — Pleader — Misbehaviour — Not limited to professional misconduct.—The disciplinary jurisdiction of the High Court under s. 56 of the Bom. Reg. II of 1827 is not, in cases of a pleader's alleged misconduct, limited to the misconduct committed in the course of his professional duties. The occurrence of the word "misbehaviour" in juxtaposition with "criminal offence" suggests that the misbehaviour need not be necessarily restricted to professional misbehaviour. There is no reason to suppose that the Legislature intended in this matter to enact a laxer rule of practice in India than the rule which prevails in England. THE GOVERNMENT PLEADER BOMBAY v. ANNAJI NARAYAN DESHPANDE, 15 Bom. L R. 231=14 Cr. L.J. 257=19 Ind. Cas. 529=37 B. 354. (33 B. 252=10 Bom. L.R. 1169, (1842) 10 M. and W. 28 (34), (1860) 3 E. and E. 34 (38), (1868) L.R. 3 Q B. 543, (1893) 2 Q B. 439, (1805) 6 East, 126, (1778) 2 Cow. p. 829, R.)

——Reg. IV of 1827 [Civil Courts (Law to be observed.)]

[REP. IN PT., ACT X OF 1861; ACT XVII OF 1862; ACT VI OF 1874. REP. IN PT. (LOCALLY)—ACT XIV OF 1869; BOM. ACT V OF 1879. S. 26 AND S. 69, CLAUSES SECOND AND THIRD, DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF BOMBAY, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 5.]

(1)—See NAWAB OF SURAT, 12 B.H.C. 156.

(1-a)—S. 26—See EASEMENT, 1 Bom. L.R. 170=23 B. 666.

(2)—S. 26—See ENGLISH LAW, 2 B.H.C. 36, 52.

(3)—S. 26—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF, 1 B.H.C. 36.

(4)—S. 27, cl. 1—See EVIDENCE — MISCELLANEOUS, 4 W.R. P.C. 94=6 M.I.A. 448.

(5)—Ss. 62 and 66—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE — PURCHASERS, RIGHT OF, 12 B.H.C. 15.

(6)—S. 66—See NO. 5, supra.

——Reg. V of 1837 (Acknowledgment of Debts; Interest; Mortgages.)

[REP. IN PT., ACT XXVIII OF 1855; ACT IX OF 1871; ACT XII OF 1873; ACT XII OF 1876; ACT IV OF 1894. REP. IN PT. (LOCALLY)—ACT XVII OF 1879, S. 12; ACT IV OF 1882. PREAMBLE AND SS. 9, 14 AND 15 DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF BOMBAY, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 5.]

(1)—Acquisition of title by prescription—Reg. V of 1827—Nature of possession—Extinction of right to property—Act XIV of 1859 (Limitation Act).—In the Bombay Presidency, it is only in those cases in which the possession of property has been of such a duration and character as to come within Reg. V of 1827 that the result of extinguishing the original right to the property follows under Act XIV of 1859. PARASHRAM JATHMAL v. RAKHMA, 15 B. 299.

(2)—See LIMITATION — MISCELLANEOUS, 1 B.H.C. 64.

(3)—See RELINQUISHMENT OF PORTION OF CLAIM, 21 B. 267.

(4)—S. 1—Prescriptive title.—A person in uninterrupted possession of land for more than 30 years acquired a prescriptive title to the land and became its absolute owner under the section, even as against the Crown. N.B.—The Regulation has since been repealed by the Limitation Act, IX of 1871. THE COLLECTOR OF THANA v. DADABHAI BOMANJI, 1 B. 352. [R., 14 B. 213.]

(5)—S. 1—Trust property—Endowment of village for performing Karpur Mangalarti—Swami of the Math, a trustee of the village—Alienation of village by Swami—Possession of alienee for thirty years—Possession ripened into title—Limitation Act (XIV of 1859), ss. 1 (12), 2—Limitation Act (IX of 1871), s. 2—Repeal of s. 1 of Bom. Reg. V of 1827—Rule of positive prescription not affected by law of limitation—Construction of Statutes—Existing Acts should be harmoniously construed.—The village of Gangapur was granted in Inam in 1678 to the Swami of a Math, by way of trust for the purpose of meeting the expenses of a religious service, known as "Karpur Mangalarti," in the temple of Shri Rama. In 1830, the then Swami gave the village by way of gift (Krishnarpana) to the defendants who went into its possession as proprietors. Under the terms of the gift, the defendants were to pay Rs. 20 per year as Judi on the land; but in 1830 the payment was discontinued, and a fresh deed of gift was passed in favour of defendants. In 1911, the plaintiff, the present Swami of the Math, sued to obtain a declaration that the village belonged to him and to recover possession of the same from the defendants. The defendants contended that the suit was barred by limitation. Held, (1) that the Swami and his successors held the village as trustees, for the legal property was by the original grant vested in the Swami, while the equitable estate was in the juridical person, the idol. (1901) A.C. 118, 121, F.; 9 B. 425, 27 M. 435, R.) (2) That the defendants having gone into possession of the property as proprietors in 1830, their possession had ripened into title in 1860, by virtue of the provisions of s. 1 of the Bombay Reg. V of 1827. (3) That s. 1 of the Bombay Regulation was not affected by s. 2 of the Limitation Act (XIV of 1859), which did not come into operation till the 1st January, 1862; and that it remained in force until it was repealed by the Limitation Act (IX of 1871). (4) That, s. 1 of the

Regulations*—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

Bombay Regulation, being an enactment of positive prescription, was not affected by Act XIV of 1859 which was a Statute of limitations. (1 B. 286, 1 B. 592, F.; 10 B.H.C. 231, (1829) 9 B. and C. 750 (752), R.) (5) That the fact that defendants were alienees from a trustee did not weaken their position, for s. 2 of the Limitation Act of 1859, which dealt with trustees, was but a section dealing with limitation of suits, and could not affect s. 1 of the Regulation which dealt with positive prescription. Where a later Act of Legislature does not purport or affect to supersede an earlier Act, the Court will endeavour to read the two enactments together and to avoid conflict if possible. RANGACHARYA v. DESACHARYA, 15 Bom. L.R. 178=37 B. 231=19 Ind. Cas. 387.

(5-a)—S. 1—See LIMITATION—LAW OF LIMITATION, 1 B.H.C. 41.

(6)—S. 1—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 26, 16 B. 592.

(6-a)—S. 1—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 13 B.L.R. 254, P.C.=21 W.R. 178=10 B.H.C. 281=1 I.A. 34.

(7)—S. 1—See POSSESSION—ADVERSE POSSESSION, 1 B. 592.

(8)—Ch. I, s. 1, cl. (i)—Hindu family—Ancestral estate—Suit for share—Applicability—Uninterrupted possession—Thirty years—Prescriptive title—Limitation Act, 1859 and Act IX of 1871, sch. I, s. 22—Repeal of statute—Absence of express words—Right acquired under repealed statute.—The section in the Regulation is applicable to a suit to recover a share in undivided, immoveable estate belonging to a Hindu family. (3 B.H.C.A.C. 170, 173, F.) Under the Regulation, a person in uninterrupted possession of an immoveable estate as proprietor for more than 30 years, acquired a prescriptive title in the estate. It not merely barred the remedy of any other claimant, but it extinguished his right itself. [R., 9 B. 198, F.B., 21 A. 204.] Reg. V of 1827 was unaffected by the Limitation Act of 1859, but it was expressly repealed by Act IX of 1871. The repeal of a statute or other legislative enactment cannot, without express words, or clear implication to that effect, in the repealing Act, take away a right acquired under the repealed statute or other enactment while it was in force (Restall v. London and South Western Railway Co., L.R. 3 Exch. 141; Oldreene v. Puckridge, L.R. 3 Exch. 145, R.) Act IX of 1871, although it repealed Reg. V of 1827 cannot affect any prescriptive right or title which had, under ch. I, s. 1 of that Regulation, been acquired by any possessor of immoveable property before Act IX of 1871 was passed, inasmuch as neither by express words nor by clear implication does there appear to have been any intention on the part of the legislature to take away any such right or title. Accordingly, a suit instituted since 1st April 1873, for a share of immoveable property, was barred, inasmuch as the defendant had uninterrupted and exclusive possession of that property for more than 30 years, as well before the commencement of the suit, as before the 1st April 1873; and therefore, art. 127, sch. II of Limitation Act IX of 1871, was inapplicable to the suit. SITARAM VASUDEV v. KHANDERAV BALKRISHNA, 1 B. 286. [F., B. 295, 2 B. 148, F.B., 153 P.L.R. 1901, 90 P.R. 1904=88 P.L.R. 1904.]

(8)—*S.*1, cl. 1—Money payment.—Money-payment is not "immoveable property" within the meaning of Bom. Reg. V of 1827, s. 1, cl. 1. THE GOVERNMENT OF BOMBAY v. DESAI KULLIANRAI HAKOOMUTRAI, 14 M.I.A. 551=3 Sar. 103.

(8-a)—S. 1, cl. 1—See PESCRIPTION—EASEMENTS—GENERAL, 2 B.H.C. 334.

(8-b)—S. 3—See ACT OF STATE, 2 M.I.A. 37.

(9)—S. 4—See DEBT, 8 B.H.C.A.C. 150.

(10)—S. 4—See HEREDITARY OFFICE, 5 W.R.P.C. 121=2 M.I.A. 23.

(11)—S. 7—See HINDU LAW—MINORITY, 2 B.H.C. 325.

(12)—S. 7, cl. 2—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 W.R. P.C. 38=3 M.I.A. 138.

(13)—S. 12—See HINDU LAW—USURY, 3 B.H.C. A.C. 23.

(14)—S. 15, cl. 3—Usufructuary mortgage—Sale.—S. 15, cl. 3, of Reg. V of 1827, does not authorize the sale of a usufructuary mortgage. KRISHNAJI v. WASUDEO, 3 Bom. L.R. 156.

(15)—S. 15 (3)—See MORTGAGE—CONSTRUCTION OF MORTGAGE DEEDS, 16 B. 303, 20 B. 296.

(16)—S. 15 (3)—See MORTGAGE—USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE, 11 Bom. L.R. 1315=34 B. 128=4 Ind. Cas. 595.

——Reg. VI of 1827 (Pauper Suits and Appeals.)

[REP., ACT X OF 1861.]

See COURT, 1 B.H.C. 102.

——Reg. VII of 1827 (Panchayats).

[REP., ACT X OF 1861.]

(1)—See ARBITRATION—REFERENCE TO ARBITRATION, 6 M.I.A. 134.

(2)—See AWARD, 7 W.R. P.C. 8=3 M.I.A. 383.

——Reg, VIII of 1827 (Administration of Estates.)

[REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1873; EXTENDED TO SINDH, BOM. ACT XII OF 1866, S. 12. APPLICATION OF S. 10 RESTRICTED (LOCALLY) BOM. ACT IV OF 1890, S. 58 (3). DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF BOMBAY, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 5.]

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

(1)—Reg. VIII of 1827, certificate of heirship not obtainable by minor under.—Having regard to all the provisions of Reg. VIII of 1827, a certificate of heirship cannot be granted under that Regulation to a minor. BAI BAIBA v. BAI DAGUBA, 6 B. 728. [R., 7 B. 341.]

(2)—See CERTIFICATE OF ADMINISTRATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 12 B. 150, 14 B. 236, 19 B. 320.

(3 & 4)—See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT, 1889 ss. 19, 28, 19 B. 399.

(5)—See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT, 1889, s. 28, 18 B. 748.

(6)—Certificate of heirship under—Effect—See WILL—GENERAL, 1 S.L.R. 196.

(7)—S. 2—See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT, 1889, s. 26, 17 B. 230.

(8)—S. 4—See CERTIFICATE OF ADMINISTRATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 20 B. 548.

(9)—S. 7—See CERTIFICATE OF ADMINISTRATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 11 B. 368.

(10)—S. 9—"Determined" meaning of—Appeal—Order to deliver property.—S. 9 of Reg. VIII of 1827 empowers the District Court to make an order directing the administrators appointed under the Regulation to make over the property, "when it has been determined" between the rival claimants who is the heir of the deceased, but, to give full effect to the object of the Regulation, the word "determined" must be understood as "finally determined." Where a District Judge judicially declares one of the two rival claimants to be the heir of the deceased, it cannot be said that that order is final as long as the party against whom that decision has been given has a right of appeal. Therefore, a District Judge would be illegally exercising his jurisdiction under the Regulation if he passes an order, before the expiry of the time allowed for appeal, directing the administrators appointed under the Regulation to make over the property of the deceased to the successful claimant. SHRI VISHVAMBHAR PANDIT v. SHRI VASUDEV PANDIT, 16 B. 708. (15 C. 47, 16 B. 711 = P.J. 1887, 152, R.)

(11)—S. 9—See CERTIFICATE OF ADMINISTRATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 13 B. 37.

(12)—S. 10—See PARTIES TO SUIT—SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES TO SUITS, 21 B. 102.

——Reg IX of 1827 (Registration).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1864.]

S. 3, cl. 2—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, S. 50, 3 B.H.C.A.C. 167.

——Reg. XVI of 1827 (Collectors of Land Revenue).

[REP. IN PT., ACT XI OF 1843; ACT X OF 1873; ACT XII OF 1873; ACT X OF 1876; ACT XII OF 1876; BOM. ACT V OF 1866; BOM. ACT III OF 1874; RESIDUE REP. (LOCALLY) BOM. ACT V OF 1879.]

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

(1)—See Bom. ACT III OF 1874, 4 C.W.N. 517, P.C. = 24 B. 556 = 27 I.A. 86 = 2 Bom. L. R. 548.

(2)—Vatan property, mortgage by holder of life-interest in—Descent of interest to mortgagor's son effect of, on mortgage—See VATAN, 6 B. 211.

(3)—See VATANDAR, 2 Bom.L.R. 548 = 24 B. 556.

(4)—Ss. 19, 20—Acquisition of larger interest by the mortgagor after the date of the mortgage—Rights of mortgagee—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 12 Bom. L.R. 143 = 34 B. 175 = 5 Ind. Cas. 866.

(5)—S. 20—Alienation of vatan property—Bombay Act, III of 1874.—A mortgage by a vatandar of vatan property, executed in 1871, i.e. at a time when Reg. XVI of 1827 was yet in force, was held to be void in its inception, as against the heir of the then vatandar (the mortgagor). Nor could the subsequent repeal of Reg. XVI of 1827 by Bom. Act III of 1874 validate the mortgage as against the heir. KALU NARAYAN KULKARNI v. HANUMAPA bin BHIMAPA, 5 B. 435. [Appr., 24 B. 556; R., 5 B. 437, 18 B. 22, 34 B. 175 = 12 Bom.L. R. 143.]

(6)—S. 20—Talvar lands, invalidity of partial alienation of, under s. 20 of Reg. XVI of 1827—Suit to eject lessee of the lands.—The lands from which the plaintiff sought to eject the defendant in this case were lands pertaining to a talwar or shetsanadi vatan, of which the defendant was a lessee from the last full owner. According to Regulation XVI of 1827 ss. 19 and 20, as construed by Act XI of 1843 s. 15, the shetsanadis who, from time to time, held the vatan in succession, were hereditary district or village officers. The emoluments annexed to the office were inalienable under the provisions of s. 20 of the Regulation. The defendant therefore acquired no title at all under lease by the holder of vatan, the lease having been invalid as a partial alienation opposed to the above Regulation; and was therefore liable to be ejected by the life-owner entitled to possession. PURSHOTTAM TALWAR v. MUDKANGAVDA SHIDAMGAVDA, 7 B. 420.

(7)—S. 20—See BOM. ACT III OF 1874, s. 10, 5 B. 283, F.B.

(8)—S. 20—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 124, 5 B. 437.

(9)—S. 20—See NO. 4, supra.

——Reg. XVII of 1827 (Land Revenue).

[REP. IN PT., ACT XXVI OF 1871; ACT XII OF 1873; ACT X OF 1876; ACT XII OF 1876; BOM. ACT VII OF 1863; BOM. ACT II OF 1866. RESIDUE REP. (LOCALLY), BOM. ACT V OF 1879.]

(1)—Revenue Courts within contemplation of—Mamlatdar's Court regarded as Revenue Court.—See BOM. ACT XVI OF 1838, s. 1, cl. 2, 14 B. 372.

(2)—See INAMDAR, 17 B. 422.

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

(3)—S. 5—Rights of Government—Revenue—Inferior and superior holder--Privity of estate.—The Government, and, therefore, the holder of the rights of Government can, under s. 5, on failure of the superior holder to pay the revenue, realize it from the inferior holder, e.g., a mortgagee in possession. The laws for realizing the land revenue establish a kind of privity of estate between the superior and inferior holder, by which the latter, taking the profits of the land, must satisfy the obligations of the former to Government independently of, and even in opposition to, any agreement between the two contracting parties. The liability adheres to the occupation and enjoyment, and cannot be got rid of, except through its resignation by the Sovereign or his representatives. KRISHNAJI RAVJI GODBOLE v. RAMACHANDRA SADASHIV, 1 B. 70.

(4)—S. 31, cl. 3—See RENT, SUIT FOR, 2 B. H.C. 185.

———Reg. XVIII of 1827 (Stamps).

[REP., ACT XXXVI OF 1860.]

(1)—See WILL—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 B.H. C. 52.

(2)—S. 10—Objection to validity of document—Objection on merits.—An objection to the validity of a document, as distinguished from its inadmissibility in evidence, or from a prohibition to Courts of justice or public officers to act upon it, is an objection on the merits. Two documents which were executed in the Island of Bombay respectively under date the 29th August 1851 and 4th August 1852, and which did not appear to have been originally expressly intended to operate within any of the zillahs subordinate to the Presidency of Bombay, held, not to come within the scope of Reg. XVIII of 1827. That Regulation, being an enactment imposing stamp duties upon the subject, must be strictly construed, and although the High Court believed that those documents were actually intended to operate, so far as the particular property in question in the suit was concerned, in the zillah of Tana, the High Court declined to hold "expressly" to mean the same as "actually," as nothing appeared on the face of either of those documents to show where the property mentioned in them was situated. GIRDHAR NAGJISHET v. GANPAT MOROBA, 11 B.H.C. 129. [R., 13 B. 493.]

(3)—S. 10—Lease—Contract of indemnity—Stamp— Mortgage— Stamp duty— Tender—Special appeal—Practice.—One of the terms of a mortgage stipulated that the mortgagor should hold the estate for the term of the mortgage at a certain rent and make good any losses arising to the mortgagee from the default of tenants, the amount with interest being also recoverable at the time of redemption. The mortgagee now sought to enforce the stipulation. Held, that the stipulation could not be construed as being a lease or its counterpart or other engagement of a similar nature relating to the rent of land, passed between a landholder and his tenant. It is not an engagement for the payment of rent during the continuance of the lease or for the performance of any other condition on which the continuance of the lease depends; but it is a contract of indemnity against losses to be incurred after the determination of the lease and could have no operation so long as the lease was in existence. Therefore such an agreement is not exempt from stamp duty under s. 10, cl. (3) of Reg. XVIII of 1827. Courts cannot allow a party to remedy his own wilful omission to render his evidence admissible. Where a party failed to tender the stamp duty and penalty on a document which the Courts below had held to be insufficiently stamped, the High Court will not allow him to do so in special appeal. RAMAKRISHNA GOPAL v. VITHEE SHIVAJI, 10 B.H.C. 441.

(4)—S. 10—Unstamped instrument—Penalty—Admissibility in evidence.—Under Reg. XVIII of 1827, a party has a right to have an instrument stamped on payment of the prescribed penalty. The regulation does not, like the later Stamp Acts, forbid the execution of instruments on unstamped paper, but merely says that they shall not be valid unless stamped. On payment of such stamp-duty, the Courts are bound to admit the instrument in evidence. No Court can reject such an instrument on the ground that the party intended to evade payment of the proper stamp-duty. ANTAJI NILKANTH v. JANARDAN VASUDEV, 10 B.H.C. 358.

(5)—S. 10—See STAMP ACT, 1879, s. 24, cl. (3), 13 B. 493.

(6)—S. 10, cl. 1 and s. 12, cl. 2—See STAMP ACT, 1862, 15 W.R. P.C. 33=14 M.I.A. 24.

(7)—S. 12, cl. (2)—See STAMP, 10 B. 239.

(8)—*S.*13—Question as to intention of parties in stamping document insufficiently—Act XXXVI of 1860, s. 13 and Act X of 1862, s. 15.—In the case of documents insufficiently stamped under Reg. XVIII of 1827, the question does not properly arise under s. 13 of the Regulation, whether the intention of the parties in not sufficiently stamping them was to defraud the Government of its revenue. The language of s. 13 of Act XXXVI of 1860 first rendered the question important; and Act X of 1862, s. 15 is still more explicit. KASTUR BHAVANI v. APPA 5 B. 621.

———Reg. XXVI of 1827 (Kazis).

[REP., ACT XI OF 1864.]

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—KAZI, 1 B. 693, 3 B. 72.

———Reg. XXVIII of 1827 (Commencement of Bombay Regulations).

[REP., ACT XII OF 1873.]

(1)—S. 14, cl. 1—Purchaser of mortgagor's interest in execution sale—Third party—Stamp.—

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—continued.

The purchaser at Court sale of the right, title and interest of the mortgagor is a 'third party' within the meaning of cl. 1, s. 14 of Reg. XXVIII of 1827. Therefore, as against him, a mortgage bond passed by such judgment-debtor to a mortgagee is valid, not from the date of its execution, but only from the date on which it was stamped. NARAYAN DESHPANDE v. RANGUBAI, 5 B. 127.

———Reg. XXIX of 1827 [Dekhan and Khandesh (Puna, Ahmednagar and Khandesh Districts).]

[REP. IN PT., BOM. REG. IV OF 1828; ACT VI OF 1842; ACT XI OF 1846; ACT IV OF 1868; ACT XIV OF 1869; ACT X OF 1876; ACT XII OF 1876; ACT IV OF 1894; SUPPLEMENTED, BOM. REG. I OF 1831 (AS AMENDED BY BOM. REG. XVI OF 1831, S. 2); ACT XIX OF 1835. APPLICATION EXTENDED TO OTHER TERRITORY—BOM. REG. VII OF 1830 (AS AMENDED BY ACT XVI OF 1895); BOM. ACT III OF 1863, S. 4; BOM. ACT XIV OF 1866, S. 3.]

(1)—See ACT XXIII OF 1871, s. 4, 17 B. 224.

(2)—See JURISDICTION—GENERAL, 2 M.I.A. 107.

(3)—See JURISDICTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 B.H.C. 96.

(4)—S. 6—Act XXIII of 1871 (Pensions), s. 4—Bombay Jurisdiction Act (X of 1876), s. 4—Act XI of 1852, effect of attachment under—Release of attachment—Adverse nature of possession by Collector subsequent to.—A decree had been awarded to the plaintiff's predecessor-in-title, as mortgagee, giving him possession and enjoyment of certain inam lands and of payments from the Government treasury, called "mokasa amals." The possession of the decree-holder and his successors continued down to 1852, when the inam happened to be attached on behalf of the Government, pending an enquiry into the title of its holders under Bom. Act XI of 1852. On the attachment having ceased in 1865, the Government had ordered the restoration of the property to the decree-holder and his successors, and in 1883, the plaintiff, as such successor, instituted this suit for getting possession of the inam lands and recovering arrears of the amals due. This suit was held to be not cognisable by the Civil Courts. Under Reg. XXIX of 1827, s. 6, the Government thinking fit to appropriate an inam, to refuse payment of an annuity, or to exact land-tax where the land-owner averred it was not due, could not be sued for such act in the Civil Courts. And Acts XXIII of 1871 and X of 1876, excluding the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts over suits relating to pensions and grants of land revenue, and over claims to hold land wholly or partly free from the land-tax, though they preserved fully acquired rights and even inchoate ones involved in pending suits, created no rights to relief against the Government where none subsisted before. Plaintiff therefore had no remedy under Reg. XXIX of 1827 and the above-mentioned Acts, and, if he had any, it was barred by limitation before the institution of the present suit. Against the limitation pleaded in bar of the suit on behalf of the Government, it was urged that the property having been taken possession of by the Government with a view to adjudicating on the rights set up to it, must be held to have been in custodia legis and then retained by the Government on a constructive trust which would endure until the restoration of the property, but it was held that the Government having seized the lands in question as its own and not as on behalf of any rival claimants thereto, they could not be properly deemed to have been in custodia legis and that the claim to them was therefore barred. Also, the plaintiff's right to the periodical payments, even if otherwise cognizable, would be barred by the subsequent total discontinuance of them for more than twelve years before the suit. SHIVRAM DINKAR GHARPURAY v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, 11 B. 222. [D., 29 B. 480=7 Bom. L.R. 497.]

———Reg. XIII of 1830 (Jurisdiction of Jagirdars, etc.)

[REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1873; ACT XII OF 1876. AM., ACT IV OF 1894. EXT. ACT XV OF 1840. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF BOMBAY, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 5.]

See JURISDICTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 B.H.C. 96.

* ——— Reg. III of 1892 (Sindh Frontier Regulation.)

[REP. IN PT., ACT XVI OF 1895.]

(1)—Ss. 4, 5 (3), (a), (c), (e) 6 and 7—Suit filed after reference by District Magistrate—Decision of Council not signed by all, validity.—Where a suit was filed after the District Magistrate had made a reference to the Council of Elders, and it did not come on for final hearing until after he had passed a decree under s. 5 (3) (a) of the Regulation, Held, that the suit was barred under s. 7. The words "take cognizance of" in s. 7, mean something more than "entertain a suit." When once a District Magistrate had made a valid reference to the Council of Elders, the jurisdiction of Civil Courts is ousted until he either referred the parties to a civil suit or declared that further proceedings under s. 5 were not required. Vide s. 5 (3) (c) and (e). The decree by the Council of Elders, under s. 6, has the same effect as a decree of a Civil Court of ultimate resort, and s. 12, Civ. Pro. Code is a bar to the present suit.

* This star indicates that this regulation was passed by the Imperial Legislature, though applicable only to certain provinces.

Regulations—continued.

——3.—Bombay Regulations—concluded.

Held, that under s. 4, it is sufficient if three of the Elders have signed the decision, though all may not have signed. MUSSAMAT HAVA v. MUSSAMAT JAMZADI, 3 S.L.R. 100=3 Ind. Cas. 902

(2)—S. 5—See NO. 1, supra.

(3)—S. 6—See NO. 1, supra.

(4)—S. 7—See NO. 1, supra.

——4.—Burma Regulations.

* ——— Reg. VIII of 1874 (Arakan Hills Civil Justice Regulation).

[AM., REG. V OF 1876, REG. II OF 1892, ACT VI OF 1900. S 47.]

(1)—S. 18—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 62, 91, 110, U.B.R. 1892—1896, Vol. II, 234.

(2)—S. 53—See BUDDHIST LAW—GIFT, U.B.R. 1892—1896, Vol. II, 400.

* ———Reg. V of 1887 (Upper Burma Municipality.)

[REP. IN. PT. ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 18. A.M., ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 16, AS TO REPEAL OF REG. V OF 1887 IN PARTICULAR MUNICIPALITIES, SEE BUR. ACT III OF 1898, SS. 1, 5, 14, 15.]

(1)—Municipal and Local Department Notification No. 146.—The rules which will be found in Municipal and Local Department Notification No. 148, dated 11th December, 1900, and which so far as the payment of toll licenses is concerned, are the same as those in force before that date, have the force of law. Rule 4 provides that money shall not be received at the Municipal office for credit to the Municipality, but that when money is presented, a chalan shall be prepared and handed to the person desirous of paying money, and that he shall present the chalan and pay the money at the Treasury for credit to the Municipality. A payment to the Secretary is therefore not a legal acquittance, and if money were paid to the Secretary, and the Secretary embezzled it, the person who paid it would not thereby be relieved from liability. When a person from whom money is due to the Municipality alleges that in contravention of this rule he paid the money at the Municipal Office, and it appears that the money was not paid to the Treasury, it is not a valid defence in a suit by the Municipal Committee to recover the money. THE PRESIDENT KYAUKSE MUNICIPALITY v. MAHLAWIN, U.B.R. 1902—1903, Vol. II, Civil, Upper Burma Municipal Regulation 1.

* ———Reg. I of 1896 (Upper Burma Civil Courts).

[REP. IN PT., ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 18. AM., ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 16; REG. VIII OF 1900;

* This star mark indicates that this Regulation was passed by the Imperial Legislature even though applicable to certain provinces.

Regulations—continued.

——4.—Burma Regulations—continued.

NEW S. 13 SUBSTITUTED, S. 14 REP., S. 36; VIRT. REP. IN PT., REG. V OF 1903; SS. 15, 17, AM., REG. III OF 1905.]

(1)—Twinzas and twinzayos—Peculiar rules of succession among the owners of the right of digging for petroleum oil at Yenangyaung—Custom—Evidence—Civil Courts Regulation—Land suit—Immoveable property.—This was a suit to decide rival claims to the right of obtaining licenses to dig for petroleum. Held that the suit was not barred in the Civil Courts by the Land Revenue Regulations as Government was no party to the suit and would not be bound by the decree, which would only go so far as to settle disputes between the private parties themselves. Whether Government should choose to recognize the claims of either one or other would be quite an independent matter. The Lower Courts were divided in opinion as to whether the right claimed was of the nature of an interest in immoveable property or not Assuming that the ayo or twinzayo in dispute rendered the suit a land suit, the point for determination was whether the appellants had succeeded in making out a better title to the ayo than the respondent, who had been in possession for some years. The appellant claimed to have been dispossessed by the respondent, but there could be no doubt whatever that, as the Courts below had found, he had entirely failed to make out any case for himself. The ayo was what is called a female ayo that is, a right, the succession to which is confined to females, and it was clear that under this rule the respondent succeeded to it. She was in possession in 1249, when she obtained certain well-licenses, though it was contended that this was allowed to be done by her as it was then done erroneously in the case of any outsider. But it really did not seem to be, very material whether she had formal possession or not till 1252 B.E. after the birth of the other appellant. The original plaint, however, admitted the succession by the respondent, and there could be no reasonable doubt, from all the evidence, that she succeeded in due course upon the death of the previous holder of the ayo, in 1247. The only really important question was that put forward in the original plaint, namely, whether Ma Thin, as the direct descendant of Ma Pu Le, acquired on birth the right of ousting respondent as a more distant and collateral relation. It appeared that a female descended from a male might succeed to a female ayo, for respondent herself seemed to have derived her descent from a male; but that a female nearer in blood could oust one more distant in blood, already in possession, there was little or nothing to show. Some witnesses for plaintiffs spoke of no such a custom as understood in their opinion, but they were not disinterested persons, and they were unable to quote any actual instance of such a custom except one, and that a doubtful one. That was the solitary case brought forward, and it had not been shown upon what principle precisely it had been decided. Held that, under the circumstances, there was no sufficient proof of a certain, invariable, and clearly established custom and that, as the burthen of proof lay on the plaintiffs, their suit had rightly been found to have failed. MAUNG THA ZIN v. MA IN, U.B.R. 1892—1896, Vol. II, 327. [R., U.B.R.1906,1st Qr., Land Revenue Regulation, 1.]

Regulations—continued.

—— 4.—Burma Regulations—continued.

(2)—Ss. 3 (1), 13—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, cls. (IV) and (C) and (VIII), s. 12 (ii); art. 17, cl. 1 of sch. II, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 355.

(3)—S. 4—See MARRIAGE, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 488.

(4)—S. 10, Sub-divisional Court having jurisdiction under, entertaining a suit of the Township Court, whether a mere irregularity.—Where the suit in question ought to have been brought in the Township Court but happened to be entertained by the Sub-divisional Court, in contravention of s. 15 of the Code of Civil Procedure, it was held, that this was a mere irregularity, which did not vitiate the proceedings, since the Sub-divisional Court had jurisdiction under s. 10 of the Regulation. NGA SA GYI v. NGA YE BAN, U.B.R. 1905, Civil Procedure, 36. [R., U.B.R. 1910, 4th Qr., Civil 66.]

(5)—S. 13—See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, sch. II, art. 15, U.B.R. 1908, Third Quarter, Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 3.

6)—S. 13—See NO. 2, supra.

(7)—S. 27—See COSTS — TAXATION OF COSTS, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 203.

* —— Reg. III of 1889 (Upper Burma Land and Revenue).

[REP. IN PT., ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 18; REG. IV OF 1896, S. 4. AM., ACT XIII OF 1898, S. 16; REG. III OF 1894; REG. II OF 1895; REG. III OF 1898; REG IV OF 1900. REP. IN PT. AND AM., REG. V OF 1901, S. 12(1) AM., REG. III OF 1903, SS. 34, 35, 36 REP., BUR. ACT II OF 1905; SS. 32, 33, REP. LOCALLY, BUR. ACT III OF 1905 (WHEN NOTIFIED). APPLICATION OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS EXT., BURMA ACT III OF 1905, S. 30 (WHEN NOTIFIED). S. 31 AM., REG VI OF 1907.]

(1)—S. 23—See BURDEN OF PROOF—POSSESSION AND PROOF OF TITLE, U.B.R. 1892—1896, Vol. II, 224.

(2)—S. 25—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 60, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 258.

(3)—S. 53 (2)—Interest in land under, whether an easement of way is an—Civil Courts, whether could entertain a suit regarding such right.—Plaintiff sued for a declaration of a right of way as an easement over certain State Land in

* This star mark indicates that this Regulation was passed by the Imperial Legi slature hough applicable only to certain provinces.

Regulations—continued.

——4.—Burma Regulations - concluded.

the occupation of defendant. The latter objected that the suit was barred by s. 53 (2) (ii) of the Regulation and the question had to be decided what was to be understood by the word 'interest' in the said section. Held, the present suit to establish a right of way should be regarded as a suit to establish an 'interest' in State Land within the meaning of s. 53 of the Regulation and that the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts to entertain the suit was barred by the Regulation. MI MA GYI v. NGA SHWE ZIN, U.B.R. (1906) Land and Revenue Regulation 1. (U.B.R. 1897—1901, 207, 209, R.)

(4)—S. 53(2) (ii)—Suit to recover a twinyo or ayo, whether cognisable by a Civil Court.—The subject-matter of this suit was a twinyo or ayo, which was an interest in immovoable property forming State-land. Held, therefore, that, under s. 53 (2) of the Upper Burma Land and Revenue Regulation, a suit to recover such a twinyo or ayo was not within the cognizance of the Civil Courts. MI MIN DWE v. MA MA KIN KIMIYIN MIBAYA, U B.R. (1906) Land and Revenue Regulation 1. (U.B.R. 1892—1896, Vol. II, 327, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 443, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 207, 209, 211, R.)

(5)—S. 53 (2) (ii)—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 9, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 207.

* —— Reg. II of 1897 (Upper Burmah Registration Regulation).

(1)—S. 3—Tari palms — Cocoanut trees—Standing timber.—Tari palms and cocoanut trees are not "standing timber" as referred to in s. 3 of the Upper Burma Registration Regulation, but are immoveable property. MAUNG PO HTIN v. MAUNG TE, U.B.R. 1902—1903, Vol. II, Civil, Upper Burma Registration Regulation 3.

——5.—Madras Regulations.

——Reg. II of 1802 (Jurisdiction of Civil Courts).

[REP., ACT III OF 1873.]

(1)—Suit by mortgagor to recover possession --Limitation—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 2 M.H.C. 382.

(2)—S. 17—See CONVERTS, 1 W.R.P.C. 1= 9 M.I.A. 195.

(3)—S. 18, cl. 4—Attachment of debt—Bond—Suit on bond on lapse of twelve years—Limitation.—A debt-bond was attached in execution of a decree after it had become due and the attachment continued for more than twelve years. Thereupon, the bond was brought for sale and purchased by the present plaintiff, who sued upon the bond to recover the amount due thereunder. Held that while the bond was attached by the Court and placed under its power and control, no one could deal with it except

* This star mark indicates that this Regulation was passed by the Imperial Legislature even though applicable to certain provinces.

Regulations—continue d.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

by the direction and order of the Court. The attachment was good and sufficient cause precluding the obtaining of redress within the meaning of Reg. II of 1802, s. 18, cl. 4, and saved the bond from limitation. KADARBACHA SAHIB v. RANGASWAMI NAYAK, 1 M. H.C. 150.

(4)—S. 18, cl. 4—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 6 M.I.A. 232.

(5)—S. 18, cl. 4—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 W.R.P.C. 30=9 M.I.A. 66.

———Reg. III of 1802, (Madras Administration of Estates.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT, MAD. REG 5 OF 1829, S. 2; ACT X OF 1861; ACT XVII OF 1862; ACT III OF 1873; ACT XVI OF 1874; ACT XII OF 1876; ACT XI OF 1901, SCH. III; MAD. ACT V OF 1867; MAD. ACT II OF 1869. S. 1 AND PART OF S. 16 DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULE DISTRICTS ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4, AND SCH. 2, AS AMENDED BY ACT XII OF 1891.]

(1)—Powers of Courts to settle cases by oath —Reg. VI of 1816—See ACT X OF 1861, 4 M. H.C. App. 3.

(2)—S. 16, cl. 1—See CONVERTS, 1 W.R.P. C. 1=9 M.I.A. 195.

(3)—S. 16, cl. 7—Dismissal of petition claiming property of an intestate—Appeal.—No appeal lies from the order of a District Judge passed under s. 16, cl. 7 of Madras Reg. III of 1802. NARASAYYA v. THE COLLECTOR OF ANANTAPUR, 24 M. 95.

——Reg. XVII of 1802 (Registry of Wills and Deeds).

[REP., ACT XVI OF 1864.]

(1)—S. 3—Simple bond payable by instalments—Necessity for registration.—A simple bond payable by instalments was not capable of registration under s. 3 Reg. XVII of 1802. KARUPANNA NAYAK v. NALLAMMA NAYAK, 1 M H.C. 209. [Appr., 1 B. 125; R., 2 A. 322.]

(2)—S. 3, cl. 3—Hypothecation bond capable of registration.—A deed of hypothecation fell under the head of mortgage capable of registration under cl. 3, s. 3, of Reg. XVII of 1802. KADARSA RAUTAN v. RAVIAH BIBI, 2 M.H.C. 108. [R., 4 M.H.C. 434.]

(3)—S. 11—See EVIDENCE— SECONDARY EVIDENCE, 3 M.I.A. 156.

——Reg. XXV of 1802. (Madras Permanent Settlement).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN. PT. MAD ACT, II OF 1869. S. 11 REP. IN NOTIFIED ESTATES, MAD. ACT II OF 1894. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4.]

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

1)—Scope of Regulation.—It was not within the scope of Reg XXV of 1802 to effect any alteration in the quality of the estate, though it might doubtless be done by law. It was framed with a view to the land revenue but not otherwise to infringe or limit the rights of anybody. MUTTU VADUGA v. DORA SINGHA TEVAR, 3 M. 290=8 I.A. 99, P.C.=4 Sar. 239 =5 Ind. Jur. 438.

(2)—Srotriyamdar — Suit for dismissal of Karnam —A Srotriayamdar cannot sue for the dismissal of the Karnam of his village, under Reg. XXV of 1802, as he is neither a Zemindar, nor other landholder paying a peshkash, fixed under that Regulation. His remedy is to complain to the Collector of the district. RAMACHANDRA v. APPAYYA, 7 M. 128. [D., 12 M. 188.]

(3)—Non-compliance with—Effect.—A grant of a portion of a Zamindary, not complying with the requirements of Reg. XXV of 1802, does not confer a good title on the grantee. SRI RAJA SETA RAMA KRISHNA RAYUDAPPA RANGA RAO BAHADUR GARU v. STRI JAGUNTI SITAYAMMA GARU, 3 M.H.C. 67.

(4)—Restriction upon alienation of Zamindari lands—Permanent lease of such lands—Lease not valid as against Government and heirs and successors of Zamindar.—Reg. XXV of 1802 imposed upon proprietors a restriction upon the alienation of proprietary rights, except in the manner therein specially provided, and rendered void any alienation made in contravention of the Regulation as against the Government and the heirs and successors of the proprietor who made the transfer. But such alienation was valid against the proprietor himself. A permanent lease by the proprietor is as much within the operation of Regs. XXV and XXX of 1802, as an absolute gift or sale. SUBBARAYULU NAYAK v. RAMA REDDI, 1 M. H.C. 141. [Overruled, 4 M.H.C. 396; Not F., 4 M.H.C. 463; F., 1 M.H.C. 349, 3 M.H.C. 5, 2 M. H. C. 131, 22 M. 383, P.C.]

(5)—Rights of property in existence, not affected—Statute of limitation — Sadr Adalat decision in No. 6 of 1821.—In a suit brought by a Zamindar to recover either assessment at the rate of Rupees 5,000 per annum, or a parganna, part of the plaintiff's zamindari, the defendant pleaded that he had held the parganna as his own before and ever since the permanent settlement, and that the claim was barred by both the old and the new Statutes of Limitation. The Lower Court overruled both the pleas, the first, because it held that under Reg. XXV of 1802, the Zamindar's title could not be questioned; the second, because it considered that the Sadr Adalat decision in a Suit No. 6 of 1821 prevented the application of the statute on the ground of subsequent hostile possession, and that the plaintiff had 12 years from the time he came into possession. Held, first, that there is nothing in the Regulations relating to the permanent settlement showing an intention to affect rights of property in existence at the period of their being passed. Secondly, that the decision in No. 6 of 1821 will not be followed, at all events in a case in which the present claimant is the grandson of him against whom, as to property of a normal character, the statute would have begun to run. SRI KRISHNA DEVU GARU v. SRI RAJA RAMCHANDRA DEVU MAHARAJULU GARU, 3 M.H.C. 153.

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

(6)—Regs. XXV and XXIX of 1802 (Madras) —Suit for dismissal of Karnam, not entertainable by District Munsiff.—A suit by a Zemindar for the dismissal of certain Karnams in his Zamindari was held to have been rightly brought in the Court of the District Judge. The Subordinate Court, and the District Court, where there is no Subordinate Court, is the tribunal that has taken the place of the Court of Adawlut of 1802, and a District Munsiff, therefore, has no jurisdiction in such cases. VENKATA NARASIMHA v. SURYANARAYANA, 12 M. 188.

(7)—Reg. IV of 1822—Landlord and tenant —Holders of Kudivaram in perpetuity—Right of landlord to recover value of trees cut by tenants.—Plaintiffs, the lessees of a zamindari sued to recover the value of trees cut and carried away by the tenants from their holdings. The tenants were admittedly the holders of the Kudivaram right in perpetuity. There was no proof that they derived their title from the zamindar or that their ordinary Kudivaram right was limited by any contract or special or local usage. Held that the zamindar was not the owner of the soil in the strict English sense, and consequently plaintiffs had no right to the trees growing on the land. NARAYANA AYYANGAR v. R. G. ORR, 26 M. 252=12 M.L.J. 449. [F., 29 M. 24=16 M.L.J. 8; Appl., 5 M.L.T. 210; D., 30 M. 155=17 M.L.J. 64=2 M.L.T. 25.]

(8)—Succession to an hereditary estate.—The acceptance of a sanad in common form under Reg. XXV of 1802 does not of itself and apart from other circumstances avail to alter the succession to an hereditary estate. KACHI KALIYANA v. KACHI YUVA, 7 Bom. L.R. 907 =2 C.L.J. 231, P.C.=28 M. 508= 10 C.W.N. 95=15 M.L.J. 312=2 A.L.J. 845=32 I.A. 261 =8 Sar. 855.

(9)—See COLLECTOR, 3 M.H.C. 35.

(10)—Effect of acceptance of sannad in common form—See HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE, 2 C.L.J. 231. P.C.=10 C.W.N. 95=15 M.L.J. 312=2 A.L.J. 845=7 Bom. L.R. 907=1 M.L.J. 12=32 I.A. 261=28 M. 508.

(11)—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 13 M. 406, P.C.=17 I.A. 134.

(12)—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 17 M.L.J. 243=2 M.L.T. 316=30 M. 356.

(13)—Inam title-deeds granted by government—Inam settlement—Construction of deed —See INAM, 27 M. 465, Note.

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

(14)—See PERMANENT SETTLEMENT, 25 W.R. 3.

(15)—Zemindar, right of—Poramboke—See ROAD, 5 M.L.T. 225.

(16)—See SERVICE TENURE, 10 M. 1.

(17)—See UNSETTLED POLLIAM, 6 M.H.C. 208.

(18)—S.2—"Proprietors of land"--Reg. XXXI of 1802, object of—Reg. XXV of 1802—Polliam—Polliam of Marungapuri.--The affirmative words of s. 2 of Madras Reg. XXV of 1802 did not either give new rights to the owners of lands not permanently assessed, or take away from them any rights which they then had. It merely vested in all zemindars an hereditary right at a fixed revenue upon the conclusion of the permanent assessment with them. The words "proprietors of land" as used in the Bengal Code of 1793 and in the Madras Code of 1802 refer to, "zemindars independent talookdars, and others who pay the revenue assessed upon their estates immediately to Government." The words "proprietary possession," as used in the recital of Madras Reg. XXV of 1802, must also be read in a similar sense as meaning the possession and rights of a "proprietor" in the technical sense in which that word is used, viz., the person who pays the revenue immediately to Government. The preamble of Madras Reg. XXV of 1802 recognizes the right of private property, and does not assert a right on the part of Government to deprive or dispossess zemindars in their life-time, or their heirs after their deaths, for the purpose of transferring their rights to Government, or to new holders at the will of Government, independent of any considerations connected with the realization of revenue. [F., 12 B.H.C.O.C. 1; R., 2 B. 19, 1 M. 69, 1 M. 174, 1 M. 205, F.B., 3 B. 452, 11 M. 309.] The object of Madras Reg. XXXI of 1802 was merely the protection of the revenue from invalid lakhiraj grants and to provide for the mode of trying claims to hold lands exempt from payment of revenue. It was not intended to confer upon Government any title which did not then exist, or to assert that, according to the usages of the country, there was no private right to lands. The words "alienations of land" refer not to mere transfers from one proprietor to another, but to grants for holding lands exempt from the payment of revenue. [F., 12 B.H.C.O C. 1.] A polliam may be hereditary though not permanently settled under Madras Reg. XXV of 1802. The existence of a proprietary estate in polliams or other lands not permanently assessed, and the tenure by which it has been held, are judicially determinable on legal evidence. [R., 4 M. 250, 10 M. 1, 1 M.L.J. 326.] The polliam of Marungapuri is an ancestral hereditary tenure, and not subject to the appointment of Government. OOLAGAPPA CHETTY v. ARBUTHNOT, 14 B.L.R. 115, P.C.=6 I.A. 268, 282=21 W.R. 38=3 Sar. 318. [R., 1 M.L.J. 326.]

Regulations—continued.

—5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

(19)—S. 3—Landlord and tenant—Reg. XXV of 1802, s. 3—Determination of assessment—Reference to sunnuds and kabuleats.—By Reg. XXV of 1802, s. 3, in all cases of disputed assessment, reference shall be had to sunnuds and kabuleats, and judgment shall be given by the Courts in conformity with the conditions under which the agreement may have been formed in each particular case. GOPALADASU GARU v. PERRAJU, 12 M.L.J. 126. [F., 33 M. 171=19 M.L.J. 734=6 M.L.T. 268=3 Ind. Cas. 747.]

(20)—S. 3—Scope of.—S. 3 of Reg. XXV of 1802, imposes restrictions on alienations, only to secure the interests of the public revenue, and a zemindar has no power to disturb grants, otherwise valid, made by his predecessor, or titles to inams acquired by prescription. VIZIANAGARAM MAHARAJA v. SURYANARAYANA, 9 M. 307, P.C.=13 I.A. 32 =4 Sar. 696. [R., 26 M. 589, F.B.]

(21)—S. 4—Lands held rent-free on service tenure before permanent settlement—Whether lakhiraj—Presumption—Right of Government to impose assessment thereon.—From the fact that certain inams were granted by a zemindar before the permanent settlement as reward or emoluments for private services rendered to him, on condition that they should be held so long as the services continued to be rendered, no presumption can arise that the lands were at the permanent settlement exempt from the payment of public revenue, and the burden is on the Government to show that they were lakhiraj at the settlement, so as to enable it to impose full assessment on the lands. SREE RAJAH VENKATARANGAYYA APPA ROW BAHADUR ZAMINDAR v. DORANKI APPALARAJU, 20 M.L.J. 728=8 Ind. Cas. 546. (6 W.R. 121, 9 I.A. 104, 13 M.I.A. 438, R.)

(22)—S. 4—Land exempt from the payment of public revenue at the time of the permanent revenue settlement—Competency of Government to impose a public assessment on the land.—Certain land was exempted from the payment of public revenue at the time of the permanent revenue settlement. S. 4 of Reg. XXV of 1802 declares that the Government at the permanent settlement has "reserved to itself the entire exercise of its discretion in continuing or abolishing" the exemption of such lands from liability to pay assessment to Government, and the permanent settlement of the land revenue was made excluding the said land. Held, that it was, therefore, fully competent to Government to impose a public assessment on the land. There is no period of limitation prescribed by any law within which alone the Government should exercise its prerogative of imposing assessment on land liable to be assessed to the public revenue. BODDUPALLI JAGANNADHAM v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 27 M. 16.

(23)—S. 4—Muhtarafa—Trade-tax, zemindar's right to collect—Reg. XXV of 1802.—The zemindar of Karvetnagar has not the right of collecting the muhtarafa or trade-tax from artizans in his Zemindari, delegated to him by Government, and the assignees of the Zemindar cannot legally exercise this right. Quære, —Whether it was competent to Government to commit the collection of this branch of the revenue to zemindars for their own benefit. VEDANTA v. KANNIYAPPA, 9 M. 14, F.B. [R., 16 M. 34.]

(24)—S. 4—Right of zemindar to jodi payable by Agraharamdars—Rate of jodi in Inam title-deed not binding on zemindar.—A zemindar is always entitled to collect the jodi at the rate at which it was being paid by the Agraharamdars at the time of the permanent settlement. The provisions of s. 4 of Regulation XXV of 1802 do not relate to the jodi payable to the zemindar and included in the assets on which the peishcush of the zemindari was fixed. It would be clearly inconsistent with the principles of the permanent settlement that one of the sources of revenue to the zemindar, on which his peishcush was fixed, should be varied at the will of Government or their Deputy, the Inam Commissioner. Any order passed by the Commissioner fixing the rate of jodi would, therefore, be ultra vires and could not bind the then zemindar or his successors. SOBHANADRI APPA RAU v. GOPALKRISTNAMMA, 16 M. 34. [Appr., 16 M. 40.]

(25)—S. 8—Alienation of part of Zamindari—Adverse possession—Title.—An alienation by a Zamindar of the Zamindary or any part of it is void, if the provisions of s. 8 of Reg. XXV of 1802 are not complied with. (Holloway, J. dissentiente). [R., 4 M.H.C. 396, 22 M. 383, 26 M. 589, F.B.] But if the alienee holds the land for a lengthened period on a claim of right, the suit by the alienor to recover possession will be barred by limitation. SYED ALI SAIB v SRI RAJA SANYASIRAZ PEDDABALIYARA SIMHULU BAHADUR, 3 M.H.C. 5. [Not F., 8 A. 475; R., 3 M.H.C. 153.]

(26)—S. 8—Grant by Zamindar in contravention of Regulation—Validity.—Where an absolute grant by a Zamindar of a part of a Zemindari did not comply with the conditions specified in s. 8 of Reg. XXV of 1802, the grant was voidable on the determination of the Zamindar's interest by death, at the instance of the Zamindar's successor or a purchaser of the part from the successor. A dispossession of the grantee by a purchaser from the successor of the Zamindar was legal. PICHAKUTTI CHETTY v. PONAMMA NACHIAR, 1 M.H.C. 148. [R., 2 M.H.C. 128, 27 M. 435.]

(27)—S. 8—Madras Act. I of 1876, ss. 2, 6.—An alienee of a portion of a zemindari is entitled to separate registration and assessment under Madras Act I of 1876. Though all the parties do not concur in applying within the meaning of s. 2 of the Act, a Civil Court has power to order separate registration and assessment under s. 6 of the Act. KAMALAMMAL v. RAJU NAIKER, 19 M. 308=6 M.L.J. 179.

Regulations—continued.

—5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

(28)—S. 8—Separate assessment—Separate registration—Power of Government to revise Collector's order — Remedy by civil suits — Powers of Board—Power of Government. — Government has no power to cancel an order passed by Collector under s. 8 of the Madras Reg. XXV of 1802 and Act I of 1876 for separate registration and separate assessment duly sanctioned by the Board of Revenue. Such an order of the Collector can only be questioned in a Civil Court. As regards the apportionment of the assessment, an appeal limited in time does lie to the Board of Revenue. But the only power reserved to the Governor in Council is the power unlimited in point of time of requiring adjustment of the separate assessment, if it appears that there has been fraud or material error in the apportionment. Separate registration is a matter of private right with which the Government has no business to interfere. FISHER v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 3 C.W.N. 161=26 I.A. 16=22 M. 270=7 Sar. 459.

(29)—S. 8—Zemindari — Self-acquisition — Perpetual lease at low rent by acquirer.—A perpetual or permanent lease at a low fixed rent made by a zemindar who obtained the zemindari by self-acquisition is binding upon his successors, although the instrument was not registered under Reg. XXV of 1802, s. 8. MUTTU VIRAN CHETTY v. RANI KATTAMA NATCHIYAR, 4 M.H.C. 463 [R., 22 M. 383, P.C.]

(30)—S. 8—Permanent lease of village in Muttah by Muttahdar, not registered—Validity. —A permanent lease of a village in a Muttah by the Muttahdar is not invalidated, by s. 8 of Reg. XXV of 1802, although the lease has not been registered as required by that section. KONDAPPA NAIK v. ANNAMALAY CHETTI, 4 M.H.C. 396. (1 M.H.C. 14, Overruled.) [R., 4 M.H.C. 463]

(31)—S. 8—Perpetual lease of portion of zemindari not a transfer.—This appeal arose in a suit brought by the respondent to establish a claim to hold in perpetuity, at a fixed rent, certain villages forming part of the appellant's zemindari. The first Court passed a decree in favour of the plaintiff and the Sudder Adawlut confirmed that judgment. Among other contentions, appellant urged that whatever might be the respondent's right in point of fact, he was precluded from recovering by an objection of law, viz., that the plaintiff's title was not registered according to Madras, Reg. XXV of 1802, s. 8 and it was said to have been settled in India that, although an instrument not registered might be good against the zemindar who executed it, the successor was not bound by it. The judicial committee, were, however, of opinion that there was no ground on which it could be held that an instrument good against the party making it might be had against the heirs of that party, where the latter, the ancestor, has had absolute power of alienation.

Regulations—continued.

—5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

There was, in this case, however, no ground for the above objection, because there was not any alienation of the zamindari or any part of it. There was merely a perpetual lease of a distinct portion of the zamindari which constituted such a distinct portion even before the title of the appellant to the zamindary accrued, and such a lease could not be considered as a transfer coming within the words of Reg. XXV of 1802. Further, the title of the respondent had been recognised not only by the zamindars who created it, but by subsequent zamindars, and there had been a possession under it of above fifty years. VENKATESWARA NAICKER v. ALAGOOMOOTHOO SERVACAREN, 4 W.R.P.C. 73=8 M.I.A. 327=1 Suther. 440=1 Sar. 788. [Expl., 4 M. 148 ; R., 3 M.H.C. 5, 4 M.H.C. 396, 4 M.H.C. 463, 17 W.R. 346, 26 M. 589.]

(32)—S. 8—Madras Reg. XXV of 1802, landholders to be registered under—Effect of non-registration—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 23 M. 221.

(33)—S. 8—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 1, 8 M. 351.

(34)—S. 8—Mortgage of a zamindari village —Court-sale in execution of the decree—Payment by mortgagee of proportionate share of peishcush—Mortgagee-purchaser not a zamindar to enforce acceptance of patta—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 3, 5 M. 145.

(35)—S. 8—See MAD. ACT I OF 1876, ss. 5, 6, 7, 8, 22 M. 270, P.C.=26 I. A. 16=3 C. W.N. 161.

(36)—S. 9 and Reg. XXVI of 1802 (Madras), s. 2 —Madras Act I of 1876—Separte registration —Suit.—An application to a Collector to grant separate registration of a portion of a permanently settled estate which has been alienated by Court sale is one under the provisions of Madras Regulations XXV of 1802, and XXVI of 1802, and not under Act I of 1876. Where the Collector rejects the application, a suit lies against him to compel such registration. BOMMARAZU v. SESHAMMA, 22 M. 438.

(37)—S. 9—Madras Act II of 1864—Apportionment of rent.—Under Regulation XXV of 1802 and Act II of 1867, the peishcush due by the Zemindar to Government is a charge on every part of the Zamindari. [R., 10 M. 266, 29 M. 29.] Where a maganam has into the possession of different purchasers, in the absence of a sub-division under s. 9 of the Regulation of 1802, the apportionment of rent may not be binding upon the Government, but it does not follow that it may not be good as between the parties to the suit. THE ZEMINDAR OF RAMNAD v. RAMAMANY AMMAL, 2 M. 234. [R., 10 M. 266, 29 M. 29.]

(38)—S. 11—Suit by karnams improperly removed from office—Jurisdiction of Munsiff's Court, not barred.—There is nothing in the language of s. 11 of Reg. XXV of 1802 to exclude the jurisdiction of other Courts than the Court of Adawlat in suits by karnams improperly removed from office, as is done in express words in the case of suits by a Zemindar to remove a karnam from office. BHASKARA SETUPATI v. VALASUBRAMANIA PILLAI, 1 M.L.J. 238.

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

(39)—S. 11—Karnam, Dismissal of—Damages—Loss of salary.—A zemindar cannot dismiss a karnam from his office without an order of the Civil Court. Obiter:—Where a karnam who has been dismissed from his office by a zemindar sues for restoration of his office and for the recovery of damages, the Courts are not restricted to limiting the damages to the salary attaching to the office for the time during which the karnam was out of office. AMBALAVANA PANDARA SANNADHI v. SHUNMUGA SUNDARAM PILLAI, 9 M.L.J. 143.

(40)—S. 11—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 96, 24 M. 39.

(41)—S. 11—See KARNAM, 20 M. 145.

(42)—*S.*12—Revenue Recovery Act, II of 1884 (Madras), ss. 32, 41.—The purchaser at a Revenue sale is prima facie entitled to demand the faisal rate. PALANI v. PARAMASIVA, 13 M. 479.

——Reg. XXVI of 1802 (Madras Land Registration).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT. MAD. ACT II OF 1864, S. 65. REP. IN PT. AND AM., ACT XI OF 1901, SCH. II. SS. 1, 2 AND 3 DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACV XV OF 1874. S. 4.]

(1)—See MAD. ACT II OF 1864, 27 M. 386.

(2)—See MAD ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 3, 80, 26 M. 589, F.B.

(3)—See POSSESSION—ADVERSE POSSESSION, 20 M. 6.

(4)—S. 2—See MAD. REG. XXV OF 1802, s. 9, 22 M. 438.

(5)—S. 3—"Entire estates" meaning of.—The words "entire estates" in s. 3, Reg. XXVI of 1802, do not mean all the estates of an individual. The plural "estates," has reference to the plural "persons," and when used with reference to one person, must be read in the singular "estate." NARAYANA RAJA v. RAMACHANDRA RAJA, 26 M. 521=13 M.L J. 139.

(6)—S. 3—"Defaulter," who is the—See MAD. ACT. II OF 1864. ss. 3, 35, 6 M.L.T. 198 =19 M.L J. 627=33 M. 41=3 Ind. Cas. 624.

(7)—S. 3—See MAD. ACT II OF 1864, ss. 5, 55, 44, 26 M. 521=13 M.L.J. 139.

——Reg. XXVII of 1802 (Recovery of Arrears of Revenue).

[REP., MAD ACT II OF 1864, S. 65.]

(1)—Scope of Reg. XXVII of 1802.—The whole scope and purposes of Reg. XXVII of 1802 is to provide summary process for the recovery of arrears of revenue, that is (as expressed in cl. II of s. 2), the whole or any portion of the month's kist payable by the holder of the land according to his kabuliyat and remaining unpaid on the first of the next month. ELLAIYA v. LATE COLLECTOR OF SALEM, 3 M.H.C. 59.

——Reg. XXVIII of 1802 (Distress).

[REP., MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, S. 89.]

See MAD. REG. V OF 1822, s. 18, 1 M.H.C. 230.

——Reg. XXIX of 1802 (Madras Karnams).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT. MAD. REG. II OF 1906, S. 7; ACT XII OF 1876. REP. IN PT. (EXCEPT IN SCHEDULED DISTRICTS), MAD. ACT, III OF 1895. REP. IN NOTIFIED ESTATES, MAD. ACT II OF 1894. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MAD. EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4.]

(1)—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 96, 24 M. 39.

(2)—See MAD. REG. XXV OF 1802, 12 M. 188.

(3)—S. 5—See KARNAM, 20 M. 145.

(4)—S. 7—Heirs.—In s. 7 of Reg. XXIX of 1802, the term "heirs" means persons who, in the event of death, would inherit from their preceding incumbent. ARUMUGUM v. VIJAYAMMAL, 4 M. 338. [R., 9 M. 283]

(5)—S. 7 — Hereditary karnam — Order of succession.—"Heirs of the preceding karnam" in s. 7 of the Regulation mean his next-of-kin according to the order of succession of the several grades of legal heirs and not heirs in the order of succession to undivided divisible ancestral property. Thus, a daughter's son of a woman, who held the office of hereditary karnam after her husband, is preferable to her husband's paternal uncle's son. SEETHARAMAYYA v. VENKATA RAZU, 18 M. 420.

(6)—Scope of.—Where the office of Karnam in a Zemindari village is hereditary in the plaintiff's family, the Raja cannot nominate an outsider to the office, so long as there are qualified heirs of the last holder in existence, as such a course is opposed to Reg. XXIX of 1802 which provides that the heirs shall be chosen except in the case of incapacity. VENKAYYA v. SUBBARAYUDU, 9 M. 283. [R., 10 M. 226; D., 12 M. 188.]

(7)—S. 7—Karnam--Incapacity of next-heir—Minority—Appointment by landholder without proof of incapacity next heir in the Zilla Court.—Minority is a ground on which the heir may be lawfully passed over, and a selection to the office of Karnam in a Zemindari village made by the landholder from among the other members of the family, and s. 7 of Reg. XXIX of 1802 has no application to a case in which there can be no dispute as to the incapacity, such as the admitted minority of the legal heir. VENKATANARAYANA v. SUBBARAYUDU, 9 M. 214. [R., 10 M. 226.]

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

(8)—S. 7—"The heirs of the preceding Kurnum," meaning of.—The words "The heirs of the preceding Kurnum" in s. 7 of Reg. XXIX of 1802 mean his next of kin according to the order of succession of the several grades of legal heirs, and not, heirs in the order of succession to undivided divisible ancestral property. N. KRISHNAMMA v. N. PAPA, 4 M.H.C. 234. [F., 18 M. 420; Appr., 4 M. 283.]

(9)—S. 7—Incapacity of next heir—Nearest male sapinda—Right to sue for office.—Under s. 7 of Reg. XXIX of 1802 the heir of the preceding Kurnam should be chosen by the landholders concerned for the vacant office of Kurnam, and on proof of incapacity of the heir, the landlord may exercise his discretion in the nomination of persons; so that though the heir may be incapacitated, a sapinda of the deceased Karnum is not entitled to the office against the will of the landholder. CHANDRAMMA v. VENKATRAJU, 10 M. 226. [R., 12 M. 188.]

(10)—S. 7—Karnam in Zamindari village—Title to office.—Under Reg. XXIX of 1802, s. 7, the heir of the preceding karnam must be chosen and is the lawful claimant to hold the office. SUBBARAYADU v. GANGARAJU, 11 M. 196.

(11)—S. 7—Suit for office of karnam and possession of inam lands annexed thereto—Jurisdiction.—Suit to recover the office of karnam and the inam lands annexed thereto. The suit was instituted in the Court of the District Munsif. The defendant contended that the suit was cognizable only by the District Judge, and that the plaintiff was entitled to the assessment only and not to the lands. Held that the suit was triable by the District Munsif and that the plaintiff was entitled to claim possession of the lands adjunct to the office of kurnam sued for. JAGANNATHA PILLAI v. SUBBARAYA PILLAI, 22 M. 340.

———Reg. XXX of 1802 (Use of Pattas).

[REP., MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, S. 89.]

(1)—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 6 M.H.C. 175, 6 M.H.C. 164.

(2)—See MAD. REG. V OF 1822, S. 18, 1 M. H.C. 230.

———Reg. XXXIV of 1802 (Interest).

[REP., MAD. ACT II OF 1869.]

(1)—Its applicability to mortgages where redemption is allowed at the end of any year.—A mortgage instrument which provided that the lands should be made over to the mortgagee for cultivation, that a grain rent, estimated at a certain quantity, should be retained yearly in lieu of interest by the mortgagee, and that, on the expiry of any year, the mortgage might be redeemed and possession recovered, on payment of the principal, falls within the purview of Reg. XXXIV of 1802. TIPPAYYA v. VENKATA, 6 M. 74. (4 M. 113, D.)

(2)—Iladarawara mortgage — Redemption—Mad. Reg. XXXIV of 1802.—The mortgage called "Iladarawara" of South Canara, is for a long term of years, amounting to a lease of the property for the term agreed upon, and as such, redemption cannot be claimed before the expiry of the term. To such a mortgage, Mad. Reg. XXXIV of 1802 does not apply. PERLATHAIL SUBBA RAU v. MANKUDI NARAYANA, 4 M. 113. [D., 6 M. 74.]

(3)—Reg. XXXIV of 1802—Claim for interest exceeding principal sum due—Maintainability of.—As Reg. XXXIV of 1802 has been repealed, a claim for an amount of interest exceeding the principal, in a suit between Hindus, is maintainable. ANNAJI RAU v. RAGUBAI, 6 M.H.C. 400. [F., 31 M. 250=3 M.L.T. 278=18 M.L.J. 245; R., 9 B.H.C. 83, 9 C. 825.]

(4)—S. 4—Amount of interest recoverable not to exceed principal sum due on date of suit.—The provision in s. 4 of Reg. XXXIV of 1802 against an award of interest in excess of principal has reference only to the regulation of the sum for interest that may be claimed at the time the suit is brought. But the sum to be so limited has no reference to any earlier state of the accounts. Where the lower Court allowed interest in excess of the amount of the principal found due on the date of plaint, the High Court disallowed the excess. KAKARLAPUDI TITARAMARAJ v. UPPALAPAD JANAKAYYA, 1 M.H.C. 5. [Cons., 20 B. 611.]

(5)—S. 8—See MORTGAGE—CONDITIONAL SALE, 15 W.R. P.C. 35=7 B.L.R. 136=13 M. I.A. 560.

———Reg. II of 1803 (Madras Collectors).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP., IN PT., MAD. REG. II OF 1806; ACT XXIII OF 1871; ACT XII OF 1873; ACT XII OF 1876; MAD. ACT II OF 1864, S. 62; MAD. ACT VI OF 1865; MAD. ACT II OF 1869; S. 25 REP., MAD. ACT I OF 1902. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4.]

(1)—Scope of Regulation—Darkhast rules—Land Acquisition Act (X of 1870).—Reg. II of 1803, distinctly negatives any independent authority in the Collector to alienate public lands, and the circumstance that the land was granted in lieu of compensation for other land taken up under Act X of 1870, does not make the darkhast rules any the less applicable. NARAYANA v. RAMACHANDRA, 13 M. 485.

(2)—S. 9—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 11, cl. 4, 26 M. 456.

(3)—S. 18—See MAD. ACT I OF 1876, s. 7, 26 M. 389.

Advocate High Cou
Jammu & Kashmi
Srinagar.

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

——Reg. V of 1804 (Madras Court of Wards.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT. ACT XXXV OF 1858; ACT XII OF 1876; ACT VIII OF 1890; ACT XI OF 1901, SCH. III REP. IN PT., MAD. ACT II OF 1869. AM. MAD. ACT IV OF 1899. REP., EXCEPT IN SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, MAD. ACT I OF 1902.]

(1)—See ACT X OF 1861, 1 M.L.J. 537.

(2)—Debts due by Ward—Acknowledgment of liability by agent of Court of Wards—Effect —See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 19, 6 Ind. Cas. 407=8 M.L.T. 105=20 M.L.J. 808.

(3)—See LUNATIC, 14 M. 289.

(4)—Ss. 2, 19, 23—See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 B. 14.

(5)—S. 17—See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 25 (3), 19 M. 255.

(5-a)—S. 19—See NO. 4, supra.

(6)—S. 20—Guardian of minor proprietor, under — Minor proprietor causing defaultr service of notice on—See MAD. ACT II OF 1864, ss. 25, 27, 12 M. 445.

(6-a)—S. 20—See DISTRICT JUDGE, JURISDICTION OF, 6 M. 187.

(7)—S. 20—See MAD. REG. X OF 1831, s. 2, 10 M. 44.

(8)—S. 23—See MAD. ACT XXI OF 1882, s. 10, 11 M. 309, F.B.

(9)—S 23—See NO. 4, supra.

(10)—S. 30—Rules made under—See MAD. ACT IV OF 1899, s. 40, 4 M.L.T. 321.

(11)—S. 35—Rule 7 of rules framed under, Transfer of execution to the Collector—Reference by Collector to District Judge—Order of District Judge.—Effect of Government order rescinding notification empowering Collector to execute decrees.—A Collector, who was empowered by notification issued by Government under the Regulation, and to whom a decree was transferred for execution, made a reference under Rule 7 of rules framed under s. 35 to the District Judge. The District Judge passed a decision against which an appeal was pending. Since the District Judge's decision, the Government had by a notification rescinded its order providing for the transfer of execution of decrees to that Collector. Held that, under the circumstances, the proper course for the High Court to adopt would be to set aside the order of the District Judge, without prejudice to the parties raising the question in dispute, in execution of the decree in a Civil Court. PULABAIYAGARI MUNISAMI CHETTY v. THE RAJAH OF KARVETNAGAR, 30 M. 193.

——Reg. IV of 1816 (Village Munsifs).

[REP., ACT XI OF 1901, SCH. III.]

(1)—Jurisdiction of Subordinate Judges.—The terms of the Madras Civil Court's Act are large enough to confer on Subordinate Judges any special jurisdiction which had theretofore

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

been exercised by the Courts whom they superseded, and which at the time of the passing of the Civil Court's Act was still subsisting. A Subordinate Judge has jurisdiction to entertain a complaint under s. 34 of Madras Regulation IV of 1816. PONNUSAMI v. KRISHNA, 5 M. 222, F.B. [R., 12 M. 188.]

(2)—Village Munsiff—Power to transfer suits.—One Village Munsiff cannot transfer, to the file of another Village Munsiff, a suit under Reg. IV of 1816, because one of the parties objects to his trying the suit on the ground of personal hostility. Per Hutchins, J.—In such a case, the Village Munsiff should report the matter to the District Judge who should transfer the suit to another Munsiff. LAKSHMAKKA v. BALI, 8 M. 500.

(3)—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MODE OF EXECUTION, 9 M. 378, F.B.

(4)—S. 5—Suits for sums not exceeding Rs. 10, cognizable by Village Munsif's Court—Concurrent jurisdiction of Small Cause Court.—A Small Cause Court has concurrent jurisdiction to try suits for a sum not exceeding Rs. 10, cognizable by a Village Munsif under s. 5, Reg. IV of 1816. PARASOORAMA PILLAY v. RAMASAMY alias C RAMASAWMY, 5 M.H.C. 45 [R., 13 M. 145.]

(5)—S. 5—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 29, (1) (b), 9 M. 118.

(6)—S. 29—Appeal.—Under Reg. IV of 1816, s. 29, there is no appeal against the decision of a Village Munsiff. PONNUSAMI v. PACHAI, 2 M. 336. [Overruled, 5 M. 222.]

(7)—S. 29—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 4 M.H.C. 188.

(8)—S. 30—Decree of Village Munsiff—Sale of immoveable property in execution.—Immoveable property can be attached and sold in execution of a decree of a Village Munsiff under this Regulation. RAMASAMI v. ANGAPPA, 7 M. 220. [Overruled, 9 M. 378, F.B.]

(9)—S. 35—The words in s. 35 of Regulation IV of 1816 "by the party injured" must be restricted to parties to the suit, and cannot be applied to every person who alleges that he has been injured by proceedings of a village Munsiff under the Regulation. RAMAN v. PAKUCHI, 9 M. 385, F.B.

——Reg. V of 1816 (Madras Village-panchayats.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT. MAD. REG. IX OF 1828; ACT XXVIII OF 1885; ACT VII OF 1870; ACT XII OF 1876, S. 16 (2) AM., MAD. ACT, IV OF 1904, S. 2. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4.]

(1)—S. 17—This section has not been rescinded but is still in force. GOPALU v. VENKATADAS, 7 M. 552.

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

——Mad. Reg. VI of 1816 (Native Commissioners).

[REP., ACT III OF 1873.]

S. 11—See VALUATION OF SUITS, 6 M.H.C. 151.

——Reg. VII of 1816 (District Panchayats).

[REP., ACT III OF 1873.]

See MAD. REG. XII OF 1816, 8 M. 569.

——Reg. XII of 1816 (Madras Village Lands Disputes).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876; MAD. ACT II OF 1869; MAD. ACT IV OF 1897. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4.]

(1)—District panchayat—Reg. VII of 1816—Act III of 1873—Reference to District panchayat by Collector—Conditions precedent.—Neither the total repeal of Reg. VII of 1816 by the Madras Civil Courts Act, nor the partial repeal of Reg. XII of 1816, so far as it contained words of reference to Reg. VII of 1816, warrants the inference that the jurisdiction created by the later enactment has been abolished. It, therefore, follows that District panchayats have still jurisdiction under Reg. XII. [R., 15 M. 1.] Before the Collector can exercise his power of ordering a compulsory reference to a District panchayat, there must be an inquiry as to whether the parties will submit to the jurisdiction of a Village panchayat, an objection by either party to such reference, and a request then made by one of the parties in writing, that the matter in dispute may be referred to a District panchayat. CHICARI ZEMINDAR v. PEDDA KIMEDI ZEMINDAR, 8 M. 569. [R., 15 M. 1.]

(2)—Deputy Collector—Power to refer cases for disposal to—District Munsif under Reg. XII of 1816—Authority, delegation of, under s. 3, Act VII of 1857.—A Deputy Collector, who has been invested by a Collector with all the powers of a Covenanted Assistant Collector or with the special power to determine claims under Reg. XII of 1816, is competent to refer cases under the Regulation for disposal to a District Munsif. The authority to refer cases must be delegated under s. 3, Act VII of 1857. The mere fact that a Deputy Collector has been placed in independent charge of a division of a District does not itself convey such authority. ANONYMOUS, 4 M.H.C App. 1.

(3)—See MAD. REG. V OF 1822, s. 18, 1 M.H.C. 230.

(4)—See PANCHAYAT, 15 M. 1.

——Reg. XIV of 1816 (Vakils).

[REP., MAD. ACT II OF 1882.]

(1)—S. 22—Suit remitted by order of appellate Court for re-hearing—Proceeding on such order, to be regarded as further proceeding in trial—Vakil changing sides—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—APPOINTMENT AND APPEARANCE, 4 M.H.C. App. 43.

(2)—Ss. 30, 31—Appointment of two Vakils by same party—Applicability of rule as to payment of moiety of fees to each Vakil—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—REMUNERATION, 1 M.H.C. 369.

(3)—S. 31—See NO. 2, supra.

——Reg. XV of 1816 (Civil Jurisdiction Procedure).

[REP., MAD. ACT II OF 1869.]

(1)—See HINDU LAW — JOINT FAMILY, 6 W.R. P.C. 50.

(2)—See RES JUDICATA—GENERAL, 10 W.R. P.C. 1=11 M.I.A. 50.

(3)—S. 10—See PLEADINGS, 3 M.I.A. 278.

(4)—S. 10, cl. 3—See CHAMPERTY, 3 W.R. P.C. 33=8 M.I.A. 170.

(5)—S. 10, cls. 3, 4—See RIGHT OF SUIT—CASTE QUESTIONS, SUITS CONCERNING, 7 W.R. P.C. 7=3 M.I.A. 359.

——Reg. VII of 1817 (Madras Endowments and Escheats.)

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT., ACT XX OF 1863. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4.]

(1)—Quære:—Whether, so long as Regulation VII of 1817, subsisted, it was competent to the Government absolutely to divest itself of the obligations imposed on it by the Regulation. APPASAMI v. NAGAPPA, 7 M. 499. (7 M.H.C. 77, Observed in.) [R., 29 M. 534=16 M.L.J. 435=1 M.L.T. 127.]

(2)—See ACT XX OF 1863, 6 M.L.J. 14, 7 M.H.C. 77.

(3)—See ACT XX OF 1863, ss. 2, 13, 14, 22 M. 223.

(4)—See ACT XX OF 1863, s. 7, 13 M. 277.

(5)—See EVIDENCE — MISCELLANEOUS, 1 I.A. 209.

(6)—See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS, 1 I.A. 209.

(7)—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 7 M.H.C. 117, 6 M. 361.

(8)—Power of Collector under—See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT, 27 M. 291=8 C.W.N. 545=31 I.A. 83=14 M.L.J. 200, P.C.

(9)—See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT, 7 M.H.C. 306.

(10)—Preamble, ss. 2, 3—Applicability of Regulation to future endowments — Board of Revenue—Powers of superintendence—Power to make over to Local Board—Madras Act V of 1884 (Local Boards), s. 51—Distribution of Neermoru—Provision for Archana—Religious purposes.—The distribution of neermoru, etc.

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

to people attending a festival cannot be regarded as a religious charity, nor can a small provision for making Archana to the Goddess every Friday be so regarded. Reg. VII of 1817 is intended to apply not only to existing endowments but also to future endowments. (22 M. 223, R.) The use of the expressions 'have been' and 'such endowments' in s. 2, does not show that the Regulation was restricted in its application to existing endowments. The words 'were' and 'have been' in s. 3 were used as applicable at the time when the Board of Revenue would be called upon to take action. The Board of Revenue, under the provisions of Reg. VII of 1817, has power to appoint trustees to charitable endowments in certain cases, but it has no power to ignore the rights of a person lawfully in office as trustee and to appoint another person in his place without dismissing him. (7 M.H.C. 77, 29 M. 534, 17 M. 212, R.) S. 51 of Act V of 1884 empowers the Board of Revenue to make over to a Local Board both the management, in virtue of its right of superintendence, and its own right of superintendence. T. VENKATACHALLA PILLAI v. THE TALUQ BOARD, SAIDAPET, 21 M.L.J. 305. (31 M. 111 and 20 M.L.J. 885, R.)

(11)—Ss. 2, 7, 8, 13—Powers of Board of Revenue—See MAD. ACT V OF 1884, s. 51, 8 M.L.T. 341=20 M.L.J. 885=8 Ind. Cas. 488.

(12)—S. 3—See NO. 10, supra.

(13)—S. 7—See NO. 11, supra.

(14)—S. 8—See NO. 11, supra.

(15)—S. 13—See NO. 11, supra.

(16)—Cls. 2, 13 and 18—See ACT XX OF 1863, 1 M.L.T. 127=16 M.L.J. 435=29 M. 534.

(17)—S. 18—See NO. 16, supra.

——Reg. VII of 1818 (Pauper Suits).

[REP., ACT X OF 1861.]

(1)—S. 5—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 W.R. 30, P.C.=9 M.I.A. 66.

(2)—S. 18, cl. 5—See PAUPER SUITS, 1 W.R. P.C. 30=9 M.I.A. 66.

——Reg. VIII of 1818 (Appeals to Privy Council).

[REP., ACT VI OF 1874.]

(1)—S. 4—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 6 M.I.A. 309.

(2)—S. 4—See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 M.I.A. 300.

——Reg. V of 1882 (Jurisdiction of Collectors.)

[REP., MAD. ACT VII OF 1865, S. 89.]

(1)—Applicable only to land subject to permanent assessment.—Regulation V of 1822 is inapplicable to land held under a mirasidar or any ordinary proprietor. The mirasidars, being ordinary proprietors not holding from or under the Government, and having lands not permanently assessed to the revenue, were a different class for whom special provision had not been made by Reg. V of 1822. That Regulation applied only to land held under a permanent assessment from Government. ENAMANDARAM VENKAYYA v. VENKATANARAYANA REDDI, 1 M.H.C. 75. [Disappr., 6 M.H.C. 164.]

(2) — Mirasidar. — Reg. V of 1822, is inapplicable to land held under a mirasidar or any ordinary proprietor. YANAMANDRAM VENKAYA v. SHILLAKURU VENKATA NARAIN REDDY, 1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 131.

(3)—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 6 M.H.C. 164.

(4)—Matter determined by Collector under—See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 2 M.H.C. 475.

5)—S. 8—Applicable only to permanently settled estates.—S. 8 of Reg. V of 1822, has reference only to Zamindars or other proprietors of estates permanently settled under the Regulations of 1802. NALLATAMBI PATTAR v. CHINNA DEYVANAYAGAM PILLAI, 1 M.H.C. 109.

(6)—S. 18—Applicability to disputes respecting irrigation—Procedure regulating dispute under Regulation.—Reg. V of 1822 did not apply to a suit for damages for the obstruction of an irrigating channel by which water was diverted from a person's land. The Regulation merely authorized the disposal by Collectors of suits summarily cognizable under Regs. XXVIII and XXX of 1802. The disputes mentioned in s. 18, Reg. V of 1822, were subjected to the procedure provided by Reg. XII of 1816. RAGAVENDRA ROW v. MUHAMMAD KANITARGANAR, 1 M.H.C. 230.

——Reg. IX of 1822 (Madras Revenue Malversation).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT., MAD. REG. III OF 1823; MAD. REG. VII OF 1828, S. 5; ACT XII OF 1876; ACT XI OF 1901, SCH. III; MAD. ACT II OF 1869. SUPPLEMENTED, ACT XXXVI OF 1837, DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4.]

(1)—S. 5—Sale of land to recover fine imposed by Collector—Title of purchaser.—The purchaser of land at a sale under the provisions of s. 5, Reg. IX of 1822, for the recovery of a fine imposed by the Collector, does not take it free of prior encumbrances, even though such encumbrances have not been mentioned in the sale proclamation. RAMAN v. HASSAM, 9 M. 247.

——Reg. II of 1825 (Stamps).

[REP. ACT VII OF 1870.]

(1)—S. 4—Allotment of land for maintenance in transfer deed by widow, not a gift.—A deed of

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

1853 which purported to transfer the property of the executant's husband, subject to the payment of his debts, reserving a plot of land for the maintenance of the executant, and which provided for the re-transfer of the property, in case she should give birth to a son, was held to be not an instrument of gift and to be liable to no stamp duty. REFERENCE UNDER STAMP ACT, s. 49, 16 M. 419, F.B.

———Reg. VII of 1828 [Madras Subordinate Collectors and Revenue Malversation (Amendment).]

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876, MAD. ACT II OF 1869, SUPPLEMENTED, ACT XXXVI OF 1837. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4.]

(1)—Rent Recovery Act—Power of Collector to transfer suits.—The Collector of a District is, under Reg. VII of 1828, competent to transfer suits, under the Rent Recovery Act, filed before an Assistant Collector in his District, to the file of any other Assistant Collector in the same District. KAILASANATHA v. TIRUVENGADA, 7 M. 420.

(2)—Order confirming sale under Act II of 1864 (Madras Revenue Recovery) by Head Assistant Collector by virtue of powers given him by Regulation—Effect of such order—See MAD. ACT II OF 1864, 2 M.L.T. 328=30 M. 367.

(3)—S. 3—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 11, cl. 4, 26 M. 456.

———Reg. VIII of 1828 (Corporal Punishment.)

[REP., ACT XVII OF 1862.]

(1)—S. 3—Power of Collector to interfere with decision of Assistant Collectors.—Under s. 3 of Reg. VIII of 1828, the Collector had the fullest power to confirm, modify or annul any decision passed by the Assistant Collectors subordinate to him, and the decision so arrived at by the Collector was final. The power of the Collector was not confined to orders passed by the Assistant Collectors under Reg. IX of 1822. CHINNA AIYAN v. MAHOMED FAKR-UD-DIN SAHIB, 2 M. H. C. 322.

———Reg. IV of 1831 (Grants of Money or Land Revenue).

[REP., ACT XXIII OF 1871.]

(1)—See INAM, 12 W.R. P.C. 33=13 M.I.A. 104.

(2)—See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 W.R.P.C. 30=9 M.I.A. 66.

(3)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 14, 1 M. H. C. 320.

(4)—See RELINQUISHMENT OF PORTION OF CLAIM, 5 M.H.C. 419.

Regulations—continued.

——5.—Madras Regulations—continued.

(5)—Construction of legislative enactments—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 205 and 237 how far and Act XXIII of 1838 repeatedly — See STATUTES, CONSTRUCTION OF, 4 M.H.C. 277.

(6)—S. 3—See ATTACHMENT—SUBJECTS OF ATTACHMENT, 4 M.H.C. 277.

———Reg. VI of 1831 (Madras Hereditary Offices).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT., ACT XXIV OF 1859; ACT XII OF 1876. APPLICATION RESTRICTED, MAD. ACT IV OF 1866. REP. (EXCEPT IN SCHEDULED DISTRICTS), MAD. ACT III OF 1895.]

(1)—Suits under—Applicability of Limitation Act, 1877—See MAD. ACT III OF 1895, 9 M.L.T. 430.

(2)—See INAM, 3 M.L.T. 343=18 M.L.J. 247, 9 M.L.J. 13.

(3)—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 4 M.H.C. 70.

(4)—See RIGHT OF SUIT—OFFICE OR EMOLUMENT, SUITS RELATING TO, 8 M. 249, F.B.

(5)—S. 2—See SERVICE INAM, 21 M.L.J. 962=2 M.W.N. 1911, 354.

(6)—S. 3—Suit for emoluments attached to office of kurnam in unsettled district, not sustainable.—A suit for the emoluments attached to the office of kurnam in an unsettled district is barred by the operation of s. 3, Reg. VI of 1831. THE COLLECTOR OF KISTNA DISTRICT v. K. CHINNAMRAJU, 5 M.H.C. 360. [R., 17 M. 302, F.B.]

(7)—S. 3—Inam granted as emolument to village blacksmith no limitation or prescription by adverse possession in case of proceedings regarding — See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 21 M. 134=7 M.L.J. 196.

(8)—S. 3—See JURISDICTON OF CIVIL COURTS, 17 M. 302=4 M.L.J. 100, F.B. 13 M. 41.

(9)—S. 3—Suit to recover damages claimed in respect of profits which the plaintiffs would have derived from Service Inam lands—Small Cause Court--Jurisdiction—See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 5 M.H.C. 383.

———Reg. X of 1831 (Madras Sale of Minor's Estates).

[SHORT TITLE GIVEN, ACT XI OF 1901. REP. IN PT., ACT XII OF 1876; ACT VIII OF 1890. DECLARED IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE PRESIDENCY OF MADRAS, EXCEPT AS REGARDS THE SCHEDULED DISTRICTS, ACT XV OF 1874, S. 4, AS AMENDED BY ACT VIII OF 1900.]

(1)—See ACT X OF 1861, 1 M.L J. 537.

(2)—S. 2—Reg. V of 1804, s. 20 — Sale for arrears of revenue of mitta held by tenants in common during minority of some of the tenants—Validity of sale.—Where certain minors are the owners of a mitta not as sole proprietors but as joint proprietors with others, who are not incapacitated from the management of their inheritance, their case is governed by s. 20 of Regulation V of 1804, and not by s. 2 of Regulation X of 1831, and a sale of the mitta for arrears of revenue is not void, because of the minority of some of the owners. KRISHNA v. MEKAM-PERUMA, 10 M. 44.

Regulations—concluded.

——5.—Madras Regulations—concluded.

——— Reg. V of 1832 (Mohtarfatax).

[REP., ACT XVIII OF 1861.]

(1) — Muhtarafa — Trade-tax, Zemindar's right to collect—Regulation XXV of 1802, s. 4.—The zemindar of Karvetnagar has not the right of collecting the muhtarafa or trade-tax from artizans in his zemindari, delegated to him by Government, and the assignees of the zemindar cannot legally exercise this right. Quære.—Whether it was competent to Government to commit the collection of this branch of the revenue to zemindars for their own benefit. VEDANTA v. KANNIYAPPA, 9 M. 14, F.B. [R., 16 M. 34.]

———Reg. XI of 1832 (Hidden Treasure).

[REP., ACT VI OF 1878.]

See TREASURE TROVE, 7 M.H.C. 150.

——6.—Punjab Regulations.

* ———Reg. IV of 1887 (The Punjab Frontier Crimes).

[REP., REG. III OF 1901.]

(1)—Ch. III — Jirga, resolution of—Civil Courts—When binding on—Jurisdiction—Pre-emption.—Where, in a suit to enforce a right of pre-emption, it was contended that no suit lay in a Civil Court by reason of a resolution passed by a jirga to the effect that members of one tuman were not allowed, by custom, to acquire lands in the territory of another tuman, held, that, unless any action has been taken in accordance with the provision of Ch. III of the Regulation, no resolution of a jirga can constitute a legal bar to plaintiff's suit, in a Civil Court, for pre-emption. ABDUL KHAN v. HAJI SHAH, 26 P. R. 1909 = 48 P.L.R. 1909=35 P.W.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 877.

Rehan.

Mortgage — Construction of document — "Arth" "Mustaghraq"—Power of sale in default not expressly given—See MORTGAGE—FORM OF MORTGAGES, 13 A. 28 = A.W.N. 1890, 216.

Rehearing.

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—REHEARING.

See REVIEW.

(1)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act X of 1877, s. 560—Re-hearing of appeal heard ex parte.—A re-

* This star mark indicates that this Regulation was passed by the Imperial Legislature though applicable to certain Provinces.

Rehearing—continued.

hearing of an appeal heard ex parte cannot be granted, unless the respondent satisfies the Court by some legal evidence that the notice of appeal has not been duly served. MAHOMED KALUN v. DINOMOYEE DASHYA, 8 C.L.R. 112.

(2)—Re-hearing of ex parte appeal—What the applicant must satisfy Court upon.—Upon a petition for the re-hearing of an appeal heard ex parte, the applicant must satisfy the Court that the notice was not duly served or that he was prevented by sufficient cause from attending, when the appeal was called on for hearing. ANUNDA SHAHA BISWAS v. KEMA BEEBEE, 6 C. 548.

(3)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 119—Act X of 1859, s. 58—Bengal Act III of 1870—Ex parte decree—Re-hearing—Procedure.—An application for the hearing of a case in which judgment was passed ex parte or by default by the Revenue Court before the passing of the Bengal Act III of 1870, is governed by the procedure prescribed by s. 119, Act VIII of 1859 and not s. 58 of Act X of 1859. OODWUNT MAHTOON v. BIDDHI CHAND CHOWDHRY, 13 B.L.R. 216, Note= 18 W.R. 207. [F., 18 W.R. 252.]

(4)—Ex parte decree affirmed in appeal and special appeal—Re-hearing—Bengal Act VIII of 1869—Notice of suit—Remand.—In execution of a decree by the Deputy Collector—confirmed in appeal by the first appellate Court and by the High Court in special appeal—against certain defendants then present and the husband of the first respondent, who had since died and who was not then present, an application was made for the sale of certain of his immoveable properties and thereupon the respondent filed a petition applying for a re-hearing on the ground that her husband had received no notice of the suit. This application was refused by the Munsif to whom it was presented, Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.) having in the meantime come into force, on the ground that the re-hearing was barred by the institution of an appeal and special appeal. Held, that the Munsif was clearly wrong, for if the husband of the respondent really had no notice of the suit, he could not be concluded by anything done in it. Where, on appeal from the Munsif's decision, the Judge held that the Munsif had no jurisdiction in the matter, but that the application for the re-hearing should be made in the Revenue Court, held that everything that had been done in the case by the Revenue Court and the order of the Judge remanding the case to the Revenue Court must be set aside as altogether without jurisdiction. RAJA MOHESH CHUNDER SINGH SURMAN v. BHOOBUN MOYEE DEBIA, 13 B.L.R. 217, Note=18 W.R. 252.

(5)—Act III (B.C.), 1870—Transfer of suit—Re-hearing — Application under Act X of 1859, s. 58—Jurisdiction.—A decree for rent was passed ex parte against the petitioner on the 7th May, 1870, in the Court of the Deputy Collector. Before any execution had been taken out under that decree, Act III of 1870

Rehearing—continued.

(B.C.) came into force; and under s. 2 of that Act the suit was transferred to the Munsif's Court. The petitioner applied to the Deputy Collector for setting aside the ex parte decree and for re-hearing. The Deputy Collector did so. Held that the Deputy Collector had no jurisdiction in the matter and that, under Act III of 1870, (B.C.) it was by the Munsif and by the Munsif alone that the application for the re-hearing of the case, under s. 58 of Act X of 1859, could be heard. WOOMA CHURN MOOJOOMDAR v. CHUNDER KANT ROY CHOWDHRY, 16 W.R 255. [D., 18 W.R. 207.]

(6)—Decree obtained fraudulently—Absence of notice to opposite party—Competency of judgment-debtor to claim re-hearing.—Where on an ex parte decree having been passed against the defendants they represented that the whole case was fraudulent and that they had no notice either of the suit or of the sale under the decree passed in it, the High Court held that independent of the question of an ordinary review within 15 days, defendants could claim a re-hearing at any time within 15 days after such steps in execution had been taken as must necessarily bring the decree to their notice. BOIDOO NATH ROY v. BROJO KISSORE CHUCKERBUTTY, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 15.

(7)—Decree passed ex parte—Petition for re-hearing of suit, proof of service of summons necessary before rejection of.—This was an appeal from an order under s. 58 of Act X of 1859, rejecting an application for re-hearing made by a party against whom a decree was passed ex parte. The High Court found that the order of the lower Court was unsupportable and unjustifiable, for, there was not a title of proof, on the record, of due service of summons, and remanded the case for the purpose of deciding whether the summons was duly served on the defendant according to law, observing that not mere formal proof but real and satisfactory proof of service should be required and, if there be any doubt, the defendant ought to be re-heard. KASHEE KANT CHOWDHRY v. BEEJOY GOBIND CHOWDHRY, 2 W.R. Mis. 24.

(8)—Arrears of rent—Ex parte decree—Setting aside of jurisdiction—Limitation—Act III of 1870 (B.C.)—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), s. 108—Act X of 1859, s. 54.—Where an ex parte decree for arrears of rent was passed by a Revenue Court and partially satisfied by attachment and sale of the lessee's property, and on objection taken by the sureties (of the lessee) to the decree on the ground that no summons had been served on them, the Subordinate Judge set aside the decree on the assumption that the case had been transferred to his Court under the provisions of Act III of 1870 (B.C.) and fixed a day for the rehearing of the case, held, that the attachment having been issued as the time of the commencement of the above Act, the Act was not applicable. Therefore, even if the forum was altered and the Civil Court was substituted for the Revenue Court, the procedure would still be regulated by the provisions of the Rent Law. Held, further, that, under Act VIII of 1869, s. 108, the procedure would be regulated by Act X of 1859, and that the application to set aside the decree was barred by time under s. 54 of the latter Act. In the matter of AJOODHYA RAM KHAN v. SREEMUNT PAL, 19 W.R. 129.

Rehearing—concluded.

See ACT VI OF 1882, s. 169, 19 B. 208.

See U. P. ACT XVIII OF 1873, ss. 188, 189, A.W.N. 1881, 141.

Re-hearing—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 623, whether applicable—See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 185, 19 A. 522=A.W.N. 1897, 139.

See APPEAL—MISCELLANEOUS, 12 M I.A. 254.

Of an application—Jurisdiction of Courts—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XIX, r. 3, 37 C. 259=6 Ind. Cas. 666.

Respondent's pleader absent—Appeal heard ex parte—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 21, 11 C.L.R. 164.

See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT, 15 M. 82.

Application to High Court for re-hearing, Act XV of 1882, Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, s. 38—See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF —BOMBAY, 12 B. 579.

See JUDGE—DEATH OF JUDGE BEFORE JUDGMENT, 3 B.L.R A.C. 105.

See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 13 B.L.R. 216, Note=18 W.R. 207, 13 B.L.R. 217, Note =18 W.R. 252, 2 M.I.A. 181.

Application for rehearing of suit dismissed by Small Cause Court—Ss. 38 and 71, Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (1882)—Court, fee to be paid in full—Supply to deficient Court-fee disallowed after expiry of prescribed period—See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT, 1882, ss. 38 and 71, 18 C. 445.

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1882, ss. 38, 71, 12 B. 408.

Improper dealing with remanded case—and decision of case on remand for particular purpose—See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—ERRORS OF LAW OR PROCEDURE, Marsh 603.

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 9, 4 M. 217.

Rejgi.

Rejgi, the hak of, is not affected by Act XX of 1839—See BOM. ACT XX OF 1839, 7 Bom. L.R. 798.

Relationship.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, S. 32.

(1)—Evidence—Admissibility of statement by deceased persons as to heirs in accordance with practice of public office.—Statements made by a person as to who were her heirs, at times when there was no dispute about the question, and recorded by a wasiqa (pension) officer in accordance with the practice in force in such office,

Relationship—concluded.

are admissible in evidence to prove relationship. BAQUAR ALI KHAN v. ANJUMAN ARA BEGAM, 25 A. 236, P.C.=30 I.A. 94=7 C.W.N. 465=5 Bom. L.R. 410=8 Sar. 397.

See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 14, 151 P.R. 1879.

See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 126 P.R. 1890.

Cultivators related to Zemindar—Assessment of rent—Rate of rent—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT — ENHANCEMENT, LIABILITY TO, 2 Agra 403.

Statement as to, made upon information from others when admissible—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 32, 26 A. 581=9 C.W.N. 105=6 Bom. L.R. 750=7 O.C. 280=30 I.A. 217, P.C.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 32, cls. 5 and 6, 24 A. 94, P.C.=6 C.W.N. 169=29 I.A. 1=4 Bom. L R. 233.

Evidence as to—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 32 (5), 48, 49, 60, 5 C.W.N. 33=27 I.A. 238=23 A. 37, P.C.

Pedigree, proof of—Recognition by widow of relationship—See PEDIGREE, 6 C W.N. 169=29 I.A.,1=24 A. 94, P.C.=4 Bom. L.R. 233.

Wife, position of, in the order of relationship—See PRE-EMPTION—RIGHT TO PRE-EMPT, 4 O.C. 397.

See WAJIB-UL-ARZ, 121 P.R. 1879.

Relationship, Evidence of.

See RELATIONSHIP.

Special means of knowledge—Family priest—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 32, cl. 5, 4 C. L.R. 173.

Release.

(1)—Releasor offering to vacate house—Absence of words of conveyance—Whether release operative—Enforceability as a family settlement—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 54.—A deed of release, whereby the releasor simply undertakes to vacate his house, may be operative as a bona fide settlement of a family dispute, even though it contains no words of conveyance. MUTHUSAWMI PILLAY v. GOVINDASAWMI PILLAY, 9 Ind. Cas. 267=9 M.L.T. 342. (8 C. 138, F.)

(2)—Joint judgment-debtors — Liability of each.—It is not open to one of several joint judgment-debtors to obtain a release from the judgment-debt by payment only of his share in such debt. The rule as to joint contractors does not apply to joint judgment-debtors. MUTHRA DASS v. SHEODIAL SINGH, 28 P.R. 1867.

By co-sharer, if transfer—Stamp—Registration—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 11 and 12, 12 C.W.N. 475.

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, ss. 2, 10, 11, 217, 248, 23 B. 146.

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, ss. 62, 63, 1 L.B. R. 170.

Release—concluded.

Release, conditional upon future event—Validity—Agreeing to release, whether a mere contract—See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 63, 7 M.L.T. 392=20 M.L.J. 383=6 Ind. Cas. 758.

Conveyance by lease and—in fee—See EVIDENCE—PAROL EVIDENCE, 5 M.I.A. 72.

Release by one co-parcener to another—Whether it benefits other co-parceners—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 11 M. 406.

Members of joint family—Property held by single member—Limitation—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 8 M.H.C. 157.

Of one wrong-doer—Effect—Applicability of doctrine—Splitting up claims—Joint decree, if can be passed—See MESNE PROFITS—SUITS FOR MESNE PROFITS AND ASSESSMENT IN EXECUTION, 11 C.L.J. 503=6 Ind. Cas. 69=14 C.W.N. 849=37 C. 559.

Stamp—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 17, cl. 3, 2 A. 554.

Maintenance right — Registration — See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 17 and 18, 3 M. 184.

See STAMP ACT, 1879, sch. I, art. 54, 15 M. 259, F.B.

Document by benami purchaser at Court-sale renouncing his claims in favour of true purchaser — Stamp—See STAMP ACT, 1899, sch. I, art. 55, 24 A. 372, F.B.=A.W.N. 1902, 71.

Release of one of several joint tort-feasors, whether release of all—See TORT, 6 A.L.J. 135=31 A. 173=1 Ind. Cas. 884.

Whether a release by an alleged reversioner, recognising a widow's right of absolute ownership under her husband's will, can be set aside as being transfer of spes successionis, within s. 6 (a), Transfer of Property Act—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 6 (a), 18 M. L.J. 469=31 M. 474.

Relief.

See CONSEQUENTIAL RELIEF.

See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR.

See PLEADINGS.

See VALUATION OF APPEALS.

See VALUATION OF SUITS.

See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADINGS AND PROOF.

(1)—Meaning of the term "Relief"—"Cause of action".—"Relief" means the remedy which a Court of Justice may afford in relation to some actual or apprehended wrong or injury. "Relief" is not synonymous with "cause of action" which includes all the reliefs covered by the facts, on the strength of which a plaintiff comes into Court. (Stuart, C. J.) SARSUTI v. KUNJBEHARI LAL, 5 A. 345, F.B. [R., 27 B. 379.]

(2)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859)—Rights of parties to suit—Relief prayed for in plaint.—In suits under the Civil Procedure Code, the Court is bound to take into consideration all the rights of the parties to the suit, whether legal or equitable, and by its decree to give effect to those rights as far as possible, but at the same time it should confine itself to granting such relief as is prayed for by the plaint. VIRASWAMI GRAMINI v. AYYASWAMI GRAMINI, 1 M.H.C. 471. [F., 15 M. 489 ; R., 3 M. H.C. 120.]

Relief—continued.

(3)—Suit — Relief granted on grounds not stated in plaint.—A Court is not competent, when the plaintiff has failed to establish the case set up by him, to give him a decree on grounds which he has not made the basis of the suit. BISHESHAR DAS v. RAM JAISERI DAS, A.W.N. 1881, 158.

(4)—Whether Court can grant relief on other grounds than those put forward in plaint—Practice.—When a Court sees that a person is entitled to a relief which he asks, although entitled on other grounds than those put forward in the plaint, the Court should give that relief, particularly if the refusing to grant such relief will operate as a bar to any future claim. ULFAT RAI v. SUKPAL RAI, A.W.N. 1887, 43.

(5)—Practice—Grounds not taken in plaint—Relief not to be granted on.—No relief can be granted on grounds not taken in the plaint. MUHAMMED ALADAT KHAN v. NARPAT, A.W.N. 1887, 130.

(6)—Relief, not asked for in the plaint and not founded on pleadings—Title touched in the issues and put in evidence--Declaration of plaintiff's title—Suit dismissed in a proper decree.—As a rule, relief not founded on the pleadings should not be granted. But where the substantial matters which constitute the title of all the parties are touched, though obscurely, in the issues, but have been fully put in evidence and formed the main subject of discussion and decision in all the Courts, the case is not within the rule, and the Court may make a declaration of the rights of the parties, and may found on the declaration an inquiry into the plaintiff's title. Where the Court makes a declaration in plaintiff's favour in a dismissed suit, the proper course will be to direct an enquiry as to who are the persons entitled and to reserve further directions under which it will be probably found possible to place them in legal possession and so to terminate the litigation. Quære—Whether a declaration in a dismissed suit can supply a fresh starting ground? SRI MAHANT GOBIND RAO v. SITA RAM KESHO, 2 C.W.N. 681, P.C=21 A. 53=25 I.A. 195=7 Sar. 370.

(7)—Not asked for.—A plaintiff is not entitled to get any other relief than the particular relief he asked for. KALI KISHORE CHOWDHURY v. GOPI MOHAN ROY CHOWDHURY, 2 C.W.N. 166.

(8)—S. 348, Civ. Pro. Code — Relief not claimed, not to be decreed.—The Court is not at liberty to decree to the plaintiff relief he has not claimed. KASIM ALI KHAN v. BIRJI KISHORE, 2 N.W.P. 182.

Relief—continued.

(9)—General prayer for relief in plaint.—From a general prayer in the plaint for reliefon behalf of one of several plaintiffs, the Court will not be in a position to grant relief to the other plaintiffs, if such prayer cannot be said to apply to the others, if the cause of action of the one is different from the cause of action of the others, and if the cause of action of the others is not complete before the institution of the suit. A prayer for general relief must be regarded as limited (1) by the facts alleged and (2) by the prayer for express relief. DEBI DAYAL SAHOO v. BHAN PERTAP SINGH, 31 C. 433=8 C.W.N. 408. (5 B.L.R. 682, 21 O. 116, R.) [R., 1 S.L R. 209, 5 N.L.R. 105.]

(10)—Relief asked for in plaint—Granting of larger relief—Irregularity.—It is a material irregularity on the part of the Court to grant the plaintiff a relief greater than that claimed in the plaint. DAULAT KHAN v. MUST ALI, 1 P.R. 1892, Rev.

(11)—Pleadings and proof — Specific relief prayed for not proved—Decree on general prayers—Although the plaintiff had failed to prove the case on which he claimed a special relief, the Court in this case held that he had established a case in which upon the plaint and the general prayer for relief, he was entitled to a decree. GOBIND CHUNDER MOOKERJEE v. DOORGA-PERSAD, 14 B.L.R. 337=22 W.R. 248.

(12)—Remand order, effect of—Prayer for relief, general and special.—Where a party, dissatisfied with the decision of the lower Court, appeals to the High Court and re-opens the whole case he must acquiesce in the result finally arrived at by the Court below in accordance with the instructions of the High Court in his special appeal. It may very well be that a plaintiff being doubtful as to the precise form of relief to which the facts proved may entitle him, may ask the Court to give him such relief as under the circumstances the Court may think fit to give. GUNGARAM DUTT v. CHOWDHRY JUNMAJOY MULLICK, 1 C.L.R. 144.

(13)—Prayer for general relief—Grant of specific relief.—Under the prayer for general relief specific relief may be granted of a different description from the specific relief prayed for by the bill ; provided the bill contains charges, putting material facts in issue, which will contain such relief. COCKERELL v. DICKENS, 2 M.I.A. 353=3 Moo. P.C. 98=1 Mont. D.D. 45=Morton 407=1 Sar. 203.

(14)—Relief, prayer for, general.—Under a prayer for general relief, a plaintiff is not entitled to any relief which is inconsistent with the plaint. A suit by a plaintiff to set aside his father's will on the ground that he had no power to dispose of his property, that the plaintiff was entitled as the eldest son and heir-at-law according to the Hindu Law, should have been dismissed with costs, and no account should have been decreed to the plaintiff in respect of his interest in a portion of the property the bequest of which was in the opinion of the Court below, bad for remoteness. HIRALAL MULLICK v. MATILAL MULLICK, 5 B.L.R. 682. [Rel. on, 31 C. 433=8 C.W.N. 408.]

Relief—continued.

(15)—Ownership of land, suit for—Easement—Relief claimed.—In a suit to establish the ownership of land, if it is found that the claim to ownership is entirely unsupported by evidence, any question as to the special right to an easement over the said land or part of it cannot be decided if no such question is raised by the plaint. A question not raised by the plaint ought not to be decided by the Court. LALJI RATANJI v. GANGARAM TULJARAM, 2 B.H.C. 176.

(16)—Occupancy right — Ryotee right not pleaded—Award of subordinate right of occupancy.—A party may have subordinate rights awarded when they arise out of the principal right which he pleads. But, when a party pleads distinctly a jageerdar's proprietary right, a Court cannot award a subordinate right of occupancy which in no way arises out of a jageerdar's proprietary right, but out of a ryotee right never pleaded by defendant and in fact incompatible with defendant's case. PANDEY BISHONATH ROY v. BHYRUB SINGH, 7 W.R. 145.

(17)—Possessory suit—Alternative relief.—Where plaintiffs claim possession, but ask the Court to ascertain at what rate defendants ought to hold in case they should be found entitled to do so, their suit, whether they can obtain the alternative relief or not, should not be dismissed as they may succeed in proving their title to the relief sought. THE LAND MORTGAGE BANK OF INDIA v. NEELOO BHUTTO, 21 W.R. 125.

(18)—Alternative titles—Plaint—Inconsistent claims.—Where the title on which a person sues is put forward in the alternative, and the two parts of the alternative are not inconsistent with each other, he ought to obtain a decree if he makes out either branch of the alternatives. There should not be inconsistent claims in the plaint. A plaintiff can base his claim to land both on a hereditary right, and on a right of occupancy. WOODIT SINGH v. BULDEO SINGH, 21 W.R. 12.

(19)—Joint purchasers at sale in execution, rights of—Payment of quota of purchase-money.—Plaintiff and the defendants joined together in purchasing two-thirds and one-third respectively of the rights and interests of certain judgment-debtors sold in execution of a decree. Plaintiff paid his share of the earnest-money and the whole of the balance of the purchase-money; and, as the defendants failed to reimburse him, he brought the present action to get possession of the whole property, urging that he should be deemed as the whole purchaser. The lower Court ordered that defendants should deposit in Court their share of the purchase-money in four days, and that the plaintiff should be put in possession of his two-thirds of the property. The above order was considered by the High Court to be not the proper one which should have been made in the case, for, plaintiff asked for possession and the Court ordered payment by the defendants of the share of their purchase-money due by them to the plaintiff, which was not what the plaintiff had asked for; but, it refused to disturb the order in appeal, as it did substantial justice. BRIJO RAM MISSER v. BHUGWAN DOSS, 7 W.R. 180.

Relief—continued.

(20)—Tort—Proof of wrong—Right to claim relief.—In the case of a suit for wrong done, the strict rule of law, that a party asking to have a right declared of a specific nature must prove the right which he claims, does not apply. When he proves the wrong done to him, though not exactly to the extent of which he complains, is entitled to relief, though not exactly to the extent or on the very ground on which he asks it. BISHNOO PERSHAD BUNNICK v. RAM COOMAR DEB, 22 W.R. 2. [R., 9 C.L.J. 623.]

(21)—Equitable relief—False allegations of fraud.—Where a party who as the facts really stand would be entitled to equitable relief, misrepresents his case, falsely charges the opposite party with fraud and collusion and does not rely on his equitable rights, he will be debarred by such conduct from obtaining any relief in a Court of equity. DULI CHAND v. MONOHAR LALL UPADHYA, 2 C.L.R. 18.

(22)—Practice— Variance between pleading and proof—Relief not asked for.—In a suit brought to establish a right of ownership of property, it is not competent to the Court to enter into and decide the question of right to an easement over the same. Though the Courts are bound to take into consideration all the rights of the parties to a suit both legal and equitable, and give effect thereof by their decrees, as far as possible, they are not at liberty to grant a relief either not prayed for in the plaint or that does not flow naturally from the ground of claim as stated in the plaint. SAMBAYYA v. GOPALAKRISHNAMMA, 15 M. 489=2 M.L.J. 257.

(23)—Mortgagor and mortgagee—Court-sale to first mortgagee, extinction of right of redemption of second mortgagee on—Relief sought in the alternative.—Ordinarily, a second mortgagee has a right to redeem the first mortgage, but this right ceases when the first mortgage ceases. The above right in the second mortgagee is, in its nature, a right to consolidate the two securities into one as against the mortgagor and to hold them together until they are redeemed, and there can be no right to consolidate when the first security ceases to exist by payment or by a Court-sale, to the first mortgagee, which extinguishes the first mortgage. A sale under the order of the Court extinguishes the first mortgage, and the only right which survives it, in the second mortgagee, is the right to be redeemed. The case should be treated as if the original mortgagor conveyed his whole interest in the property by a voluntary sale in extinction of the first mortgage. A plaintiff, who is not a party to the transaction in respect of which allegations are made, can come into Court seeking relief in the alternative, dependent upon what may be found by the Court to be the true facts of the case. (Per Best, J.) Quære. — Whether a Court is justified in giving the plaintiff a decree for redemption, where the prayer in his plaint has been only for a declaration of his right to redeem? PERUMAL v. KAVERI, 16 M. 121 = 2 M.L.J. 281. [R., 11 C.P.L.R. 75, 15 C.P. L.R. 188, 28 B. 153; D., 17 M. 62.]

Relief—continued.

(24)—Hindu Law—Maintenance—Declaratory decree—Act VIII of 1859, s. 342.—When a Hindu widow sues to have her right of maintenance declared, she should ask, not that her right should be declared generally, but for inquiry as to the fit and proper sum for her maintenance; but acting upon the rule in Courts of equity if a plaintiff mistakes the relief to which he is entitled under his special prayer, the Court may afford him the relief to which he has a right under the prayer for general relief, provided such relief is agreeable to the case made by the bill, and the Court ought not to dismiss the case, but frame issues accordingly. S. M. NISTARINI DASI v. MAKKAN LALL DOTT, 9 B.L.R. 11 = 17 W.R. 432. (11 M.I.A. 7, 468, F.) [R., 12 B.H.C. 69, 1 C. 365, 2 B. 494, 11 C.L.J. 2 = 3 Ind. Cas. 408.]

(25)—Ostensible owner—Bona fide purchase—Undisclosed interest—Manager.—If a person allows property to be purchased for him in the name of another, and takes no steps to show to the world that he is the owner, he must make out a clear right to relief against any one who purchases bona fide from the ostensible owner. The purchaser in such a case could hardly be expected to prove that no other person had an undisclosed interest in the property. Where, therefore, a Hindu widow had allowed her husband's brother to act as manager of their family, and, during the course of his management he had executed a mortgage of certain property to pay off certain debts binding on the widow also, held, that her ignorance of the mortgage transaction would not avail her in a suit to set aside the mortgage as against her, but that she must prove that she had a title to the property and that the debt to discharge which the mortgage was effected was not binding on her. NIDRA DASSEE v. ABDOOL WAHED, 25 W.R. 532.

Plaintiff asking for relief larger than the facts asserted by him would warrent—Effect—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. I, r. 13, O XXI, r. 63, s. 99, 9 C.L.J. 623 = 1 Ind. Cas. 530.

Alternative relief—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, rr. 3, 6, L.B.R. 1872—1892, 355.

Plaint—Prayer for general—Effect of possession—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—DECLARATION OF TITLE, 20 B. 798.

Suit to declare the membership of a firm—no further relief—Maintainability—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—WHEN DECLARATORY SUITS LIE, 93 P.R. 1884.

Relief—continued.

Not asked for in plaint and not consistent with plaintiff's case—Court's power to grant—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 C.W.N. 20.

Ancillary prayer failing—Claim for principal relief not lost—See DECREE—GENERAL, 11 Ind. Cas. 537.

Decrees of Courts—Specific statement of relief—See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 4 C. 69.

See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 2 N.W. P. 415.

Granting of relief not claimed—See EX PARTE DECREE, 15 C.L.J. 446.

Fraudulent decree—Special prayer to set aside the decree not made—General prayer for "any other relief"—Maintainability of suit—See FRAUDULENT DECREE, 4 Ind. Cas. 356.

When reliefs are cumulative and not alternative—See GUARDIAN—GENERAL, 86 P. W.R. 1910 = 7 Ind. Cas. 505 = 213 P.L.R. 1910.

Sought for first time in second appeal—If can be allowed—See HINDU LAW—PARTITION, 23 B. 184.

See JURISDICTION—GENERAL, 3 B.L.R. App. 77.

General—Prayer for, effect of—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 3 O.C. 254.

"Such other, as the Court may think fit," meaning of—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 29 M. 491.

Suit for foreclosure—Combination of prayer for redemption of prior mortgage—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 14 C.P.L.R. 177.

Partial relief on the footing of defendants' admission—See MORTGAGE — REDEMPTION, 1 A. 194, F.B.

Form of—Suit to set aside sale-deed and for confirmation of possession—Declaratory decree—See PARDANASHIN WOMAN, 13 B.L.R. 427, P.C = 21 W.R. 340 = 1 I.A. 192.

On facts and documents not stated in pleadings—See PLAINT—AMENDMENT OF PLAINT, 11 M.I.A. 468.

Plaint—Grant of relief not prayed for—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, A.W.N. 1881, 10.

Practice—on grounds not alleged, whether can be granted—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, A.W.N. 1884, 285.

Not asked for in plaint, when amendable—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 21 A. 53, P.C. = 2 C.W.N. 681 = 25 I.A. 195.

See PRE-EMPTION—GENERAL, 1 O.C. 174.

Suit for profits and for such relief as the Court might deem proper—Small Cause—See PROFITS, SUIT FOR, P.L.R. 1900, 314.

See PUBLIC WAY, 113 P.L.R. 1901 = 91 P. R. 1901.

Relief—concluded.

Prayer for general relief—Relief not prayed for may be granted if not inconsistent with pleadings—See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT, 3 Ind. Cas. 408=11 C.L.J. 2.

See RENT, 7 O.C. 109.

Election of remedies—See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATIONS, 13 C.W.N. 1197=10 C.L.J. 420=2 Ind. Cas. 129.

Persons against whom no relief is claimed, suit not liable to be dismissed under s. 85, Transfer of Property Act, for non-joinder of—Relief afforded to plaintiffs in such cases—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 85, 31 M. 333.

Plaint—Facts proved not consistent with statement in plaint—Relief—See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADINGS AND PROOF, 3 B.L.R. App. 111=12 W.R. 69.

Alternative reliefs in plaint—Partition—Findings of fact unaccompanied by reasons—Not conclusive in second appeal—Practice—Procedure—See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADINGS AND PROOF, 19 B. 323.

Relief, Oudh Taluqdars, Act.

See U.P. ACT XXIV OF 1870.

Religion.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, S. 9.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS.

(1)—Religious ceremonies—Restraint—Agreement—Effect.—All persons, whether Hindus or Mahomedans, are entitled to the free exercise of their religious ceremonies, and to hold their festivals at the customary appointed times. They cannot be restricted in the exercise of such rights by the engagements of other persons of their own religion who have no authority to do so. MUZHUR ALLY v. MUSSUMAT RANEE GANESH KOOER, 3 N.W.P. 46.

Religion, Change of.

Guardian—Minor — Change of religion—Custody—See ACT IX OF 1875, s. 2, cl. (b), 9 M. 391.

Habeas corpus — Minor — Education and prospects—Change of religion—Natural guardian—Conduct—See CUSTODY OF CHILDREN, 16 B. 307.

Right of father to guardianship and control of religion of minor—Right of Court to interfere—See GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, 1890, s. 17, 25 C. 881=2 C.W.N. 379.

From Hinduism into Mahomedanism does not affect the convert's right to give his Hindu son in adoption—See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 3 Bom. L.R. 89=25 B. 551.

Before the passing of the Indian Succession Act, as bearing upon his right of inheritance—See NATIVE CHRISTIANS, 1 Bom. L.R. 53=23 B. 539.

Does not militate against parcenership among members of a joint family who lived on such before as well as after conversion to Christianty—See SUCCESSION ACT, 1865, s. 25, 8 Bom. L.R. 770=31 B. 33.

Religion, Change of—concluded.

Religious Assembly.

(1)—High priest—Removal from office—Election—Voters, qualifications of—Meeting, notice of—Quorum—Majority, how determined.—To validate the removal of a high priest from his office by a majority of a religious brotherhood, it is necessary, first, to ascertain the voters and their qualifications, secondly, to determine whether steps have been taken to enable the brotherhood to express their decision, and, thirdly, to determine whether a majority have expressed their wish in favour of removal. The qualifications of voters may depend upon membership of the brotherhood, age, sex, and residence. A question may also arise whether a member or a family is the unit for this purpose. In order that the decision of members assembled at a meeting may be operative, it must have been convened after sufficient notice and due proclamation. The decision of the majority must be determined by reference to votes given at the meeting and cannot be made to depend upon views indicated subsequently in the course of a suit brought to contest the validity of the removal. Whether a quorum is necessary to legalise the decision of the meeting must depend upon the custom of the brotherhood, in the absence of statutory provision or express direction in that behalf by the founder. JURO RAM DAS v. GOBIND DEB MISRA, 12 C.L.J. 497=8 Ind. Cas. 124.

Religious Association.

Suit by some of the subscribers of a religious and charitable society—Advocate-General consent or sanction, not obtained—S. 539, Civ. Pro. Code—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 92, 93, 4 M.L.T. 345=32 M. 131=1 Ind. Cas. 995.

Government sanction if necessary to legalise—Exclusive right of worship—Whether Crown is a necessary party in suit relating to mosque—Court's power to settle a scheme of management of trust—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF, 13 C.W.N. 26, P.C.=4 M.L.T. Special, p. 25=1 Ind. Cas. 314.

Right of member to share in voluntary payments made to a—Suit not cognisable on the Small Cause side—See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, sch. II, art. 13, 28 M. 202.

Religious Ceremonies.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, S. 9.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS.

Religious Community.

See RELIGIOUS ASSEMBLY.

(1)—Religious community worshipping at one synagogue—Resolutions at meeting of community dismissing officers of synagogue—Necessity of notice to officers—Decision by domsetic tribunal for community, whether Court can interfere with.—This suit was instituted by the Advocate-

Religious Community—continued.

General at the relation of the managers appearing for themselves and the worshippers of a synagogue of the Beni-Israel community against there others of the same community. Plaintiffs asked for a declaration that the three defendants did not respectively occupy the position of headman, beadle and crier of the synagogue, they having been dismissed from their above offices by resolutions passed at a meeting of the majority of the community. The Court had at first some doubt as to its jurisdiction to hear the suit and whether the suit did not come within the analogy of the class of cases where the Courts have refused to interfere with the autonomy of a caste, but it decided that this community was not a caste, and there were also questions as to the management of the endowment and the right to office of importance and authority. And where the proceedings of the domestic tribunal of the community have not been conducted with fairness, the Court will have jurisdiction to interfere. In this case, the defendants had not been given any previous notice that their conduct and their dismissal were to be discussed at the meeting whose resolutions dismissed them from office. The first defendant held his office as long as he duly performed the duties thereof and not merely at the will of the community. He was not given notice and an opportunity of meeting the charges against him, and had not, therefore, been duly dismissed. The second defendant claimed no family rights to his office, nor had he any vested interest in it. There was no evidence as to the exact terms on which he held his office, and in the absence of such proof, the Court decided that it would be in accordance with equity and fairness to hold that he too was entitled to notice, and an opportunity of defending himself before dismissal. The third defendant, however, was merely a subordinate paid official whom the managers had the power to dismiss. All the managers, save the first and second defendants, concurred in dismissing him, and he was therefore liable to be declared to have been rightly dismissed. If a voluntary society, such as the community in this case, seeks the aid of the Court to enforce its decisions, it must first prove that it has proceeded in conformity with the ordinary principles of justice and fairness. No such proof having been given in this case, the Court refused to award the plaintiffs the relief sought by them. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL OF BOMBAY v. DAVID HAIM DEVAKAR, 11 B. 185. [Not F., 21 C. 463; R., 23 B. 122, 24 B. 13, 26 B. 174=3 Bom. L.R. 718, 28 B. 20.]

(2)—Jurisdiction—Rule for the regulation of the rights of dissident parties in a community distinguished by some religious profession—Sunisi--Shias--Shia Imam--Ismailis--Aga Khan—Khojas—Injunction.—A suit by certain members of the Khoja community in Bombay for an account of all property belonging to or held in trust for the community in the hands of the treasurer and accountant of the community; for a declaration that the treasurer and accountant had ceased to be such officers of the community; for an order directing the treasurer and accountant to deliver all the property of the community in their hands; for a declaration that the property of the community was held and ought to be applied to and for the original charitable, religious, and public uses or trusts to or for which they were dedicated and to none other, for the sole benefit of the Khoja sect and none other and that no person not being or having ceased to be a member of the same, and in particular no person professing Shia opinions in matters of religion, was entitled to any share or interest therein; for a scheme to carry such declaration into effect, and for an injunction restraining one of the defendants from interfering in the management of the property and affairs of the Khoja community or in the election and appointments of officers, from ex- communicating any members of the community, from celebrating marriages, and from demanding or receiving any offering was held to be maintainable in the Civil Courts. In the exercise of its charitable jurisdiction, a Court called upon to adjudicate between the conflicting claims of dissident parties in a community distinguished by some religious profession, will regulate the right of the litigants by reference to the religious tenets held by the community in its origin, and a minority holding these tenets will prevail against a majority which has receded from them. History of the sects of Sunis, Shias and Shia Imami Ismailis. History of Aga Khan. History of the Khojas and their relations with the hereditary Imam of the Ismailis. Relations of Aga Khan with the Jamat of the Khojas of Bombay. The tenets of Muhammadanism to which the first Khojas were converted were those of the Shia Imami Ismaili sect. A person claiming the full privileges of membership in the Khoja community must be one of that sect whose ancestors were originally Hindus, which was converted to, and has throughout abided in the faith of, the Shia Imami Ismailis, and which has always been and still is bound by ties of spiritual allegiance to the hereditary Imams of the Ismailis. No public property impressed with a trust, either express or implied, for the benefit of the whole Khoja community exists. The Aga Khan, as the spiritual head of the Khojas, is entitled to exercise a potential voice in determining who, on religious grounds, shall or shall not remain members of the Khoja community. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL ex relatione DAYA MUHAMMAD v. MUHAMMAD HUSEN HUSENI, 12 B.H.C. 323. [R., 12 B.H.C. 281, 294, 12 B. 280, 11 Bom. L R. 409.]

Religious Community—concluded.

Religious Endowments.

See BUDDHIST LAW—ECCLESIASTICAL.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, S 9.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, S. 92.

See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—ENDOWMENTS.

Religious Endowments—continued.

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF.

See MALABAR—ENDOWMENT.

See RIGHT OF SUIT—OFFICE OR EMOLUMENT, SUITS RELATING TO.

See RIGHT OF SUIT—ENDOWMENTS, SUITS RELATING TO.

See TRUST.

See TRUSTEE.

(1)—S. 539, Civ. Pro. Code, 1877—Religious trust.—Trusts for religious purposes were excluded from the purview of s. 539, Civ. Pro. Code, 1877. KARUPPA v. ARUMUGA, 5 M. 383. [F., 8 B. 432; R., 10 M. 375.]

(2)—Public temple, Allegation of—Temple, originally private — Subsequent dedication—Necessity for proof of.—To sustain a plea that a temple is a public one, there must be clear and strong proof of subsequent dedication to the public, if the institution originally belonged to a family. APPU PATTAR v. SRI KURUMBA BHAGAVATI DEVASWOM UTTAMA PANAMPALLI KURUMBA UMMA, 21 M.L.J. 588.

(3 & 4)—Gift of idol and land for public religious purpose—Deed not registered—Constitution of donor himself as trustee—Valid dedication to public.—The plaintiff having discovered an idol while digging on his land, made a gift thereof to the public with a piece of land for the construction of a temple to locate the idol in. In the deed of gift, he stated that neither he nor his heirs would object to the construction of a permanent temple by the public, and constituted himself a dharmakarta of the idol. On his refusing to register the document, it was compulsorily registered. He, thereupon sued to recover the idol and the land and for loss of offerings at the temple built on the land by the public. Held, that there was a valid dedication of the land to the public, and the deed did not require registration under s. 122 of the Transfer of Property Act. Held, also that as the donor constituted himself a dharmakarta, there was no transfer of property. Held, further, that as the declaration of trust was for a public religious purpose, s. 5 of the Trusts Act did not apply. Held, moreover, that the compulsory registration of the document was none the less registration under the Registration Act and did not affect the dedication to the public. In the result, plaintiff was held not entitled to the relief asked for by him. PALLAYYA v. RAMAVADHANULU, 13 M.L.J. 364.

(5)—Debutter—Words of dedication.—In a deed of gift and dedication or danapatra, the donor stated: "The right and power of gift are yours. I and my heirs shall have no liability, claim or right." The deed was executed in favour of the donor's mother, who was to manage the property on behalf of an idol, to whom the property purported to be dedicated. Held, that the deed gave a power of alienation to the executee thereof and that there was no absolute dedication of the property in favour of the idol so as to constitute it debutter and inalienable. HARA SUNDAR MAJUMDAR v. BASUNTA KUMAR ROY, 9 C.W.N. 154.

(6)—Deed—Construction—Charitable purposes—Not void for vagueness— Parties— Persons interested not being upon the record—Effect of.—Where a deed of endowment recited that the executant had established a dharmshala for charitable purposes and he had carried on the charity: held, that the trust was not void for vagueness. A trust for such purposes, that is, charity generally, will always be carried out, notwithstanding that the objects of the charity are not specifically defined. (23 B. 725, D.) Where the Court finds a properly constituted trust, the fact that the trust was not carried out would not have the effect of annulling it. Where the plaintiffs in a suit ask for possession in the character of trustees of certain endowed property and omit to implead persons interested in a particular item of that property, they cannot in that suit obtain a decree declaring that property subject to the charge of maintaining the trust. GORDHAN DAS v. CHUNNI LAL, 5 A.L J. 23=A.W.N. 1908, 34 =30 A. 111.

(7)—Dedication of property to trust—Gift to donee burdened with the obligation to maintain certain religious services— Beneficial enjoyment of the donee after discharge of trust—Attachment of it in execution of decree—Decree—Execution.—In a deed of partition between a father and his sons, the amount to be annually incurred in the household divine service was put down at 8½ khandies of rice, Rs. 17 in cash and 921 cocoanuts. The deed further provided that certain plots of land, the income whereof had been settled to be 10½ khandies of rice and 2,200 cocoanuts, should be enjoyed by Vithoba (one of the sons), who should pay the Government assessment and local fund cess, and hand over to the father 8½ khandies of rice, Rs. 17 in cash and 920 cocoanuts during his lifetime. The father was to maintain the divine services out of the amount as long as he lived, and after his death, the son Vithoba was to do the same. The deed prohibited Vithoba from mortgaging or selling the plots in question. The defendant No. 1 obtained a decree against Vithal, in execution of which he got attached the latter's interest in the land. The plaintiff filed a suit for a declaration that the land was not liable to be attached and sold, inasmuch as it was properly reserved for the performance of a religious trust:—Held, (1) that there was no complete dedication of the property to a religious trust; but that there was merely a gift to Vithoba of the property subject to an obligation to perform certain services, which was imposed as a burden upon him; (2) that, after the discharge of the burden so imposed, Vithoba was left in beneficial enjoyment of the property, which could be attached and sold in execution of the decree against him. DASSA RAMCHANDRA PRABHU v. NARSIMHA DAMODAR BHATT, 13 Bom. L.R. 101=9 Ind. Cas. 768.

Religious Endowments—continued.

(8)—Religious endowment—Lewatra—Trust—Onus—Act XIV of 1859—Act XIII of 1848.—The appropriation of property to the religious services of a family has never, in modern times at least, been held to require the assent of the State and where such a trust appears to be established as to the lands dedicated, it lies on the opposite party to show some subsequent legal conversion of the lands to the ordinary uses of property. A settlement with Government and possession under it do not necessarily constitute proprietary right, much less can they divest and destroy trusts to which the settlor was subject. A former abuse of trust in another instance cannot be pleaded against a trustee who seeks to prevent a repetition of abuse, even if he was formerly implicated in the same indefensible courses against which he is seeking to protect the property, though it would be reason for excluding him from the administration of the property as shebait. Where a party has purchased joint family property under circumstances which prove that he must have had notice of its having been dedicated to religious purposes, and does not show that he made any inquiries as to his grounds for supposing that the trust was legally at an end, he cannot exonerate the property from the trust attached to it. JUGGUTMOHEENEE DOSSEE v. SOKHEEMONEE DOSEE, 10 B.L.R.=19, P.C=17 W.R. 41=14 M.I.A. 289=2 Suther 512=3 Sar. 23 [F., 2 C.L.J. 448 : R., 5 B. 393, 15 M. 424, 23 C. 645, 1 C.W.N. 493, 27 C. 242, 5 Bom. L.R. 956.]

(9)—Trust—Private temple of tarwad—Power of karnavan to dispose of its property—Temple properties, whether belong to family—Competency of members of family to put an end to temple.—Even in the case of private temples in which the public have no interest, properties which are admittedly set apart for the temples cannot be regarded as Tarwad properties. Assuming that the public have no right in the temples, it cannot be doubted that the properties must continue to be regarded as trust property until at any rate all the beneficiaries concerned, that is, all the members of the family to which the temples belong put an end to the temple or the temples, assuming that they could do so. (9 B. 169, R.) The karnavan of a Tarwad cannot dispose of property belonging to a private temple owned by the Tarwad. Quære :—Whether, when a temple has been founded by a tarwad for the benefit of the family, the members for the time being can put an end to the trust, so as to affect those who may be subsequently born in the family? PATTANUR VELANGIRI EDATHIL RAIRU NAMBIAR v. KILOTH THAZHATH VITTIL NARAYAN NAMBIAR, 21 M L.J. 585.

(10)—Hindu Law—Religious endowment—Succession to the Gadi of a mahant—Custom—Evidence—Burden of proof--Plaintiff should succeed on the strength of his own title—Pleadings—Practice.—In determining the right of succession to the property left by the deceased head of a religious institution, the only law to be observed is to be found in custom and practice which must be proved by evidence. The plaintiff, in order to succeed, must prove the custom of the math entitling him to recover the office and the property appertaining to it. (9 A. 1, 13 I. A. 100, F.) The plaintiff succeeds upon the strength of his own title, rather than upon the weakness of the defendant. GOBIND PARPAN RAMANUJ DAS v. BALA SARAN, 6 Ind. Cas. 709.

(11)—Title to the property.—In cases where there is no evidence as to who founded a religious endowment or as to the terms or conditions of the foundation, the legal inference is that the title to the property or to the management and control of the property, as the case may be, follows the line of inheritance from the founder. MAHARAJA JAGADINDRA NATH v. RANI HEMANTA KUMARI, 6 Bom. L.R. 765=32 C. 129=8 C.W.N. 809=1 A.L.J. 585=31 I.A. 203=8 Sar. 698.

(12)—Trust property—Shebait failing to nominate a successor—Who should manage—Adverse possession—Pleadings and proof, variance between—Test—Arrangement authorizing joint management, if operative—The devolution of the trust upon the death or default of each trustee depends upon the terms upon which it was created or the usage of the particular institution where no express trust deed exists. (8 W.R 25, P C., 1 I.A. 209, 10 I.A. 32, 9 C. 766, 11 I.A. 94, 10 C. 901, R.) Where the worship of an idol is founded, the office of shebait is vested in the heirs of the founder in default of evidence to show that he has disposed it of, otherwise. (17 C. 3, 16 I.A. 137, R.) Hence where a shebait appointed by the founder fails to nominate a successor in accordance with the conditions or usage of the endowment, the management reverts to the representatives of the founder, even though the endowment has assumed a public character. (5 B.L.R. 181, 13 W.R. 396, 17 C. 3, 16 I.A. 137, 12 C. 375, 25 C. 354, 18 A. 227, 28 A. 689, 29 A. 663, 15 M. 44. R). The right of a person lawfully entitled to the office of a shebait may be extinguished by adverse possession (27 M. 192, 29 M. 283, 33 I.A. 139, 6 C.L.J. 621, 14 M. 153, 10 I.A. 90, 6 A. 1, 17 C. 3, 16 I.A. 137, R.) A plaintiff is not entitled to succeed on a case not to be found in the pleadings nor involved in or consistent with the case thereby made. (11 M.I.A. 7 at 20, 468, 9 W.R. 9, P.C. 12 M.I.A. 470, 11 W.R P.C 27, 2 B.L.R. 64 P.C., R.) On the other hand, even if the plaintiff should mistake the relief to which he is entitled in his special prayer, the Court may afford him the relief to which he has a right under the prayer for general relief, provided it is such a relief as is conformable to the case made in the plaint. (6 B.L.R. 273, 9 B.L.R. 11, R.) The test in each case is, whether the relief sought may be granted upon the facts stated in the plaint and established by the evidence and whether the variance, if any, between the pleading and proof will take the defendant unfairly by surprise. Quære.—Whether any arrangement made by a shebait authorizing two persons to hold the office jointly is operative in law. SITAL DAS BABAJI v. PROTAP CHANDRA SARMA, 11 C.L.J. 2=3 Ind. Cas. 408. [R., 6 Ind. Cas. 26.]

Religious Endowments—continued.

(13)—Son of a Hindu Mahant of a, whether entitled to succeed to the office of his father and the property of the institution.—This was a suit by the son of a Mahant of a dera or dharmasala, for possession of property, alleging that he was entitled to succeed to the same as the rightful heir of his father, and, in the alternative, that, if the property be treated as the property of the religious endowment, he had a superior right of succession thereto. The main question for decision was whether, if the property be that of the religious endowment, plaintiff was entitled to claim possession on the ground of right (1) as son or (2) as the duly elected Mahant of the institution, according to the custom among Udasi faqirs, to whom the institution belonged. Held, among the Udasis, the married Udasis are called Bindi while those who remain celibate are called Nadi and among the former, the son succeeds and becomes the Mahant. Further, even assuming there was no precedent of a son's succession in the particular dera, the old rule should be held to prevail, that the election by the fraternity remove such defect, if it is one, in plaintiff's title. DASAUNDHI RAM v. KHAZAN DASS, 112 P.R. 1906=102 P.L.R. 1907. (101 P.R. 1905 and 136 P.R. 1889, R.)

(14)—Hindu Law—Debutter — Hereditary shebaitship—Shebaitship, validity of disposal by will—Usage—Family custom.—Held by Maclean, C.J. and Mitra, J.—In the absence of any local usage or family custom, and where no case of necessity or clear benefit to the idol has been made out, a shebait of a private debutter is not entitled to dispose of his office of hereditary shebaitship by his will. (6 B. 298, Diss.) Held by Woodroffe, J.—That the question of usage did not affect the matter, and that the office of shebaitship could not be alienated by will. RAJESHWAR MULLICK v. GOPESWAR MULLICK, 12 C.W.N. 323=35 C. 226=7 C.L.J. 315.

(15)—Hindu Law—Sangat Nanak Shahi—Right of representative of founder of trust to nominate trustee.—Where a Nanak Shahi Sangat was founded, but no trust was created, and it was not shown that any usage or course of dealing pointed to a different mode of devolution, held, that the right to nominate a trustee remained vested in the founder of the endowment and his heirs, and it is for the other claimants to show that the former had divested themselves, either at the foundation or afterwards, of the powers which naturally belonged to them. SHEO PRASAD v. AYA RAM, 4 A.L.J. 565=A.W.N. 1907, 210=29 A. 663. [R., 11 C.L.J. 2=3 Ind. Cas. 408.]

(16)—Right to shebaitship— Acquisition by more than 12 years' adverse possession.—A person may acquire a right to shebaitship by more than 12 years' adverse possession as shebait, even though his nomination to the office may be invalid. JAGAN NATH DAS v. BIR BHADRA DAS, 19 C. 776. [R., 18 M. 342; Appr., 37 P.W.R. 1908=53 P.R. 1909.]

Religious Endowments—continued.

(17 & 18)—Debutter property, ownership of.—The ownership of the debutter property is vested in the idols, the shebaits being, strictly speaking, not trustees for the idols, but managers, though there is this peculiarity that all transactions, including even litigation, are carried on by the managers in their own names. JUGGODUMBA DOSSEE v. PUDDOMONEY DOSSEE, 15 B.L.R. 318. [R., 12 B. 247, 28 B. 215, 27 M. 435=14 M.L.J. 105, 2 C.L.J. 460; D., 23 B. 22.]

(19)—Hindu Law— Debutter private—Conversion into secular property — Consensus of family—Real or nominal debutter—Test—Dealings with property—Release by Government, effect of—Shebait right, alienation of, to co-shebait—Validity—Idol—Breakage of.—Properties dedicated to a family idol may be converted into secular property by the consensus of the family. Held—that in this case the properties if originally debutter have been so converted with common consent. In dealing with a question as to whether properties alleged to be debutter are really debutter or only nominally so, the manner in which the dedicated properties have been held and enjoyed is the most important point for consideration. Release by Government is not conclusive evidence of property being debutter. (21 W.R. 365, F.) Shebaite right cannot be transferred even to a co-shebait or to one who is next in succession. (4 I.A. 69, 19 A. 428, 22 C. 989, R., 6 B. 298, Not F.) Quære:—Whether an idol which has been broken is capable of holding property. GOBINDA KUMAR ROY CHOWDHURY v. DEBENDRA KUMAR ROY CHOWDHURY, 12 C.W.N. 98.

(20)—Shebaitship — Mohunth — Transfer, power of—Superior and subordinate Mutt, relation of—Election of Mohunth—Custom governing Mutt—Conditional decree giving possession till a Mohunth is duly installed, if to be passed.—A Mohunth of a mutt cannot transfer the right of management vested in him, though coupled with the obligation to manage in conformity with the trust annexed thereto. (4 I.A. 76, 23 M. 271=27 I.A. 69, R.) Where one mutt is subordinate to another in the sense that the latter has the right of nomination of the Mohunth of the former, the Mohunth of the former mutt cannot by a deed of transfer alienate his rights in favour of the Mohunth of his superior mutt. There is no fixed rule which regulates the relation between a superior and a subordinate mutt, even if a mutt is subordinate to another, it must be governed by its own rules of management. (20 W.R. 217, P.C., 10 M. 375, R.) In the case of mutts, the custom governing the particular establishment has to be proved. (11 M.I.A. 405, 9 C. 766=10 I.A. 32=13 C.L.R. 30, 1 M.I.A. 209, R.) In the case of mutts, there is no uniform custom applicable to all mutts so far as the question of succession to the office of Mohunth is concerned. (27 M. 435, R.) In cases in which a Mohunth is allowed by custom to nominate his successor by word of mouth or by a will, such nomination is subject to the confirmation of the entire body of Sanyasis of different mutts, who are invited to be present at the ceremony of installation when the new Mohunth is invested with Chudder or the robe of office. When no custom is proved and no authority in the outgoing Mohunth to make a nomination is established, the Mohunth should be elected by all the Sanyasis of the institution. (1 A. 539, 7 C.W.N. 145, R.) Where the plaintiff has not asked for declaration of his rights to nominate a Mohunth for another mutt, nor in the plaint stated precisely the nature of the relations between the two mutts but claimed title in himself on the basis of the Suparadanama (which created no valid title in him in the disputed properties), he cannot, at the appellate stage of the case, be permitted to turn round and say that he is entitled to have a decree for administration, to recover possession of the disputed properties and to keep such possession till a Mohunth has been appointed. PRAYAD DAS v. MOHUNTH KRIPARAM, 8 C.L.J. 499. (14 M. 1, D.) [F., 2 Ind. Cas. 385 =14 C.W.N. 191.]

(21)—Absolute sale or gift in favour of temple —Power to appoint manager of land—Deed in donor's custody—Effect—Construction of deed —Subsequent conduct of parties.—Where a deed is in terms an absolute sale or gift in favour of the temple, the fact that the donor is permitted to retain the instrument cannot be taken as sufficient to show that he also retained the ownership of the land. And where the deed is clear, the evidence of the subsequent conduct of the parties, many years after its execution, cannot assist in construing its language or terms. A person making over the land absolutely to the temple has no power to give any other person any right of management of it. KRISHNA PILLAI v. ARUNACHELLA CHETTIAR, 18 M.L.J. 304.

(22)—Temple—Manager of a temple—Trustee of the propety—Services of the temple performed by rotation.—The Manager of the temple is by virtue of his office the administrator of the property attached to it. As regards the property the manager is in the position of a trustee. But as regards the service of the temple and the duties that appertain to it, he is rather in the position of the holder of an office or dignity which may have been originally conferred on a single individual, but which, in course of time, has become vested by descent in more than one person. In such a case, in order to avoid confusion or an unseemly scramble, it is not unusual, and it is certainly not improper, for the parties interested to arrange among themselves for the due execution of the functions belonging to the office in turn or in some settled order and sequence. There is no breach of trust in such an arrangement nor any improper delegation of the duties of a trustee. RAMANATHAN v. MURUGAPPA, 8 Bom. R. 498= 16 M.L.J. 265=10 C.W.N. 825, P.C.=29 M. 283=1 M.L T. 327=3 A L.J. 707=4 C.L.J. 189 =33 I.A. 139.

(23)—Manager of pagoda—Reg. VII of 1817 —Admissibility in evidence of previous judgment against a stranger.—A suit was brought by the trustees of a certain pagoda for the recovery of certain villages from the defendant, on behalf of the pagoda, and to declare a copper Sannad, purporting to be an ancient grant on which defendant based his title, a forgery. The Board of Revenue had placed the defendant in possession in 1858.—Held, by Innes, J., that the title to manage must reside in the pagoda if it did not reside in the defendant, that the evidence abundantly negatived the title of the defendant and that the plaintiff was entitled to possess and manage the property as trustee of the temple; upon the question whether plaintiff was precluded from recovering during the life-time of the defendant by the order of 1858 placing defendant in possession held, that the Government could not create a valid title to more than they themselves possessed, that they had simply taken over the possession and management of the endowment and afterwards given it over to defendant, and that, by so doing, they relieved themselves of the trust they had undertaken under Reg. VII of 1817, but did not thereby appoint defendant a manager under Reg VII of 1817.—Held also that the judgment in a previous suit in 1819 in which the cousin of a former manager sued him for the partition of certain villages, some of which were included in this suit, and in which it was decided that the manager was manager and not owner, was a decision upon a question of public right and was receivable against the defendant. Kindersley, J., agreed generally, but doubted if the judgment in 1819 was upon a matter of such general interest as to be good evidence against a stranger. NALLATHAMBI BATTAR v. NELLAKUMARA PILLAI, 7 M.H.C. 306.

(24)—Hindu Law—Religious endowment—Powers of manager — Relative position of Mohunts of Tirpuntal Mutt and of Benares Mutt.—The mohunt of the mutt at Tirpuntal, Zillah Tanjore, in the Madras Presidency, sued the mohunt of the mutt at Benares in the Civil Court of that place for the right to manage and to superintend as proprietor the mutt and Chuttur affairs at Benares, and also to manage and superintend the temple of Sri Kedareshur, to recover certain moveable and immoveable property belonging to the said mutt, chuttur and temple, and to have an account of the receipts and disbursements relative to the said temple and chuttur, such relief being claimed by virtue of his proprietary right as mohunt and guddee-nasheen of the "headquarters mutt of Tirpuntal under whose jurisdiction and power the chuttur institution at Benares etc., had continued from time immemorial, by removal of the possession and superintendence of the defendant, who had been acting as agent." The defendent denied plaintiff's claim to the immoveable property, the estate situated in the chuttur and the endowed property, and alleged that those properties were acquired by and belonging to the mohunt's guddee-nasheens at Benares, the ancestors of the defendant, and the defendant himself, and he also denied that he was an agent, and he claimed to be the real proprietor and guddee-nasheen and in possession and occupation by right of succession to his ancestors. Held that, as the original foundation was admittedly at Benares, a holy place and as the object of the foundation was to afford to persons, either resident in the south of India or making pilgrimage to Benares, facilities for carrying on their worship, and performing their religious duties there, these facts raised a presumption that the establishment at Tirpuntal was subordinate to that at Benares. Held, also, that the nature of the transactions between the mutts was that the mutt at Tirpuntal fed, as it were, the establishmont at Benares, the object of which was to afford facilities to pilgrims and others who wished to pay their devotions at Benares for so doing, and that the result of the system was that the establishment at Tirpuntal collected the alms of the faithful in the south of India, and remitted from time to time considerable sums to Benares, producing complicated exchange transactions between the two establishments. Held, further, that the plaintiff had wholly failed to prove either that he was the proprietor of the property claimed at Benares or that the defendant was his mere agent. KASHI BASHI RAMALING SWAMEE v. CHITUMBER NATH KOOMAR SWAMEE, 20 W R. 217, P.C.=2 Suther. 886. [R., 10 M. 375, 8 C.L J. 499, 2 Ind. Cas. 385.]

Religious Endowments—continued.

(25)—Right of management of Dharmakartas, suit for declaration and injunction regarding, by Vadagalai Dharmakartas against Archakas of Thengalai sect—Processions, ceremonies, etc., to which an idol in a shrine may be entitled, competency of Civil Courts to adjudicate on —Discontinuance by trustees of festivals established by usage, whether can form subject of prescription.— The Dharmakartas of the Sri Devaraja Swami Temple at Conjeevaram who were Vadagalais instituted this suit praying for a declaration that, as Dharmakartas of the said temple and of the shrine of the Manavala Mahamuni situate within its precincts, the rights and duties connected with the management of the temple with its connected shrines and the conduct and celebration of ceremonies and festivals therein inclusive of the annual Thirunakshatram othsavam devolved on them alone, that they, as the Dharmakarthas, were entitled to make all arrangements for putting and taking down pandals in Manavala Mahamuni's shrine, that the defendants, who were Tengalai Archakas and Paricharakas of the above shrine, were not entitled to act independently of the plaintiffs in the matter of such pandals, not to carry the idol of Manavala Mahamuni in procession either in the prakaram of Sri Devaraja Swami or outside the prakaram during the thirunakshatram othsavam or at any other time. Plaintiffs further prayed for an injunction restraining the defendants from acting independently in the said matters in any way so as to interfere with plaintiffs' exercise of their right of management and the performance of their duties as Dharmakartas. Held, per Moore, J., the plaintiffs were admittedly the Dharmakartas of the temple and as such the lower Court had rightly granted them the declaration as to their exclusive rights to make all arrangements in respect of pandals for the shrine independently of its Archakas and Paricharakas, the defendants. As to the further declaration prayed for in the plaint, which related to the carrying of the idol of Manavala Mahamuni in procession and which were disallowed by the District Judge, held, the District Judge was right in having refused to give any declaration as to the processions. It cannot be maintained for a moment that any Court can adjudicate as to the rights, processions, ceremonies, &c., to which any shrine or idol may be entitled. Further, the question as to the processions in which the idol should be carried and the manner in which such processions should be conducted is not one which can be decided in the present suit between the Dharmakartas and certain temple servants the question being one which does not in reality arise between them. The persons mainly interested in these ceremonials are the worshippers at the shrine of Manavala Mahamuni and the defendants do not in any way represent such worshippers and, whenever the latter feel aggrieved by the manner in which the processions are carried out by the Dharmakartas, they have their remedy under Act XX of 1863. On the contention of the defendants that, being Vadagalai themselves, the Dharmakartas have intentionally and in breach of their duty, failed to carry out the established worship of the Thengalai Manavala Mahamuni deity, in omitting to carry the idol in procession on specified occasions, held, per Sankaran Nair, J., the proper persons to carry out the processions being the Dharmakartas themselves, it is very doubtful whether they could contend that, where the procession formed part of the public worship in the temple or was in accordance with established usage, a breach of trust on their part in not carrying out such procession for some time could justify them in really altering the worship. The question in such cases is what is the established usage in the temple, and, in the absence of any such usage, what is the worship described in the Shastras. Absence of any procession for a long period of time may be evidence against such usage or of its discontinuance or cessation if the usage had existed before. But no such discontinuance can be implied where, as in this case, the conduct of the Dharmakartas was challenged immediately and whether they can be allowed to set up their own breach of trust for a long time to justify its continuance may well be doubted.

Religious Endowments—continued.

As to the decision of the lower Court that the question as to the procession was res judicata by reason of prior decisions between the Dharmakartas and Archakas, held, it was doubtful whether any decision between these two alone could be binding as between the Vadagalais or Thengalais or any other persons interested as to the form or mode of worship in the temple. Held, further, that the question whether certain processions had to be carried out in a temple as a part of the worship therein was not a question of a civil, but of a religious nature, and it has to be decided with reference to considerations and arguments with which our Civil Courts are ordinarily unfit to deal; and a decision, therefore, of such a question by a Civil Court for the purpose of granting any relief can hardly be said to be a decision of a competent Court so as to bind the parties in subsequent suits based on a different cause of action or for a different relief. VANAMAMALAI BHASHYAKAR v. KRISHNASWAMI THATHACHARIAR, 16 M.L J. 150. [F., 7 M.L.T. 311; R., 30 M. 158=17 M L.J. 1=2 M.L.T. 69.]

(26)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 539—Leave to sue for appointment by Civil Court of committee for temple management—Court not to go beyond terms of sanction—Right to demand accounts from Mahant.—A Collector simply "accorded permission" to the plaintiffs to sue for the appointment by the Civil Court of a committee for the management of a religious trust and for securing any other reliefs claimable under the section. It was held that the Court had no jurisdiction to widen the scope of the suit, so as to enable the plaintiffs to ask for any other reliefs not covered by the leave granted, as, for instance, the removal of the defendant from his office of Mahant. Held, further, that it was not incumbent on the Mahant, who must be presumed to be the manager of the institution, to render, in the absence of a custom to the contrary, accounts to the worshippers. Except in cases where satisfactory proof is adduced that a religious or charitable institution is mismanaged so as to necessitate judicial interference, Civil Courts are not warranted in thrusting a scheme of management on such institution. PREM SINGH v. LABH SINGH, 89 P.R. 1901. [R., 79 P.R. 1908, Note; Cons., 127 P.R. 1908=123 P.W.R. 1908.]

(27)—Religious endowments—Alienation by present trustee—Binding nature of alienation upon succeeding trustee—Bombay Act II of 1863, s. 8, cl. (3)—Religious endowments in this country, whether they be Hindu (devasthan) or (sevasthan), or Mahomedan (waqf), are not alienable, though the annual revenues of such endowments, as distinguished from the corpus, may, for purposes essential to the temple or other institution endowed, be occasionally pledged e.g. "for the proper expenses of keeping up the religious worship, repairing the temples or other possessions of the idol, defending hostile litigious attacks, and other like objects, the power to incur such debts being, however, measured by the existing necessity for incurring them." Bombay Act II of 1863, in fact, contained no new law, and it was merely declaratory of the pre-existing common law of this country which does not ordinarily permit the alienation of religious or charitable endowments. Even if its provisions enacted a different and new law, yet, not having been made clearly retrospective, it cannot affect alienations made prior to it. NARAYAN v. CHINTAMAN AND MORESHVAR, 5 B. 393. [F., 27 M. 465, F.B.=14 M.L J. 81, 3 Ind. Cas. 353=11 C.L.J 317=14 C.W.N. 535=37 C. 179; R., 6 B. 546, 8 B. 432, 15 B. 625, 20 B. 495, 22 B. 475, 27 M. 435=14 M.L.J. 105; D., 25 A. 296=23 A.W.N. 50.]

(28)—Heads of Mutt—Powers of alienation—Extravagant personal expenditure not binding on the Mutt property.—The income of a Mutt was Rs. 20,000, of which Rs. 10,000 was required for the maintenance, properly so called, of the Mutt and the balance of Rs. 10,000 was at the disposal of the Pandarasannidhi for his personal expense. The Pandarasannidhi had to go on a journey of 50 miles to Madura for 10 or 14 days to give evidence in a certain suit. He took with him Rs. 300 and borrowed Rs. 1,500 at Madura, merely stating that it was required for the purposes of the Mutt. The plaintiff sued the Pandarasannidhi for the amount of Rs 1,500. He died during the hearing of the suit and the present head of the Mutt was brought in as second defendant. It was held that the debt could not be regarded as binding upon the property of the Mutt or its income in the hands of his successor, and that the decree against the second defendant should be restricted to the personal assets of the late Pandarasannidhi in his hands.—Per Benson, J.—Heads of Mutt cannot alienate or charge the corpus or income beyond their own life-time, except for the purposes necessary for the maintenance of the Mutt as such. (27 M. 435, F.; 2 M. 175, Commented upon.) It is true that a Pandarasannidhi has to maintain a certain amount of state, but such maintenance should be made out of the current income and should not be considered a sufficient reason for encumbering the Mutt property or binding the income in the hands of the borrower's successor.—Per Wallis, J.—Heads of Mutt cannot, in any view, exceed the powers of alienation of a limited owner, as defined in Hanooman Persaud Panday v. Musumat Babooe Munraj Koonwer (6 M.I.A. 393.) SRIMATH DAIVASIGAMONY PANDARA SANNIDHI alias NATARAJA DESIKA PANDARA SANNIDHI v. KUPPUSAWMI, 17 M.L.J. 40.

(29)—Suit by worshippers for declaring an alienation of temple property invalid—Nature of decree—Trustees can be placed in possession in the same suit, and need not be referred to a separate suit—Suit by worshippers in a temple against the trustees thereof and their alienee, to declare an alienation of temple property invalid.—Held that, where the alienation is declared invalid, possession of the property may be awarded to such of the defendants as are trustees. The suit being one to enforce the claim of the temple, against the person who holds temple-property without title, there is no reason why the trustees should be referred to a separate suit to obtain possession on its behalf, when possession may be given to them in this suit. No injunction, as against the trustees, against the alienation, is necessary, as they will hold possession, not on their own behalf, but only as trustees. A. SUBRAMANIA IYER v. NAGARATHNA NAICKER, 20 M.L.J. 151=8 M.L.T. 114=5 Ind. Cas. 901.

Religious Endowments —continued.

(30)—Transfer of religious trusts—Malabar Law — Endowment.— A transfer of religious trusts is void, no distinction can be drawn between one in perpetuity and one for ninety-six years. RAMA VARMA TAMBARAN v. RAMAN NAYAR, 5 M. 89.

(31)— Temple-lands — Power of trustee to grant permanent lease—Occupancy rights.—The suit lands were ryotwari lands with patta in the name of the temple. The defendants set up occupancy rights, relying upon certain documents in which such words as "permanent," "you and your heirs" were used. Held that these terms did not confer a permanent right, having regard to the history of the Revenue Settlement of the district. Held also that it is not competent to the trustee of a temple, in the absence of special circumstances, to grant a permanent lease of temple property. MUTHUVELU PILLAI v. AIYASAMI NAIK, 7 M.L.T. 386=6 Ind. Cas. 7. (27 M. 291 P.C., Appl.)

(32)—Temple property—Permanent lease of, at unvarying rent — Invalidity — Power to alienate corpus of temple property—Necessity justifying such alienation—Instances—Powers of shebait, extent of.—An alienation of temple property on a permanent lease at an unvarying rent or a fixed premium is not sustainable (13 M.I.A. 270, 27 M. 291, 36 C. 1003, F.; 19 M.L.J. 208, 28 M. 391, R.) The fact that the property leased is a building site does not appear to be any justification for leasing the property at an unvarying rent. There is no rule of Hindu law which absolutely prohibits the alienation of a corpus of the temple property, where there are sufficient circumstances of necessity requiring it. That such alienations ought only to be resorted to as extreme measures in the absence of other reasonable means of providing for the needs of the temple may well be accepted as the canon of the judgment in regard to the validity of particular alienations (27 M. 435, 27 M. 465, Doubted, 36 C. 1003, P.C., 4 I. A. 52, Expl.; 27 M. 466, 6 B. 346, 12 B. 247, 2 I. A. 145, 6 M I. A. 393, R.) The powers of the shebait of an idol are those of a manager of an infant heir. Necessity which may be sufficient for the charging of the rents and profits is not sufficient for the alienation of the corpus.—The physical and moral requirements of a human infant are different from the requirements of an idol or an object of public worship suited to the faith and rituals and religious traditions of the community for whose spiritual ministration it has been set up. The requirements of daily worship, of buildings suitable for the carrying on of such worship, and even of the essential festivals intended to cultivate the religious emotions of the public for whose benefit the temple is dedicated, may afford grounds for the alienation of part of the corpus of the property of the temple. SREEMUTH DEVASIKAMANI PANDARA SANNADHI alias NATARAJA DESIKAR v. PALANIAPPA CHETTI, 20 M.L.J. 969.

(33)—Charitable endowment—Trustee's competence to grant permanent tenure—Power of Collector under Reg. VII of 1817—Suit for ejectment—Nature of interest in holding—Lease new for confirmatory—Purakudi — Ulavadai Miras.—The effect of Reg. VII of 1817 is to supersede the powers of managers to alienate charitable property and to sanction the revision of existing appropriations, if unduly made. The Collector who is an ex officio local agent of the Board of Revenue, in whom the general superintendence of all charitable endowments was vested by Mad. Reg. VII of 1817, must see that the endowment is not unduly appropriated. A permanent lease of temple land made by the manager of a temple in 1820 was held liable to objection in the absence of strong grounds justifying it. [F., 28 M. 391, 5 M. L.T. 220=19 M.L.J. 208.] Held on the evidence in this case that the muchilika executed in 1832 evidenced the creation of a new lease and not the confirmation of a previous permanent grant of 1813. The word "purakudis" has a definite meaning, whilst the expression "ulavadai mirasdars" is of doubtful signification. The permanency of the tenure was held not proved, in the circumstances of the case, by the mere fact that in certain documents the tenants were described as "ulavadai mirasdars" when in other more important documents they were described as "purakudis." SEENA PENA REENA SEENA MAYANDI CHETTIAR v. CHOKKALINGAM PILLAI, 27 M. 291, P.C.=8 C.W.N. 545=31 I.A. 83=14 M.L.J. 200=8 Sar. 587. (6 M.H.C. 164, 11 M. 77, 5 M. 345, R.)

(34)—Profits of debuttur property, extent of as ignability of—Actual possession to be looked to.—The profits of a deubttur mahal may be assigned so long as the Deb seba is duly kept up; and, in this case, it was not shown that the Deb seba was not so kept up. Also, both the lower Courts had found on the evidence that the intervenor had neither title to nor possession of the lands in suit, while the evidence proved the plaintiff's possession, and as it was actual possession that has to be looked to in such a case, and the plaintiff's actual possession was proved, he was entitled, under s. 77 of Act X of 1859 to a decree in this suit for rent. MAHARANEE SHIBESSUREE DABIA v. MR. JOHN BECKWITH, 3 W.R. Act, X. 152.

(35)—Religious trust—Appointment of an agent by trustee, not an assignment of the trust.—A person in possession of certain lands, subject to the performance of a religious trust from the income thereof, executed a document empowering the plaintiff to hold possession of the land for a certain number of years and to collect the income and apply it properly for the purposes of the trust. Though the document was headed a "trust-deed" and the plaintiff was therein styled as trustee, there was no assignment of the trust so as to render the deed inoperative. The relation created thereby was only that of principal and agent for a limited period, without impairing the original trustee's responsibility to carry on the trust. KRISHNAMACHARLU v. RANGACHARLU, 16 M. 73.

Religious Endowments—continued.

(36)—Religious institution—Power of manager to alienate property for necessity—Power to incur debts binding on institution.—Though property devoted to religious purposes is, as a rule, inalienable, it is competent for a person like a Mohant holding the position of the manager of the property to incur debts and borrow money for the upkeep of the institution, and he can, in the capacity of such manager, alienate the property if that be absolutely necessary. The power to incur such debts, however, must be measured by the existing necessity for incurring them. In considering whether it was necessary to raise money for the purposes of the institution, the income as well as the necessary expenses for the institution must be taken into account. BISHEN DAS v. GHASITA, 39 P.R. 1882. (95 P.R. 1879, R.) [R., 127 P.R. 1908=123 P.W.R. 1908.]

(37)—Debt incurred by deceased manager of mutt—Liability of successor to pay off amount from the income of the mutt property—Necessity for creation of a charge by the deceased manager.—Where a debt was incurred by the defendant's predecessor in office as manager of mutt, for purposes necessary for the maintenance of the institution, a decree limiting the liability of the estate to the income of the mutt may be validly passed, although the debt was not made a charge on the estate by the deceased manager, in the same manner as the estate of an infant may be liable for a contract by the guardian without any express charge over the estate having been given. NATARAJA DESIKAR v. NOOR MAHOMED ROWTHEN, 17 M.L.J. 553=3 M.L.T. 95=31 M. 47. (27 M. 435, 4 I.A. 32, P.C., 17 M. 106, 20 B. 61, R.)

(38)—Suit for recovery of advances made to debutter estate--Shebait for the time being not ascertained—Court not asked to determine that question—Maintainability of suit--Shebaits, not personally liable—Debts due by debutter estate—Suit against shebait personally—Arts. 36, 120, sch. II, Act XV of 1877.—Where, in the case of rotation shebaits, the shebaits for the time being had to advance money out of his own estate to meet the expenses of the debutter estate and the plaintiffs as his heirs and legal representatives, sued for the recovery of the said money, as also for monies realised by one of the defendants out of the debutter estate, and the plaint stated that, as it was not certain who amongst the defendants was entitled to be shebaits, all of them were made parties, but the Court was not asked to determine who was entitled to be shebait, it was held that the suit was not maintainable, inasmuch as it was not stated in the plaint who the person was that was entitled to represent the estate as shebait for the time being, and the plaintiffs had not asked for the determination of the question. Creditors of a debutter estate are not entitled to any relief against a person (not ascertained to be the shebait for the time being) personally, simply on the ground of his having realised money from the debutter estate. A suit by the sons of the deceased shebait of a debutter estate, for the recovery of advances made by the deceased on account of the debutter estate, at a time when he had been wrongfully kept out of office by the defendant, who had claimed the office as against the deceased and who had realised money from the debutter estate, would be governed by art. 36, sch. II of the Limitation Act, if the suit be framed as against the defendant personally; but if the suit be framed as one against the defendant as representing the debutter estate, it would be governed by art. 120, and limitation would begin to run, not from the time when the advances were made, but from the time when the plaintiff's father died. RAJAH PEARY MOHAN MUKERJEE v. NARENDRA KRISHNA MUKERJEE, 5 C W.N. 273.

(39)—Suit on a pro-note by Head of a Mutt —Execution of decree against successor—Sishyas or disciples, position of.—The decree obtained against the Pandarasannidhi of a Mutt, for the money due on a pro-note executed by him, for necessary purposes binding on the Mutt, is enforceable against any person, who is the representative of the Mutt, at the time of the execution proceedings, subject to his right to set it aside, for adequate reasons, in a properly framed suit. The Sishyas or disciples of the Mutt are not co-owners with the Head; nor have they got such interest in the Mutt property, as would entitle them to be made defendants in a suit to recover money or property from a Pandarasannidhi. MANIKKA VASAKA DESIKAR v. BALAGOPALAKRISHNA CHETTY, 16 M.L.J. 415=29 M. 553. (27 M. 435, 9 M. 80, 14 B.L.R. 450, R.)

(40)—Temple trustee, whether public trustee —Personal liability for debt.—The fact that a temple trustee borrowed for the purposes of the temple does not affect his liability to the person, who lent the money to him, such a trustee not being a public trustee. PASUPATHI PILLAI v. SUNDARAPPIER, 2 M.L.T. 268.

(41)—Shebait, trespass by — Mesne profits, liability of idol for—Shebait's position—Representation of idol.—Where a decree from mesne profits, following a previous decree for recovery of possession of immoveable property, was passed against one P he was described therein as "shebait." Held that the decree should be taken as made against the idol, the suit having been defended on behalf of the idol and for its benefit. The position of a shebait as representing an idol discussed. RAJA PRAMADA NATH RAY v. SHEBAIT PURNO CHANDRA ROY, 12 C.W.N. 550=7 C.L.J. 514=35 C. 691.

Religious Endowments—continued.

(42)—Right to trusteeship barred—Right to recover endowment property also barred.—Plaintiffs sued for possession of (a) certain rights in certain temples, (b) the consecrated idols of those temples, and (c) certain properties attached to the temples. On their suit being dismissed as time-barred, the plaintiffs appealed and specially limited their relief in appeal to (c). Thus their right to reliefs (a) and (b) was lost. Held, that the appeal must fail. If the right to recover the office of trustee is lost by the dismissal of the suit, the right to recover a portion of the endowments must fall to the ground along with the trusteeship. GOVINDASAMI PILLAI v. DAKSHINAMURTHI POOSARI, 8 Ind. Cas. 760=9 M.L T. 105.

(43)—Religious endowment for worship of household idol—Suit by trustee of endowment to recover property sold in execution.—It was found by the lower Court that the lands in question had been assigned to plaintiff and his descendants as trustees for a religious purpose, and that the sale in execution of such property to the defendant was therefore void. Throwing out the contention for the defendant-appellant that the endowment in question was not a religious one to which the law will give effect, the object of it being the worship of a private family idol, and not the benefit of the general public, it was held that such a distinction which obtained in English Law with respect to charities did not obtain under any of Hindu Law texts. The gift created a religious endowment, and the present suit, as it had been throughout treated, was not one brought to set aside a sale by a party to the suit in which the sale was made ; but one by the trustee of an endowment to recover the property thereof to which the limitation of twelve years was to be applied. RUPA JAGSHET v. KRISHNAJI GOVIND, 9 B. 169. [R., 12 B. 247, 20 B. 495, 28 B. 215, 33 M. 75=19 M.L.J. 651=6 M.L.T. 199; D., 12 M. 387.]

(44)—Trust-deed not carried into effect—Property sold in execution against settlor—Heir of settlor, whether could proceed against the execution-purchasers.— A Hindu executed and registered a trust-deed of certain property, but the trust was never carried into effect, and was once even disclaimed by the settlor, who, with his brother, treated the property as their own, available in the ordinary way for the payment of their debts. The property was sold in execution of decrees against the settlor and his brother. The widow of the latter claimed the property from the Court-purchaser in the capacity of heir to the settlor. Such interest as the judgment-debtors had was saleable and was sold, and the plaintiff, with her claim based on inheritance from them, could not say that she possessed any independent interest which did not pass by the sale. SUPPAMMAL v. THE COLLECTOR OF TANJORE, 12 M. 387. (9 B. 169, D.) [R., A.W.N. 1908, 34=5 A.L.J. 23 =30 A. 111 ; D., 13 M. 402.]

(45)—Succession Certificate Act (Acts VII of 1889, and XXVII of 1860)—Heirship, Certificate of—Manager of endowment.—A trustee of a religious endowment succeeding another trustee need not take out a certificate to enable him to sue for a debt due to the institution. SRIMANT RAJA YARLAGADDA MALLAKARJUNA PRASADA NAYADU BAHADUR ZAMINDAR GARU v. MAKERLA SRIDEVAMMA, 1 C.W.N. 497, P.C.=20 M. 162=24 I.A. 73= 7 Sar 205. [R., 28 B. 215=5 Bom. L.R. 932.]

(46)—Several co-sharers in an endowment, right of each to recover possession personal, not hereditary—Money spent towards endowment by one co-sharer—Widow of co-sharer competent to recover.—One S had been appointed managing trustee to conduct the worship of certain idols with an annual allowance of a sum of money secured on the revenues of certain villages of which he was in possession. He brought the suit to recover possession of his rights on the ground that he had been ousted by his brothers, the other co-sharers in the endowment, and claimed wasilat for the time he had been kept out of possession and during which he had paid the expenses of the idols out of his own pocket. He obtained a decree for possession, and subsequently, on appeal, an order for the usufruct collected during his ouster. S died without executing his decree and, on the application of his widow, the principal Sudder Ameen allowed her to take out execution against the judgment-debtor on the ground that as the representative of her husband she was entitled to succeed to his property. There was no proof on the record that the services of the idols were kept up by S, out of his own resources and the decree had proceeded entirely on the right of S to recover possession which right was personal to the husband as trustee of the endowment and did not descend to his heir, and so the High Court, reversing the order of the Principal Sudder Ameen, held that the widow could execute the decree neither for possession nor for wasilat, as the usufruct of the land was the property of the endowment. The High Court was, however, of opinion that it was yet open to the widow to show in a regular suit that, during the time of her husband's dispossession, he, notwithstanding the failure of the trust fund, paid the expenses of the idol's services at his own cost. On giving such proof, she would be entitled to recover any sums so paid from the judgment-debtor. RADHA JEEBUN MOOSTOFEE v. TARA MONE DOSSEE, 3 W.R. Mis. 25.

(47)—Trustees—Power of one trustee to pass receipts—Withdrawal of power.—In the case of religious or charitable endowments, it is permissible for one trustee to pass receipts for rents or dividends. If the other trustees withdraw the power of one of their numbers, and inform the person who has to make the payment, of such withdrawal of power, the receipt signed by that one may not be binding on the other trustees. RAMBABU v. COMMITTEE OF RAMESHWAR, 1 Bom. L.R. 667.

Religious Endowments—continued.

(48)—Res judicata—Endowment—Samsthan—Collection of rents.—Defendant in the present case had sued the plaintiff herein to recover a share of certain property moveable and immoveable. The defence in that case was that the immoveable property had been set apart for the expenses of a samsthan or religious establishment. The suit was dismissed by the Sadar Court. Subsequently, the defendant herein brought another suit against the present plaintiff to recover possession of a half-share of 18 miras fields in the village of Daithan. That claim was rejected on the ground that the suit was on a cause of action which had been heard and determined by a Court of competent jurisdiction, (namely) the Sadar Court, in the suit above referred to. The plaintiff then brought the present action to recover certain sums collected by the defendant from the cultivators of the village of Daithan. Held that the defendant was not justified in making the collections which were the subject of the present suit, by reason of the previous decision above referred to and relating to the village of Daithan. He was accordingly ordered to hand over the collections to the plaintiff. DADO RAVJI v. DINANATH RAVJI, 2 B H C. 72.

(49)—Right of worshippers at a temple to subscribe for its festivals—No right in any one to subscribe solely to the exclusion of others.—Any worshipper is entitled to take part in the worship in a temple at any time or at any festival (6 M. 151, 23 M. 298, R.) and to subscribe towards the funds necessary for the performance of the festival and, even though sufficient funds have already been subscribed for, to require that his subscription may also be utilized for that purpose; but, no one and no special body of worshippers can claim the right to subscribe the funds necessary for a particular festival to the exclusion of other worshippers or subscribers and the plaintiffs' present suit therefore has been rightly dismissed by the Lower Courts, for their claim is for a declaration that they alone are entitled to subscribe to the festival in question to the exclusion of all other worshippers, the trustees having no right to get funds for the festival from any one else. VAIDINATHA THAMBIRAN v. CHANDRASEKARA DIKSHITAR, 15 M.L.J. 458. [Expl., 19 M.L.J. 743=7 M.L.T. 248=5 Ind. Cas. 76.]

(50)—Religious endowment—Suit for partition—Suit in religious endowments—Costs—Sanction of Advocate-General.—In previous suits it was held that the purpose of a certain fund was the erection of a church for the use of the caste of Christian boatmen at Rayapuram in Madras, the performance of divine worship therein, and other religious observances connected with the church, and that the whole fund must be devoted to that purpose. It was also decided that it was for the majority of the caste to determine whether in spiritual matters, the church erected for the caste at Rayapuram should be placed under the Vicar Apostolic or under the Goanese Bishop of Mylapore. The question had also been raised whether the fund could be divided so as to endow two churches for the use of the two parties in the community, and it was decided that both on principle and authority no such division could be made, and that the fund and the church which was endowed with it could not be separated. In the year 1886, a concordat was come to between the Pope of Rome and the King of Portugal, the result of which was to place the said church under the territorial jurisdiction of the Vicar Apostolic. This concordat related only to questions of patronage and jurisdiction, and did not touch the validity of the orders of either party or the faith of the church The members of one party now sued for a division of the fund, on the ground that, having regard to the concordat above referred to, the election of a member of their party as priest was no longer possible, even if they should be in the majority. Held that, even if this should be the result of the concordat, the fund could not be divided. Where the plaintiffs in a suit with respect to a religious endowment fail, the circumstance that the suit had been filed with the sanction of the Advocate-General would not entitle them to costs out of the fund, for it is no part of the duty of that officer to decide the case as a Judge, his duty being simply to leave the applicants for sanction to bring a suit, if an apparently good and bona fide grievance is shown. CHINNASAMI MUDALI v. ADVOCATE-GENERAL, 17 M. 406.

Religious Endowments—continued.

(51)—Duties of Devastanam Committee—Error of judgment of member of Committee—Removal from office.—It is not part of the duty of a Devastanam Committee to interfere with trustees in matters of ritual. The business of the Committee is primarily to see that the endowments are appropriated to their legitimate purposes and are not wasted. A mere error of judgment is not sufficient to disqualify a member of the Committee. To justify removal of the member it must be shown that the further holding by him of the office is incompatible with the interest of the temple under the charge of the Committee. TIRUVENGADATHAYYANGAR v. SRINIVASA THATHACHARIAR, 22 M. 361.

(52)—Temple committee—Dismissal of dharmakarta by some members—Absence of meeting—Illegality of the dismissal.—A dharmakarta of a temple could only be removed from his office by the corporate act of the committee which must be performed, generally, only at a meeting convened after due notice to all the members of the body. So, where the plaintiff, a dharmakarta, was removed without any enquiry by the Committee as a body, and no meeting having been convened the plaintiff had no proper opportunity of defending himself, but, all that took place was that one member of the committee had initiated some enquiry against the plaintiff, and submitted its result to two other members of the same successively, and the three happened to sign a yadast to plaintiff requiring him to appear and answer certain charges and, on the plaintiff taking no notice of it, the same three members passed another order dismissing the plaintiff, such orders were held to be illegal and of no effect. THANDAVARAYA PILLAI v SUB BAYYAR, 23 M. 483=10 M.L.J. 117. [R., 15 M.L.J. 185.]

Religious Endowments—continued.

(53)—Endowments affected by Reg. XIX of 1810, management of—Removal of trustee for misconduct—Act XX of 1863, ss. 3, 7, 14 and 18.—The object of Act XX of 1863 was to relieve the Boards of Revenue and Local Agents from the duties imposed on them by Reg. XIX of 1810, and, in order that any action may be taken under this Act, s. 3 of the Act requires that the provisions of the Regulations specified in the preamble to that Act, should be applicable to the endowment which is the subject of the suit, and that the nomination of trustees, etc., should either be vested in or be exercisable by the Government at the time of the passing of the Act. Where the question was about the management of a certain religious endowment in Cuttack, and it was admitted that, in 1864, the Local Government appointed a Committee of three members, under s. 7 of the Act, held that such appointment was a clear indication of the fact that that endowment was under the management of the Board of Revenue before the passing of the Act of 1863, and that the fact that an endowment had come under the management of the Board of Revenue was sufficient to characterise it as a public endowment and as one falling within the operations of this Act. (8 W.R. 313, F.) It was also held that all endowments which were effected by Reg. XIX of 1810, whether they come under the Board of Revenue or not, fall within the purview of Act XX of 1863. (18 I. A. 227, 5 B.L.R. App. 55, 7 C. 767, R.; 26 M. 166, F.) For the operation of this Act, it is immaterial whether the office of the trustee or manager is hereditary or not, and, in either case, a trustee or manager, who misconducts himself and acts contrary to the object of the endowment, can be dealt with under the provisions of this Act. (2 M. 197, F.) Where the Court finds that a trustee was guilty of misconduct in the management of the endowment, an order by the Court directing him to execute a bond with sureties, in order to ensure better management for the future, is legal. MAHOMED ATHAR v. RAJMAN KHAN, 34 C. 587. (14 M. 103, F.)

(54)—Archaka—Nature of his office—Disciplinary power of Trustee over Archaka—Power of suspension — Ad interim suspension, pending enquiry into charge of misconduct—Absence of notice before issue of—Effect—Subsequent proof of charge—Mesne profits during period of ad interim suspension—Archaka not entitled to get.—An ad interim order preventing an Archaka or a servant entitled to hold office during good behaviour or for life from performing the duties of his office pending the investigation of the charges of misconduct made against him is not invalid, merely because no notice was given to him to show cause against it before the order was passed. (21 M. 179, D.) A hereditary archakar could be dismissed by the trustee only for good reasons which are liable to examination by a Court of Justice. (4 M.H.C. 63, F.; 30 B 508, R.) The position of an archaka, though he may have a hereditary tenure in the office, is essentially that of a servant. The trustee is the representative of the temple and the archakar must be subject to his disciplinary authority. His position is not similar to the position of the trustee in relation to the temple committee. It cannot be laid down as a general rule that, in every case where the right to dismiss exists, the right of suspension must necessarily be incidental to it. Such might possibly be not the case where the right depends upon the construction of a statute, as, for example, when the right to deal with a Municipal Councillor depends upon the construction of the rules of a Corporation or a quasi-corporation like a club. Such analogies should not be applied to the case of servants subject to the discipline of a trustee. (7 M. 466, R.) Even if notice is essential before suspension, the Court should not set aside the order of suspension, where after enquiry it has been found that it was proper and justifiable. (100 P.R. 96, R.) Where the suspension was found at the subsequent enquiry to have been proper and justifiable, the servant is not entitled to claim mesne profits during the period he was under suspension without notice. K. SESHADRI IYENGAR v. RANGA PATTAR, 21 M.L.J. 580=10 M.L.T. 14=10 Ind. Cas 548=35 M. 631.

(55)—Immorality of Mahant of religious institution—Right of members to remove Mahant.—The mahant of a dera, supported by some villagers, eloped with a young widow and carried away as much property as he could seize. The villagers then appointed another Mahant, with the approval of the bhek. The former, as the lawful Mahant, sued to recover possession of the dera and of the lands annexed to it. Held that the villagers, who maintained the dera, were competent, and had ample justification, to remove the miscreant Mahant and to appoint another in his stead. ASA RAM v. HARI SINGH, 53 P.R. 1904. (122 P.R. 1890, 3 P.R. 1899, R.)

(56)—Misconduct of Mahant—Court's power to remove Mahant.—The Court can, on the ground of misconduct, immorality or breach of trust, remove from his office the Mahant of a religious institution, as being a trustee who is unfit for his office. BASANT DASS v. GANGA DAS, 2 O.C. 340. [R., 6 O.C. 355.]

(57)—Suit for removal of mahant of a religious institution—Right of villagers to interfere—Proof of custom—Circumstances justifying mahant's removal.—In a suit for the removal of the mahant of a religious institution, which was supported by village land, the villagers cannot, in the absence of any customary right to that effect, have any power as to the appointment or removal of the mahant. In such a suit where the allegation against a mahant was that he was of an undesirable character, that he stirred up false cases, that he misappropriated the proceeds from the land and that he allowed the buildings to fall into disrepair, &c., and the evidence failed to establish any such charge, and there was no charge against the mahant of gross immorality or even of waste by alienation of the land, held, under such circumstances, the mahant could not be removed. BHAGWAN DAS v. HARDIT SINGH, 7 P. R. 1908 (Footnote at p. 63)=21 P. W. R. 1908=108 P.L.R. 1908.

Religious Endowments—continued.

(58)—Devasthan, suit for removal of trustees and managers of—Assertion of claims by trustee inconsistent with his possession—Mistaken idea of trustee as to his true legal position—Laxity of management without fraud or dishonesty—Scheme appointing committee controlling management of endowment.—Suit under s. 539 of the Civ. Pro. Code for the removal of the defendants from the trusteeship and management of the plaint mentioned Devasthan and for the appointment of trustees by the Court to manage it under proper directions to be given by the Court to regulate the future management. The District Court, in the exercise of its discretion, declined to remove the first defendant from its trusteeship but framed a scheme for the management of the endowment, appointing a committee for the purpose which virtually superseded him. Defendant appealed against this judgment while plaintiffs took cross-objections asking for the removal of the defendant from the management, and the High Court, on a consideration of the evidence, came to the conclusion that there was nothing to justify their interference with the discretion of the District Judge refusing to remove the first defendant from the trusteeship, although as found by that Judge, the defendant, under a mistaken impression as to his true legal position, had asserted claims in connection with the Devasthan inconsistent with such position. The District Judge had acquitted the defendants of any fraud or dishonesty in connection with the Devasthan funds. He had only found that the management by the first defendant had been lax and improvident, if not negligent, and the High Court agreed with him in that respect. It was desirable that efficient means of supervision and control over the defendants and the manager of the Devasthan for the time being, should be adopted, but that, at the same time, the actual management should rest with the manager. The High Court appointed a committee to supervise the management of the Devasthan and its property and to give general directions for their due administration and made the necessary modifications and amendments in the scheme drawn up by the District Judge. ANNAJI v. NARAYAN, 21 B. 556. [F., 28 M. 319=15 M.L.J. 133; D., 2 C.L.J. 460.]

Religious Endowments—continued.

(59)—Suit by settlor's representative for removal of trustees—Religious Endowments Act, XX of 1863, s. 14—Absence of provision in endowment for nomination of trustees—Right of settlor's representative.—On the institution of a suit under s. 14 of Act XX of 1863 for the removal of the defendants from the office of trustees of a temple, for getting certain assignments and incumbrances affecting lands of the temple endowment set aside and declared invalid, and for obtaining a new trustee or trustees appointed, the defendants pleaded that Act XX of 1863 did not apply since the temple in question was not one of those endowments, the nomination to which had been exercised by or had vested in the Board of Revenue under Reg. XIX of 1810. Overruling the plea, the Court held that the provisions of s. 14 of the act covered the case whether or not the Board of Revenue had, under Reg. XIX of 1810, exercised or had vested in it the right to nominate to the trusteeship or the managership of the temple, and that s. 539 of the Civ. Pro. Code would not govern the case. Held also, that when the founder of an endowment has not made any provision in the endowment itself for the nomination of a trustee or trustees being made by any person other than himself or his heirs, the right to so nominate would remain vested in the founder and continue to his heirs. SHEORATAN KUNWARI v. RAM PARGASH, 18 A. 227=A W.N. 1896, 37. (5 B L.R. App. 55, 7 C. 767, 11 A. 18, overruled; 8 B. 365, 7 A. 178, 16 I.A. 137=17 C. 3, R.) [Diss., 24 C 418; F., 19 A. 104, 22 M. 223, 34 C. 587; Appr., 28 A. 689=A.W.N. 1906, 173; R., 2 C.L J. 431, 33 C. 789=10 C.W.N. 581, 29 A. 663=A.W.N. 1907, 210=4 A.L.J. 565, 31 M. 212=18 M.L.J. 205, 3 Ind. Cas. 403, 11 C.L.J. 2; Com., 5 A.L.J. 191.]

(60)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 539—Suit for removal of trustee, direct interest necessary to maintain.—A suit for removing the defendant from the management of certain religious and charitable trusts attached to an Agraharam temple, in which the plaintiffs set forth that, as the managers of the temple and as the Brahmin residents of the Agraharam, they had a direct interest in seeing to the performance of the trusts, was held not maintainable, the plaintiffs having no direct interest in the trust within the meaning of the Code of Civil Procedure. NARASIMHA v. AYYAN CHETTI, 12 M. 157. [F., 17 M. 462, F.B.; R., 14 M. 186, 21 B. 48, 20 A. 46, 2 C.L.J. 460.]

(61)—Religious institution—Suit for appointment of new jeer and ejectment of one illegally appointed—Election to office.—Suit by the disciples of a mutt for a declaration that the defendant was not the duly appointed successor of the deceased jeer of the mutt and for the appointment by the Court or by election according to usage of a successor to office. Held that it was competent to the disciples to have elected a proper successor to the office according to the usage of the institution, so that the person elected might bring a suit for ejectment,

Religious Endowments—continued.

if necessary. There was thus no necessity for the plaintiffs to come to Court to assist them in making the appointment. The suit in consequence was not maintainable. SRINIVASA SWAMI v. RAMANUJA CHARIAR, 22 M. 117. [D., 6 M.L.T. 193 ; R., 19 M.L.J. 772.]

(62)—Public endowment for religious uses—Act XX of 1863, s. 18.—A public endowment for religious uses is one which distributes its benefits to all men of all classes professing a defined form of religion ; a similar endowment for pious and charitable purposes generally would include all members of the community who choose to avail themselves of the means afforded them by the appropriator; every one could have an equal right to participate and that all times and at all seasons. S. 18, Act XX of 1863, applies only to such religious establishments as were under the control or superintendence of the Board of Revenue or of local agents under Reg. XIX of 1810, and were transferred to trustees or managers under s. 4 of the Act. A Mahomedan widow of the Shiah sect executed a tauliatnama purporting to dedicate the whole of the property for perpetuating certain ceremonies in commemoration of her mother's death in an imambara in her house, and for the expenses of the first ten days of the Mohurrum, and constituting herself and another as joint mutwalis, and caused the necessary alterations to be made in the Collector's Register. Subsequent to the death of the other mutwali, the widow, although the wakfnamah was registered publicly, dealt with the property as the absolute proprietress. The wakf property, although constituted as such long prior to the passing of Act XX of 1863, was never under the control of the Board of Revenue or of local agents. Held that the endowment was not of a public character coming under the provisions of Act XX of 1863, and therefore a District Judge was not competent to grant leave to sue under s. 18 of the Act. DELROOS BANOO BEGUM v. NAWAB SYUD ASHGUR ALLY KHAN, 15 B L.R. 167 = 23 W.R. 453. [F., 19 C. 275 ; R., 3 C. 324, 6 B. 42, 11 B. 492, 13 M. 66, 18 M. 201, 2 C.L.J. 431.]

(63) – Mutwali, whether infant can be appointed—Waiver—Civ. Pro. Code (XIV of 1882), s. 44 (a), leave under.—The power to appoint a mutwali is a power in the nature of a trust. The power to appoint a new mutwali stands on the same ground as the power to appoint new trustees in England. A person who is below the age of puberty cannot be appointed mutwali. (19 C. 203, F.) In a suit by a purchaser for a declaratory decree where a wakf is set up by the defendant who claims the land as the mutwali but fails to establish his title, if the plaintiff has made out a prima facie title, he is entitled to a declaration of his title and an injunction. (20 C. 834, F.) S. 44 (a) of the Code of Civil Procedure substantially follows one of the rules (O. XVIII, r. 2) of the Supreme Court in England and was intended for the protection of the defendant. The defendant may by his conduct waive the benefit of that rule. SATISH CHANDRA MULLICK v. ASHRUFFUDIN AHMAD, 8 C.L.J. 196.

(64)—Pre emption under wajib-ul-arz—Transferee of proprietor's lands without mutation of names, right of, to pre-empt as a co-sharer—Parting of proprietary rights by dedication to public charity—Onus of proof.—A person, who has purchased lands in the mahal, which were not merely the sir of a co-sharer and which were not grove-lands held by a licensee, but were lands belonging to the zamindar and in his occupation, becomes a proprietor in the mahal responsible for the revenue assessed thereupon, notwithstanding that he had never obtained mutation of names in his favour. The mere fact that such a person has built a temple and made a grove upon the land is not sufficient to raise the presumption that he has parted with the proprietary rights in the land. It is for those who allege that the owner has divested himself of his private proprietary rights by making the land endowed land to prove such a dedication. DAKHNI DIN v. RAHIM-UN-NISSA, 16 A. 412 = A.W.N. 1894, 134. [F., 28 A. 124 = A.W.N. 1905, 219 = 2 A.L.J. 612 ; R., 28 A. 246 = A.W.N. 1905, 264 = 2 A.L.J. 788, 129 P.R. 1906 = 84 P.L.R. 1907, 10 O. C. 225, 3 Ind. Cas. 461.]

(65)—Mahomedan Religious Endowment—Succession to Office of superior or manager—Joinder of actions—Suit for possession and mesne profits—Stamp-duty.—In a Mahomedan religious endowment, where it is essential that the superior or manager should have certain qualifications which succession by descent would not always ensure, the theory of hereditary succession is most unlikely and out of place. A claim for possession and a claim for wassilat may be brought separately ; but it is quite an error to suppose that they cannot also be united. When united and tried as one suit, no extra stamp-fee for wassilat need be paid. BEBEE SYEDUN v. SYUD ALLAH AHMED, W.R. 1864, 327.

(66) — Religious institution — Mujawars in Attock district—Appointment and dismissal of.—Held that the rule held in 154 P.R. 1888 to be established, viz., that Mujawars generally in the Peshawar district were servants liable to dismissal, was the rule generally governing Mujawars in the adjacent district of Attock. Long services and the fact that Mujawars had built houses in the neighbourhood of shrines did not deprive the heads of the institution of the power to dismiss and to eject them, though they might be entitled to compensation on ejectment. FAKIRA v. MEHR SHAH, 49 P.L.R. 1911 = 6 P.R. 1911 = 9 Ind. Cas. 680.

(67)—Hindu charities—Native religious institutions—Administration by Courts—Superstitious uses—Advocate General, if party to suit.—The Courts in India will entertain suits for establishing or administering Native religious institutions. And the Statute of Edward VI, relating to superstitious uses does not apply to India. If property were left by a Hindu testator with general directions to apply the same for the benefit of the Natives, the Courts would not build a Hindu temple or place of worship out of such property. But when the fund is not open, and it is already appropriated to Hindu religious purposes, the Court acts but ministerially in carrying out the wishes of the subscribers, donors, and testators. It cannot be said in such a case that the Court attempts to propagate the Hindu religion. On the other hand, disastrous consequences would ensue if the Court should do otherwise. No Native religious endowment would be safe from wrong doers. The Courts are bound by the Charter here to recognize the Hindu religion. [R., 5 B. 151, 33 B. 122=10 Bom L.R 417] A suit to administer the funds of a Hindu charity is properly brought in the name of the Advocate General. The Stat. 53 Geo. III, c. 155, s. 3, confers powers on the Advocate General similar to those of the Attorney General in England, subject nevertheless to the qualification that he is to be guided "by the circumstances of the case and the practice of the Court." The Advocate-General finds himself in a different country and before a different Court, and must render his office as conformable to those new circumstances as he may. The Attorney-General, notwithstanding that the State religion is a different one, can undoubtedly inform the Court on behalf of a dissenting charity. And the corresponding officer of the Crown in another country in different circumstances is surely justified in interfering in cases of a different but lawful religion. And where there is a religion tolerated by the State, the Crown will see that that religion is enjoyed, though it may be strongly at variance with the State religion in doctrine, as in the case of Roman Catholic and Unitarian charities. The Hindu religion is more amply recognised in India than the religion of dissenters in England, and the argument founded upon the analogy is unanswerable. Then if these charities are fit objects for the interposition of the Court, the Advocate-General would be the best person to conduct a suit for that purpose. The degree in which the Advocate-General should interfere in the administration of such charities is altogether a different question. A general control of the suit would probably be considered sufficient, and any very minute interposition in the details of such charities should be avoided. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL v VISHVANATH ATMARAM, 1 B.H.C. App. 9. [R, 23 M. 28=7 M.L.J. 281.]

Religious Endowments—continued.

(68)—Religious endowment, suit for management of a — Advocate-General if necessary party.—Where the plaintiffs claimed to have the general management and control of the religious endowments belonging to the Degumbery Sect of Jains and to form the committee for the management of all the Jain charities in Calcutta and elsewhere in India, and where what they substantially sought was to have the trusts of a will, in which they were interested (not beneficially, but as the representatives of their sect), ascertained, and the performance of these trusts secured, the suit was held to have been properly framed. Such a suit is not brought under Act XX of 1863, but under the ordinary original jurisdiction of the High Court, inherited from the Supreme Court by its Charter—a jurisdiction similar, in its general features, to that of the Lord Chancellor in England. (See 4 M.I.A. 190.) [F., 2 C.L.R 128, 24 M. 219, 6 M.L.J 239; Appl., 8 B. 432.] The Advocate-General is not a necessary party, although it is desirable that such suits should be brought only with his consent or by the leave of the Court. (5 B.L R. App 55, Diss.) PANCHCOWRIE MULL v. CHUMROOLALL, 3 C. 563=2 C L R 121. [R., 8 B. 434, 23 M. 28=7 M L.J 281] Note.—See s. 539 of the Civ. Pro. Code of 1882.

(69)—Suit relating to religious and charitable endowments - Advocate General whether necessary party.—The Advocate General is not an indispensable party to a suit relating to religious and charitable endowments. The suit may be maintained by persons interested in the endowment concerned. The Advocate-General may be a party to the suit in the same manner as the Attorney General is in England. P. M. SRINIVASACHARY v. RANGACHARIAR, 7 M L. J. 281.

(70)—Religious endowment—Shebaitship of a temple Office—Hereditary.—Where one A had acted as the spokesman of the community in collecting donations for building a public temple, looked after the purchase of the site and the construction of the building, and subsequently managed the temple funds up to the time of his death, without any control of the community:—Held, that it could not be said in such circumstances that the office of Manager was hereditary. SHOROLA BALA NUNDY v. HEERALALA, 11 Ind. Cas. 859. (17 C 3, 16 I.A. 137, R.)

(71)—Hindu Law — Temple—Dharmarth—Private or public place of worship—Criterion—Imperfect trust—Distinction between dedication of property subject to a charge and bequest of property subject to certain duties.—S built a temple. The idol was kept upstairs, and the lower room was let for hire. So long as S lived the temple was largely resorted to by the public, but after his death the attendance fell off. S in his will spoke of the temple as Dharmarth and made the property chargeable with the maintenance of his widows. Held, that, although the phrase Dharmarth does not in all cases necessarily mean a dedication for public use, the terms of the Will and general circumstances of the case established that the temple was a public place of worship. The mere fact that the property was held chargeable with the maintenance of the testator's widows did not make the trust an imperfect one, the words of the Will clearly showing that it was only a case of dedication of property subject to a certain charge rather than bequest of property subject to certain duties LAL CHAND v. NAND LAL, 171 P L R. 1912=263 P.W.R. 1912=16 Ind. Cas. 838.

Religious Endowments—continued.

(72)—Mutt—Head of—Alienation — Permanent lease—How far binding—Ratification by successor—Effect Power to repudiate by successor—Nature of Matadhipati's position and his powers—Limitation Act, sch II, arts 12, 134 and 141—Mad. Act V of 1884 (Local Boards), ss. 3 (10), 64 (2), 66, 73 and 76—Arrears of cess — Default — Liability of inamdar—Revenue sale—Procedure—Failure to give notice to inamdar — Effect — Irregularity — Setting aside — Limitation — Mad. Act II of 1864 (Revenue Recovery), ss. 32, 42—Applicability—Civ. Pro. Code, 1908, s. 92 (1)—Applicability to Mutts.— S, the head of a mutt, made in 1872 an alienation of an inam land belonging to the mutt by way of a permanent lease to one M. N, who was then managing the affairs of the mutt on behalf of S, leased in 1889 the inam to one A by cancelling the lease of 1872. A was unable to get possession of the property. In 1890, S died and N became his successor in office. From 1893 onwards rents were continued to be collected from M's transferees by N. N died in 1906 and was succeeded by the plaintiff in his office. A portion of the inam land was brought for sale by the Revenue authorities for default of payment of local cesses payable by the inamdar. B became the purchaser in such a sale. The sale took place without any notice to the head of the mutt which owned the inam. Plaintiff sued in 1908 to set aside the lease and recover possession of the inam land. Held, that the lease of 1872, though beyond the powers of the lessor, was one which he could not have avoided during his lifetime, and that the plaintiff was entitled to repudiate the lease as soon as he became the Matadhipati and to bring his suit for possession within 12 years of his becoming the Matadhipati. The lease is avoidable by the lessor's successors, in the very same way that an alienation by the Hindu widow in excess of her powers is avoidable by her successors. Held, also, that the Revenue sale was irregular owing to the absence of notice to the inamdar and liable to be set aside. But such a suit was barred, whether under s. 59, Act II of 1864, or under art. 12, sch. II, Limitation Act. Held, also, that the interest that passed to B, at the Revenue sale was that of the mutt and not merely that of the lessee in occupation. Per Miller, J.—The corpus of the mutt property is inalienable except in special circumstances, but the produce, subject to the upkeep of the mutt, is at the absolute disposal of the Matadhipati. There may be properties vested in him as a bare trustee (27 M. 435 33 M. 265, R.) If a Matadhipati has the management of the land and an absolute right to dispose of the income thereof, it seems difficult to withhold from him the right to make, for his own life or rather for the period during which he occupies the position of the head of the mutt, a lease of a portion of the property for any rent however small which he may deem sufficient. He may, subject to the reservation of a sufficient fund for the up-keep of the mutt, make gifts of the rents received to any one whom he chooses. An alienation by the head of a religious foundation is good for the lifetime of the alienor, and is not therefore void and of no effect. (36 C. 1003, Rel. on.) A Matadhipati has an estate very closely resembling that of certain corporations sole in England (27 M. 435, R.) Though, in a certain sense, they are owners of the fee simple, yet, in many respects, they (i.e., corporation sole) had only the powers of a tenant for life. (34 C. 329, R.) Being 'owners of an inheritance,' Matadhipatis could, but for 'restrictions and qualifications in right' of their mutts, make leases so as to bind their successors. It need not be held that the restrictions and qualifications which attach to the estate are as regards their effect, different from those which prevent a Hindu widow from binding her successors by unjustifiable alienations, by way of lease. There are no doubt differences in respect of the purposes which will justify an alienation, but there seems to be no reason that the difference extends also to the duration of the lease as a valid transfer. The successor of the matadhipati will be unable to validate it for all time. In that respect he will be like a female succeeding to a widow, say, a daughter succeeding to her mother as her father's heir; he will be able to validate the transfer only for the period during which he holds the office, and will be unable to bind his successor, but will be able to avoid the lease altogether or affirm it for this period, and it will not be absolutely nullified by the death of the alienor. Per Sadasiva Iyer, J.—The position of a Matadhipati is neither that of an absolute owner, nor that of a mere tenant for life, and is therefore analogous to that of the estate of a Hindu female heir to a male's estate. It is clear from s. 3 (10), s 64 (2) and ss 66 and 73 of the Local Boards Act (V of 1884) that it is the inamdar (Mutt) that was liable for the road cess and not any tenant of the Mutt. Though the sale procedure was that prescribed by the Revenue Recovery Act, the substantive provisions in the Revenue Recovery Act (ss. 32 and 42) that a sale for recovery of arrears of land revenue frees the land from all encumbrances and from all favourably rented leases, do not apply to a sale under the Local Boards Act. (7 M 434, 25 M 572, R.) An irregularity committed by the Revenue officer in having the notices served on the tenant in possession treating him as the defaulter instead of on the real defaulter, cannot now be made the basis for attacking the sale, as the time fixed by law for the setting aside of the sale on the ground of irregularities had expired long before the present suit was brought. (25 B. 337, R.) It cannot be held that s. 92 (1), Civ. Pro. Code, 1908, does not apply to Mutts, and that the public and the Advocate-General and the Courts of Justice are powerless to stop the wholesale misuse of the income of a charitable and religious institution like a Mutt. MUTHUSAMIER (died) v. SREE SREEMEETHANITHI SWAMIYAR. 13 M.L T 498 = M W.N. 1913 581 = 19 Ind. Cas. 694 = 25 M L.J. 393. (M.W.N. 1913, 181, 36 C. 100, 23 M.L.J. 260, R.)

Religious Endowments—continued.

(73)—Endowment—Waqf, proof of—Question of law or fact—Appropriation of income, whether sufficient proof—Case to be made out by plaintiff—Question of law or fact.—The mere appropriation of the rents and profits of a particular property to the up-keep of a religious foundation is not sufficient proof that such property is endowed property. (2 C. 341, F) The question whether a specified property is or is not Waqf property, is a question of law or, at any rate, a mixed question of law and fact. A plaintiff, who sues in ejectment for recovery of property alleged to have been appropriated by way of endowment for the up-keep of an endowed property, must make out just as strong a case as a plaintiff who seeks to set aside an alienation of endowed property. ABDUL GHAFUR v. SHIAM SUNDER DAS, 17 Ind. Cas. 303=16 O.C. 76.

Liability to account—Administrator-General as executor of the surviving trustee of religious endowment—See ACCOUNTS — SUIT FOR ACCOUNTS, Cor. 68.

Endowment for religious and pious purposes—Applicability of s. 4 of Pensions Act — See ACT XXIII OF 1871, s. 4, 17 M L.J. 549=3 M. L.T. 104=31 M. 12.

Of zemindari village officers — Right of Collector to recover as arrears of Revenue—Suit for refund of amount so recovered, limitation for—See MAD. ACT II OF 1864, ss. 52, 59, 23 M. 571=10 M.L J. 261.

Grant by way of, to religious institution liable to resumption—See U.P. ACT XVII OF 1876, ss. 52, 53, 2 O.C. 295.

Suits of a civil nature—Cognizability by a Civil Court—Question of ritual, when cognizable by a Civil Court—Position of Dharmakartas—Introduction of new idols into temple—Change of namams in Vaishnava temple—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 9, 17 M.L.J. 1=2 M.L.T. 69=30 M. 158.

Decree directing performance of puja and giving of honors to a deity according to the usage of a religious institution—Nature and execution of decree See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 10 and 21, ss. 48, 92, 93, 2 M.L.T. 94.

Succession to, by chela—Election or nomination to the office of Mahant—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—INHERITANCE, 143 P.L.R. 1906.

See DECREE — DECREE, CONSTRUCTION OF, 17 M. 343=21 I.A. 71, P.C.

Construction of deed of — Principle—See EJECTMENT, SUIT FOR, 14 C.L.J. 175.

Office of dancing girl attached to temple, Courts bound to recognize—Connected with—Custom—See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM, 14 B. 90.

Succession to the management of a, as shebait—Usage of the institution—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 7 A.L.J. 430=6 Ind. Cas. 772=32 A. 461.

Religious Endowments—continued.

Whether destruction of image destroys the endowment—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 8 C.L.J. 369.

Right of management of, by members in rotation—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 4 M.L.T. 486=19 M.L.J. 59=32 M. 167=2 Ind. Cas. 341.

Mutt, definition of—Management of family charities—Succession—Natural heirs—Primogeniture — Right of members of undivided family to participate in management—See HINDU LAW—PARTITION, 6 M.L.T. 319=20 M.L J. 108=4 Ind. Cas. 76.

Temple trustee—Joint right of management—Partition of right—Civil Court—Jurisdiction—See HINDU LAW—PARTITION, 19 A. 428=A.W.N. 1897, 103.

Direction as to management of—See HINDU LAW—WILL, 29 C. 716, P.C.

Of specific property to idol not in existence or to no specific idol, validity of—See HINDU LAW—WILL, 9 C.W.N. 528=1 C.L.J. 605.

Custom of worship opposed to religious doctrine—Effect—See HINDU TEMPLE, 12 C.W.N. 946, P.C.=4 M.L.T. 101=8 C.L.J. 230=31 M. 236=10 Bom. L.R. 781.

Lease of temple lands—Lessee also to manage affairs of temple—Validity of lease—See LEASE—GENERAL, 6 M.L.T. 161=3 Ind. Cas. 104=19 M.L.J. 485.

Sale of immoveable property of a religious institution by its Mohant—Suit to recover it by his successor—Trustee—Limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 10, arts. 134, 144, 123 P.W.R. 1908, F.B.

Suit for removal of a mutwali of a mosque—Power of congregation of the mosque as regards removal of mutwali—Change of religion—Sufficient cause—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 23, arts, 120, 142, 144, 37 P.W.R. 1908=53 P.R. 1909=2 Ind. Cas. 107.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 120, 9 P.R. 1904.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 120, 142, 144, 8 P.R. 1899.

Manager's power to sell—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 124, 2 Bom. L.R. 597.

Alienation of property belonging to religious institution—Suit to recover possession of the property with mesne profits—Limitation—Joinder of causes of action—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 134, 144, 35 P.W.R. 1908, F.B.=102 P.L.R. 1908=30 P.R. 1908.

Property belonging to idol—Adverse possession—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 13 Bom. L.R. 1169.

See PARTIES TO SUIT—SUITS BY REPRESENTATIVES OF A CLASS, 7 A. 178, F.B.=A.W.N. 1884, 325.

Suit for share in property under waqf—See SMALL CAUSE COURT—MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 14 A. 413=A.W.N. 1892, 79.

Religious Endowments—concluded.

Debt due to—Pro-note in favour of former manager—Suit by successor—Heirship certificate—See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT, 1860, 20 M. 162, P.C.=24 I.A. 78=1 C.W.N. 497.

Gift—Dedication of idol and land for public religious purpose—No gift to ascertained or ascertainable person or persons—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 122, 13 M.L.J. 364.

Grant for religious and charitable purposes—Inalienability—See TRUST, 15 B. 625.

What constitutes valid dedication for religious purposes—Test—See WILL—CONSTRUCTION, 6 A.L.J. 444=1 Ind. Cas. 666.

Religious Endowments Act.

See ACT XX OF 1863.

Religious Institution.

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS.

(1)—Religious institution—Right of management—Custom.—The plaintiff claimed an equal right with the defendant in the management of a religious institution. Defendant pleaded that he was the Mohunt, and that, according to the nature of the grant, the entire right of administration rested in him alone. Held that the general presumption in such cases was in favour of the defendant's plea; but the decision as regards any particular institution must be guided by the custom pertaining to that institution, and proof of such a custom in a special case would be sufficient to rebut the general presumption stated above. RAMSORK DOSS v. PERMESHREE DOSS, 76 P.R. 1867.

(2)—Religious institution—Right of succession.—Plaintiff claimed to succeed to a religious institution as the chela of the previous Mohunt. Defendant however proved that he had obtained possession during the life-time of the previous Mohunt, either from him, or with his consent. Plaintiff failed to make out the title alleged. The suit was therefore dismissed. POORUN CHAND v. SUNDUR DOSS, 32 P.R. 1867.

(3)—Priests—Right to collect fees—Division of fees—Punjab Civil Code, s. 22.—Birt or fees may be collected by any person who may be preferred as a Purohit by those who chose to pay it to him, and s. 22 of the Punjab Civil Code does not preclude Courts from giving effect to a contract between priests for division of profits. RAM KISHEN v. DOONEE CHUND, 62 P.R. 1867. [R., 7 P.R. 1877, F.B.]

(4)—Priest's fees, if divisible among relatives—Purohit—Contract or custom.—In a suit by a close relative of the defendant for a share of the fees paid to the latter as a purohit, the lower Courts held that birt or priest's fees paid to the purohit was not legally divisible among his relatives because the office was not hereditary. The Chief Court, holding that the true issue in this case must be whether any relation of ancestral right or of contract or of customary proceeding existed between the parties to this suit giving rise to a liability on the part of the defendant to pay a share of the birt to the plaintiff, remanded the suit. RAM RUTTUN v. GORI, 38 P.R. 1872. [R., 7 P.R. 1877. 45 P.R. 1878, F.B., 8 P.R. 1901=136 P.L.R. 1901.]

Religious Institution—continued.

(5)—Punjab Civil Code, s. XXII, para. 6—General rule of religious endowments—Necessity of inquiry into usages of particular institution not obviated.—This was a suit claiming the right to succeed to the occupation of a Dhurmsala with the land and other property attached thereto, on the ground that the plaintiff was the chela or disciple of the deceased head of the institution. Defendant pleaded that he was elected in preference to the plaintiff by the lumberdars of the village and the neighbouring Fuqueers to succeed to the said office. There was nothing on the record to show which of the above circumstances regulated the succession to the Dhurmsala in question. The provisions of Chapter XXII, para 6 of the Punjab Civil Code, on endowments, only laid down the general rule; there was nothing in it obviating the necessity of enquiry into the usage of the particular institution or of acting on such usage when established. AJOODHIA DASS v. DEVI DASS, 73 P.R. 1869.

(6)—Sacred building—Protection.—A Hindu purchased a piece of land from a Muhammadan proprietor and built a temple thereon. At settlement the priest was recorded mafidar for life. After the death of the priest the vendor's descendants took possession of the temple, while the vendee's descendants claimed proprietary rights. The lower Court found for the vendor's descendants. Held that the latter could not destroy the temple as long as there were worshippers at the shrine. ASA BUND v. RAJA SHUMSHER KHAN, 3 P.R. 1868, Rev.

(7)—Office of mahunt—Succession—Nomination—Election—Misconduct of mahunt—Dismissal—Brotherhood.—Under the customary rule of succession among Nirmala Sadhs, a mahunt may nominate his successor but the nomination should be formally approved by the brotherhood. If there be no nomination, then, the brotherhood will appoint one. The brotherhood has power to dismiss a mahunt if he misconducts himself. The brotherhood are generally those connected by spiritual ties with the founder of the Institution though it may be held to include the whole sect also related to each other by spiritual ties. ARBEL SINGH v. BAJ SINGH, 105 P.R. 1892.

(8)—Mahomadanism—Succession—Collaterals to the fourth degree and sister's son—Powers of alienation.—Collaterals in the fourth degree are entitled to inherit the share in the management and offerings in preference to a sister's son. The proprietor of a shrine could alienate its property for necessary purposes. The transfer of a share in the shrine and offerings is akin to the transfer of a religious office and invalid. NUR MUHAMMAD v. GHULAM HABIB, 106 P.R. 1892. [R., 94 P.R. 1909=130 P.L.R. 1909, 48 P.R. 1908.]

Religious Institution—continued.

(9)—Rawalpindi—Succession to the office of Mahant—Chelas—Custom—Election and nomination. — By the custom applicable to the Bhairagi shrine at Rawalpindi, a mahant may appoint his successor from among his chelas with the approval of an assembly of the religious brotherhood and some of the respectable Chowdris of the place. If one is not so appointed in the life time of the Mahant, one may be elected by the said brotherhood on his death. A mere nomination by the Mahant without the consent of the brotherhood is invalid. BABU RAM KAUR DAS v. GOPAL DAS, 175 P.R. 1889.

(10)—Office of Mahant—Succession — Election or nomination.—A person elected as Mahant of a shrine by the brotherhood cannot be ousted by a nominee of the last Mahant unless he can show that he had a better title according to the rule of succession governing the shrine. GURDIT SINGH v. RANJIT SINGH, 87 P.R. 1889.

(11)—Nirmala Sadus — Succession — Nomination—Consent of Gurbhai.—The nomination of a chela by a Mahant as his successor is not invalid among Nirmala Sadhs merely because it was made without the consent of Gourbhai. BHAI CHET SINGH v. BHAI NIHAL SINGH, 37 P.R 1891. [R., 105 P.R. 1892.]

(12) — Mohuntship, Succession to — Female disciple, deceased mohunt's desire in favour of.— When the deceased mohunt of a shrine had expressed a desire that a female disciple should succeed him, it was held that she was entitled to succeed as guddinashien, even when there were male disciples. MUSSUMAT MUNNIA v. JIWAN DAS, 76 P.R. 1874.

(13)—Golden Temple of Amritsar—Gaddanashins—Survivorship.—The rule of succession in the case of Golden Temple at Amritsar is that gaddanashins nominated their successors who are installed without any objection. The doctrine of survivorship cannot be applied to the case of gaddanashins. BHAI BHAGAT SINGH v. HARNAM SINGH, 49 P.R. 1892.

(14)—Amritsar—Appointment and dismissal of mohant—Power of bhekh—Civil Court's powers of interference.—When a mohant has been appointed by the bhekh, a Civil Court has no power to interfere with the appointment except for very cogent reasons. Quære: Whether a Civil Court after having held that bhekh has power to depose a mohant for misconduct and after such deposition by the bhekh can go into the question whether such mohant's conduct was or was not bad. GIYAN PARKASH v. HUZURA SINGH, 3 P.R 1899. [R., 53 P.R. 1904, 7 P.R. 1908, Note.]

(15)—Act XX of 1863, s. 22—Imam, appointment of—Power of Court.—Plaintiff claimed the right to appoint an Imam to a certain mosque. Held that Civil Courts could declare the right of parties to make such an appointment. They could not make the appointment. Act XX of 1863, s. 22, forbids any officer of Government in his official character to nominate or appoint any trustee of a mosque. BUDDERDIN v. MULLICK ATTAR 35 P.R. 1871. [R., 95 P. R. 1900=6 P.L.R. 1901.]

(16)—Sadhs — Alienation — Proprietor with restricted powers of alienation.—There is a custom among Sadhs (Bhairagis) contrary to the usual rule in the Punjab, that a proprietor with a restricted power of alienation can, even in the case of ancestral property deal with such property so as to bind the heirs during his lifetime. FATTEH SINGH v. HARI, 112 P. R. 1891.

(17)— Amritsar — Nirmala Sadhs — Chelas power to alienate property inherited from Guru. —According to the custom of Nirmala Sadhs of Amritsar, a chela cannot alienate any portion of the estate inherited by him from his Guru. RAM SINGH v. NIHAL SINGH, 136 P.R. 1889. [R., 112 P.R. 1906.]

(18)—Hereditary right to share in birt—Relation between purshot and jujman.—A and B were members of a family of purohits. Under an arrangement between the ancestors of both it was settled that A's ancestor C should receive the fees paid by the jujmans during a certain month. The arrangement had been carried into effect by their successors and ratified: and under it C during his lifetime, and after his death his widow levied birt, but after the widow's death, certain jujmans, erroneously thinking that B was the heir of C, and that A had no pretensions to be such heir, paid their fees to B. Held by the Full Bench that under the arrangement in question, A could, as being the right heir of C, maintain a suit against B to recover the amount of the fees so paid. Per Plowden, J. (in the Divisim Bench). Though the relation between jujman and purohit is voluntary, and a jujman may employ whom he chooses as purohit, and a member of a priestly family employed as a purohit in his individual capacity may retain as his own the fees paid to him in that capacity, it does not follow that as among the descendants of a priest the office of the purohit cannot be hereditary or that a member is precluded from suing to share, by right of descent, in the emoluments of the priestly office, not being fees received by the members in their individual capacity. In what capacity a particular fee is received, is a matter of evidence in each instance. Per Fitzpatrick, J. (in the Division Bench). A contract between the heirs of a deceased purohit, as to the seasons in which they will officiate, and as to the manner in which they will share the fees, is enforcible like any other contract. So also, one member of a body of purohits can sue for his share of the fees received by another member, when it can be shown that the fees were intended by those who paid them, not for the receiver of them alone, but for the whole body. But the relation between purohits and jujman being purely voluntary, a suit to share in the emoluments of the office, by right of inheritance, is

Advocate High Court
Jammu & Kashmir
Srinagar.

Religious Institution—continued.

not maintainable. GOBIND v. SADDA, 7 P. R. 1877. F B [R., 45 P.R. 1878, 4 P.R. 1896, 8 P R. 1901=136 P.L.R. 1901; D., 119 P.R. 1879.]

(19)—Religious institution—Suniassis whether can acquire private property—Custom—Proper points for enquiry.—Plaintiff, who succeeded to the Mohuntship of a certain religious institution sued the defendant, a member or Sunniasi belonging to the institution, to have his name recorded as proprietor in the suit land, he being guddi nashin, and representing the institution. The plaintiff alleged that the vendor of this land had sold it cheap and practically endowed the temple with the property. The defendant alleged that it was his own property purchased by him out of his own monies. It was urged that the position of suniassis belonging to religious institutions was in many cases such that such a person, being a member of a religious fraternity, could not acquire private property, and all that he acquired was acquired for the benefit of the religious institution to which he was attached. Held, that this point must have been inquired into as well as two other points involved in it. i.e., what was the custom of Suniassis generally in regard to this point, and what was the practice of this particular Mandar and was that practice sufficiently in conformity with general custom so as to be enforceable. TOTA PURI v. PADAM PURI, 21 P.R. 1874.

(20)—Suit by plaintiff as mutwali—Death of plaintiff while appeal pending—Co mutwalis applying to be brought on record—Burden of proof.—Where certain persons apply to be brought on record as legal representatives of a deceased plaintiff who was a mutwali and brought a suit in that capacity and had also mentioned the present applicants as co-mutwalis in his plaint, held before the application could be granted, they should prove their status as co-mutwalis. ABDUL HAMID v. AHMAD HUSSAIN, 28 P.R 1900.

(21)—Religious institution—Bunga Nurmahliyan Walah, Golden Temple, Amritsar—Imperfect trust—Right of founder—Held, (a) that where there is no absolute dedication of property to religious uses, but an imperfect trust, the nature of the property remains unchanged, and its application at the discretion of the founder. Such imperfect trusts are common enough in the Punjab in the case of Serais and Dharmsalas; (b) that the Bungahs, are hostels which generally speaking, do not rank as religious institutions pure and simple; the Bungahlis are not equal to mahunts, and if they make appointments of successors, there is no bhek or college to control them: accordingly that the representative of the founder's family was entitled to control the bungah and the bungahi could not hold adversely to the rights of the founder's family or appoint a successor as an independent incumbent of the institution. KISHEN SINGH v. SARDARIN PARTAB KAUR, 81 P.R. 1902.

Religious Institution—concluded.

Succession to occupancy rights belonging to—See PUN. ACT XVI OF 1887, s 6 2 P R 1907, Rev.=36 P.L.R. 1907=5 P.W.R. 1907, Rev.

Suit for removing mahant for misconduct and appointing another—Advocate-General's sanction—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 92, 93, 78 P.R. 1907.

See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 84 P R. 1866.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 140 P.R. 1892.

See INHERITANCE, 67 P.R. 1868.

Meaning of 'Dharmakarta'—Power to fine Subordinates—See RES JUDICATA—COMPETENCY OF COURT, 10 M.L T. 133=21 M.L.J. 730.

See SERVICE TENURE, 70 P.R. 1868.

See SUCCESSION, 52 P.R. 1867.

Religious Mendicant.

Trust for religious purposes, what constitutes—Succession to property of Hindu—Who is not 'hermit' or 'ascetic'—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 3 O C. 281.

Religious Offerings.

Suit for Sacrificial goat—Right of Shebait of temple—Jurisdiction—See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, ss. 23, 25, 15 C.W.N. 666=10 Ind. Cas. 8.

Religious Office.

See RIGHT OF SUIT—OFFICE OF EMOLUMENT, SUITS RELATING TO.

(1)—Religious office—Trusteeship—Private trust—Relinquishment in favour of person next entitled—Absence of binding rule of succession—Effect—Where there is no provision in the partition deed nor any rule of succession binding on the family, held, that the renunciation of a non-hereditary religious office, e.g., the trusteeship of a private temple, which vested in the senior member of the family by virtue of a partition-deed, in favour of his next senior, is invalid. SENNAYAN CHETTY v. SINNAPPAN SERVAI, 20 M.L.J. 654=8 M.L.T. 326=1 Ind. Cas. 901.

(2)—Archaka—Resignation by office-holder—Mother entitled to murai—Death of mother—Right to succeed.—Where A, an archaka, who had a two days' murai in the month, had resigned his office, and where subsequently his mother, who was entitled to two days' murai, died, held, that A was entitled to succeed to the office. Ordinary rules of inheritance apply to such cases, only in a modified form. All arguments based on the fiction that the person who resigns is civilly dead, so far as the particular office is concerned, are fallacious. MUTTEVI PATTABI RAMANUJACHARYULU v. PEDINTI ALAGASINGARACHARYULU, 9 M.L. T. 352=21 M.L J. 490=9 Ind Cas. 493.

Powers of Manager of religious institution—Evidence and burden of proof of necessity for alienation—See ALIENATION, 13 O.C. 79=5 Ind. Cas. 1005.

Religious Office—concluded.

Alienation and partition of, when valid—Partition by performance of duties of office in rotation—Alienation to qualified person in line of succession—See HINDU LAW—PARTITION, 6 B. 298.

Religious Question.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 6 M.H.C. 449.

Religious Rites.

And ritual—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts—English and Indian Courts—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 5 B. 80.

Religious Services.

Religious services may be performed by males only and not by females under the Mahomedan Law—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MOSQUE, 3 Bom. L.R. 772.

Religious Trusts.

See TRUST.

Wrongful alienation by trustee—Suit to recover property—Limitation—Adverse possession—Limitation Act, art. 134—See TRUST, 6 M.L.J. 270.

See WILL—MISCELLANEOUS, 11 B. 441.

Religious Usage.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 15 M. 355=2 M.L.J. 29.

Relinquishment.

(1)—Joint Hindu family—Son's interest in a tenants' holding of the father—Relinquishment by father without sons' consent, validity of.—Held, that Hindu sons living jointly with their father are not the co-tenants of his holding. Held, further, that a relinquishment of his holding made by the father without the consent of his sons is perfectly valid. SARABJIT SINGH v. MOHAN SINGH, 11 O.C. 292. (10 O.C. 235, R.)

See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 31, A.W.N. 1898, 31.

Of easement—See EASEMENTS ACT, 1882, s. 28, 6 Bom. L.R. 287.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TRANSFER OF TENANT'S INTEREST, 7 O.C. 265.

By putnidar—Adverse possession against putnidar—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 26 C. 460.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—INHERITANCE, 19 M. 176.

Of tenant right for consideration—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 17, 20 M. 367=7 M.L.J. 59.

Relinquishment, Deed of.

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 17 (d), 9 B.H.C. 246.

Relinquishment of portion of claim.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2.,

(1)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—'Relinquish or omit to sue,' meaning of—Construction of statute—Test of distinct causes of action in the suits.—The words in s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859, namely, 'if a plaintiff relinquish or omit to sue for any portion of his claims,' include accidental or involuntary omissions as well as acts of deliberate relinquishment, and where the words of law are clear and positive, they cannot be controlled by any consideration of the motives of the party to whom it is to be applied, nor limited by what the Judges who apply it may suppose to have been the reasons for enacting it. The correct test in all cases of this kind is, whether the claim in the new suit is, in fact, founded on a cause of action distinct from that which was the foundation of the former suit. Moonsshe Buzloor Ruheem v. Shumsoonnissa Begum, 8 W.R.P.C. 3=11 M.I.A. 551=Marsh 286=2 Suther 59=2 Sar. 259=2 Hay 190. [Appl., 15 W.R. 408; F., 3 C.L.J. 490; R., 9 W.R.F.B. 1=B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 774, 12 W.R. 79, 3 N.W.P. 27, 8 B.H.C. 205, 20 W.R. 450, 1 A. 543, 2 M. 352, 6 C. 142, 8 C. 483, 8 C. 819, 8 M. 520, 14 B. 31, 19 C. 372, 17 B. 573, 20 B. 469, 21 M. 133=8 M.L.J. 92, 23 B. 597, 25 M. 736 =12 M.L.J. 103, 29 C. 543, 26 M. 760.]

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

(1-a)—Relinquishment of claim, inference of.—No inference of a relinquishment of claim can be drawn from a mere request that certain issues need not be tried in the face of the denial by the plaintiff, in cross-examination, that he had ever consented to limit his claim. SUNDARA v. SUBBA, 10 M. 371.

(2)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Debt due by person deceased—Several suits against several representatives of deceased—Frame of suit.—S. 7 of Act VIII of 1859 which bars all future suits for any portion of a demand omitted or relinquished from a previous suit, has not the effect of prohibiting more than one suit to enforce satisfaction of a claim against the representative of a deceased person. The creditor has a right to make all the property of the deceased in the hands of the several persons who may have succeeded to it liable for payment of his debt, but he is not bound to bring his suit in such a form as to include the whole of the representatives and the whole of the property which they have inherited, at the risk (in case of omission) of being precluded from all future suit. PURUM SOOKH v. SOOBHAN, 2 Agra 323.

(3)—Rent—Suit for rent—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7, Applicability of.—S. 7, Act VIII of 1859, intended to discourage a needless multiplicity of suits, is applicable to suits for rent instituted by a zemindar against the ryot. RANEE BHABOSOONDEREE v. BHUGWAN CHUNDER MUZOOMDAR, W.R. 1864, Act X, 88.

(4)—Suit for alluvial land—Splitting claim.—In a suit for alluvial land, the plea of splitting or abandonment of claim is maintainable. BABOO MEGHBARUM SINGH v. MAHARAJA MOHESSUR BUKSH SINGH BAHADOOR, 5 W.R 511. [Reversed, 9 B.L.R. 150, P.C.=16 W.R.P.C. 5.]

(5)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Arbitration—Abandonment of excess of claim.—It would not be going beyond the reasonable construction of the words of s 7, Act VIII of 1859, to hold that the privilege there given to a plaintiff in a suit to abandon the excess of a claim applies also to a case where the party comes in with an application to cause an arbitration award to be filed. GRISH CHUNDER CHOORAMONEE v. BROJONATH BHUTTACHARJEE, 20 W.R. 56.]

Relinquishment of portion of claim —contd.

(6)—Cause of action—Title resting on different transactions—Separate evidence.—The cause of action may be one although the title of the defendant rests upon different and distinct transactions, and is supported by distinct and separate evidence. RAM SOONDUR SHAHA v. DELANNEY, 20 W.R. 103. [F, 6 A. 616=A.W. N. 1884, 185.]

(7)—Decree in prior suit instituted by trustees of charity--Omission to ask for account—Right of Advocate General how effected—Civ. Pro Code, 1882, s. 43.—The Advocate-General, as plaintiff, prayed for an account against the legal representatives of one T, who had been trustee under deed of 1868 from the date on which it was executed up to his death in 1889. In a previous suit which the trustees had instituted, they had received from T's estate the balance which in that suit they had claimed to be due from him to the charity. The trustees had omitted to ask for an account against him in that suit Held that, under s. 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, the Advocate-General, as plaintiff in the present suit, could not sue for an account, as he represented the same interest as the trustees. Granting that there was no bar under s. 43, the Court, in the exercise of its discretion, would not grant the relief asking for the taking of accounts under the circumstances of the case. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL OF BOMBAY v. BAI PUNJABAI, 18 B. 551.

(8) —Instalment bond—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7 —Relinquishment of claim—Mortgage—Money decree.—Plaintiff sued on an instalment bond as each successive instalment fell due, and the whole of his claim on each instalment was included in the suit. He recovered the full amount of the first instalment under the first decree, and a portion of the second instalment in execution of his second decree. The present suit was for that portion of the second instalment which remained unpaid and for the whole of the third instalment including interest.—Held that such suit was not affected by s. 7, Act VIII of 1859. In a suit on an instalment bond, plaintiff having obtained a money decree, asked for and obtained the residue of the sale proceeds after all the judgment-creditors had been fully satisfied. It was held that by doing so he did not abandon his right as mortgagee. BOLAKEE LALL v. CHOWDHRY BUNG SEE SINGH, 7 W.R. 309.

(9) —Suits by heir to cancel alienations made at various times.—A widow of a deceased Mahomedan alienated her husband's property by two deeds to different persons at different times. A suit was brought by the heirs of the deceased, first to set aside the second alienation, and then a second suit to cancel the first alienation.

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

Held that s. 7, Act VIII of 1859, did not bar the second suit. The heir's cause of action against different alienees, who have acquired possession under alienations made at different times and under different circumstances, was not one and the same, the question of right of succession to the deceased and widow's competency to alienate arising equally in both the cases notwithstanding. It was not obligatory on the heirs to make all the alienees parties to the first suit upon pain of forfeiting all future right of suit against them by reason of such omission. JEHAN BEBEE v. SAIVUK RAM, 1 Agra F. B., 109=Ed., 1874, 82.

(10)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Splitting of cause of action—Joinder.—S. 7, Act VIII of 1859, prohibits the splitting of a single cause of action in order to make it the subject-matter of more than one suit. A plaintiff may give up part of his demand, either to bring the case within the Court's jurisdiction or for any other reason; but he loses all subsequent remedy by suit for that portion of his claim which he has thought fit not to include in his suit. It may be that this provision which seems to contemplate the relinquishment or omission of a sum of money (either part of a debt or pecuniary damages) from the suit, extends also to cases of omission to ask for any particular description of relief; and that its operation is to require a plaintiff to include within his suit every description of relief which he may intend to seek against the parties to the suit in respect of his cause of action. A suit to recover from co-sharers a share of the surplus proceeds of a sale in execution for arrears of rent, is not barred by a former suit instituted by the plaintiff on the requisition of the Collector for obtaining a declaration of his right to share in the fund then in the Collectorate. SABEER KHAN v. KALI DOSS DEY, 1 W.R. 199. [Appr., 19 A. 379, F.B; D., 5 B.L.R. 184=13 W.R. 261.]

(11)—Civ.Pro. Code, s. 7—"Cause of action," meaning of.—A suit was brought in 1860 by S against R to recover his share in the joint family property. The present claim, which was for a share in the rents of certain Inam lands, also joint property, was not included in the suit of 1860. At the date of the former suit, the land in respect to which the present suit was brought was subject to the provisions of Reg. IV of 1831, and the Civil Courts had no jurisdiction to try the suit in respect to such land without the permission of the Government. It did not appear that S had applied to the Government for permission to sue. Held that S was not precluded by s. 7, Civ. Pro. Code, from maintaining the present suit. PATTARAVY MUDALI v. ADIMULA MUDALI, 5 M.H. C. 499. [R, 12 B.H.C. 148, 5 C.L.R. 263, 23 B. 597, 23 M. 216.]

(12)—Suit for partition omitting lands in possession of mortgagee—Subsequent suit for partition—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 7.—Where any portion of the joint property is not in the possession of any of the co-parceners, by reason of its being in mortgage with third parties, executed by the managing member of the family, such property, as it was not available for immediate partition, could be excluded from a suit for partition. A subsequent suit, after redemption of such property, would not be barred by s. 7 of the Civ.Pro.Code, 1859. BALKRISHNA VITHAL v. HARI SHANKAR, 8 B.H.C. A.C 64. [F., 12 B.H.C. 148; R., 23 B. 597, 24 B. 128=1 Bom. L.R. 620.]

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

(13)—Mortgage deed—Distinct covenant to pay interest each year—Decree for overdue interest—Subsequent suit for principal and interest whether barred by s. 43, Civ.Pro. Code. The mortgage deed, in this case, contained a covenant to pay interest each year. The covenant was not confined to the fixed period of the mortgage. It was distinct from and independent of the claim to recover the principal sum and its performance was secured in a different manner. The present suit was brought for recovering from the defendants personally, or by sale of the mortgaged property, the principal of the mortgage bond with interest. Plaintiff had previously sued and obtained a decree for the interest in arrear till then. He did not then sue for possession nor for the principal. Such previous suit, however, was held not to bar the present suit under s. 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code. The lower Court had, however, decided, that the mortgage did not provide expressly for any remedy in respect of the principal sum and that, therefore "there was no reason to suppose that it was the intention of the parties that the property should be sold in payment of either principal or interest or that the mortgagor was personally liable for the debt." The High Court, however, held that the mortgage was a simple mortgage of the property for a period, securing an advance of the principal debt with a covenant by the mortgagor to pay interest thereon till the mortgage was redeemed. It was governed by the general law applicable to simple mortgages. Regulation V of 1827 gave the mortgagee a right to bring the property to sale, and s. 67 of the Transfer of Property Act conferred upon him the same privilege. YASHVANT v. VITHAL, 21 B 267. [R., 28 P.R. 1907=93 P.L.R. 1908=140 P.W.R. 1907, 167 P.L.R. 1910=19 P.R. 1910=36 P.W.R. 1910; D., L.B.R. 1893—1900, 618.]

(14)—Suit for redemption — Mortgage not proved—Dismissal of suit—Subsequent suit in ejectment — Causes of action—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 43.—Where, on the dismissal of his suit for redemption on the ground that the mortgage was not proved, the plaintiff instituted a subsequent suit in ejectment against the defendant, held that s. 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 was no bar to the second suit, because the causes of action in the two suits were essentially different. NARO BALWANT v. RAMCHANDRA TUKDEV, 13 B. 326. (11 B.H.C. 224, F.) [D., 25 B. 189.]

(15)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Suit on hypothecation bond—Portion of decree passed infructuous for want of jurisdiction—Subsequent suit to enforce such portion—No bar of suit.—Where a decree was passed for the whole claim in a suit brought on an hypothecation bond and a portion of the decree became infructuous for want of jurisdiction, a second suit to enforce the claim that became infructuous could be brought against a third person who derived his title to the property through the borrower subsequent to the date of the bond, and it was not barred by the provisions of s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859. GRISH CHUNDER MOOKERJEE v. RAMESSUREE DABEE, 22 W. R. 308. [F., 7 C. 739.]

(16)—Rents for successive years, separate suits maintainable for—Presumption from proof of payment of subsequent years' rent, when cannot be made.—This was a suit for the rents of 1257 and 1268. The defendant pleaded that the present suit was not admissible inasmuch as the plaintiff had sued for arrears of rent for the years 1269 and 1270 without any mention of the rents for 1267 and 1268 which had fallen into arrears. The Judge, on appeal, held that as there was no mention of the rents of 1268 in the decree for the arrears of 1269, the present suit was barred under s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859. But the High Court held that the arrears for successive years are several and distinct causes of action, in respect of which it is perfectly competent to the party entitled to institute separate suits. It cannot be the true meaning of s. 7 that if a plaintiff has several and distinct cause action against one defendant, he must comprise them all in one suit, subject to the hazard of forfeiting all those not included in the first suit. Also the ordinary and natural presumption which usually arises from proof of the payment of recovery of the rents of subsequent years can have no application where there is evidence that the rents in suit were in arrear and no distinct allegation or evidence of their having been paid. RAJA SUTTO CHURN GHOSAL v. OBHOY NUND DOSS, 2 W.R. Act X, 31. [Appr., 17 W R. 380; R., 24 W.R. 526; D., 6 C. 791=8 C.L.R. 29.]

(17)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Covenant in lease, breach of—Damages.—Where, in a former suit, plaintiff, a putneedar sued his zemindar for abatement of rent, and for a refund of consideration money and rents paid by him for 3 years, it was held that a suit for a refund of rent for three subsequent years is not barred under s 7, Act VIII of 1859. RAJA NILMANI SINGH v. ANNADAPRASAD MOOKERJEE, 1 B. L.R F.B. 97=10 W.R. F.B. 41.

(18)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7 — Splitting of cause of action—Lease.—The cause of action in a suit in which a lessee, availing himself of the power contained in a lease to resume and reduce into possession on behalf and in place of his landlord the rent-free tenures, has not given the landlord the benefit of those resumptions and has injuriously retained the lands so resumed in his own possession, is entirely distinct from the cause of action in a subsequent suit in which the lessee has improperly retained in his possession portions of the land leased. Though the lessor's title to recover is the same in both the suits, the causes of action are entirely different. DOORGA NATH ROY CHOWDHRY v. ROY KALEE NARAIN ROY, 24 W.R. 212.

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

(19) - Civ. Pro. Code, s. 43.—A suit by a landlord, to recover mesne profits from a tenant who holds over, and a suit to eject him, are not parts of a claim founded on the identical cause of action, within the meaning of s. 43, and if mesne profits are alone claimed as damages due for adverse occupancy, a second suit can be maintained to recover possession of the land. TIRUPATI v NARASIMHA, 11 M. 210. [Not F., 5 M.L.T. 220 ; Appl., 31 M. 405 =4 M.L.T. 192 ; R., 78 P.R. 1902=137 P.L.R. 1902, 28 P.R. 1907=93 P.L.R. 1908=140 P. W.R. 1907, 5 M.L.T. 105, 32 M. 330.]

(20)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Suit by father—Relinquishment of a claim—Subsequent suit by heir—Same cause of action—Maintainability of suit.—S. 7 of Act VIII of 1859 prohibits a suit by an heir on the same cause of action on which a suit was previously instituted by his father, though the property now sued for is not the same as that for which his father sued. Plaintiff, as heir to his father, can only do what his father could have done. His father could not have brought this suit after that which he brought was dismissed. SOORUJPERSHAD TEWARY v. SAHEB LAL TEWARY, 3 W.R. 25. [R., 5 W.R. 182.]

(21)—Small cause suit—Damages—Cause of action—Revision.—Plaintiff sued the defendant for damages laid at Rs. 400 for breach of contract, alleging that he had been engaged at a salary of Rs. 75 per mensem as manager of a factory for the entire season of 1879, but that, before the expiration of the season, he had been wrongfully dismissed by the defendant. The Judge decided that the full claim for damages could not be given in the suit, but gave a decree for Rs. 75 per mensem from the commencement of the period of service up to the filing of the plaint. He, further, directed that the plaintiff might sue month by month for further damages as they accrued due. Accordingly, the plaintiff subsequently instituted two suits and obtained decrees. The High Court on the application of the defendant, set aside those decrees on the ground that after the first suit no further suits could lie. SIMPSON v. CLEGHORN, 6 C.L.R. 91.

(22)—Res judicata—Contract of sale—Suit for specific performance—Second suit for recovery of earnest-money. The defendant executed a deed of bynanamah whereby he contracted to convey to the plaintiff certain Mourosse tenures, and was paid a certain sum as earnest-money. It was agreed that the deed of conveyance was to be completed on a specified date, and that the value of the property was to be ascertained on a local inquiry. Pending such inquiry, a certain percentage on the profits per annum was to represent the consideration-money. If the inquiry showed that the value was less, the consideration was to be reduced in proportion ; if more, it was to be raised accordingly. The defendant failed to perform his part of the contract, and sold the property to a third party. The plaintiff then sued for specific performance of the contract, and obtained a decree, and, under that decree, obtained possession. Plaintiff then brought the present suit, alleging that, if defendant had carried out his contract, he (the plaintiff) would have been in a position to recover from the profits of the property 8 per cent. upon the consideration-money advanced by him to the defendant, and that, on the breach of the contract, he had been deprived of interest on his money together with the sum paid on account of rent due by the defendant, and claiming therefore to recover those amounts from the defendant. Held that the plaintiff not having, under the terms of s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859, included the whole of the claim arising out of the cause of action, viz., the breach of contract, and the present cause of action being the same as the cause of action in the former suit, s. 7 clearly applied and the suit was therefore barred. SHIB KRISTO DAH v. ABDOOL SOBHAN CHOWDHRY, 15 W R. 408. [R., 11 Bom .L.R. 46=1 Ind. Cas. 319.]

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

(23)—Suit for recovery of value of cattle taken away—Claim for all damages by wrongful act to be included—Fresh suit not maintainable for damages.—In a suit to recover the value of cattle alleged to have been illegally taken away by defendant, whatever claim plaintiff desired to make in respect of damages caused to him by such wrongful act of the defendant should be included by him in his plaint. It is not competent to him to maintain a second suit for any such items of damages which he might have failed so to include in the former suit. MOHUBUT MUNDUL v. SHOORENDRO NATH ROY, 4 W.R. S.C.C. Ref. 20.

(24) — General Agent — Misappropriation—Cause of action.—An action against a general agent, simply on the allegation that he has received money on account of the principal without remitting it to the latter, is not sustainable, because the facts stated do not constitute a cause of action, in the absence of an allegation that there are grounds for believing that the money so received has not been disbursed on the plaintiff's account, but misappropriated by the agent. Where the defendant is not a general agent, but employed only to receive payment on account of the principal and to remit it forthwith, to the plaintiff, an action will lie simply on the ground that the agent has not remitted the money received by him within a reasonable time. But where he is a general agent empowered, not only to receive, but also to disburse, money so received on account of the principal, a suit will not lie upon a bare allegation like that, without a further statement that the agent, being called upon, has failed to account for the sum of money for which he is sought to be made liable. MONOHUR DASS v. BABOO SEETUL PERSHAD, 23 W.R. 418.

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

(25)—Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7. —Where plaintiffs had, in a former suit, claimed certain moneys alleged to have been misappropriated by defendant as manager for the joint family, the cause of action having been the latter's refusal to allow plaintiffs their share at the time of separation, their present suit for a share of certain paddy which defendant had refused to make over when the separation took place, was held to be barred by s. 7, Act VIII of 1859. GANES CHANDRA CHOWDHRY v. RAM KUMAR CHOWDHRY, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 265 =12 W.R. 79. (8 W.R.P.C. 11, R.) [R., 1 A. 543.]

(26)—Suit for recovery of land — Duty of plaintiff to put forward whole case — Second suit—Cause of action.—A plaintiff suing for the recovery of land is bound to put forward the whole of his case at once. He cannot maintain a second suit for the same cause of action merely by alleging that the Collectorate order sought to be set aside is an order of a different date and description from that which was sought to be set aside in the former suit. LUCHMAN DAS v. PRIAG DUTT, 2 Agra 305.

(27)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 7, 12 — Identity of cause of action in previous and subsequent suit—Inclusion of whole claim in one suit—Cause of action, splitting of. — The question was whether this suit did not fall within the provisions of s 7 of Act VIII of 1859 and whether consequently it could be entertained. The lower appellate Court had held that the case did not fall within s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859, inasmuch as distinct acts of dispossession were alleged and inasmuch as certain persons were defendants in the present suit, and might have some interest in its result, who were not parties to the former suit. The High Court held that this decision was wrong. Both the suits had been in fact, instituted by the plaintiff for the purpose of establishing her late husband's title under his father's Will, and of obtaining possession of the lands as her husband's widow and representative. There was but one cause of action, viz., the denial of plaintiff's title under the Will of her husband's father; and it was her duty to have proceeded under s. 12 of Act VIII of 1859, and to have included her whole claim in the suit brought by her first in one of the districts in which the estates claimed were situate. JAMOONA DASSEE CHOWDHRANEE v. BHAMASOONDAREE DASSEE CHOWDHRANEE, 2 W.R. 148. [Diss., 10 M.L.J. 136; R., 3 W.R. 25, 20 W. R. 77, 16 A. 359 = A.W.N. 1894, 120; D., 5 W.R. 182.]

(28)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 7—Redemption suit—Surplus not claimed by mortgagor — Separate suit for surplus.—Where in a former suit for redemption of land usufructuarily mortgaged, the plaintiff, though he believed that there was a surplus due to him from the mortgagee, abstained from making any claim for the sum which might be found due to him, held, that a second suit for the recovery of the surplus was barred by the provisions of s. 7, Civ. Pro. Code. BALOJI TAMAJI POTHAR v. TAMANGOUDA GHANASYAM GOUDA, 6 B.H.C. A.C. 97. [Appl., 25 B. 115; R., 26 B. 661, 30 A. 225 = A.W.N. 1903, 96 = 5 A.L.J. 192.]

(29)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 7—Claim arising out of same cause of action.—A patni talook belonging to B was sold for arrears of rent and purchased by T. B sued in the Civil Court for setting aside the sale on the ground of irregularities and obtained a decree as prayed for. In the meanwhile, T, the purchaser of the talook, having made default in payment of rent, the patni was again sold for the sum of Rs. 98,000. Out of this sum, the zemindar drew out from the Collectorate the sum of Rs. 38,000 due on account of rent, and the balance of Rs. 60,000 remained to the credit of T. In the interim, C had purchased the right, title, and interest of B, in the decree obtained by him for setting aside the sale of his patni, and, in virtue of his rights under that decree, sued T for the surplus sale-proceeds standing to his credit in the Collectorate, and obtained a decree. C again sued T for mesne profits for the period during which T was in possession of the talook. And the present suit was again brought by C against T for the amount drawn by the zemindar out of the sale-proceeds of the talook, on the ground that T had wrongfully failed to pay rent to the zemindar though he had himself collected rents from the under-tenants. Held, that the suit was barred by s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859. The plaintiff's claim in the present suit undoubtedly formed a part of the sum claimed which comprised the amount recovered in the first suit for surplus proceeds of sale. The plaintiff's first suit, as it were, admitted that the original proprietor of the patni could only be entitled to recover that portion of the proceeds of sale which remained over and above after payment of the zemindar's rent. There was either a just claim for the whole of the sale-proceeds or there was not. If there was, the plaintiff was bound to have claimed the whole of it in the first suit. Having omitted to claim a portion, he cannot now be allowed to claim it in the present suit. TARINI PRASAD GHOSE v. KHUDUMANI DEBI, 5 B.L.R. 184 = 13 W.R. 261. (1 W.R. 199, D.)

(30)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Rents due in Azeemabad rupees sued for in Company's rupees —Abandonment.—If rents due in Azeemabad rupees are sued for in Company's rupees, the former coinage more valuable than the latter, the omission to sue for the difference in value is an abandonment of claim under s. 7, Act VIII of 1859, and a fresh suit does not lie for the recovery of the same. MEER MAHOMED SOODUCK GOLESTAN v. FORBES, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 90.

(31)—Suit for possession—Plea in bar—Rent suit—Maintainability—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7. —Where, in a suit for possession, the defendant would set up the plea in bar, the plaintiff cannot be allowed to bring a suit for rent in order to raise the question of title, because such a proceeding is opposed to the principle laid down in s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859. RAM TUNNO KOLOO v. SHORODA PERSHAD MULLICK, 19 W.R. 91. [R., 20 W.R. 270; D., 23 W.R. 342.]

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

(32)—Cause of action, splitting of.—A patni having been sold for arrears of rent, one of the co-sharers brought a suit and eventually obtained a decree setting aside the sale. In the meantime, however, in consequence of the purchaser having defaulted in payment of rent, the patni had again been sold and the decree could not be executed for recovery of possession. On this, the decree-holder sued the purchaser at the first sale and others for the surplus proceeds of the second sale, and recovered a portion of the surplus proceeds. He then sued for and recovered mesne profits. Subsequently he brought a third suit for compensation. Held, that whatever the plaintiff was entitled to recover from the defendants under the decree already mentioned constituted one single cause of action and that he was bound to include in the suit which he brought upon that cause of action everything to which he was so entitled, and that the present suit was therefore barred. TARINI PRASAD GHOSE v. RAGHAB CHANDRA BANDOPADHYA, 5 B.L.R. 187, Note=13 W.R. 205. [R., 5 B.L.R. 184.]

(33)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Dispossession—Suit for mesne profits—Subsequent suit for profits arising out of same dispossession—Maintainability of suit.—The plaintiffs, having been dispossessed of a tank and land on its bank, instituted proceedings under s. 15 of Act XIV of 1859 and recovered possession of the whole of the above premises. Then the defendants instituted a regular civil suit to establish their title, in which again the plaintiffs were successful. Thereupon, the plaintiffs brought a suit for the value of fish taken by the defendants on the day of dispossession, and the suit was compromised. Subsequently, the plaintiffs brought the present suit for mesne profits in respect of fish and grass appropriated by the defendants during a certain period they were in possession. Held that the present claim of the plaintiffs for the period preceding the institution of the previous suit was barred by s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859. The previous suit and the present were both suits for damages and the previous suit and compromise ought to have included all claims of the plaintiffs arising out of the dispossession from the tank. SAEM SIRDAR v. KAMALUDDY SIRDAR, 22 W.R. 424.

(33-a)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 43—First suit for possession and mesne profits—Subsequent suit for mesne profits.—The plaintiff sued for possession of immoveable property upon a forfeiture and for mesne profits in respect of the same property up to the date of the alleged forfeiture, and obtained a decree. Subsequently, he brought a separate suit for mesne profits including the period from the date of the forfeiture to the date of the institution of the former suit. Held, that the claim in the subsequent suit was barred by s. 43 of the Code.

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

MEWA KUAR v. BANARSI PRASAD, 17 A. 533 =A.W.N. 1895, 121. (3 A. 660, 11 M. 151, R.) [Affirmed, 23 A. 227, P.C; Not F., 32 M. 330=5 M.L.T. 105; Appr., U.B.R. 1904. 1st Qr., C.P.C. 42, 43; R., 18 A. 131=16 A.W.N. 2, 3 L.B.R. 56, 9 O.C. 224, 322.]

(33-b)—Ss. 43, 44, Civ. Pro. Code—Claims to recover possession and mesne profits, distinct claims—Cause of action different—Scope of s. 44, Civ. Pro. Code—According to ss. 43 and 44, of the Code of Civil Procedure (1882), claims to recover possession of immoveable property and for mesne profits are distinct claims, and there has been no alteration of the law in this respect between s. 10, Act VIII of 1859, and the present Code, although, no doubt, the terms of the law of 1859 were more precise. The cause of action and the nature of the suit in each case are altogether different. S. 44, Civ. Pro. Code, merely permits joinder in one suit of a claim for recovery of immoveable property with one for mesne profits in regard to the same property. LALESSOR BABEE v. JANKI BIBEE, 19 C. 615. (8 C. 593, 12 C. 482, 17 C. 968, R; 11 M. 151, Diss.) [F., 31 M. 405=1 M.L.T. 192, 1 L.B.R. 13; Cited, 78 P.R. 1902=137 P.L.R. 1902, 30 A. 225=5 A.L.J. 192=A.W.N. 1908, 96; R., 17 A. 533, 5 M.L.T. 105=32 M 330, U.B.R. 1904, 1st Qr. Civil Procedure, 42, 9 O.C. 322; Not F., 9 O.C. 224; Diss., 3 L.B.R. 56; D., 34 C. 223 =5 C.L.J. 192.]

(34)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 7, 8, 9—Mesne profits—Damages.—Mesne profits, or rather damages for mesne profits are, no doubt, usually measured by the actual rents and profits of the land issuing during the period of dispossession; but they are essentially damages. The ground upon which the plaintiff in any case is entitled to ask for those damages is the wrongful conduct of the defendants in dispossessing and keeping him out of possession. Although no doubt, a claim for mesne profits is, for the special purposes of ss. 8 and 9 of the Civ. Pro. Code, deemed a separate cause of action from a claim for the land in respect of which it is made, yet it cannot itself be divided, and every suit brought to recover mesne profits must, by s. 7 of the Civ. Pro. Code, include the whole claim arising out of the cause of action which gives the ground for making it. MUSSAMUT ROOKMINEE KOOER v. RAM TOHUL ROY, 21 W.R. 223. [R., 9 C. 283.]

(35)—Suit for possession of immoveable property—Suit for mesne profits—Relinquishment of part of claim—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, ss. 43, 44.—Mesne profits which can be claimed in a suit for possession of immoveable property up to the date of suit, but which were not so claimed, cannot be subsequently sued for in a separate suit LALJI MAL v. HULASI, 3 A. 660, F.B [Diss., 19 C. 615; F., 17 A. 533, U.B.R. 1904, 43, p. 1, 3 L.B.R, 56.]

(36)—Civ.8Pro. Code, 1877, s. 43—Relinquishment of part of claim — Mesne profits.—Where a suit for possession of certain trees was based upon the interference by the defendant with the plaintiff's possession of such trees and the wrongful taking of the fruit of such trees, a subsequent suit for mesne profits, namely the value of such fruit, would be barred by the provisions of s. 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code. DEBI DIAL SINGH v. AJAIB SINGH, 3 A. 543. [R., 11 M. 210.]

Relinquishment of portion of claim—contd.

(37)—Suit for mesne profits—Cause of action—Civ Pro. Code.—The plaintiff, having obtained a decree for possession of lands together with mesne profits from the date of suit, filed another suit for mesne profits for the time prior to the institution of the previous suit. Held that the present suit was barred under s. 7 of the Civ. Pro Code, and could not be sustainable. RAM RUTTUN ANDO v. RAM CHUNDER PAL, 25 W.R. 113.

(37-a)—S. 43, Act XIV of 1882, Civ. Pro. Code—Relinquishment or omission to sue for portion of claim—Succession of a Mahomedan widow by local custom to a life-interest in the estate of her husband—Cause of action in her suit for dower distinguished from that in her suit for such estate.—A decree in a suit by a Mahomedan widow against the brother of her deceased husband, declaring her right to possess for life the estate of the latter in accordance with a proved local custom, with an order for possession, was affirmed. A decree in a suit previously brought by the widow against the same defendant for her dower, gave no occasion for the application of s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code, having been made upon a cause of action distinct from that on which the present suit was founded. MAHOMED RIASAT ALI v. HASIN BANU, 21 C. 157, P.C. =20 I.A. 155=6 Sar. 374. (8 M. 520, P.C., F.) [F., 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448, 11 O.C. 69.]

(38)—Butwara—Jurisdiction — Civil Court.—A Civil Court has no authority to order the Collector to make a partition of the jummas payable to Government in respect of the several mehals which are intermixed in a portion common to all. JHABA LALL ROY v. THE COLLECTOR OF TIRHOOT, 21 W.R. 272.

See ADMISSION — ADMISSION IN PLEADINGS, 6 A. 395=A.W.N. 1884, 136.

See ALLUVION—GENERAL, 9 B.L.R. 150=16 W.R. P.C. 5.

Court-fee—Revision—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. VII, rr. 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, O. XXXIII, r. 1, s. 115, A.W.N. 1900, 214.

Effect of relinquishment by one co-sharer on shares of others—See CO-SHARERS—ENJOYMENT OF PROPERTY BY CO-SHARERS, 16 C.P.L.R. 28.

See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—DECLARATION OF TITLE, 12 W.R. 279.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 421=12 W.R. 336.

See INTEREST—SPECIAL CASES, 6 W.R. MIS. 121.

Relinquishment of portion of claim—concld.

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—AUTHORITY TO BIND CLIENT, 3 B.L.R. App. 15.

See MESNE PROFITS—SUITS FOR MESNE PROFITS AND ASSESSMENT IN EXECUTION, 4 B.L.R. F.B. 113=13 W.R. F.B. 15=14 W.R. 151.

See MORTGAGE—MARSHALLING, 13 B. 45.

Of portion of claim—Effect—See PLAINT—GENERAL, 8 M.L.T. 436=8 Ind. Cas. 943.

See RES JUDICATA—MATTERS IN ISSUE, 18 B. 537.

Relinquishment of Tenure.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.

(1)—Act X of 1859, s 19—Lease for fixed term—Right to relinquish.—A ryot, who has taken a lease in writing of certain lands for a specific term, is not entitled under s. 19, Act X of 1859, to throw up his lease during its currency. KASHEE SINGH v. P. ONRAET AND T. GRANT, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul., 81. [F., 1 Agra Rev. App. 22; R., 7 W.R. 62; D., 9 W.R. 89.]

(2)—Act X of 1859, s. 19—Notice of relinquishment under.—When the lessees have contracted for a definite specified interest in land, the contract or lease must regulate the whole relationship between the parties, not only in regard to the time of the commencement and continuance but also in regard to the termination of the holding, and the provisions of s. 19 of Act X of 1859 are not applicable in such cases. BABOO DWARKA DASS v. GOKUL DASS, 1 Agra Rev. 22. (5 W.R. 81, F.)

(3)—Act X of 1859, s. 19—Relinquishment of land by ryot—Application to Collector not necessary—Notice direct by tenant to landlord—Burden of proof.—There is nothing in the provisions of s. 19 of Act X of 1859, imperatively requiring that an application for service of notice of relinquishment must necessarily be made by the ryot to the Collector. In the present case, however, the ryot had made such an application, and if the Collector failed to serve the notice contemplated by the law, his neglect of duty cannot affect the rights of the tenant; nor can the landlord have any substantial ground of complaint on account of the non-service of such notice by the Collector, if the tenant can prove that, previous to his application to that officer, he had given actual notice, of his intention to relinquish, directly to the landlord himself or to his authorized agent. Also, where the tenant is found to have taken all the steps required by the law in furtherance of his intended relinquishment, it is for the landlord to prove that he continued in possession of the land, and enjoyed the profits by holding it khas or by letting it to other parties. MR. JAMES ERSKINE v. RAM COOMAR ROY, 8 W.R. 220.

(4)—Miras — Razinama — Abandonment of Miras right—Ejectment.— A Mirasdar who has given in a razinama has the right to recover his land if he sues within the period of limitation unless in that document it is expressly stipulated that he has abondoned his miras right. JOTI BHIMRAV v. BALU bin BAPUJI, 1 B. 208. [R., 4 Bom. L.R. 801.]

Relinquishment of Tenure—continued.

(5)—Act X of 1859, s. 19—Agreement not to relinquish jote—Relinquishment, validity of.—In a suit for rent of the year 1271 B.S. on the specific terms of a kabuliat executed by defendant's father, in which the father set forth that the kabuliat should be binding on his heirs for ever, and that a relinquishment of the jote should never be permitted, the defendant's answer was that he relinquished the jote in 1270 B.S. and that the father's deed could not bind defendant never to relinquish a tenure, when the law clearly enacted (s. 19, Act X of 1859) that that power should be with a tenant under certain defined provisions. The lower appellate Court ruled that the general provisions of s. 19, Act X of 1859, could not prevail against such express stipulations as were set forth in the kabuliat. Held that the lower Court was wrong and that the defendant was entitled to relinquish the jote and that he was not liable for the rent sued for. GOPAL PAL CHOWDHRY v. TARINEE PERSHAD GHOSE, 9 W.R. 89.

(6)—Omission to take up mal land at survey —Another cultivator allowed to hold mal land paying assessment — Forfeiture of claim.—A person who fails at the survey to take up mal land which he held without assessment before the survey, and allows it to be taken up by another cultivator who pays the assessment upon it, must be held to have forfeited his claim to such land. BALKIRSHNA GOBIND GADGIL v. NARAYAN SAKARAM, 8 B.H.C. A.C. 180.

(7)—Bombay Act (I of 1865)—Miras land—Hindu widow — Mortgage — Razinamah — Sale for arrears of revenue—Distinction.— A mortgage of the mirasi estate by a duly executed mortgage-deed by the widow of a Hindu mirasidar, binds her estate in the lands as a Hindu widow ; and, on its execution, what is left to her is only the equity of redemption. A razinamah of the lands in question, given by her on a subsequent date, does not affect the previous mortgage by her, and transfers only the equity of redemption. (1 B. 91, D.) [Appl., 14 B. 506.] There is a distinction between taking miras lands through a razinamah, and purchasing them at a sale for arrears of Government land revenue. In the latter case, inasmuch as the Government land-revenue is the paramount charge upon the land the purchaser takes the land discharged of all incumbrances. RAMACHANDRA MANKESHWAR v. BHIMRAU RANJI, 1 B. 577. (10 B.H.C. 416, 11 B.H.C. 218, R.)

(8)—Relinquishment by ryot of portion of land—Notice of relinquishment, form of.—In order that a ryot, by relinquishing a portion out of a considerable quantity of land held by him, may relieve himself from liability to pay rent, it is not enough that he gives notice that he relinquishes a part of the land without specifying what that portion is. HABELA SIRCAR v. DOORGA KANT MOJOOMDAR, 11 W.R. 456.

Relinquishment of Tenure—concluded.

(9)—Relinquishment of land — Service of notice to quit—Ootbundee ryot, s. 19, Act X of 1859.—The service of a notice to quit by a landlord on an Ootbundee ryot unless an enhanced rent is paid, and the signification by the ryot of his intention to relinquish the land amount to a sufficient compliance with s. 19, Act X, 1859. MR. THOMAS, J. KENNY v. ISSUR CHUNDER PODDAR, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 9.

(10)—Reg. XVII of 1827, s. 42— Scope—Written notice of relinquishment to Collector—Notice of enhancement by Collector.—S. 42, Reg. XVII of 1827, is of general application, and is not limited to lands in which a new survey settlement has been introduced. Not only holders of land under a survey settlement, but holders of all land who come within the scope of the Regulation and its supplemental Act IV of 1868 (Bom.) are bound to give written notice before they relinquish their holdings. Reading s. 42 with cl. 1 of s. 44, the true interpretation would seem to be that the restriction placed upon the exercise by the raiyat of his right to surrender, and the declaration of his continuance of liability for assessment, if his relinquishment was not notified by a particular date, imposed a corresponding obligation upon the Government to give him notice of enhancement within a period which would allow him to consider his position and leave him at liberty to exercise without obstacle or injury his right to resign the land. It would be most unjust to an occupant to hold that his assessment could be raised after he had lost his option of throwing up the land. GOVINDVINAYAK GADRE v. THE COLLECTOR OF RATNAGIRI, 6 B.H.C. A.C. 101. [Expl., 12 B.H.C. 225 ; R., 12 B. H.C. App., 1.]

(11)—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), s. 20—Relinquishment of lease—Notice—Onus—Parol evidence.—A ryot is under no obligation to given any notice under s. 20, Act VIII of 1869, merely to entitle him to give up the land at the termination of a lease for a short term under which he holds. It lies upon the plaintiff who says that a ryot did not relinquish when the term of his lease expired, to prove that the tenant held on. The onus of proving relinquishment is not on the ryot. The fact of relinquishment of a lease after its expiry may be proved by parol evidence. TILAK PATAK v. MAHABIR PANDAY, 7 B.L.R. App. 11=15 W. R. 454.

See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY — LOSS OF RIGHT, 38 P.R. 1871.

Remainderman.

Doctrine of equity in England—Applicability to India— See EQUITY, 11 A. 57=A.W.N. 1888, 296.

Remand.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, rr. 23, 25 TO 29.

(1)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354, object of remand under—Determination of issue on fresh evidence taken.—The object of a remand under s. 354 of Act VIII of 1859 is not that the Judge should try the issue on the evidence already taken and on the record, because, that is a matter which the Court sitting in regular appeal can do for itself without the assistance of the lower Court. Where a case has been remanded under s. 354, it is the duty of the lower Court to take such evidence as the parties may have to offer for the determination of the issue. ABDOOL KHYRAT v. JUMALOODDEEN HOSSEIN, 10 W.R. 244.

(2)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 566—Remand—Findings arrived at before order of remand—Power of Appellate Court to re-consider those findings.—In law there is no determination of the appeal when a remand is made under (s. 566) of the Civ. Pro. Code, and the findings of the Appellate Court are only opinions until the final judgment is passed. There is no legal objection to those opinions being re-considered by the Appellate Court, though, as a rule, this should be done only when the Court finds that its former view is obviously wrong. HARI SINGH v. LABHU SHAH, 80 P.L.R. 1902. (10 A. 162, F.)

(3)—Procedure in remanding a case.—In remanding a case, the issues, which the lower Court is required to decide, must be specifically stated. It is not enough to direct the case to be decided in accordance with observations in the judgment. GRISH CHUNDER LAHIRI v. SHOSHI SHIKHARESWAR ROY, 27 C. 951, P.C. = 27 I.A. 110 = 4 C.W.N. 631 = 10 M.L.J. 356 = 2 Bom. L.R. 709 = 7 Sar. 687.

(4)—Remand of suit of the Small Cause Court class—Appeal from order to High Court.—An order by a Court, in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction, under s. 562 of the Civ. Pro. Code, remanding a case of the Small Cause Court class as described in s. 586, is appealable to the High Court. KIRTE MOHALDAR v. RAMJAN MOHALDAR, 10 C. 523. [D., 24 C. 774.]

(5)—Remand by lower appellate Court, a second time — Appeal, if lies — Directions to be made by Lower Appellate Court when ordering a second remand.—If an order of remand by a lower appellate Court is not carried out by the Court of first instance, and the case is remanded a second time, no appeal lies from the order. When a superior Court remands a case a second time, it should not confine itself to a vague general remark that its previous order had not been carried into effect, but should likewise state what the main requirements of such order were, and how the Lower Court's decision shows that they have not been carried out. RADHABULLUB SURMA v. ANUNDMOYEE DEBEA, W.R. 1864, Mis. 39.

(6)—Remand by lower appellate Court--Appeal to High Court against order of remand—Duty of High Court.—Where the first appellate Court

Remand—continued.

remands a suit to a Court of first instance, and an appeal is preferred to the High Court against the order of remand, all that the High Court can do is to take the facts as found by the lower appellate Court and to say whether, upon those facts, the Judge of the lower appellate Court was wrong in point of law in remanding the case. KHUSHAL PANACHAND v. BHIMABAI, 12 B. 589. [R., 14 B. 14.]

(7)—Appeal—Revision—Civ. Pro. Code, 1908, O. XLI, r. 23.—Held, that, where the order of remand under r. 23 of O. XLI is not appealable, it is not also subject to revision. RAMJI DAS v. SHANKER DAS, 10 P.W.R. 1912 = 140 P.L.R. 1912 = 13 Ind. Cas. 855. (50 P.R. 1911, 101 P.R. 1910, 9 P.R. 94, P.R. 897 of 1910, F.)

(8)—Appeal against an order of remand—Decision of first Court on remand order no bar to appeal—Court of appeal, power of—Settlement Circular No. 63 of 1863, legal force of—Groveholder of longstanding, position of.—Where a Court of first appeal, setting aside the decision of the Court of first instance on a preliminary point, remanded the case for decision on the merits, and there was an appeal against the order of remand, held, that the fact of the case having been decided by the Court of first instance in accordance with the remand order before the appeal came on for hearing was no bar to the appeal being heard and disposed of. Held, further, that a Court hearing an appeal against an order of remand has power not only to decide whether the order of remand was in accordance with law or not, but also whether the decision was correct or not and to dispose of the suit accordingly. Held also that Settlement Circular No. 63 of 1863 has not the force of law, and that the position of a grove holder, who had been in possession of the trees of a grove for a long period, whether he be a mere tenant or one of the old proprietary body, is not, in respect of under-proprietary rights, in any way different from that of any other person who claims those rights GIRDHARI LAL v. JASWANT SINGH, 15 O.C. 33 = 15 Ind. Cas. 181.

(9)—Appeal against an order of remand—Order of remand carried out by first Court no bar to appeal—Civ. Pro. Code, O. XLI, r. 23. — Where a suit had been remanded under O. XLI, r. 23, Civ. Pro. Code, held that the fact that, before the appeal against the order of remand was filed, the order of remand had already been carried out by the first Court, was no bar to the hearing of the appeal. HUB LAL v. GANGA, 15 O.C. 43 = 15 Ind. Cas. 191. (5 A.L.J. 447, F.; 30 A. 191, 4 A.L.J. 562, R.)

(10)—Interlocutory order of remand no appeal preferred against — Validity of remand order, objections to, may be raised during appeal against final decree.—The omission, by a party, to appeal directly from a remand order, does not preclude him from objecting to it in his appeal from the final decree. There is nothing in any law or regulation prevailing in India which renders it imperative upon the suitor to appeal from every interlocutory order by which he may conceive himself aggrieved, under the penalty, if he does not do so, of forfeiting for ever the benefit of the consideration of the appellate Court. The party might have appealed directly as against such an order, but, merely because he has omitted to do so, he cannot be taken to have so submitted to the order as to be precluded from objecting to it on the subsequent appeal against the final decree. SAVITRI v. RAMJI, 14 B. 232. [F., 23 C. 335, 28 C. 324=5 C.W.N. 509, 32 P.L.R. 1906; Appr., U.B.R. 1892—1896, 525, 20 M.L.J. 805=8 M.L.T. 72=6 Ind. Cas. 239; R., 14 A. 348, 18 M. 421, 24 C. 725, 12 C.P.L.R. 119, 9 O.C. 80, 71 P.R. 1907=37 P.L.R. 1908, 7 M L.T. 93.]

Remand—continued.

(11)—Ss. 562, 566, 578, 588, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Remand order — Appeal.— Proceedings taken under a remand order under s. 564, instead of, as they ought to have been, under s. 562, are not illegal. (14 B. 232, R.) S. 578 is applicable in curing the defect, of an erroneous order of remand, if it does not affect the merits of the case. [F., 28 M. 437=15 M.L.J. 236, 5 C.L.J. 71, 11 C.W.N. 380.] The validity of a remand order may, though not assailed in an appeal under s. 588 (28), Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, be contested in an appeal against the final decree. MOHESH CHANDRA DASS v. JAMURIDDIN MOLLAH, 28 C. 324=5 C.W.N. 509. (7 M.I.A. 283, 14 B. 232, F.) [R., 9 O.C. 80, 6 C.L.J. 547=12 C.W.N. 590.]

(12)—Remand—Review praying for remand on different issue.—The High Court having remanded a case (12 W.R. 229) for the trial of an issue under the specific provisions of cl. 1, s. 4, Reg. XI of 1825, the plaintiffs applied for review contending that it was requisite for the ends of justice to remand to it to be tried on another and a very different issue under cl. 3 of that section, as it was to that issue that they had directed all their evidence. Held that, as it was impossible to verify the statements contained in the review petition without going through the records once again and in fact giving the applicants for review a second special appeal, the application ought to be rejected. JUGGOBUNDHOO BOSE v. J. P. WISE, 12 W.R. 409.

(13)—Remanded case—Fresh vakalatnamah.—Fresh vakalatnamah is not necessary in a remanded case. SREEMUTTEE NOBINMONEE DOSSEE v. JOY GOPAL GOSSUR, 1 W.R. 276.

(14)—Order remanding case—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), s. 562—Decree—Court Fees Act (VII of 1870), sch. I, art. 1 and sch. II, art. 11.—An appeal from an order remanding a case under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, ought to be stamped under art. 11 of sch. II of the Court Fees Act (VII of 1870) and not under art. 1 of sch. I of the Act. An order under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, is not a 'decree' nor 'an order having the force of a decree.' SADIQ MAHOMED v. GUR SAHAI RAM, 6 P.R. 1880.

Remand—continued.

(15)—Act X of 1862, sch. II, art. 11, Note 1—Stamp duty—Refund.—Held by the majority of a Full Bench that when a suit is remanded in part, the appellant is entitled to only a proportionate refund of stamp-duty. (Campbell and Loch, JJ., contra). In the matter of the petition of DOORGA DAS DUTT, B L.R. Sup. Vol. 511=6 W.R. Mis. 65, F.B. [F., 18 W.R. 434; D., 20 W.R. 106.]

(16)—Remand of suit—Date for re-hearing—Duty of Court—Parties to suits.—When a case is remanded for re-trial, some date should be fixed for the re-hearing, thus giving the parties an opportunity to appear and take measures for carrying on the suit. The purchaser of the rights of a claimant, as next heir to the former owner, is a party to the suit. HARADHUN CHUCKERBUTTY v. PROTAP NARAIN CHOWDHRY, 11 W.R. 401.

(17)—Practice — Procedure — Remand by Judicial Commissioner — Retrial — Notice of date of—Not necessary—Case heard ex parte —Fixing of date for judgment—Application to set aside ex parte proceedings—When to be made —O. IX, r. 7, Civ. Pro. Code, (1908).—When a case is remanded for retrial to the Court of First Instance by the Court of Judicial Commissioner, no notice of the date fixed for the subsequent hearing of the case will be issued to the parties. (2 C.P.L.R. 32, 4 N.L.R. 166, 17 W.R. 70, R.) But parties are entitled to a reasonable time. The rule applies as well to the Central Provinces as to Berar. Where a case, which was tried ex parte, was fixed for judgment on a certain date, held that there was no adjournment of the hearing, and that the defendant need not have applied before that date under O. IX, r. 7, to have the ex parte adjournment set aside. GOSAVI v. MALRAJ, 7 N.L.R. 172=12 Ind. Cas. 807.

(18)—Legal representative—Heir.—It is not by any means a matter of course that the heir and legal representative of a deceased person should be one and the same individual. Such may or may not be the case. "Heir" and "legal representative" are not convertible terms. They are frequently wholly different parties. BAI VIJKOR v. FAKIRBHAI TULJARAM, 2 B.H.C. 317.

(19)—Materials for determination of result of remand.—The only materials that should be placed before the Court to determine the result of the remand are the judgments and the decrees made in the case. FANI BHUSAN ROY CHOWDHURY v. BAMA SUNDARI DEBI, 4 C.W.N. 343.

(20)—Remand — Re-trial.—Where the remand is for a "re-trial," the whole case is opened again de novo and the plaintiff may prove his case in any way he could. GUDADHUR DUTT v. SHUSHEE MONEE DOSSIA, 21 W.R. 7.

(21)—New trial, effect of.—When a case is sent back for new trial on remand, the whole case is re-opened. TARINEE KANT LAHIREE v. KOONJ BEHAREE AWASTEE, 12 W.R. 112.

Remand—continued.

(22)—Remand of rent case to lower appellate Court—Finding additional to those directed—Act VI of 1862, s. 3—Competency of Judge to award damages without appeal on the point.—By the order of remand in this rent suit, the Judge was required to ascertain whether the amulnamah produced by the plaintiff and the pottah filed by him in a survey case were one and the same. This was found to have been the case, but the Judge found that the pottah was a different one from that which the defendant had given to the plaintiff for filing in the survey case. The Judge reversed the decree for rent at the old rates that had been passed by his predecessor and also adjudged the plaintiff to pay damages under s. 3 of Act VI of 1862. It was objected that the above orders of the Judge were illegal, but it was held that the whole case was re-opened and that it was competent to the Judge to have awarded damages even in the absence of any appeal on the part of the defendant on that point. RAM CHUNDER SURMAH CHOWDHRY v. DAGOO KHAN, 10 W. R. 339.

(23)—Remand to first Court on point of limitation—Decision by first Court—Right of parties to subsequently appeal upon whole case.—On this case having been remanded to the lower appellate Court, it decided the issue as to limitation, in respect of which the High Court had ordered the remand, without allowing the appellant to adduce evidence directed to meet that issue. The High Court thereon reversed the decision and remanded the case with directions to the lower appellate Court to send it to the Court of first instance for trial of the issue of limitation, ruling that, upon the decision of the case by the first Court upon such issue, it would be competent to the parties to appeal upon the whole case notwithstanding the appeal which had already been had. RUGHOONUNDUN PERSHAD SINGH v. CHUTTUR PAUL SINGH, 10 W.R. 335.

(24)—Remand for decision of a particular question—Going beyond order of remand—Jurisdiction.—A Court to which a case has been remanded for decision of a particular question has no authority to re-open a matter which has already been adjudicated upon between the parties or to go beyond the order of remand. SAHEB TEWAREE v. KISHOREE SAHOY SINGH, 24 W.R. 330.

(25)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 351—Fresh issue—Remand—Powers of Appellate Court.—Where a Subordinate Judge, in appeal, framed an issue and remanded the case for trial thereof, directing the first Court to pass a decree in accordance with the finding it might arrive at instead of directing it to submit the finding, and the first Court passed a decree as directed, and the case, thereupon, went up to the Additional Judge in appeal, held that the Additional Judge should confine himself to considering whether the decision of the Court below on the issue directed was correct or not and that he had no power to go behind the order of the Subordinate Judge on the previous occasion. BODUN BUROOH v. ABDOOL GUNNY, 19 W.R. 281. [R., 6 N.W.P. 114.]

(26)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 73—Scope—Order of remand, if final.—It is incorrect to say that s. 73 of Act VIII of 1859, is restricted only to suit for title to land and other immoveable property and does not apply to moveable property. An order of remand made by a Judge cannot be set aside by his successor, such order being final so far as a purpose of the remand goes. LULEET PANDEY v. BYJNATH SINGH, 14 W.R. 285. [R., 32 M. 318=5 M.L.T. 75=2 Ind. Cas. 535.]

(27)—Remand of suit by appellate Court—Its powers—Issues—Evidence—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 354—Remand only for defect of parties—Successor of remanding Judge may accept evidence recorded by predecessor.—When a case is remanded by an appellate Court under s. 354 of Act VIII of 1859, it is not limited to the evidence then on the record, for, under the section, it is open to it to raise any issue for the trial which the lower Court might have omitted to raise or to try, keeping the case pending on its own file, until the return by the first Court of its finding thereon, together with the evidence recorded on the trial of such issue, or the appellate Court may itself try the issue so raised. [Appr., 10 B. 398.] The successor of a Subordinate Judge who had accepted evidence as sufficient, but remanded the case only for a defect of parties, may, when the case is returned by the first Court, look upon the evidence as prima facie good. WISE v. ISHAN CHUNDER BANERJEE, 14 W.R. 380.

(28)—Procedure on remand—Absence of Judge who passed decree—Jurisdiction of his successor.—Where a case is remanded to the lower Court to record reasons for its judgment, if the Judge who passed the decree is absent, the superior Court should be informed of it by his successor. Under such circumstances his successor has no jurisdiction. Application should be made to the Bench which granted the order of remand for an order for the present Judge to re-try the case de novo. MANICK SETT v. KHETTER MOHUN GOSSAMEE, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 101.

(29)—Remand to record reasons for judgment—Deciding Judge leaving district—Case re-heard by successor de novo—Jurisdiction—Procedure.—When a case is remanded to the deciding Judge to record reasons for his finding, his successor, if the deciding Judge has left the district, ought to bring the fact of the departure of his predecessor to the notice of the appellate Court and ask for instructions. But if, instead of doing that, he decides the case de novo, he acts without jurisdiction. BAYRUP SHEET v. KHETTER MOHUN GOSSAIN, 5 W.R. 124.

(30)—Remand by a District Judge—Findings recorded—Appeal against decision after remand—Successor in office of District Judge reversing facts found by predecessor Legality—S. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882.—Where a District Judge found against the existence of an oral will and in favour of an absolute division of properties between co-widows, and remanded the case with instructions to Munsif to try the question, as to the date of the partition, and where, in an appeal preferred against the decree passed in favour of the plaintiff by the Munsif after a trial on remand, the successor in office of the District Judge reversed the findings of his predecessor on the question of the existence of the oral will and that of absolute partition between the widows, held, that the findings of the predecessor in the office of the District Judge were binding on his successor and that the latter was not competent to reverse those findings. LACHUMAMMAL v. GENGAMMAL, 8 M. L.T. 233.

Remand—continued.

(31)—Disposal of on preliminary point—Reversal of decree on appeal, and irregular remand of case under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, —Power of succeeding Judge to re-try preliminary point.—Where, on appeal in a suit dismissed on a preliminary point, the District Judge reverses the lower Court's decision on such point, and remands the case under s. 562 (though irregularly) for the trial of a certain issue, it is not competent for his successor, when the case comes up again in appeal, to re-try and decide such preliminary point. SURAJ DIN v. CHATTAR, 3 A. 755 = A.W.N. 1881, 55. [R., 32 M. 318; Appr., 14 A. 348.]

(32)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 562—Appeal to High Court from order of remand – Competency of High Court to go into correctness of decision on preliminary point.—On appeal from an order of remand by the lower appellate Court, under s. 562 of the Civ. Pro. Code, it is open to the High Court to do more than consider whether the order satisfies the requirements of s. 562, it being competent to the High Court to go into the merits and consider also the correctness of the decision of the lower Court on the preliminary point. In the case of such an appeal, the Code imposes no restriction as to the grounds on which the appeal lies, as is done in s. 629 of the Civ. Pro. Code, with respect to an appeal from an order for the admission of review of judgment, and, in the absence of such restriction, the main object of an appeal from an order of remand must be taken to have been to admit of a determination by the superior Appellate Court as to the correctness of the lower Appellate Court's adjudication on the preliminary point on which the Court of first instance disposed of the case before effect had been given to the order of remand. BHAU BALA v. BAPAJI BAPUJI, 14 B. 14, F.B. [Appr., 16 A. 252 = 14 A.W.N. 64, 20 M. 152; R., 1 P.R. 1903, F.B. = 1 P.L.R. 1903; D., 19 M. 422.]

(33)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 562 and 588 (28).—Orders of remand under s. 562 of the Civ. Pro. Code can only be made upon a preliminary point, when the lower Appellate Court reverses the decision of the first Court upon that preliminary point. S. 588 (28) of the Civ. Pro. Code gives a special right of appeal against orders of remand under s. 562,

Remand—continued.

but the fact that the lower Appellate Court has referred the case under s. 562 in respect of a preliminary point in respect to which it has differed from the first Court, does not create a right of appeal against a decision of the lower Appellate Court in regard to a separate point as to which the Courts are agreed. SAYAD MUHAMMAD ISHAQ v. MOHRU MAL, 185 P. L.R. 1901 = 28 P.R. 1902.

(34)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 562—Remand—Effect of order of remand in limiting powers of the lower Court.—When a decree is set aside on a preliminary point and an order of remand made under s. 562 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the only point which the Court below must accept as decided is the point which the Court of appeal actually decided and on the decision of which the Court of appeal set aside the decree of the Court below. All other points of law or fact are open, and it is competent to the Court below to consider them and to determine them. BENI PRASAD KUNWARI v. SAMPAT, A.W.N. 1897, 108. (24 W.R. 332, Diss.)

(35)—Cases of appeal after remand—Remand for specific purpose—Statement on merits of whole case. — Where the Appellate Court remands a case for a specific inquiry, it will not receive any statement on the part of the zillah Judge as to what he considers on the merits of the whole case. DONZELLE v. RAMNARAIN SINGH, 1 Ind. Jur N.S. 51.

(36)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s 354 —Remand for finding on particular issue—No fresh trial on other issues.—The result of sending down an issue to the first Court in pursuance of s. 354, Act VIII of 1859, was not to remand the suit for re-trial. The matter in dispute between the parties did not thereby become open for the consideration or determination of the first Court. The sole matter, which was placed before the first Court was the matter comprised in the issue which was remitted and in respect of other matters the Court was functus officio. Consequently it was not competent to the first Court to refer to arbitration such of the matters as had been already determined. GOSSAIN DOWLUT GEER v. BISSESSUR GEER, 22 W.R. 207. [F., 7 A. 523.]

(37)—Civ. Pro. Code., s. 566—Reference to arbitration by Lower Court.—Where an Appellate Court remits issues to the Court of first instance under s. 566 of the Civ. Pro. Code;, the latter Court has jurisdiction only to try the issues remitted, and is functus officio in other respects. It cannot, therefore, refer the case to arbitration, which the Appellate Court alone has jurisdiction to do. NAND RAM v FAKIR CHAND, 7 A. 523 = A.W.N. 1885, 139. (22 W.R. 207, R.)

(38)—Remand—Issues—Duty of Court.—The Court to which a suit is remanded for the purpose of trying certain specific issues ought not to allow the parties to litigate upon a question which was never put in issue, for instance, where the remand was for a finding as to the lawfulness or unlawfulness of an alleged act in order to assess damages, the parties are not to be allowed to contest the question whether the alleged act was committed. NORENDRO COOMAR DUTT CHOWDHRY v. MR. G. FRENCH, 3 W.R. 198.

Remand—continued.

(39)—Suit for possession—Defendant holding as lessee from another —Lease found genuine—Remand—Duty of Court.—Plaintiff sued the defendant to recover possession of certain property. The defendant claimed to hold under a lease from one L dated 1827. The lease from L was found to be a bona fide genuine document ; but the case was remanded by the High Court in order that the issue might be decided as to whether the plaintiff or L was the owner of the property in the year 1827 when the lease was given. The lower Court re-opened the question as to the authenticity of the defendant's lease and declared it to be invalid. Held that the Lower Court went beyond the order of remand. The lease having been found to be a genuine and valid document, the only question which remained to be adjudicated and for the decision of which the case was remanded related to the title of the plaintiff in 1827. It was for the plaintiff to satisfy the Court that in that year he was the proprietor of the disputed estate. CHINTA SAHOO v. SHAH FIAZADDOON AHMED, 3 W.R. 132.

(40)—Re-trial—Competency of Court to abandon issue.—Where a case is remanded for re-trial, on a particular issue among others, the Court has no power to allow the plaintiff to abandon the issue, and proceed to try the case upon the other issue raised. SHIB CHUND LAHIRI v. JOYMALA DASI, 7 C.L.R. 103.

(41)—High Court—Remand order not obeyed twice by District Judge—Refusal of High Court to go behind remand order.—Where the District Judge twice neglected to carry out an order of remand to calculate wasilat in a particular manner, the High Court declined, in special appeal, to go behind the remand order or hold that the Judge below had been wrong in carrying out that order. MUSSAMUT RAJEEBUN v. MULLICK AMANUT ALI, 22 W.R. 205.

(42)—Remand by Appellate Court for trial on merits —Competency of lower Court to adjudicate on other issues.—It was contended in this special appeal that, as the High Court had remanded the suit for trial on the merits, the lower Court was wrong in having taken up the point of limitation and dismissed the case. It was however held that the case was remanded solely because the High Court was of opinion that the Collector had jurisdiction, and there was nothing in the order of remand to prevent an adjudication upon any other issue, such as that of limitation, which might arise in the case. RAJAH TEJ KISHEN ROY v. SHIB CHUNDER BOSE, 3 W.R. Act X, 158.

(43)—Remand for trial of issue not raised in the lower Court—Right of parties to offer evidence.—Where the issue that has been directed to be tried by the lower Court on remand to it happens to be one which had not been laid down by the Court that tried the case, the parties are in fairness entitled to have the opportunity of giving evidence upon it, although the order of remand contains no express direction to that effect. KISTO CHURN CHUCKERBUTTY v. MUGGUN CHUCKERBUTTY, 10 W. R. 491.

Remand—continued.

(44)—Decree of first Court confirmed in appeal —Special appeal—Remand—Appeal dismissed for default—Effect—Petition of compromise presented by vakil—Forgery—Evidence.—On a decree passed by the first Court being affirmed in appeal, a special appeal was preferred to the High Court, which remanded the case to the lower Appellate Court for distinct findings on certain points, by an order which did not in any way affect the judgment of the first Court. The appellant having defaulted, the appeal was dismissed. Held that the decree of the first Court remained in force and was untouched and final. A petition of compromise presented by a Vakil in due course of business, and which operated to stay proceedings in execution, cannot be declared a forgery unless evidence is taken previously on that point. BAL KANAI CHOWDHRY v. TOREE MAHTOO, 17 W.R. 402.

(45)—Suit for enhancement remanded to lower Appellate Court—Further evidence—Presumption of uniform payment.—This suit for enhancement of rent was remanded to the lower Appellate Court with the information to the Judge that the defendant (ryot) had produced sufficient evidence to raise the presumption that he had held his tenure at a fixed rate from the Permanent Settlement, and that it was for the Judge to consider the question as to the ability of the plaintiff to rebut such presumption The Judge directed the first Court to hear further evidence on the. It was objected that the Judge had no authority under the circumstances to allow further evidence to be given by the plaintiff, inasmuch as the order of remand by the High Court did not set forth that he was to give the plaintiff any opportunity of giving further evidence. Held considering the manner in which the case had been originally tried, that there was nothing objectionable in the course pursued by the Judge. RAKHAL CHUNDER TEWAREE v. KINOORAM HALDAR, 10 W. R. 442.

(46)—Attachment—Claim petition—Decision based on possession—Declaratory suit—Cause of action—No evidence recorded on issue—S. 354, Civ. Pro. Code, 1859—Duty of Appellate Court —Remand.—Where the defendant's success in a summary proceeding under s. 246 of Act VIII of 1859 was grounded upon the fact that he was in possession of the disputed land as of his own right, that itself casts a slur on the plaintiff's title so as to give him a cause of action to come to Court to have his title declared. An Appellate Court finding no evidence on the record on an issue between the parties must, in remanding the case under s. 354, Act VIII of 1859, direct such evidence, with the first Court's finding, to be sent up for decision. SHUMBOO CHUNDER SURNOKAR v. RUSSICK CHUNDER CHUNG, 15 W.R. 346.

Remand—continued.

(47)--Case remanded for legal judgment--Decision on merits by succeeding Judge—Judge to admit evidence of both parties.—Although, by reason of the previous Judge having left the District when a case was remanded to him, it might be open to the succeeding Judge to enter into the merits and pass a fresh decision, yet, where such a Judge admits fresh evidence on the part of the defendant, he should not refuse to admit that offered by the plaintiff. If he gave the one party such advantage he should treat the other party also in a similar manner. BOOLA SINGH v. BIBEE REAZOONISSA, 6 W.R. Act X, 16.

(48)—Remand for re-consideration of whole evidence except one point—Conclusion on that one point found erroneous—Changing finding.—Where a case is remanded with directions that the whole of the evidence in the case is to be re-considered with the exception of one particular point specified, and the Judge below, on a re-consideration of the whole evidence, comes to the conclusion that his finding on that point was erroneous, he cannot, without a serious miscarriage of justice, allow that finding to remain unchanged. HUREE NATH SHAHA v. ISSUR CHUNDER SHAHA, 24 W.R. 316.

(49)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 566— Order of remand—Duty of lower Court.—A remand order of the High Court in second appeal must be understood with reference to the circumstances of each case. In cases where issues are remanded, simply on the grounds that, although they were matters in issue in the first Court, and the parties had full opportunity of giving evidence, yet the lower appellate Court omitted to record findings, no fresh evidence need be taken. But when the issues were never tried by the Court of the first instance, the Court to which the case is remanded is bound to take such evidence on the new issues as the parties produce, such evidence being legally admissible. JAI v. RAM GHULAM, A.W.N. 1887, 192.

(50)—Practice—Remand—Production of further evidence—Discretion of Court—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 566.—It is not as a matter of right but with the sanction of the Court, that further evidence can be taken upon remand and, under ordinary circumstances, the Court should try the issues on remand, only upon the evidence on the record. RAMNATH v. SYED ALI AZIM, A.W.N. 1888, 81.

(51)—Defendant heard for first time after remand, right of, to produce evidence.—On remand of this case to the Assistant Collector, he allowed the defendant to appear and to be heard in answer to the suit, as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his attendance at the first trial. The High Court was of opinion that even if there had been any irregularity on the part of the Assistant Collector in admitting this defendant to be heard under such circumstances, it was not one which the Courts would be inclined to notice and declined to interfere with the discretion of the Assistant Collector in having allowed the defendant to appear at that stage, and to be heard. If he was to be heard it would follow irresistibly that he was entitled to produce his evidence, and to ask the Court to consider that evidence. When a suit has been dismissed upon a preliminary point, and the decision on that preliminary point has been reversed by the appellate Court, and the case goes down with a view to trial on the merits, it is usual to allow the parties to produce any evidence which is in their hands, and consequently evidence might properly be received even from the defendants who had appeared, and a fortiori from a defendant who had not appeared. KOONJ BEHAREE AWUSTEE v. TARINEE KANT LAHOREE, 8 W.R. 285. [R., 12 W.R. 112.]

Remand—continued.

(52)—Remand—No restriction to evidence on record—New evidence.—Bona fides--Finding on.—Where the order of remand does not restrict the Judge to the evidence on the record, the Judge is at liberty to examine witnesses who are in Court. If the bona fides of the grantor is before the Court, or might have been if defendant's pleader had examined him, no special appeal will lie on the ground of the want of a finding on the point. RAM SUNKUR SEIN v. NILKANT BISWAS, 9 W.R. 392.

(53)—Suit remanded — Examination of parties.—On the remand of a suit to the first Court at the instance of the defendants, for the examination of one of the plaintiffs and for allowing the defendants to have certain unstamped receipts, rejected by the first Court, to be stamped and then put in, held, that it was too late then for the defendants to insist on the attendance and examination of the other plaintiff also. BOLAKEE LOLL v. RADHA SINGH, 1 W.R. 357.

(54)—Attendance of plaintiff as witness—Remand.—On a case being remanded for the attendance, and examination of the plaintiff, the lower Court may dispense, with his attendance, and accept the evidence of his agent, if the plaintiff be ill and unable to attend. RAJA SYUD AHMED REZA v. RAJAH ENAYET HOSSAIN, 1 W.R. 330.

(55)—Order of remand—On a point not arising from the pleadings—Counter allegation by defendant, Necessity to prove.—Where an order of remand was mistakenly issued on an issue which did not really arise between the parties, but the lower appellate Court on remand came to a finding of facts which correctly disposed of the case, held that, although the Judge of the lower appellate Court had not dealt properly with the evidence on the record with reference to the precise issue which was sent down to him, his default in that respect ought not to govern the final result between the plaintiff and the defendant. Where the defendant, instead of merely denying the plaintiff's allegation, raises a counter-allegation in his written statement, he is bound to prove the counter-allegation. MAHOMED HASHIM v. KALLE CHARAN BANERJEE, 13 W.R. 91.

Remand—continued.

(56)—Remand of case for taking special evidence—Parties cannot produce additional evidence.—The lower appellate Court is not at liberty, on receiving an order of remand of a case for the purposes of taking some special evidence, to go anew into the case, allowing both parties to produce any additional evidence that they pleased. RAM JEEWAN LALL v. ARJUN CHOWBEY, 10 W.R. 303.

(57)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 148—Remand—Evidence.—Where an appellate Court remands a case under s. 148, Act VIII of 1859, the lower Court has no power to receive fresh evidence. PADMALOCHAN v. SIRDAR KHAN, 3 B.L.R. App. 91=12 W.R. 23.

(58)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, ss. 354 and 355—Scope of s. 354—Additional vidence, Admission of, by Lower Appellate Court—Record of reasons.—S. 354 is a section applicable only to the Courts hearing regular appeals. On the remand of a case to a lower appellate Court under s. 354, Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, that Court has power to take fresh evidence, provided that it duly records, under s. 355, Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, the reasons for the admission. KALI KRISTO TAGORE v. JUDOO LALL MULLICK, 24 W.R. 20.

(59)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 351, 354, 355—Special appeal—Secondary evidence.—Although the powers conferred by ss. 351, 354 and 355 of Act VIII of 1859 on the Court of regular appeal are not directly given to the Court of special appeal, yet the Court, when it finds the order of a lower appellate Court is wrong, can point out the error and direct the lower appellate Court to make such order as would rectify the error. WUZEER ALI v. KALEECOOMAR CHUCKERBUTTY, 2 B L.R.A.C. 315=11 W.R. 228.

(60)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354—Remand—Effect—Regular appeals.—An order of remand to a lower appellate Court implies a reversal of the first judgment of that Court. S. 354, Civ. Pro.Code, 1859, relating to a trial of additional issues, is only applicable to regular appeals. KEBUL KISHEN MUZOOMDAR v. MUSSAMUT AMBALA, 7 W.R. 326. [R., 24 W.R. 20.]

(61)—Retrial of case on remand—Court's duty to consider—Full Bench ruling brought to its notice.—A Judge who re-tries a case on remand should not refuse to take into consideration a Full Bench ruling of the High Court which is brought to his notice; but should, whether the ruling has been published or not, either ask the pleader to produce the decision relied on, or take other means for satisfying himself as to the ruling so as to apply the correct law to the case. TUMEEZOODDEEN KHONDKAR v. MOHIMA CHUNDER MOOKERJEE, 11 W.R. 227.

(62)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354—Remand—Memorandum of objections.—A party, who has failed to file a memorandum of objections, within the time fixed by the appellate Court, under s. 354 of Act VIII of 1859, cannot afterwards claim, as a matter of right, to urge objections. But he can do so with the leave of the Court, which can also extend the time for filing objections. RATAN SINGH v. WAZIR, 1 A. 165, F.B. [F., 2 A. 908, 6 A. 391=A.W.N. 1884, 129; R., 7 A. 79, F.B.]

(63)—Objection of minority of plaintiff to suit—Taking objection on remand—Permissibility.—Where the defendant in a suit did not take an objection to it on the ground of the plaintiff's minority, while it was pending in appeal, he was precluded from raising it on remand. BENI RAM BHUTT v. RAM LAL DHUKRI, 13 C. 189. [R., 19 M. 127, 1 L.B.R. 38, 11 O.C. 159.]

(64)—Remand for finding — Memo. of objections to finding not put in — Objections taken at hearing—Practice.—Where the issue referred to the lower Court for trial was tried and the Court returned its finding thereon together with the evidence, and no memorandum of objections to the finding was filed within the time fixed by the Court, the Court would not hear the objections to the finding at the final determination of the appeal. ASHRUFOONISSA BEGUM v. MR. STEWART, 9 W.R. 438. [Diss., 1 A. 165; Expl., 15 W.R. 235.]

(65)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354—Objection.—The terms of s. 354, Act VIII of 1859, were merely permissive, and so there was nothing in law to the effect that an objection taken after the time fixed shall not be listened to. MUNRAKHUN LALL v. RAHEEM BUKSH, 4 N.W.P. 72. [Appl., 1 A. 165; R., 5 N.W.P. 114.]

(66)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 354—Revised finding—Necessity for granting sufficient time for filing objections.—Sufficient time must be allowed to the parties under s. 354, Act VIII of 1859, to file their objections to the revised finding of the lower Court. BUKHTOUREE v. MEHREN LALL, 3 Agra 96.

(67)—Civ. Pro Code, 1859, s. 354—Remand.—Where a Judge, in remanding a case, had appointed a time within which the parties should bring forward their objections, to the findings on remand, he cannot alter the decree of the Court of first instance when no objection has been taken within the time by any party. MUSSUMAT NOORUN v. KHODA BUKSH, 1 Agra 50 [Not F., 2 A. 908.]

(68)—Act XIV of 1863, s. 1, cl. 2—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 354—Remand—Obejctions filed after time—Refusal of Court to admit whether illegal.—A suit was remanded by a lower appellate Court, to the Court of first instance, for the trial of certain issues of fact. To the finding of the latter Court, on these issues, no objection was taken by either party, within the time fixed by the appellate Court. But when both parties presented memoranda of objections after the expiration of time, the Court refused to receive them. Held, on special appeal, that the Court was not bound to receive upon the file and to consider, memoranda of objections presented after time. SHEO GHOLAM v. RAM JEAWUN SINGH, 5 N.W.P. 114. [Appr., 1 A. 165, F.B.]

Remand—continued.

(69)—Remand for trial on merits—Limitation—Res judicata—Jurisdiction.—Where the remand order sent back the case to the lower Court for a trial of the plaintiff's case on the merits, that shuts the defendant from putting forward objections regarding limitation or res judicata. SHEO SAHOY TEWAREE v. RAM PERSHAD NARAIN TEWAREE, 24 W.R. 333.

(70)—Review—Remand—Objections—Rights of parties.—Where a review was granted for the purpose of seeing whether a certain chittah ought not to be used and the case was remanded for re-trial, the party cannot raise the objection that the chittah was improperly made use of. MAKHUN KOOER v TINCOWREE DUTT, 14 W.R. 22. [F., 23 W.R. 327.]

(71)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, ss. 226, 227—Remand—Settlement chittahs—Ameen's investigation—Objection.—By a remand order, a lower Court was directed to ascertain from the settlement-chittas the situation of certain lands decreed to a party. The chittas however did not show what were the exact lands settled with the party. Held that the lower appellate Court should have proceeded under ss. 226 and 227 of the Civ. Pro. Code, and have allowed both parties to adduce proofs of their various claim, when the investigation of the Ameen was objected to by a party who claimed the lands as his own. SHADHOO SURAN v. BHUGGOO LALL, 12 W.R. 98.

(72)—Local investigation, directions for, whether could be made on remand in second appeal—Omission to apply for local enquiry in lower Courts.—The general principle is that local inquiries ought not to be directed at the extremely late stage of second appeal, where it does not appear from the record that any request was preferred at any time to the Courts below for a local investigation. Request for similar matters should be first preferred before the Court which can best judge of the necessity for granting them, and, if not so preferred, they should not be entertained by the High Court especially after a remand. JOY CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. TARAKANT CHUCKERBUTTY, 4 W.R. 47.

(73)—Remand order, appeal against—High Court bound by findings of fact of lower appellate Court.—Whether an appeal is made against an order of remand by the Court of first appeal, or whether the propriety of such order is questioned only in a second appeal from the decree which might ultimately be made by that Court, in either case, the High Court cannot question the findings of fact of the lower Court, unless they are contrary to law, if partly of law and partly of fact, or unless there was no evidence to support them. TIKA RAM v SHAMA CHARAN, 20 A. 42=A.W.N. 1897, 195. (15 A. 413, Appr.) [R., 14 P.R. 1904=140 P.L.R. 1904.]

Remand—continued.

(74)—Finding returned by lower appellate Court—Questions of fact—High Court's power to consider questions of fact—Remand.—Held that, where there has been a remand from the High Court to the lower appellate Court, the High Court, in considering the finding returned by the lower appellate Court, has no power to go into questions of fact. RAM DULARE v. MISRI LAL, 13 O.C. 352=8 Ind. Cas. 878. (24 C. 98, R.)

(75)—Jurisdiction — Incorrect valuation of suit—Appeal—Remand — Judgment after remand whether operative.—The plaintiff had estimated his suit at less than Rs. 5,000 but the items, if added up correctly, would have amounted to more than Rs. 5,000. The defendant did not contest the correctness of the addition and appealed to the Judge who remanded the case to the Principal Sudder Ameen, from whose decision the present appeal was made. Held that the plaintiff had a right to treat the decision of the Principal Sudder Ameen on the remand as a valid judgment and that the judgment of the Judge however erroneous was not a nullity, but operative until set aside either by him or a Court of Appeal. KALLY CHURN ROY v. JEETOO SOONDUREE DOSSEE, 5 W.R. 287.

(76)—Representative of deceased appellant—Jurisdiction of Court to which a case has been remanded to bring on record — Code of Civil Procedure, ss. 365 and 566—Jurisdiction—Remand.—Held, that a Court to which a case has been remanded under s. 566, Civ. Pro. Code, has jurisdiction to act under s. 365 of the Code and to do any Act which may be necessary to carry out the order of remand. SALABAT SINGH v. RAM KISHAN, 7 O.C. 17.

(77)—Remand of suit—Confirmation of decision of first Court as to part of claim.—Held that the lower appellate Court ought not to have affirmed the first Court's decision regarding one part of the claim when it had remanded the substantial part of the dispute between the parties for that trial on the merits which the first Court had refused. MADHUB CHUNDER DEY v. RAM DYAL GUHO, 8 W. R. 303.

(78)—Practice — Appeal —Cross appeals—Decree reversed and cause remanded on appeal first heard — Cross-appeal not to be heard.—The plaintiff and the defendant preferred separate appeals from the same decree. On the appeal first heard, the decree was reversed and the cause remanded under consideration s. 562 of the Civ. Pro. Code. 1882 (=O. XII, r. 23). Held that the other appeal cannot be heard as the decree from which it was brought had disapproved. JAWAHAR LAL v. MOHAN LAL, A.W.N. 1890, 68.

(79)—Appeal—All grounds urged at hearing—Some grounds not decided—Procedure.— If a ground of appeal stated in the written memorandum of appeal is not alluded to when the appeal comes on for hearing, it is the fault of the parties, and not of the Judge, if no decision is passed upon it. But if the Judge, having had his attention called to it, failed to decide the point, the proper course to pursue is to ask him to review his judgment, and add to it the decision which he has omitted. YUSOOF ALI CHOWDRY v. MUSSAMUT FYZOONISSA KHATOON CHOWDHRAIN, 15 W.R. 296.

Remand—continued.

(80)—Suit for share in ancestral property—Allegation of dispossession—Defendant's denial of plaintiff's possession—Limitation—Act XIV of 1859, s. 1, cl. 13—Remand, Nature of order of.—In this suit for a share of joint ancestral property, plaintiff based her claim on the right of inheritance from her deceased father and alleged that she had been in quiet possession of the same, but was since ejected by the defendants. Defendants denied plaintiff's possession at any period and the Court of first instance dismissed the claim as barred by limitation on the ground that the plaintiff had never had possession since her father's death. The lower appellate Court, however, held that until the defendants proved the will under which they alleged themselves to hold the property, no question of limitation adverse to the plaintiff could be entertained. The High Court held that the lower appellate Court was wrong in its decision. The first Court having tried the point whether the plaintiff had ever had possession of the property and decided against her, before going any farther, the lower appellate Court should have tried the same issue and decided it with reference to the provisions of cl. 13, s. 1, Act XIV of 1859, which provides a limitation of 12 years. Also, as there was nowhere in the pleadings any allegation that the family was separate, or that the property in dispute was not ancestral, if the plaintiff had been able to prove possession, either personal or constructive, any time within 12 years of the institution of her suit, the question of the genuineness or otherwise of the Will propounded by the defendant could not have arisen. In such a case, if the lower appellate Court remands the case for trial on an issue, different from that of limitation, the order of remand will not be an interlocutory order, but a judgment. GOPAL CHUNDER CHATTERJEE v. RAJCOOMARI DEBIA, 4 W.R. 101.

(81)—Suit for declaration of right—Remand for enquiry—Act VIII of 1859, s. 15.—The High Court remanded a suit for declaration of right and confirmation of possession to the lower appellate Court, for inquiry into the question whether the act complained of was so recent and of such a nature as, having regard to the terms of s. 15 of Act VIII of 1859, to entitle the plaintiff to a declaratory decree. Held that the order of remand did not preclude the lower appellate Court from entering into the question of plaintiff's title and possession. BYKUNT CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. PUREE JAN KHATOON, 11 W.R. 77.

(82)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Possession—Title—Remand.—The question of bona fide possession is only one part of s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859. But that proof of bona fide possession will enable the party making the allegation to claim to have his right investigated. Therefore when a cause is remanded to be determined with reference to s. 230, the object is that after seeing whether the objector could prove that he was bona fide in possession, the Court should determine, between the decree-holder and the party in possession, which of them had a better right to hold the property in dispute. WOOMESH CHUNDER ROY v. BEHAREE LALL PALLIT, 18 W.R. 395.

(83)—Appellate Court reversing first Court's judgment, duty of, to give reasons for the reversal on remand by High Court for the purpose.—The Judge of the lower appellate Court to whom the High Court had remanded the case for the purpose of stating reasons for reversing the judgment of the Court of first instance, was held to be bound to make some endeavour to comply with the order of remand and justify his original decision with good and substantial reasons. In such a case, there is no warrant to suppose that the case has been sent back intending that the Judge should merely confirm the judgment. MOOLCHAND SHAH v. BABOO THAKOOR DOSS DUTT, 4 W.R. 33.

(84)—Grounds for remand—Defect in plaint—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 354.—Where there is a defect in the allegations in a plaint and the subject-matter of the absent allegation has not been tried in the Court below, the proper course is for the Judge to frame an issue, and refer it to the lower Court for trial under Act VIII of 1859, s. 354. KASSEENAUTH MOOR v. BEBEE REEJOONISSA, Marsh 198 =1 Hay 467.

(85)—Grounds for remand—Omission to consider evidence—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 372.—When important evidence has not been carefully examined by the Judge in the lower Court, the appellate Court will, on special appeal, remand the suit under s. 372 of Act VIII of 1859. DEGUMBAR DOSSEE v. KISSEN DHUR NUNDY, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 35.

(86)—Appellate Court—Powers of remanding case.—An appellate Court can remand a case on account of error, defect, or irregularity of procedure in passing a decree or order provided the error, defect or irregularity be such as to affect the merits of the case or the jurisdiction of the Court. But when a suit has been regularly heard and determined, and on appeal the decree is reversed, the appellate Court has the discretionary power to remand only if the decree should have been upon a preliminary point and have had the effect of excluding the consideration of evidence essential to the rights of the parties. In no other case can a remand be ordered because of a wrong decision as to the right claimed in the suit after a hearing in the regular course. MUNIAPPAH NAIDU v. M. IYASAMY MUDALY, 5 M.H.C. 313.

(87)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 562, 566—Remand—Duties of Court adding parties.—The condition necessary to a remand under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, is the omission to determine the merits. When an Appellate Court finds that certain persons, who had not been impleaded in the Court of first instance, should be made parties, the proper course is to join the persons whom it finds necessary as parties to the suit, to alter or amend the issues already framed, or frame fresh issues so as to raise all questions properly arising in the suit as it stands after the addition of the said persons as parties, and refer them for trial to the Court of first instance under s. 566, Civ. Pro. Code. KELU MULA CHERI NAYAR v. CHENDU, 19 M. 157. [F., 1 Bom. L.R. 29 ; R., 12 C.P.L. R. 119, 23 A. 167]

Remand—continued.

(88)—Disposal on an issue not strictly preliminary — Order of remand—Legality.—The power of an Appellate Court to remand cases to the first Court for disposal is not confined to cases in which the first Court has disposed of a suit on a preliminary point properly so called. PILLAMKUTTIL NALLAPURAKKAL RAMAN'S SON KUPPAALAN v. KUNJUVALLI. 9 M.L.T. 373=9 Ind. Cas. 790. (16 M. 207, Cons.)

(89)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 372 —Remand, Justification for.—Case where it was ruled that before a remand is ordered, it must be proved that some error in law has been committed, or that the case comes in some other way within the terms of s. 372, Act VIII of 1859. HURISH CHUNDER SHAHA v. HURISH CHUNDER PAUL, 25 W.R. 325 ; on appeal from HURISH CHUNDER SHAHA v HURISH CHUNDER PAUL, 25 W.R. 325, Note.

(90)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 562—Remand.—Section 562 of the Code of Civil Procedure authorises a remand only where the entire suit and not merely a portion of it has been disposed of by the Court below on a preliminary point. KAMALUDDIN v. ATA HUSAIN, A.W. N. 1892, 11.

(91)—No settlement of issues by first Court —Remand —Where no issues were settled, the High Court must remand the case for re-trial. The lower Court ought not to have gone into evidence without having first settled and recorded the points or issues in the suit, in conformity with the provisions of Act VIII of 1859. JOGESHUR RAE v. DOOLUN RAE, 2 N.W.P. 183.

(92)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, ss. 351, 354—Remand.—A remand is allowable only under the circumstances contemplated in s. 351, Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859). If the Judge requires any further evidence and cannot decide the case himself as it stands, he should call for such evidence under s. 354 retaining the case on his own file. HURREENARAIN GOSSAIN v. SHUMBOONATH MUNDUL, 1 W.R. 6.

(93) - Of a case—Power of Appellate Court—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 562.—A case can be remanded by an Appellate Court only under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code. MUDUN MOHUN PODDAR v. BHOGGOMANTO PODDAR, 8 C. 923. [F., 10 B. 398.]

Remand—continued.

(94)—Order in execution — Insufficient evidence of decree having been kept alive—Appellate Court not to summarily reverse order—Act II of 1855, s. 4, right of Court under, to refer to entries made by Nazir.—Where the first Appellate Judge is of opinion that the Munsiff has improperly allowed the decree to be executed on insufficient evidence, the Judge observing that the decree-holder had probably been misled by the mistake of the Court below, he ought to remit the case in order that the decree-holder might give the necessary proof, and should not summarily reverse the order barring the plaintiff from all remedy upon his decree. Under s. 4, of Act II of 1855, the Court is entitled to look into the books kept under its orders by its own officer, the Nazir, and to refer to any entries made in such book for the purpose of finding whether any warrant had been issued in accordance with the application admitted to have been made. NILKANT CHUCKERBUTTY v. SHEO NARAIN KOONWAR, 8 W.R. 276.

(95)— S. 4, Act X of 1859, Presumption under—Rebutting of presumption—Remand.—An appellate Court may remand a case to allow a plaintiff the opportunity of rebutting the presumption which arises under Act X of 1859, s. 4. BABOO BENI RAM v. IAAFA CHAND CHUTER, W.R. 1864, Act X, 124.

(96)—Issue—Remand—Irregularity— Mahomedan married woman—Lease—Jus mariti—Co-sharers.—Where a Judge of the lower Court referred to an original sanad under which a Muhammadan woman and her tenants in common claimed, but omitted to record it or any copy of it among the exhibits in the case, the High Court held it to be a great irregularity which left them quite in the dark as to the sanad and its contents and remanded the case for a fresh decision on the merits. If a Muhammadan married woman and her co-sharers have an absolute estate of inheritance in certain lands she can jointly with them make a valid lease, binding on her and their heirs. A Muhammadan does not on marriage, take any estate, jure mariti, in the property of his wife. She may either by gift or sale dispose of her property without her husband's consent. NICHHABHAI PRAGJI v. ISSE KHAN, 2 B.H.C. 297.

(97)—Remand—Second trial — Evidence — Plaintiffs in 1858 sued to recover possession of some miras land, which they alleged they had let to the defendants to cultivate. The Munsiff decided in favour of the plaintiffs. Against that decision an appeal was made, and the Appellate Court dismissed the suit as not being laid at a proper amount, leaving the plaintiffs free to file a fresh suit at a proper valuation. The present suit was a fresh action instituted according to that decision, and the Munsiff this time also awarded in favour of the plaintiffs. The Munsiff did not take over again the evidence given on the former trial, but recorded as an exhibit his judgment, and the grounds of it, and the exhibits on which he passed it.

Remand—continued.

Against this decree an appeal was made to the District Judge who reversed the Munsiff's decree principally on the ground that he was not satisfied with the evidence recorded by the Munsiff at the last trial, and in the result dismissed the plaintiff's suit with costs. On appeal to the High Court, held that under the peculiar circumstances of this case, the District Judge, not being satisfied with the evidence recorded by the Munsiff at the present trial should have allowed the plaintiffs the opportunity of putting in afresh the evidence which was recorded in the former suit on the same subject between the parties; and in the result the decree of the District Judge was reversed and the case remanded to him in order that he may allow the evidence abovementioned to be recorded and pass a fresh decision on the merits. JOTI NIMBAJI v. SOMAJI BAPUJI, 1 B H.C. 166.

(98)—Remand to District Court to pass decree —Mistake of District Judge—Further remand. — The District Judge having reversed the Munsiff's decree, failed to pass a decree in favour of the successful appellant, which his finding showed he intended to do. The High Court thereupon remanded the case to the District Judge for passing a decree. The District Judge who heard the case on remand, went into the merits and decided the case contrary to the view taken by his predecessor, and recorded judgment against the successful appellant. The High Court again reversed this decree, remanded the case back to the District Judge, to pass judgment in favour of the successful appellant, and in accordance with the judgment of the District Judge who pronounced the first appellate judgment reversing that of the Munsif. BABAJI v. KASIMBHAI, 3 B.H.C. A.C. 60. [R., 2 L.B.R. 280.]

(99)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, ss. 351, 354 — Appeal — No sufficient evidence before Appellate Court—Remand.—Where there was no sufficient evidence before the Appellate Court for the disposal of an issue which was material to the determination of the suit, the proper course to be followed was to remit the case under s. 354 and not under s. 351 of the Code. RAM PERSHAD v. MUSST. KISHNA, 3 Agra 146.

(100)—Evidence — Application to send for record of former suit—Remand.—Where the lower Court, though requested to send for the records of a former suit the decree in which afforded important evidence in support of plaintiff's case, did not do so, the case was remanded with a view to the omission being supplied. RAM RUNJUN CHUCKERBUTTY v. GOPEE BULLUB CHUCKERBUTTY, 18 W.R. 127.

(101)— Issue — Positive finding—Remand—Merits.—The issue in a case was whether the sale to plaintiff was or was not collusive and fraudulent. The District Judge not having come to any positive finding on the above issue, the High Court on appeal reversed his decree, and remanded the suit for retrial on the merits. RAMDAS SAKHARLAL v. GANGADHAR R. DONGRE, 2 B.H C. 178.

(102)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 348—Respondent's objection relating to jurisdiction not noticed by lower Court—Remand.—Defendant, the present special appellant pleaded that his petition filed under s. 348 of Act VIII of 1859, objecting before the lower Appellate Court, that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction, was not noticed by that Court, and that, as the above was a point of law, it should be decided on the special appeal. The High Court, however, was of opinion that though, if the plea in law had not been taken before any of the lower Courts, the contention might hold good, yet as it had been formally taken in cross appeal i.e., under s. 348, in writing, before the lower appellate Court, and the first Court had decided on it, the case must be remanded to the lower Appellate Court, for decision on the point. JOY KISHEN MOOKERJEE v. HUREEHUR MOOKERJEE, 6 W.R. 289.

(103)—Remand to first appellate Court for giving reasons for its judgment—Absence of Judge—Decision by successor de novo void as ultra vires—Remand for re-trial by first Court. —When the order of remand passed by the High Court reached the Zillah Court, the Judge of that Court had left India and his successor, without any order from the High Court, proceeded to decide the case de novo. He went into the merits and decided in favour of the defendant. This decision was quashed by the High Court on the ground that all the proceedings of the succeeding Judge and the decision by him de novo were beyond jurisdiction and consequently null and void. Also, the judgment by the original Judge appeared to have been based on certain documents which the Court of first instance had not at all seen, and the High Court therefore remanded the case to that Court directing that it should consider the said documents and thereupon re-decide the case de novo. LALLA BHOYRO LAL v. LALLA MOKOOND LAL, 2 W.R. 275. [F., 5 W.R. 124.]

(104)—Special appeal—Misconstruction of evidence—Remand.—Where the main ground which the Judge of the lower appellate Court takes for suspecting the plaintiff's case and giving credence in preference to the evidence for the defendants, has no existence, and the High Court in special appeal is not satisfied that his estimate of the defendants' evidence is a proper one, the case ought to be remanded to him for a re-consideration of the evidence. BIBEE AMEERUN v. SAIKH CHERAG ALI, 24 W.R. 343. [R., 7 C. 263=8 C.L.R. 449; Relied on, 17 C.W.N. 37.]

(105)—Suit for share of partitioned ancestral property—Partition not proved—Sale alleged by defendants not proved—Ex parte decree—Re-trial—Remand—Reservice of summons.—In a suit for possession of land claimed by the plaintiff as his father's share of a partitioned ancestral estate, the plea was that the defendants first leased it and subsequently purchased it from the plaintiff and his co-sharers. The Munsif found that the property had not been allotted to the plaintiff exclusively, that there had been no partition and finding all issues against the plaintiff and in favour of the defendants dismissed the suit. As regards defendants Nos. 2 and 3, the Munsif found as a fact that summons was not proved to have been served upon them. In appeal, the District Court came to two findings of fact to the effect that the execution of the kobala by the plaintiff on which the defendants relied had not been proved and that the defendants' allegation that they held this land before their purchase as tenants also had not been made out and upon them gave the plaintiff a decree. Held that the District Court was incompetent to decree the plaintiff's claim without a finding in his favour that the land in dispute by a partition between the several co-sharers fell to the share of the plaintiff's father and in the face of the finding of the first Court that no summons was served upon them. The case was accordingly remanded to the District Court for considering whether upon the evidence it could come to the conclusion that summons was actually served upon the two defendants, giving it entire discretion, if it found that summons was not served upon them, either to dismiss the suit upon that ground or to remand it to the Court of first instance, giving the plaintiff an opportunity of reserving the summons, in which case the whole case should be tried de novo in the presence of the parties. NOBO KRISTO DEY v. CHUNDER SIKHUR SIRCAR, 25 W.R. 495.

Remand—continued.

(106)—Special appeal—Remand—Jurisdiction of High Court—Procedure.—The High Court being debarred in special appeal, from entering into the merits of a case in which the lower Courts mistook the only question of fact to be tried, remanded the case for a proper finding. LALLA RAM LALL v. MOHURPUT ROY, 21 W.R. 52.

(107 & 108)—Issues—Evidence re, not examined by lower appellate Court—Special appeal—Remand—Several defendants--Decision of first Court not proceeding on common ground—Appeal by one defendant—Reversal of whole decree—Legality.—Where, in the judgment of a lower appellate Court, the real question to be determined in the case is not stated, nor was the evidence adduced by plaintiff examined with reference to the issues laid down by the Court of first instance, which were the right issues in the case, held, that the case should be remanded for trial de novo. A lower appellate Court, on an appeal by one of the defendants in a suit, is not competent to reverse the whole of a decree passed against several defendants by the first Court, the decision not having proceeded on a ground common to all the defendants. CHUNDER MONEE DOSSEE v. MODHOO DEY, 23 W.R. 166.

(109)—Special appeal—Evidence—Remand.—Where a first Court, to which a lower appellate Court remanded a suit for trial of certain issues, returned the case to the latter Court without recording its finding on some of them, and the lower appellate Court gave judgment without any decision on the evidence, held, on special appeal to the High Court, that the High Court could not go into the evidence and that the case should be remanded to the lower appellate Court for trial of the issues on which there were no findings by the first Court, after taking the necessary evidence. SUTTOBHAMA BIBEE v. HURRUCK CHAND GOLECHA, 23 W.R. 322.

(110) — Appeal—Remand—Misapprehension or omission in treating evidence—Power of High Court in special appeal.—Where the High Court was satisfied that there had been such misapprehension of the state of evidence between the parties and such omission to consider the testimony of the witnesses on the record, as had rendered the trial of the case in the lower Court imperfect and incomplete, it reversed the decree of the lower Court and remanded the suit for re trial. KOOLDEEP NARAIN SINGH v. RUMMON SINGH, 22 W.R. 278.

(111)—Decision of case—No opportunity given to plaintiff to meet defence—Remand.—Where a case is decided against the plaintiff without giving him a fair opportunity to know the line of defence he had to meet, held that it is justifiable to remand the case for a fresh trial. SHIB PERSHAD PATTUCK v. NUBO KISHEN MOOKERJEE, 17 W.R. 446.

(112)—Special appeal—Remand—Insufficient inquiry.—The High Court on special appeal set aside the judgment of the lower appellate Court and remanded the case for a complete enquiry as the previous hearing of the suit before the lower Court was inadequate. SHAGUR CHUNDER SHAHA v. SREEMUTY MOHAMAYA, 25 W.R. 25.

(113)—Special appeal—Suit for redemption—Mistake of appellate Court as to identity of land mortgaged—Material issues not decided—Remand.—In a suit for redemption, the plaintiff alleged that he became the purchaser of the land in question at an auction sale, and subsequently mortgaged it to the defendants, who denied the mortgage. The Munsif passed a decree for redemption. This decision was reversed by the Judge on appeal, he being under a mistake as to what was necessary to be proved with reference to the dimensions of the land. As the mistake of the Judge was such a one as materially affected his finding, and as other important questions of fact were left undecided, the High Court framed issues in the case and remanded the suit for a decree to be passed upon the findings on those issues. AJURAM MANIRAM v. KUSAJI, 4 B.H.C.A. C. 43.

(114)—Special appeal—Remand—Issue.—In a case where the first issue was whether the whole or any of the lands for the undivided share of which the plaintiff sued, had been partitioned by metes and bounds, the Court failed to find distinctly whether a partition was proved, and if so its character, and how far effect was given to it by possession of the lands after partition. The High Court, on special appeal, remanded the case for retrial as to that issue in the manner stated above. GOLUCK CHUNDER DUTT v. ANUNT KISHORE GOSSAIN. 25 W.R. 38.

Remand —continued.

(115)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), ss. 352, 354—Remand of case to lower Court for decision.—Per Jackson, J., (Markby, J., dissenting), S. 352, Act VIII of 1859, expressly forbids a lower appellate Court from remanding a case to the Court of first instance for a second decision upon any of the issues. If, in the opinion of the lower appellate Court, further evidence is necessary for the decision of the case, such evidence may be taken in that Court or in the Court of first instance, but the decision based upon that evidence and the evidence already given in the case should be given by the appellate Court and not by the Court of first instance. Per Markby, J.—If a Judge of the lower appellate Court be of opinion that an issue has not been satisfactorily tried by the Court of first instance, and that the evidence on the record is not sufficient, in his opinion, to determine it, he has power under s. 354, Civ. Pro. Code, to send back the case to the first Court for trial upon that issue. UMBIKA CHURN MUNDLE v. RAMDHUN MOHURUR, 11 W.R. 35. (10 W.R 77, R.; 8 W.R. 184, F.B., F.)

(116)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 351, 352—Failure of first Court to try issue as directed—Second remand.—It was one of the grounds of appeal in this case "that the Judge below was not justified in remanding the case several times to the lower Court except under the provisions laid down in ss. 351 and 352 of Act VIII of 1859." But the High Court was of opinion that, from the terms of the order and the ground therein disclosed, it was clear that it was made with strict propriety and in conformity with the provisions of the above sections, viz., for the trial of an issue the first Court was directed to try but did not. RAM CHAND MOOKERJEE v. KAMEENEE DABEA, 10 W.R. 236.

(117)—Additional evidence received by appellate Court—Record of special reasons—Preliminary point—Retrial—Act VIII of 1859, s. 351—Remand.—It is not competent to an appellate Court to receive and take into consideration evidence which was not before the Court of first instance, without special reasons for so doing. And if a special reason does exist such as to induce the Court to take additional evidence, it is bound by the provisions of Act VIII of 1859 to record that reason. It is only when the lower Court has so disposed of a preliminary point as to exclude evidence which appears to the appellate Court essential to the rights of the parties, that the appellate Court has authority to send the case for re-trial under the provisions of s. 351 of Act VIII of 1859. JOOG MAYA DEBIA v. RAM CHUNDER CHATTERJEE, 10 W.R. 378. [Expl., 12 W.R. 223; R., 13 W.R. 303, 14 W.R. 236, 11 C. 139, 18 M. 94, 1 O.C. 201.]

Remand —continued.

(118)—Hindu law—Pleadings.—Suit by A one of the heirs of H, against B, to recover the whole of H's real and personal estate in B's possession as the alleged adopted son of H. There were other persons entitled with A, to share in the succession to H's estate, who were not made parties to the suit. The Sudder Court at Agra held, that B had failed to establish his title as adopted son of H, but declared that A was entitled to succeed, as one of the heirs of H, to a share of the estate and decreed him the whole estate as sought by the plaint. Such decree, on appeal, so far as it declared that B had failed to establish his title as adopted son of H confirmed; but as the decree was manifestly wrong in decreeing to A the entire estate of H, and there were no materials to enable the Judicial Committee to vary the decree, so as to limit it to the share of the estate to which A had established his right by inheritance, the decree was reversed, and the case remitted to India for inquiries as to the amount of his share. CHOWDHRY PADAN SINGH v. KOER UDAYA SINGH, 2 B.L.R.P.C. 101 = 12 W.R.P.C. 1 = 12 M.I.A. 350 = 2 Suther. 219 = 2 Sar. 447. [D., 30 A. 197 = 5 A.L.J. 200 = A.W.N. 1908, 79.]

(119)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354—Remand—Reversal of decision on ground that essential issues were left undetermined.—Where the lower appellate Court being of opinion that the Munsiff had, on the original trial, omitted to try certain issues, and determine certain questions of fact essential to the right determination of the suit upon the merits, reverses the decree of the Munsiff, the order of the lower appellate Court must be treated as an order sending the case back under s. 354, Act VIII of 1859, for trial of the issues indicated by it in its judgment. BONCHAREE GHOSE v. AINODDEN BISWAS, 24 W.R. 137. [R., 17 C.W.N. 462 = 15 Ind. Cas. 39.]

(120)—Rent suit—Case not duly considered by Lower Appellate Court—Special appeal—Remand.—Where, in a suit for rent, the lower appellate Court said that a certain Kubooleut had not been filed, and from that fact drew an inference against the truth of the plaintiff's case and it was found in special appeal that the kubooleut was on record, the case was remanded to the lower appellate Court in order that it might consider the whole case with the said kubooleut. MOHUNT HUR GOBIND DOSS v. JOYA ROY, 24 W.R. 146.

(121)—Evidence — Admission of secondary evidence—Objection in special appeal — Evidence Act, s. 63—Secondary evidence—Witnesses not properly questioned —Remand.—An objection to the admission of secondary evidence, if not raised at the time it is admitted, cannot be allowed to be raised in special appeal. Where the plaintiff attempted to prove the contents of certain documents by oral evidence, but the evidence fell short of what is required under s. 63 of the Evidence Act, only because the witnesses were not properly questioned, it would be unjust to visit the plaintiff with the penalty of the dismissal of his claim, simply on account of the inefficiency of the legal adviser who conducted his case. Under the circumstances, the High Court remanded the case for a fresh trial. LOCHUN SINGH v. HET NARAIN SINGH, 24 W.R. 232.

Remand—continued.

(122) - Misconception of evidence.—Where, in a suit for a declaration of title and confirmation of possession, the lower Appellate Court stated in its judgment that not a single witness had been brought forward on behalf of the defendant to assert possession, but it was found that two witnesses at least had been examined who stated distinctly that they did hold the land from the defendant and cultivate it, the misconception of evidence was considered a sufficient reason for a remand. PRAN BANDHU CHATTERJEE v. MADHU SUDAN PATRA, 13 B.L.R. App. 12=21 W.R. 134.

(123)—Power to remand— Suit decided on what cannot strictly be called a preliminary point.—There are cases in which an order of remand may be made even where the disposal has not gone on a point, which can strictly be called a preliminary point. (1911, M.W.N. 199, Appr.) Where the Munsif looked at some receipt not put in evidence and decided there was a settlement, and this course does not appear to have been adopted with the consent of parties, and the District Judge, on looking into the same receipt, came to the conclusion that it was only a partial settlement and remanded the case for disposal, held that the remand was proper. VEMULA JAMBALAYA v. ISKALA RAJAMMA, M W.N. 1912, 1000=15 Ind. Cas. 859.

(124)—Suit against heirs—Transfer for consideration.— R sued for arrears of rent from K, and subsequently K's sons, S.H, and M.S. K's son, died, leaving a widow A and her daughters. Five suits were filed, two by the sons of K, to set aside some decrees obtained by R, three by R, to establish his claim. Judgment was ultimately given against the representatives of K, on the ground that R. had established his claim, and that the sons of K had by their dealings with his assets made themselves personally liable for his debts. In execution of this decree, R attached certain property, part of K's estate; to this A, and those claiming under her, objected, contending that her husband, S, had acquired it from his brothers, and that he subsequently conveyed it to her in consideration of Rupees 49,000 and a diamond ring and the transfer of a m. kurraree tenure to his brothers and that she was still in undisturbed possession of such parts of it as she had not sold. The High Court were of opinion that there was sufficient consideration moving from A to support the transfer to her of K's estate. Held, that their Lordships would have been disposed to concur in this view if they had been satisfied that the defence to the suit, which it involved, had been clearly pleaded and regularly tried, but that it was extremely doubtful whether R had the means of meeting such a case; and that, under these circumstances, R should have the option of having the case, as between him and A, remanded. MAHARANEE INDERJEET KOONWUR v. MUSSAMUT AMEEROONISSA BEGUM, 8 M.J. 21.

Remand—continued.

(125)—Special appeal—Refusal of first Court to summon witness—Interference by High Court.—Where, before the case of a party was closed, an application was made by him for the issue of summons to witnesses, and the first Court refused to issue the summons, the High Court in special appeal remanded the suit, holding that the party should have been given an opportunity to produce his witnesses in time, when it appeared that he was really bona fide desirous of producing those witnesses. BROJO NATH MOOKHOPADHYA v. PROTAB CHUNDER THAKOOR, 22 W.R. 296.

(126)—Act VIII of 1859, s 230—Suit found by lower appellate Court to fall under s. 230—Court not to order summary dismissal of suit but to remand to first Court.—Where an application, amounting substantially to a case under s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859, has been received by the Court and numbered as a suit under that section, it is the duty of the Court to try it according to the section; so, where that Court has dismissed the case on a point not properly arising under that section, the suit should be remanded to it for regular trial and decision under that section. SABIR KHAN v. RAM LUKHEE CHOWDHRAIN, 10 W.R. 438.

(127) — Procedure — Evidence — Refusal of Court to examine defendants' witnesses.— A Munsif at the close of the plaintiff's case intimated to the defendants' pleader that he was going to dismiss the suit and that the defendants need not examine any witnesses, and the pleader accordingly, although witnesses had been summoned for the defendants and were present, refrained from examining them. The appellate Court, however, took a different view of the plaintiff's evidence, and decreed the claim, more particularly with regard to the fact that the defendants had not produced any evidence. Held, that, under the circumstances, the suit ought to be remanded to the lower appellate Court for re-trial and the defendants given an opportunity to produce their evidence. KALYANI PRASAD v. BISHNATH, A W.N. 1905, 266.

(128)—Admission of inadmissible evidence.—When the judgment and decree of the lower Appellate Court are vitiated by the admission of inadmissible evidence, they must be set aside and the case sent back to that Court, in order that it may dispose of the appeal before it, after excluding the improper evidence from its consideration. RAMANI PERSHAD NARAIN SINGH v. MAHANTH ADIYA GOSSAIN, 31 C. 380. (7 C. 293, Appr.)

(129)— Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 59—Proof of mortgage bond— Remand.—Where an objection was taken at a late stage that a mortgage-bond was not attested, as the law required, by two witnesses, the suit, instead of being dismissed, was remanded to the lower Court to give the plaintiff an opportunity of adducing evidence to show that at least two witnesses whose names appeared on the face of the document were attesting witnesses. DINAMOYEE DEBI v. BON BEHARI KAPUR, 7 C.W. N. 160.

Remand—continued.

(130)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 354—Evidence on fresh issue. Remand for—Fresh evidence on issue fully determined.—In a case in which the first Court has gone into the merits after taking evidence fully, the apoellate Court has power under Act VIII of 1859, s. 354 to remand it for evidence on a fresh issue, but not for fresh evidence on an issue fully determined or for re-trial generally GOLACK CHUNDER SEN v. PURESH MAHOMED, 25 W R. 284.

(131)—Suit for rent—Jurisdiction—Act VIII (B C) of 1869.—A suit for rent in kind is cognizable under Act VIII of 1869 (B C.). MULLICK AMANUT ALI v. UKLOO PASEE, 25 W.R. 140.

(132)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s 354—Remand to lower Appellate Court.—Where the decision of a Subordinate Judge in appeal, by reason of its being incapable of execution, is not a proper one, it is competent to the District Court, under s. 354, Act VIII of 1859, to send the case back, after fixing an issue for a finding. SHAIKH UMER ALI v. SHAIKH RUMZAN ALI, 23 W.R 347.

(133)—Practice—Destruction of lower Court's record pending appeal—Remand for trial as fresh suit.—Where in a case, pending appeal, the lower Court's record was entirely destroyed, but the appellate Court decided after re-examining witnesses, without the pleadings or evidence as originally given, the High Court on second appeal set aside the proceedings of the lower appellate Court and remanded the case to the first Court to re-try as a fresh suit. GHUALMAN v. KARIMA, A.W.N. 1888, 117.

(134)—Remand by appellate Court—Appellant dead at time of remand—Trial of issues by first Court without substituting legal representatives—Procedure of appellate Court—Fresh remand—Practice.—Where, at the time of remand by an appellate Court of a certain suit to a Court of first instance for trial of certain issues, the appellant was dead, and the latter Court, without substituting the legal representatives of the deceased appellant, proceeds to try the issues and submits its findings to the appellate Court, the proper course for the latter Court to take is to further remand the case to the first Court for determination of the issues already settled after bringing all the necessary parties before it for any hearing it may think proper. MOHAN DAS v. RADHA BALLABH, A.W.N. 1885, 164.

(135)—Act II of 1901, s. 202—Order under section not passed—Returning case with instructions—If a Civil Appellate Court finds, in appeal, that the Court of original jurisdiction ought to have passed an order under s. 202 of

Remand—continued.

Act II of 1901, it ought, instead of simply remanding the suit, to send the case back with instructions to the Court of first instance to pass the order which it ought to have passed in the first instance. MARE v. GAURI SAHA, A.W N. 1905, 46.

(136)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 565, 566, 587—Second appeal—Determination of questions of fact—Remand.—It was not intended that the High Court, sitting as a Court of second appeal should determine questions of fact on the evidence. The only grounds, on which second appeals are cognisable, are those mentioned in s. 584, which relate to errors of law, or usage having the force of law or substantial error or defect in procedure which may possibly have produced error or defect in the decision of the case on the merits. When an appeal has been admitted on those grounds, the whole case cannot be opened so as to enable the High Court to deal with it under s. 565. If the lower appellate Court has omitted to frame or try any issue or to determine any essential question of fact, the proper course for the High Court is to remit the issues for trial to that Court. GIRDHARI LAL v. W. CRAWFORD, 9 A. 147 = A.W.N. 1886, 325. (7 A. 765, 8 A. 172, Overruled.)

(137)—Defective investigation by lower Court—Remand.—In this suit for custody of a wife, a divorce was set up by the wife as having been effected when the husband went to claim her. This may, no doubt, be highly improbable. But the evidence in the case was very meagre, and the case was accordingly remanded for further investigation and reference to a panchayat or assessors. MULLICK KHAN JEHAN v. FEROZE, 40 P R 1866.

(138)—Procedure—Defective investigation—Remand.—In this case, the decisions of the lower Courts were based on the opinion of the arbitrators whose awards were conflicting. The summary Settlement papers in which, according to the plaintiffs, their names were recorded as joint proprietors with the defendants, were not referred to, nor was the putwaree of the village examined as a witness. There was further no explanation of how it happened that the plaintiff or his father were recorded as proprietors in some cases and not in others. There having thus been no proper investigation the case was remanded for further investigation and re-trial. AIMA v. NAMDAR, 79 P.R. 1866.

(139)—Defective enquiry—Material allegation of party not enquired into—Remand.—In a dispute about the possession of a court-yard, the Tahsildar on personal inspection found that the defendant's portion of the court-yard was higher than that of the plaintiff This the plaintiff explained by saying that the portion was raised by the defendant during his absence The Tahsildar, however, did not take evidence on this point and dismissed the plaintiff's suit. Held that the enquiry was defective and the suit should be remanded. MOGUL v. MEER BAZ, 83 P. R. 1866.

Remand—continued.

(140)—Oaths Act (X of 1873), ss. 10, 11—Referee's deposition inadequate to decide question referred—Death of referee—Appeal.—The parties to a suit agreed to be bound by the deposition of a referee in the manner contemplated by ss. 10 and 11 of the Oaths Act, and a decree was passed in favour of one of the parties on the strength of that deposition. The referee died afterwards, and it was found on appeal that the said deposition, did not fully cover the questions in issue between the parties. Held that the case was, therefore, to be remanded to the lower Court for disposal according to the usual procedure. MAHABIR PRASAD MISR v. DAT MISR, 13 A. 386 = A.W N. 1891, 143.

(141)—Remand—Wrong action of Munsif—Duty of lower appellate Court.—Where the Munsif acting erroneously forced the plaintiffs to amend their plaint and, in consequence of that amendment, the Munsif also amended the issues and tried the suit on an entirely erroneous issue, the Judge of the lower appellate Court as a Court of Equity should, of his own motion, have sent the case back to the Munsif, directing him to try it on its merits and pointing out that he had taken a wrong view of the law. GURU PRASHAD ROY v. RAS MOHUN MUKHOPADHYA, 1 C.L.R. 431.

(142)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 44, r. A, and 562—Suit for recovery of immoveable property and also moveable property—Leave of Court.—The plaintiffs claimed possession of immoveable property as well as of moveable property. The original Court dismissed the suit on the ground that leave of the Court had not been given for joining in the suit for the recovery of immoveable property the cause of action relating to the moveable property. On appeal to the High Court, held that it was a case in which the issue as to the moveable property would decide the claim to the immoveable property and that therefore leave ought to have been given. Their Lordships of the High Court said that, as they had the case before them in first appeal, they gave their leave then for the joining of the causes of action mentioned in the plaint, and remanded the suit under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, with direction to the lower Court to allow the defendants to put in a written statement or statements, and to the parties to file further evidence, if necessary, and to dispose of the case on its merits. NAZIRAN BIBI v. ABDUS SAMAD, A.W.N. 1887, 263.

(143)—Conclusion from evidence not warranted by law or reason—Failure to try material issue—Remand.—Where the lower appellate Court had drawn a conclusion from the evidence not warranted by law or reason and had failed to try a material issue in the case, the High Court remanded the case for re-trial. MAHARAM SHAIKH v. NAKOURI DAS MAHALDAR, 7 B.L.R. App. 17 = 14 W.R. 357.

(144)—Grounds for remand—Local inquiry, Order for—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, ss. 351, 354—Further evidence.—A Judge on appeal in a suit to open roads leading to a kotee, expressing an opinion that the facts had not been sufficiently ascertained, directed a further local enquiry to be made, and remanded the case to the Lower Court to be again decided there after such local inquiry. Held that he had no authority upon such a ground to remand the case for re-decision, there being no suggestion, under Act VIII of 1859, s. 351, that the lower Court had erroneously decided a preliminary point excluding evidence, and the reference not being of an issue framed by the Appellate Court under s. 354 NUNDCOOMAR BANERJEE v. BARRY, Marsh 121 = 1 Hay 260.

Remand—continued.

(145)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), ss. 351, 352—No wrong decision on preliminary point—No evidence excluded—Re-settlement of issues—Remand.—An Appellate Court must not remand a case where no preliminary point is decided wrongly and no evidence excluded, and the Appellate Court still considers the issues defective or insufficient, but must re-settle the issues and determine the case itself. SHAIKH FUTTEHOOLLAH v. OOMDANISSA BIBEE, 14 W.R. 69.

(146)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 354—Remand to frame new issues.—A remand of a case cannot be ordered by an appellate Court with instructions to frame new issues, but issues may, under s. 354 of Act VIII of 1859, be remitted for trial by the lower Court, whose finding and evidence should be returned to the appellate Court, which must pronounce the final decision. CHUNDERNATH SURMA v. RAMANAUTH SURMA, 1 W.R. 69.

(147)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 351, 352—Remand.—It is not competent to the lower appellate Court to remand a case for a second decision by the Court of first instance except where the first Court has decided the case upon a preliminary issue in such a way as to cause an absence of material evidence bearing upon the issues on the merits between the parties. LALLA SHOOBH NARAIN v. NURSINGH NARAIN, 20 W. R. 148.

(148)—Remand — Grounds.—An appellate Court should not remand a case when it is of opinion that the lower Court cannot properly come to a different dicision upon the evidence from that to which it has already come. BONOMALEE CHURN MYTEE v. SHOROOP HOOTAIL, 14 W. R. 60.

(149)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 351, 352, 354—Appellate Court—Remand when allowable.—An appellate Court cannot remand a case, unless the Lower Court has disposed of it on a preliminary point so as to exclude any evidence of fact which appears to the appellate Court essential to the rights of the parties. If the Judge finds the evidence on the record insufficient to enable him to come to a right determination of any question, he should proceed under s. 354 of the Code. HERRIKOSAM v. STEPHENSON, 1 W.R. 298.

Remand—continued.

(150 & 151)—Burden of proof, misplacement of—Remand.—Misplacement of the burden of proof is only a ground for remanding the case, if the circumstances had been such that, by placing the burden of proof on the wrong party, somebody has been misled or taken by surprise, or had no opportunity of adducing evidence. But, where all the parties have had full warning of the points at issue, and full opportunity of calling witnesses and adducing evidence, then, if the Judge, in his judgment, places the burden on the wrong side, that is no ground for a remand. HUBLAL SUKUL v. RAMGOTI DEY ROY, 11 C L.R. 581.

(152)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 562, 566, 567—Remand, when proper—Trial of fresh issue directed—Procedure.—A suit was decreed by the Court of first instance on the merits as they appeared to the mind of the Court On appeal, the District Judge was of opinion that the determination of another issue of fact was essential to the right decision of the suit upon the merits, and so he reversed the decree of the first Court and remanded the suit for the trial of an issue framed by himself. Held that the procedure adopted by the Judge in this respect was clearly wrong and contrary to the provisions of ss. 562 564, inasmuch as the first Court had not disposed of the suit upon a preliminary point. The Judge ought to have proceeded under ss. 566, 567, not disposing of the appeal until he had received the first Court's finding on the new issue. MOKUND LAL v. HURBULLUBH NARAIN SINGH, 12 C.L.R. 136.

(153)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 562—Remand—Decision on a preliminary point—Misjoinder of causes of action.—In this case, the Divisional Judge on appeal held that the suit was bad for misjoinder and remanded the case to the Original Court for retrial under s. 562 of the Civ. Pro. Code. Held, that the order of the Divisional Judge was ultra vires, as the suit had not been disposed of by the original Court on a preliminary point, but the whole case had been gone into and disposed of MUHAMMAD ISHAQ v. MUHAMMAD SHAFFI, 139 P.L R 1901.

(154)—Civ Pro. Code, 1859, ss. 351 and 354.—S. 351, Act VIII of 1859, is meant for those cases in which a lower Court has disposed of a case on a purely preliminary point, without going into any of the merits so as to exclude evidence of facts essential to the rights of parties Where abundant evidence had been taken, but the Lower Appellate Court thinks any further evidence or inquiry necessary, its proper course is not to get rid of the case by returning it to the lower Court, but to frame an issue, and to refer the same to the lower Court for trial strictly in accordance with the provisions of s. 354. RAM CHUNDER GOOPTA v. BHAGESSUR SURMA, W R. 1864, 357.

(155)—Procedure—Lower appellate declining to exercise jurisdiction vested in it by law—Facts undisputed—Remand unnecessary.—Where the lower appellate Court declined to exercise a jurisdiction vested in it by law, the High Court would have remitted the case to that Court for retrial, if there were any dispute as to the fact. In case of the facts being well established and practically admitted, the High Court, instead of remanding the case to the lower appellate Court would proceed to decide the question on those facts. RAM NARAIN SAHOO v. BANDI PERSHAD 31 C. 377.

(156)—Failure to carry out High Court's order of remand—Substantial trial on the merits by lower Court—No second remand necessary—Notice of enhancement informal—Objection raised for first time in special appeal—Cure of irregularity by omission to object—Acceptance of notice by ryot—Act X of 1859, s 17, cl. 1.—It was argued for the appellant that the case ought to be again remanded upon the ground that the lower Court had not fully carried out the order of the High Court when the case was previously remanded. The High Court however decided, that, although the lower Court had not upon remand gone into all necessary points, yet, there should not, on that account, be a second remand; the case was substantially and fully tried on the merits and no further remand was necessary for the ends of justice. One of the grounds argued in this appeal was that the notice of enhancement was altogether informal and that the suit ought to have been dismissed in consequence; but, it was held that, although the notice was informal and indistinct, still it sufficiently showed that the plaintiff's intention in giving it was to inform the defendant, his ryot, that he meant to increase the rent to the rates paid for lands of similar description in places adjacent, under cl. 1, s. 17 of Act X of 1859. The defendant had accepted the notice as under cl. 1, s. 17, and under the circumstances the informality of the notice was not such as could be objected to and for the first time on special appeal. KASHEENATH DEB v. MAHARANEE SHIBESSUREE DEBIA, 8 W.R. 503.

(157)—Evidence completely before higher Court—No further evidence necessary to be taken by Court below—Remand improper.—A remand should not be ordered for the trial of a case in a lower Court, when all the evidence for its disposal is before the higher Court whose duty it was to decide all questions arising between the parties on the pleadings and on the evidence which they had brought forward. BAMA CHURN DUTT v. PUDD MOOKHEE GOOPTA, 25 W.R 389.

(158)—Dismissal of suit—Under-valuation—Power of appellate Court—Pre-emption suit valued at sum less than consideration—Special appeal—Remand for making good stamp duty—It is competent to a lower appellate Court to dismiss a suit for under-valuation, although the first Court admits the plaint and acts on it without objection by the parties. In a pre-emption suit valued at Rs 31 where the consideration was Rs. 2,000, the High Court in special appeal declined to remand the case to enable plaintiff to make up the deficient stamp duty. MEWA LALL v. BEHARI LALL, 14 W. R. 195.

Remand—continued.

(159)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354 — Postponement for taking further evidence — Remand.—The failure of a party to take advantage of a postponement to file his further evidence cannot afterwards give him a right to a remand for taking such further evidence, which, without such postponement, he might have had under s. 354. Act VIII of 1859. TEEN COWREE KHARAH v. LUCKHEE MONEE DOSSEE, 5 W.R. Act X. 8. [F., 8 W.R. 502]

(160)—Illegal order of Court, not necessarily void as for want of jurisdiction.—The only contention in this special appeal was, that a previous order of remand passed by the lower appellate Court, being contrary to the provisions of s. 351 of Act VIII of 1859, that order, together with all the proceedings subsequently held in furtherance thereof, ought to be set aside as null and void for want of jurisdiction. The High Court held that, although it had to be conceded in favour of the appellant that the Judge was wrong in law in having passed an order of remand where he should have followed the provisions of s. 355, yet the whole of the proceedings could not, on that account, be quashed as being null and void for want of jurisdiction. The case was legally before the Judge, and he had full and ample jurisdiction to try it Every order passed by a Court is not void for want of jurisdiction, simply because it is illegal, and there was no reason why the present case should be regarded as an exception to the general rule. MIRJA JOWAD ALI v. HOSSEIN BIBEE, 8 W R 207.

(161)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 351, 352—Remand—Evidence--Substantial reason.—It is extremely doubtful whether in accordance with the C.P.C. 1859, ss. 351 and 352, a Court is competent, when several cases are tried together, to remand for new trial, on the ground that the plaintiff's evidence had not been completely heard and that it was an error in the Court below to determine all the cases at once. Additional evidence cannot be admitted in appeal without some substantial reason being recorded in the proceedings. SHADDEN v. FINLAY AND CO., 7 W.R. 313.

(162)—Issues—Findings on—Remand—Question of fact—Special appeal.—The High Court on special appeal has no power of remand on the ground that the Judge below has come to a wrong conclusion on a question of fact. It is immaterial if the Judge below has disposed of the case before him on only one of the two issues framed by the Munsiff, if the parties did not ask for a finding on the other issue. MOTI BHAGVAN v. HARJIVAN GIRDHARDAS, 2 B.H.C. 32.

(163)—Limitation — Remand — Duty of Appellate Court.—Where the first Court has disposed of a suit on the preliminary issue of limitation, the appellate Court cannot remand the case to the first Court without itself deciding the question of limitation upon the evidence on the record. CHUNDER KISHORE CHUCKERBUTTY v. GOUR CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY, 23 W.R. 13.

Remand—continued.

(164)—Appeal—Reversal of first Court's decree on preliminary point— Remand. — Where the first Court decided a case on two out of three issues in the case and the lower appellate Court reversed the decree of the first Court on the question of limitation and remanded the case for fresh trial. Held that, under the provisions of s. 352, Civ. Pro. Code, the lower appellate Court had no power to remand the case for trial, but should have decided the case itself on the evidence on the record. OBHOY CHURN DEO v. RAM DOOLLUB DEO, 25 W.R. 131.

(165)—Act X of 1859 — Plea as to jurisdiction of Court - Bastu lands.—The question of jurisdiction cannot be raised for the first time in appeal, unless it appears, on the face of the pleadings, or the admission of the parties, or on the evidence, that the suit will not lie. Where there was no evidence whatever and it did not appear on the pleadings that the land was of such a nature that a suit for enhancement would not lie under Act X of 1859 and no plea as to the jurisdiction of the Court under Act X of 1859 had been taken in the Courts below, the High Court would not remand the case to enquire under which class of bastu land the subject-matter of suit fell, or entertain the point of jurisdiction in appeal. NAIMUDDA JEWARDAR v. R. SCOTT MONCRIEFF. 3 B.L.R.A.C. 283 = 12 W.R. 140. [R., 7 C.L.J. 152.]

(166)—Appeal—Defective finding — Remand for re-trial.—Where the ground of a regular appeal was that the first Court ought to have found that an ijara existed, it is the duty of the first appellate Court to determine whether it was proved that the defendant held under an ijara or not and not to remand the case for re-trial. MAHOMED ASHAN v. MAHOMED YASIN, 9 W.R. 106.

(167)—Rejection of evidence—Court's duty to pronounce distinct opinion as to value of evidence—Remand—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), ss. 354, 355.—In a suit for a certain sum of money, the defendant peaded the payment, and in support of the plea produced a letter alleged to have been written by the plaintiff acknowledging receipt of the money. The plaintiff denied the genuineness of the acknowledgment, and the Court rejected the testimony of two peadahs who deposed to the fact of payment, on the ground that they were the defendant's servants. On appeal, the lower appellate Court remanded the case under s. 354, Civ. Pro. Code, directing the first Court to give the defendant an opportunity of proving the acknowledgment and after recording a finding on the point, to return the case to the appellate Court. Held that, if the first Court was not willing to allow the defendant any opportunity to adduce further evidence, it was at least bound to pronounce a distinct opinion as to the value of the evidence adduced before it, and should not have rejected the evidence altogether. Held also that the lower appellate Court erred in remanding the case under s. 354, Civ. Pro. Code, that the case really fell under s. 355, and the lower Court should have itself tried it after taking such additional evidence as might be found necessary. RUNPAL SINGH v. MAHARAJAH JOY MUNGUL SINGH, 11 W.R. 106.

Remand—continued.

(168)—Procedure--Appellate Court considering evidence not sufficient for satisfactory judgment—Remand—Act VIII of 1859, ss 354 to 357 —Where the Court of first instance decides the case both on the general merits and on the plea of limitation, and the appellate Court considers that the evidence upon the record is not sufficient to enable it to pronounce a satisfactory judgment as contemplated in s. 353 of Act VIII of 1859, the appellate Court, if it considers itself to be in a position legally to require further evidence to be taken, ought to proceed in the manner provided for in ss. 354 to 357 of the Code, and has no right to set aside the decree of the first Court and remand the case for re-trial. GOOROO PERSHAD DUTT v. SREENATH BANERJEE, 15 W.R. 314.

(169)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 351—Limitation. —Where the question of limitation is decided by an appellate Court after it has taken evidence and gone into the whole case, the decision is not one within terms of s. 351 of Act VIII of 1859, namely, a disposing of the case upon a preliminary point so as to exclude any evidence of fact essential to the rights of the parties. By s. 352, it is not competent to remand the case to the first Court SYUD HUSSUN ALI CHOWDHRY v. MANOOWAR ALI, 21 W.R. 413.

(170)—Decision of suit by lower Court on question of limitation and on merits—Remand. —Where a lower Court, while holding that a suit was barred by limitation also went into the merits of the case and dismissed the claim, held that the appellate Court, although it held that the suit was not time barred, should not remand the suit for re-trial on the merits. KERTEENERAIN CHOWDHRY v. PERTHENARAIN CHOWDHRY, 1 W.R. 32.

(171)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 352—Remand for additional evidence.—Where a suit which had been tried by the lower Court on its merits, without the omission of any issue or question of fact essential to those merits, was remanded by the lower appellate Court with a view to additional evidence being taken, the order of remand was held to be not in accordance with any of the provisions of the Civ. Pro. Code, and in opposition to the terms of s. 352 of the Code. MAHESH CHANDRA DAS v. MADHAB CHANDRA SIRDAR, 2 B.L.R. S.N. 13 (b) = 10 W R. 388. [R., 12 A. 510, F.B. = A.W.N. 1890. 188, 14 B. 232; D., 28 C. 324 = 5 C.W.N. 509.]

(172)—Issue not raised in lower Courts—Suit whether could be remanded.—A suit by mortgagees to make absolute a conditional sale, was dismissed by the first Court on the ground of the minority of one of the mortgagors, but was decreed by the lower appellate Court. On special appeal, the High Court refused to remand the case for enquiry as to the minority of one of the mortgagors, and as to the necessity for the loan under the mortgage, as no issue in respect of either of these questions had been raised. SUDUL v. BULDEO, 2 N.W. P. 23.

(173)—Decision on pure questions of fact—Lower Court concurring with reasons given by first Court, whether should repeat such reasons in its judgment.—Where a suit has been decided on pure questions of fact, and no point is left undetermined, and the Judge, without giving detailed reasons, endorses the opinion of the Court of first instance, it would not be right to remand the case for the purpose of the Judge setting forth in his judgment the same reasons which influenced the Court of first instance in coming to the conclusions at which it arrived. IMRIT LALL THAKOOR v. NUCKSHED SUHAYE, 10 W R. 100.

(174) — Judgment— Meagreness—Remand.— It is doubtful whether the meagreness of a judgment warrants the High Court in remanding a suit for re-trial. Even if it does so in any case, it can only be when there is nothing in the judgment of the lower appellate Court to show that it has considered the evidence. KRISHNENDRO ROY v. DIGUMBUREE DEBIA, 16 W.R. 15.

(175)—Appellate Court—Remand—Evidence. —In a case where all the evidence that is necessary has not been recorded, the appellate Court has power either to require additional evidence to be taken or take it itself. But it should decide the appeal itself, and not remand it for retrial by the Munsiff MR. A. HILLS v. OSMAN BISWAS, 25 W.R. 35.

(176)—Appeal—Remand—Dismissal of suit as barred after taking evidence—Propriety of remand —Where the first Court took all evidence which the parties offered upon the merits of a case and thereupon decided the suit on the preliminary question of limitation, it was not competent to the appellate Court to remand the case for re-trial, as it had sufficient evidence upon the record to enable it to pronounce a satisfactory judgment. MUSSAMUT RAMA KOOER v. LALLA BHUGWAN LALL, 22 W.R. 224. [R, 31 C. 228.]

(177)—Appellate Court—Framing of new issue—Remand for finding on that issue—Act VIII of 1859.—If the appellate Court considers that any issue not raised in the Court below is material to be raised, and finds that there is no evidence on record sufficient for the determination of that issue, it cannot remand the whole suit for retrial; but the appellate Court may, under s. 354 of Act VIII of 1859, direct a finding on that issue to be returned by the Court below, the case being retained on its own file. BUNGO CHUNDER BANERJEE v. CHUNDER NATH CHUCKERBUTTY, 25 W.R. 47.

Remand—continued.

(178)—Pottahs—Attestation or registry not necessary—Decision of appellate Court on preliminary point—Evidence on all issues on record—Appellate Court not competent to remand.—It is not usual to have subscribing witnesses to pottahs nor to register such documents. In this case, all the evidence which the parties wished to adduce had been taken and was before the lower appellate Court. But that Court, having decided on one of the issues relating to the genuineness of a pottah, remanded the case to the first Court for the determination of the other issues. Held that the decision of the lower Court, although it happened to be on a preliminary point, did not exclude evidence of facts on the other issues raised in the case. Having reference to ss 351, 352 and 353 of the Civ. Pro. Code, the Judge had no authority to remand the case for re-trial, but should have tried it himself. RAM JOY SEIN v. NUNDO MOYEE DEBIA, 10 W. R. 374.

(179)—Dismissal of suit by first Court on preliminary issue—Remand by appellate Court for trial on merits.—A suit for rent in which the parties went to trial upon the issues, was dismissed by the first Court which found in favour of the defendant the first issue which went to the whole merits of the case. Evidence was, however, recorded on the other issue also. Held, under these circumstances, that the appellate Court was not competent to remand the case for trial on the merits, which it could do only when evidence on the merits had been excluded; and that the Judge must have entertained and disposed of the suit himself on the merits. GOPAL CHUNDER GOOHO v. JUGGODUMBA DOOSIA, 10 W.R. 411.

(180)—Points raised on appeal not taken in lower Court—Remand.—A case will not be remanded for re-trial on a point not raised in the lower Court, if the recorded evidence is sufficient to enable the appellate Court to decide the point. But, if the appellants succeeded on a point raised by them for the first time in the Appellate Court, they should pay the respondents the costs of the appeal. HARIDAS PURSHOTAM v. HENRY GAMBLE, 12 B.H. C. 23.

(181)—Appeal — Argument before appellate Court—Remand—Procedure—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354.—If the Appellate Court be of opinion that the plaintiff in argument before it, is endeavouring to obtain something other than what he claims in the plaint, the course which that Court is bound to take is to dismiss the suit; but if it thinks that the allegation contained in the plaint can be reconciled with the argument used on the appeal, and the case resulting from this is supported by the evidence produced by the plaintiff, it is its business to determine the appeal itself, and it is not a case for an order under s. 354, Act VIII of 1859. TILLUCK CHUNDER DUTT CHOWDHRY v. BROJO SOONDUR MITTER, 24 W.R. 121.

(182)—Remand after trial and decision on evidence.—An Appellate Court has no authority to remand a case which comes before it for trial, excepting when the Court of first instance has disposed of a case on a preliminary point, so as to exclude any evidence of fact which shall appear to the appellate Court essential to the determination of the rights of the parties and the decree of the first Court on such preliminary point has been reversed by the appellate Court. BRINDABUN DEY v. PISONA BIBEE, 13 B.L.R. 200, Note=13 W.R. 107.

(183)—Appeal—Legality of order of remand questioned in special appeal—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, ss. 351, 352—Case decided on merits.—The omission of a party to prefer an appeal against an order of remand does not preclude him from questioning its legality, when the case comes up in special appeal from the subsequent decision passed after remand. [F., 9 Ind. Cas. 173=9 M.L.T. 251=21 M.L.J. 263.] S. 352 of Act VIII of 1859 expressly limits the power of the appellate Court to remand, and says that it is not competent to remand a case for a second decision, except as provided by s. 351. Where, therefore, the lower Court went into evidence upon the whole case and did not dispose of it upon any preliminary point, but investigated the merits of the case and passed its judgment upon the evidence, the appellate Court was not competent to remand the case for a second decision. MAJORAM OGHA v RAJA NILMONEY SINGH DEO, 13 B.L.R. 198=21 W.R. 326.

(184)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Application to intervene rejected—Appeal—Remand.—In a suit for rent brought originally before the Deputy Collector, a third party applied to be allowed to intervene under s. 77 of Act X of 1859, but the application was rejected and the suit between the plaintiff and defendant was decided on a matter of fact. On this, the would-be intervenor appealed to the Judge and the case was remanded to the Deputy Collector with directions that he should make the intervenor a party, and try the case afresh. Held that the order of remand was made without jurisdiction and therefore void and that everything that had taken place since must fall with it. KHONDKAR KEFAETOOLLAH v. MAHOMED KABEL, 9 W.R. 345.

(185)—Suit for declaration of title—Illegal remand—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354.—Where, in a suit for declaration of title, which was dismissed by the first Court on the ground that the purchase set up by the defendants was proved and the plaintiff's title not proved, the lower appellate Court, finding that the purchase of the defendants was not satisfactorily proved, remanded the case for a finding on that issue, held that, having regard to the terms of s. 354 Act VIII of 1859, the order of remand was illegal. HURO SOONDUREE DEBIA v. UNNOPOORNA DEBIA, 11 W.R. 550.

(186)—Issue erroneously framed by lower appellate Court—Judgment containing finding on proper point—Refusal of High Court to remand—Practice—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, art. 127, application of, to suits for partition.—In this suit for partition, the lower appellate Court had erroneously laid down the issue for its decision to be "Have plaintiffs enjoyed their share in the profits for twelve years?" whereas the issue ought to have been "Have the plaintiffs been excluded from (the suit inam land) No 200 and their share of its profits to their knowledge for twelve years?" In its judgment, however the Court had come to the conclusion that the defendants had been in adverse possession of the said No. 200 for twelve years, though there was no finding that such exclusion of the plaintiffs had been to their knowledge The High Court decided, on second appeal, that it would be too technical to hold that, under the circumstances, there has not been a substantial finding to the effect required by art. 127, and that it would be useless to send down an amended issue to have the same finding in the result again recorded, though in different words in pursuance of such correctly worded issue. It was also held that the contention was untenable that art. 127 of the Limitation Act could not afford a defence to the plaintiffs' claim in so far only as the particular No 200 was concerned. The fact that the plaintiffs were not excluded from their share in other fields could not prevent the statute from operating in respect of the field from which they had been excluded to their knowledge VISHNU RAMCHANDRA v. GANESH, 21 B 325.

Remand—continued.

(187)—Plaintiff given every opportunity to produce evidence—Failure of plaintiff to do so—Suit not to be remanded.—A suit cannot be remanded where the plaintiff had every opportunity given to produce sufficient evidence but failed to do so. MT. HASANBIBI v. TALEWARKHAN, 4 C P.L.R. 103.

(188)—Remand order, when to be made.—The Court will not remand a case in order to give a plaintiff a second opportunity of proving his case, except for special reasons. A remand order was refused in a case on the grounds that it was not a case in which the plaintiff was entitled to the relief claimed on a ground other than that stated in his plaint, that no evidence tendered by the plaintiff was wrongfully excluded, that there was no ground for admission of fresh evidence, and that, on the evidence on the record, the plaintiff's case failed. HAJI KHAN v. BALDEO DAS, 24 A. 90=A.W.N. 1901, 188.

(189)—S. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Order of remand for joining necessary party by first Court of appeal - Not legal—Procedure to be followed.—Where a Court of first appeal remanded a suit to the original Court for a retrial on the ground of non-joinder of party, the High Court reversed the order of remand and directed the appellate Court to dispose of the appeal in the legal manner indicated in Kelu Mulacheri Nayar v. Chendu (19 M. 157), Ganesh Bhikaji v. Bhikaji (10 B. 398) and Hari v. Annapurnabi (P J 1894, 187). KESHAV. v. PANDURANG, 1 Bom. L.R. 29.

Remand—continued.

(190)—Order of remand—Addition of necessary parties.—A Court of Appeal is not competent, under s. 562 of the Code of Civil Procedure, to remand a suit to the original Court on the ground of defect of parties. BANDO v. BHASKER, 1 Bom. L.R 369.

(191)—Remand by appellate Court after local investigation.—An appellate Court cannot remand a case for re-trial after a local investigation. An appeal lies from such an order. JEEBEN KISSEN ROY v. DWARKANATH ROY CHOWDHRY, W.R. 1864, 363.

(192)—Adjournmsnt, Application for—Not granted—Decision ex parte - Remand—Practice —Civ. Pro Code, 1882, ss 562, 568, 569.—On the day fixed for the first hearing of a suit, the defendant, pleading his inability to file a written statement applied for an adjournment which was granted and another day fixed for the hearing of the suit. On this latter day, also, a like application was made by the defendant pleading continued illness, and the Court, rejecting the application, heard the case and decreed in favour of the plaintiff. On appeal by the defendant, the appellate Court remanded the case holding that the application for adjournment ought to have been granted. The plaintiff appealed to the High Court against the order of remand. Held that, the suit having been decided by the Court of first instance on the merits, the appellate Court could not remand the case under s. 562, but ought to have proceeded as directed by ss 568 and 569, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882. PARVATISHANKAR DURGASHANKAR v. BAI NAREL, 17 B. 733. [Diss., 16 M.L.J 479=1 M.L.T. 268 =30 M. 54 ; R., 12 O.C. 25=1 Ind. Cas. 329.]

(193)—Evidence — Improper admission or rejection of evidence—Appeal— Decision on merits.—Whenever a mistake is made by the lower Court in admitting or rejecting documentary evidence, the case cannot be sent back for a new trial unless the mistake has really or materially affected the decision of the case upon the merits. WATSON & CO. v. GOPEE SUNDUREE DOSSEE, 24 W.R. 392. [Diss, 7 C. 293 ; R, 3 B. 30]

(194)—Some portions of appellate judgment obscurely worded—Appellate Court confirming decision of first Court Remand.—So long as the High Court sees that an Appellate Court has considered a case and has come to the same conclusion as the Court of first instance, the High Court will not remand the case, simply because there may be some portions of the judgment which are obscurely worded. BROJO NATH SEN v. SOORJA KANT SEN, 25 W.R. 276.

(195)—Dismissal of suit by first Court—Remand by the lower appellate Court - Validity.—In appeal from an order of the Court of First Instance dismissing a suit on the ground that it was barred by the limitation, the lower appellate Court, where there is sufficient evidence, should try the case on the merits as prescribed in s. 353 of Act VIII of 1859, (Civ. Pro. Code) instead of remanding it. But where further evidence is required, it must follow the procedure prescribed in s. 354 of the Act. LACHMUN LALL DOOBEY GOWALLY v. HURSOHAY LALL, W.R. 1864, 361.

Remand—continued.

(196)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act XIV of 1882, s. 562—Admission of document in first Court without necessary proof—Remand of suit for disposal—Remand made without jurisdiction.—In the course of the trial of a suit, copies of certain letters were admitted in evidence under the impression that they were originals. On appeal, the suit was remanded for fresh disposal on the ground that copies of the letters had been admitted without proof of the original letters. Held that the remand order was made without jurisdiction as the suit had not been disposed of on a preliminary point and all the proceedings subsequent to the order were invalid. KRISHNAMMA NAIDU v. AKHULA NAIDU, 5 M.L.J. 82.

(197)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 562, 566—Remand—Reference of issues—S. 562 permissive only, not obligatory.—It does not follow that, because the circumstances of a case would justify an appellate Court in applying s. 562 of the Code of Civil Procedure and remanding the suit to the Court of first instance, the appellate Court must apply that section and is precluded from making an order under s. 566 of the Code. RAMYAD MISRA v. THAKUR MISRA, A.W.N. 1899, 2

(198)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 562—Preliminary point.—Where the District Judge disposed of all the issues framed in the suit and rejected the claim and the Divisional Judge set aside the order of the District Judge and remanded the suit under s. 562 of the Civ. Pro. Code—held, that the suit not having been disposed of on a preliminary point, remand under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, was illegal. LOKU RAM v. SETH NIRSI DAS, 57 P.L R. 1904.

(199)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 562 (=O. 41, r. 22, new Code), 564 (omitted in new Code)—Only part of suit disposed of on preliminary point—Court cannot order remand—Where only a part of a suit had been disposed of on a preliminary point, s. 562 does not apply and the Court below had no power to make a general order of remand. BANWARRI LAL v. SAMMAN LAL, 11 A. 488=A W N. 1889, 188. [Appr., 12 A. 510, F.B ; Appl., 27 A. 163=1 A.L.J. 503=A.W.N. 1904, 202]

(200)—Second appeal—Improper admission of evidence by lower Court.—Though the High Court cannot, on second appeal, generally look at the evidence itself to decide the sufficiency of evidence in the case, other than that improperly admitted, to support the lower Court's finding, yet, in cases where it is clear from the judgment that the Court below has arrived at its findings independently of the improperly admitted evidence, there need be no remand. WOMES CHANDER CHATTERJEE v. CHUNDER

Remand—continued.

CHURN ROY CHOWDHRY, 7 C. 293. (24 W. R. 392, Diss.) [R., 23 C. 179, 31 C. 380, 35 C. 701=12 C.W.N. 657=7 C.L J. 563]

(201)—Appeal—Decision on an issue upon which there is no finding.—Where the Court of First Instance takes evidence, but does not find on the issues and decides the suit on a point of law, it is not necessary for the appellate Court to remand the suit under s. 562, but it may come to a decision upon the evidence recorded, if that is considered sufficient. BANDI SUBBAYYA v. MADALAPALLI SUBANNA, 3 M. 96. [R., 8 A. 576, F.B.]

(202)—Points framed as issues, omission to let in evidence in respect of, not a ground for remand.—Where a certain point has been framed as an issue by the Court below and brought to the attention of the parties, but they have failed at the trial to give any evidence with regard to it, the case should not be remanded as upon such point, because, such a practice would only give the parties a chance of procuring perjured evidence in trying their cases in so many different ways. RAM PRASAD v. ABDUL KARIM, 9 A. 513=A.W.N. 1887, 146.

(203)—Appeal on full Court-fee from decree dismissing suit in part—No cross appeal or objections preferred—Remand of whole case, validity of—Civ Pro. Code, 1882, s 578 (=S. 99, new Code), applicability of.—A Court cannot make the payment of Court-fees a test of its jurisdiction. Where a plaintiff, in appealing only against a portion of the decree which was against him happened to stamp the memo. of appeal with stamps sufficient for an appeal against the whole decree, and the defendant did not appeal or file cross objections, it was held ultra vires of the Court to remand the whole case and that the plaintiff's appearance before the first Court in pursuance of the remand order could not validate the order, and that it was not a case covered by s. 578 of the Code. CHEDA LAL v. BADULLAH, 11 A. 35. [R., 13 A.W.N. 144.]

(204)—Remand—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 562—Record of case complete—Evidence not excluded.—When the record of a case is complete, and no evidence has been excluded, the appellate Court ought not to remand the case for a fresh decision, but must itself decide the case on the merits, with reference to the issues raised by the pleadings of the parties. DURGA v. HAIDAR ALI, 7 A. 167=A W.N. 1884, 315.

(205)—Dismissal of suit as brought—Remand for trial of new issues—Change of character of suit—A plaintiff, coming into Court with a case and completely failing to prove it, should not be permitted to succeed upon another, and that directly in antogonism with his primary allegations. And where the appellate Court agrees with the Court of first instance that the suit, as brought, fails, it cannot remand it to the lower Court, for the trial of the new issues framed by it, which have the effect of making a new and different case for the plaintiff. Therefore, where a suit by a Bank against its agent for recovery of money paid by him to a sub-agent appointed by him, on the ground, that such payment was unauthorised, was decreed on the ground, that the appointment in question was made without authority, held, that the first appellate Court, which found that the said appointment was made with authority acted wrongly, (1) in remanding the case for the trial of new issues, whether the defendant had or had not exercised proper discretion in the selection of the sub-agent, and whether the defendant had or had not co-operated or participated in the act by which the sub-agent had defrauded the Bank, and (2) in affirming the decree of the lower Court on grounds other than those, on which the plaintiff had sought relief. HAMILTON v. THE LAND MORTGAGE BANK OF INDIA, 5 A. 456 = A.W.N. 1883, 99.

Remand—continued.

(206)—Second appeal—Practice—Party refusing to produce evidence in lower Court—Case not to be remanded.—Where a party had ample opportunities to produce his evidence, but refused to submit to the ruling of the first Court as to the onus of proof and declined to produce evidence, the High Court refused in second appeal to remand the case so as to give the party another opportunity of putting in his evidence. KANHIA LAL v. DEBI DAS, 22 A. 141 = A.W.N. 1900, 2.

(207)—Remand—Changing nature of suit.—A sued to eject a ryot on the ground of his holding over after the term of his pattah had expired. The ryot denied that he had ever held under a patta from A, and alleged that the jote belonged to B. Plaintiff's allegations were found to be false and his suit was dismissed. The lower appellate Court directed B to be made a defendant and remanded the suit to have the question of ownership tried between A and B, at the same time agreeing with the Court of first instance that the allegations in the plaint were false. Held that the lower appellate Court should have dismissed the case and was wrong in so remanding it. BHOOBUN DASS MUNDUL v. SRIMUTTY BILASHMONY DASSEE, 1 C.L.R. 415.

(208)—Civ Pro. Code, Act XIV of 1882, ss. 562—588, 591—Evidence improperly taken.—Where a Munsiff had decided all the issues in the suit, an order of remand by the District Judge on the ground that the Munsiff had based his decision on evidence improperly taken (a commission issued before defendant had notice of suit) is illegal. The District Judge ought to exclude such evidence or call for further evidence. [F., 19 M. 479, 32 M. 83 = 4 M L.T. 479; R., 12 C P.L.R. 119.] The question of the illegality of an order of remand can be raised in an appeal from the final decree. When the order of remand is ultra vires, all subsequent proceedings are void. SUBHA SASTRI v. BALACHANDRA SASTRI, 18 M. 421. [F., 19 M. 479, 32 M. 83 = 4 M L. T 479, 28 C. 324 = 5 C.W.N. 509; R., 9 O C. 80, 12 C.P.L.R. 119; D., 28 C. 324 = 5 C.W.N. 509.]

Remand—continued.

(209)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 562—Remand—Appeal from order of remand—Power of High Court to decide appeal in suit.—After issues had been framed in a suit, the pleader for the plaintiff and the mukhtar for the defendant filed an application, praying that the case might be decided on a question of law, and stating that they did not wish the facts of the case to be gone into. The next day the defendant himself put in an application objecting to what his mukhtar had done, alleging that the mukhtar was not empowered to forego the decision of the case on the facts. That application was rejected, and the suit was tried with reference solely to the question of law raised therein, and was dismissed. The plaintiff appealed, and the defendant filed objections raising the question of the authority of his mukhtar to relinquish his right to have the case decided on the questions of fact therein involved. The appellate Court reversed the decision of the first Court on the point of law, and remanded the case under s. 562 of the Code of Civil Procedure for decision of the remaining issues, primarily for determination of the mukhtar's power to forego the decisions of the case on the facts. On appeal to the High Court against this order of remand, the Court held that the lower appellate Court ought to have decided the question of the mukhtar's authority instead of leaving it for the Court of first instance, which had already pronounced thereon, and itself exmined the mukhtar's power-of-attorney, and came to the conclusion that the mukhtar has authority to bind his client in that particular matter, and in consequence decreed the plaintiff's appeal PIRBHU DIAL v. YAKUB ALI KHAN, A.W.N. 1901, 141.

(210)—Remand—Alteration of date of appeal without notice to appellant or his pleader.—Where the date fixed for the hearing of an appeal was altered to an earlier date without notice to the appellant or his pleader, in consequence of which the appellant's pleader was unable to proceed with the case, held that the appellate Court was not competent to remand the appeal to the Court below for trial upon the merits, notwithstanding that neither the provisions of s. 562 nor those of s. 566 of the Code of Civil Procedure were strictly applicable. KANHAI LAL v. MANORATH RAM, A.W.N. 1894, 19. [R., 17 A. 117.]

(211)—Ss. 562, 566, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 (= O. XLI, rr 23, 25, present Code).—In a claim for mesne profits subsequent to the date of suit by plaintiff to recover possession, the first Court found that defendant was not in possession, and the Court of appeal, reversing the decision, remanded the case under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, for the determination of the amount of mesne profits. The High Court held that s. 562 was not applicable, and that the remand was improper, as the case had not been disposed of on a preliminary point. LALLA CHUNILAL v. MOHIJI SINGH, 1 C W N. 340. [R., 2 P.R. 1908, F. B. = 12 P.W.R. 1908 = 96 P.L.R. 1908.]

Remand—continued.

This Circular lays down rules for guidance in cases of remands by Lower Appellate Courts. Cir. No. 36, dated the 12th September 1866. 6 W.R. Civ. Cir. Order p. 8.

See ACT XIV OF 1874, s. 6, 22 A. 405=A.W.N. 1900, 157.

See BEN. ACT X OF 1859, s. 77, 6 B.L.R. App. 106.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1895, s. 153, 4 C.W.N. 44.

Remand order by District Judge in appeal from Revenue Court, appealability of, to High Court—See U P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 190, 16 A. 375=A.W.N. 1894, 121.

See U. P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 208, 11 A. 31=A.W.N. 1888, 282.

See U. P. ACT XXII OF 1886, ss. 16, 124, 124 D, 4 O.C. 261.

Appellate Court, power of, to—Suit under N.W.P. Tenancy Act II of 1901—See U.P. ACT II OF 1901, ss. 196, 197, 2 A.L.J. 119.

Order of—Appeal—Revision—Jurisdiction—See PUN. ACT XVIII OF 1884, s. 70 (1) (a) (b), 147 P.L.R. 1911.

Appeal from order of—by Collector under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code—See PUN. ACT XVI OF 1887, ss. 80 (b), 88, 1 P.R. 1905, Rev.=83 P.L.R. 1906,

By appellate Court without jurisdiction—Further enquiry by competent Court—Effect—See PUN ACT II OF 1905, ss. 11, 12, 1 Ind. Cas. 460=26 P.W.R. 1909.

See APPEAL—GENERAL, 86 P.R. 1898.

Appeal against remand, when to be presented—See APPEAL—GENERAL, 6 C.L.J. 547=12 C.W.N. 590.

See APPEAL—GROUNDS OF APPEAL, 54 P.R. 1883.

See APPEAL— OBJECTIONS BY RESPONDENTS, 3 A. 643.

Order of—On special point — Reversal of decree on appeal — See APPEAL—ORDERS, Marsh 600.

Suit for partition—Appellate Court deciding the shares and remanding the suit to lower Court to carry out partition—Erroneous description of the order as order of remand under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code—Appeal—Court fee—See APPEAL—ORDERS, A.W.N. 1908, 40=5 A.L.J. 545.

Declaratory suit relating to two pieces of land dismissed in toto by first Court upon preliminary point—Appellate Court dismissing suit as to one piece, and remanding case as to the other piece—Inapplicability of Civ. Pro. Code, s. 562—Illegality of order—See APPEAL—ORDERS, 149 P.W.R. 1908.

See APPEAL— ORDERS, 3 A. 180 F.B., Marsh 469=2 Hay 591, 19 M. 167=6 M.L.J. 24, 17 C. 168, 7 B. 292, 126 P.R. 1886, 129 P.R. 1884, 7 C.W.N. 440.

Remand—continued.

Appeal from order of remand—See APPEAL—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 7 A. 136=A.W.N. 1884, 294.

Appeal part-heard by District Judge and then transferred to Sub-Court — Sub Judge continuing hearing and disposing of appeal—Irregular procedure—Remand by High Court—See APPEAL—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 9 M.L J. 297.

See APPEAL—MISCELLANEOUS, 19 M. 479.

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—GENERAL, 23 A. 220=28 I.A. 28=5 C.W.N. 153, P.C.

Order of High Court refusing certificate to appeal to Privy Council—Remand order by High Court, whether final order for purposes of admission of such appeal — See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—CASES WHERE APPEALS LIE OR NOT, 17 A. 112=22 I.A. 1, P.C.

Remand order of High Court for trial on merits—Interlocutory decree not appealable to Privy Council without permission—See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—CASES WHERE APPEALS LIE OR NOT, 8 B. 548.

Nature of remand order—See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 10 C.L.J. 336=4 Ind. Cas. 459.

See APPELLATE COURT — ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE ON APPEAL, W.R. 1864, Act X, 95.

Remand order not specifically appealed against High Court's power to question, in second appeal, validity of order — See APPELLATE COURT—POWERS OF APPELLATE COURT, 11 A. 35.

See APPELLATE COURT — POWERS OF APPELLATE COURT, 2 A. 908, A.W.N. 1884, 224, 46 P.R. 1885.

See APPELLATE COURT—MISCELLANEOUS, 22 M. 344.

Refusal by original Court to allow plaintiff to examine defendant as witness—Dismissal of suit—Duty of appellate Court—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1859, ss. 148, 162, 6 M H C. 299.

Remand for adding fresh parties—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1877, ss. 32, 562, 563, 569, A.W.N. 1881, 49.

See CIV. PRO CODE, 1882, ss. 542, 562, 564, A.W.N. 1891, 105.

Appeal—Order of remand directing addition of parties—Legality—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1882, s. 564, 37 C. 171=5 Ind. Cas. 998.

Legality of—Where suit is not decided on a preliminary point—Consent of parties—Effect of setting aside—See CIV PRO. CODE, 1882, s. 564, 15 M L J. 236=28 M 437.

Order of—determining only part of case leaving other matters alone not final—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss 2, 109, sch. I, O. 45, 6 A.L.J. 786=6 M.L.T. 94=31 A. 545=3 Ind. Cas. 967.

Ex parte decree set aside and suit remanded by appellate Court to Court of first instanc —Right of successful appellant to restitution—See CIV. PRO CODE, 1908, s 2. O XLI, r. 23, ss. 144 (1) 104, O XLIII, r. 1, 3 C.L.J. 181.

Remand—continued.

Res judicata order of by first Appellate Court—Power of High Court on appeal from—See CIV. PRO CODE, 1908, s. 11, O. XLI, r. 23, 16 A. 252=A.W N. 1894, 64.

Power of Chief Court of Punjab to remand a case where judgment has been pronounced by the lower Court without hearing parties or pleaders—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 33, O. XX, r 1, s. 99, 5 P.L.R. 1905.

By appellate Court for amendment of plaint—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 99, A.W.N. 1881, 121.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 104, O XLIII, r. 1, 26 M. 518.

Remand on questions of fact—High Court cannot interfere—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 104, O XLII, r. 1, 6 M.L.T. 198=3 Ind. Cas. 283.

Order of—Appeal whether lies—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 104 (2), O. XLIII, r. 1, 8 A.L.J 312=9 Ind. Cas. 666.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 105, A.W.N. 1899, 136.

Decision by original Court on remand by Court of Appeal—Power of Court of Appeal to review its order of remand—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 105, 5 M.L.T. 75=32 M. 318=2 Ind. Cas 525.

Privy Council appeal—Order of—Decree or final order—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 105, 108, 109, 8 A L.J. 192.

Remand order—Appeal if lies after suit is finally disposed of on appeal—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s 105, cl. (2), O. XLI, rr. 23, 25, 15 C.W.N. 830.

Appeal—Remand order—Second appeal when lies—Interference with remand orders in revision—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 105, 115, O. XLI, r. 23, 50 P.R. 1911.

Order of, by appellate Court—if "final decree"—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 109, 12 C.W.N. 545=35 C. 618=8 C.L.J. 168.

Suit for winding up of partnership—Order for taking accounts—High Court's order on, for fresh taking of accounts—Effect—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 109, cl. (1), 7 Ind. Cas. 622.

Order of—Appealability to Privy Council—See CIV PRO. CODE, 1908, s 110, O. XLI, r. 23, A.W.N. 1907, 291=5 A.L.J. 57.

Fixation of limit of time for cross-examination Exclusion of evidence—Ground for—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 132, O. XVI & XXVI, 8 Ind. Cas. 418.

Preliminary point— Remand—Amendment of plaint in appeal—Power of appellate Court to amend plaint—Suit for rent converted into one of ejectment—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. VI, r. 17, O. VII, r. 11, O. XLI, r. 23, s. 107 (2), O. XXII, r. 11, 19 B. 303.

Remand—continued.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908. O. VII, r. 10, O. XLI, r. 23, O. XLIII, r. 1, A.W.N. 1882, 45.

Illegal order of remand—Appeal—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. VII, r. 13, A. W. N. 1881, 174.

Order of, in a case in which no appeal lies—Effect—Finality of remand order passed without jurisdiction—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. IX, r. 3, ss. 99, 105, 6 Ind. Cas. 464=7 A.L J. 675.

Irregular order of remand made by an appellate Court—Remedy—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O IX, r. 13, s. 47, O. XXI, r. 90, s. 99, 5 C L.J 328.

Power of Appellate Court to—on grounds other than those specified in s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code—See CIV. PRO CODE. O IX, r. 13, O. XLI, rr. 12, 23 s. 104, O XLIII. r. 1, 1 M. L. T. 268=16 M.L.J 479=30 M. 54.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908. O XI, rr. 18 (1), 21, O. XLI, rr 23, 24, 25, A. W. N. 1881, 147.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XIII, rr. 1 and 2. 9 W. R. 294.

See CIV. PRO. CODE. 1908. O XIV, rr. 1, 2, 3, 5, O. XLI, r. 23 2 B L R P.C. 72=12 M. I. A. 495=11 W.R P.C. 33.

New plea should not be allowed after—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XIV, r. 5, 10 Ind. Cas 230.

See CIV. PRO.CODE, 1908. O. XVII, r. 3, 13 W R. 464, 3 B L.R. App. 91.

Suit by wrong plaintiff—Appellate order to substitute new plaintiff—Defendant's rights to claim de novo trial after—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908 O. XVIII, r. 15, 9 Ind. Cas. 254=9 M.L. T. 324.

Dismissal of suit on some of the issues—Jurisdiction of Court to determine other issues—Practice—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XX, r. 5, O. XLI, rr. 23, 31, 9 C W.N. 60.

See CIV PRO. CODE. 1908, O XXXIX, r. 2, s. 104, O. XLIII, r. 1, 24 M. 417.

Remanded appeal—Duty of parties, to ascertain date of further hearing—Absence of parties on date fixed—Duty of Court to dismiss appeal—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 17, 2 C.P L.R 32.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 22, 5 O C. 235.

See CIV PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, rr. 24, 25 A.W N. 1882, 5.

Issue left untried by lower appellate Court, power of High Court to remand—See CIV. PRO CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 25, 17 A. 117=A. W N 1895, 121.

When an appeal is sent down to a lower Court on remand, and when the records have not been returned to the remanding Court, the latter ought not to dismiss the appeal for default of appearance of parties—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 25, 90 P.L.R. 1906.

Remand—continued.

See CIV. PRO CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 25, 17 M. 69=4 M.L.J. 15, 1 L.B.R. 143.

See CIV. PRO. CODE. 1908, O. XLI, r. 25, s. 100, A.W N. 1881, 12.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, rr. 26, 31, 6 A. 383=A.W.N. 1884, 127, 6 A. 391=A. W.N. 1884, 129.

Judgment in appeal not in conformity with s. 574, Civ. Pro. Code—Order of—In second appeal—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 31, 7 M.L.T. 120.

Remand, order of - Appeal against—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLIII, r. 1, 101 P.R. 1910.

Remand—Order of—Right of appeal against —See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLIII, r. 1 (a), 8 N.L R. 42.

Whether such order can be impugned in appeal from final disposal—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLIII, r. 23 and O. XLIII, r. 1 and s. 104, 9 C.W.N. 895=32 C. 1023.

Opportunity for evidence—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, sch. II, rr. 15, 16, s. 107 (2) O. XXII, r. 11, s. 104, O. XLIII, r.1, 8 C.W.N. 390.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, sch, II, r. 16, O. XLI, r. 23, 22 M. 172.

Appeal against an order of—under s. 562 of the Civ. Pro Code, 1882—See COSTS—SPECIAL CASES, A.W.N. 1892, 215.

See COSTS—SPECIAL CASES, 4 C.W.N. 343.

Costs—Dismissal of appeal—Absence of respondent's pleader — See COSTS — SPECIAL CASES, A.W.N. 1887, 298.

Declaratory suit—Remand - Discretion of Appellate Court—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—WHEN DECLARATORY SUITS LIE, 4 C. 190, P.C.=3 C.L.R. 31=5 I.A. 149.

Reconsideration of evidence—New evidence —Question of limitation—See EJECTMENT, SUIT FOR, 11 Ind. Cas. 84.

See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT, 3 W.R. 191.

See EVIDENCE—SECONDARY EVIDENCE, 3 B.H C.A.C. 160.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 32, sub s. 5, 12 C. 219, P.C.=12 I A. 183.

Order of—Under s 562, Civ. Pro. Code—Order of appellate Court setting aside, is a decree—Limitation Act, sch. II, art. 179—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—GENERAL, 5 O.C. 301.

Remand illegal—No appeal against order of —Appeal treated as revision—See EX PARTE DECREE, 11 M.L.T 199.

See GUARDIAN— GENERAL, A.W.N. 1893, 104.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 4 B.H.C.A.C. 25, 2 W.R. 39.

Of a case, by the lower appellate Court, where the plaintiff has not pressed an essential issue in the Court of first instance — See ISSUES—GENERAL, 3 Bom. L.R. 667.

Remand—continued.

See ISSUES— MISCELLANEOUS, 19 W.R. 267.

High Court remanding suit under wrong impression Irregularity — New Judge—See JUDGMENT—FORM AND CONTENTS, 5 M.H. C. 174.

Defective judgment of lower appellate Court —By High Court—See JUDGMENT — FORM AND CONTENTS, 10 C. 932.

See JUDGMENT—FORM AND CONTENTS, 20 M. 496.

Jurisdiction—Objection taken in appeal after —See JURISDICTION—QUESTION OF JURISDICTION, 6 B.L.R. 52=14 W.R. 288.

By appellate Court for further evidence, case tried by Court of higher grade than that ordinarily having jurisdiction—Court in which appeal should be brought—See JURISDICTION —MISCELLANEOUS, 2 L.B.R. 117.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 6 A. 378=A.W.N. 1884, 122, A.W.N. 1884, 74.

Jurisdiction of two Subordinate Judges in same place—Order under s. 562 of the Civ. Pro. Code, by one Subordinate Judge—Decree passed by the first Court—Appeal from decree to Second Subordinate Judge - See JURISDICTION OF SUBORDINATE JUDGE, 14 A. 348= A.W.N. 1892, 25.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—HOLDING OVER, 22 W.R. 31.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—PAYMENT OF RENT BY TENANT, 18 B. 250.

By District Judge—Appeal after remand heard by Sub-Judge—Sub Judge cannot go behind remand order—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 7 Ind. Cas. 846 =12 C.L.J. 428.

Case remanded with specific declaration—Jurisdiction of lower Court — See LEGAL PRACTITIONER—PLEADER—AUTHORITY TO BIND CLIENT, 3 B.L R. App. 15.

On appeal from Commissioner of insolvency —See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—VAKIL, 18 M.L.J. 565.

Remand order—No judgment—No appeal—See LETTERS PATENT, HIGH COURT, 1865, CALCUTTA, s. 15. 2 Ind. Cas. 636.

See LETTERS PATENT, HIGH COURT, 1865, CALCUTTA, s. 15, 8 C. 147=9 C.L.R. 461.

See LETTERS PATENT HIGH COURT, 1865, MADRAS, s. 15, 19 M. 422=4 M.L.J. 263.

See LOCAL INVESTIGATION, 12 C. 45.

Appeal against order of, whether lies—See MESNE PROFITS—MISCELLANEOUS, 8 Ind. Cas. 162.

See MULTIFARIOUSNESS, 6 C.W.N. 585.

For fresh evidence when not to be allowed—See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, 1881, s. 80, 165 P.L.R. 1911.

By lower appellate Court—Inherent powers of Court to—See PARTIES TO SUIT—GENERAL, 11 Ind. Cas. 183.

Remand—continued

By appellate Court when suit not disposed on preliminary point - Inherent power of Court—See PARTIES TO SUIT—GENERAL, 7 Ind. Cas. 75=12 C.L.J. 368.

See PARTIES TO SUIT—ADDING PARTIES TO SUITS, 18 A. 332=A.W.N. 1896, 91.

Addition of parties after—See PARTIES TO SUIT—ADDING PARTIES TO SUITS, 20 P.L.R 1907.

See PLAINT—AMENDMENT OF PLAINT, 5 M L.J. 95.

Tender of documentary and oral evidence—Refusal by first Court to record oral evidence—Reversal of decree by lower appellate Court without admitting fresh evidence—Power of High Court to remand—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 17 A. 29=A.W.N 1894, 190.

Practice—Remand—Appellate Court, whether to deal with whole appeal after return of findings—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 10 A. 162=A.W.N. 1887, 295.

Practice as to taking evidence on— See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 10 Bom. L R. 536=32 B. 441.

To Courts in India—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 13 W R. 36, P.C.=4 B.L.R. 31, P.C.=13 M.I.A. 365.

To lower appellate Court—Appellant not entitled to notice—Date of hearing on remand—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 4 N.L.R. 166.

See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 13 B.L. R. 217, Note =18 W.R. 252.

Validity of an order of—When to be impeached after the passing of final decree—See PREEMPTION — CONSTRUCTION OF WAJIB-UL-ARZ, 5 Ind. Cas. 667.

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—AUTHORITY OF AGENTS, 3 B.L R A.C. 377.

See PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, 1881, ss 4, 64, 71, 4 O.C 224.

See PROFITS, SUIT FOR, P.L R. 1900, p. 314.

Remand, order of—Not set aside—Binding nature—See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT, 1907, s. 46, 10 M L.T. 78.

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, s. 23, 35 P.L.R. 1902=43 P.R. 1902.

Collusion—No distinct finding—See REGISTRATION, 4 B.L.R. A.C. 8=12 W.R. 456.

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 72, 73, 4 B.L R. A.C. 65=12 W.R. 385.

Appeal from order of remand—Effect of order in appeal—Res judicata—See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATIONS, 8 A. 172, F.B. =A.W N 1886, 35.

See RES JUDICATA—JUDGMENTS ON PRELIMINARY POINTS, EFFECT OF, 5 B.L.R. App. 64=14 W.R. 81.

See RES JUDICATA—MATTERS IN ISSUE, 6 C.L.R. 121, P.C.

Remand—concluded.

To lower Court, when to be made—S. 562, Civ Pro. Code—See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 30 M. 203.

Legality of order of—Entire suit not disposed of, by lower Court on preliminary point—See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 27 A. 163=A.W N. 1904, 202=1 A.L.J. 503.

See REVIEW—REVIEWS AFTER TIME, 6 B.H.C. A.C. 146.

Transfer of appeal by District Judge to Subordinate Judge after remand—Objection as to jurisdiction—See REVISION—GENERAL, P.L. R. 1900, p. 354.

Small Cause Judge not stating points for decision—High Courts' power in revision to—Suit—See REVISION—SMALL CAUSE COURT CASES, 6 M.L.J. 50.

See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—APPEALS AGAINST ORDERS WHEN LIE AND WHEN NOT, 29 C. 60.

Improper dealing with—Case—Re-hearing and decision of case on remand for particular purpose—See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—ERRORS OF LAW OR PROCEDURE, Marsh, 603.

See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—GROUNDS OF APPEAL, 20 W.R. 474.

Of suit for finding on issue framed—Objection by special appellant going to merits of case—See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE IN SPECIAL APPEAL, 1 M.H.C. 250.

Certificate of Collector that document is duly stamped—Production of certificate after dismissal of suit and when appeal is pending—Order of—See STAMP ACT, 1879, s. 37, A.W. N. 1887, 21.

See STAMP ACT, 1879, s. 39, Proviso 3, 13 B. 449, F.B.

Suit not properly valued to evade jurisdiction—Remand by appellate Court for findings—No final disposal by appellate Court—Validity of remand order—See SUITS VALUATION ACT, 1887, s. 11, 24 M. 427=11 M.L J. 315.

See SUPERINTENDENCE OF HIGH COURT, 6 W.R. 97, 13 B. 642.

Transfer of appeal remanded by the High Court — Jurisdiction of District Judge — See TRANSFER OF CIVIL CASES, 9 C.L.J. 572.

To District Judge, by High Court on appeal—Suit not transferable again, by District Judge to Subordinate Court—See TRANSFER OF CIVIL CASES, 21 A. 30= A.W.N.s 1899, 38.

Re-marriage.

See ACT XV OF 1856.

See HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.

See MARRIAGE.

(1)—Re-marriage by Hindu widow—Rights of inheritance.—By a Hindu widow, rights to succeed to the property left by her first husband. HARU v. KASHI, 4 Bom. L R 73; BASAPPA v. RAYAWA, 6 Bom. L.R. 779=26 B. 388.

Re marriage—concluded.

(2)—Act XV of 1856—Applicability to all Hindu widows.—The Hindu Widow Remarriage Act, XV of 1856 applied to all Hindu widows alike, whether permitted previously to the to re marry or not. SADHU GOUR enactment v. MT. PATANGO, 16 C.P.L.R. 99. (22 B. 321, F.)

(3)—Ghumman and Chimmah Jats of Sialkot—Re-marriage of divorced wife—Legitimacy of offspring.—Found, that by the custom of the Ghumman and Chimmah Jats of Sialkot, a woman who has received a written divorce from her husband, is free to contract a valid marriage, and the issue of the second marriage will be considered the legitimate children of their father. SUNDAR v. NIHALA, 84 P.R 1889.

Does not prevent Hindu widow from giving her son in adoption— See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 10 Bom. L.R. 1134=33 B. 107.

Alienation of property before—See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION, 1 Bom. L.R. 201.

Effect of—of Hindu mother on her position as guardian of her minor son— See HINDU LAW—GUARDIANSHIP, 4 N.L.R. 20.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 11 P.R. 1870.

Hindu widow—Remarriage—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 2 B.L.R. A. C. 199=11 W.R. 82.

Hindu Law—Widow—Exclusion from inner shrine—Jurisdiction of Courts—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 11—Hindu Widow Remarriage Act (Act XV of 1856, s. 6)—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 13 M. 293.

Re-marriage, Hindu widow's.

See ACT XV OF 1856.

Remission.

(1)—Contract Act, s. 63—Remission—Consideration unnecessary for—Suit for remitted sum—Not maintainable.—After a remission had been communicated to and accepted by the defendants, the plaintiff cannot maintain a suit to recover the amount remitted. Under s. 63, Contract Act, the plaintiff's remission need not be supported by consideration. GOPALAKRISHNA v. VENKATASUBBA NAIDU, 9 M. L. T. 270=9 Ind. Cas. 763. (19 M. 398, F.)

Lease-deed providing for, in case of excess or failure of rains, whether implies remission during "middling" season—See LEASE—CONSTRUCTION OF LEASE, 7 M.L.T. 39=5 Ind. Cas. 510.

Remoteness.

(1)—How to be decided.—In deciding the question of remoteness the invariable principle of English Courts, is to have regard to possible and not to actual events, and the fact that a gift might include objects too remote or incapable of profiting directly by the testator's bounty is fatal to its validity. Such principle is also applicable to the interpretation of Hindu Wills. SOWDAMINEY DOSSEE v. JOGESH CHUNDER DUTT, 2 C. 262. [Cons., 9 C.W.N. 749=1 C. L.J 482=32 C. 992.]

Remoteness—concluded.

Removal from Office.

(1)—Evidence not sufficient for conviction—Dismissal from office.—If a man is to be removed from office upon the ground of his having committed a particular offence, there is no mode of separating the evidence on which, or the means by which, he may be convicted of the offence for that purpose from the evidence on which or the means by which he may be convicted of that offence in a criminal trial. If he cannot be criminally convicted of the offence on the evidence in the case, he can neither be removed from the office unless there are other circumstances which make the removal from the office necessary. Such circumstances ought to be distinctly stated and clearly proved. GUNGADHUR ROY, In re, 13 W.R. 116.

Remuneration.

Of a guardian—See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT, 1890, s. 22, 1 Bom. L.R. 547=24 B 95.

Remuneration of Amins effecting partitions.

See ACT XI OF 1838.

Rent.

See ABATEMENT OF RENT.

See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT.

See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT.

See JURISDICTION OF REVENUE COURTS.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.

See LEASE.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ART. 110.

See RENT, SUIT FOR.

See RES JUDICATA—COMPETENCY OF COURTS.

See RIGHT OF SUIT—LANDLORD AND TENANT, SUITS CONCERNING.

See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT.

(1)—Rent suit—Intervention by partner—Act X of 1859, s. 77.—Where N instituted a suit for rent against J, who pleaded that he was not in possession, having sold his jote to W, who contended that N was entitled to recover only a moiety of the rent, the other half being due to M (the joint-putneedar with plaintiff, from whom W had taken a farming lease, held, that the defendant should be allowed to prove that he was not in possession; and if M be not allowed to appear as an intervenor, there could be no objection to W's being allowed to do so, as deriving his title from M, and to show that plaintiff had not received the whole of the rent. JUMARAT MANDAL v. NILKANT SIRCAR, 1 B.L.R. A.C. 74=10 W.R. 110.

(2)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 5, ss. 32, 78—Ejectment—Stamp—Limitation.—During the period that litigation is going on under cl. 5, s. 23, and s. 78, Act X of 1859, for ejectment and arrears of rent, the defendant's tenancy and obligation to pay rent are in suspense But by payment of rent under the latter section, a continuance of the tenancy is effected, the obligation to pay rent again arises, and the limitation of the right to arrears under s 32 then begins to run. DINDAYAL PARAMANIK v. RADHAKISHORI DEBI, 8 B.L R. 536 = 17 W R. 415. [R, 3 C. 817 = 2 C. L.R. 450 ; D., 3 C. 6, 23 C. 605.]

Rent—continued.

(3)—Putnee sale — Right of purchaser to higher rent — Ben Regulation VIII of 1819, s. 11, Act X of 1859, s. 13—Notice Opinion of Court.—There is no provision in the putnee law which gives the purchaser at a putnee sale the power to collect rent at a higher rate than was demandable by his predecessor without establishing his right so to do by a regular suit. Where, in such a rent suit by the purchaser, the simple issue framed was "from whom and to what amount can the plaintiff recover rent," the first Court would be wrong in expressing an opinion that notice should have been issued under s. 13 of Act X of 1859 and the appellate Court should not in the order of remand, find that the tenure was a "Khiraji brahmuttur holding at a fixed rent," or declare that "this is not a case in which notice under s. 13 of Act X of 1859 could issue." MAJORAM OGHA v. RAJA NILMONEY SINGH DEO, 13 B. L.R 198 = 21 W R. 326. [Rel. on, 14 C.W.N. 487 = 11 C.L.J. 209.]

(4)—Bengal Act, VIII of 1869, s. 29—Scope —Act X of 1859 Zemindar becoming co-sharer in taluq—Liability for rent.—The words of s. 29, Act VII of 1869 (B.C.) are identical with those of s. 32, Act X of 1859, and are intended to apply specially and exclusively of Act XIV of 1859, to the same class of cases as those which Act X of 1859 applies to, and the class is limited to suits for arrears of rent simply, as "arrears of rent" are defined in Act VIII of 1869, s. 21. [Appr., 6 C.P.L.R. 85 ; R, 24 W.R 382.] The zemindar by becoming a co sharer in a taluk does not lose his right to the joint responsibility of all the other share holders for the due payment of the rent ; he only becomes bound to make in his claim for rent a just and equitable allowance for that portion of it, which he as a share holder in the taluq, ought to contribute towards the common burden GOBINDO COOMAR CHOWDHRY v MANSON and MANSON v. GOBINDO COOMAR CHOWDHRY, 15 B L.R 56 = 23 W R. 152.

(5)—Act VIII and X of 1859—Execution—Sale of right to rent—Moveable property.—In execution of a decree for arrears of rent, under Act X of 1859, a Collector has power to sell the judgment-debtor's right to recover rent due from an under-tenant. For the purposes of Acts VIII and X of 1859, rent comes within the terms "property" and "moveable property." MAHESCHANDRA CHATTAPADHYA v. GURUPRASAD ROY, 5 B L.R. 155 = 13 W.R. 401. (1 B.L.R.A.C. 177, D.)

(6)—Decree barred by limitation—Evidence —Intervenor's receipt of rent—Bona fides—

Rent—continued.

Ben. Act X of 1859.—When a decree declaring plaintiff's title in a suit for rent under Act X of 1859, wherein the defendant had appeared as an intervenor, is not executed within the period allowed by law for execution, its operation ceases and it no longer remains a decree and it is no evidence against the fact of the defendant having actually received the rents bona fide. RAM SUNDER TEWARI v SRIMUNT DEWASI, 14 B.L.R. 371, Note = 10 W.R. 215.

(7)—Rent of lodgings let to prostitute—Contracts contra bonos mores.—A landlord cannot recover rent of lodgings knowingly let to a prostitute who also carried on her vocation there, the principles of English law being applicable to this country in such a case. GAURINATH MOOKERJEE v. MADHUMANI PESHAKAR, 9 B.L.R. App. 37 = 18 W.R. 445.

(8)—Landlord and tenant—Rent—Raiyatwari tenure—Alienation—Consent of Zemindar. —Where the right to hold at a fixed rent is not established, the general right of the Zemindar or talookdar to receive the collections, subject to an account, till a valid claim to an intermediate tenure be established, must prevail, ad interim, at least, until the plaintiff, if he think it fit for his interest to rely on the mouruse title, at a variable rent, establishes it by a suit founded on that title, in which suit the true nature of the tenure and its freedom from the condition of the superior's assent to the transfer of the tenure may be ascertained. Quære:—Whether a ryotwari tenure could be transferred without the consent of the Zemindar or talookdar, as the case might be, to the immediate successor in estate. MAHARANEE SHIBESSUREE DEBIA v. MOTHOORANATH ACHARJO, 13 W R P.C. 18 = 13 M I.A. 270 = 2 Suther 300 = 2 Sar. 528.

(9)—Decree for rent—Decree barred by limitation—Evidence of rate of rent—Admissibility. —A decree for rent which had not been executed for three years and had become barred under the law of limitation is admissible in evidence as to the rate of rent which the defendant was liable to pay. MAHARAJA BEERCHUNDER MANICK BAHADOOR v. RAMKISHEN SHAW, 14 B.L.R. 370, F.B. = 23 W.R. 128. [Expl., 3 C. 383.]

(10)—Suit for—Judgment by default—Effect. —Held that a judgment by default does not amount to a satisfaction of the rent embraced in the dismissed suit BABOO DHUNPUT SINGH v KAROO LOLL THAKOOR, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul, 85.

(11)—Payments made to Zemindar by occupiers of village abadi on marriages, whether ground rent or cess.—Certain Gareriaas, who lived in the abadi of the plaintiff's village, used to pay her a certain amount on the occasion of their son's or daughter's marriages Held, that such payment was a ground-rent for the use and occupation of the site in the abadi, and not a cess SUGHRA BEGAM v. NAROTAM, 11 Ind. Cas. 217. (A W.N. 1908, 295, 30 A. 235, 5 A.L.J. 361, 17 C. 726, R.)

Rent—continued.

(12)—Kabuliyat, Construction of — Terms clear as to payment of rent partly in kind and partly in money—Fixed rent—Later documents not between the same parties—Evidentiary value.—Where the terms of a Kabuliyat clearly point to the fact that the rent is to be as to part in money and as to part in kind, and this is further emphasized by express provisions relating to the delivery of paddy in a particular month, it cannot be held that fixed rent was in the contemplation of the parties. No canon of construction would allow the Court to construe an earlier document by reference to a later document which is not between the same parties. BANESWAR MUKHERJI v. UMESH CHANDRA CHAKRAVARTHI, 37 C. 626=7 Ind. Cas. 875.

(13)—Landlord and tenant—Kabuliyat, construction of—Rent, partly in money and partly in kind—Grant in perpetuity—Oral evidence, not admissible to vary terms of kabuliyat—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92.—A quabuliyat was granted in perpetuity, the rent was made payable partly in kind and partly in cash, and the parties expressly provided that, if the rent payable in kind was not duly delivered, the tenant would be liable for a specified fixed sum: Held, that oral evidence was not admissible to prove that the tenant had agreed to pay the price of the paddy at the current market rate, and not at the rate specified in the kabuliyat, upon failure to deliver it duly. AFAR alias GODAI MORAL v. SURJA KUMAR GHOSE, 7 Ind. Cas 842=12 C.L.J. 649. (2 Ind. Cas. 160, 6 Ind. Cas. 577, F.; 3 C.W.N. 151, 14 C.W.N. 192, D.)

(14)—Kabuliyat—Construction — Remission of rent on account of Mondoloi—Mondoi's services dispensed with—Rent of holding, what is to be considered as.—The defendant executed a kabuliyat to the plaintiff in 1865 in the following terms:—"The rent, at the rate of 5 annas a bigha, has been settled at Rs. 2,434; on the prayer of the tenant and in consideration of his services as mondol, a sum of Rs. 811 is remitted and the tenant admits a rent of Rs. 1,623 and agrees to pay the same year by year in accordance with certain instalments." The plaintiff in 1909 removed the defendant from his position as mondol and brought this suit for rent at the higher amount. It appeared that, in certain egrars executed by the defendant, the rent actually fixed was declared to be the smaller amount, and in the rent receipts granted the rent payable as the jama was stated at the lower figure, and that, when on one occasion an attempt was made to state the jama at the higher figure and below this the remission, the tenant objected and the attempt was abandoned. Held, that, on a true construction of the Kabuliat, the lesser sum agreed to be paid was the rent of the holding, and that the remission granted was not contingent upon, or held in abeyance as payment for, services to be rendered, but represented a permanent and irrevocable abatement. RAHIM BAKSH v. SASI KANTA, 8 Ind. Cas. 18.

Rent—continued.

(15)—Rent, Suit for—Kabuliat not proved—Issue, as to existence of taluk raised and decided—Issue, subject of decision—Estoppel—Settlement of taluk with talukdar as estate, effect of—Use and occupation, decree for—Admission of payment of rent to talukdar, if evidence of sum payable to zemindar.—Certain taluks including A within an estate were sold for arrears of Government Revenue and purchased by the Government, who continued to hold the estate as a khas mahal. For a good number of years, temporary settlements were made as regards A with the talukdars, and finally, in the year 1869, the taluk was separately assessed with Government revenue and formed into a separate estate with a separate Touji number and settled with the talukdars. Held, that the effect of settlement was to convert the taluk into a separate estate paying revenue to Government. That settlement having been made with, and accepted by, the talukdars, the talukdari interest ceased to exist. A suit for rent was based on a kabuliat said to have been executed by the defendant for certain land included in an estate A which the plaintiff purchased at a sale for arrears of revenue. The defendant denied the execution of the kabuliat and said that there was a shikmi taluk intermediate between his holding and the proprietary right which the plaintiff had acquired by his purchase, and that the rent was paid to the shikmi talukdars. The kabuliat was not proved. Held, that, though there was no admission that the amount of rent admitted to have been paid was payable to the plaintiff, the statement was evidence of what would be a fair sum to allow for use and occupation. When an issue was framed in the first Court as to whether the alleged shikmi taluk did or did not exist and both parties went into evidence on that question, and the issue was the subject of decision in both the Lower Courts: Held that it was too late for the plaintiff to raise an objection in the High Court that the Courts below should not have tried that issue. KALI CHANDRA HOM CHOWDHURY v. RAM HARI DEY, 14 C.L.J. 310=12 Ind. Cas. 462

(16)—Change of plea—Denial of kabuliyat—Suit for rent.—Where, in a suit for rent, the tenant denied the execution of the kabuliyat propounded by the plaintiffs, pleaded that it was forged and denied payment of rent under it to the plaintiffs, and failed to establish his pleas, held that he could not afterwards be permitted to prove that the plaintiffs were not the true landlords, since he had not pleaded that he had executed the kabuliyat and paid rent to the plaintiffs on account of ignorance, mistake or misrepresentation. KELU DAS v. SURENDRA NATH SINHA, 7 C.W.N. 596. (4 C.L.R. 168, F.; 11 C. 519, Expl.)

(17)—Suit for arrears of rent—Rate of rent alleged by plaintiff not proved—Practice.—In every suit brought for arrears of rent in which the plaintiff fails to prove his allegations regarding the rate of rent, it is not the duty of the Court to ascertain what is the fair rat

Rent—continued.

of rent unless it is asked to do so. RASH DHARY GOPE v. KHAKON SINGH, 24 C. 433. (7 C. 298, Cons.)

(18)—Rent received from person holding under pattah which is void—Effect.—If a pattah is void as against a person and not voidable only, the mere receipt of rent by him, though of the same amount as that fixed by the pattah would not have the effect of confirming the pattah in its entirety. BENI PERSHAD KOERI v. DUDHANATH ROY, 27 C. 156. P.C.=26 I A. 216=4 C W.N. 274=7 Sar. 580. [R., 12 C.W.N. 1086=8 C.L.J. 261.]

(19)—S. 4, Succession Certificate Act, 1889—"Debt."—Rent is not a debt. Therefore no succession certificate is necessary, to recover the same. NAGENDRA NATH BASU v. SATADAL BASINI BASU, 26 C 536=3 C.W.N. 294.

(20)—Suit for—by owner and putnidar of an estate against putnidar thereof, maintainability of—Misjoinder of causes of action—Non-joinder of parties—Creation of intermediate tenure between Zemindar and putnidar—Right of landlord, whose name is not registered, to sue for, against putnidar—Two estates belonged to two persons, each of them owning one half of each estate. Both the owners granted a putni under each estate to defendants 1 and 2 in the present suit. Some time after, the present plaintiff became entitled to the whole of one of the two estates, one half thereof as purchaser in a sale for arrears of revenue and the other half as putnidar under the then owner thereof. A moiety of the other estate was transferred by sale to defendants 3 and 4 and with the other moiety, the suit was not concerned. The present suit by the plaintiff was for the recovery of his share of the arrears of rent due from defendants 1 and 2 to him as proprietor and putnidar of one of the estates. Defendants 3 and 4 were impleaded by the plaintiff as pro forma defendants, but on their application, they were made by the Court co-plaintiffs. The defendants contended that the suit was bad for non-joinder of parties, that it was barred as res judicata and that the plaintiff, as putnidar, was not entitled to demand rent from the defendants, who were also putnidars. The first contention was to the effect that, as the defendants held their putni under both estates by virtue of two leases, the owners of the other moiety in the second estate should have been joined, so as to have the whole body of landlords in both estates suing for the entire rental due under both leases. Held, this was not necessary, for, in the first place, the law does not require that the owners of two different estates should sue for their rent jointly, if the rent due to each estate is known; and, secondly, as a matter of fact, the owners of the other moiety in the second estate were collecting the rent due to them separately from the defendants. It was also found that an apportionment of the rent due to the different landlords had taken place with their consent. Consequently, the suit was not bad for non-joinder. Upon the second question, the defendants' contentions were two:—(1) that, if the plaintiffs had instituted this suit earlier for one year's rent, it would have lain in the Munsiff's Court and (2) that he could not sue jointly upon the two leases given to the defendants, for each lease constituted a separate cause of action, and if he had instituted separate suits on the two leases, the suits would have lain in the Munsiff's Court; in all of which events, his suits would have been barred as res judicata by virtue of a former decision passed in the Munsiff's Court; and that plaintiff ought not to have been permitted to frame his suit, so as to escape from such defect. Held, the contentions were not sustainable. A landlord has full liberty to decide when he will sue for arrears of rent. As the plaintiff was entitled to collect the entire rent due from the defendants in the first estate, there was no reason why he should not sue for the entire rent in one suit. The two shares in that estate were undivided and the two leases were alike. This suit was, therefore, rightly instituted in the Sub Judge's Court. As the present suit was not cognizable by the Munsiff's Court which tried the former suit, there was no bar by rule of res judicata under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. (10 C. 697) 11 C. 153. 25 C. 571, 24 M. 444. 28 C 78. D.) The third contention really was whether the relation of landlord and tenant subsisted between the plaintiff and defendants. When once a putni is granted, the grantor's successor cannot infringe the putnidar's rights. Hence the bestowal of a putni lease on the plaintiff did not convert the defendant's putni into a dar-putni. Nevertheless, the Zemindar still held, after the grant of the putni to the defendants, the power to grant a portion of his remaining rights and to create a tenure intermediate between his and the defendants'. That was what the Zemindar did by the putni lease to the plaintiff. Consequently, the plaintiff's putni lease constituted an intermediate tenure between the Zemindar's and the defendants, and, therefore, the plaintiff was entitled to demand the rent, which the defendants were bound to pay to their superior landlord. Plaintiff's claim was allowed. The claims of the co-plaintiffs were not allowed, since their names were not registered. RAJ KUMAR MAJUMDAR v. PROBAL CHANDRA GANGULI, 9 C W N 656.

(21)—Rent suit—Non-joinder of co-sharers—Evidence.—An agreement for payment of the separate rent of a share would be presumed, from the fact of rent having been collected for some time by one of several co-sharers separately. It is a question in each case whether the facts are sufficient to warrant such a presumption. SHAIKH KAMALODDEEN v. ANOO MUNDUL, 1 C.L R. 564.

(22)—Rent, Assessment of—Tank—Adverse possession—Limitation.—The mere fact of the defendant and his predecessors having been in possession without payment of rent for over 12 years, is not sufficient for basing a valid title in bar of the plaintiff's suit. But where the settlement khatian shewed that the defendant claimed the land as rent free and the plaintiff's agent denied the claim, there was a claim of niskar (rent free) title unqualified by reference to any document and a denial of the same by the plaintiff's agent. A hostile right was thus claimed to the knowledge of the plaintiff, and a suit, brought more than 12 years after, would be barred. MAHARAJA BIRENDRA KISHORE v. ROSAN, 15 C.L.J. 203=13 Ind. Cas. 518=39 C. 453=16 C.W.N. 929, Note.

Rent—continued.

(23)—Party, Addition of—Rent suit—Suit against some of the tenants—Application by rest to be made parties—Dispossession—Rent decree against some of the tenants, whether causes dispossession of other joint tenants.—After the death of the original tenant, the landlord obtained a rent decree against some only of the deceased tenant's representatives. A second rent suit was brought against the same persons, in which the petitioners applied to be added as parties defendants, on the allegation that they were co-sharers of the tenants defendants and were in possession of the holding in that character: Held that the Court ought to have determined summarily whether the petitioners were representatives of the original tenant and were in joint possession of the holding, and that, if it was proved that they were interested in the tenancy, they should have been added as defendants in order to avoid multiplicity of litigation:—Held, also, that the petitioners, who allege that they are in actual occupation of the lands of the tenancy, cannot be said to have been dispossessed in the eye of the law, simply because the landlord chose to obtain a decree for rent against some only of the representatives of the original tenant. BASLI BIBI v. HANIFUD DIN MANDAL, 6 Ind. Cas. 570=12 C.L.J. 267.

(24)—Suit for arrears of rent against occupancy tenants—Liability of a Zurpeshgidar of a portion of the holding for the rent of the whole holding—Practice.—In execution of a decree for arrears of rent against the occupancy tenants, the landlord-decree-holder purchased the holding himself, but obtained delivery of possession some time after. The present suit was for recovery of arrears of rent against the old tenants for the interim period—from the date of purchase to the date the possession was obtained—and plaintiff impleaded a Zurpeshgidar of a portion of the holding, along with the tenants, claiming the rent of the entire holding even as against the said Zurpeshgidar. Held, that a landlord cannot sue tenants for the rent of the whole holding and at the same time sue the Zurpeshgidar also for the same, when that Zurpeshgidar is in occupation of only a small portion of the holding. Such a procedure would not be right and equitable, or in accordance with the practice of this Court. MOHANT RAM DAS v. TAKUR SINGH, 1 C L J. 136.

(25)—Enhancement of—Kabuliyat, Construction of—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 7, liability to enhancement under—Fair and equitable rent.—In a suit for enhancement of rent, the Court decreed an enhancement to the extent of 70 per cent. of the net assets. On appeal, it was contended that the tenants were not liable to pay at enhanced rates, under the provisions of s. 7 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, that their liability was restricted by the terms of the Kabuliyat and that the amount decreed was very excessive and not a fair and equitable rent; held, after disallowing the first two contentions, that the amount fixed was very excessive and it must be reduced so as to leave the tenants a profit of 40 per cent. RAM KUMAR SINGH v. MESSRS. ROBERT WASTON & CO., 9 C.W.N. 334. [R., 1 C.L.J 572.]

(26)—S. 92, Evidence Act—Registered lease—Subsequent alteration of rent by oral agreement—Not valid—Acceptance of rent at lower rate Effect of—Res judicata—Rent suit—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 51—No oral agreement is admissible under s. 92 of the Evidence Act for the purpose of altering the rent fixed by a registered lease; and even if the landlord accepted rent at a rate lower than that mentioned in the registered lease, he is not precluded from subsequently claiming rent at the rate stated in the lease; for the mere acceptance of a reduced rent, though it may amount to a full acquittance cannot operate as a binding contract (6 C W N. 60, 22 M 261. 26 M. 195, F.; 24 C. 20. 6 C.W.N 242. D.) The general rule is that a decision in a previous rent suit, as to the amount of rent payable, does not operate as res judicata in a suit for rent of subsequent years, although it may give rise to a presumption under s. 51 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. BISHAMBAR ROY v. LAKHATULLAH SHEIKH, 2 Ind. Cas. 160. (5 C.L.J. 92, F.)

(27)—Suit for.—In a suit to recover rent, the plaintiff must establish that the relationship of landlord and tenant existing between the parties rests either on contract or privity of estate. MANJAPPA v. VENKATESH, 8 Bom. L.R. 983=31 B. 159.

(28)—Payment of— Premises vacated under the Epidemic Diseases Act.—When under the Epidemic Diseases Act, it becomes unlawful for a tenant to occupy the premises in the manner contemplated by the lease, there is no breach of the lessor's contract for quiet enjoyment and the tenant is liable to pay the rent and taxes for the whole period MERWANJI v. SYED SIRDAR ALI KHAN, 1 Bom. L.R. 267 =23 B. 510.

(29)—Epidemic Diseases Act—Where a tenant, under a monthly tenancy, is obliged to vacate the premises under an order from the Plague authority appointed under the Rules framed under the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, he is not thereby absolved from the liability to pay the rent for the remaining portion of the month and to give the usual month's notice to quit. MAHOMEDALLY v. CAMPBELL, 1 Bom. L R. 739.

(30)—Enhancement of, by an Inamdar.—A mirasdar on an inam estate is only a tenant at a quit-rent or at a reasonable rent not subject to enhancement so long as he pays it. The permanency of his tenure is undisputable. He and his descendants from generation to generation enjoy the land so long as they pay the rent to the Inamdars. In the absence of any express contract limiting the rent in perpetuity, the mirasdar pays a fair and equitable rent such as according to the custom of the country is leviable on miras land of the description held by him. KHANDERAO v. RAMJI, 1 Bom. L.R. 373.

Rent—continued.

(31)—Inamdar — Usage.—In cases where enhancement of rent by an Inamdar is sought to be sanctioned by usage, the test is, whether there has been any and what enhancement according to the usage of the locality in respect of land of the same description held on the same tenure. RAJYA v. BALKRISHNA, 7 Bom. L.R. 439=29 B 415.

(32)—Mirasdar.—Where an Inamdar seeks to impose enhanced rent on a mirasdar it lies upon him to prove that the enhanced rent is fair and equitable and such as according to the custom of the country is leviable on land of the description held by the mirasdar. LAXUMAN v. KRISHNAJI, 9 Bom. L.R. 861.

(33)—Act VIII of 1865—Arrears of rent—Charge.—The arrears of rent claimed by a Zamindar, is not a charge on the maganam or division, from which the rent is due. It is a debt due to the Zamindar and nothing more. THE ZAMINDAR OF RAMNAD v. RAMAMANY AMMAL, 2 M. 234. [R., 10 M. 266, 29 M. 29.]

(34)—Kattubadi—Charge on land —Kattubadi is rent and is not chargeable on the land concerned. GAJAPATHI RAJAH v. SURYANARAYANA, 22 M. 11. [F., 10 M.L.J. 256.]

(35)—No contract as to rate—Local usage.—Where there has been no contract as to the rate of rent which varied from time to time, the landlord is entitled to be paid rent according to local usage, i.e., according to the established varam of the village. VENKATRAMAYA v. GANGANNA, 9 M.L.J. 26.

(36)—Landlord and tenant—Claim for varam rent—Absence of contract for rent — Madras Rent Recovery Act (Mad. Act VIII of 1865), s. 11 (2).—In the absence of a contract for rent, express or implied, a landlord is entitled to demand varam from his tenant. To such a case cl. 2 of s. 11 of the Madras Rent Recovery Act has no application. SUPPAN SERVAI v. DORASINGAM, 8 Ind. Cas. 156 =8 M.L.T. 451.

(37)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 3—Demand of enhanced rent by landlord—Suit by ryot— Kubooleut whether genuine — Jurisdiction—Revenue Court.—Under cl. 3, s. 23 of Act X of 1859, the Revenue Courts, have jurisdiction to adjudicate on complaints of excessive demand of rent. The fact that it would be necessary for those Courts to determine as to the genuine character of a kubooleut does not deprive them of their jurisdiction. KASHEE RAM v. GUNGA PERSHAD, 2 N W.P. 304.

(38)—Ex-proprietary tenancy—Agreement to pay rent at a stipulated rate—Rent not determined by Revenue Court—Fair rate —A sold his zamindari property to B and covenanted that, if possession of the sir land was not delivered to B, A should pay rent for such land at the rate of Rs. 12, a bigha. Upon finding that this was a fair rate of rent for an ex-proprietary tenant to pay, held, that A was bound by his covenant, unless he could show that the covenant was obtained from him by fraud or that it was contrary to law. The mere fact that B had not applied to the Revenue Court for determination of A's rent did not disentitle B to get from A the rent which he had covenanted to pay. SHEO NANDAN v. THAKUR RAI, 6 A.L.J. 161=5 M.L.T. 347=3 Ind. Cas. 31.

(39)—Rent in kind before settlement—Cash rent after.—The fact that the tenant paid rent in kind before settlement cannot be a ground for the landlord to demand the same rent in kind after settlement when cash rents have been fixed at settlement. GHULAM RASOOL v. EEDA, 6 P R. 1867, Rev.

(40)—Rate of rent—Hereditary cultivator.—In fixing the rate of rent payable by a hereditary cultivator, the rates payable by the same class of ryots for land of a similar description and with similar advantages in the places adjacent, must be taken into consideration. BULDEO v. CHYNSOOK, 9 P.R. 1867, Rev.

(41)—Rent in cash—Change of, into rent in kind.—When, for a long series of years, a landlord realized his rent in cash he cannot at his pleasure change that into rent in kind because grain rates are fixed at settlement. MULLIK SHER MAHOMED KHAN v. ILUM KHAN, 15 P.R. 1867, Rev.

(42)—Hereditary cultivators—Cultivation of bunjur land—Liability to be assessed with rent —Rent in kind—Rent in cash.—Plaintiff was a landholder, and defendant a hereditary cultivator in occupation of certain land, which was not assessed at Settlement, not having been then brought into cultivation. The tenant brought it into cultivation afterwards and the proprietor demanded from him rent in kind and at a higher rate, though, in respect of other lands, the tenant paid only cash rent. The question was whether the proprietor can so enhance the rent. Held that though the wajib-ul-arz was silent on the point, there must be an implied contract that hereditary cultivators who break up bunjur land will pay something for it; otherwise, they would hold lakhiraj, that is, paying no revenue and no rent. But there was no reason for demanding from them more unfavourable rents for lands brought under cultivation after settlement than they had been paying for lands similarly brought under cultivation before settlement. KHYRUN SHAH v. MULIK SAHIB RAE, 90 P. R. 1867.

Rent—continued.

(43)—Jagirdar drawing his rent in cash—Assignee of Jagirdar drawing rent in kind—Recording of cash rates in the settlement of 1857—Assignee bound to draw in cash—Consent of proprietors unnecessary.—Defendant derived his title as mafidar from the jagirdar who drew his rent in cash. The defendant drew his rent in kind up to the settlement of 1857 when the cash rates were recorded. Held that, without the consent of the proprietors, the defendant was bound, as the jagirdar would be, to draw the revenue in cash. BALRAM DASS v. GUNGA RAM, 1 P R. 1869, Rev.

(44)—Claim for water rent—Evidence of past receipt of rent—Right of defendant to dispute plaintiff's title to demand rent—This was a suit for water rent. The defendant questioned the plaintiff's title to demand rent. The Commissioner, on appeal by defendant, refused to go into the question of title thus raised, and passed a decree for the plaintiff on the ground of his having produced evidence to prove the receipt of water rent by him up to the period for which it was claimed in this suit. Held that the Commissioner was wrong in having refused to decide in the present suit the question raised throughout the proceedings as to the title of the plaintiff to demand water rent from the defendant. Had this been a summary suit for rent heard by a Revenue Court under the old laws of procedure, the Commissioner might have been right in holding that, on the plaintiff's producing evidence that he had always received water rent up to the period for which the claim was preferred, he had afforded sufficient prima facie proof of his title to warrant the passing of a decree for rent without further enquiry, the defendant being referred to a regular suit in the Civil Court if he still disputed the plaintiff's title. But, according to the present procedure, this was an ordinary civil suit, in which the question of title raised was a good defence, and the Commissioner had jurisdiction and was bound to proceed to determine the point. The admitted facts of the case were as follows:—The wells in respect of which rent was claimed had been constructed by a person who had previously held the village in farm. He had agreed, by an entry in the wajib ul-arz, not to demand, at the expiry of the farming lease, anything from the proprietors of the village on account of the cost of the construction of the wells. The term of the farming lease had expired before the Fasli for which rent was claimed. Plaintiff had become by purchase proprietor of two-thirds of the village, and the defendant of one-third. Held, on these facts, that defendant was not liable for water rent. RAM SOOKH v. SHEO SUHAI, 16 P.R. 1869.

(45)—Hereditary cultivators, entry regarding—S. 2 of Tenancy Act, agreement within scope of—Void if uncertain—An entry in a settlement record which, without affecting to deal definitely with the question of the status of the parties to the suit, declared that the tenants should go on paying rent as before, and referred the proprietors to a regular suit to correct the record if the entry was incorrect, though an agreement within the scope of s. 2 of the Punjab Tenancy Act was held to be void for uncertainty under s. 29 of the Contract Act, as it was indefinite and no time for its continuance was fixed. SARBALAND v. GHASITU, 81 P R. 1876. [D., 3 P.R. 1880, Rev., 50 P.R. 1883.]

Rent—continued.

(46) Occupancy tenant—Decree for arrears of rent—Satisfaction of decree after 15 days—Ejectment—Act XXVIII of 1868, s 19.—An occupancy tenant who has not satisfied a decree for arrears of rent within 15 days, cannot be ejected under s 19 of the Tenancy Act, if he satisfies the decree for arrears at any time before a decree for ejectment is passed. RULDU v. MUTSADDI 29 P R 1877. [Appr., 13 P.R. 1880, 5 P.R. 1900, Rev.]

(47)—Act XI of 1865 (Small Cause Courts Act), s. 6—"Rent"—Rent due on contract—In s. 6 of the Small Cause Courts Act, 1865, the term "rent" is not limited in meaning to rent due on contract, but includes money claimable in respect of premises of the plaintiff used and occupied by the defendant without a contract. There is no reason for supposing that the term "rent" has the more limited meaning, and no violence is done to the term by holding that it is susceptible of the wider meaning. CHUNNILAL v MUSSAMUT SHAHZADA KHANAM, 158 P.R. 1884 [R., 86 P.R. 1887.]

(48)—Rent, Arrears of—Tenant admitted to holding of an occupancy tenant at enhanced rent—Enhancement of rent of tenant succeeding occupancy tenant—Rent Act (Oudh), 1886, s. 47.—A tenant with a right of occupancy in a holding at a rent of Rs. 90-8-0 was ejected therefrom in due course of law. The defendant took part of the above holding at a rent of Rs. 20 and executed a kabuliat therefor. The plaintiff (landlord) sued the defendant for the recovery of his rent at the rate of Rs 20. The defendant contended that, as the rent payable by the out-going tenant averaged less than Rs. 2 per bigha and the rent payable by him under his kabuliat averaged over Rs. 9 per bigha, the enhancement was illegal. Held, that s. 47 of the Oudh Rent Act had no application to the case of an occupancy tenant being succeeded by a tenant not having right of occupancy, and that therefore the rent claimed by the plaintiff at the enhanced rate mentioned in the kabuliat was perfectly legal and he was entitled to recover it from the defendant. SUNDAR CHAUBE v. MAHANT HAR CHARAN DAS, 5 O.C 193.

(49)—Arrears of rent, Suit for—Decree of Settlement Court—Money charged upon immoveable property—Jurisdiction of Civil Court—Frame of suit—Relief—Indian Limitation Act, sch. II, arts. 65, 120 and 132—"Right to sue for arrears of money due under settlement decree without proving receipt of the money since the decree—Code of Civil Procedure, ss. 13, 43 and 371.—At the first regular settlement the defendants obtained a decree against the Government for proprietary rights in a certain village. A suit was brought at the same settlement by the plaintiff for superior proprietary rights in the same village and was dismissed, but the decree dismissing it decreed to him, 10 per cent. on the Government revenue. Subsequently the plaintiff sued to have this decree set aside, and to recover possession of the village or to obtain an increased amount of "malikana." This suit abated after which the plaintiff brought the suit for arrears of the 10 per cent. on the Government revenue decreed to him and he based his claim upon the settlement decree. The relief for which he asked was "that a decree for "malikana" dues in respect of the village with costs of the suit be passed in his favour against the defendants." Held, that the money claimed was not rent, and that the suit not being one for arrears of rent within the meaning of the Oudh Rent Act was cognizable by the Civil Courts. Held further, that the 10 per cent. on the Government revenue decreed to the plaintiff was a charge upon the village. Where a plaintiff is suing for money which as a matter of fact is charged upon immoveable property, the suit may be regarded as one to raise the money out of the property, unless it is quite clear that the plaintiff only intended to ask for relief against the person of the defendants and not for relief against the property. Having regard to the circumstances of the present case, it was held that this suit might properly be regarded as one for money charged upon immoveable property and that therefore it was governed by art. 132 and not by art. 120 or by art. 65, sch. II of the Indian Limitation Act. Upon the contention that the suit was barred by limitation because the plaintiff had not at any time received his share of the profit or any part thereof it was held that the plaintiff's right to receive the money having been established by the settlement decree, he could sue for arrears for twelve years next before the suit without proving that he had received the money since the decree. Held that the suit was not barred by ss. 13, 43 and 371 of the Code of Civil Procedure. RAJA MOHAMMAD MUMTAZ ALI KHAN v. WAZIR KHAN, 7 O.C. 108.

Rent—continued.

(50)—Arrears of rent, Suit for—Kabuliat executed on stamp payable for lease and registered—Transfer of Property Act, s. 107, Res-judicata.—The plaintiff-appellant sued the respondent for arrears of rent alleging him to be a lessee of certain villages. The respondent admitted he had executed a kabuliat in favour of the appellant, that he had been placed in possession of the villages and had collected the rents. The claim however was resisted on the ground that the relation of landlord and tenant or thekadar, did not exist between the parties inasmuch as there had been no registered lease executed by the appellant in favour of respondent as required by law. In a previous suit for arrears of rent brought by the appellant against the respondent on the lease now in question the respondent never raised the defence that there was no valid lease and a decree was passed for an amount agreed upon by the parties. Held, that the kabuliat executed by the respondent was a lease within the meaning of s. 107 of the Transfer of Property Act and that the relation of landlord and tenant subsisted between the parties. S. 107 does not specifically lay down that the lease must be by a registered instrument executed by the lessor, and having regard to the prevailing practice in these provinces, and s. 2 (16) of the Stamp Act a duly stamped registered instrument executed by the lessee and accepted by the lessor either in writing or by his acts, constitutes a good lease and establishes the relation of landlord and tenant between the parties. Held further, that the defence raised in the case was barred by the principal of res judicata. HON'BLE MAHARAJA SIR PARTAB NARAIN SINGH v. RAGHO BEHARI, 7 O.C. 169. [Obs. 8 O.C. 197.]

(51)—Protected thekadar—Enhancement of rent.—In the case of a protected thekadar the amount of rent shall be fixed by the Deputy Commissioner should there be a dispute between the parties about the same. LACHMAN TELI v. SETH DHANRUPMAL, 12 C.P L.R. 39.

(52)—Payment in advance—Effect thereof as loan to landlord.—A payment of rent in advance is in effect a loan to the landlord to be applied thereafter in discharge of the tenant's obligation to pay rent as it accrues due. GOVIND RAO v. GOPAL RAO, 14 C.P.L.R. 65.

(53)—Liability to pay arrears on succession. The condition to pay rent due and in arrear which is part of the right of occupancy follows the land and affects the person upon whom the right of occupancy devolves. But a daughter inheriting to her father cannot be made liable personally to the arrears of rent that accrued due during her father's lifetime. MT. JANKI BAI v. MT. BAYABAI, 16 C.P.L.R. 55. (14 A. 381, F).

(54)—Enhancement of by a Palmpatdar—Land Revenue Code (Berar), s. 78 (8), necessity of previous notice to tenant under.—In the absence of any "express agreement" such as is referred to in sub s (8) of s. 78 of the Land Revenue Code (Berar) before a Palampatdar could enhance the rent payable by his tenant, he is bound to give notice to the latter according to the method laid down by the above sub section in the provisions of which are mandatory. In the present case which was a suit by such a Superior Holder to collect enhanced rent, admittedly, no such notice had been given to the tenant, and the plaintiff was therefore held not entitled to maintain the suit. DINAJI PARBHAJI v. DATTOBA alias SANTOSHRAO, 2 N.L.R. 145.

(55)—Agricultural lease—Burden of proof.—Where the terms of a lease of agricultural land are in question and where both parties are agriculturists, the burden of proving that the plaint land was let to the defendant for less than a reasonable rent at the rate ordinary in the locality for similar land in the same season, is upon the defendant. The witnesses who say that a fair ordinary rent was stipulated are prima facie more entitled to credit than those who assert the contrary. MAUNG SHANO v. MAUNG SAN BAW, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 275.

Rent—continued.

(56)—Execution of sale of land held under usufructuary mortgage—Decree-holder's right to sell such land.—Defendant was owner of certain land; he mortgaged it to plaintiff; plaintiff left him in possession as his tenant; defendant was dispossessed by a creditor in execution of a decree against him. Apparently defendant should not have been dispossessed, the land being in his possession on behalf of plaintiff as usufructuary mortgagee, and all that the decree-holder could do was to sell defendant's right or equity of redemption. Under such circumstances defendant would prima facie be responsible for the rent, his dispossession being due to his own fault and not to the plaintiff's. MAUNG CHIT PON v. MAUNG HMON, U.B.R. 1892 1896, Vol. II, 613.

(57)—Tenancy—Presumption — Annual letting.—Where, as in Burma, the practice of annual letting is customary, the presumptions of a relationship of landlord and tenant once proved continuing to subsist is not so strong, as it is the case in other parts of India. It must always be open to a tenant in Burma to show that he is no longer a tenant, or, in other words, that the relationship has ceased to exist. MAUNG KYAW v. MAUNG NI, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 535.

(58)—Appeal, Second —Small Cause suit—Rent due to a landlord which tenant promised to pay to landlord's creditor—Whether such rent is rent for land—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 584—Lower Burma Courts Act (VI of 1900), ss. 2 (b), 38 - Revision—Erroneous order passed after consideration of facts and law · Sale in execution—Lien—Purchase with knowledge of lien.—A, a tenant of B's mortgagor, executed in favour of B a bond undertaking to pay to B the rent due to the mortgagor and the mortgagor signed the bond as a witness only; beyond this there was nothing to show that he agreed to the rent due to him being paid direct to B and written off against his liabilities. B sued for paddy due on account of rent: Held, that the right to the rent vested in the landlord, and the tenant could not contract with a third party to divest his landlord of that right, and that what B was suing for was not the paddy qua rent of the land, but merely for the amount of the paddy due under the bond. Held, therefore, that the suit was not one for rent of land, nor was it a land suit, but that it was of a nature cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, and that consequently no second appeal lay under s. 584 of the Code of 1882, or under s. 30 of the Burma Courts Act. Where a person, who has a lien on property which is attached and proclaimed for sale, informs intending purchasers of such lien, and a purchaser bids in spite of the warning, the purchase is subject to the lien. (5 M. I. A. 271, D.) The decision of a lower Court which is arrived at after a due consideration of the facts and the law applicable thereto, even though erroneous, cannot be interfered with in revision. MAUNG LON GYI v. RAHMAN CHETTY, 12 Ind. Cas. 855. (2 L.B.R. 333, F.)

Rent—continued.

This circular circulates letter to Judge of Bhaugulpore, informing him that a ryot has a right in a district like his to deposit in Court such portion of his produce as represents the rent admittedly due to the zemindar. Civ. Cis. Meemo, No. 4, 23 W.R. Rules and Ords. of the H.C. p. 8.

Rent in kind—Bhaoli—See BEN. ACT X OF 1859, ss. 3 and 4, 1 A. 301, F.B.

Suit for—Of fishery or Jalkar tenure—See BEN. ACT X OF 1859, ss. 6, 23, 31 C. 937=8 C.W.N. 804.

Intervenor in—Suit—See BEN. ACT X OF 1859, s. 77, 2 B.L.R. App. 16.

See BEN. ACT X OF 1859, s. 77, 6 B.L.R. App. 106.

See BEN. ACT X OF 1859, s. 153, 1 N.W.P. 157.

See BEN. ACT VI OF 1862, 1 B.L.R.S.N. 7(a).

Right to pottah—Agreement fixing rent—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, Marsh 325.

Damages for withholding receipts for rent—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, 2 Hay 516.

Conversion of nakdi into bhowli rent before the submission of road cess return—See BEN. ACT IX OF 1880, s. 4, 11 C.W.N. 211.

Sums payable by stall-keepers if—See BEN. ACT IX OF 1880, ss. 4 and 41, 11 C.W.N. 1053, F.B.=6 C.L.J. 342=35 C. 82.

Meaning of—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 3, cls. (3) (5), s. 4 and s. 5, cls. (2) and (3), 17 C. 45.

Portion of rent kept in abeyance by contract and not by grace of landlord— Claim by landlord of that portion—Enhancement—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 29, 3 Ind. Cas. 430.

Enhancement suit—Reference to arbitration — Jurisdiction of arbitrators to settle equitable rent—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 30, 6 C.W.N. 614.

Additional rent for additional land, whether can be determined—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 52, 158. cl. (a), 6 C.W.N. 592.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 53, 21 C. 383.

Meaning of—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 53 to 68 and ss. 72 to 75, 20 C. 254.

The word—In the Bengal Tenancy Act, whether includes interest—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 58, 59 and 67, 11 C.W.N. 110=5 C.L.J. 69.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 61, 21 C. 680.

First charge—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 65, 6 C.W.N. 834.

Receipt of—by landlord's gomastha from various tenants—Division of holding—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 65, 88, 6 C.W.N. 823.

Rent—continued.

See BEN ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 88, 2 C.W. N. 378. Note.

See BEN ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 153, 25 C. 571, Note=1 C.W.N. 63, Note.

Rent as used in cl. (c), s. 169 of the Bengal Tenancy Act does not exclude interest—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 169, 11 C.W.N. 1106.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ch. X, 6 C.W. N. 914.

Entry in the record-of-rights constituting prima facie evidence of—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ch. X, s. 103, 11 C.W.N. 153.

Notification of Chief Commissioner of Central Provinces fixing date for payment of rent—See C. P. ACT XVII OF 1889, s. 7, 8 C.P.L.R. 7.

Effect of forfeiture of holding on decree for arrears of—See C.P. ACT XVII OF 1889, s. 85, 16 C.P L.R. 88.

Inamdars paying fixed rent to Zemindar whether bound to accept patta—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 3, 21 M. 116=8 M.L.J. 43, F.B.

Pargana surrendered to and regrant by Government—Rates of rent—Terms of patta—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 9 and 11, 18 M. 216.

Prevalence of money rent for a number of years—Presumption of usage—See MAD ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 9, 11, 33 M 177, P C.=14 C W.N 938=20 M.L J. 596=8 M.L.T. 141=12 Bom. L.R. 648=12 C.L.J. 233=6 Ind. Cas. 988.

Suit after fasli for enforcing acceptance of patta—Amended patta ordered under s. 10, suit maintainable for—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 10, 23 M. 616.

Garden crops raised owing to improvement by tenant, landlord not entitled to enhanced, on account of—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 11, 21 M. 136.

Payable in kind, legality of attachment proceedings in the case of—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 40, 29 M. 75.

See PUN. ACT XXVIII OF 1868, ss. 2, 11, 1 P.R 1880, 2 P.R. 1880, 3 P.R. 1880, 36 P.R. 1880, 37 P.R. 1880.

See PUN. ACT XXVIII OF 1868, s. 19, 87 P.R. 1881.

See U P. ACT XIV OF 1863, s. 1, cl. 3, 3 Agra 218.

See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1873, ss. 148, 183, 189, 4 A. 237=A.W.N. 1882, 30.

Payment of—In kind—Cess—See U.P. ACT XIX OF 1873, s. 66, A.W.N. 1885, 320.

Determination of, by settlement officer—See U.P. ACT XVII OF 1876, s. 40 2 O.C. 273.

See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, A.W.N. 1887, 140.

See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, ss. 3, 5, 8 (c), A.W.N. 1882, 60.

Rent—continued.

See U. P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 189, 21 A. 247=A.W.N. 1899, 47.

See U. P. ACT V OF 1894, ss. 7, 8, 14, 5 O.C 43.

See APPEAL—ACTS AND REGULATIONS, 16 A. 51=A.W.N. 1893, 204.

Future—And profits, attachment of—Prohibitory order to ghatwal, in execution proceedings against him—See ATTACHMENT—SUBJECTS OF ATTACHMENT, 28 C. 483.

Rent for the period between the dates of sale and its confirmation—Right to—See AUCTION PURCHASER, 9 Ind. Cas. 25.

Cess and rent distinguished—See CESS, 1 A.L J. 537.

Dak cess regarded as—When?—See CESS, 21 C. 132.

Right to realise rents and profits due before confirmation of sale—See CIV. PRO CODE, 1908, s 65, O. XXI, r. 94, 7 Ind. Cas. 65.

Mortgage—Letting by mortgagee to mortgagor—Rent in lieu of interest—Charge—Prior incumbrance—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 73, 9 M. 57.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 102, 1 L.B.R. 69.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 6, 25 C. 322.

Dispossession by paramount title—Abatement of—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 23, 6 Ind Cas. 206.

Commutation of bhowli into nakdi rent—See COMMUTATION OF RENT, 6 C.L J. 727.

Proceeding under Land Acquisition Act—Whether abatement of rent can be made without the consent of the parties—See COMPENSATION, 7 C.L.J. 284.

Redemption suit against mortgagee in possession—Arrears of rent to be deducted—Court-fee—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, ss. 6, 7 (ix) 17, 19 M. 16.

Suit to restrain collection of—Value of relief—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, 14 C. L.J. 47.

Lease—Agreement to pay additional rent in case of breach—Penalty or liquidated damages—See DAMAGES—MEASURE AND ASSESSMENT, 22 M. 453.

Receipt of rent from mortgagee—Denial of mortgage—See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT, 2 Agra 48.

Onus of proof—Consent-decree for arrears of—See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT, 1 C.L R. 528.

Evidence—Jummabandi—Jumma—Wasil-Baki papers—Evidence of rate of rent—See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS DOCUMENTS, 1 Agra Rev. 65.

Suit for—Measurement of land—Report of ameen inprevious suit—Admissibility—See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS DOCUMENTS, 12 C.L.R. 50.

Rent—continued.

Rate of Decree by a co-sharer-landlord—See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS, 10 C.W.N. 1034.

Receipt for—No writing necessary — See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 91, 1 C.P.L R. 16.

Acceptance of the reduced rent, effect of—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 92, 6 C.W.N. 60.

Rate of rent, Evidence to contradict—Acceptance of the reduced rent—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 92, 6 C.W.N. 242.

Acceptance of reduced rent—Effect—When it will operate as binding contract—Waiver—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 92, 12 C.L.J. 439 =8 Ind. Cas. 790.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE—APPEAL, REVIEW, ETC., EXECUTION OF DECREE AFTER, 17 B. 547.

Decree—Transfer to another district for execution—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—TRANSFER OF DECREE FOR EXECUTION—EXECUTION OUT OF COURT'S JURISDICTION, 9 C. 295, P.C =12 C.L.R. 361=9 I.A. 174.

Will—Gift of—And profits—Disposition of corpus—Restraint on alienation and partition—Construction—See HINDU LAW—WILL, 7 M.L.J. 184.

Rent accrued up to death of previous tenant—See INHERITANCE, 5 C.W.N. 189.

Arrears of—Interest on—See INTEREST—SPECIAL CASES, 6 B.L.R. App. 119, 5 C. 102 =4 C.L.R 49, 7 O.C. 116.

Interest on arrears of—Date from which due—See INTEREST—SPECIAL CASES, 4 C. 594 =3 C.L.R. 382.

Rent accrued due under lease of lands in Native State—Lessee resident in British India—Suit for arrears—British Indian Court—Jurisdiction — See JURISDICTION — CAUSES OF JURISDICTION, 19 A. 450=A.W.N. 1897, 98.

Sale in execution—Suit to set aside decree—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, A.W.N. 1881, 55.

Suit to recover money paid as rent—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 3 B.L.R. App. 114.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 3 C.L.R. 8.

Enhancement of assessment by Government Superior holder—Increased rent on account of—See LAND TENURE—IN KANARA, 4 B. 473.

See LETTERS PATENT, HIGH COURT, 1865, MADRAS, s. 15, 14 M. 406.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 12, 3 N.W.P. 342.

Mortgage — Receipt of —Not payment of interest—See LIMITATION ACT, 1906, s. 20, 2 M 165.

Payment of—Effect of—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 20, 3 M. 57.

Rent—continued.

Adverse possession—Mortgage — Receipt of rent for over 12 years—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, 7 M. 26

Suit for cancellation or modification of—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 14, 120, 28 C. 676.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 85, 89, 27 C. 663.

Act VI of 1862 (B.C.), s. 10—Proceedings of Collector under—Rent how to be assessed—See MEASUREMENT OF LANDS, 7 C. 69=8 C.L.R. 73.

Proper measure of mesne profits—See MESNE PROFITS—MODE OF ASSESSMENT, 8 C.P.L. R. 58.

See MESNE PROFITS— RIGHT TO MESNE PROFITS, 3 B.L R. App. 99.

Usufructuary mortgage—Lease on same day by mortgagee in favour of mortgagor— Rent in lieu of interest — Effect of lease — See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 24 A. 521, P.C.= 29 I.A. 148=7 C.W.N. 97.

Interest over arrears of rent payable in kind—Right to recover—See MULGENI LEASE 12 Bom. L.R. 931=8 Ind. Cas 411=34 B 506.

Hindu Law—Manager of joint Hindu family granting a lease as such—Right to sue for rent during life-time of manager—Death of manager—Suit for—See PARTIES TO SUIT—GENERAL, 18 B. 141.

See PARTIES TO SUIT—GENERAL, 4 C.L. R. 168.

See PARTIES TO SUITS—ADDING PARTIES TO SUITS, 17 B. 29.

Payment of, under a mistake, is no valid plea in a suit in ejectment—See POSSESSION—ADVERSE POSSESSION, 4 Bom. L R. 28=26 B. 410.

Gomashta employed to collect rents—Power to distrain—Ratification—See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—AUTHORITY OF AGENTS, Marsh 282.

Purchase of jote at successive rent and mortgage sale—See PRIORITY, 13 C.W.N. 412=9 C.L.J 234=1 Ind. Cas. 35.

What is—See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, sch. II, art. 8, 14 C.W.N. 994=7 Ind. Cas. 553.

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 50, 18 B. 355, F B.

Enhancement of rent of Talukdar—Contents of notice—See BEN. REG. VIII OF 1793, s. 51, 8 C.L J. 329.

See BEN. REG. XIX OF 1793, s. 10, B L.R. Sup. Vol. 75=2 W.R. F.B. 15.

See BEN. REG. VIII OF 1819, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 431=12 W.R. 383.

For period between sale under patni regulation and reversal thereof, liability of patnidar to zemindar for—See BEN. REG. VIII OF 1819, 4 C.L.J. 547.

Mortgage of tenure in possession under s. 13 of Reg. VIII of 1819—Liability for rent—See BEN. REG. VIII OF 1819, s. 13, 12 C. 185.

Rent—concluded.

Non-payment of—Effect of—See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—LOSS OF RIGHT, 15 C. 17.

Decree for arrears of—Fractional co-sharer—Sale in execution—Occupancy holding not transferable by custom—See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—TRANSFER OF RIGHT, 4 C.W.N. 571.

Suit against Secretary of Society for—Of premises let—Secretary when and how far liable as agent--Indian Contract Act, IX of 1872, s. 230—See RIGHT OF SUIT—GENERAL, 22 B. 754.

See SET-OFF, A.W.N. 1899, 143.

Receipts for—See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL — GROUNDS OF APPEAL, Marsh 381=2 Hay 419.

Receipts for—Comparison of signatures—Credibility of evidence — See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—GROUNDS OF APPEAL, Marsh 322=2 Hay 421.

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 42, A. W.N. 1885, 194.

Apportionment of—Transfer of lessor's interest by operation of law—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, ss. 2 (d), 36, 33 C. 786.

Suit for pottah at fixed rate of—See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADING AND PROOF, Marsh 371=2 Hay 422.

Hypothecation for rent—See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—LIEN, 3 A. 433.

Waiver of right to interest on arrears of—See WAIVER, Marsh 394=W.R.F.B. 117=2 Hay 423.

Lakhiraj lands—Of—See ZAMINDAR, 1 C.L. R. 366.

Rent, Agra.

See U. P. ACT XII OF 1881.

See U. P. ACT XIV OF 1886.

Rent, Bengal Act.

See BEN. ACT X OF 1859.

See BEN. ACT VI OF 1862.

Rent Court.

See REVENUE COURT.

Rent free Estates, Bombay, Titles to, Act.

See BOM. ACT XI OF 1852.

Rent Note.

Rent note, stipulation in a, for payment of rent in case the tenant holds over, does not extend the period of lease—See Bom ACT III OF 1876, 1 Bom. L.R. 464.

Registration of, to hold as long as tenancy continues is compulsorily registrable See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 17, 2 Bom. L.R. 488.

Rent, Oudh.

See U. P. ACT XIX OF 1868.

See U. P. ACT XXII OF 1886.

Rent Recovery, Bengal (Under-tenures) Act.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1865.

Rent Recovery, Madras.

See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865.

Rent Roll.

Presumption—See BEN. REG. VII OF 1822, s. 9, A.W.N. 1886, 26.

Rent, Sales in satisfaction of decrees for.

See ACT VIII OF 1835.

Rent Settlement, Bengal.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1879.

Rent, Suit for.

See ABATEMENT OF RENT.

See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT.

See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT.

See JURISDICTION OF REVENUE COURTS.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.

See LEASE.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ART. 110.

See RENT.

See RES JUDICATA — COMPETENCY OF COURTS.

See RIGHT OF SUIT — LANDLORD AND TENANT, SUITS CONCERNING.

See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT.

(1)—Reg. V of 1812 — Rent decreed at certain rate in previous suit—Suit for arrears of rent—Notice unnecessary.—A decree in a former suit fixing the rate of rent is sufficient notice for a subsequent suit for arrears of the rent so decreed and no formal notice under Reg. V. of 1812 is necessary. RAMJEEBUN BOSE v. TRIPOORA DASEE, W.R F.B 93.

(2)—Reg. XIX of 1814—Butwara—Suit for rent by co-sharer — Landlord and tenant — Cause of action.—Proceedings were taken under Reg. XIX of 1814 for partition of an estate amongst the several proprietors. From the time when the proprietors of the estate came to an agreement by which they entered into separate possession of particular lands, the ryots continued to pay separately to the parties in whose share their lands fell the rents due on account of those lands, in anticipation of the completion and confirmation of the butwara. Subsequently, however, the Commissioner quashed the butwarra proceedings, on the ground that they included lands which had been separately resumed as a separate estate. One of the share-holders sued for a fractional share of the rent payable by each ryot in the estate. Held, that, in respect of the lands of the defendant which fell within the share of a proprietor other than the plaintiff, no relation of landlord and tenant existed between the plaintiff and the defendant, and as the plaintiff had not joined the other co-proprietors as parties to the suit, and had not asked the Court to determine the question of his rights as against those proprietors under the Commissioner's order, but had simply sued a tenant as if he had from previous years been receiving rent from him, there really was no cause of action. KHEDOO GOPEJOTEDAR v. BABOO KHOOB LALL SINGH, 18 W.R. 148.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(3)—Suit for rent — Government acquiring land for public purposes—No contract—Cause of action.—The Government had taken in lease neighbouring lands of others and had at one time expressed a desire to lease the lands in dispute including the shares of the plaintiffs as well as their co-sharers; but claim being laid by another party under a mokurruree lease the property was abandoned and the lands taken under the powers possessed by the Government for acquiring land for public purposes. The plaintiff now sued the Government for rent. Held that there was no contract and accordingly no breach of contract, and the plaintiff had therefore no right to sue. RAMCHAND BUDRO v. THE COLLECTOR OF JESSORE, 3 W.R. 131.

(4)—Joint property—Butwara—Khas possession—Joint tenant, Rights of—Suit for rent and mesne profits—Cause of action.—A joint tenant is not entitled to khas possession of any portion of a joint and undivided property without a butwara. The cause of action in a former unsuccessful suit for rent against the co-sharers of a joint tenant is not the same as that in a subsequent suit for mesne profits between the same parties. HUREE DYAL GOOHO MOJOOMDAR v. GOBIND CHUNDER PAUL, 17 W.R. 387.

(5)—Reg. VIII of 1819, s. 13, cl. 4—Dur-putneedar, duty of, to give notice of his title to ryots.—This was a suit for rent by a dur-putneedar who had paid a deposit in order to stay the sale of the superior tenure under cl. 4, s. 13, of Regulation VIII of 1819. The defendant pleaded payment of his rent to the putneedar bona fide and without notice, and the High Court concurred in the finding of the lower Court that the payment had been made as alleged. Although the plaintiff, after having been put in possession of the tenure, was entitled to the profits of it, it was his business to see that effectual notice was given to the ryots, and if, in consequence of any neglect on his part, or that of the Nazir of the Court, they remained in ignorance of his title, they cannot be compelled to pay over again rents paid by them to the putneedar. NIL MONEE ROY v. MR. JAMES HILL, 4 W.R. Act X, Rul. 38.

(6)—Reg. I of 1824—Land taken possession of by Government officers for embankment without legal formalities—Government trespassers—Liability of Government for rents during wrongful use.—Case where it was decided that the Government were liable for rents of land taken for the purposes of an embankment but not legally and formally taken possession of by its officers with reference to Reg. I of 1824. THE COLLECTOR OF 24 PERGUNNAHS v. JOYNARAIN BOSE, W R.F B. 18=1 Hay 122.

(7)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 97, not applicable to rent suits.—S. 97 of Act VIII of 1859 does not apply to suits instituted under Act X of 1859 and does not preclude a person who has instituted and withdrawn a suit for arrears of rent from bringing subsequently a fresh suit for the same arrears. BEER CHUNDER JOOBRAJ v. TARINEE CHURN ROY, 11 W.R. 46. (Marsh, 148, F.)

(8)—Suit for arrears of rent—What should the plaintiff prove.—The plaintiff in a suit for arrears of rent under Act X of 1859, must establish the relationship of landlord and tenant before he can recover the arrears. MAHOMED ASSUM CHOWDHRY v. KRISTO SOONDER TALOOKDAR, W.R, 1864, Act X, Rul. 39.

(9)—Suit for rent—Act X of 1859—Preliminary requisite.—Until the relationship of landlord and tenant is established between the parties, a suit for rent will not lie under Act X of 1859. NAUTH TAGORE v. MUSSAMUT LUCHMEE KOOER, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 40.

(10)—Rent-suit—Relationship of landlord and tenant not proved—Special Appeal.—In a suit for rent, no special appeal lies where the lower appellate Court dismisses the claim of the plaintiff solely on the ground that there is no proof that the relationship of landlord and tenant exists between the parties. KRIPA MOYEE DEBIA v. DROUPADEE CHOWDRAIN, 24 W.R. 213.

(11)—Decision of Revenue Court in ejectment proceedings that there was no valid lease—Effect.—Plaintiff brought a suit in the Court of the Assistant Collector to recover from the defendant arrears of rent alleged to be due under a kabuliyat. The defendant denied that he held under the kabuliyat and pleaded that he was not liable to the plaintiff for rent. It appeared that a lease was executed for the year 1280 fasli, on the understanding that it might be extended, and, as a matter of fact, the plaintiff obtained a decree for one year's rent, and subsequently received rent for two years and a half. It appeared that in 1885 the plaintiff served a notice of ejectment on the defendant, and the defendant disputed it in the Revenue Court under s. 39 of the Rent Act, and the Revenue Court decided in favour of the defendant on the ground that there was no valid lease, i. e., that there was no relation of landlord and tenant between the parties. Held that the existence of the relation of landlord and tenant was established by the decree of the Court and by payment of rent, and that as it continued until it had legally been put an end to, the failure of the plaintiff to eject the defendant did not affect the relation of the parties, but left the tenancy still subsisting, and that this relation of landlord and tenant was not affected by any remarks which the Revenue Court might have made in disposing of the application for ejectment to the effect that there had never been any valid lease; held, also, that if the defendant were in a position to get rid of the lease on the ground of fraud or other similar ground, it was for him to do so by action in the Civil Court, but that there was no authority for holding that the plaintiff could only succeed by first establishing his right to the land in a Civil Court. TIKA RAM v. UDAI SINGH, A W.N 1887, 28.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(12)—Landlord and tenant—Suit for rent, when maintainable—Act XVIII of 1873, s. 95. —No suit for arrears of rent can legally lie until the rent rate on the land has been judicially determined by a competent Court such as the Revenue Court. The plaintiff in this case, who had not yet been recorded as proprietor according to the khewat, and who had not filed an application under s. 95. N. W.P. Rent Act XVIII of 1873, had no locus standi to recover arrears of rent. JOKHU v. ALAM SINGH, A W.N. 1882, 25.

(13)—Suit for arrears of rent—Land situated partly in the jurisdiction of one Court and partly in that of another—Right to sue in one Court for rent due on the whole—Civ Pro Code, 1882, ss. 4 A and 43—Act XII of 1881 (N. W.P. Rent), s. 104.—Where a landlord had leased a quantity of land situated partly in Oudh and partly in the North-West Provinces at one lump amount of rent for the whole held, that he was entitled to sue the tenant in the appropriate Court of the North-West Provinces, within the jurisdiction of which part of such property was situated for the rent due on the whole of such property and he was not obliged to make any deduction from his claim on account of that portion of the property which was situated in Oudh. Held, also, that the fact of his having made such a deduction from his original claim did not disentitle him from suing for the balance. PARMESHAR DAT v. SRI NEWAS, A.W.N. 1891, 47.

(14)—Act X of 1859, Suit under, to recover arrears of rent—Temporary dispossession.—No act of temporary illegal dispossession by a third party can take away the right of the part owner of an estate to her share of the rent from the tenant. MUSST. WOOLAFUN v. JEETUN LALL, 1 W.R. 325.

(15)—Contract of lease in English form—Completion of contract—Suit for rent maintainable under Act X of 1859—The parties to this suit bound themselves under an indenture drawn up in the English form, the one to lease certain lands, and the other to pay rent for the same. Such contract being complete in itself and undisputed, it was held that a suit for arrears of rent could be maintained under the contract although no separate kuboolent was executed. KISHEN DOSS v. HURRY JEEBUN DOSS, 10 W.R. 324.

(16)—Rent-suit—Non-registration of kabuliat—Evidence—Trial of suit—Act X of 1859—Procedure by Court.—Where the only issue in a rent-suit is whether the rent has been paid or not, the case may be tried, although the kabuliat is inadmissible in evidence owing to its not having been registered. [Rel. on, 24 C. 20.] In a rent-suit instituted under Act X of 1859, the Court ought, in the first instance, to examine and cross-examine the agents of the parties; and having found that the parties are at issue on particular questions, it ought to declare those issues and fix a day for hearing the case on those issues. DINONATH MOOKERJEE v. DEBNATH MULLICK, 14 W.R. 429.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(17)—Suit for rent by one co-sharer against another—Agreement between co-sharers—Maintainability of suit.—Under an agreement by joint proprietors to the effect that, if any of them should cultivate before partition, he should pay a certain rent, no suit would lie under Act X of 1859 against such share-holder by another share-holder for the latter's share of such rent. SYED HYDER ALI v. OMRIT CHOWDHRY, W.R. 1864. Act X. Rul 42. [D., 20 W.R. 258; R., 12 W.R. 418, 13 W.R. 59.]

(18)—Co-sharers. Suit for respective shares of rent by—Necessity to join other co-sharers before suit.—Where the plaintiffs, some of the co-sharers, whose shares were clearly ascertained, sued for their respective shares of the rent payable by the defendants under an ikrarnama held that there was no objection to their suing so, without waiting for the other parties who may be entitled to rent, to join, or adding them as parties. UMRIT CHOWDRY v. SYUD HYDER ALI, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul 63.

(19)—Plea of payment to third person—Adding of such third person as party to suit, Permissibility of.—In a suit for arrears of rent, a third person, to whom the defendant alleged to have paid the rent, should not be made a party, as such a step would convert a simple suit for arrears of rent into a suit for the determination of a title to immoveable property. NAGO RAO JAIDEO BRAHMIN v. BALAJI JAGESHWAR BRAHMIN, 12 C P L.R. 1. (8 C. 238, App.; 13 A. 64, 8 C. 712, R.)

(20)—Apportionment of rent—Suit by darpatnidar for proportionate rent—Non-joinder of other darpatnidars—Pleas—Practice.—Six villages were granted in a patni to R, and in thess six villages the defendant held lands at a certain annual rent. R sublet the villages in darpatni—four to the plaintiff and two to J. The amount payable on account of the last two villages was admitted to be a certain sum. In a suit by plaintiff for the rent payable in respect of the lands situated in the four villages comprised in his darpatni, the defendant claimed that the plaintiff should specify the separate rents of all the villages, with a view to showing that, owing to non-occupation of certain portions of the land in suit, he was entitled to abatement, but when the issues were framed, he did not insist on the plea that the plaintiff could not sue separately from J. On the contrary he admitted that the rent of his lands in the two villages held by J was a certain sum and the issue on which he went to trial was only whether he was responsible to the plaintiff for the whole of the balance. Held (a) that the defendant went to trial on the understanding that he was the tenant of the plaintiff, separately for the four villages which originally bore a certain rent; that the plea that the plaint failed to disclose a title in the plaintiff to sue separately from J, the holder of the other two villages, having been designedly abandoned in the first Court, should not be entertained in the lower appellate Court. BRAJA LAL ROY v SAYAMA CHARAN BHUTT, 6 B.L.R. 523=15 W.R. 20.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(21)—Mokurraree title—Decree for arrears of rent—Effect.—A mokurraree title giving right to hold certain lands at certain rates, when once judicially established, cannot be set aside by a person, who subsequently obtained a decree for arrears of rent at different rates without reference to such title. RAJ ROOP ROY v. CHOWDHRY OOGRA NARAIN SING, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 85.

(22)—Suit for arrears of rent—Real lessees in possession—Ostensible holder of lease not denying liability—In a suit for arrears of rent against a dur-putneedar, where the plaintiffs have elected to proceed against the real and not the ostensible holders of the tenure and the Court has found that the real lessees were in possession, held that the relation of landlord and tenant existed between the plaintiffs and the real lessees, and they were liable for the rents, unless there was a special contract to the contrary, that is to say, unless there was a special contract that the person whose name was used should alone be liable. JUDOONATH PAUL v. PROSUNNONATH DUTT, 9 W R. 71. [R., 14 W.R 12.]

(23)—Agreement between mortgagor and mortgagee as regards payment of rent—Rights of mortgagor to recover rent.—As a general rule, a mortgagor and mortgagee do not stand in the relation of landlord and tenant, but their position depends altogether upon the terms of their contract. If the mortgagee executes a lease in favour of the mortgagor, stipulating to pay him a certain amount annually as rent, he is, as far as the payment of that sum is concerned, a tenant of the mortgagor, and any arrears of such rent must be sued for under Act X of 1859. BISSOROOP DUTT v. BINODE RAM SEIN, W.R 1864 Act X, Rul. 93.

(24)—Attachment of land of tenant—Collection of rent by sezawal—Liability of tenant.—As a general rule, a plaintiff who has attached the lands of a tenant, and has collected the rents due by a sezawal, would not be entitled to claim from the tenant the difference between the collections made by the sezawal and the actual rents. JHOOMUCK CHOWDHRY v. G. ANDERSON, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 40.

(25)—Act X of 1859, s. 4, presumption of occupancy under, not claimable by defendant with fictitious pottah—In this suit for rent at an enhanced rate, it was objected in second appeal that the Judge ought to have taken into consideration the fact that the defendant had held for 20 years at a fixed jumma and that the presumption should have been made that he had so held at that rate since the time of the Permanent Settlement, under s. 4 of Act X of 1859. The High Court decided that the defendant, having set up an alleged mouroosee pottah, which was found, apparently on good grounds, to be fictitious, could not fall back upon the rights which he might have had under that section. PETUMBER SHAHA v. JEBUN SINGH BURMONEE, 2 W R. Act X, Rul. 6.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(26)—Rent in kind—Suit for money value.—The Rent Act recognizes payment in kind as rent. Non-payment in kind therefore, must be an arrear of rent, and a suit for the money value of the grain, as it stood when it was ready for delivery, and ought to have been delivered, is sustainable as a suit for rent. KRISHTO BUNDHOO BHUTTACHARJEE v. ROTISH SHAIKH, 25 W.R. 307.

(27)—Right to rent—Disclaimer by petition.—A simple petition is sufficient to enable a party to disclaim rights to rent duly conveyed to him. SHIBDYAL TEWARY CHOWDHRY v. BIDDYAMOYEE DEBIA CHOWDHRAIN, 18 W.R. 271.

(28)—Claim for rent—Set-off.—A claim for rent cannot be pleaded as a set off in a suit for money paid by the plaintiff on account of revenue to protect a lease in the nature of a mortgage to him. HEERA LALL v. BISHEN SUHAYE, 1 W.R. 296.

(29)—Landlord and tenant—Suit for rent—Enforcement of condition in kabooleut—Plea of previous omission to enforce.—Where a kabooleut contained a condition that the rent should be paid monthly, the fact that the landlord did not enforce the condition strictly is no defence to a suit to recover the arrears of rent due. PEAREE MOHUN MOOKERJEE v. BROJO MOHUN BOSE, 22 W.R. 428.

(30)—Purchaser of ijara put into possession—Liability for rent.—A person who has purchased an ijara and who has been put formally in possession by the Revenue or Judicial authorities, after a contest in the most regular manner, is legally accountable to the zemindar for the rents of the ijara, whether he collects them from the ryots or not. RAJAH INDOO BHOOSUN DEB ROY v. CHUNDER COOMAR ROY, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 58.

(31)—Rent-suit—Plea of discharge.—Where a defendant in a suit for rent alleged that the plaintiff had appointed a tehsildar to collect the rents direct from the tenants and that he had paid it to the tehsildar. Held that the lower Court was wrong in raising the only issue, viz., "what amount, if any, was the plaintiff entitled to recover." It should also have decided whether the tehsildar was appointed or not. The defendant should not have been left to try the question in a separate suit. DARIMBA DEBIA v. NILMONEE SINGH DEO, 13 W.R. 266.

(32)—Suit to set aside mokuraree lease—Eviction.—It is not competent to a zemindar to sue to set aside a tenant's mokuraree lease when once that mokuraree in a suit between them had been adjudged to be valid, and a claim for enhanced rate dismissed in consequence of that finding. But it is quite competent for a zemindar to sue to eject a party holding on an alleged mokurarree, he having never recognised him as a tenant at all, but treating him simply as a trespasser. SHAH ANWAR ALI v. NUND KISHORE PERSHAD, 1 W.R. 222 [R., 5 W.R. Act X, 3]

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(33)—Rent or kabuliat, Suit for—When maintainable.—A suit for rent or kabuliat is not maintainable where it is shown that the defendant has never held the position of a tenant, nor occupied the land in such a way as to render him heretofore liable for rent, but has for a long period held the land as rent-free. The prima facie rent-free holding must be set aside in some other suit before rent can be obtained. MAHOMED MYANOBOO HEK v. MAHOMED SYAD KHAN, 1 W.R. 15. [F., 5 W.R. 62 ; R., 8 W.R. 188.]

(34)—Rent, Suit for—Plea of dispossession—Title.—In a suit for rent, where the lessee set up the plea of dispossession, but was unable to show that his lessors had no title and that the person who ousted him had title, held that the defence failed. RUNG LALL SINGH v. LALLA ROODAR PERSHAD, 17 W R 386.

(35)—Suit for rent and eviction—Waiver of trespass—Decree for use and occupation.—Where the tenant, with whom land was settled for a term, held over, and two others claiming to be the representatives of a former tenant also entered into it and began to collect rent from the under-tenants, held, in a suit by the zemindar, against all the three as trespassers, for the amount of rent due and for eviction, that, though, if the tenant alone had remained in actual possession, he might be made liable as having held over, a decree for use and occupation might be given against all the three defendants, as the plaintiff had elected to waive the trespass. SURNOMOYEE v DENONATH GIR SUNNYASEE, 9 C. 908 = 13 C L R. 69. (22 W.R 334, 21 W.R. 208, F) [R., 25 C. 324, 9 O.C. 296.]

(36)—Widow's estate—Sale for arrears of rent.—Where a widow's estate is sold for arrear of rent it is not merely the widow's life interest that is transferred, and the reversionary heir cannot follow the estate after her death. TILUCK CHUNDER CHUKERBUTTY v. MUDDON MOHUN BRAHMIN JOOGEE, 15 B.L.R. 143. Note = 12 W.R. 504. [F., 15 W.R. 329; Expl., 15 B.L.R. 142 = 23 W.R. 174; R., 24 W.R. 306, 1 C. 133 = 2 I. A. 275, 26 C. 285]

(37)—Suit to settle future rate of rent, if maintainable.—Apart from special statutory provisions, Courts of justice have no power to settle the rate of rent for future years between the occupier and the owner of land. MUDHOO SOODUN ROY v. SREEPUTTY BHUTTACHARJEE, 25 W.R. 488.

(38)—Rate of rent for different ryots—Rent whether depends on size of holding or ryot's circumstances—Judge not to fix term in rent suit by landlord.—Held, that the Court could not fix one rate of rent for a ryot who expends his own capital and another for a ryot who is compelled to borrow it. The rate of rent which a landlord has a right by law to demand does not depend upon the size of the holding or the circumstances of the ryot. What is a fair and equitable rate for one ryot for the lands of a similar description and with similar advantages in the same neighbourhood must also be fair and equitable for another so far as the landowner is concerned. No such distinctions were made when the Government assessed the land tax and received the revenue through the Zamindars and no such distinctions ought to be made now. In a suit by a ryot having a right of occupancy for the delivery of a pottah, if the parties do not agree as to the term, the Collector may fix such a term as he may think proper, not exceeding ten years, subject to the proviso contained in s. 76, Act X of 1859. But this does not extend to cases in which a landowner sues for a kabuliat. The difference between the two cases is this—that a right of occupancy is the right of the ryot. It does not also give the landlord a right to compel him to continue his occupation. The Judge, therefore, cannot fix the term, either in those cases in which the landlord sues for rent, or in those in which he sues for kabuliats. JAMES HILLS v. ISHORE GHOSE, W R F.B. 131.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(39)—Different tenures — Jummas —Rent.—Where the jummas of different tenures are distinct, the tenure must be treated as such, and the rent charged accordingly. DABEE CHURN DEY v. SREESHTEE DHUR CHUCKERBUTTY, 17 W.R. 346.

(40)—Tanks, assessment of fair rate of rent for.—In this suit for assessment of the rent of certain tanks, plaintiff-appellant was held not to be bound by the rates which the Government may have thought proper to accept. The suit was therefore remanded to the Judge for finding what would be the fair and equitable rate for tanks independently of any acts of Government. RAMCHURN BANERJI v. KISTO DEEGAR, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul 132.

(41)—Suit for rent at enhanced rates—Notice—Declaratory decree—Lakhiraj —In a suit to recover arrears of rent at enhanced rates, when the question of the liability of the tenure to enhancement has been put in issue and fully tried, a decree may be given declaring the tenure liable to enhancement, though notice to enhance is not proved. In a suit for enhancement, where the defence is that the land is lakhiraj, the plaintiff should prove that the defendant has paid rent. If the land has been in fact held rent-free, the validity or invalidity of the lakhiraj, tenure cannot be tried in such a suit. The question should be tried in a suit to resume or assess. GUMANI KAZI v. HARIHAR MOOKERJEE, B L R. Sup. Vol. 15 = Marsh 523 = W R.F B 115 [F., 11 W.R. 35, 14 W.R. 285 ; D, 3 W R 178.]

(42)—Agreement to pay rent—Negligence—Diminution of rent—Ground for deduction of rent.—An ijaradar contracted to pay a certain rent annually. The contract provided that if the rent-roll of the estate was diminished in consequence of the ryot running away or giving up their land, or of the lands being washed away or in any other manner, then a corresponding deduction should be made in the rents of the ijara. The ijaradar claimed a deduction for a certain amount which he had not collected. Held that the ijaradar was not entitled to claim a deduction, as the decrease in rents was solely owing to his own negligence to collect the rents. BISSOROOP DUTT v. BINODERAM SEIN, 3 W. R. Act X, Rul 10.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(43)—Suit to determine rent—Offer to execute pottah—Condition.—In a suit to determine the rate of rent which the plaintiff is entitled to claim in respect of his land, by offering to execute a pottah at that rate, he is bound to make an unconditional offer to execute a pottah at the rate directed by the Court, without making it a condition to the execution of the pottah that all previous arrears should be paid at the rate so fixed. G.M REILY v. JUDOO NATH GHUTTUCK, 25 W. R. 175.

(44)—Suit for rent—Fee for testing coin—Variation of rent.—Where the Judge decided that, although Rs. 30 6-6 had, for a great number of years, been paid by the tenant, Rs. 29-15-0 only was paid as rent, the remainder being a kind of cess or fee for testing the coin paid. Held, that this finding did not amount to a varying of the rent of the tenant. DWARKANATH SINGH ROY BAHADOOR v. NUB COOMAR BOSE, 20 W R. 270.

(45)—Variance between pleadingand proof—Suit for rent in kind under kabuliat—Dismissal of suit for failure to prove kabuliat—Decree at rate admitted by defendant.—Where, in a suit to recover Rs. 185-7 3, being the value in money, of arrears of rent for two years which the plaintiff alleged to be payable in produce under a kabuliat executed by the defendants' father, the defendants denied that the rent was payable in produce and alleged that the kabuliat had been set aside, that, under a subsequent arrangement made between the parties, the annual rent payable by them was fixed at Rs. 20, and that the plaintiff had sued them on a previous occasion for rent in money and not in grain and had obtained a decree and that rate, and the Judge, finding the defendant's case proved, held that as the plaintiff had set up a false claim, he was not entitled to a decree and dismissed the suit; held that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree for arrears of rent at the full rate admitted by the defendants. KISHEN MOHUN MOOKERJEE v. RAJOO DEY, 13 B L R. 245, Note=19 W R. 233.

(46)—Maafee grant—Nuzzerana to Government through lambardar—Resumption of maafee—Confiscation for rebellion—Auction-sale—Payment of nuzzerana to lambardar—Suit to enforce payment — Jurisdiction—Act XIV of 1863, s. 1, cl. 4.—A certain sum was during the existence of the maafee grant paid as Nuzzerana to Government through the lambardar. After the maafee was resumed and a Government jumma assessed upon it, this sum as Nuzzerana continued to be paid until the interests of the holder of the resumed maafee were confiscated for rebellion and sold at auction. After confiscation and before the auction-sale, the Government allowed the amount to the lambardar by deducting it from the amount of Government revenue paid by him. Held (a) that the Government, in arranging that the payment should be made of this Nuzzerana through the lambardar did, in effect, convey to him (the lambardar), as trustee on behalf of Government, such an interest in the estate as would enable him to sue for and enforce its payment: (b) that under the circumstances, the payment of Nuzzerana appeared to be present in acknowledgment of propriety title in the nature of a rent charge, and (c) that a suit to enforce such payment might be brought in the Revenue Court under cl. 4, s. 1, Act XIV of 1863. SYUD ZAHOOR HOSSEIN v. ASSUD ALI, 2 Agra 378.

(47)—Act X of 1859, s. 23—Landlord and tenant—Malgoozaree land—Rent.—Where land has been held as a bagh, and no other right or interest therein is shown, it becomes ordinarily, on the removal of the trees, a portion of the malgoozaree land of the village; and the occupant who brings it under cultivation is liable to the payment of rent. If the landlord and himself cannot by agreement fix the rent, a suit for the determination of the rate is maintainable under cl. 1, s. 23 of Act X of 1859. But where the defendant sets up a right of a higher description, and one wholly inconsistent with the existence of the relation of landlord and tenant, and it appears that there is a contest between the parties as to their respective rights and positions, the clause is inapplicable. SHEOPAL SINGH v. RAI SEETARAM, 3 N.W.P. 18.

(48)—Suit for house-rent — Jurisdiction of Revenue Court.—Where the land in respect of which the plaintiff seeks for a kabuliat, at an enhanced rate of rent, is not land held for agricultural purposes, but land on which a shop stands, the shop being the thing for which the rent is paid, and the land merely an adjunct to it, held that, under such circumstances, a suit cannot lie in the Collector's Court. MADAN SING v. MADAN RAM DEB, 1 B L R S N. 11 (a).

(49)—Lands with buildings—Suit for rent—Revenue Court—Jurisdiction.—A suit for rent due not solely for land, but also for buildings, is not cognizable by the Revenue Courts. MAHARAJA DHIRAJ MAHTAB CHAND BAHADUR v. MAKUND BALLABH BOSE, 9 B L.R. App. 13=14 W R 246. [F., 9 B.L.R. App. 14=15 W.R. 464, Note; Expl., 15 W R 241; R., 9 B.L.R. 115, Note=15 W.R. 463.]

(50)—Rent—Liquidated damages, Suit for—Jurisdiction.—A suit to recover the amount due to the plaintiff from whom the defendant purchased a house formerly belonging to the plaintiff and standing on his own lakhiraj land under an oral agreement that, so long as the house was not removed, he would pay the plaintiff a certain sum per month, is not a suit for rent but one for liquidated damages, and is, therefore, cognizable in the Civil Court. DEB NATH ROY CHOWDHRY v. KALLY KISTO ROY CHOWDHRY, 1 W.R. 2.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(51)—Suit for rent — Intervenor claiming and - Jurisdiction.—Where the defendant in a rent suit, while admitting having paid rents to the plaintiff for former years, refused to pay the rents now sued for on the ground that a third party claimed the land, held that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree, the question as to the right to rents depending on the receipt of the rent of former years, and that the intervenor should be referred to the Civil Court for the assertion of his rights. KASHEE NATH BISWAS v MUDDUN MOHUN CHATTERJEE, 1 W.R. 91.

(51-a)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 73—Act X of 1859, s 77—Intervenor.—Where the defendant in a suit for arrears of rent at an enhanced rate pleaded that he had sold the holding to a third party, who thereupon asked to be added as a defendant, held that such intervenor could not be made a party to the suit. KALINATH ROY v. ISWAR CHANDRA GHOSAL, 2 B.L R. F.B. 89=11 W.R. F.B. 23.

(52)—Suit between kutkeenadars—Jurisdiction of Civil and Revenue Courts.—The plaintiff, the kutkeenadar of a certain share, sued the defendant, the kutkeenadar of the remaining share, for rent in proportion to his alleged share, and the defendant, although admitting his relation of tenancy to a certain extent, disputed the extent of the plaintiff's share. Held that the question of the extent of the share could be decided only by the Civil Court, and that the Civil Court could decide and could give complete relief with reference not only to the extent of the shares, but also with reference to the question whether the defendant had paid the rent claimed or not. VERASUT HOSSEIN v. JHUGDHAREE SINGH, 13 W R. 59.

(53)—Auction-sale of crops—Terms of sale—Liability to pay rent—Removal of grain—Implied contract—Jurisdiction.—The defendant, being aware of a notification that certain crop was subject to the landlord's claim for rent, and of the landlord's right by law to distrain the crop, and thereby to prevent its removal from the land, became the purchaser of the crop at auction and assented to the terms of the sale, one of which was that the crop bought was to be regarded as subject to the landlord's claim for rent. The landlord also, being aware of this condition of sale, allowed the removal of the grain (relinquishing his right to distrain) upon the understanding that the defendant assented to and became liable to pay the landlord's claim for rent. Held that, from these circumstances, a contract between them might be inferred whereby the defendant became liable to pay (on default of the tenant) the rent due. Held also that the defendant could not be sued in the Collector's Court to enforce this obligation, and any suit in the Revenue Court will not affect the landlord's right to enforce this obligation in the Civil Court which alone has jurisdiction to entertain such suits. ACHUL v. GUNGA PERSHAD, 2 Agra 73. [F., 3 A. 433.]

(54)—Cesses over and above actual rent, suits for—Jurisdiction — Revenue Courts—Ex parte judgment—Evidence—Tenant ordered to pay cess or demand of particular year, not compellable to pay same on for ever.—Suit in a Revenue Court for certain cesses over and above the rent due from the ryot The claim was dismissed, an ex parte judgment tendered in evidence by the plaintiff being rejected by the lower appellate Court. Held that, apart from any evidence, plaintiff could not recover the cesses in question. The suit was under Act X of 1859 which gave the Revenue Courts jurisdiction in suits for arrears of rent, but not in suits to recover additional cesses. Held further that, although the lower appellate Court was wrong in having impugned the judgment which the plaintiff had adduced, merely because it was an ex parte decision, the judgment could certainly be no conclusive evidence as to the liability of the defendant to pay the cess in question. Simply because the defendant had been adjudged to pay a particular cess or other demand in a particular year, it would not follow that he could be compelled to so pay it on for ever. ORJOON SAHOO v. ANUND SINGH, 10 W.R. 257. [R., 24 W.R. 4.]

(55)—Suit for rent—Cause of action — Suit based on pottah admitted by defendant. — A plaintiff basing his cause of action on a putnee pottah held and admitted by the defendants, is not entitled to maintain a suit for rent. DHUNENDRO CHUNDER MOOKERJEE v. JOHN WATSON LAIDLAY, 20 W.R 400.

(56)—Claim for arrears of rent joined to claim for recovery of possession—Civil Court.—Where a claim for arrears of rent is joined to a claim for recovery of possession, the suit can only be entertained in the Civil Court. In such cases, a plaintiff is not to be forced into two Courts for the purpose of obtaining the full relief he requires. BISHEN DYAL SINGH v. SARUB NARAIN SINGH, 4 N W.P. 32.

(57)—Jurisdiction - Suit by lessee against sub-lessee—Rent of garden attached to house.—A suit by a lessee of a zamindar to obtain from a sub-lessee who is not a cultivator the rent of a garden which is attached to a house and ancillary to the enjoyment of the house ought to be brought in the Civil and not in the Revenue Court. RAJAH SHYAM SINGH v. MUSST MAHARANEE PUNCHUM MAJEE, 2 Agra 243.

(58)—Default of payment of kist—Kuruk Sezawul appointed under terms in lease—Suit by landlord for loss sustained - Jurisdiction—Civil Court.—Plaintiff gave certain lands in farm to the defendant on the understanding (provided for in the lease) that, if any of the kists remained unpaid, she should have the power of appointing a kuruk sezawul to make collections direct, and that, should any loss accrue, the tenants should be answerable for it. A default occurred, and the kuruk sezawul was appointed and the plaintiff now sued to recover the alleged loss. Agreeing with the lower appellate Court, the High Court held that the suit would lie only in the Civil Court and not in the Revenue Court. The claim in suit was not referable to the relationship of landlord and tenant as existing between the parties, but to a separate demand for loss consequent on the sezawul's misfeasance. ANUND MOYEE DEBIA v. KHIRODHUR HOLDAR, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 45.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(59)—Bond securing payment of debt by assignment of rents—Suit for refund of the collected rents not appropriated for, bond triable only by Civil Court.—The defendant and his father had lent money to the plaintiff on bonds, payment of which was secured by assignment of the rents of the plaintiff's estate. But instead of liquidating their bonds according to the terms of the assignment from the collections of the estate assigned, they brought a suit on the bonds and obtained a decree. Plaintiff thereon instituted the present suit for a refund of the collections made from the estate but not appropriated to the payment of the bond debts. Held that such a suit was not a suit for rent but one triable by the Civil Court. SHAIKH ALI MAHOMED v. KENARAM GHOSE, 8 W.R. 128.

(60)—Sharer or representative of sharer—Suit involving right to collect rents—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.—The main plea set up in this case was that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction in the matter, but this plea was held to be untenable. The Civil Court had jurisdiction in the case, the real contention in which was of a Civil nature, i e., the right to collect rents as a sharer, or as representative of, or deriving from, a sharer. The decision of the case depended on proof of a certain alleged partition defining particular shares. HURRO CHUNDER ROY v. OBHOY CHUNDER SIRCAR, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 72. [R., 12 W.R. 418.]

(61)—Suit for rent—Title—Jurisdiction of Revenue Court—Agency—Rights of plaintiff—Defendant, Liability of.—In a suit for rent, the Revenue Court has no jurisdiction to go into the question of title between the parties and determine it. Where, in a suit for rent, a third party, as plaintiff's agent, had been receiving rent for him from the defendant, held, that it was sufficient to establish the liability of the defendant to pay his rent to the plaintiff. RAMGUTTY MUNDUL v. GOURISH CHUNDER PANRAY, 17 W.R. 14.

(62)—Suit for rent on Zur-i-peshgee lease land—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.—In a suit to recover rent reserved on land let out on a zur-i-peshgee lease, where the remedy sought involves in its details different jurisdictions, held that the zamindar should bring this suit in the Civil Court as the suit was in itself one and as in the Civil Court only he could obtain substantial relief. SHEO GOLAM SINGH v. RAY DINKUR DYAL, 12 W.R. 215.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(63)—Suit against co-sharers — Sub-lease—Jurisdiction.—A suit against co-sharers and durijaradar for rent and damages in respect of a mehal, of which a sub lease was granted by the defendant co-sharers, through whose misfeasance the plaintiff was kept out of his property, should be brought in the Civil Court. The durijaradar, who was proved to be in no way the plaintiff's tenant and to have in no way obstructed the plaintiff from obtaining possession of his share, must be exempted from liability, which must fall on the co-sharers alone. RADHAJEEBUN MUSTAFEE v. DENONATH BANERJEE, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 49.

(64)—Jurisdiction of Revenue Courts.—Huq-i-zemindari, cognizance of—Act X of 1859.—A suit claiming huq-i-zemindari could not be brought in the Revenue Court as Act X of 1859 is not applicable to it. JOWAHUR LALL v. SUTTAN ALI, 12 W.R. 214.

(65)—Act X of 1859, jurisdiction under, respecting rent in kind—Distinct agreement apart from rent, not within Act.—Defendant held from the plaintiff a putnee under lease reserving rent in money. He also entered into a separate agreement, by which he undertook to deliver to the plaintiff a certain number of goats, certain quantities of straw and other articles yearly. The present suit was brought to recover the value of the goats, straw, and other articles, of which delivery had not been made according to the terms of the separate agreement. The defendant contended that the separate agreement for the delivery of the goats, straw, etc., was an agreement for the payment of a portion of the rent, inasmuch as the articles were to be deemed as so much rent, and that, therefore, this suit was substantially one for rent, and ought to have been instituted under Act X of 1859. The High Court, however, held, that, although Act X applies to suits for rent reserved in kind, the straw and other articles, which the defendant undertook to deliver, were the subject of a separate and special agreement which was wholly unconnected with the question of rent; and the breach of contract with respect to their delivery could not, therefore, be made the subject of an Act X suit. BHUBOO SOONDUREE DEBIA v. NAWAB SYUD JYNUL ABDIN, 8 W.R. 393.

(66)—Money agreed to be paid in respect of Government jumma, Suit by Government to recover, not a suit for arrears of rent cognizable under Act X—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.—The present suit was brought by Government as for money due. The resumed lakheraj, land, in respect of which the claim arose, was resumed so far back as the year 1839. The suit was not one for arrears of rent, but a suit by the Government to recover the sum which the defendants had agreed to pay in respect of the claim of Government to its jumma for a period prior to the Settlement of 1859. The case was not, therefore, within the Collector's jurisdiction, but was one properly cognizable in the Civil Courts and the lower Court should not, therefore, have rejected the plaint on the ground that the suit was one cognizable by the Collector's Court alone under Act X of 1859, as a suit for arrears of rent. THE GOVERNMENT v. HUSHUMTOONISSA BIBEE, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 106.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(67)—Ground rent included in house rent—Claim regarding ground rent, cognizable by Revenue Court under Act X of 1859.—Act X of 1859 declares all suits for the rent of lands to be cognizable solely by the Collector of land revenue under that law, but it makes no mention of the rent of houses. House-rent may however include the rent of the ground upon which the house stands, and to that extent the claim to the ground-rent would perhaps be cognizable by the Revenue authorities, if it were possible to separate the items of ground-rent from the other items forming the aggregate of the house-rent. Such course not having been applicable in the present suit brought to obtain possession of the building occupied as a shop in the bazaar, the action, from its nature was held to be cognizable only by the Civil Court. RAM CHURN SINGH KETTREE v. MEADHUN DURJEE, 8 W.R. 90. [Cons., 17 W.R. 151.]

(68)—Act X of 1859—Suit against lessees and sureties — Jurisdiction of Revenue Court.—There is no provision in Act X of 1859, which confers on the Collector jurisdiction to take cognizance of a suit against sureties of a lessee. In a suit by a landlord against lessees and their sureties for arrears of rent under Act X of 1859, a Revenue Court is at liberty to hear and determine the suit as against lessees, over whom it has cognizance, though it cannot do so as regards sureties, who are outside the scope of the Act. The joinder of sureties in such suit does not necessarily put an end to the suit altogether on the ground that the causes of action are different. DOORGA PERSHAD v. RAJA SHEORAJ SINGH, 5 N.W.P. 222.

(69)—Act X of 1859—Act XIV of 1863—Rent in kind—Suit for maintenance of money rent.—There is no provision in Act X of 1859 or Act XIV of 1863 for the cognizance by the Revenue Courts of a suit for maintenance of a money rent, on the allegation that the zemindar is attempting to substitute a rent in kind for the money rent previously paid. BAINEE v. MAHOMED ALI KHAN, 2 Agra 307.

(70)—Suit by farmer for refund of rent, not maintainable in the Collector's Court under Act X of 1859.—There cannot be a suit in the Revenue Court for refund of rent paid by a farmer years ago, which he might have then refused to pay. MADHUB CHUNDER BIDYARATTON v. TARA SOONDAREE GOOPTANEE, 2 W. R. Act X, Rul. 91. [R., 3 C.L.J. 143.]

(71)—Jurisdiction—Lease benami—Arrears of rent—Act X of 1859.—In a suit for arrears of rent on a pottah which, though admitted to have been granted to C, was said to have been taken in his name by defendants, one of the defendants P.N. alleged that he and another (deceased) had taken the lease, and that the two remaining defendants, J.T. and P.Q., had no interest therein, while J.T. and P.Q. claimed the right of paying rent for a share which they alleged was in their possession; held that C being the person to whom the land was leased, and who agreed to pay the rent, was by law the tenant, and the Collector, therefore, (under 8 W.R.F.B. 431) had no jurisdiction to try the suit. Held also that the Deputy Collector had no jurisdiction to determine the respective rights and liabilities of the several defendants, seeing that he could not do so without going into evidence extraneous to the lease. One person has no right to pay rent due from another, unless he can prove that he has a share of the land on lease. ROY PRIYANATH CHOWDHRY v. BIPINBEHARI CHUCKERBUTTY, 2 B.L.R.A.C. 237 = 11 W.R. 120.

(72)—Benami execution of lease — Suit for rent—Jurisdiction.—A suit against A and B for arrears of rent under a lease alleged to have been granted to A and B's name, where B admits that he executed the lease but only as benamidar for A, while A denies the existence of any relation of landlord and tenant between himself and plaintiff, is not maintainable in a Revenue Court, such Court being incompetent to try the question whether A was the party beneficially interested in the lease. KISHEN BUTTEE MISRAIN v. MR. B. L. HICKEY, 11 W.R. 406. (8 W.R. 429, F.B., Rel. on.) [F., 9 C. 383 = 11 C.L.R. 577; Cons., 18 W.R. 35.]

(73)—Act X of 1859—Suit for rent—Benami tenants—Jurisdiction.—A Revenue Court has no jurisdiction to try a suit under Act X of 1859 to recover rent from the defendant on the ground that he was the beneficial owner, and that the parties, who were the ostensible tenants, were benamidars. HURISH CHUNDER ROY v. PURNA SOONDAREE DEBIA, 18 W. R. 125.

(74)—Act X of 1859—Suit for rent of arhats, ghats, etc.—Revenue Court.—Jurisdiction.—A suit for rent of lands where the rent comes from arhats, ghats, hats, and bazaars thereon, does not form the subject of Act X of 1859. It must be brought in a Civil Court. HARI MOHAN SIRKAR v. MONCRIEFF, 9 B.L R. App. 14 = 15 W. R. 464, Note. (9 B.L R. App. 13, 2 B. L. R. App. 39, 8 W. R. 250, 3 B. L. R. A. C. 61, 9 W. R 552, F.) [Appl., 27 C. 239; Expl., 9 B.L.R. 115, Note = 15 W. R. 463.]

(75)—Putneedar's liability for dak charges—Suit by zamindar against putneedar under Act VIII of 1862, B.C., not maintainable under Act X of 1859.—Plaintiffs, zemindars, sued defendant, their putneedar, under his kubooleut, for the expense to which they had been put on account of dak charges under Act VIII of 1862 for which the putneedar was liable under his engagement. The lower Courts gave plaintiff a decree. Defendant appealed urging that the present suit was cognizable by the Revenue Court under Act X and not in the Civil Court, and the High Court held that the claim did not fall within the demands cognizable under Act X of 1859, the words of the provisions of which could not be legitimately construed so as to include them. RUTTAN MONEE DOSSEE v. BABOO JOTENDRO MOHAN TAGORE, 6 W. R. Act X, Rul. 31.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(76)—Written statement—Not verified—Dismissal of suit—Defendants held trespassers—Suit for possession by defendants—Jurisdiction.—Where a written statement has been put in without the verification of the defendant and the same is allowed to be on the record, it is the business of the Court to take notice of the allegations which it contains and frame issues accordingly. Where a suit for rent has been dismissed on the ground of defendants having been trespassers, the latter cannot bring a suit for possession in a Revenue Court. RADHA CHURN ROY v. MORAN & CO., 13 W.R. 342.

(77)—Jurisdiction—Suit for arrears of rent—Suit on covenant in lease to recover arrears of rent of mine.—A leased to B for 25 years, commencing from October 1855, certain aurungs, or pieces of ground, at certain rent payable monthly, B entering into a covenant to pay the rent. The property leased was a loha mehal or iron mine, and the lessee used it as such and erected smelting furnaces. Held that a suit by A against B, on the covenant in the lease to recover arrears of rent, was properly not brought under the Rent Act; that "land" as understood in reference to Act X of 1859, had a limited signification, and referred to such land as is made use of for the purposes of vegetable or animal reproduction. KHALUT CHUNDER GHOSE v. MINTO, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 426.

(78)—Jurisdiction—Suit by one putneedar against co-putneedars for rent.—A suit by one of a body of putneedars against his co-putneedars for his share of the rents collected by the latter is cognizable in the Civil Court, and not under Act X of 1859. SOOBHUL SINGH v. MEETO SING, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 12.

(79)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4—Jurisdiction—Suit for rent of stone-quarry.—A suit for arrears of rent and cancellation of a lease where the land (part of a hill) had been leased for quarrying stone, with a small area required for the huts of the stone cutters, and looked upon by the parties as necessary and accessory to the main purpose of the lease, was held not to fall within the purview of cl. 4, s. 23, Act X of 1859. SHALGRAM v. MUSST. KUBIRUN, 8 B.L.R. A.C. 61=11 W.R. 400. (1 I.J.N.S. 426, Appr.) [F., 9 B.L.R. App. 14.]

(80)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4—Trees cut down by tenant—Suit for half their price—Jurisdiction.—A suit for half the price of trees cut down by the tenant, and claimed by the landlord by right of usage, does not lie under cl. 4, s. 23, Act X of 1859 in the

Rent, Suit for—continued.

Revenue, but in the Civil Court. TOHUL ROY v. MOONSHEE MAHADEO DUTT, W.R. 1864, 327.

(81)—Act X of 1859, ss. 23, cl. 4 and 162—Lease of several estates. Suit to recover rent under—Estate situate in territory to which Act not extended—Rent for such estate—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts when suits could not be brought in Revenue Courts.—Where the rent reserved by a lease of several estates is a lump sum the claim cannot be split and apportioned, simply because one of the estates is situated in a place where Act X of 1859 does not apply. The provisions of s. 162 of Act X of 1859 can only be read as referring to suits brought to recover rent of estates, situated in districts in which the Courts constituted by the Act are established. In the commencement of the section, its provisions are confined to "suits brought under the Act," a suit brought to recover rent, partly due in respect of estates situate in a district in which the Act is not in force, cannot be held to be brought under the Act. Semble.—There is authority for holding that the Civil Courts may entertain suits which cannot be brought in the Revenue Courts, although a portion of the claim is of a nature of which the exclusive cognizance is given to the Revenue Courts. OOSMAN KHAN v. CHOWDHRY SHEORAJ SINGH, 5 N.W.P. 42. [R., 1 O C. Supt. 1.]

(82)—Suit for tolls for use of a ferry—Beng. Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4—A suit for tolls for the use of a ferry belonging to the plaintiff was not maintainable under Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4. FURLONG v. TREELOCHUN SINGH, Marsh 504=2 Hay. 598.

(83)—Suit to enforce right to erect golahs at ghats and to collect duties—Beng. Act X of 1859, s. 23.—A suit for enforcing an alleged right to erect golahs at certain ghats, and to collect duties from persons using them, was not a suit "on account of any right of pasturage, forest right, fisheries, or the like," within s. 23 of Act X of 1859, and the Collector had no jurisdiction to entertain it. FURLONG v. JOHURREE LOLL, Marsh 194=1 Hay 453.

(84)—Suit for ground rent—Jurisdiction.—A suit for ground-rent of a land on which a golah stands cannot be instituted in a Revenue Court. DELAWUR ALI v. DABEE PERSHAD, 11 W.R. 203. (9 W.R. 52, F.)

(85)—Suit by one co-sharer for moiety of rent of land in possession of another—Jurisdiction—Act X of 1859, s. 23.—S. 23 of Act X of 1859 has no application to a suit in which the claim of the plaintiff is to a moiety of the rent of certain land in the possession of his co-sharer. MITTUNLAL SAHOO v. SHEIK NADUR, 1 W.R. 53. [R., 12 W.R. 418.]

(86)—Act X of 1859—Co-sharers, legal position of—Liability to pay rent—Jurisdiction.—A suit by one co-sharer against another is not cognizable by the Revenue Court under s. 23 of Act X of 1859. The legal position of co-sharers in an estate occupying separate portions of it for their own purposes is, that each possesses and holds in respect of his several right to enjoy that which is his own. If any one holds a portion of land larger than his share, either as being greater in extent or in value, the inequality may be rectified by a partition: or if a dispute arises on a division of the annual profits, it may be adjusted in a suit for an account in which the rights and equities of all the parties can be fully dealt with. But such a suit is not cognizable under Act X of 1859. If a co-sharer occupies a portion of an estate larger than that which he is entitled to hold, by renting it from one or the rest of his co-sharers, he migh be sued for the rent of such land under Act X of 1859, by the person or persons with whom he engaged. In the ordinary case of cultivating share-holders holding at a rent which is collected by a putwaree on behalf of the entire body, the liability of each cultivating co-sharer to pay rent for his holding, must, in the absence of usage, agreement, or evidence to the contrary, be deemed to be single and entire. But if there is an agreement, either express, or which can be implied from the conduct of the parties, that the occupying share-holder should pay separately to each of his co-proprietors a certain definite sum in respect of the share of such co-proprietor as its rent, there is no reason why such sum should not be recoverod by such co-proprietor by a rent suit before a Collector. KALEE PERSHAD v. SHAH LUTAFUT HOSSEIN, 12 W.R. 418. [Appl., 20 W.R 258; R., 9 C.P.L.R. 133, 7 A.L.J. 90=1 Ind. Cas. 975.]

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(87)—Jurisdiction—Suit for rent—Rent from tolls—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869.—The provisions of Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 do not permit an action for rent derivable, as far as the lessor is concerned, from tolls collected by the lessee from persons resorting to a certain hat. Such a suit is not cognizable under the provisions of the Rent Law. ROBERT SAVI v. ISSUR CHUNDER MUNDUL, 20 W.R. 146.

(88)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869—Agricultural holdings—Erection of building—Proprietor's consent—Right to hold land in perpetuity—Filing of plaint—Further statement by plaintiff after filing of defendant's written statement.—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 applies only to agricultural holdings and does not apply to disputes regarding a street in a town. The mere fact that a building has been erected on a land with the consent of the proprietor of the estate, does not give to the occupant a right to hold the land perpetually at the same rate. If the proprietor with an ultimate view of raising the rent brings a suit for ejectment, he has a right to have his title to eject determined in that suit. [Appl., 3 C.L.R. 543.] After written statement was filed in a suit for ejectment, the plaintiff, without leave of the Court, filed a further statement without the claim that he made in the plaint and substituting in its place a claim for enhancement of rent. Held that the supplemental statement of the plaintiff must be rejected. THE COLLECTOR OF MONGHYR v. HAKIM MADAR BUKSH, 25 W.R. 136.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(89)—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.)—Jurisdiction—Suit for dustoorut—Rent—Dismissal of suit—Fresh suit—Act VIII of 1859—Ground not taken in special appeal—Practice.—Dustoorut is not rent. Therefore a suit for dustoorut is not cognizable under Act VIII of 1869. The contention at the hearing of the special appeal that, even supposing the suit for dustoorut was not really a suit for rent, it was not liable to be dismissed, in order that a fresh suit might be instituted under Act VIII of 1859, is not tenable when that was not taken as one of the grounds in the special appeal. RAM CHURN BANERJEE v. TORILA CHURN PAUL, 18 W.R 343.

(90)—Act XIV of 1863—Lumbardaree right, suit to recover—Commission on actual collection—Jurisdiction.—Act XIV of 1863 has no clause applicable to a claim by a lambardar to recover a 10 per cent. allowance made payable to him by the terms of the administration paper, this lambardaree right not being strictly a commission on actual collections made by him, but being rather a payment stipulated for in his favour by the settlement papers. It is properly recoverable in the Civil Court. KHOOBEE v. AKBAR, 2 Agra 322.

(91)—Arrears of rent, Suit for—Jurisdiction—Oudh Rent Act, XXII of 1886, ss. 124 and 124 A—Civil Court — Appeal.—Where the question is whether a suit ought to have been instituted in a Civil Court or in a Rent Court, held, that when such an objection to jurisdiction was taken in the first Court, and on appeal the appellate Court has before it "all the materials necessary for the determination of the suit" it shall decide the appeal without entering into the question of the jurisdiction of the Lower Court to entertain the suit. In the schedule attached to a tenant's lease, comprising both agricultural and non-agricultural lands, there was no division or specification of the amount of rent payable on each separately, but one lump sum of rent for both. Following the rule of law laid down in Oosman Khan v. Chaudhari Sheoraj Singh, (5 N.W.P. 42) held, that a suit for arrears of rent, based on the said lease, was cognizable in a Civil Court. ABDUL AZIZ v. NAWAB MALIKA MUKHADRA UZMA BADSHAH MAHAL SAHIBA, 1 O.C. Supp. 1.

(92)—Prospective rent, Determination of—Mokurari lease.—A suit for the determination of the rate of rent, for the enhancement of which notice was sent and which the defendants are liable to pay plaintiff in the future, is a suit which will lie under the law. Though a pottah confers a contingent holding on the lessee and his posterity, it is therefore a mokurari pottah. ASGUR ALI v. WOOMAKANT MOOKERJEE, 25 W.R. 318.

(93)—Decree for rent, Condition for execution by means of endorsement of amount on bond given by plaintiff to defendant. — Plaintiff let an estate in farm to defendant and there was a condition that the rent should go in discharge of a bond executed by the plaintiff in favour of the defendant. In a suit for rent by the plaintiff, the Deputy Collector passed a decree with a proviso that it should be executed by endorsing the amount on the above bond, and neither party objected to such a course. The first appellate Court, however, threw out the case on the ground of want of jurisdiction, but the High Court holding that it was wrong, remanded the case with the direction that any rent found due will be paid by endorsement on the bond as decided by the Deputy Collector. GOLUCKNATH ROY v. MR. K. BROODY, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 47.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(94)—Suit for rent, maintainable against tenants in possession — Registration not essential.—This was a suit against several parties for rent and the lower Court had wrongly considered that, unless the defendants were registered tenants, the suit could not be maintained. This was a mistake. If the defendants or any of them were shown to be in possession as tenants, the suit can be maintained whether they are registered or not and those not in possession can be struck out. JERABUTOONISSA KHANUM v. RAM CHUNDER DOSS, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 36.

(95)—Farming lease—Rent—Arrears — Revenue Court—Jurisdiction.— Where a person took a farming lease from another, agreeing to pay him a certain yearly rent and stipulating to pay him half of the enhanced rent (which he might succeed in realising from the ryots) held that a suit by the lessor for recovery of his moiety of enhanced rent would lie in the Revenue Court. SRIMATI BHABATARINI DASI v. J. GREY, 2 B.L R.A.C. 152=11 W. R. 7. (5 W.R. Act X, 34, Rel. on; 1 B.L.R. F. B. 32, D.)

(96)—Dwelling-house—Suit for enhancement of rent—Collector's jurisdiction.—The Collector can take cognizance of a suit for enhancement of rent of a dwelling-house in a village. ABDUL HAMID v. DONGARAM DEY, 3 B.L.R. App. 133. (2 B.L.R. App. 39, D.)

(96-a) —Enhancement of rent—Act X of 1859, s. 17.—A notice of enhancement does not come within s. 17 of Act X of 1859, where the ground alleged for the claim of higher rent is merely that the productive powers of the land have increased or that the rent paid is below the prevailing rate paid by neighbouring ryots. RAM SARAN SINGH v. BHAJAN DOBAY KARPARDAZ, 6 B L.R. App. 155, N (a)=11 W.R 515. [R., 6 B.L.R. App. 155, Note=12 W.R. 537.]

(96-b)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869—Enhancement of rent—Jurisdiction.—A suit for enhancement of rent, on the ground of increased value of the land by reason of the existence of a distillery, the said increase of value not being attributable to any of the causes specified in s. 17, Act X of 1859, will not lie under Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869. BRAJA NATH KUNDU CHOWDHIRY v. A. STEWART, 8 B.L R. App. 51=16 W.R. 216. [R., 3 C.L.R. 543.]

(97)—Jurisdiction — Revenue Court—Rent suit—Question of title—Ijmali estate.—It is competent for a Revenue Court in an Act X suit to go into matters connected with title and to decide whether property is joint or separate with the view to prove the relationship of landlord and tenant between a plaintiff and a defendant who alleges that the property, is the ijmalee of himself and plaintiff. MOHESH DUTT v. BABOO BEG NARAIN SINGH, 16 W.R. 82. (8 W.R. 428, F.B., R.)

(98)—Revenue Courts — Jurisdiction—Suit or rent—Plea of payment by burrat—Proof of execution of burrat by lanalord.—Where in a suit for rent, payment by a burrat is pleaded by the tenant, and it is proved that the landlord had executed it, the Revenue Court has jurisdiction to try the question of burrat. PURNOO CHUNDER ROY v. NUND LALL GHOSE, 7 W.R. 25.

(99)—Suit by assignee of land for arrears of rent Revenue Court—Jurisdiction.—A Revenue Court has jurisdiction in a suit for rent brought by the assignee of the land; and has also jurisdiction, so long as the nature of the plaintiff's claim is not changed, to enquire into matters which have subsequently taken place, and which may only affect the defendant's answer to the plaintiff's claim. ISHAN CHUNDER SEIN v. KENARAM GHOSE, 12 W.R. 381.

(100) - Revenue Court — Jurisdiction—Suit for rent for land enjoyed in excess.—Where a tenant held land in excess of that for which he had been paying rent, the Revenue Court had jurisdiction to entertain a suit for rent for the excess land, provided there had been no lease or express contract limiting the lands of the tenancy, in which case the tenant becomes a trespasser in respect of the excess land and the jurisdiction of the Revenue Court becomes ousted. SHAM JHA v. DOORGA ROY, 7 W.R. 122. [R., 22 W.R. 246.]

(101)—Jurisdiction—Revenue Court—Arrears of rent, Suit for - Practice—Rate of rent—Evidence.—A suit for arrears of rent at an enhanced rate is cognizable by a Revenue Court, though it is not brought for determination of the rate of rent at which the defendant should be required to give a kabooleut. In ascertaining the prevailing rate of rent it would be an error to strike an average between the witnesses on both sides. The proper plan is to ascertain upon which evidence reliance could be placed. ROWSHUN BIBEE v. CHUNDER MADHUB KUR, 16 W R. 177.

(102)—Rent, Suit for—Landlord and tenant — Questions to be tried—Revenue Court—Estoppel.—Plaintiff sued the defendant in the Court of the Mamlatdar for the balance of rent due for certain years, in respect of certain lands. The defendant pleaded that he was the owner of the lands, and that the suit being one of right to land, not to rent, could not be carried on in the Revenue Court. Held (i) that the proper questions in such a suit were whether the defendant had occupied the land as tenant to the plaintiff during the years in question, and what rent remained due; (ii) that the Court cannot frame any issue as to the title to the property, inasmuch as to record such an issue would have been, upon the mere allegation of the defendant, without any proof, entirely to alter the position of the plaintiff and to oblige him to prove a title to the land, when it might be that the defendant had actually received possession of it from the plaintiff and had agreed to pay him rent for it; (iii) that the suit was a dispute regarding rent, within s. 31, cl. 3, Reg. XVII of 1827, and (iv) that this was not a suit "in regard to tenure" or "in which the right to possession of land" was claimed, within the meaning of s. 1, cl. 1, Act XVI of 1838. In a suit for rent, what the plaintiff is obliged to show is that the defendant is his tenant, and has made a contract either expressly or impliedly with him to pay for the occupation of the land. In such a suit, the defendant is not at liberty to set up a title in himself, and thereby deprive the Revenue Courts of jurisdiction. A tenant is estopped from disputing the title of his landlord, during the tenancy; the real question in the suit being whether the defendant is the plaintiff's tenant and has made such a contract, either express or implied If the plaintiff failed to prove this, he would not be entitled to recover rent from the defendant; and if he proved it, it would be unjust to treat the suit as one to try the right to the land and thereby deprive him of the benefit of the estoppel which the defendant would then be under. N.B.—The above was the decision of Couch, J, when the question was referred to him in consequence of the difference of opinions expressed by Newton and Tucker, JJ. BAI MAHALAKSHMI v. ANDHARU KESHAVRAM NARSIA RAM, 2 B. H.C. 185.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(103)—Decree for rent—Jurisdiction of Collector—Court executing decree—Act VIII of 1859, s. 288.—The Collector, in a decree for rent, is not competent to make a special direction as to payment such as that realization of the decree should be against the property of judgment-debtor. Under s. 288, Civ. Pro. Code, unless upon the face of the decree, it appears that the Court had no jurisdiction to make it, a Court in executing that decree is bound to execute it as it stands. If there is anything in the decree which is wrong, it may be set aside by appeal or by an application to the High Court under s. 15 of the Charter Act, if there is any question as to excess of jurisdiction on the part of the Court passing it. DALEE PERSHAD SING v. SYAD DELAWUR ALI, 13 W.R. 312.

(104)—Suit for rent in kind—Intervenor made party at his request.—Objection by intervenor as to jurisdiction.—In a suit for rent paid in kind which the plaintiff alleged that the tenant (defendant) had appropriated, and for the value of which he brought the present suit in the Civil Court, the defendant did not deny the plaintiff's right to rent as landlord, but contended that plaintiff claimed more than his share. But intervenors appeared in the suit and objected that the suit being one for rent, the Civil Court had no jurisdiction, and they further pleaded that the defendant was their tenant, and paid rents to them. They were made defendants in the case at their own request. Held (by Loch, J.) that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction to try the case. Neither the defendant's appropriation of the rent, nor the fact that the defendant disputed the amount of the plaintiff's share, nor the Act of the intervenors when they interfered and were made defendants and raised the question of right, alter the nature of the suit between the plaintiff and the defendant, or take the case out of the cognizance of the Revenue Court. Held (by Phear, J.) that whatever might have been the case before the intervenors became parties to the suit, as soon as they were made defendants, and issues of right and title were raised by the Court, on their own allegations between themselves and the plaintiff, there was manifest matter in dispute between the parties which the Civil Court had ample jurisdiction to entertain and decide. GHOLAM MAHOMED AKBUR v. RADHA KISHEN MOHUNT, 9 W.R. 287.

(105)—Jurisdiction — Shikmi talukhdars—Permanent Settlement.—Shikmi talukhs included at the time of the permanent Settlement within the Zemindar's estate made the talukdars subordinate to the zemindar, who was therefore entitled to sue them for their rents in the Revenue Courts. CHUNDER KANT CHUCKERBUTTY v. DUKHEEANEA ODEA, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 6=4 W.R. Act X, Rul. 41.

(106)—Suit for rent—Revenue Court—Jurisdiction.—Where rent was claimed under an agreement that, if either party took up the land of the other without an actual demise of it, he would pay rent for it at a certain rate; held that such a suit was cognizable by a Revenue Court. JADOOBUR SINGH v. BEHAREE SINGH, 2 N.W.P. 437.

(107)—Claim to deduction of rent—Bond.—In an action for rent before the Collector, the tenant set up that, by a tamasook entered into between himself and his landlord after his lease, it was stipulated that, in consideration of an advance of money by him to the landlord, a part only of the rent should be paid and the residue applied in satisfaction of the debt and he claimed to be entitled to the benefit of that stipulation. Held that the Collector had jurisdiction to inquire into the validity of the alleged tamasook, and to allow the deduction, if satisfied that it was genuine. EDUN v. BEECHUN, Marsh 409.

(108)—Suit by assignee of right to recover rent.—A claim to rent preferred by a person, to whom the zemindar had assigned the right to recover the rent, could be tried under the Rent Act. SHAMASOONDEREE DOSSEE v. BINDABUN CHUNDER MOZOOMDAR, Marsh 199=1 Hay 574.

(109)—Suit for rent below Rs. 100—Appeal heard by the Judge without jurisdiction—Powers

Rent, Suit for—continued.

of High Court under s. 35 of Act XXIII of 1861 —Transfer of appeal to Collector.—This suit for arrears of rent below Rs. 100 was tried by a Deputy Collector. This was a case in which, if tried by the Collector, his decision would have been final under s. 153, and consequently the Judge had no jurisdiction to hear the appeal, and under s. 155 the appeal lay to the Collector. The High Court acting under s. 35, Act XXIII of 1861, ordered that the decision of the Judge be set aside and the case be transferred to the Collector for hearing. KRISTO INDER ROY CHOWDHRY v. ROOPINEE BEBEE, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 56. [R., 15 W.R. 518, 15 W.R. 426.]

(110 & 111)—Suit to recover rent wrongfully collected by unauthorised person.—A suit would not lie, under Beng. Act X of 1859, to recover rent wrongfully collected by a person, not the agent of the landholder, and without his authority. SEETAL KISTO ROY v. GOSSEENATH SHAH, Marsh 465.

(112)—Deposit of money by lessee—Suit by lessor—Jurisdiction.—Where, in a transaction which was alleged to be one of zur-i-peshgee not partaking of the nature of a mortgage, the lessor upon its execution received a sum of money, not by way of an advance or loan, but merely as a deposit for the due payment of the rent reserved, it was held that a suit for rent on such transaction was within the jurisdiction of the Revenue Court, as Act X of 1859 was applicable to it. JOWAHURLALL v. SULTAN ALI, 12 W.R. 214.

(113)—Act X of 1859 - Suit for rent of Zerait lands—Jurisdiction.—A suit for rent against a person who holds certain lands as zerait lands in his exclusive possession, is one for rent as between landlord and tenant, and it must be tried under Act X of 1859, in the Revenue Court, and not in the Civil Court. MR. W. S. CROWDY v. SREE MISSER, 12 W.R. 4.

(114)—Act X of 1859—Suit for arrears of rent—Suit by lessor—Jurisdiction.—Where the principal matter demised under a lease is the land of a zemindari, the indigo factories on such land being merely adjuncts or appurtenances thereto, a suit for arrears of the rent of the land is triable by the Revenue Court under Act X of 1859. SHARODA PERSHAD MOOKERJEE v. SREENATH MOOKERJEE, 15 W.R. 520.

(115)—Act X of 1859—Jurisdiction—Suit by landlord for rent from under-tenant.—Where a landlord took khas possession of the tenure of his tenant under the terms of a contract, held that he could sue under Act X of 1859 for realizing the rents due to his tenant from the under-tenants. MAHARAJAH JUGUT INDUR NARAIN v. RAMSOONDER GHOSE, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 24.

(116)—Arrears of rent—Suit against lessee's surety—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4—Jurisdiction of Collector.—On this appeal from a decision not against the lessee who was one of the defendants, but against his surety to pay the rent sued for, the first point taken was that the action would not lie against the surety since any suit against him ought to be instituted in the Civil Court and not in that of the Collector. The High Court held that the objection was untenable. To all intents and purposes, the suit was one under cl. 4, s. 23 of Act X of 1859, being one for arrears due on account of rent, and, as such, it may be fairly entertained both against the lessee who was made originally liable, and against the surety who would be liable on the default of the lessee. BHCOHUN MOHUN v. BHUBO SOONDUREE DEBIA CHOWDHRAIN, 8 W.R. 452.

(117)—Rent of lands let for purposes of factory, maintainability of suit under Act X for recovery of—Purposes of demise immaterial—In this suit for enhanced rent of certain land, it was argued for the defendant in support of the decision of the lower Court that the suit, being for lands let for the purpose of an indigo factory including the dwelling house of the proprietor of the factory, should not have been brought before the Collector under cl. 4, s. 23 of Act X of 1859, but the High Court decided that, in the present case, the rent issued out of, and was reserved in respect of, the land alone, and not the factory, and the suit was thus maintainable under Act X of 1859. TARRENEY PERSHAD GHOSE v. BENGAL INDIGO COMPANY, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 9.

(118)—Suit for rent—Hat—Jurisdiction.—Under s. 23, Act X of 1859, a suit for recovery of arrears of rent due in respect of a hat, is cognizable by the Collector. GAETREE DABEA v. THAKOOR DOSS, W. R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 78. [R., 35 C. 82, F.B.]

(119)—Suit for rent whether on kubooleut or otherwise cognizable only by Collector—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4.—Whether a suit, which has been instituted as for rent, purports to have been based on a kubooleut or agreement or neither, it is always cognizable by the Collector under cl. 4, s. 23 of Act X of 1859. BABOO DHUNPUT SINGH v. MRS. M. MILLS, 7 W.R. 473.

(120)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4—Suit for rent of fisheries.—Suits for the rents of fisheries are provided for by cl. 4, s. 23 of Act X of 1859. ALLUM CHUNDER SHAHA v. BHURUT BABOO, 5 W.R, Act X, Rul. 92. [R., 31 C. 937=8 C.W.N. 804.]

(121)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4 - Rent suit against benami and actual farmer—Jurisdiction of Revenue Courts—Decree against only one possible.—Where two persons were sued for rent, one as benami farmer and the other as actual farmer, the suit for rent was held to have been properly brought, under cl. 4, s. 23, Act X of 1859, in the Revenue Court. In such a suit the plaintiff was bound to make his election and could not sue both for the same rent. He could only obtain a decree against one or other not both of the defendants. HEERALOLL BUKSHEE v. RAJ KISHORE MOZOOMDAR, W R F.B. 58=1 Hay 449=Marsh 188=1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 81.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(122)—Suit by some lessors for share of rent—Nature of suit—Cognisability by Collector—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4.—A suit brought by some of several lessors against the tenant and others of the lessors, claiming a right to recover a particular share of the rent, the whole of which had been credited to the defendant in account by the other lessors who were made defendants is not a suit which under Act X of 1859 ought to be brought before the Collector, as it is not a suit merely for rent, but is partly to try the right of the several landlords inter se. LALLA ISREE PERSHAD v. STUART, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 28. [R., 13 W.R. 59.]

(123)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 4—Suit for arrears of rent—Assignment of rent—Jurisdiction.—A suit to recover arrears due to the plaintiff under an assignment of rent tantamounts to a suit to recover arrears of rent, which is only cognizable under cl. 4, s. 23, Act X of 1859, by Revenue Courts. KISHEN KOOMAR MITTER v. MAHESH CHUNDER BANNERJEE, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 3. [D., 27 C. 827, F.B.]

(124)—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.)—Rent suits—Separate register of suits—Object—Jurisdiction.—The Bengal Legislature, when it passed Act VIII of 1869, restoring the Civil Courts the jurisdiction of which they had been for a time deprived, and empowering them to try suits for rents and others of a kindred nature, thought fit to direct that the suits instituted under the provisions of the Act should be entered in a separate register This provision, however, was introduced obviously for statistical purposes and not for the purpose of separating into parts the jurisdiction exercised by one Court. JALLALOODEN v. J. BURNE, 15 B.L.R. 261, (Note)=18 W.R. 99. [R., 18 W.R. 343, 22 W.R. 478, 24 W.R. 154=15 B.L.R. 238.]

(125)—Suit for rent—Jurisdiction—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869.—A suit for rent in kind is cognizable under Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.). MULLICK AMANUT ALI v. UKLOO PASEE, 25 W.R. 140. [R., 1 C.W.N. 55, 1 A. 217, F.B.]

(126)—Jurisdiction—Suit for rent before Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869—Suit instituted in wrong Court which had jurisdiction at the time of decision.—A Munsif had no jurisdiction to decide a suit for arrears of rent which was instituted before Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 came into operation, although the suit was actually decided after the Act came into operation and thus after the jurisdiction of the Revenue Courts had ceased to exist. KULLYANESSUREE DOSSEE v. NARAIN KYBURTO, 15 W.R. 241.

(127)—Suit for rent of land occupied without consent of landlord—Question of title—Jurisdiction of Revenue Court as to question of title raised in a rent suit—Oudh Rent Act, XXII of 1886, s. 127—Entries in Government record not conclusive proof of title.—It is the duty of a Revenue Court in Oudh to decide every question raised in a rent suit, which is necessary for the decision of the suit, although its decision may not be binding upon the parties in the Civil Court. SHEIKH TALIB ALI v. BASANT RAE, 7 O.C. 340.

(128)—Jurisdiction—Landlord and tenant—Benami contracts—Pottah and kabuliat—Sureties.—Suit in a Deputy Collector's Court for arrears of rent on a ganthi jumma, for which four of the defendants were alleged to have taken a lease receiving a pottah and giving a kabuliat in the name of a third party C.P. on the security of two others who were sued as sureties. The liability of each defendant had been affirmed in previous decisions between the parties and the only dispute was between one of the defendants who claimed for himself and a co-defendant the exclusive liability and exclusive beneficial interest under the lease, and two female defendants, who alleged their liability to be limited and separate. The Deputy Collector found that the female defendants were liable for the rent of the share admitted by them and decreed the same accordingly, and awarded the balance of the amount against the other defendants. Held, (Norman, J., dissentiente, and overruling 11 W. R. p. 120 so far as this point went) that the Collector was fully competent to hear and determine the suit as one of a very large class which the Revenue Courts are trying daily, in which either landlord or tenant is a benami holder, the name used not being that of the real contracting party. The rule refusing to allow an agent, who appears in a written contract as principal to offer parol evidence for the purpose of exonerating himself, was held to bet, wholly inapplicable to this case. The parties sued, being held to be, within the knowledge of the sureties, the real contending parties, the sureties were held responsible for these parties and not for C.P. BIPINBEHARI CHOWDHRY v. RAM CHANDRA ROY, 5 B.L.R. 234=14 W.R. 12. [F., 9 C. 383=11 C L.R. 577; Appr., 16 W.R. 186; D., 18 W.R. 35.]

(129)—Rent, summary suit for—Suit for execution of decree—Revenue Court—Satisfaction.—A regular suit cannot be maintained to enforce a decree in a summary suit for rent which the Revenue Court has found to be satisfied, and therefore refused to execute (Steer, J., contra.) ANANDA MOYI DASI v. PATIT PABUNI DASI, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 18=W.R. F.B. 118.

(130)—Act X of 1859, s. 24—Advance for construction of bund and for payment of tehsildars—Jurisdiction.—A suit by a manager under the Court of Wards against the sureties of a deceased naib or agent to recover money advanced to such naib for the construction of a bund and for payment of the salaries of the tehsildars and the peadahs (peons), is cognizable by the Revenue Court under s. 24 of Act X of 1859, as the construction of the bund is an Act of the naib, clearly, distinctly and directly coming within the section, with regard to the 'management of land,' and as the tehsildars and peadahs are necessary and essential for the same purpose, their employment and payment also are directly in connection with the management of the lands. RAM DYAL BANERJEE v. THE COURT OF WARDS, 12 W.R. 269.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(131)—"Bhikya," meaning of—Suit by zemindar against agent for rent—Act X of 1859, s. 24. —The word "Bhikya" means something of the same character as "abwab" or any other cess, and so long as the ryot continues to pay it in consideration of not being sued for enhancement of rent, it can hardly be said to be anything but rent. A sum of money paid by ryots to the zemindar under compromise instead of on suits for enhancement of rents can hardly be said not to come within the category of rent. A suit by a zemindar against an agent employed by him in the collection of rents, to recover such moneys, comes within the purview of s. 24, Act X of 1859. BHOLANATH MOOKERJEE v. BRIJO MOHUN GHOSE, 14 W.R. 351.

(132)—Act X of 1859, s. 27—Ryotee tenure, registration not necessary in the case of—Act VI of 1862 (B.C.)—Tender of rent followed by deposit.—S. 27 of Act X of 1859 cannot apply where the tenure in dispute is not one intermediate between the Zemindar and the Collector, but a ryotee tenure. And, neither under s. 10 of Act X nor under any other law has the registration of a ryotee tenure been declared necessary. The tender of rent followed by a deposit of the money in Court under Act VI of 1862, B.C. is a legally valid and sufficient tender. WOOMA CHURN SETT v. HUREE PERSHAD MISSER, 10 W.R. 101. [R., 11 C. W.N. 983, F.B.=6 C.L.J. 273=35 C. 34.]

(133)—Act X of 1859, ss. 47, 56, 58—Suit for rent—Service of summons on defendant residing outside district.—The words in s. 56 of Act X of 1859 "upon proof that the summons or proclamation has been duly served according to the provisions of this Act," refer to the mode in which a summons is to be served. Where the defendant in a suit for rent resides in another district and the service of summons is effected by a peon of the Collector's office of the district in which the suit is brought, and not through the Collector of the district in which the defendant resides, as required by s. 47 of the Act, such procedure would not amount to such irregularity as to vitiate the proceedings. An irregularity of this kind by which the party is not injured does not vitiate the proceeding and render the ex parte decree passed against him void. MACKINTOSH v. KALLY DOSS MULLICK, 11 B.L.R. 1=19 W. R. 234.

(134)—Rent suit—Suing by agent—S. 69, Act X of 1859—Rent accruing before and after time—Tehsildar.—No one can be plaintiff except the person or persons who have the right to recover. The only effect of s. 69 of Act X of 1859, is to enable the person who is employed in the collection of rents to do that, as agent, which would otherwise have to be done by the plaintiff in person. Where arrears of rent have accrued as well before as during a Tehsildar's time, he is at liberty to avail himself of s. 69, Act X of 1859, in respect of such arrears. MODHUSOODUN SINGH v. WILLIAM MORAN AND CO., 11 W.R. 43.

(135)—S. 77, Act X of 1859—Rent claimed by plaintiff alleging right and possession—Denial of plaintiff's possession by defendant—Plea of payment to third party—Party to suit—Question of receipt and enjoyment of rent to be tried.—Where the plaintiff claimed rents from defendant, alleging both his right and possession, and the defendant denied that plaintiff was in possession, but pleaded that he (defendant) paid his rents to the third party as rightful heir and as in possession and the third party himself also pleaded to the above effect, held, that s. 77, Act X of 1859, was the law by which the Judge should try the case and that the question of the actual receipt and enjoyment of the rent by such third person should alone be enquired into and the suit decided according to the result of such enquiry. MIRZAH ZAHID ALLY v. MIRZAH HINGAM, W R F B. 14.

(136)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Suit for rent, intervention of third party in—Onus on intervenor of proving receipt and enjoyment of rent.—According to s. 77 of Act X of 1859, where, in a suit against the ryot for rent, a third party intervenes, the question of the actual receipt and enjoyment of rent by that party is to be enquired into; in other words, where a person intervenes between landlord and tenant and claims the right to receive rents from the latter, the onus should be properly laid upon such person to prove his allegations and to show previous actual receipt and enjoyment of such rent by him. The High Court therefore held that the lower appellate Court was wrong in having upheld the decision of the Deputy Collector which threw out the plaintiff's claim on the grounds of his inability to prove receipt of rent from the tenant, and remanded the case so that the Deputy Collector may call upon the intervenor to prove his previous receipt and enjoyment of rent. KISHEN CHUNDER DOSS v. BURATEE SHEIKH, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 36.

(137)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Intervention—Question of title—Appeal from order—Jurisdiction—Appeal—Power of Judge to hear whole case.—Where, in a suit in which the amount of rent claimed did not exceed Rs. 100, the Deputy Collector decided a dispute between the plaintiff and the intervenor under s. 77 of Act X of 1859, not by enquiring as to which of the two parties had been in the receipt of the rent, but by enquiring into the titles set up respectively by each, held that an appeal would lie to the Judge. [F., 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 1, 10 W. R. 67; Appr., 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 154; D., 7 W.R. 108.] Where an appeal has been properly preferred to the Judge, the procedure which should guide him in hearing that appeal is that laid down in Act VIII of 1859. Under that procedure, the Judge is bound finally to determine the whole case, if the evidence on the record is sufficient to enable him to pronounce a satisfactory judgment. It cannot therefore be said that the Judge cannot try the question as to which party was in receipt of the rent. BEEBEE JAMEERUN v. BHICHUK THAKOOR, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 27.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(138)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Suit for rent—Intervention of third party—Decision on question of title—Appeal to Judge.—The appellant in this suit for rent urged that, as it was for a sum below Rs. 100, there was no appeal to the Judge. But it was held that, as a third party had intervened under s. 77 of Act X of 1859, and the Deputy Collector did not confine himself to the mere question of fact as to the receipt and enjoyment of rent but went also into questions of title and disposed of them, an appeal was maintainable to the Judge. MOHA MOYA CHOWDHRAIN v. RAMNATH CHOWDHRY, 6 W.R. Act X. Rul. 1. [F., 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 40 ; R , 10 W.R. 38.]

(139)—Special appeal—Suit for rent less than Rs. 100—No decision on conflicting claims.—Suit for rent less than Rs. 100. In a former suit brought against the plaintiff by a third party, a decree had been passed for recovery of a portion of the land for which rent was now claimed. The question of special appeal from the decree in the present suit depended upon whether a question relating to the title to land or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto had been determined by the judgment in the former case. Held that as in the present case neither the land nor the rent of the excluded plot was claimed by the defendant, there was no decision between the parties "having conflicting claims" so as to allow of a special appeal. The special appeal was therefore dismissed. REEDOYNATH DOORIPA v. PUDDO LOCHUN CHUCKERBUTTY, 22 W.R. 205.

(140)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Suit for arrears of enhanced rent—Intervenor alleging possession in part—Possession of both not proved—Suit for rent—Rate not admitted—Sharhanama not proved.—In a suit for arrears of rent, the plaintiff, alleging himself to be the proprietor of an 8 annas share, sued one of the ryots for rent, and a third party intervened and alleged that he had been in possession and enjoyment of the rents of 4 annas out of the 8 annas which the plaintiff had claimed, and the ryot supported the intervenor, the Judge on appeal finding that neither the plaintiff nor the intervenor had been in possession and enjoyment of the 4 annas of the rent in dispute, dismissed the plaintiff's suit. Held that, as between the claim of the plaintiff and that of the intervenor, the Judge having found against the intervenor, was bound to decree for the plaintiff in accordance with s. 77, Act X of 1859. Where a sharhanama under which the plaintiff claimed a higher rate of rent than the defendant admitted was not proved, the decree in favour of the plaintiff would be only to the extent and at the rate admitted by ryot. PHOOLABUTTEE KOOER v. GOPAL MUNDUR, 13 B.L.R. 244, Note=10 W.R. 81.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(141)—Intervenor in rent suit—Act X of 1859, s. 77.—There is no other ground on which a person can claim to be made a party to a suit under s. 77, Act X of 1859, except one, viz., that he has in good faith received and enjoyed rent up to the time of the commencement of the suit. Therefore, when a party applies under that section, quoting that section, it must be inferred that his plea is that he has been in receipt and enjoyment of the rent before and up to the commencement of the suit. His petition should not be rejected, because it does not contain the words "that he claimed to occupy and receive the rent." LACHMI NARAYAN PURI v. PUKHRAJ SINGH, 2 B.L.R. App. 16 =11 W R. 14.

(142)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Parties, addition of—Intervention—Actual receipt and enjoyment of rent—Lands whether part of estate.—Where, in a suit for arrears of rent of certain lands, the appellant intervened claiming to be heard under s. 77, Act X of 1859, alleging that his title to the lands in question had been declared by the decree of a Civil Court, held that the Deputy Collector was right in limiting his enquiry to the question whether the lands in dispute were covered by the decree. Where both the parties admit that the question of the actual receipt and enjoyment of the rents by the intervenor shall depend on the question whether the lands are part of his estate, the lower appellate Court should decide whether the finding of the first Court is right. BIR CHANDRA JUBARAJ GOSWAMI v. MADHAB KAIBARTA, 2 B.L.R.A.C. 160=11 W.R. 20.

(143)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Intervention—Bona fide receipt of rent by intervenor not proved — Intervenor's right under previous decree.—In a suit for rent of lands alleged by the plaintiff to be a certain share in a talook, held by him in a defined right, the defendant admitted the plaintiff's claim, but an intervenor appeared and contended that the lands were situated in a 7-anna share of the talook, that he purchased half of that share, and held a decree for the same, that he was a joint coparcener, and that the plaintiff was entitled to recover only one half of the rents he claimed. The intervenor having failed to prove actual receipt of rent bona fide as required by s. 77 of Act X of 1859, rested his case on the decree set up by him, contending that under it he was entitled to receive rent, and relied on two decisions (1 Wyman's Journal, 49 and 1 W.R. 331). Held that, as the decree did not state patently the subject matter to be that of this suit, i.e., it did not say that the lands the rents of which were claimed were really joint property and clearly covered by the decree, the principle of the decision in 1 Wyman's Journal 49, did not apply ; nor was the principle of the case in 1 W.R. 331 applicable, as there was no adjudication at all in the decree against, the plaintiff's right to receive the rents of these particular lands. GUGUN CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. SHAIKH AJMUL ALI, 11 W.R. 90. (8 W.R. 493, R.)

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(144)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Suit for rent—Improper intervention of third party.—Intervention under s. 77 of Act X of 1859 refers to cases where in any suit two parties claim to receive the rent of the land from "the same ryot," and not to cases where the intervenor claims the rent of the land from a ryot other than the one sued for by the plaintiff. DHURM LALL CHOWDHRY v SHUMBHOO CHOWDHRY, 12 W. R. 81. (1 W.R. 308, F.)

(145) — Rent suit — Intervention by partner—Act X of 1859, s. 77.—Where N instituted a suit for rent against J, who pleaded that he was not in possession, having sold his jote to W, who contended that N was entitled to recover only a moiety of the rent, the other half being due to M (the joint putnidar with plaintiff), from whom W had taken a farming lease, held that the defendant should be allowed to prove that he was not in possession ; and if M be not allowed to appear as an intervenor, there could be no objection to W's being allowed to do so, as deriving his title from M, and to show that plaintiff had not received the whole of the rent. JUMARAT MANDUL v. NILKANT SIRCAR, 1 B.L.R. A.C. 74=10 W. R. 110.

(146)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Suit for rent—Zamindar and plaintiff claiming rent from same tenant—Point for decision.—Where a plaintiff and the zemindar claim rent for the same land from the same tenant, the case comes under s. 77 of Act X of 1859 and the point to be decided is, who, up to the time of the commencement of the suit, was in bona fide receipt and enjoyment of the rent. The erroneous decision of questions of title not arising on the pleadings will give a right of appeal from it. SYUD JESHAM HOSSEIN v. NARAIN DOSS, 5 W. R. Act X, Rul. 56.

(147)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Intervenor—Jurisdiction of Civil and Revenue Courts.—The only question which an intervenor in a rent-suit under s. 77, Act X of 1859, is entitled to raise, either before the Collector or in appeal, is one relating to the fact of previous receipt and enjoyment of rent. If the Revenue Court decides this point against the party, whether intervenor or plaintiff, he can establish his legal title, if he has any to the rent or tenure of such land, by a suit in a Civil Court. The Revenue Court enquires merely into the fact of previous receipt and enjoyment of rent ; and the Civil Court by way of supplement, determines, if necessary, the legal rights of the parties. MARKOOND MYTEE v. UNUNT MOHOPATTUR, 12 W.R. 157. (7 W.R. 25, 10 W.R 67, D.)

(148)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Rent-suit—Intervenor—Title—Jurisdiction—Rule of construction.—An intervenor has no right to claim to be made a party to a suit for recovery of arrears of rent, unless, in the words of Act X of 1859, he found that such intervenor was "in the actual receipt and enjoyment of the rents of the land bona fide before and up to the time of the commencement of the suit." Where, in a suit to recover arrears of rent, a person intervened under s. 77, Act X of 1859, claiming a share of the rent, alleging that he had acquired a right under a decree of the Civil Court, and it was found that a predecessor of the intervenor, who died four years previously, had been in possession of a share of the property, and, after her death, no rent had been actually received and enjoyed by the intervenor, held that, under s. 77 of Act X of 1859, the claim of the intervenor could not be entertained, and that, under this section, the Court has no jurisdiction to decide the question of title. (9 W R 358, 3 B L.R. 204, Note, Expl.) The ordinary rule of construction is that, when the words to be interpreted are clear, that meaning should be attached to them which the words in their general acceptance bear. The Court should construe the law as its unambiguous words indicate in their ordinary meaning. Per Bayley, J. MADHUSUDAN BAGGHI v. RAJA MAHES CHANDRA SINGH. 3 B.L.R. A.C. 202=12 W.R. 62.

(149)—S. 77, Act X of 1859—Act XXVII of 1860—Scope—Payment of rent to intervenor.—Act XXVII of 1860 merely provides for a certificate being given to the representatives of the deceased person to collect the debts due to the estate of the deceased. It does not provide for an adjudication of the rights of parties to succeed to property, or their actual title to it. The whole object of that law is to provide for the security of debts who pay the debts due to the estate of the deceased. Whatever may be the extent of the right which a certificate confers on a party, no one but the party who is in actual and bona fide receipt of the rent is entitled to remain in possession under s. 77 of Act X of 1859. SHEIKH MAHOMED ENNOOS v. LALLA JOMARAD LALL, 13 W.R. 356.

(150)—Act X of 1859, ss. 77, 105, 110—Suit by se-putnedar—Intervention of dur-putnedar—Question of right to land between parties—Appeal to Judge—Sale under s. 105, Effect of.—Plaintiff, a se-putnedar, sued one of the ryots on his putnee estate. A third party intervened alleging that, as purchaser, he had obtained the dur-putnee estate free from all incumbrances and his title to collect the rent. Reversing the Deputy Collector's judgment, the first appellate Court dismissed the plaintiff's suit. On special appeal, it was urged that no appeal could lie to the Judge as the amount involved in the suit did not exceed Rs. 100. But, it was held that, as the judgment of the Deputy Collector had determined a question of right to land between parties having conflicting claims thereto, the appeal did lie to the Judge under s. 153, Act X of 1859. Held, also that, although the Act contains no express provision, for the admission, generally, of third persons as parties to a suit, it has always been the practice of the Court to admit third parties to intervene, otherwise than under s. 77 when their rights and interests were manifestly put in jeopardy. It was further contended that the sale of the dur-putnee did not void the se-putnee. But the High Court held that the sale having been held under s. 105 of Act X of 1859 for arrears of rent on the dur-putnee, the tenure itself was sold and not only the rights and interests of the defaulter as in s. 110. RAMJEEBUN CHOWDHRY v. PEARYLALL MUNDULL, 4 W. R. Act X, Rul. 30.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(151)—Act X of 1859, s. 106—Sale of under-tenure—Suit by auction purchaser for khas possession—Plea that suit for rent was fraudulent and against wrong party.—The plaintiff, as purchaser at an auction sale of an under-tenure, under the provisions of Act VIII of 1865 (B.C.) sued for khas possession. The defendant pleaded that the rent suit had been brought fraudulently and against a wrong person and that these facts were known to the auction purchaser. It was found that the Zamindar wilfully brought the suit for rent against a person other than the person whom he knew to be the proprietor of the under-tenure, and from whom for a series of years he had been receiving rent. Held, that it was not proper for the Zamindar to have instituted the suit against a wrong person, knowing full well that he was not suing the person from whom he had been receiving rent. Consequently, s. 106 of Act X of 1859 could not be pleaded in justification of the Zamindar. NOBIN CHUNDER SEN CHOWDHRY v. NOBIN CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY, 22 W.R. 46. [R., 3 C.L.R. 146.]

(152)—Act X of 1859, s. 153—Rent—Denial of tenancy—Appeal—Right of suit—Equitable title.—When a landlord sues a person as tenant who repudiates the tenancy, without denying the landlord's title, no appeal is given by s. 153 of Act X of 1859. The mere fact that a tenure (which is written in the books of the zemindar in the name of a particular person) is shown to be in the possession of another person, is not enough to support an action for rent against the person said or shown to be in possession, without something more, something to show an express or implied contract to pay rent. An equitable title is not sufficient to give a right of suit under Act X of 1859. ESHAN CHUNDER GOSHAL v. BURNO MOYEE DOSSEE, 16 W.R. 233. (6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 77, R.)

(153)—Act X of 1859, s. 162—"Revenue office," meaning of.—S. 162 of Act X of 1859 prescribes that suits for rent shall be instituted in "the Revenue Office" of the district or sub-division in which the cause of action shall have arisen. The words "Revenue office" mean not the office where the revenue is paid, but the office of the Revenue officer of the district or sub division. KAZEE ABDUL HUQ v. AZEEMOONISSA, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 12.

(154)—Decree for arrears—Mere tender without deposit of payment — Discretion of Court with regard to interest and costs.—In the law as enacted by Act VI of 1862, B.C., there is nothing forbidding the Court to give effect to a tender not followed by a deposit or payment of money into Court. The Court may, in considering whether the decree for arrears should also award costs or interest, bear in mind the fact (if that is established) that a previous tender was made. Nor do the provisions of the Act alter or affect the discretionary power of the Court to determine whether interest or costs should be awarded in the decree for arrears. BISSONATH DEB v. HURRO PERSHAD CHOWDHRY, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 88. [R., 35 C. 34.]

(155)—Rent-suits—Jurisdiction—Act VI (B. C.) of 1862, s. 20.—A suit for rent should be instituted in the sub-division in which the cause of action arose. The authority which a Collector has to transfer suits from one Court to another subordinate to him does not enable him to give authority to a Deputy Collector to try a suit which has been illegally instituted in his Court. PURNA CHANDRA CHATTERJEE v. C. MACARTHUR, 3 B L.R. A.C. 366 = 12 W. R. 310. (5 W.R. Act X, 87, 7 W.R. 170, 10 W.R. 454, R.; 5 W.R. Act X, 29, D.) [App., 21 W.R. 450.]

(156)—Act VIII of 1865 (B.C.), s. 16—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Incumbrance—Rent—Tenure.—In a suit by a dur mokuraridar against ryots for some portion of the rent of one year (1273) and the full rent of the next (1274), the defendants contested the claim for the year 1274, on the ground that the rights of the mokuraridar having been sold in execution under Act VIII (B.C.) of 1865, the right of the dur mokuraridar had been extinguished by the operation of s. 16, and that they had paid the rents for that year to one D, who intervened and was made a party. Held that the issue to be framed would be in the first instance between the plaintiff and the intervenor, whether the one or the other had been in the actual receipt and enjoyment of the rent before and up to the time of the commencement of the suit. Quære:—Would payment to the intervenor shortly before the commencement of the suit constitute the previous bona fide enjoyment which the intervenor is required to prove? Quære:—Could the purchaser determine for himself whether he acquired the tenure free from all encumbrances, or whether the encumbrances were of the kind excepted in s. 16, Act VIII (B.C.) of 1865, which would survive the sale? MUSST UMASUNDARI DASI v. BIRBUL MANDAL, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 183 = 11 W.R 563.

(157 & 158)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 5—Arrears of rent—Sale.—In a suit for arrears of rent from a tenant having a right of occupancy, where the only dispute is as to the rate, the rate previously paid is fair and equitable within the meaning of Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 5, unless the contrary is shown. OOMAND ROY v. SREEKANT CHOWDHRY, 21 W R. 108.

(159)—Act VIII of 1869, s. 23—Suit for arrears of rent—Proof of right to claim under contract.— In a suit for arrears of rent under s. 23 of Act VIII of 1869, the plaintiff can only succeed by proving that under a contract, either express or implied, he is entitled to recover the rent claimed. KASHEE RAM DOBEY v. DHEERA OORAON, 22 W.R. 528.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(160)—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), s. 31—Notice of deposit—Form of notice—Fatal defect.—The law directs the notice of deposit under s. 31, Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 to be framed in a particular manner; and if the defendant fails so to frame it, he must take the consequences of his own neglect. The omission from the notice of the words "you must institute a suit in Court for the establishment of such claim or demand within six calendar months from this date, otherwise your claim will befor ever barred," is fatal to the defendant's claim to the benefit of his payment of rent in the Collectorate. KANCHAN MALLA DOSSIA v. RAJENDRO CHUNDER ROY CHOWDHRY, 18 W.R. 126.

(161)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 31.—Deposit.—A suit for rent for a period prior to a deposit being made under the provisions of Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 is not barred by s. 31 where the contention of the defendants is that the tenure was the depositor's, and that the rent was due from him and not from them. RAMDIN SINGH v. CHUNDEE PERSHAD SINGH, 21 W.R. 278.

(162)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 102—Rent.—A payment made by a co-sharer for the use and occupation of a certain quantity of the land of a joint estate, of which he, as a co-sharer landlord, received his portion by whatever name it be called, is substantially rent, and a suit for such rent comes properly under Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869. s. 102. SREEMUTHY ALLADINEE DOSSEE v. SREENATH CHUNDER BOSE, 20 W.R. 258.

(163—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 102—Rent suit—Title.—In a rent suit wherein defendant sets up the title of a third person, not made a party, the decision is not a binding one in respect of title, as between parties having conflicting claims to the land within the meaning of Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 102 SHAIK DILBUR v. ISSUR CHUNDER ROY, 21 W.R. 36. [F., 23 W.R. 227, 24 W.R. 213, 2 C.L.R. 558, 7 C. 330; Appr., 8 C. 712; R., 14 C. P. L.R. 31.]

(164)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 102—Rent suit—Conflicting claims.—Where in a suit for rent the plaintiff claims the rent of the land as Zemindar and the defendant claims the right to pay the amount of rent to himself on account of interest due to him as mortgagee, in other words, he admits that he is the tenant, but says that he is not bound to pay, there cannot be said to be any question relating to title to land or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims within the meaning of s. 102, Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.). RAJ KISHEN MOOKERJEE v. PEAREE MOHUN MOOKERJEE, 24 W.R. 114.

(165)—Suit for rent—Question of payment in instalments or in lump sum—Appeal—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), s. 102.—A suit for rent in which the only question is whether the amount is to be paid in instalments or in a lump sum (the parties agreeing amongst themselves as to the amount), cannot be said to involve a question of right to enhance or vary the rent, and so, no appeal would lie from the decision under s. 102, Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.) PEARI MOHUN MOOKHOPADHYA v. MADHUB CHUNDER BABOO, 23 W.R. 385.

(166)—Suit for arrears of rent—Special appeal—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), s. 102.—Where plaintiff sued for arrears of rent, the claim being based on a shironama, and the defendant, while denying execution of the shironama, produced evidence to show that the rate mentioned therein was not a proper rate and also not correct, held that, there being no question of right to vary or enhance the rent, no special appeal would lie under s. 102, Act VIII of 1869 (B.C). MAHORAJ COOMAR MITRESSUR SINGH v. JHOTTE TELEE, 23 W.R. 343.

(167)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 102—Special appeal—Suit for rent.—No special appeal lies from a Judge's decision remanding for re-trial a rent-suit in which plaintiff claims land under a deed of absolute sale, and defendant urges that he is the beneficia owner, plaintiff's vendor being his benamidar, and which suit the first Court had dismissed on the ground that neither plaintiff nor his vendor has been in possession. GOPAL SURAN NARAIN SINGH v. RAM TUHUL RAWUT, 21 W.R. 302.

(168)—Bengal Act, VIII of 1869, s. 102—Suit for rent.—A suit for arrears of rent, decreed by the first Court, was dismissed by the lower appellate Court, on the ground that plaintiff, being only a sharer, could not sue separately for her portion of rent. A special appeal was preferred. Held that the judgment and not the decree was to be looked at in applying s. 102 of Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.). The judgment showed that a question of title was not even considered and the decree in general could not be considered to have determined it. No appeal therefore lay under that section. KARIM SHEIKH v. MUKHODA SOONDERY DASSEE, 15 B.L.R. 111=23 W.R. 268. [R., 25 W.R. 153.]

(169)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 102—Suit for rent—Decision as to right and title to land avoided—Decision based on want of proof of relationship of landlord and tenant.—In suits for rents below Rs. 100, whatever may be the judgment of the Court of first instance, if the Judge, in appeal, decides a claim to rent as between two parties, but does not decide parenthetically any question relating to title to land or to any interest in land, that judgment would not be open to special appeal in the High Court. Therefore, where the Judge in appeal specially avoided coming to any decision as to right and title to the land or as to any interest in land, but decided the case solely on the want of proof of relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties, the provisions of s. 102 of Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 applied to the case and no special appeal lay to the High Court. HURRY MOHUN MOZOOMDAR v. DWARKANATH SEIN, 18 W.R. 42. [F., 24 W.R. 213; Appl., 8 C. 712.]

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(170)—Assignment by landlord of portion of interest to mortgagee—Right of mortgagee, set up in defence—Bengal Tenancy Act, ss. 3, cl. (2) 60.—In a suit for rent by a proprietor registered under the Land Registration Act (VII, B.C. of 1876), the defendants are precluded, by reason of s. 60 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, from pleading as a defence to the claim that the rent is due to a mortgagee to whom the landlord has assigned a part of his interest but whose name has not been registered under the Land Registration Act HEM CHUNDER MISRI v. RAJAH SIR SOURINDRA MOHAN TAGORE BAHADUR, 5 C.W.N. 482. [R., 8 C.W.N. 695.]

(171)—Action for—Tenant holding over, rights of—Reduction of rent—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 148, cl. (b)—Area of the tenancy, determination of, if necessary in a suit for rent.—It is not possible to lay down any inflexible rule of universal application upon the question whether the precise area of the tenancy should or should not be determined in a suit for rent. The only general principle which can be formulated is that, where there is a substantial dispute as to the identity of the tenancy set up by the parties to the suit, the question in controversy must be decided. RAMDEV RAI v. NEWAJI PROSAD SINGH, 10 C.L.J. 196=1 Ind. Cas. 379. (1 C.W.N. 152, R.)

(172)—Rent, Suit for—Res judicata—Presumption—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 51—Adjudication.—A prior decision may be taken to determine the rent claimed in that suit, and to give rise, under s. 51 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, to the presumption that the rents for subsequent years remained the same. The weight to be attached to the presumption thus raised depends first on the conditions under which that decision was arrived at, that is to say, whether it was after an adjudication of the question of the amount of rent or the rate of rent or not. If in the prior suit there had been such an adjudication, it would be only open to the Judge in the subsequent suit to look to subsequent circumstances and events to enable him to determine whether there had been any change in the relations between the parties since. If there was no adjudication of the question, it would be for him to consider the circumstances and events both prior and subsequent to that former suit, in order to enable him to determine the relations existing between the parties and the rentals rightly due for the lands for the years in suit. SRI MAHARANI BENI PERSHAD KOERI v. RAJ KUMAR CHOWBEY, 16 C.L.J. 124=17 Ind. Cas. 111.

(173)—Reg. VII of 1799, summary suit for rent under—Act X of 1859—Reg. VIII of 1831, s. 4.—Where a summary suit for rent under Reg. VII of 1799, was commenced before the passing of Act X of 1859, it was held that the unsuccessful party was not, by reason of the decision in that suit having been given after that Act came into operation, deprived of his right, under s. 4, Reg. VIII of 1831, to contest the justice of the summary decision by a regular suit. GOBIND CHUNDER MOOKERJEE v. KALLA CAJEE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 626=2 Ind. Jur. N.S. 119=7 W.R. 185.

(174)—Arrears of rent, Suit for—Tenancy, denial of, by defendant—Burden of proof—Res judicata—Revenue Court.—The plaintiff sued the defendant for arrears of rent and the suit was dismissed. Subsequently, the plaintiff brought another suit for arrears of rent against the defendant who denied his tenancy. Held, that when the plaintiff sets up a tenancy which the defendant denies, the burden of proof is on the plaintiff to prove the tenancy and the amount of rent payable by the defendant. Held, further, that the matter directly and substantially in issue in this case was directly and substantially in issue in the previous suit between the same parties, litigating under the same title in a Court of Jurisdiction competent to try the present suit and was, therefore, res judicata so far as the Revenue Court was concerned. PRAG v. RAM ADHIN, 3 O.C. 65.

(175)—Suit to recover balance of rent due on lease—Previous suit by lessee against lessor for damages for illegal dispossession, still pending—No bar—Discretion of Court—Res judicata.—In a suit by a lessor to recover the balance of rent due under a lease, where it appeared that the defendant had brought a suit which was still pending in District Munsiff's Court against the plaintiff for damages consequent on his having been dispossessed of his land prior to the expiration of the term of his lease, and had credited against his claim for damages the balance of rent due under the lease, held that the pendency of the suit in the District Munsiff's Court was not a barto the present suit, but that it would be competent to the Court to postpone the hearing of the suit until the decision of the District Munsiff had been given, if that course appeared to be necessary for the proper hearing and determination of the claims of the parties. MUTTUKARUPPA KAUNDAN v. RAMA PILLAI, 3 M.H.C. 158.

(176)—Payment of rent—Title—Estoppel—Possession by Hindu widow.—The admission of a man's representative character by payment of rent to him is not conclusive but prima facie evidence which the tenant is not estopped from rebutting if he cares. Thus if a widow, after her husband's death, has once or oftener received her husband's proportion of the rents, the tenant is not estopped, from afterwards proving that the husband had left a will by which he had devised his share of the estate to other persons in trust to apply a portion of the rents in a particular manner and to pay over the residue to the widow. Where, on the death of a member of a joint Hindu family, his interest in the joint estate passes to another as his representative, e.g., where there is a joint family consisting of four brothers, one of whom dies leaving a son, or without issue leaving a widow—the son or the widow, as the case may be, is not entitled to sue separately for the deceased member's share of rent received jointly. In a suit for rent by a devisee under a Will, it is not necessary for him to obtain a certificate. BANEE MADHUB GHOSE v. THAKOOR DOSS MUNDUL, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 588 =6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 71.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(177)—Rent—Suit for arrears—Plea of title in third party—Determination of title of third party—Effect on said party—Res judicata.—Where in a suit for rent the title of a third party is set up by the defendant, any question of title to land as between the plaintiff and the third party cannot be determined in the suit in such a manner as to bind the third party. NANKOO KOOEREE v. NUND COOMAR PAUREY, 22 W.R. 326.

(178)—Landlord and tenant—Suit for rent—Dismissal — Suit for use and occupation—Res judicata —A landlord who has failed in a suit for rent under the Rent Recovery Act cannot bring a fresh suit for use and occupation. ALI KHAN v. APPADU, 7 M. 304.

(179)—Rent—Suit for arrears—Declaration of title—Suit for rent involving determination of plaintiff's title—Ex parte decree, effect of—Res judicata in case of decrees passed ex parte—Limitation.—In a suit for recovery of rent, it is not necessary for the plaintiff to ask for a specific declaration of his title. In a sense, every suit for rent involves a declaration of the plaintiff's title to the property in respect of which he claims rent. A plaintiff may be entitled to claim rent, even if his prayer for a declaration of title were barred by limitation. The doctrine of res judicata applies to decrees passed ex-parte, provided it is possible to ascertain precisely what matter must be taken to have been decided by the Court, that is to say, what matters were involved in the ex parte decree passed by the Court. (5 O C. 181, F.) A decree for rent involves the decision of the question that the plaintiff is entitled to recover rent, since it always decides that rent is payable to the plaintiff by the defendant. (26 B. 25, 16 C. 300, Rel. on.) Where a decree for rent has been passed within 12 years before the institution of a subsequent suit for arrears of rent, the subsequent claim for rent is not barred by time, although the previous decree was not executed. BALMAKUND v. ABDUL BASIT, 12 Ind. Cas. 329.

(180)—Limitation — Suit for rent—Suit struck off—Revival—Procedure—Error of Court —Date of institution of suit.—The plaintiff instituted this suit for rent in December 1861, when a former Deputy Collector struck the same off in February, 1862 on the ground that it could not be decided until a suit about a kabooleut, involving the rate of rent payable and pending between the same parties, had been decided by the High Court. The Deputy Collector added a proviso that the present suit might be revived when the other case had been finally decided. The suit was subsequently revived under the proviso in May 1864. The defendant contended that the suit was barred by limitation and that the latter date (May 1864) and not that of December 1861, should be considered the date of institution. Held that it would have been the more correct course for the former Deputy Collector to have retained the case on his file pending the ultimate decision of the High Court in the case of the kabooleut. But, however, the error was only more of form than of substance. Therefore, the Court could treat the case as if it had been simply in abeyance on the file of the Deputy Collector. The Court treated it so and held that the suit was quite legal and that no part of the claim was barred by limitation. MAHOMED KALEE SHIKDAR v. SHEIKH ALI HOSSEIN CHOWDHRY, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 5.

(181)—Rent—Enhancement — Limitation—Cause of action—Declaratory decree.—A decree declaring a right to enhance does not constitute a "cause of action." A suit for arrears of rent at an enhanced rate after notice may be brought without first getting a decree in a merely declaratory suit establishing the plaintiff's right to enhance. DOYAMOYEE CHOWDRAINEE v. BHOLANATH GHOSE, B. L. R. Sup. Vol. 592=6 W R. Act X, Rul. 77. [F., 16 W. R. 233, 4 C. 594, 17 C. 251; R., 7 W.R. 405.]

(182)—Suit for rent for stacking timber—Limitation — Custom.—Where the defendant made use of plaintiff's land by stacking timber thereon, a suit to recover money due or for payment in kind for such use, was of the nature of one for 'rent' governed by the law of limitation applicable to money claims of that kind. Where there are well-known terms upon which the use of land for stacking timber is permitted by its owner, and a party, with the knowledge of this custom or practice, uses the land in this way, he is bound, as by an implied agreement, to pay accordingly for such use. MOHUNT JUMNA DOSS v. GAWSEE MEAH, 21 W R. 124. [R., 1 A. 217, 1 C.W.N. 55.]

(183)—Limitation—Suit for rent—Deduction of time when litigation was pending—Rent—Tender when valid.—In computing the period of limitation allowed for a suit for arrears of rent, the time during which the plaintiff was suing to eject defendants as trespassers must be deducted (11 W.R. P.C. 5, F.) [R., 17 W. R. 415, 19 W.R. 18. 3 C. 817=2 C L R. 450, 23 C. 205; D., 3 C. 6.] In order that a tender may be valid, it must be made at the proper place and to a person authorized either under the law or by the plaintiff to receive the money. ESHAN CHUNDER ROY v KHAJAH ASSANOOLLAH, 16 W R. 79=8 B.L R 537, Note. [R., 6 C.L.J. 273=35 C. 343=11 C.W.N. 983, F.B.]

(184)—Limitation Act (XIII of 1848)—Suit for assessment—Boundary suit—Right to assessment.—Act XIII of 1848 cannot be applied to bar a suit to assess land as rent-paying. A boundary case only decides the question of right to possession of the land. The right to hold the land rent-free cannot be affected by any such decision. MAHAMAD ALI KHAN CHOWDRY v. JADUB CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY, W.R. 1864, 60.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(185)—Act X of 1859, s. 32—Act XIV of 1859, s. 1, cl. 8, s. 4 and s. 18.—Suits for arrears of rent under Act X of 1859 are not affected by Act XIV of 1859. JOHN POULSON v. MADHUSUDAN PAL CHOWDHRY, B.L R. Sup. Vol. 101=2 W.R. Act X. Rul. 21. [Disappr., 18 W.R. 8; F., 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 96, 4 C. 50, 18 M. 99; Appr., 19 W.R. 5, 18 C. 368; Appl., 5 W.R. Act X, 41; R., 14 W.R. 456, 32 C. 654=1 C.L.J. 364; D., 16 W.R 287, 5 C. 906.]

(186)—Suit for rent—Limitation—Act X of 1859.—The period of limitation within which an action must be brought for rent due at the time of the passing of Act X of 1859, is to be reckoned from the 29th of April 1859, the date of the passing of the Act, and not from the 1st August 1859, the date on which the Act was declared to commence and have effect. BABOO LACHIMPATSINGH v. MAHOMED MOONEER, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 32=W.R. F B. 32.

(186-a)—Suit for arrears of rent—Act XIV of 1859—Commencement of time.—In a suit for arrears of rent, the three years' limitation was reckoned not from the dates of the instalments, but from the last day of the year (Bengal) in which the arrears became due. GOBIND KUMAR CHOWDHRY v. HARGOPAL NAG, 3 B. L.R. App. 72=11 W.R. 537.

(187)—Limitation—Execution in Civil Court—Rate of rent—Determination—Back rent.—Under Act X of 1859, limitation will not be saved by the fact that an execution proceeding to determine the rate of rent was pending in the Civil Court. Where a suit is pending to determine the rate of rent, the back rent may be sued for any time within one year of the determination of the rate. NAWAB NAZIR SIDIJ NAZIR ALI KHAN v. JUGUT TARA CHOWDHRAIN, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 2.

(188)—Act X of 1859, not to be taken to authorize the recovery of only three years' rent—Limitation.—It is an error to suppose that Act X of 1859 only authorizes the recovery of the rent of three years. The question in this case was, with regard to the rent of 1268, whether the suit was commenced within three years from the last date of that year. If it was, then the plaintiff would be entitled to recover the whole of that year's rent. It was found that the suit was brought on the 22nd of February 1865 corresponding with Falgoon, 1271, so that it had been brought within three years of the Bengal year 1268, and consequently no part of the rent of 1268 was barred by limitation. DOORGA DOSS CHATTERJEE v NOBIN MOHUN GHOSAL, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 63.

(189)—Suits for rent due at passing of Act X of 1859—Limitation—S. 32, Act X of 1859.—Suits for rents due at the passing of Act X o

Rent, Suit for—continued.

1859, must be brought within 3 years from the 29th April 1859, on which date the Act received the Governor-General's assent. The words "passing of this Act" in s. 32, Act X of 1859, refer to the date on which that law received the sanction of the Governor-General, and for all rents then due, the limitation is three years from that date or before the 29th April 1862. MORAN v. BINDOBASHINEE DABEA, W.R. 1844, Act X, Rul. 5.

(190)—S. 32, Act X of 1859—Suit to recover arrears of rent—Limitation.—The plaintiff sued, within 3 years from the date on which Act X of 1859 was passed, for arrears of rent of 1266 to 1268 and of 3 months of 1269. Held that, under s. 32, Act X of 1859, the suit was not barred, and that the claim for arrears due in respect of 1266, which were not due till 1267, was in time, though that was a period prior to the passing of Act X of 1859. RANEE KASHISHUREE DOSSEE v. RAM SAGUR SINGH, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 69.

(191)—Act X of 1859, s. 32—Limitation.—Act X of 1859 recognizes no deduction on any account whatsoever in computing the period of three years prescribed by s. 32. DAKHINA DABEA v. ROMESH CHUNDER DUTT, 1 W.R. 142.

(192)—Act X of 1859, s. 32, arrear of rent when becomes due within meaning of—Determination of rent—Limitation.—It was urged on special appeal, in this case, that the rent payable by the ryot was not ascertained until the year 1270, that proceedings to fix the rent had been pending in the Courts from 1263 to 1270, and that, with reference to the previous rulings of the High Court on the point, the suit was within time. The High Court agreed with the above view of the law that there cannot be said to be an arrear of rent until the rent was ascertained, and that, consequently, an arrear of rent cannot, within the words of s. 32 of Act X of 1859, become due until the rent itself has been determined. KOMUL LOCHUN ROY v. MESSRS. MORAN AND CO., 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 82.

(193)—Act X of 1859, s 32—Suit for recovery of rent—Limitation.—S. 32, Act X of 1859, does not authorize the recovery of only 3 years' rent. Suits for the recovery of rents may be instituted within three years from the end of the Bengal year or the fasli year as the case may be. GOSSAIN UMAR NARAIN POOREE v. ARURUL LAL, 7 W.R. 301.

(194)—Suit for arrears of rent—Commencement of time—Act X of 1859, s. 32—Cause of action—Limitation.—In a suit for arrears of rent, the time occupied by a previous suit by the landlord against the tenant for ejectment of the latter as a trespasser will be deducted. Where in a sale of a putni for arrears of rent under Reg. VIII of 1819 was set aside in a subsequent suit, by the putnidar on the ground of irregularity, and the patnidar was put in possession thereof, the cause of action for a suit by the Zamindar to recover the arrears of rent for which the putni was sold must be taken to have accrued when the possession was restored. [F., 19 C. 267, 1 C.L J. 337, 35 C. 209=12 C. W.N. 326=7 C.L J. 59=3 M L.T. 90; Rel. on, 18 W.R. 59, 16 C P.L.R. 33, 5 C.L.J. 59; Appl., 16 W.R. 79, 17 W.R. 415, 2 C.L.J. 490; R., 18 W.R. 8, 27 M. 143, P.C.=14 M L. J. 1=6 Bom. L.R. 241=8 C.W.N. 162, 3 C. L.J. 182; Expl., 24 W.R. 143, D., 13 W R.313, 23 W.R. 280, 3 C. 6, 3 C. 817, 9 C. 255, P C., 13 C.L.R. 214, 12 C. 258, 17 C. 251, 23 C. 191, 23 C. 205, 5 N.L R. 47=2 Ind. Cas. 29.] The inadvertent omission by a Zamindar of the formalities prescribed by Reg. VIII of 1819 does not render all the proceedings taken by him inoperative or constitute his act of selling the tenure into an act of trespass. RANI SWARNOMAYI v. SHASHI MUKHI BARMANI, 2 B.L.R.P C. 10=11 W R.P.C. 5=12 M.I.A. 244=2 Suther. 173=2 Sar. 424.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(195)—Act X of 1859, s. 32—Suit for rent for portion of year—Limitation.—As s. 32 of Act X of 1859 allows a suit for recovery of rent to be instituted within three years from the last day of the year in which the arrear claimed shall have become due, the rent of one year 1273, no matter for what portion of the year such rent is due, would be recoverable at any time up to the last day of the third year 1276. BYKUNT RAM ROY v. MUSSAMUT SHURFOONISSA BEGUM, 15 W.R. 523.

(196)—Suit for arrears of rent—Jurisdiction—Decision in respect of claim for one year—Limitation—Act XIV of 1859—Act X of 1859, s. 32—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 29.—Where the claim of the zemindar against the defendants in respect of rent for a year has been decided not to be a claim for arrears of rent within the meaning of cl. 4, s. 23 of Act X of 1859, and therefore not cognizable by the Revenue Court, but by the ordinary Civil Court, and consequently that the claim was governed, not by the special limitation of s. 32, Act X of 1859, but by the ordinary law of limitation, Act XIV of 1859, on the ground that a claim of that nature was not a claim for recovery of arrears of rent, a subsequent claim of a similar nature precisely against the same parties in respect of the subsequent year was held as not barred by s. 29, Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869. PROSUNNO COOMAR PAL CHOWDHRY v. RAMDHUN CHATTERJEE, 18 W.R. 8.

(197)—Act X of 1859, s. 33—Suit for money collected as rent by putwaree—Limitation.—A person suing for recovery of a certain sum of money collected as rent by his agent (putwaree) is not entitled to get the benefit of s. 33 of Act X of 1859 without any allegation that the accounts on which his suit is based have been kept back from his knowledge by fraud. If a person chose, though his own negligence, to remain in ignorance for an indefinite period, of the state of his accounts with his putwaree, or even through some accident or misfortune such as his leaving the country, or such like, he can claim no benefit under that section. WILLIAM BIDDEL v. CHUTTERDHAREE LALL, 12 W.R. 116. (3 W.R. 121, 6 W.R. 30, D.)

(198)—Act X of 1859, s. 54—Rent suit—Dismissal for default of parties—Right to bring fresh suit—Limitation.—Where in a suit for rent neither party appeared and the suit was dismissed in consequence by the Deputy Collector, the plaintiff was, under s. 54 of Act X of 1859, entitled to bring a fresh suit, unless barred by the Law of Limitation. SHETAB CHUND LAHA v. MAJUM ALI CHOWDHRY, 18 W R. 402.

(199)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Suit for contesting decision under—Limitation—Starting-point.—The time allowed to contest a decision under s. 77 of Act X of 1859 is one year from the date of the Collector's decision. It was contended in this case that the time should run, not from the date of the Collector's decision which was favourable to the plaintiff but from that of the Judge which was adverse to him. But the High Court held that the words of the law were precise in the matter, and that the plaintiff should have taken care after the appeal was adverse to him before the Judge to have sued within one year from the date, of the Collector's decision, which he might easily have done as he had more than two months left to him subsequent to the decision by the Judge. MEEMOYE JOOGY v. AFSUROODDEEN MAHOMED CHOWDHRY, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 155. [D., 7 W.R. 108.]

(200)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Suit on general title—Limitation.—The limitation of one year, within which a person whose right to rent is refused under s. 77, Act X of 1859, must sue, applies only to civil suits where the rent is claimed; but a person suing on general title would not be bound to sue within one year. SHATTO RAM MAJOOMDAR v. ANUND CHUNDER CHATTERJEE, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 87. [Appr., 25 W.R. 550.]

(201)—Act VIII (B.C) of 1869, s. 29—Object—Limitation.—The object of the Legislature in enacting s. 29, Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, is to fix the maximum period of time within which suits for arrears of rent at enhanced rates ought to be brought, and not to create a bar to the institution of such suits before the expiration of the year on account of which the arrears are claimed. TARAMONEE DEBIA v. JOYKISTO MOOKERJEE, 20 W.R. 329.

(202)—Possession—Right of person in possession—Proof of better title—Act VIII of 1869, s. 102—Suit for rent by person in possession—Intervention by third party—Determination of question of title—Appeal.—A party who has obtained peaceable possession of property is entitled to the advantage of his possession. Any one who claims the property by a better title must establish his claim in due course of law. Plaintiff sued to recover rent. A third person intervened in the suit. It was found that the plaintiff was in possession. But the Court of first instance, however, treated the claim as one for establishment of title and dismissed the plaintiff's suit. On appeal by the plaintiff, the Judge declared that he would not go into the question of title and upheld the possession of the plaintiff, leaving the third party to a proper remedy in a suit brought for the purpose. Held that the determination of the question of title as incidental to the determination of the question of the plaintiff's right to receive rent was not a decision of a title to an interest in land within the meaning of s. 102, Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.) and consequently no appeal lay to the High Court. KALLY CHURN BANERJEE v. GOPAL CHUNDER BANERJEE, 26 W.R. 100.

Rent, Suit for —continued.

(203)—Suit for rent, or, in default for possession of land under Settlement Court decree entitling landlord to demand any reasonable rent at his option—Landlord and tenant, Relation of Oudh Rent Act, XXII of 1886—Res judicata —Cause of action—Code of Civil Procedure, s. 43--Limitation.--In 1866, the defendants sued the plaintiff for proprietary rights in certain plots of land. The Settlement Officer passed a decree, which, the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, in a suit instituted by the plaintiff in a Civil Court to have rent assessed on the land and finally dismissed on the point of jurisdiction in July 1898, decided, conferred on the defendants under-proprietary rights in the trees on the plots only, and not in the plots themselves, and under which the defendants could not be maintained in possession without paying rent, should rent be demanded from them. In 1898, the plaintiff served a notice upon the defendants to pay Rs. 191-4-0 as rent for the land and having received no reply to this notice he sued in the Revenue Court for the ejectment of the defendants, but his suit was dismissed. In July 1900, the plaintiff sued the defendants on the allegations that, under the terms of the Settlement Court decree, they had no right whatever against his will to remain in possession of the plots without payment of rent and that he was entitled to take possession of the same in case they refused to pay a reasonable amount of rent. He also alleged that his cause of action arose on certain dates, and among them, in August 1898. He prayed that the defendants be ordered to pay him Rs. 191-4-0 as rent and that, in case of default, a decree for possession of the land be passed in his favour. Held, that having regard to the definitions of the terms "landlord" and "tenant" as given in the Oudh Rent Act, the relation of landlord and tenant did not exist between the parties and the Civil Courts were not debarred from taking cognizance of the suit. Held, further, that the question as to whether the defendants were tenants was not res judicata. Held, that the suit was not affected by the provisions of s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code, the notice which the plaintiff had served upon the defendants after the disposal of the former civil suit being a part of the cause of action. Held, further, that the plaintiff was entitled under the decree of the Settlement Court to call upon the defendants to pay any rent which he might demand, or to vacate the land, and that the rent not having been demanded till August 1898, the suit was not barred by limitation. MOHAMMAD ALI RAZA KHAN v. MUSAMMAT MENDA, 6 O.C. 341.

(204)—Suit for arrears of rent—Relief—Admission of defendant.—If, in a suit for arrears of rent, the plaintiff cannot satisfactorily prove his case, he must either have his suit dismissed or take a decree at the rate admitted by the defendant. RADHA SINGH v. SUNKER DUTT SINGH, 1 W.R. 288.

(205)—Suit for rent under kubooleut—Failure to prove kubooleut—Decree to extent of defendant's admission--Discretion of Court--High Court whether should interfere.—Where, in a suit brought under a kubooleut the kabooleut was itself not proved, the Court should ordinarily dismiss the suit instead of decreeing the claim at the rate admitted by the tenants. The High Court doubted whether in such cases it should interfere with the discretion which the lower Court might have exercised in decreeing the claim for rent as far as the defendant admitted he was in arrears. SHEIK ABDOOLA v. NIM CHAND DUTT, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 16.

(206)—Suit for rent and damages—Onus on plaintiff to prove payment in past years - Nature of evidence required.—Where the amount of rent payable is itself in issue in a suit for rent, it is incumbent on the Judge to require the plaintiff to show that in past years defendant has paid what he, plaintiff, is now demanding, and, for the purpose of proving these past payments, the best evidence both documentary and oral, is requisite, and secondary evidence is not admissible until the absence of primary evidence is satisfactorily explained. RAM JEEBUN LOLL v. NOND LOLL, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 43.

(207)—Suit for rent based on instrument—Denial of liability under instrument—Admission of defendant as to portion of amount—Effect—Where the plaintiff sued to recover rent under an instrument called jummabundee which, he said, was signed by all the ryots on the estate when he came into possession, and the defendant denied the jummabundee, but admitted that he held some land of the plaintiff with a small rent and that only a small amount was due by him to the plaintiff. Held that as the plaintiff relied entirely upon the admission of the defendant both as to the amount due and for proof of his cause of action, he must accept this admission as a whole and could only have a decree upon it for the balance admitted to be due. BONOMALEE CHURN MYTEE v. SHEIKH HAFIZUDDEEN, 13 B.L.R. 247, Note=12 W.R. 317. [R., 17 W.R. 509.]

(208)—Suit for rent—Defendant's own accounts—Evidence—Admission.—In a suit for rent in which plaintiff relied on an entry in defendant's own account as Naib of the village as to the rate of rent payable by him, held that unless defendant's signature was forged, and the leaf not genuine, the entry was an admission that the rent therein mentioned was the rent paid. SURBESWAR GHOSE v. CHOTO ARIZOLLAH MANDAL, 8 B.L.R. App. 78=17 W.R. 213.

Rent, Suit for —continued.

(209)—Variance between pleading and proof —Suit for rent—Kabuliat not proved—Right to decree on admission of defendant.—In a suit for rent, the plaintiffs failed to prove the kabuliat which fixed the amount of rent and there was no evidence on the part of the plaintiffs to show that they were entitled to the amount at the rate they had estimated it at. Held that they were entitled to recover the amount admitted by the defendants to be due as rent. It would be unreasonable to hold that, because the plaintiffs have been guilty of setting up a forged kabuliat, they should be obliged to bring a fresh suit to recover an admitted balance of rent. ROOKHINI KANT ROY v. SHARIKATUNISSA BIBEE, 13 B.L.R. 246, Note=20 W.R. 64. [R., 21 W.R. 208=13 B.L.R. 243.]

(210)—Rent—Suit for arrears—No proof of rate of rent — Plea of tenancy at particular rate—Right of landlord to get decree at rate admitted.—Suit by landlord to recover arrears of rent at a specified rate for certain specified years. The defendant in his written statement admitted that he was a tenant of the plaintiff and liable to pay rent at a particular rate for a specified period, but pleaded payment thereof. The plaintiff produced certain jummabundee papers of a former putwarree in proof of the rate at which he claimed the rent. The former putwarree was not examined at a witness. Held, that, if the former putwarree had given evidence that he had collected rent from the defendant at the rate shown in the Jumabundee and that the Jumabundee was his own record of the fact, those papers could be admitted in evidence. In the absence of the personal testimony of the putwarree, they were worthless. Though the plaintiff had failed to prove the rate of rent claimed by him yet, inasmuch as the defendant admitted the tenancy and his liability to pay rent at a certain rate, the plaintiff was entitled to get a decree to the extent admitted by the defendant, unless the latter established his plea of payment. PUNDIT BHUGWAN DUTT JHA v. SHEO MUNGUL SINGH, 22 W.R. 256. [R., 8 C. 465, 3 O.C. 205; D., 2 C.L.J. 125.]

(211)—Suit for rent due on muchilka—Defendant admitting occupation of land under terms of muchilka—Proof.—In a suit for rent due upon a muchilka executed by the defendant, though the defendant may admit that he occupied the land under the express contract contained in the muchilka, the plaintiff cannot establish his case without putting the muchilka in evidence, and so, if the muchilka is an unregistered and compulsorily registrable document, the plaintiff cannot succeed in his suit as the muchilka is inadmissible in evidence. G. LEE MORRIS v. SAPAMTHEETHA PILLAY, 6 M.H.C. 45. [R., 7 M. 226, 13 M. 281, 119 P.L.R. 1906.]

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(212)—Rents for successive years—Separate suits maintainable for—Presumption from proof of payment of subsequent years' rent, when cannot be made.—This was a suit for the rents of 1267 and 1268. The defendant pleaded that the present suit was not admissible inasmuch as the plaintiff had sued for arrears of rent for the years 1269 and 1270 without any mention of the rents for 1267 and 1268 which had fallen into arrears. The Judge, on appeal, held that as there was no mention of the rents of 1268 in the decree for the arrears of 1269, the present suit was barred under s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859. But the High Court held that the arrears for successive years are several and distinct causes of action, in respect of which it is perfectly competent to the party entitled to institute separate suits. It cannot be the true meaning of s. 7 that if a plaintiff has several and distinct cause of action against one defendant, he must comprise them all in one suit, subject to the hazard of forfeiting all those not included in the first suit. Also the ordinary and natural presumption which usually arises from proof of the payment or recovery of the rents of subsequent years can have no application where there is evidence that the rents in suit were in arrear and no distinct allegation or evidence of their having been paid. RAJA SUTTO CHURN GHOSAL v. OBHOY NUND DOSS 2 W.R. Act X. Rul. 31. [Appr., 17 W.R. 380; R., 24 W. R. 526; D., 6 C. 791=8 C.L.R. 297.]

(213)—Holding at unchanged rent for twenty years — Evidence necessary to prove.—The evidence necessary to establish a holding of 20 years at an unchanged rent must cover, at least, the whole of the period commencing with the institution of the suit, and go backwards to the distance of 20 years at least. There need not be evidence of the payment of rent in each one of the successive years, but there must be such evidence as will reasonably support the conclusion that the land has, in fact, been held for the whole of the 20 years at a uniform rate of rent. BUNGO CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. RAM KANYE BHAWAL, 10 W. R. 256.

(214)—Suit for arrears of rent—Landlord's rights transferred to third party—Tenant's liability.—Where the plaintiff's right in an estate has been decreed to a third party, the plaintiff is bound to the third party to make good all mesne profits, but the defendant, tenant, must pay his rent to the plaintiff according to his lease. JAMES SMYTH v. SHEO PERSHAD SINGH, 1 W.R. 251.

(215)—Collector's decree in summary suit for rent—Enhancement.—A decree of a Collector in a summary suit brought in 1857 for rent, held insufficient to enable the landlord to sue for the enhanced rate given by the decree, when the decree had not been enforced or acted on. INDER SINGH v. MITTERJEET SINGH, 1 W.R. 276. [D., 3 Agra 277.]

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(216)—Decree fixing rent for previous year—Claims on ekrar for higher rent.—A decree of a competent Court fixing the rent for a previous year according to a solenamah, cannot neutralize a claim passed upon an ekrar for higher rent for the following year. NICHOLEN PEDROSE POGOSE v. AZERUDDEEN SIKDAR, 1 W.R. 275.

(217)—Solenamah distinct from patta—Rent, separate suits for.—Where the solenamah is a transaction distinct from the patta, separate suits should be brought for rent as regards the tenures held under those documents. OOMA CHURN CHOWDHRY v. RAM KANT CHOWDHRY, 17 W.R. 488.

(218)—Claim for balance of rent—Putwarry's papers relied on by plaintiff, failure to prove genuineness of — Rejection of claim. — The balance of the thaolee rents claimed by the plaintiff in this case was alleged to be ascertained and stated in the likhitas, and the plaintiff came into Court founding his suit on those documents. The lower appellate Court, finding the likhitas were not genuine, disbelieved the plaintiff's case and dismissed his suit. On appeal, it was objected that, as the defendant admitted the tenancy, the onus of proving payment rested on him; but it was held that the defendant having denied the genuineness of the plaintiff's documents and pleaded that, if the genuine likhitas were brought into Court, they would show that he had paid all that was due from him, the lower Court was right in having dismissed the suit on finding against the genuineness of the documents relied on and produced by the plaintiff. SYUD MUKSOOD ALI v. BYJNATH SINGH, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 28.

(219)—Procedure—Duty of appellate Court—Defect in judgment.—The lower appellate Court simply affirmed the judgment of the first Court in a suit for rent without sifting the evidence in the case. Held that the Court should proceed upon the evidence adduced and find what the tenure was or what was its area and jumma or what was the contract between the plaintiff as landlord and the defendant as tenant and to what arrears, if any, the plaintiff was entitled in the suit. It cannot proceed merely upon a kind of rule of proportion having reference to a former decision. KAROONA MOYEE DEBIA v. KRIPANATH DOSS, 18 W.R. 398.

(220)—Lease—Tenant entitled to set up plea of lessor being only benamidar—Deeds—Estoppel—English and Indian Law—Benami transactions.—Where, in a suit for arrears of rent on the basis of a kabuliat, the defendant admitted its execution, but alleged that it was benami for a third party, held that the defendant was entitled to prove that the lessor, to whom he had executed the kabuliat, was not the real owner, and, for that purpose, he could adduce parol evidence. [Diss., 141 P.R. 1906=13 P.W.R. 1907; R., 7 N.L.R. 161.] In England where the usage denoted by benami transactions is wholly unknown, it is supposed, and therefore assumed, that all deeds and conveyances truly represented the titles of parties set forth in them. Deeds are called solemn transactions and they are executed after considerable deliberation, and under the guidance, and with the advice of able legal advisers. Under such circumstances, it is right to suppose that what is stated in deeds and other similar documents represents the true state of things, and consequently, parties should not be allowed afterwards to question the truth of what has been deliberately stated. But, in this country, it being well-known that documents are neither so drawn nor executed as in England, and it being equally well known that persons make statements wholly regardless of the truth, for present and ulterior purposes, it would be unsafe and unjust to hold parties strictly to statements made by them in deeds and other documents, and to apply the technical doctrine of estoppel in the manner in which the doctrine is applied in cases governed by English law. The tendency of the Privy Council decisions has been to make the law harmonize with justice in each case, and it would be departing from this wholesome and beneficial rule to apply the doctrine of estoppel to cases which are not governed in this country by English law. B. DONZELLE v. KEDARANATH CHUCKERBUTTY, 7 B.L.R. 720=16 W.R. 186. [R., 3 C.L.R. 9.]

(221)—Bhouli rent—Valuation of crop.—In a suit to recover bhouli rent of the value of crops which defendant ought to have made over to plaintiff, held that the damage to the plaintiff was the value of the crops at the time they were due, and not subsequently. LACHMAN PRASAD v. HOLAS MAHTOON, 2 B.L.R. App. 27=11 W.R. 151. [R., 25 W.R. 307, 1 C.W.N. 55]

(222)—Landlord and tenant — Decree for ejectment—Award of damages.—In the spirit of the rent law a decree for ejectment operates in some decree as an award of damages Quære—Whether a Court would be exercising a wise discretion in making a decree for damages in addition to a decree for arrears of rent, at the same time that it also gave a decree for ejectment? HEERAMUN ROY v. JHUBOO SINGH, 22 W.R. 511.

(223)—Court can award damages for use and occupation, when—Rent-law in Bengal, whether applicable to ferry tolls.—If a landlord sues for rent, a Court cannot award damages for use and occupation, unless an alternative claim for the same is made in the plaint. (21 W.R. 208, 22 C. 752, F.) [R., 10 C.L.J. 538=6 M.L.T. 255=3 Ind. Cas. 346.] The provisions of the rent-law in Bengal are not applicable to suits relating to ferry tolls. RACHHEA SINGH v. UPENDRA CHANDRA SINGH, 27 C. 239. (W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 82, 22 W.R. 334, D.; 9 B.L.R. App. 14, Appl.)

(224)—Arrears of rent—Suit for by superior proprietor against under-proprietor—Interest—Oudh Rent Act, XXII of 1886, s. 141—Interest Act (XXXII of 1839).—Although s. 141, Oudh

Rent, Suit for—continued.

Rent Act, does not entitle a superior proprietor to recover interest upon arrears of rent due by an under-proprietor, interest on such arrears was to be awarded under the Interest Act (XXXII of 1839), if the requirements of that Act are satisfied. MOHAMMAD ALI KHAN v. MOHAMMAD YASIN KHAN, 1 O.C 257. [Affirm., 3 O.C. 22.]

(225)—Arrears of rent, Suit for—Interest—Breach of contract—Damages.—The defendants, who were under-proprietors, had executed an iqrarnama in favour of the plaintiff, the superior proprietor, in which they promised to pay him as rent the Government Revenue, plus 10 p. c., in a suit by the superior proprietor for arrears of rent:—Held, that on proof of a breach of their contract by the defendants, the plaintiff was entitled to interest by way of damage. GANESH BAKHSH v. HARIHAR BAKHSH, 1 O.C. 270. (1 O C 94, R.)

(226)—Suit for unpaid instalments of rent—Interest, to be determined in accordance with Government rules for payment of kists of revenue.—In this suit brought by the Court of Wards against one of the relations of the ward alleging that a certain amount of rent which was due from the defendant had not been paid interest was also said to be obtained according, to the custom in the part of the country amongst ordinary tenants. The High Court modified the words of the lower Courts as regards interest and directed that, in execution, the interest on the instalments shall be calculated only according to the Government rule for the payment of revenue in the Collectorate. The agreement under which the defendant held his zemindari was that he should pay his Government revenue through the ward into the Collectorate. He was thus only liable to pay the Government revenue as it fell due, and the rule for the payment of instalments of rent by ordinary tenants in the country was not at all applicable to the case of this particular defendant. GRIDHAREE SINGH v. THE COURT OF WARDS, 10 W.R. 368.

(227)—Suit for amount of rent paid by under-proprietor on behalf of other under-proprietors—Liability of one party to reimburse other when latter is compelled to pay any sum payable by former—Obligations resembling those created by contract—Contract Act (IX of 1872), Ch. V., s. 73—Interests — Rent fixed by Settlement Officer, Liability to pay.—In 1872, J, who was under-proprietor of an entire village, sold 137 bighas to the mother of the first five defendants. In 1892, he mortgaged all his interest in the village to the mother of the plaintiff by a deed, which provided that the mortgagor would always pay the revenue then payable and any amount by which it might be enhanced at any future settlement, and that the mortgagee should be entitled to receive from any of his (the mortgagor's) relation in whose favour he had executed a perpetual lease or a sale-deed only the jama mentioned in those documents, or, in case of enhancement at future settlement, the parta sarkari, but that the mortgagee should not otherwise interfere with them. It was said that, in the sale-deed of 1873, it was provided that the jama of the vendee should be Rs. 37-8-6 only, but the deed was not produced in evidence. After the mortgage to the plaintiff's mother, the village came under settlement and in February 1896, the Settlement Officer determined that the amount of rent payable to the superior proprietor by the holders of the 137 bighas was Rs. 242-14-0. In January 1896, J had asked the Settlement Officer to fix the amount payable in respect of the 137 bighas at Rs 57-12-0, but the Settlement Officer declined to do so. The plaintiff having been compelled to pay the whole of the under-proprietary rent of the village to the superior proprietor, claimed against the first five defendants and their mortgagees, the remaining defendants, a decree for the amount due in respect of the 137 bighas according to the Settlement Officer's decision of February 5th, 1896, with interest on that amount. Held, that the defendants were bound to pay rent for the 137 bighas at the rate fixed by the Settlement Officer. Where all the under-proprietors in the village are jointly and severally responsible for the rent and one of them is compelled to pay sums which are payable by the others, he is entitled not only to the sums paid, but also to interest upon those sums from the date of payment. LAL RAM KINKER SINGH v. FATEH BAHADUR SINGH, 6 O.C. 346.

(228)—Arrears of rent, Suit for — Under-proprietor—Lease, permanent hereditary farming —Transferable lease—Transfer of Property Act, s. 6 —The respondent sued the appellant for arrears of rent. In the decree of the Financial Commissioner of Oudh, dated 27th April 1869, the appellant had obtained by consent of the talukdar a decree for a permanent hereditary farming lease. Held, that the appellant was an under-proprietor and was not liable to pay interest on arrears of rent. Under the provisions of s 6 of the Transfer of Property Act, a permanent hereditary farming lease is transferable. KESHO SINGH v. CHOWDRI MOHAMMAD AZIM, 3 O.C. 108. [R., 5 O.C. 187; Diss., 6 O.C. 94.]

(229)—Excess rent—Damages—Appeal—Act XI of 1865, s. 6—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 27.—Where a tenant sued his landlord to recover a sum paid over and above what was due on account of rent, held that the case was not one of contribution for shares of rent as against co-parceners, although originally the transaction may have been connected with payment of rent for co-parceners, but that it was a suit for damages for the non-refund of the over-payment. The suit being cognizable by the Court of Small Causes under s. 6, Act XI of 1865, no special appeal lies to the High Court. SIB SAHAYA SUKUL v. BIR CHANDRA JUBARAJ GOSWAMI, 2 B.L.R.A.C. 172=11 W. R. 30. [F., 1 A. 388.]

(230)— Refusal to execute decree of Small Causes Court—Appeal.—The order of a Judge declining to execute a Small Causes Court decree can be appealed from. DELAWUR ALI v. DABEE PERSHAD, 11 W.R. 203.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

(231)—Suits for rent—Cognizability by Small Cause Courts.—Suits for rent, when there is a contract between the parties, or even when such a patta has been tendered as the defendant was bound to accept, are maintainable in Court of Small Causes; and the mere denial of the plaintiff's title is not sufficient to oust the jurisdiction of the Court. BODI RAMAYYA v. PERMA JANAKIRAMUDU, 5 M.H.C. 172.

(232)—Mofussil Small Cause Courts Act, XI of 1865.—A suit for rent is cognizable by a Small Cause Court only when the claim is founded on contract. A claim by a landlord against a sub-tenant is not cognizable as on an implied contract. MANISA ERADI v. SIYALI KOYA, 11 M. 220, F.B. [D., 22 M. 149.]

(233)—Release of joint debtors, effect of Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 44.—Where, in a suit for rent, the purchaser of certain property which had been hypothecated by some of the lessees as security for the rent are first made parties but subsequently released, their release has not the effect of releasing the liability of the other defendants. SREEMATTY JOGEMAYA DASSI v. GIRINDRA NATH MUKHERJEE, 4 C.W.N. 590. (21 W.R. 347, D.)

(234)—Prostitute, House let to—Suit against her for rent—Immoral contract—Contract Act, 1872, s. 23.—A landlord is not entitled to claim the rent of a house knowingly let to a prostitute for use by her as a brothel. BRINKMAN v. ABDUL GHAFUR, 65 P.R. 1904 = 102 P.L.R. 1904 (18 W.R. 445, 10 P.R. 1872, R.; 2 P.R. 1898, Expl.)

(235)—Rent, Suit for—Rent accruing due between institution of suit and confirmation of sale—Tenant dying testate—Personal decree—Executor, personal liability of.—The plaintiff brought a suit for rent of a putni taluk for the period from Falgoon 1310 to Baisak 1312 (corresponding to February 1904 to May 1906). A decree for rent was obtained in respect of the said property for the period ending with Magh 1310. In execution of that decree the property was sold on the 10th April, 1905, and the sale was confirmed on the 12th May following (Baisak 1312). One of the tenants died in 1897. He had made testamentary disposition of his property by which he had appointed executors to hold possession of his estate till the termination of the minority of his youngest grandson. At the time of institution of the suit, the minor had not attained majority. The estate was sometimes in the hands of a Receiver appointed by another Court in the course of a partition suit: Held, that, as the property was sold, the landlord could obtain only a personal decree against the tenant entitled to possession of the property during the period for which the rent was claimed; that the Receiver was not a necessary party, as the plaintiff did not seek to sell any property in the hands of the Receiver. Held also, that the executor was personally liable, and the beneficiaries, who would ultimately be entitled to the property if anything remained to be distributed, were not personally liable for the rent. MAHARAJA OF BURDWAN v. PARBUTTY CHARAN, 15 C.L.J. 458.

(236)—House let to prostitute—Suit for rent, when maintainable.—In a suit for rent of a house hired by a man and woman together, the former of whom carried on the trade of a tailor and the latter carried on the profession of a prostitute on the premises; Held by Boulnois, J., that it could not be assumed that the owner of the house knew that the man and the woman sharing in the profits of the prostitution hired the house for the purpose of using it for the resort of men in the way of the woman's trade and for that purpose alone, and that the suit was maintainable. Held by Linasay, J., that if at the time of the contract the plaintiff certainly knew that the house was taken and was used by the female defendant, for the purpose of her profession, viz., that of a prostitute, the contract was an immoral one and the plaintiff could not recover the rent, but as the fact was not conclusively proved, he was entitled to recover. Held by Campbell, J., that the landlord had knowledge that the woman would carry on her trade, but as the profession of public prostitution is a profession openly acknowledged in this country, and as public opinion would not brand a house owner as immoral in his act of accepting a prostitute as his tenant, plaintiff's action in letting his premises was not such an immoral one as to render his agreement with the woman immoral so as to debar him from his right. SULTAN v. NANU, 22 P.R. 1877.

This circular deals with the Rules for disposal of rent-suits. 15 W.R. H.C. Rules, p. 4.

See BEN. ACT X OF 1859, s. 23, cl. 4, 28 C. 485 = 5 C.W.N. 840.

See BEN. ACT X OF 1859, s. 77, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 204, Note.

Suit for rent—Limitation—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, s. 29, 6 C. 325 = 7 C.L.R. 342, 5 C. 713 = 6 C.L.R. 49.

Suit for—See BEN. ACT VII OF 1876, ss. 42, 78, 8 C.W.N. 196.

Suit for arrears of—Suspension of the law of limitation—See BEN. ACT IX OF 1880, s. 95, art. 2, sch. III, 30 C. 1033, P.C. = 80 I.A. 177 = 8 C.W.N. 1.

Suit by co-sharer landlord alone for additional rent, if sustainable—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 52, 178, 188, 7 C.W.N. 670.

Unregistered proprietor's suit for rent—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 60, 26 C. 712.

Rate of—Determined in a rent suit—Subsequent suit at enhanced rate—Res judicata, effect of entry of rate of rent in settlement record on question of—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 107, 109, 32 C. 336, 9 C.W.N. 610 = 1 C.L.J. 134.

Suit to recover arrears of—Provisions and phraseology of s. 193 of the Bengal Tenancy Advocate High Court Jammu & Kashmir Srinagar.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

Act—Applicability to suits to recover sums that are not rent—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 144, 184, 193, sch. III, art. 2, 7 C.L. J. 152.

Suit—Plaint whether to contain exact extent and boundaries of lands—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 148, cl. (b), 5 C.W.N. 121.

Suit for—On ground of possession—Maintainability—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 149, 8 C.W.N. 248.

Value of rent suit, under Bengal Tenancy Act, for purposes of appeal—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 153, 12 C.W.N. 448=35 C. 547.

Suit for rent by co-sharer landlord—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 153, 7 C.W.N. 908.

Jotedar—No assignment of right to collect rent-suit for—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 153, 8 C.W.N. 438.

Suit for rent in kind—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 153, 67, 68, 9 C.W.N. 122.

See BOM. ACT V OF 1879, ss. 85, 86, 87, 16 B. 586.

Suit for—See BOM. ACT XVII OF 1879, 5 B. 180.

Suit for—Decision of question of title—Appeal—See Bom. ACT XVII OF 1879, s. 3 (3), cl. (X), 16 B. 128.

Suit to enforce acceptance of puttahs proper—How determined—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 5 M.H.C. 425.

Tender of Patta—Suit for rent—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 7, 9, 72, 27 M. 4, F.B.

Limitation Act, sch. II, art. 110—Suit for—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 10, 17 M. 225=4 M.L.J. 5.

Suit for rent—Cause of action—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 10, 22 M. 250, Note.

House rent due on contract—Jurisdiction of village Court to take—Cognizance of suit to recover such rent—See MAD. ACT I OF 1889, s. 13, cl. 3, 5 M.L.J. 57.

Tenant at fixed rates, suit against for rent—Diluvion—Local custom—See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, ss. 18, 19, A.W.N. 1893, 29.

Suit for arrears of—Determination of rent—See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 93, cl. (a), A.W. N. 1887, 155.

Suit for arrears of—By landlord against agricultural tenant—Right of suit—Conditions, for maintenance of suit—See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 93 (a), 2 A.L.J. 1.

Suit for arrears of—See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 93 (a), 23 A. 270=A. W.N. 1901, 69, 23 A. 277.

Suit for rent—Dismissal of suit—Subsequent suit in Civil Court to establish title and for possession—Limitation—See U. P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 148, A.W.N. 1885, 261.

Suit for, appeal when admissible—See U. P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 189, 23 A. 283=A.W. N. 1901, 75.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

Interest on arrears of rent—Tenant, suit for arrears of rent and interest against—Settlement Court, decree of—See U.P. ACT XXII OF 1886, ss. 3 and 14, 5 O.C. 187.

Suit for—See U. P. ACT XXII OF 1886, s. 33, and s. 108, cl. (2), 2 O.C. 269.

Suit for—Rent of grove-land left by grove-holder for cultivation—Landlord's consent, land held without—See U.P. ACT XXII OF 1886, ss. 108, cl. (2), 127, 5 O.C. 162.

Suit for—See U. P. ACT XXII OF 1886, s. 127, 4 O. C. 24.

Arrears of—Suit for—See U.P. ACT XXII OF 1886, s. 138, 2 O.C. 135-6.

Arrears of—, suit for—Under-proprietor—Liability to pay rent when out of possession—Interest—See U.P. ACT XXII OF 1886, s. 141, 2 O.C. 288.

See APPEAL—FORM OF APPEAL, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 154.

See APPEAL—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 67.

Waste and Lakhiraj land—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 44.

Suit for arrears of rent—Onus—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 3 B.L. R.A.C. 304.

Suit for arrears of rent—Second appeal—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 7 C.L.R. 369.

Suit for—Onus of proof about rate—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 8 C.L.R. 426.

First suit for cancellation of patni and for mesne profits, whether bars second suit to recover arrears of rent for same period—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 10, 7 C.W.N. 720.

Suit for rent—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 1, A.W.N. 1882, 208.

Suit for—Policy of law—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 1, 13 C.L.R. 214.

Suit for enhanced rent—Subsequent suit at original rate—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, rr. 1, 2, 9 C. 919=12 C.L.R. 919.

Suit for rent—Failure to include arrears due in former suit—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, A.W.N. 1883, 142.

Lease of mortgaged property by usufructuary mortgagee to mortgagor—Hypothecation of same property as security for rent—Suit for rent in Revenue Court—Suit for enforcement of lien in Civil Court—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, 4 A. 318=A.W.N. 1882, 46.

Suit for possession—Subsequent suit for—Not barred—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, 8 Ind. Cas. 445.

Suit for arrears of—Not claimed for the whole period up to the date of the institution of suit—Inclusion of the period omitted not allowable in a subsequent suit for rent—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, 1 C.L.J. 114.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

Suit for rent of a field in a holding—Necessity for including claim in respect of another field comprised in same holding—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, 8 C.P.L.R. 9.

Suit for rent converted into one of ejectment—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. VI, s. 17, O VII, r. 11, O. XLI, r. 23, s. 107 (2), O. XXII, r. 11, 19 B. 303.

Suit—When set-off allowed—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. VIII, r. 6, 30 C. 1066=8 C.W. N. 118.

Public policy—Landlord and tenant—House let to prostitute—Suit for—See CONTRACT —ILLEGAL CONTRACTS, 102 P.L.R. 1904.

Letting house for prostitute—Suit for—When recoverable—See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 23, 2 P.R. 1898.

Payment of rent under a mistake—Right to recover—See CONTRACT ACT, s. 72, 7 C. 573 =9 C.L.R. 182.

Right of co-sharer to collect rent in the absence of partition—See CO-SHARERS—ENJOYMENT OF PROPERTY BY CO-SHARERS, 11 C.P.L.R. 1.

Claim for—In suit for redemption—Distinct causes of action—Court-fee on appeal—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 17, 16 M. 415.

Suit for rent—Damages for breach of clause in lease, assessment of—Substantial damages —Rent payable to superior landlord—See DAMAGES—MEASURE AND ASSESSMENT, 11 C. 221.

See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, Marsh 48=1 Hay 113, 26 C. 639=3 C.W.N. 628.

Suit for land and compensation for trespass —Decree for compensation by way of rent—Whether proper decree—See DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1892, 57.

Revisional powers of District Judge—See DISTRICT JUDGE, JURISDICTION OF, 15 C. 327.

See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT, 29 C. 126=6 C.W.N. 132.

Suit for rent—Prior ex parte decree, evidentiary value of—See EVIDENCE—DECREES, JUDGMENTS AND PROCEEDINGS IN SUITS, 8 C. 275=10 C.L.R. 159.

Rent suit—Rate of—Effect of ex-parte decree —See EVIDENCE — DECREE, JUDGMENTS AND PROCEEDINGS IN SUITS, 16 C. 300.

See EVIDENCE — DECREES, JUDGMENTS AND PROCEEDINGS IN SUITS, 13 M. 361.

Presumption as to rate of—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s 91, 2 Ind. Cas. 636.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MODE OF EXECUTION, 3 C.L.R 504.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE — MISCELLANEOUS, 3 W.R. Act X, Rul. 131.

See INTEREST—SPECIAL CASES, 9 W.R. 272.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

Issues—Suit for—Based on settlement—Admission by defendant as to rate of rent—Relief —See ISSUES—GENERAL, 6 C.L.R. 208.

Joinder of persons interested in property charged with rent—See JOINDER OF PARTIES, 14 C.P.L.R. 17.

Suit for arrears of—Letters Patent, cl. 12—See JURISDICTION—SUITS FOR LAND, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 426.

Mortgagor and mortgagee—Lease of mortgaged property by mortgagee—Suit for arrears of rent—Civil Courts—Jurisdiction — See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 19 A. 496= A.W.N. 1897, 128.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 11 B.L.R. 31, Note=13 W.R 390.

See LACHES, 2 C.L.R. 5.

Co sharer—Payment of to lambardar—Bona fide payment—Suit for recovery of rent—See LAMBARDAR, A.W.N. 1888, 45.

Rent, arrears of, for more than three years, can be recovered where there is a fiduciary relationship—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 10, 3 Bom. L.R. 45=25 B. 429.

Claim for recovering—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, 18 B. 507.

Suit for—Limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 110, 5 C.L.R. 62.

Does not lose its character by assignment—Suit by assignee of—Limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 110, 2 Ind. Cas. 989.

Arrears of, limitation for a suit to recover—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 110, 6 Bom. L.R. 241.

Suit for arrears of customary dues to chatram, not a suit for—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 110, 120, 16 M. 305.

Suit to recover arrears of—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 120 and 110, 3 Bom. L. R. 135=25 B. 556.

Suit for possession with alternative relief for —Misjoinder of parties and causes of action —See MULTIFARIOUSNESS 4 C. 949.

See PARTIES TO SUIT—GENERAL, 11 W.R. 43, 21 W.R. 88.

Suit for rent—See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, s. 23, 35 P.L.R. 1902=43 P.R. 1902.

A suit on bond undertaking to pay debt due from landlord not a suit for—See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, art. 8, sch. II, 4 C.L.J. 402.

Suit for—for one fasli—Objection by defendant as to extent—Suit for—for subsequent fasli—Principle—Certainty — See RES JUDICATA — GENERAL, 14 M.L.J. 379.

See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATIONS, 6 C. W.N. 575.

Adjudication of title of intervenor in rent suit—See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATIONS, 8 C. 470=10 C.L.R. 416.

Rent, Suit for—continued.

Suit for measurement—Previous suit for rent—Res judicata — See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 7 C. 214=8 C.L.R. 393.

Second suit for same—Upon a different basis —See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 3 C. 6.

Suits for—Cause of action—Res judicata—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 21 C. 236.

Prior suit for—Determination of question of title—Subsequent suit for possession—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 12 C.L.R. 38.

Jurisdiction of Collector—See RES JUDICATA —COMPETENCY OF COURT, 15 B.L.R. 242, Note=19 W.R. 217.

Rent suit—Subsequent title suit—See RES JUDICATA—COMPETENCY OF COURT, 8 Ind. Cas. 715.

Suit—Rate of rent—Decree for rent of previous years—Decree for amount admitted by defendant—See RES JUDICATA—ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT, 11 C.L.R. 483.

Decree for—in previous suit—Res judicata—Landlord and tenant—See RES JUDICATA—ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT, 4 C.W.N. 161.

Decree in rent suit—Question of annual rent payable—Res judicata—See RES JUDICATA—MATTERS IN ISSUE, 2 Ind. Cas. 11.

Rent suit—Incidental finding—Res judicata —See RES JUDICATA—MATTERS IN ISSUE, 9 C.L.J. 493=4 Ind. Cas. 175.

See RES JUDICATA—MATTERS IN ISSUE, 3 O.C. 22.

Effect of decision against intervenor in a—See RES JUDICATA—PARTIES, 3 C. 145=1 C. L.R. 35, F.B.

See RES JUDICATA—PARTIES, 8 W.R. 428.

See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 C. W.N. 589.

Decision in rent suit—Ex parte decree—Res judicata—See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 Ind. Cas. 860.

See SALE—SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT —MISCELLANEOUS, 6 W.R. 112.

See SET-OFF, 2 Agra 377.

Suit for refund of rent voluntarily paid to a wrong person—Mofussil Small Cause Court, jurisdiction of—See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF— GENERAL, 11 C. 738.

Suit for damages on account of—Proper remedy—See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 5 B. 572.

Suit for Jarib rent—Jurisdiction — See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 7 M.L.T. 350=6 Ind. Cas. 702.

Suit for—No ascertained contract between parties—Suit not cognizable by Small Cause Court—See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 4 M.H.C. 393.

Rent, Suit for—concluded.

Suit for—See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 5 M. H.C. 64.

See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 166 P.R. 1883.

Suits for recovery of—of nature cognisable by Courts of small causes—Second appeal not maintainable—See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—SMALL CAUSE COURT SUITS, 23 M. 547=10 M.L.J. 329. F.B.

Suit for rights to collect—Suit for immovable property—Maintainability of suit—See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 9, 5 M.L.J. 95

Suit by zamindar on bond executed to his father the late zamindar for arrears of rent—No suit for rent—See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT, 1889, s. 4, sub-s. 2, 1 M.L.J. 680.

Land taken by Government without formality prescribed by Ben. Reg. I of 1825—Right of owner to maintain suit against Government for—See TRESPASS, Marsh 56=W.R. F.B. 18 =1 Hay 122.

Renunciation.

See WAIVER.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 1 M. 312 =5 I.A. 61=2 C.L.R. 81, P.C.

Nature and effect of—Mutual mistake, relief against—See WAIVER, 5 M.H.C. 444.

Repealing Act.

See ACT XII OF 1876.

Repealing Enactments relating to Civil Procedure.

See ACT X OF 1861.

Repeal of Act, Effect of.

See STATUTES, CONSTRUCTION OF.

See APPEAL—RIGHT OF APPEAL, EFFECT OF, REPEAL ON.

(1)—Limitation Act, IX of 1871—Act XIV of 1859—Suit on bond barred under old Act—No new period.—The Limitation Act (IX of 1871), does not give a new period of limitation to a suit on a bond which was barred by the old Limitation Act (XIV of 1859) before the new Limitation Act came into force. VENKATACHELLA MUDALI v. T. SASHAGHERRY RAU, 7 M H.C. 283. [R., 1 B. 295, 1 C. 328, 88 P. L.R. 1904, F.B.; D., 1 M. 228.]

(2)—Barred claims—Change in the law of limitation, effect of.— A claim, whether for arrears of maintenance, possession of land or anything else, once barred, cannot be revived by a change in the law of limitation. KRISHNA MOHUN BOSE v. OKHILMONI DOSEE, 3 C. 331. [Disc., 3 C L R 336; Overruled, 6 C' 340=7 C.L.R. 121; R. 4 C. 665, 53 P.L R., 1901.]

(3)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 387—'Pending,' meaning of.—A suit must be held to be pending under s. 387 of Act VIII of 1859 if anything remained to be done which might have been done under the old law; and a party in such a case is entitled to ask the Court to proceed under the old law, inasmuch as the application of the new code would deprive him of a right, in reference to a procedure of the case, which, but for the passing of the code, would have belonged to him. CAPTAIN PARROTT v. RAM SUHAY SINGH, W.R. 1864, 35.

Repeal of Act, Effect of—concluded.

(4)—Ex parte decree—Re-hearing—Suit instituted before Act VIII of 1859.—A defendant in a suit instituted before the passing of Act VIII of 1859, is entitled, under s. 387, to any advantage which he might have possessed under the old procedure; but this does not bar him from availing himself of any advantages which he may obtain from the new procedure, e.g., a re-hearing under s. 119, in the case of an ex parte decree. MUSST. RUSSOOLUN v. MUSST. FUZEELUT-OON-NISSA, W.R. 1864, Mis. 36.

See ACT I OF 1868, s. 6, 9 C. 163=11 C. L.R. 409.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 92, O. XLIII, r. 1, 3 C.L.R. 205.

See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, LIABILITY TO, 6 N.W.P. 373.

Repeal—Of one statute by another by implication—What amounts to—See LEASE—GENERAL, Ind. Cas. 685=12 C.L.J. 126.

See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 7 M.H.C. 298.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, 4 C. 285=3 C.L.R. 336.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 73, 7 M. H.C. 288.

See STATUTES, CONSTRUCTION OF, 1 B. 295, 1 C. 328.

Repeal of part of Madras Regulation IV of 1821.

See ACT XXIII OF 1838.

Repeal, Usury Laws Act.

See ACT XXVIII OF 1855.

Repetition.

Defamation—Malice—Copy by one newspaper of libellous matter in another, whether amounts to libel—See LIBEL, 14 B. 532.

Reply to Notice.

Whether action for libel or slander will lie against accused persons defending themselves—Whether and when reply to notices of action are privileged—See TORT, 18 M.L.J. 353=4 M.L.T. 222=31 M. 400.

Report.

(1)—Commissioner for taking accounts—Power to grant certificate—Nature of.—The general nature of a certificate or report, whether general or separate, is that it should, in the case of a general certificate, comprise the result of all the proceedings under the decree or order of reference, or, in the case of a separate certificate or report, that it should comprise the result of some or one of such proceedings. The Court is not bound either to uphold or reverse the Commissioner's decision or to consider it in any way till he has arrived at and certified something that can be called a result, either of the whole enquiry before him or of some part or branch of it. RUSTOMJI BURJORJI v. KESSOWJI NAIK, 3 B. 161.

Report—concluded.

Reports by Select Committee.

See STATUTES, CONSTRUCTION OF, 14 A. 145=A.W.N. 1892, 6.

Reports, Indian Law, Act.

See ACT XVIII OF 1875.

Reports of Cases.

See UNREPORTED JUDGMENT.

(1)—Proper use to be made of Law Reports by Court.—A Court is entitled to refer to reports of cases as precedents. But, because a judgment, order or decree finds a place in the reports of cases, the Court should not take cognizance of such judgment, order, etc. The party relying on it should be asked to produce a copy of the same and file it in the record of the case. SOWINDRA MOHUN TAGORE v. SIROMONI DEBI, 28 C. 171=5 C.W.N. 307. (27 C. 1, P.C., R.)

Representation.

Right of succession by representation among Muhammadan Kasmiris of Bengal — See CUSTOMS (PUNJAB—INHERITANCE.) 8 P.R. 1907=47 P.W.R. 1907=121 P.L.R. 1907.

Right of, in cases of collateral succession—See CUSTOMS (PUNJAB — INHERITANCE), 140 P.R. 1908.

Estate of deceased—Decree when estate not properly represented—Effect—See DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 Ind. Cas. 627=14 C.W.N. 1041=12 C.L.J. 561.

Representative.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, S. 47.

See LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE

See REPRESENTATIVE OF DECEASED PERSON.

(1)—Decision against party not properly represented—Effect.—A party is not bound by the decision in a case by reason of his mother having been present during the hearing, if she was not present in a representative capacity. RAM LALL ROY v. LALL BUNGSHEE LALL, 11 W. R. 199.

Rights of, of assignee—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 10 C.L.J. 396=3 Ind. Cas. 324=14 C.W.N. 752.

Person attaching decree is representative of decree-holder—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 19, art. 179, 6 C.L.J. 141.

Representative Capacity.

Plaintiff shebait of idol—Plaintiff's name in heading of plaint — Suit in representative character — Maintainability — See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 115, O. XXXI, r. 1, 9 Ind. Cas. 132.

Representative of deceased person.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, S. 47.

See LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE.

(1)—Heirs—Liability — Payment of debt to extent of assets—Delivery of papers—Accounts—Examination of accounts before decree—Secondary evidence to establish claim.—Where it is proved that the heir of a deceased debtor has received assets from him, such heir is bound to pay the debts of the deceased to the extent of such assets. Similarly, the heir is bound to deliver the papers in his hands in respect of which a third party has established his claim against the deceased. In a suit for accounts it is not sufficient to decree that an account should be taken. The accounts should be ordered to be produced; a decree should be passed only after their examination. If no written papers of account are brought forward by the defendant, the plaintiff should have an opportunity of giving evidence in support of his claim for compensation or damages. LUCHMEEPUT SINGH BAHADOOR v. NUND COOMAR GOOPTO, 22 W.R. 388. [Expl., 7 C. 169.]

(2)—Suit by—Hindu estate, Person taking possession of—Liability for debt— Executor de son tort.—Where a Hindu died leaving a widow and brother, and the brother took possession of the deceased's estate during the widow's life-time,—Held that the brother was liable to pay a debt of the deceased out of the estate come into his hands. Held also that he was liable as legal representative of deceased, the widow having relinquished her rights as heiress. Quære—Is any stranger who takes a deceased's estate liable, under Hindu law, to pay his debts as executor de son tort? JOGENDER NARAIN DEB ROYKUT v. TEMPLE, 2 Ind. Jur. N. S. 234.

(3)—Hindu law—Joint family—Separation of interest among brothers—Legal representative.—Where a Hindu, during the lifetime of his deceased brother (debtor), lived separate from him in a separate dwelling-house, their transactions being also separate, held that the former was not the latter's legal representative. TEKAIT CHURAMUN SINGH v. KULLYAN SAHY, 23 W.R. 231.

(4)—Person in possession of deceased Hindu's estate, decree against—Executor under a will, probate whereof granted subsequently.—Indian Courts have been liberal in recognizing the acts of a de facto manager of a deceased's estate as valid. The person in possession of the estate of a deceased Hindu must, till some other claimant (e.g. under a will, of which no probate has been granted) comes forward, be treated for some purposes as his representative. (4 C. 142=2 C.L.R. 223, R.) A judgment obtained against such a representative is not a mere nullity and, though it might not be executed against the estate, in the hands of an executor, when he has taken out probate, it is sufficient for a suit being brought against the executor, to have the decree satisfied. PROSUNNO CHUNDER BHUTTACHARJEE v. KRISTO

Representative of deceased person—contd.

CHYTUNNO PAL, 4 C. 342=3 C.L.R. 154. [R., 11 C.W.N. 1078=6 C.L.J. 719, 27 C. 242, 8 C.W.N. 843, 30 C. 1044, 10 C.W.N. 566, 2 C.L.J. 484; D., 9 B. 86; Appl., 14 M. 454.]

(5)—Debts due to Hindu deceased, payment of, to actual heir of deceased—Subsequent grant of certificate of heirship to another — Debtor, rights and liabilities of.—The question referred to the Full Bench was, whether a debtor of a deceased person who has paid his debt to the widow of the deceased, holding her to be the heir, is entitled, in a suit brought for the recovery of the same debt by a person holding a certificate of heirship, obtained subsequently to the payment, to show that the widow, and not the holder of the certificate is the legal heir. The question was answered in the affirmative and the defendant was held to be at liberty to show, notwithstanding the certificate held by the plaintiff, that the widow of the deceased was, at the time of the alleged payment by the defendant to her, the legal heir to the deceased. It would, however, not be sufficient for the defendant to show that he bona fide believed the widow to be the heir, or to be the manager of the estate of the deceased; he is bound to show that she then was the actual heir-at-law of the deceased. PURSHOTAM MANSUKH v. RANCHHOD PURSHOTAM, 8 B.H.C. A.C. 152, F.B. [R., 8 B.H.C.O.C. 140, 7 B. 341.]

(6)— Succession Certificate Act (XXVII of 1860)—Certificate of administration—Childless widows of brother and nephew—Illegitimate sons.—The illegitimate sons of a deceased Hindu, whom the latter had acknowledged as his sons and to whom he had assigned all his property, are entitled to a certificate of administration under Act XXVII of 1860, in preference to the childless widows of the brother and nephew of the deceased, the latter not being legal representatives under the Hindu law. PRODHAN RAM v. MUSST. JERIA KOOER, 17 W.R. 189.

(7)—Suit against heir for debts of ancestor—Assets—Burden of proof as to.—In a suit against an heir for the debts of his ancestor, it ordinarily lies upon the plaintiff in the first instance to give such evidence as would prima facie afford reasonable ground for an inference that assets had or ought to have come to the hands of the defendant. If plaintiff has laid this foundation for his case, it then lies upon the defendant to show that the amount of such assets was not sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim, or that they were of such a nature that the plaintiff was not entitled to be satisfied out of them, or that there were never any assets, or that they have been duly administered and disposed of in satisfaction of other claims. KOTTALA UPPI v. SHANGARA VARMA RAJAH, 3 M.H.C. 161. [Expl., 26 M. 792.]

(8)—Execution — Judgment-debtor's representative—Liability to account for property of judgment-debtor — Mesne profits.— When a party is proceeded against as being the representative of a deceased judgment-debtor, and it is proved that property which belonged to the deceased has come into his hands, it lies upon such party to account for all the property of the deceased judgment-debtor which has come into his hands. And in so accounting, mesne profits—whether they have accrued in the shape of rents collected, or interest on moneys which may have come to him from the deceased's estate—must be brought into the account. ASSEEMOONISSA v. AMEEROONISSA KHATOON, 15 W.R. 285.

Representative of deceased person—contd.

(9)—Suit against representatives of Mahomedan—Decree, form of.—Where a suit was brought on a bond given by a Nawab, against his widow-mother and minor son as his representatives and also as in possession of the estate, held that the Court should adjudicate upon the plaintiff's claim without dismissing the suit on the ground that the defendants were not proved to be in possession of any portion of the estate left by him. The decree in such a case should be for payment out of the property of the deceased, and ordinarily the Court should not direct the payment of the costs by the defendants personally but out of the estate. MADHO RAM v. DILBUR MAHUL, 2 N.W.P 449. [R., 7 A. 822, F.B.]

(10)—Suit against legal representatives of deceased—Decree—Issues.—Act VIII of 1859, s. 203—Where, in a suit against the legal representatives of a deceased executant of a bond, the plaintiff founds his case on the possession by the defendants of property belonging to the deceased, held that the defendants have a right to join issue thereon, and, if successful, are entitled to a decree dismissing them from all responsibility. But where the foundation of the suit against the defendants is as heirs or personal representatives of the deceased, without any question of assets, the plaintiff is entitled to a decree on evidence being adduced as to the execution of the bond. HEERA LALL MOOKERJEE v. DEGUMBUREE KULOONEE, 14 W.R. 431.

(11)—Suit against representatives—Decree.—In a suit against representatives as such, there cannot be a decree against them for anything beyond the amount of the assets of the deceased debtor. KARUPPAN CHETTI v. VERIYAL, 4 M.H.C. [R. 14 M. 1, F.B.]

(12)—Execution against heirs of deceased defendant—Liability of heir to extent of assets received.—On the death of one N.G., against whom the decree had been obtained, execution thereof had been taken against his widows. Subsequently, one M. S., came in and, alleging that the deceased N G. was merely a benami-holder for her, applied to be substituted as defendant in the case in lieu of the widows. It was held that the lower Court should not, on the application of M S., have exempted from liability the heirs of the deceased N.G., to the extent of any assets which might have come into their hands. The lower Court's order was therefore amended so far as it struck out the widows of the deceased defendant N. G., from the category of defendants. DOORGA SOONDUREE DEBIA v. SOORJEE MONEE DEBIA, 8 W.R. 101.

Representative of deceased person—contd.

(13)—Judgment-debtor, representative of—Extent of liability for decree-debt.—When a person against whom a decree has been passed in his representative capacity, has made payments in satisfaction of that decree to the full extent of the property of the deceased which has come, or, but for the representative's default, might have come to his hands, the decree can no longer be executed, even although the decree-holder may be able to prove that the representative still has in his possession property which originally belonged to the deceased. If the heirs of the deceased Hindu or Mahomadan has disposed, to a bona fide purchaser, of property which he has inherited from a deceased person, a creditor cannot follow the property in the hands of the purchaser, but can only sue the heir who is responsible to him for the assets he receives. RAM GOLAM DOBEY v. AYMA BEGUM, 12 W.R. 177. (10 W. R. 126, 2 W. R. 296, 1 Agra F.B., 72, 8 W.R. 161, R.) [F., 26 M. 792=13 M.L.J. 258.]

(14)—Decree—Execution—Receipt of assets—Burden of proof.—Where execution of a decree against a deceased person is applied for against the latter's representatives, it is for the decree-holder to show that they are in receipt of assets, belonging to the deceased judgment debtor But when the receipt of such assets is admitted, the burden of proving that the assets so received are not sufficient to pay the whole judgment-debt, or were already properly paid in satisfaction of the other debts of the deceased judgment-debtor, is upon the representatives. JOOGUL KISHORE SINGH v. KALEE CHURN SINGH, 25 W.R. 224. [R., 13 M.L.J. 258=26 M 792.]

(15)—Minor sons of deceased judgment-debtor, not made parties to proceedings in execution of the decree—Judgment debtor's widow brought on record—Natural guardian of minor sons—Suit by sons against purchaser—Sons how far bound by sale—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 210.—A decree for money had been passed against the father of the plaintiffs. After the death of the father, the decree-holder presented an application for execution of the decree, bringing on to the record, the mother of the plaintiffs as the widow and heir of the judgment-debtor. Plaintiffs, the sons and heirs of the judgment-debtor, not having been made parties to the execution proceedings, filed the present suit to recover possession of the property sold in execution and purchased by the defendant, the decree-holder. Agreeing with the Court of first instance, the High Court held that the sale was binding on the plaintiffs and dismissed their suit. The sale having taken place under the old law, its validity had to be determined by the provisions of that law. Under s. 210 of Act VIII of 1859, execution could be taken out, either against the estate of the deceased judgment-debtor or against his legal representatives, and a sale of the property of a deceased judgment debtor would be binding if the estate was sufficiently represented quoad such property. In this case, the widow, as the natural guardian of his infant sons, in possession of the property, was upon the record, and it was beyond doubt that it was the interest of the judgment-debtor, and not that of the widow, which was intended to be and was sold. The estate of the father of the plaintiffs having been sold in execution, they could claim to set aside the sale only by establishing that the decree was not binding on the estate in their hands, by reason of the debt covered by it not being one for which the estate could be held liable. ACHUT v. MANJU NATH, 21 B 539. [R., 24 B. 135=1 Bom. L.R. 627, 2 S.L.R. 55.]

Representative of deceased person—contd.

(16)—Contract—Breach—Liability of heirs to pay damages.—The heirs and representatives are liable, according to equity and good conscience, to pay not merely the actual debts of the deceased, but to pay the damages which arise from breaches of contract by the deceased. DELANNEY v. MUSSUMAT BIBEE JAN, 22 W. R. 494.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 50, 47, A.W. N. 1893, 106.

Right of, to continue proceedings initiated by defendant to set aside ex parte decree - See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. IX, r. 13, A.W.N. 1907, 176=4 A.L.J. 480=29 A. 574.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 16, s. 47, 27 C. 670.

Auction purchaser is representative of judgment-debtor, not of decree-holder—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 89, ss. 47, 104, O. XLIII, r. 1, A.W.N. 1908, 157=5 A.L.J. 557=30 A. 379.

Deceased defendant — Substitution of — Practice—See DECREE — MISCELLANEOUS, 13 C.W.N. 787=3 Ind. Cas. 999.

Meaning of—Test—Who can be a—Position of infant son in joint Hindu family - See EXECUTION OF DECREE — APPLICATION FOR EXECUTION AND POWERS OF COURT, 9 C.L. J. 485=1 Ind. Cas. 213.

Interest—Dispute as to succession on death of obligee—Willingness of obligor to pay sum due to person having lawful authority—Non-liability of obligor to pay further interest—See INTEREST—SPECIAL CASES, 1 M H.C. 124.

See JURISDICTION — QUESTION OF JURISDICTION, 8 B H C.A.C. 245.

Limitation for bringing—of a deceased person on record—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 181, 175, 16 M.L.J. 475=1 M.L.T. 348=29 M. 529.

Wrong person sued as heir of a deceased person—True heir not taking steps for a long time—Effect—See NON-JOINDER OF PARTIES, 10 Ind. Cas. 344.

Suit for foreclosure against assignee of mortgaged property—Representatives of mortgagor —See PARTIES TO SUIT—GENERAL, Bourke O.C. 319.

Representative of deceased person—concld.

See PARTIES TO SUIT—GENERAL, Cor. 90.

Representative of deceased appellant, jurisdiction of Court to which a case has been remanded, to bring on record—Code of Civil Procedure, ss. 365 and 566—See REMAND, 7 O.C. 17.

Test to find out a—Mulgani tenure—See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 M.L.T. 37.

Representative Order.

Power of the Court to make—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. I, r. 8 (1), 5 Bom. L.R. 937=28 B. 209.

Representatives' Suits, Legal, Act.

See ACT XII OF 1855.

Reprieves and Pardons.

See ACT XVIII OF 1855.

Repudiation.

Deed of—executed by husband transferring wife to another subsequently revoked, effect of —See MARRIAGE, 31 P.R. 1908=76 P.W.R. 1908=152 P.L.R. 1908.

Reputation.

See EVIDENCE—ACCOUNTS, 9 M. 285.

Suit for damages for injury to reputation and pain of body—See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—SMALL CAUSE COURT SUITS, 4 B.L.R. A.C. 33, N.

Re-purchase.

Pre-emption is not a right of—See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 A L.J. 112=A.W.N. 1908, 42=3 M.L.T. 223=30 A. 130.

Requests, Military Courts of, Act.

See ACT XI OF 1841.

Re-sale.

(1)—Power of re-purchase on condition—Enforcement of said right.—If a power to re-purchase be given upon a condition the right cannot be enforced unless the condition has been complied with. PANDIT GANGADHAR RAO v. SAMLEY, 14 C.P.L R. 166. (14 C.P. L.R. 67, R.)

See ATTACHMENT — GENERAL, A.W.N. 1881, 5.

Ordered in an auction held by Court—See AUCTION SALE, 1 Bom. L.R. 446.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 72, s. 73, 11 M. 356.

Indent for goods, operation of provision in, for loss arising from re-sale—See CONTRACT—MISCELLANEOUS, 23 M. 18.

Contract of sale—Default by purchaser in payment of price—Right of re-sale under s. 107, duty vendor exercising—Measure of damages awardable to vendor—See DAMAGES —MEASURE AND ASSESSMENT, 19 A. 535=A.W.N. 1897, 150.

Rescinding Circulars.

This circular rescinds certain previous Circular Orders. Civ. Cir. Or. No. 9, 24 W.R. Rules and Ors. of the H.C. p. 5.

Recission.

Of contract—Non-completion of contract for ten months—Return of deposit—Presumption of—See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 56, 4 A.L.J. 778=A.W.N. 1908, 5=3 M.L.T. 177.

Remedy by, when obtainable—See LEASE—GENERAL, 3 Ind. Cas. 316=37 C. 81=14 C.W.N. 101.

Rescission of Conveyance.

See CONVEYANCE, 5 Bom. L.R. 392.

Reservation.

(1)—Reservation in decree.—Where sons suing their father for declaration of right to hold their separate shares in joint-family property, third parties intervene on the strength of a mortgage over some of the property from the father, a reservation in the decree in favour of parties neither plaintiffs nor defendants is irregular. JUDOONATH SINGH v. KALEE PERSHAD, 14 W.R. 358=6 B.L.R. App. 55.

Reserved Forest.

Constituting a—See ACT VII OF 1878, s. 4, 7 Bom. L.R. 496.

Residence.

See JURISDICTION — CAUSES OF JURISDICTION.

(1)—Act IV of 1872, s. 23—Insolvency rules—Jurisdiction of insolvency Courts—Residence, what constitutes.—A debtor seeking or sought to be adjudged bankrupt in pursuance of a petition under s. 23 of Act IV of 1872, must, at the time of the petition being presented, reside or carry on business within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Insolvency Court to which the application is made, and a debtor coming to reside temporarily within those limits for the express and sole purpose of being adjudicated insolvent does not by such residence become subject to the insolvency jurisdiction of the Court. R. PARKER v. THE SIMLA BANK CORPORATION, LIMITED, 34 P.R. 1878, F.B. (64 P.R. 1867, R.) [F., 62 P.R 1886.]

(2)—Insolvent Court—Residence.—Where the insolvent is not an European British subject, he must, in order to come within the Act, either be a bona fide resident in Calcutta at the time he presents his petition, or a trader carrying on business in Calcutta. In the matter of TARINEY CHURN GOHO, 11 B.L.R. App. 26.

(3)—Jurisdiction—Defendant's change of residence after filing of plaint—Plaint, return of, after registration.—If, by reason of the residence of the defendant beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes, the jurisdiction of the District Court attached upon him at the time of the institution of the Residence—continued.

suit, such jurisdiction cannot be deemed to be altered by his change of residence after that time. A plaint becomes unreturnable to the plaintiff merely because of its having been registered. RAM GOPAL v. ASA RAM, 88 P.R. 1869. [R., 39 P.R. 1872.]

(4)—Incorporated Company—Residence and domicile—Principal place of business.—The residence and domicile of an incorporated trading company is its principal place of business, i.e., the place where the Administrative business of the Company is conducted. TUTIKA BASAVARAJU v. PARRY AND CO., 27 M. 315.

(5)—Custom—Daughter's right of residence in house left by deceased father.—By custom among the Awans of (Mouzah Daiwal), Tahsil Khushab, Shahpur district, daughters, even though married, of a deceased proprietor have a right of residence for their life-time in the house left by him. MUHAMMAD YAR v. MUSSAMUT PANAH BIBI, 72 P.R. 1880.

(6)—Wadhwan Cantonment in Kathiawar, plaintiff resident of, cannot be required to furnish security for costs under s. 380, Civ. Pro. Code.—The plaintiff, in this case, admittedly resided at Wadhwan in Kathiawar, and happened also to own certain immoveable properties within the limits of the Cantonment of Wadhwan. The summons requiring him to give security for costs under s. 380 of the Civ. Pro. Code, was discharged on the ground that the said Cantonment must be taken to be included in "British India" and to be within the limits of British India. TRICCAM PANACHAND v. THE BOMBAY BARODA AND CENTRAL INDIA RAILWAY COMPANY, 9 B. 244. [Diss., 21 C. 177.]

Place of—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 20, 2 Bom. L.R. 605.

Meaning of the term—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. V, rr. 9, 12, 17, O. IX, r. 13, 9 Ind. Cas. 189=15 C.W.N. 399.

See FOREIGN COURT, JUDGMENT OF, 20 M. 112=7 M.L.J. 76.

Hypothecation of house by father and son—Joint Hindu family—Decree on bond after father's death and sale in execution—Widow's right of—See HINDU LAW—DEBTS, A.W.N. 1887, 279.

Direction in husband's will regarding residence of widow in family house, how far binding—See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE, 14 B. 490.

Hindu Law—Widow directed by husband to reside in family—Residence elsewhere—Right to maintenance when affected—See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE, 15 B. 236.

See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE, 29 C. 557=6 C.W.N. 530, 4 B. 261.

Hindu widow—Right of residence in house belonging to husband's family—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, A.W.N. 1893, 198.

Residence—concluded.

Hindu widow—Right of widow to reside in a house once the property of her husband—Limitation of such right—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, A.W.N. 1893, 199.

Hindu widow—Right of residence in joint family house—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, A.W.N. 1894, 160.

Suit against Government—Or place of business of Government—See JURISDICTION—CAUSES OF JURISDICTION, 1 Hyde 37.

See JURISDICTION—CAUSES OF JURISDICTION, 1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 85, Marsh 64=1 Hay 132, 29 C. 509=6 C.W.N. 829.

Right to sell right of—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—GENERAL, 11 Ind. Cas. 285.

Temporary, is enough to give jurisdiction to a Court—See LETTERS PATENT, HIGH COURT, 1865—BOMBAY, cl. 12, 3 Bom. L.R. 291=25 B. 176.

See LUNATIC, 2 B.L.R. A.C. 246=11 W.R. 109.

Suit for restitution of conjugal rights—Stipulation as to—See RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS, 17 C. 670.

See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 2 M.H C. 304.

See ST. 11 AND 12 VIC. C. 21, s. 5, 1 B.L. R.O.C. 84.

See WILL—CONSTRUCTION, 20 C. 15.

Resistance to civil process.

See PENAL CODE, s. 186, 2 B.L.R.F.B. 21 =10 W.R. Cr. 43.

Of Small Cause Court—Jurisdiction to punish—See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 2 B.L.R. A.C. 188=11 W.R. 62.

Resistance to execution of decree.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 97, 103.

(1)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 224, 225, 227—Lands comprised in decree, obstruction to decree-holders getting possession—Procedure.—In course of execution of a decree, the decree-holder alleged that he was obstructed in getting possession of certain villages comprised in his decree, held, that it was the duty of the Court to make an enquiry under s. 227 of Act VIII of 1859 and, after such enquiry, to itself pass such order as it might deem proper under the circumstances. Where order has thus been passed for delivery over the property to the decree-holder either wholly or to any extent, possession should be given to the decree-holder under s. 224 or 225 as the case may be. The present case was consequently remanded to the Principal Sudder Ameen who was first to consider and determine whether possession was to be given under s. 224 or 225; if under the latter he must refer the decree-holder to the Collector; if, under the former, he should decide whether proclamation and affixing of notice were to be made in each village or otherwise, and, if necessary, he should then make the enquiry prescribed in s. 227. BROJO MOHUN SUTPUTTY v. SHOODI MONEE DABEE, 8 W R. 79.

Resistance to execution of decree—continued.

(2)—Act of VIII 1859, s. 229—Resisting execution of decree—Jurisdiction.—An application, complaining that the defendants having obtained a decree against a third party, were attempting unlawfully to interfere with plaintiff's possession was rejected by the Court of first instance. On appeal, the Judge decided that the application was entertainable under s. 229, Act VIII of 1859 and remanded the case for trial. The first Court then gave the plaintiff a decree, which the Subordinate Judge reversed on appeal. It was objected in special appeal that the proceedings were illegal. Held by Jackson, J., that the objection was not taken too late; that the plaintiff's claim could not be made under s. 229; and that the error was one which affected the jurisdiction of the Court of first instance to take summary cognizance of the case. Per Mitter, J.—The objection taken for the first time on special appeal did not affect the merits of the case or the jurisdiction of the Court. BUHAL SINGH CHOWDRY v. BEHARI LAL, 1 B.L R.A.C. 206=10 W.R. 318. [R, 14 A. 417=A.W.N. 1892, 51.]

(3)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 229—Claimant questioning legality of decree.—There is nothing to prevent a claimant from questioning the legality of the decree obtained by the decree holder against a judgment-debtor. MAHOMED ALI KHAN v. KALUNDAR ALI KHAN, 4 N.W.P. 81.

(4)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), ss. 229, 230—Suit under s. 230, Nature of.—The principle of the Full Bench Ruling reported in 13 W.R. 80 that a suit under s. 230, Act VIII of 1859, must be treated as an ordinary suit for recovery of property, and that the whole question of title between the parties ought to be gone into before it can be disposed of satisfactorily, is equally applicable to cases under s 229. MEER ABDOOR SOBHAN v. BRAHMA DEO NARAIN, 14 W.R. 140.

(5)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 229—Lakhiraj—Relinquishment by Zamindar—Possession.—Where the right, title and interest in a decree obtained by L, the purchaser of land described as lakheraj, against F who refuses to give possession, is purchased by T, and the land is intermediately relinquished to the zamindar by F, as if it was mal land, and the claim is investigated under s. 229 of Act VIII of 1859, held that the plaintiff is entitled to be put in possession of the land, and any question as to the nature of the tenure, or as to the terms on which he should hold it, or as to whether the land is mal or lakhiraj, and whether the tenant has any permanent transferable interest therein, must be decided in a suit brought by the zamindar. TALAB HOSSEIN KHAN v. GOOROO PERSHAD ROY, 20 W.R. 57.

Resistance to execution of decree—continued.

(6)—Sale of tenure for arrears of rent—Execution of decree against tenure Limitation pleaded by purchaser not party to decree—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 229, 230.—A purchaser of an under-tenure sold for arrears of rent is not entitled to contend, against a decree-holder seeking to execute his decree against the under-tenure, that execution of the decree was barred by limitation, as he is not a party to the suit. He can only be heard as provided by s. 229 or s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859. If the case comes within s. 229, a very wide discretion is allowed to the Court by the concluding words of that section which enable the Court to investigate the claim as if a suit for the property had been instituted by the decree-holder against the claimant, and to pass such order for staying execution of the decree, or executing the same, as it may deem proper. MOHESH CHUNDER BANERJEE v. CHUNDER MONEE DEBIA, 9 W.R. 486. [F., 16 W.R. 29.]

(7)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 229, if applicable to execution taken after Act on decree passed before it.—Where a decree has been passed before the enactment of Act VIII of 1859, but the execution of it taken out after the Act came into operation, the procedure to be followed is that prescribed by s. 229 of the Act. Under the provisions of s. 229, the objector could not be deemed to be only an intervenor but should be regarded as a substantial party to the suit maintainable under that section and therefore, from any order passed by the executing Court in favour of such person an appeal can be preferred. MAHARAJAH DHIRAJ MAHTAB CHAND BAHADOOR v. NADUROONISSA BEEBEE, 4 W.R. 82.

(8)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 331, *power of Court to go into questions of title on investigation under—Enquiry not limited to questions regarding possession—*Forum of appeal from order under section.—The intention of the Legislature in having altered s. 331 of the Code of 1877, into its form in the corresponding section as enacted in the Code of 1882 was clearly to enlarge the powers of the Courts in the investigation of claims under the section. In such an investigation it is competent to the Court, under the Code of 1882, to finally determine any question of title arising between the contending parties in connection with their right of possession, and the enquiry is not to be confined to mere possession. The order made under the section, whether for executing or staying execution, has the force of a decree determining the title as well as the right to possession, and it is not intended that the plaintiff should be driven to a fresh suit, or should have the right to bring a fresh suit if the decree is against him; since it would be vexatious to require two suits to be brought between the same parties when the real questions at issue between them might be determinable at one trial. MOULAKHAN v. GORIKHAN, 14 B. 627. [F., 27 A. 453=2 A.L.J. 132=A.W.N. 1905, 50; R., 22 B. 967, 25 B. 478, 11 C.L.J. 478=5 Ind. Cas. 573; Expl. & D., 27 B. 302.]

Resistance to execution of decree—continued.

(9)—Decree under Act XIV of 1859, s. 15—Application under s. 230, Act VIII of 1859—Stamp.—The defendants had obtained a decree against one U, in a suit under s. 15, Act XIV of 1859, in execution of which they dispossessed the plaintiffs of certain land. The plaintiffs who were no parties to that suit made an application under s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859 to recover possession of the land. The application did not bear the stamp necessary for the institution of the suit. It was numbered and registered as a suit between the applicants as plaintiffs and the decree-holders as defendants. Held that the plaintiffs were entitled to apply under s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859, the order passed by the Court in a suit under s. 15, Act XIV of 1859, being a decree, and that the application need not be stamped as for a regular suit. It is most reasonable that when a man is turned out of rightful possession under a decree of Court against another person, he should not have to pay stamp duty in order to get back his land again. BHAHMA MAYI DEBI v. BARKAT SIRDAR, 4 B.L.R. F.B. 94=12 W.R. F.B. 25.

(10)—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15—Decrees in possessory actions, s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859 not applicable to—Executions in regular suits.—S. 230 of Act VIII of 1859 does not refer to decrees obtained in possessory actions but to executions in regular suits where judgments have been pronounced on the merits, and it cannot be introduced into a case determined under s. 15 of Act XIV of 1859. GOBIND CHUNDER BAGDEE v. GOBIND GHOSE MUNDUL, 7 W.R. 171.

(11)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Objection of party dispossessed in execution of decree, not to be registered as suit.—S. 230 of Act VIII of 1859 does not authorise the registry of objections of defendants, but only of persons other than defendants. The objector in the present case was however a purchaser from the defendant after the passing of the decree in favour of the special appellant, and such objector was in no better position than the defendant himself and was not therefore entitled to the benefit of the said section as a third party. HURO PERSHAD ROY CANOONGOE v. RAM LOCHUN MUNDUL, 6 W.R. 148.

(12)—Land taken in execution of decree, person claiming right of way over, not competent to intervene under s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859—Right to be established only by regular suit.—In this suit, plaintiff sought for a declaration of his right of way over the land of the defendant who had obtained possession of it in execution of a decree. The plaintiff intervened in a previous execution case to prevent the defendant from taking possession, and the case as between them, had been tried under s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859. The High Court held that the plaintiff could not intervene under the section, and the proceedings in the execution case were therefore null and void. The plaintiff, if he desired to establish a right of way, should bring a regular suit for the purpose. NOBIN CHUNDER MOJOOMDAR v. JATADHAREE HOLDAR, 2 W.R. 289.

Resistance to execution of decree—continued.

(13)—Month—British Calendar Month—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230.—The word "month" has not been defined in the Civ. Pro. Code, but, in the Regulations which were superseded by that Code, it had always been interpreted to mean a calendar month. There is no indication that the Indian Legislature, when it passed Act VIII of 1859, intended to use the word in any other sense than that which had been generally applied to it in India, previous to the passing of the Act. The words in s. 230, "he may apply to the Court within one month from the date of such dispossession," give to the applicant a clear month, computed according to the British Calendar, exclusive of the day on which he was dispossessed, in which to make his application. DADU Valad ANSAR SAHEB v. BALGOUDA Bin SHANKARAPPA, 5 B.H.C. A.C. 39. [R., 2 B. 673.]

(14)—Decree—Execution—Claim—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, ss. 226, 230.—Where a decree-holder took out execution of his decree by proceeding against certain property as belonging to his judgment-debtor, and a third party presented a petition to the Court, alleging that he was in possession of that property, and that the judgment-debtor had no title thereto, an order passed by the Court that the application must remain in the Serishta, the decree-holder having given a receipt for possession, was held to amount to no order at all. Held further, that it was only on an application from the decree-holder under s. 226 of the Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859) that the Court could be put in motion under that section, and that the High Court could not interfere as the third party had made no application under s. 230, although the lower Court ought to have proceeded to investigate the matter in dispute if he had made such application. In the matter of BIBEE MAHTAB KOOMAREE, 19 W.R. 62.

(15)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, ss. 224, 229—Land in occupancy of ryot—Person put in possession of such land—Interference with his proprietary acts—Whether his claim giving him new cause of action is barred by limitation.—The provisions of s. 229, Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, are not applicable to the case of a person put in possession of land under a decree in the manner prescribed by s. 224, nor do those provisions bar his suit against those persons who have interfered with his proprietary acts, as such interference would constitute a new cause of action. GUNESH PERSHAD v. JYKISHUN, 1 N.W.P. 218.

(16)—Ameen giving possession of disputed land in execution of decree—Objection.—Where, in execution of a decree, an Ameen was ordered to deliver possession, objections under s. 230, Act VIII of 1859, should be made within one month from the date on which the Ameen measured the lands and delivered possession to the party. KASHEENATH DOSS v. BHOWANEE DOSSEE, W.R. 1864, Mis. 18.

(17)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Personal occupation—Possession by receipt of rent.—Possession by receipt and enjoyment of rent is as good in law as actual occupation, and there is no reason for holding that the provisions of s. 230, Act VIII of 1859, apply to those cases only in which the party seeking for relief under that section is in personal occupation. BHYRUB SIRCAR v. SHAM MANJEE, 15 W.R. 70. [F., 33 C. 487=3 C.L.J. 295; Expl., 3 Bom. L.R. 58=25 B. 178; R., 22 B. 967.]

(18)—Objection under s. 230, Act VIII of 1859.—An objector, not in possession either "on his own account" or "on account of some person other than the defendant," who intervenes as holding a bona fide title derived from the defendant cannot be heard under s. 230, Act VIII, of 1859. EUSUF ALI KHAN v. SHIB SHUNKUR SUHAYE, W.R. 1864, 384.

(19)—Mortgage—Adverse possession—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230.—A mortgagee's possession is not adverse to the mortgagor, and possession through a mortgagee is sufficient possession for the purpose of bringing a claim under Act VIII of 1859, s. 230. ASGUR ALI v. ASGUR ALI, 20 W.R. 373. [F., 3 C.L.J. 293=33 C. 487; R., 24 W.R. 447, 3 Bom. L.R. 58=25 B. 478.]

(20)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Nature of proceedings—Right of party dispossessed to take advantage.—A cause under s. 230 Act VIII of 1859 had to be treated in all respects as a regular suit. It could not be laid down as an absolute rule, without restriction, that a person who parted with the actual occupation of land to another might not take advantage of the section. BANEE MADHUB DUTT v. NUND LALL MOOJOOMDAR, 22 W.R. 123. [F., 33 C. 487=3 C.L.J. 293; R., 25 B. 478.]

(21)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Dispossession—Petition for possession—Stamp—Regular plaint.—The terms of s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859 provide that a party who shall have proved himself to have been in possession of the lands in suit, and to have been dispossessed by another party, alleging that the land formed part of land decreed to him, can come in by means of a petition, and have his case tried in like manner as if he had paid full stamp duty on a regular plaint. NEEL MADHUB DUTT v. RADHA MOHUN, 3 W.R. 205.

(22)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230, application under—Dispossession—Cause of action—Jurisdiction.—The conditions precedent to the success of any application or to the exercise of jurisdiction under the provisions of s. 230 of the Civ. Pro. Code are, firstly, as the law declares, that the applicant shall have been dispossessed; secondly, that he shall dispute the right to dispossess him; and, thirdly, that, on examination held, he can show probable cause for making the application. KALEE NARAIN SINGH v. PROTAB CHUNDER BURROOAH, 12 W.R. 231. (8 W.R. 177, D.)

Resistance to execution of decree—continued.

(23)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Execution—Dispossession—Procedure.—When an application is made by a party on the ground that he was in possession, and that he has been dispossessed in execution of a decree in a suit in which he was not a party, the proper order that should be made under s. 230 of the Code in the first instance, is to examine the applicant. OBHOY CHURN DEY v. RAJENDRO COOMAR GHOSE, 16 W.R. 288.

(24)—Civ.Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Execution—Application by party dispossessed—Effect of attachment without dispossession.—A person who is actually dispossessed of lands under colour of a decree against a third party, to which he (the person dispossessed was not a party), is entitled to an investigation of his title under s. 230, Civ. Pro. Code, and if his title is established the Court is bound to give him a decree. Where, however, the lands are merely attached by the judgment-creditor, there is no cause of action under the provisions of that section. HASSUN ALI v. NEIB AHMED, 11 W.R. 146.

(25)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Execution—Dispossession under decree — Claim by third party—Bona fides.— If there are reasonable grounds for thinking that the claim of a party complaining, under s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859, of having been dispossessed in execution of a decree to which he was not a party, is bona fide, it is the duty of the Court to treat the case as a regular suit between the claimant as plaintiff and the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor as defendants, the application being numbered and registered as a suit. LULEET NARAIN GOSSAMEE v. KESHUB DEB GOSSAMEE, 15 W.R. 209.

(26)—Execution of decree—Objection by purchaser of property—Failure of Court to proceed under s. 230, Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859.—The plaintiffs who had been decreed possession of some property as against some persons proceeded to execute their decree. The defendant intervened and claimed the property by right of purchase. The Court of first instance instead of proceeding under s. 230, Civ. Pro. Code, cancelled its former order which was in favour of the plaintiffs. The lower appellate Court after first refusing to entertain an appeal against such order, entertained a review of its order and admitted the appeal. Held, on special appeal by the defendant, that the proceedings of the lower appellate Court were void as being without jurisdiction, and that the Court of first instance ought either to have dismissed the defendant's application or to have numbered and registered it as a suit. SAHOO GOKUL PERSHAD v. MUSSUMUT ZYNUB, 1 N.W.P. 255.

(27)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Objection to execution taking shape of suit— Question for determination — Possession as dur-putneedar.

Resistance to execution of decree—continued.

—When an objection is preferred, and takes the shape of a suit under s. 230 of the Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), the question to be tried really is whether the objector has a better right to the possession of the property in dispute than the decree-holder who is executing his decree. It is quite possible that the objector should be entitled to hold as dur-putneedar and yet that he should not be entitled to khas possession. SHEERO KOOMAREE DEBIA v. KISSUB CHUNDER BOSE, 5 W.R. 224 = 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 188.

(28)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Application registered as suit—Question for decision—Possession—Title—Finality of decision.—When an application under s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859 has been registered as a suit, the Courts are bound to investigate that suit as if it were an ordinary regular suit brought by the applicant in the Civil Court, and to try, not only the question of possession but also the question of title, and the decision is a final and complete decision both for possession and title. MUSSAMUT EHSAN KHATOON v. RAMNATH SEIN LUSHKUR, 15 W.R. 327.

(29)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Dispossession—Suit for possession—Question of title.—In a suit brought by a dispossessed person under s. 230 of Act VIII of 1859, the plaintiff must prove his possession ; and the question of title also should be enquired into. NUGENDUR CHUNDER GHOSE v. RAMCOMUL MUNDUL, 3 W.R. 213.

(30)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Plurality of claimants—Proper procedure—Dispossession.—Where a number of applications are made under s. 230, Act VIII of 1859, and several applicants claim possession of the same property, the question between each claimant and the decree-holder should be tried by itself. If the claimant was in possession, though without a good title, he cannot be dispossessed in execution of a decree against a third party to which he was no party. On the other hand, if the party against whom the decree was obtained was in possession, though without a good title, no person not in actual possession or receipt of rent can resist the execution of the decree. SARADA MAYI CHOWDRAIN v. NABIN CHANDRA ROY CHOWDHRY, 2 B.L.R. A.C. 333 = 11 W.R. 255. (8 W.R. 477, R.)

(31)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230, decree under, establishing khas possession of dur-putneedar—Mokurrureedar seeking possession, to institute regular suit.—In this application for review the applicant was the mokurrureedar and the opposite party the dur-putneedar. It was contended by the applicant that, as he had obtained a decree extinguishing the dur-mokurruree tenure, he was entitled to khas possession paying the rent of the mokurruree to the dur-putneedar. But the High Court held that the contention was wrong. The dur-putneedar had been found to be in khas possession which he had held for a lengthened period. He could not be ousted, and if the mokurrureedar wished to obtain khas possession, he must sue for confirmation of his title as such and for direct possession. SHERO KUMAREE DEBEE v. KESHUB CHUNDER BOSE, 8 W.R. 131.

Resistance to execution of decree -continued.

(32)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 230—Execution—Claim—Original suit—Transfer of land from one jurisdiction to another—Duty of Court.—In a suit under s. 230 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, brought by an intervenor, the Court ought to determine all questions which arise on the intervenor's objections. It should not dismiss the decree-holder's claim and ask him to take out execution of his decree in some other Court to whose jurisdiction the villages, the possession of which is claimed under the decree, have, since the passing of the decree, been transferred. If, while the execution case was pending, the Court was deprived of jurisdiction, the Court should not dismiss the decree-holder's claim but should transfer the record to the Court to which jurisdiction is newly given. KALEE DOSS NEOGY v. HARONATH ROY CHOWDHRY, 3 W.R. 4.

(33)—Execution sale—Lands sold in execution of another decree—Suit by original decree-holder for possession—Putnee right.—Where a decree-holder, who was called upon to furnish security, delayed to do so, and the lands decreed were attached and sold in execution of a decree obtained by others who purchased the property and entered on possession, and the decree-holder subsequently sued for possession and obtained a decree, held, that the effect of the decree was to confirm the plaintiff in the position which he occupied at the time when the property was sold in execution of his original decree. Held, further, that the plaintiff was not entitled to khas possession, if a putnee right had been proclaimed in favour of a third person at the time of the original sale. SHARADA PERSHAD MULLICK v. ROY DHUNPUT SINGH BAHADUR, 19 W.R. 219.

(34)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, ss. 264, 269—Delivery of possession—Subsequent obstruction.—Delivery of possession is complete as soon as the steps prescribed by s. 264, Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, have been taken, and any subsequent act on the part of the claimant to the land will not be resistance or obstruction to the delivery of possession referred to in s. 269, but will be altogether a new disturbance which may very well give the auction-purchaser a cause of action against the person who commits it, but can in no way give a right to the Court to interfere in the summary way laid down in s. 269. All that is intended by s. 269 is to give power to the Court to carry out proceedings in execution to a determination, and as soon as possession is delivered in the manner prescribed by s. 264, the proceedings terminate. SYED WAJED HOSSEIN v. MOULVEE ABDOOL KADIR, 13 W.R. 418. [D., 18 W.R. 87.]

(35)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 269—Suit for possession—Plaintiff not in actual possession.—Plaintiff who had obtained an order for possession of property under an award under s. 269 of the Civ. Pro. Code, without getting actual possession of the same, sued for possession and got a modified decree, which however was given entirely in his favour on appeal to the lower appellate Court. Held that, in the absence of dispossession, the provisions of s. 269 of the Civ. Pro. Code, were not applicable, as they expressly refer only to cases of dispossession, and that if the plaintiff succeeded in proving the right, title and interest of his predecessor in title, then only would the defendant have to rebut that case by proving his own title. SUDARAM MAJEE v. MIRTUNJOY DEY, 12 W.R. 509.

(36)—Suit by auction-purchaser—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 269—Procedure.—On attachment of a house of which the defendant was in possession, with a view to sale in execution of a decree, the defendant objected, but his objection was overruled and the rights and interests of the judgment-debtor were purchased by the plaintiff who brought a suit to recover possession of the house; held that it was not obligatory on the plaintiff-purchaser, when resisted in obtaining possession, to complain in the manner contemplated in s. 269. It was open to him to proceed at once by a regular suit against the person in possession of the property purchased by him. MADAREE v. BULLOO KOOEREE, 2 N.W.P. 450.

(37)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 269—Inquiry—Circumstances of the case taken into consideration.—If a Court looks into the circumstances of a case with reference to the relative rights of the parties, and considers that under those circumstances, it is not bound to refuse to the execution-purchaser possession of what he has purchased, the Court must be deemed to have made precisely the kind of inquiry contemplated by s. 269, Act VIII of 1859. HURO PERSHAD ROY CHOWDHRY v. RAMESSUR MISSRY MAHIA, 24 W.R. 461.

(38)—Limitation—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 269—Summary order—Possession—Necessity for suit.—The words "suit to establish his right" in s. 269 of the Civ. Pro. Code, mean a suit to establish his right to present possession. It is only where the summary order under s. 269 of the old Code (=s. 335 of the Code of 1882=O. XXI, r. 103 of the Code of 1908), was inconsistent with the defeated party's claim, that the latter was bound to bring a suit within one year; otherwise, not. RANGO VITHAL v. RIKHIVADAS bin RAYACHAND, 11 B.H.C. 174. [R., 9 B. 35, 14 B. 627, 22 B. 640.]

(39)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 269 & s. 268—Scope of.—A person who does not come within one month of the date of dispossession, has under s. 269, Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, no locus standi in Court. The object of s. 268 was for the benefit of purchasers only, and no person has any ground to come in under the appellation of a purchaser except the party who is complained of as resisting or obstructing the purchaser in obtaining possession. HEERA LALL BANERJEE v. RAJAH BURODA KANT ROY, 13 W.R. 466.

Resistance to execution of decree—concluded.

(40)—Question inter partes, order of Court relating to, appealable under s. 11 of Act XXIII of 1861—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 226, 227—Proof as to possession of land other than plaint lands.—An order of the Court with regard to a question between the parties to the suit arising in execution of the decree is appealable by reason of its coming under s.11 of Act XXIII of 1861. In order to bring a case under ss. 226 and 227 of the Civ. Pro. Code, it is necessary to show that obstruction has been offered and that such obstruction has arisen from the circumstance that some lands of which possession was taken are not included in the plaint. PRANNATH ROY CHOWDHRY v. PREONATH ROY CHOWDHRY, 8 W.R. 398.

Res Judicata.

1.—GENERAL.
2.—ADJUDICATIONS.
3.—CAUSE OF ACTION.
4.—COMPETENCY OF COURT.
5.—ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT.
6.—JUDGMENTS ON PRELIMINARY POINTS, EFFECT OF.
7.—MATTERS IN ISSUE.
8.—PARTIES.
9.—RELIEF NOT GRANTED.
10.—RES JUDICATA IN EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS.
11.—MISCELLANEOUS.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 11.
See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2.
See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT.

——1.—General.

(1)—Principle of — Scope.—The application of the principle of res judicata discussed. KUNHUNNI v. SRIVALLABHAN, 11 M.L.J. 10, F.B.

(2)—Res judicata as rule of procedure—Res judicata if part of law of evidence.—The principles of the law of res judicata as a matter of procedure, and of the law of estoppel as a matter of evidence, were in this case explained and distinguished by Mahmood, J. SITA RAM v. AMIR BEGAM, 8 A. 324=A.W.N. 1885, 101.

(3)—Civ. Pro. Code (1908), s. 11—Res judicata—Object of doctrine—Cross suits— Appeal from decision in one suit only.—The main object of the doctrine of res judicata is to prevent multiplicity of suits and interminable disputes between litigants. The rule of res judicata is not limited to the Courts of first instance, but it applies equally to the procedure of the first and second Appellate Courts and indeed even to miscellaneous proceedings. The doctrine, so far as it relates to prohibiting the re-trial of an issue, refers not to the date of the commencement of the litigation, but to the time when the Judge decides the issue. (11 A. 148, 33 A. 51, 7 A L.J. 861, 7 Ind. Cas. 156, F.) Where there are two cross-suits and a certain issue is common to both suits and no appeal is brought against the decision in the one suit, the finding on the issue cannot be attacked in an appeal from the decision in the other suit. A decision on a point which is not substantially in issue in a suit cannot operate as res judicata in any later suit in which it may be substantially in issue. RAMAN CHETTY v. MUTUVEERAPPA CHETTY, 6 L.B.R. 93=5 Bur. L.T. 199=17 Ind. Cas. 850.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(4)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Plea of—Requisites.—For a successful plea of res judicata, under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, three things should concur—viz., the parties should be the same or their representatives; the subject-matter of the suit should be the same; and the cause of action the same. MAHARAJ SING v. MUSSAMUT BEELA KOER, W.R. 1864, 320.

(5)—Res judicata— Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expls. I and II.—To assert the plea of res judicata successfully, a defendant must show not only that the matter in issue has been in issue in a former suit, between the same parties, in a competent Court, but also that the matter so in issue was heard and finally decided by the Court. A right or title, to be barred by such a plea, must, moreover, have been alleged and denied (Expl. I, s. 13) in the former suit, or it must have been a matter which might and ought (Expl. II) to have been made the ground of attack or defence in the former suit. Therefore the dismissal of a suit for pre-emption of a share of an estate on the ground of the plaintiff being in possession of the remaining share, would not bar a subsequent suit for the invalidation of the deed of sale as against the plaintiff as reversioner after the Hindu widow who executed it, where the plaintiff's right of inheritance to her deceased husband was asserted in the former suit, but not decided. SHEO RATAN SINGH v. SHEO SAHAI MISR, 6 A. 358 =A.W.N. 1884, 115. [R., 14 B. 31, 28 B. 338.]

(6 & 7)—Res judicata—Previous suit—Claim which might and ought to have been included.—In order to constitute a res judicata with regard to a plaintiff's claim, it must have been raised by a previous suit in a Court competent to entertain it, and must have been determined by the judgment of the Court in that suit; or, if it never has been expressly raised in a previous suit, it must be such as the plaintiff might and ought to have combined with the claim which was actually made and decided in such suit, if he ever intended to avail himself of it. CHUNDER SHAKUR DEB ROY v. DOORGENDRO DEB, 3 W.R. 39. (10 Jur. N.S. 366, R.) [Expl., 13 W.R. 129; R., 8 W.R. 175=2 Ind. Jur. N.S. 264.]

(8)—Whether it bars any proceedings by general principle or only by special enactment—Dismissal of first application for maintenance—Whether it is a bar to second application on same facts— Where substantial justice has been done by the lower Court—Whether High Court will interfere in revision— Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13, Crim. Pro. Code (Act V of 1898), s. 403.—The parties were husband and wife, living apart. The respondent applied to the Sub-Divisional Magistrate for an order for the applicant to pay an allowance for the support of their child. The Magistrate wrote "Respondent offers to maintain the complainant in a separate house, but she refuses to accept the offer. She alleges no ill-treatment. I have consequently no power to interfere. Case dismissed." This Magistrate was transferred, and the respondent subsequently applied to his successor for an order of maintenance for the child. The case was duly heard and an order made to pay Rs. 5 per month. Held, on appeal, that res judicata does not bar any proceedings by general principle but only by special enactment, as contained in s.13 of the Civ.Pro.Code, and s.403 of the Crim.Pro.Code. Held also that, where a Magistrate, to whom an application is made, knows or has reason to believe that a similar application on the same facts has been adjudicated on, he ought not to act on the application without considering the previous decision, but that, when he does so, he is not wrong in law, nor are his proceedings bad and void, regardless of the merits. Where the second Magistrate has done substantial justice, it is a sufficient reason for refusing to interfere in revision MAUNG PO SO v. MA KYIN MI, 14 Bur. L.R. 259. (5 A. 224, D.)

Advocate General Court Jammu & Kashmir Srinagar

Res Judicata*—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(9)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11. new Code)—Res judicata—Cross-appeals—Finding in appeal first heard bars trial of same issue in second.—S. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, is not exhaustive on the law as to res judicata. The finding on an issue in an appeal first heard may be res judicata in an appeal between the same parties subsequently heard. Though s. 13 may not strictly apply to such a case, the general principles of res judicata would. RAM LAL v. CHHAB NATH, 12 A. 578=A.W.N. 1890, 184. (11 I.A. 37=6 A. 269, R.) [R., 16 A. 464; D., 19 B. 821.]

(10)—S. 13, Explns. 2 and 5, (Civ. Pro. Code, 1882), applicability of.—In order to make s. 13 applicable, it is not necessary that the matter of the subsequent suit should have been heard or have been finally decided by a competent Court in the former suit, when the case is one to which Expln. 2 applies; otherwise, the explanation would be meaningless. NGA CHIT MAUNG v. NGA PO KIN, U B.R. (1906), Civil Procedure, 46. (24 C. 711, 20 A. 110, 24 A. 429, 16 I.A. 107 P.C., R.)

(11)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Essentials of the rule of res judicata—"Competent jurisdiction"—"Heard and decided"—Prior decision of superior Court based on previous decision of inferior Court—Effect—Decision of Sadar Amin—Where the earlier suit was heard and decided by a mufti Sadar Amin, the pecuniary limit of whose jurisdiction would have precluded him from trying the present suit, his decision cannot operate as a bar to trying in the present suit the questions which he decided. The earlier suit should, if the decision is to be a bar to further proceedings, be tried by a Court which is competent to try the later suit. The rule is obviously enacted to save the jurisdiction of the superior Courts, to enable them to investigate questions when they arise in a suit of such value and importance that it is not entrusted to the inferior Court, even though these questions have been decided by the inferior Court in another proceeding of less value and importance—though between the same parties. S. 13 of the Code of 1882 in terms requires for the bar a hearing as well as a final decision by a Court competent to try the later suit. A decision of a superior Court in the second litigation, passed in accordance with an inferior Court's decision in a prior suit, cannot operate as res judicata in a third litigation which the original inferior Court would not be competent to try, by reason of the superior Court's decision in the second suit, the matter not being "heard and decided" in the second suit. The law of res judicata does not compel the Court trying the later suit to hold, without trial, that the decision in the earlier suit was correct; it merely estops the parties to the earlier suit and their privies from showing that it is incorrect. The Judge trying the later suit must give effect to the decision, but he is not bound to hold that it is right. VALESWARA IYER v. MUTHUKRISHNA IYER, 21 M.L.J. 57 =9 M.L.T. 288=9 Ind. Cas. 686.

Res Judicata*—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(12)—Res judicata, essentials of.—To conclude a plaintiff by a plea of res judicata, it is not sufficient to show that there was a former suit between the same parties for the same matter upon the same cause of action. It is necessary also to show that there was a decision, finally granting or withholding the relief sought. SAIKAPPA CHETTI v. RANI KULANDAPURI NACHIYAR, 3 M.H.C. 84. [R., 8 A. 282.]

(13)—S. 11(=s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882)—General principles — Constructive estoppel.—The conditions for the exclusion of jurisdiction on the ground of res judicata, are that the same identical matter, shall have come in question already in a Court of competent jurisdiction, that the matter shall have been controverted and that it shall have been finally decided. In cases of res judicata, the question to be considered is not whether the previous judgment was right but whether it did or did not finally decide the matter in issue. There is no such thing known to the law as constructive estoppel, and if there were it would not satisfy the requirements of s. 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882. PARSOTAM GIR v. NARABADA GIR, 1 Bom L.R. 700=26 I.A. 175=21 A. 505, P.C.=3 C.W.N. 517=7 Sar. 538. [D., 4 Bom. L.R. 25.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(14)—Res judicata—Obiter dictum.—An issue which is directly and substantially raised between the parties to a suit, and has been determined, cannot be re-opened whatever the formal decree may show. In a suit for the recovery of a money-bond and of an over-payment made to the defendant, the latter preferred a counter-claim, and thus opened up the dealings and accounts between the parties. The suit as brought was dismissed, the Court finding in favour of the counter-claim. Held in a subsequent suit for the recovery of the bond on payment of the counter-claim found due, that the defendant cannot claim to re-open the accounts. Held also that the remarks of a Division Bench of the High Court in the previous suit (the finding on the accounts having become final) to the effect that when the matter comes up again, the accounts between the parties must be taken again, were mere obiter dicta and cannot enable the defendant to re-open the accounts. MOHAN LAL v. RAM DIAL. 2 A. 843, F.B. [R., 7 A. 606, F.B. =A.W.N. 1885, 89=17 A. 174.]

(15)—Res judicata, principle of—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—The material point for deciding whether a matter is res judicata is, whether it was directly and substantially in issue between the same parties in a previous suit and was finally decided therein. If the issue had been clearly raised between the several parties to the suit and was adjudicated upon, it matters not that the parties were marshalled in the one case differently from the other. BISSORUP GOSSAMY v. GORACHAND GOSSAMY, 9 C. 120. (3 C. 146, F.) [F., 2 C.P.L.R. 52; Overruled, 12 C. 580, F.B.; Diss., 6 C.P.L.R. 87.]

(16)—Res judicata—Point not directly and substantially in issue—First suit to declare the land was exclusive property of plaintiff and not shamlat—Second suit for possession on the ground defendants are not khewatdars.—Held, that a point not directly and substantially in issue in the previous case is not res judicata in a subsequent suit relating to the same property between the same parties, particularly when it was neither put in issue nor decided in the former suit. On the first occasion, the plaintiffs, at the time of partition of shamlat land, sued for declaration that certain land was their exclusive property and not shamlat, and, therefore, was not liable for partition. Three of the defendants had pleaded that the land was shamlat and as khewatdars they were entitled to get its share. It was then decided that the land was shamlat and consequently the plaintiffs' suit was dismissed. But the question whether the defendants were khewatdars in the village was not touched. After partition, the same persons who were plaintiffs on the previous occasion sued for recovering the land allotted to defendants, on the ground that they were not khewatdars and consequently they were not entitled to get a share therein. The question for decision now is whether defendants are khewatdars. Held that the present suit was not res judicata. JAN KHAN v. AHMAD, 24 P.W.R. 1912=134 P.L.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 445.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(17)—Rent suit—Plea of title of third party—Defendant claiming title in himself adversely to plaintiff—Test of res judicata, what is—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13.—When the title of a third party is pleaded by the defendant in a rent suit and that third party is not a party to the suit, the question of title is not res judicata. When, however, the defendant in a rent suit claims a title in himself adversely to the plaintiff and there is no question as to the controversy in the subsequent title suit, being between the same parties, the matter is not quite free from difficulty (15 C. 756, 25 C. 136, 11 C. 301, 6 C.W.N. 66, 10 C.W.N. 820, 9 C.L.J. 493, 4 Ind. Cas. 175, R.) The test of res judicata in cases of this kind is whether issue of title was directly and substantially raised in the rent suit. The plaintiff brought a rent suit, and the defendant denied that the lands were mal lands of the plaintiff and asserted that they were his lakheraj. The Court held that the lands were not the mal lands of the plaintiff but the lakheraj of the defendant, and that no relationship of landlord and tenant was made out, and the suit was dismissed. The plaintiff brought a title suit for a declaration of his mal rights and for eviction of the defendant for having denied the title of plaintiff: Held, that the question whether the land was the mal land of the plaintiff was res judicata and the suit must fail on this ground. As soon as the relationship of landlord and tenant is found to be wanting, the defendant become a trespasser and the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act are no longer applicable. RAM CHANDRA ROY v. GIRISH CHANDRA, 7 Ind. Cas. 15.

(18)—Suit for rent for one Fasli—Objection by defendant as to extent—Suit for rent for subsequent Fasli—Principle—Certainty.— A tenant is entitled to have the question of the real extent of land in his possession during the respective Faslis, ascertained and determined; and this would have to be done even if in the previous suit it had been found as a fact that the tenant was in possession of the whole extent alleged in the plaint, for, such a finding relating as it did to the occupancy during the Faslis then in question could not of course affect the matter of possession in any succeeding year.—It is undoubtedly settled law that a judgment of a Court of competent jurisdiction upon a question directly involved in one suit is conclusive as to that question in another suit between the same parties. But to this operation of the judgment it must appear either upon the face of the record or be shown by extrinsic evidence that the precise question was raised and determined in the former suit. If there be any uncertainty (for certainty is an essential element of estoppel) on this head in the record, the whole subject-matter of the action will be at large and open to a new contention, unless this uncertainty be removed by extrinsic evidence showing the precise point involved and determined (Russel v. Place, 94 U.S. 606, R.). Where the first Court based its decision upon one ground and the second Court upon different and inconsistent grounds, and the third Court simply affirmed the decision of both the Courts, the decision was uncertain and it would be impossible to say what was exactly decided. VYTHILINGA MUDALIAR v RAMACHANDRA NAICKAR, 14 M L.J. 379. [R., 15 M.L.J. 7.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(19)—Res judicata—Absence of issue.—The decision in a previous suit that certain alienations were not binding on the plaintiff will not constitute the question, e.g., whether such alienations were bogus transactions, res judicata in a subsequent suit between the plaintiff and the alienee. A mere assertion by the plaintiff in the former suit that the transfers were nominal cannot, in the absence of an issue on that point, be treated as evidence on that question. RAYI KRISHNAYYA v. GANGA BAI, M.W.N. 1912, 380=15 Ind. Cas. 357.

(20)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata.—It is necessary, in order to consider whether a case comes within s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, to look, not only at the previous decree which is set up as a bar to a subsequent claim, but to see what were the questions raised, or what might or ought to have been raised by the parties, which, if raised, the Judge would necessarily be presumed to have decided affirmatively or negatively in order to justify the decree made by him. To do this it would be necessary to look at the pleadings and the judgment. CHAMPA KUAR v. MINA MAL, A.W.N. 1887, 1.

(21)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—Res judicata, basis of—Identity of title, not identity of subject-matter.—It is the identity of title, and not the identity of subject-matter of the suit, on which the doctrine of res judicata is based (24 A. 112, F.; 17 A. 174, D.) The lands in dispute in the previous and subsequent suits were parts of the same area. In the previous suit, the plaintiff had claimed the ownership of the part then in dispute, on the basis of a sale certificate in his favour. The Court gave him a decree for possession of that part, holding that he was the owner in possession of the whole area comprised in the sale certificate. Without such a finding, a decree for possession of the then disputed part could not have been given to the plaintiff. Held, in the subsequent suit relating to the remaining portion of the same area, that, as the decision as to the ownership of the entire area covered by the sale certificate was material and essential in the previous suit, that decision operated as res judicata as regards the plaintiff's title to the part of the area in dispute in the subsequent suit. PANDIT RAM KRISHNA v. SHIAM CHAND, 5 Ind. Cas. 278.

Res Judicata—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(22)—Res judicata, principle of—Applicability under the Civ. Pro. Code of 1859 and 1877—Res judicata, examples of case not constituting—"Concurrent Jurisdiction," meaning of.—The proposition, that the decision in a suit, in order to be final and conclusive, as res judicata, upon an issue raised in another suit, must be the decision of a Court, which would have had jurisdiction to decide the question raised in the subsequent suit, in which the prior decision is given in evidence as conclusive, [which was stated in 8 W.R. 175, F. B., and affirmed in 9 C. 439 P. C.=9 I.A. 197] is applicable equally to cases under s. 2 of the Civ. Pro. Code of 1859 and to those under the more complete s. 13 of the Code of 1877. [F., 14 M.L.J. 281, 12 C.W.N. 359=35 C. 353=7 C.L.J. 470; R., 12 A. 1, F.B., 23 C. 693, 5 C.L.J. 611=36 C. 193.] "Concurrent jurisdiction" means "Concurrent as regards pecuniary limit as well as the subject matter." [F., 23 C. 415, 3 C.W.N. 202, 170 P.L.R. 1901=68 P.R. 1901, 29 M. 65; R., 9 B. 75, 14 B. 206, 18 A. 59, 25 C. 571, 24 B. 456.] Where the issue in a suit (in a Sub-Court) by a Hindu, for the recovery of property against his deceased brother's widow, on the ground of survivorship, was whether, at the brother's death, the property was joint or separate, held, neither an order under Act XXVII of 1860 granting a certificate to the widow (the proceeding being one of representation and not otherwise of title), nor a decision of the same issue in a Munsiff's Court in a rent suit by the widow, the brother having been made a defendant therein on his own application under s. 73 of the Code of 1859, would constitute it res judicata in the widow's favour. (1 C. 144, P.C. =2 I.A. 283, Followed.) [F., 9 C. L. J. 493.] Where a decree was based, not upon certain findings, but in spite of them, those findings could not be subsequently held to be conclusive against a party. RUN BAHADUR SINGH v. LUCHEO KOER, 11 C. 301, P.C.=12 I.A. 23=4 Sar. 602. (On appeal from 6 C. 406). [F., 7 C.P.L R. 139, 24 C. 569, 5 C.W.N. 80=28 C. 122; Appl., 10 C.W.N. 820; Rel. on., 18 C. 647; Cons., 25 C. 136; R., 13 C. 17, 14 B. 206, 18 B. 597, 17 A. 174=15 A.W.N. 47, 11 C.P.L.R. 150, 24 C. 900, 24 C. 908, F.B., 19 A.W.N. 182, 9 C.W.N. 60, 7 O.C. 122, 56 P.R. 1904=84 P.L.R. 1904.]

(23)—Res judicata—Law under the successive Codes (1877 and 1882)—S. 13, Expl. 2, Act XIV of 1882, Civ. Pro. Code—Dissimilar matters—Grounds of attack or defence—"Ought" in Expl. 2, s. 13, construction of—Arrangement between widow and reversioner—Suit by creditor against reversioner.—The Acts of 1877 and 1882 (Civ. Pro. Code), were not introducing any new law, but were only putting into the form of a Code that which was the state of law at the time. The state of the law at the time was that persons should not be harrassed by continuous litigation about the same subject-matter. [Expl., 13 M.L.J. 439; R., 25 M. 300, F.B., 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448.] Dissimilar matters, if their union does not lead to confusion, "ought to be united as grounds of attack or defence," but not otherwise. The question whether any matter ought to have been made a ground of attack or defence in a prior suit depends upon the particular facts of each case. Where matters are so dissimilar that their union might lead to confusion, the construction of the word "ought" would become important. A widow purporting to charge land held for her widow's estate, with payment of debt, surrendered afterwards her estate to the next heir, or reversioner, on condition of his paying all her debts, and a creditor after the widow's death, brought the present suit (which had been preceded by another suit, brought by him against the widow then alive, and the reversioner, the cause of action against the latter being that in his hands was the property chargeable, which was dismissed as against him, but decreed against the widow), in which payment was claimed from the reversioner of a balance of the deceased widow's debt, on the ground that he had agreed on taking the surrender of the estate from her to become responsible for her debts:—held, that this "might and ought to have been made ground of attack" in the former suit, within Expl. 2, s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, and must accordingly be deemed to have been directly and substantially in issue in the former suit, and therefore that the subsequent suit was barred. KAMESWER PARSHAD v. RAJ KUMARI RUTTAN KOER, 20 C. 79, P.C.=19 I.A. 234 =6 Sar. 241. [F., 26 M. 645; Expl, 25 B. 189, 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448, 13 M.L.J. 439; R., 21 M. 91, 19 A. 517=17 A.W.N. 143, 20 A. 81, 20 A. 516=18 A.W.N. 134, 26 B. 661, 31 C. 79; R., 25 M. 300, F.B., 27 M. 102, 6 Bom. L.R. 594, 27 A. 37, P.C., 2 N.L.R. 94, 5 C.L.J. 611=36 C. 193, 4 A.L.J. 675= A.W.N. 1907, 275, 12 C.W.N. 292, 35 C. 979= 12 C.W.N. 862=8 C.L.J. 82; D., 24 C. 83, 7 M.L.J. 288, 1 C.L. J. 248, 337, 55 P.R. 1907= 96 P.W.R. 1907= 65 P.L.R. 1908.]

Res Judicata —continued.

——1.—General —continued.

(24)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7 — Scope.—The bar, under s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859, applies to cases in which the plaintiff omits to seek relief in respect of a portion of a claim, and not to cases in which, though he may be entitled to claim more than one kind of relief, he seeks, for the time, one remedy only. Where the purchaser of certain lands, who was in a position to have sued for possession, sued at first only for a declaration of his title under the sale, held, in a subsequent suit by him for possession, that he was not barred. TULSI RAM v. GANGA RAM, 1 A. 252. [Appr., 8 C. 483, F.B.]

(25)—Conflicting decisions.—Where there are conflicting decisions regarding the subject-matter in dispute between the parties to the suit or their predecessors in interest, the latest of those decisions would override the earlier decisions and operate as res judicata. MALLU MAL v. JHAMMAN LALL, 1 A.L.J. 416.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(26)—Civ. Pro. Code (V of 1908), s. 11—Res judicata—Findings on two issues of facts—Decision of issue which should have been first found.—If there are two findings of fact either of which would justify in law the making of a decree, that one of such two findings of fact which should in the logical sequence of necessary issues have been first found, and the finding of which would have rendered the other of such two findings unnecessary for the making of the decree which was made, is the finding which can operate as res judicata. JIVA RAM v. KALYAN, 8 A.L.J. 409. (17 A. 174, F.).

(27)—Res judicata—Issue not material—Finding in prior suit—Subsequent suit—No bar.—A finding in a former suit, on a question not material to the decision of that suit, cannot operate as res-judicata and bar a subsequent suit. VASUDEVA MULLAYA v. THATHADI NARANAPPAYYA, 9 M L.T. 450=9 Ind. Cas. 787.

(28)—Court's power to dismiss suit at any stage on point of jurisdiction.—As a general rule, a Court cannot set aside any order passed by it of its own motion, but this rule does not apply to matters involving questions of jurisdiction, limitation, res judicata, etc., which take away jurisdiction. RANCHOD MORAR v. BEZANJI EDULJI, 20 B. 86.

(29)—Res judicata—Re-opening point already decided—Collusion.—The only possible ground on which a matter which has already been litigated out may be re-opened is that the first suit had been entirely mismanaged and had in fact been brought in collusion. NUGENDRO NATH MULLICK v. TRIPOORA CHURN BOSE, 24 W.R. 217.

(30)—Res judicata—Defence to plea of res judicata that the prior decree was obtained through fraud and collusion—Guardian and minor.—A plaintiff, to meet a plea of res judicata raised by the defendants, pleaded that the previous decree relied upon by the defendants, which had been made on an award in the course of a suit in which the plaintiff, then a minor, had been represented by his mother, as guardian appointed by the Court, had been obtained fraudulently and was not binding on him. Held, that the specific fraud attributed must be alleged and proved, and that such fraud must be fraud on both sides, i. e., on the part of the guardian and on the part of the present plaintiffs, then opponents. Mere negligence on the part of the guardian in protecting the minor's interests would not be sufficient to prevent the decree being binding on the minor. DAULAT SINGH v. RAGHUBIR SINGH, A.W.N. 1894, 141. [Expl., 23 A. 459; R., 10 O.C. 321.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(31)—Ss. 13 and 43—Applicability of sections.—S. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, applies only if the parties are the same, and s. 43 if the claims arise out of the same cause of action. PURSHOTTAM v. ATMARAM, 1 Bom. L. R. 76 =23 B 597. [R., 19 M.L.J. 102.]

(32)—Withdrawal of suit—Former suit—Withdrawal.—S. 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure does not apply where the former suit is withdrawn. DURDUNDYAPA v. MALHAR, 2 Bom. L. R. 871.

(33)—Res judicata—Plea not raised in lower Court—Whether can be raised in Court of revision.—The fact that the plaintiff did not set up the plea of res judicata in the lower Court does not preclude him from raising it in the Court of revision. SRIRAJAH VELUGOTI GOVINDA KRISHNA VACHENDRALUVARU BAHADUR, ZEMINDAR GARU OF VENKATAGIRI v. VADLAPUDI CHINNA VENKANNA, 7 M. L. T. 175=5 Ind. Cas. 925. (4 A. 69, F.)

(34)—Res judicata—Practice—Second appeal.—A plea of res judicata may be taken orally in second appeal, even though it is not entered on the memorandum of appeal, inasmuch as such a plea involves a question of jurisdiction which a Court is bound to entertain whenever such question comes to its notice. BRIJBASI RAI v. SHIVATAHLU RAI, A.W.N. 1891, 10.

(35)—Second appeal—Change of defence—Plea taken in second appeal which was repudiated in lower Courts.—A plea of res judicata on account of a consent-decree passed in a previous suit between the representatives of both the parties, could not be raised in second appeal, where the appellant had, in the lower Courts, impugned such previous decree as fraudulent and collusive. KHAIRAT ALI v. KISHEN, A.W. N. 1881, 117.

(36)—Res judicata—Plea raised first in second appeal—Court not bound to entertain plea if further findings of facts necessary.—The plea of res judicata may be raised for the first time in second appeal. (4 A. 69, A.W.N. 1898, 104, R.) But, the Court is not bound to entertain the plea, when it cannot be considered and determined upon the record as it stands and renders it necessary to remand the case for further findings of fact. KANAHAI LAL v. SURAJ KUNWAR, 21 A. 446=A.W.N. 1899, 164.

(37)—Practice—Appeal—Allowance of ground of appeal not taken in lower Courts—Res judicata.—In this appeal, the High Court allowed to be argued before it a ground of appeal raising a question of res judicata which had not been raised in either of the Courts below, and referred issues to the lower appellate Court to ascertain if such plea were well-founded. TEK NARAIN RAI v. DHONDH BAHDUR RAI, A.W.N. 1898, 104. (4 A. 69, R.) [R., 21 A 446.]

(38)—No demurrer by parties—Duty of Court.—When parties themselves do not demur to an action, it may be presumed that there is no ground for one, and it is not for the Court to raise or determine on grounds not appearing in the statement of the parties before it. KISHEN MOHUN NEOGEE v. KALEE DASS NEOGEE, W.R. 1864, 281.

(39)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13, Expl. II and 42—Suit by reversioner on one degree of relationship—Dismissal of suit—Subsequent suit for same relief on another kind of relationship—Subsequent suit, whether barred—Reversioner to state all kinds of relationship in one suit.—The plaintiff claimed certain properties as the reversionary heir of one M, basing that claim on the allegation that his father was taken in adoption as a son by M's divided brother. His claim was unsuccessful in the Court of first appeal, and in second appeal to the High Court, he asked permission to allege and prove a different claim as heir to M on another ground, that is to say, as being the grandson of M's sister. The High Court refused permission to do so in that suit and he now sought to do so by this separate suit:—Held that, as a plaintiff, who sued as reversioner, was bound by s. 42 to frame a suit in such a manner as to afford ground for a final decision as to his claim as reversioner and to prevent further litigation concerning it and as, in a suit to establish a claim as reversioner, that claim should be held to be the subject in dispute within the meaning of the section, the plaintiff in the former suit ought to have relied upon his descent from M's sister as well as upon the adoption, so that, if proof of the adoption failed, he might still establish his right as reversioner on the ground of this descent and prevent further litigation regarding it, and that, therefore, his subsequent suit was barred. MASILAMANIA PILLAI v. THIRUVENGADAM PILLAI, 31 M. 385. (26 M. 760 and 29 M. 153, F.; 3 M.H.C. 320, 7 M.H.C. 160, 11 B.L.R. 158, 2 C. 152, 20 C. 79, 25 C. 189, 22 C. 259, 27 M. 102, R.) [R., 12 O.C. 347.]

(40)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Decree without direction for sale of property—Orders for sale obtained in execution—Estoppel.—On applications by a decree-holder for sale in execution of his decree, a sale had been ordered in spite of the defendants' objections that the decree did not contain any direction for sale. Held, that the above orders, construing the decree as allowing a sale, estop the defendant from subsequently raising any contention inconsistent with those orders. ATMAKURU NARASAMMA v. ATMAKURU VENKATA NARASAYYA CHETTY, 15 M.L.J. 418.

(41)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Res judicata—Previous erroneous decision, no bar.—Suit for rent. Plaintiff claimed interest on the arrears of rent at 24 per cent. per annum on the basis of a stipulation in the kabuliyat executed by defendants, permanent-tenure-holders. The defence was that interest was not allowable at the rate claimed. They relied on a previous decision between the same parties, under which it had been decided that interest at 24 per cent. per annum was not allowable. That decision proceeded on a decision of the High Court in 3 C.W.N. 36=26 C. 130, which has since been overruled by a Full Bench decision in 5 C.W.N. 438=29 C. 674, which rules that s. 67 of the Bengal Tenancy Act does not control s.179, and that a contract for the higher rate of interest is enforcible. Held, the erroneous decision in the previous suit did not operate as res judicata and the plaintiff was entitled to claim interest at 24 per cent. per annum, the fact that the previous erroneous decision was altered not by statute but by judicial decision not making any difference. ALIMUNISSA CHOWDHRANI v. SHYAMA CHARAN ROY, 9 C.W.N. 466=32 C. 749=1 C.L.J. 176. [R., 9 O. C. 243, 30 M. 461 =17 M.L.J. 250, 44 P.R. 1908.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(42) — General principles of — Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882)—Ss. 244, 276—Re-opening questions already decided, if allowable. —Where a question has been tried and determined under s. 244, Civ. Pro. Code, it cannot be re-opened under s. 276, merely because the assignee from the judgment-debtor has been made a party. It is res judicata. The decision is binding not because of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, but under general principles of law. UMESH CHANDRA SINGH v. MADHU SUDAN KHAMKAT, 9 C.L J. 356=4 Ind. Cas.119. (6 A. 269, F.)

(43)—Compromise in previous suit—Subsequent litigation containing partly untenable claim—Effect—Evasion of bar of res judicata—Finality of previous decision—Appeal to Privy Council—Valuation of claim.—The valuation in the previous suit was less than Rs.10,000, and it was decided therein that a certain compromise between the parties was valid and binding. In the present suit between the same parties, the plaintiff inserted an untenable claim and thereby raised the valuation of the suit above Rs. 10,000, and also argued that the decision in the previous suit regarding the validity and binding character of the compromise did not bar the trial of the issue again in the present suit. Held, that the decision in the previous suit is final between the parties. VENKATA NARASIMHA APPA RAO v. NARASIMHA CHARYULU, 9 M.L.T. 89.

(44)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act X of 1877, ss. 13 and 43—Dismissal of previous suit, when and to what extent operates as bar by res judicata to maintenance of another suit—Splitting of claims.—B, father of the plaintiff, who was the mafidar of a village, had entered into private arrangement with his brother, the grandfather of the present defendant, whereby, in consideration of the brother assisting him in collecting the produce in kind from the proprietors, he was to be allowed a half-share of whatever remained from the proceeds of the sale of the produce, after deducting the Government revenue on the resumed portion of the mafi and the mafidar's own dues. In pursuance of the above arrangement, the produce had been stored, preparatory to division, but before any division was effected, the brothers died. Disputes then arose between their descendants, and the present plaintiff filed a suit in 1879, against the defendant ignoring the former agreement between his father and uncle and claiming possession of the entire grain. In that suit, the Court found that money was due to the plaintiff for the Government and mafidar's shares of the revenue but, as it was not clear whether any portion of such sum had already been paid by the defendant's grandfather, or what was the state of the accounts between the parties, it left it open to the plaintiff to bring a separate suit for this item. The plaintiff instituted the present suit for the revenue of certain harvests. The question was whether the present suit was barred with reference to the provisions of s. 13 and s. 43 of Act X of 1877, and it was held that though the decision in question must undoubtedly be held to be a res judicata controlling the right of the parties it cannot per se operate as a bar under s. 13 of the Code to the maintenance of another suit by the same plaintiff to enforce the said agreement. Nor again, as the plaintiff did not claim in his first plaint any relief with respect to the revenue and mafi charges, could the dismissal of his suit be deemed to be a refusal by the Court to grant any relief with respect thereto, within the meaning of Expl. III of s. 13. As to whether the present suit was barred under s. 43 of Act X of 1877, as amended by Act XXI of 1879, it was held that what the plaintiff claimed in the previous suit and what the defendant refused was the right to take possession of the entire quantity of grain. Such refusal on the part of the defendant did not create any infraction of the rights of the plaintiff under the terms of the agreement, and, had the plaintiff then sued upon the agreement, the defendant could have successfully pleaded that the suit was premature. The dismissal of the previous suit could not, therefore, be held to debar the plaintiff from subsequently suing to recover the revenue, when the defendant, by taking possession of his own half-share, of the produce without paying the revenue, or by refusing to permit the gross produce to be sold, committed a breach of the agreement whereby the plaintiff acquired a cause of action which was not in existence when the first suit was filed. The facts alleged in the second suit constituted a different cause of action from that which gave rise to the previous suit. The revenue for which the plaintiff subsequently sued did not become payable by the defendant till at least the defendant got possession of his half of the grain, for it was out of it that it had to be paid, and further it did not become payable till the whole of the grain was sold by the parties. The fact that the former suit was brought was therefore held to be no bar to the maintenance of the present suit, either under s. 13 or s. 43 of the

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

Civ. Pro. Code. SODHI HARNAM SINGH v. SODHI SUNDER SINGH, 168 P.R. 1882. (24 P.R. 1882, 90 P.R. 1881, R.)

(45)—Property subject of previous suit in Supreme Court—Plaintiff intervening by petition—Nature of order obtained not clear—Subsequent suit on same property—General demurrer as to res judicata.—Case where the Judicial Committee allowed to be raised a general demurrer, on the ground of the subject-matter of the suit being res judicata, against a suit brought in the Supreme Court of Bombay, by a party claiming certain property, which had been the subject of a previous suit in the same Court, in which the plaintiff had intervened by petition, and obtained some order, the nature or effect of which was neither stated, nor was apparent upon the record then before the Court. MUSADEE MAHOMED CAZUM SHERAZEE v. MEERZO ALLY MAHOMED SHOOSTRY, 5 M.I.A. 187=7 Moo. P.C. 382=1 Sar. 416.

(46)—Declaratory suit—Suit for possession—Appeals—Res judicata.—During the pendency of a suit for a declaration that the alienation by a sonless proprietor would not affect the plaintiff's reversionary interest, the said proprietor died and the plaintiffs brought a suit for possession. In both suits, the plaintiffs got a decree for some of the properties and, on appeal from both heard on the same date, it was confirmed. The plaintiffs appealed from the judgment in the possessory suit. Held, that the hearing of the appeal was barred by plaintiffs' omission to appeal from the decree in the declaratory suit. NUR MUHAMMAD v. JAMUN, 153 P.R. 1890.

(47)—Res judicata—Suit to enforce a document—Decision relating to the document in a former suit between the parties.—Where the suit was brought to enforce a document, which was held in a former suit to have no effectual binding power over the estate in question and not to affect it in any way as between the parties, held, that the suit was barred by the rule of res judicata. DURGA PRASAD LAHIRI CHOWDHURI v. SRIMATI SASHIBALA DEBI, M.W.N. 1912, 73, P.C.=9 A.L.J. 165=15 C.L.J. 180=14 Bom. L.R. 177=16 C.W.N. 603=14 Ind. Cas. 463.

(48)—Res judicata—Appeal against only one out of two decrees.—Where there have been two decrees passed by the Lower Appellate Court, and both of them require to be set aside in order to give the dissatisfied party the relief which he seeks, but a second appeal is filed against one decree only, held, that the decision, which has been allowed to become final, operates as res judicata in respect of the second appeal. WALIULLAH v. EZAZ ALI, 15 O.C. 22=13 Ind. Cas. 984.

(49)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 158—Dismissal of suit under this section, effect of—Gift of land out of holding to absentee relation—Whether shamilat included—Intention of parties—Status of full proprietor.—The dismissal of a suit under s. 158 of the old Civ. Pro. Code, operates as res judicata in respect of the right of the plaintiff to recover by any subsequent suit the property sued for in the first suit. The ancestors of the plaintiffs and defendants originally owned a joint holding in equal shares. The plaintiff's branch, however, remained absentees for a long time. Their suit to recover their half share of the holding and of shamilat was dismissed in 1891. In 1897 defendants voluntarily gifted about 29 bighas to the plaintiffs out of the original holding. This area constituted about 1/5 share of the whole holding. On subsequent partition of the shamilat land, the area falling to the share of the holding was allotted to defendants without giving plaintiffs, any share. Plaintiffs thereupon sued for possession of one-half share of the shamilat area allotted to defendants. Held (1), that plaintiffs were not entitled to one-half share, as their suit for the shamilat was dismissed in 1891; (2) that, in considering whether the gift to plaintiffs in 1897 included the corresponding share of shamilat, what the Court had to look to was the intention of the parties, and as the mutation proceedings showed that plaintiffs were restored to the position of full proprietors in respect of 1/5 share in the holding, they were entitled to 1/5 share in the shamilat allotted to the holding. MUHAMMAD v. MUSSAMMAT IMAM KHATUN, 25 P.L.R. 1912=37 P.W.R. 1912. (113 P.R. 1901, 34 P.L.R. 1902, D.)

(50)—Res judicata—Question of law, Decision on—Suit for possession of income of temple.—On the 9th January 1894, the plaintiff obtained a decree against the defendant for possession of a share of the income of a temple as mortgagee. Subsequently the plaintiff by the action of the defendant lost such possession as he had obtained under his decree. He then brought a suit in which he claimed possession of the same share alleging that there was still due to him a certain sum on his mortgage. The first Court decreed the claim. The Court of first appeal held that the question, whether the plaintiff was entitled to possession as against the defendant being a question of law, was not res judicata under the previous decree. Held, that the question was res judicata. The previous decree obtained by the plaintiff although passed ex parte was yet none the less final on that account and distinctly showed that the plaintiff was held to be entitled to possession of the share in dispute as mortgagee. It did not signify whether, in law, the decision embodied in the decree was right or was wrong. MANNI LAL v. BHAGWAN DAS, 5 O.C. 181. [R., 9 O.C. 243.]

(51)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 206—Decree not in accordance with judgment—Clerical mistake—Application to bring decree into conformity with judgment—Dismissal of application—Subsequent suit for declaration of the mistake whether maintainable.—The plaintiff sued for a declaration that he was entitled to certain lands, which were in the defendants' possession as the result of a clerical mistake in a decree in a previous suit to which he was a party. A previous application in that suit to bring the decree into conformity with the judgment was rejected by the District Judge which order was confirmed by the High Court in revision. Held, that, as the said order was an adjudication on the very question which was raised in the present suit, the suit was barred as res judicata. THAMBALLA VEERAMMA v. THAMBALLA PALUR SUBBAMMA, 5 Ind. Cas. 119=7 M.L.T. 266. (8 C-W.N. 473, D.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(52)—Determination of validity of assignment after notice to parties bars fresh enquiry.—The question as to whether an assignment ought to be recognised or not was previously determined after notice duly served upon the appellant, who did not choose to appear in that proceeding where he could have taken the objection. Held that the question was res judicata. APPASAMI IYENGAR v. SUNDARAM IYENGAR, 7 M.L.T. 224=6 Ind. Cas. 286.

(53)—Applicability of the rule of—Competence of the Court of first instance regulates its application—Commencement of litigation not material for operation of rule.—The rule of res judicata, so far as it relates to the retrial of an issue, refers not to the date of the commencement of the litigation but to the date when the Judge is called upon to decide the issue. It is the competency of the Court of first instance to entertain the former as well as the subsequent suit that regulates the application of the rule of res judicata. Where, therefore, a lessor brought a suit against his lessee for recovery of rent in respect of a period during which the lessee was out of possession, and the lessee subsequently brought a suit for compensation in respect of the same period, the suit of the lessee being decreed, held that the decree in the latter suit, having become final, operated as res judicata, irrespective of the facts that the suit was subsequent in date and that the appeal in the former lay to the Civil Court and in the latter to the Commissioner. BENI MADHO v. INDAR SAHAI, 6 A.L.J. 991=3 Ind. Cas. 707=32 A. 67. (11 A. 148, F.)

(54)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, new Code)—Res judicata—Principle of rule—Assignment of Government revenue of village divided into Khatas—Claim as to interest on arrears of revenue - Decision in respect of one khata, res judicata in respect of others.—Where the previous judgment negatives the liability, the main obligation itself, the defendant cannot re-agitate the same question of liability by saying that it refers to another portion of the property over which the whole liability, whatever its nature may be, is one and the same. (11 A. 148, R.) The plaintiff was assignee of the Government revenue of a certain mahal, which was divided into khatas, but the title to the revenue in respect of each and every khata, was the same. He sued to recover arrears of revenue in respect of khata No. 29 with interest. On his right to recover interest being disputed, held that a previous decision of a competent Court between the same parties dealing with a claim for interest due on arrears of revenue payable in respect of khata No. 47 operated as res judicata as to the claim with regard to khata No. 29. (15 M. 264, 15 M. 494, 11 A. 148, A.W.N. 1900, 173, R.) [F., 30 A. 470=A.W.N. 1908, 192=5 A.L.J. 407; D., 2 Ind. Cas. 853.] The principles on which the rule of res judicata is founded are two in number, viz., the one, public policy, that it is the interest of the State that there should be an end of litigation; and the other, the hardship on the individual that he should be vexed twice for the same purpose. CHANDI PRASAD v. MAHARAJA MAHENDRA MAHENDRA SINGH, 24 A. 112=A.W.N. 1901, 177.

(55)—Res judicata — Plea finally decided between the parties by a single Bench of the Chief Court—Incompetency of Division Bench to question the opinion of the single Bench in revision of the orders on which it was based—Second review allowed—Review of order on review not allowed—O. XLVII, r. 9 of Act V of 1908.—Held that a plea of Res judicata having been finally accepted before between the parties, though erroneously, by a single Bench of the Chief Court, Punjab, cannot be re-opened afterwards even by a Division Bench of that Court in revision from the orders of the Courts below upon which the judgment of the single Bench had been based, and therefore to revise these orders is fruitless to the party against whom the single Bench ruling subsists. Held, also that a second review of an order, though admissible as laid down in I.L.R. 15 Cal. 432 is barred by r. 9 of O. XLVII of Act V of 1908, where it is practically for the review of the order passed on review. DURGA DAS v. AMIR CHAND, 25 P.W.R. 1911.

(56)—Ex parte decree—Defence which could have been raised in previous suit—Estoppel by judgment.—A suit was previously brought, in respect of the property in the present suit, against the defendant and his father. The question of non-transferability, which could have been raised, was not raised in that suit. The defendant's father did not contest that suit and allowed a decree to go against him by default:—Held, that the fact that the defendant's father allowed the judgment to go by default would not prevent the matter from being res judicata against him, and his son, having inherited the property, is bound by the judgment though ex parte. GOLOKE CHANDRA ROY v. SHAFAR ALI, 9 Ind. Cas. 363.

(57)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13 and 43—Res judicata—Cause of action—Relief claimed in second suit which might have been claimed in former suit.—The plaintiffs instituted a suit for recovery of possession of a moiety of a certain house with appurtenances on the allegation that those premises had formed part of the property of a joint family and had been divided equally between themselves and the defendants, but that in January, 1899, the defendants had ousted them from possession. The cause of action in the suit was the alleged dispossession by the defendants in January, 1899. This suit was first of all decreed, but afterwards was dismissed on appeal. Subsequently the plaintiffs filed a second suit, in which they alleged that the house was the joint property of themselves and the defendants, and that in January 1899, the defendants had ousted them from possession. They claimed a declaration that they were entitled to one-half of the premises and an order giving them possession by partition. Held that this latter suit was barred by the provisions of s. 43 and the second explanation to s. 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure. DHANPAT RAM v. BALBHADDAR NATH, A.W.N. 1903, 97. (25 B. 189, R.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(58)—Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Party first setting up Will subsequently disclaiming it—Court not to permit party to use it again as Will—Privy Council—Practice.—When a plaintiff claims an estate and the defendant, being in possession, resists the claim, he is bound to resist it upon all the grounds that it is possible for him, according to his knowledge then to bring forward. Two questions having arisen on an appeal to the Judicial Committee, first, as to whether the property was divided or undivided, and secondly, with regard to a Will set up as having been made by the plaintiff's father, the case was remanded for decision as to the divided or undivided nature of the property, the lower Courts having already finally decided the question as to the Will. When the matter again made on to be heard and decided in the Privy Council, the plaintiff, instead of insisting on the validity of the Will, on the other hand disclaimed all title under the instrument as a Will, and insisted that it must be regarded by the Court as not being testamentary. The Judicial Committee accordingly did not think it necessary to decide the validity or invalidity of the instrument as a Will. The plaintiff then brought the present suit to recover the property by setting up the same instrument as a valid Will and testament. Held that the suit could not be allowed to proceed, because (1) the instrument was in issue in the previous suit, and what was in issue must be taken to have been decided by the judgment; (2) the plaintiff having used the document and abandoned all right to it as a Will, could not be permitted to use it for another purpose. SREEMUTHOO RAGHUNADHA PERIYAOODYA TAVER v. KATTAMA NACHIAR, 10 W.R. P.C. 1=11 M.I.A. 50=2 Sar. P.C.J. 212. [F., 3 C.L.R. 253; R., 12 W.R. F.B. 14, 18 W.R. 163, 22 W.R. 464, 1 A. 75, 2 C. 152, F.B., 6 C. 559=8 C.L.R. 10, 8 B. 174, 11 B. 708, 10 A. 289, 13 B. 567, 21 M. 91 = 8 M.L.J. 28, 20 A. 516 = 18 A.W.N. 134, 4 C. 190, P.C. = 3 C.L.R. 31=5 I.A. 149, 25 B. 189=2 Bom. L. R. 869, 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448, 26 A. 61= A.W.N. 1903, 196, 9 Bom. L.R. 1020, 10 Ind. Cas. 29; D., 15 W.R. 251, 24 C. 83, 5 Ind. Cas. 294.]

(59)—Res judicata—First suit for rent, subsequent suit for title—Procedure to be observed in question of res judicata.—Where the sole question raised in answer to a suit for rent was whether the plaintiff was entitled to the land as stated by him whether the defendant was the beneficial owner as alleged by him. Held that the decision on the point operated as res judicata, in a subsequent suit brought for declaration of title to the same land (10 C.W.N. 820, F.) In order to decide the question of res judicata, the Court has to look to the pleadings and judgment to ascertain what the matter in controversy really was and what was the decision actually given. It is not necessary that an issue should be formally raised. An estoppel is not confined to the judgment but extends to all facts, involved in it as necessary steps or ground-work, and the judgment operates by way of estoppel as regards all the findings which are essential to sustain the judgment. PANCHU MANDAL v. CHANDRA KANT SAHA, 14 C.L.J. 220=12 Ind. Cas. 9. (6 C.L.J. 621 (630) F.)

(60)—Res judicata—Two decrees in the same suit—Appeal against one decree only—Other decree allowed to become final—Appeal barred.—The plaintiff brought a suit for the removal of certain constructions and for a mandatory injunction against the defendant. The first Court decreed the suit in part. Both parties appealed. The lower appellate Court disposed of both appeals in one judgment but framed two decrees, whereby the decree of the Court of first instance was modified. The plaintiff preferred an appeal to the High Court against the decree framed by the lower appellate Court on the defendant's appeal:—Held, that the appeal was barred by res judicata. LALA RAMCHARAN v. LACHMAN PERSHAD, 9 Ind. Cas. 667. (7 A.L.J. 861, 7 Ind. Cas. 156, 33 A. 51, 7 A.L.J. 995, 7 Ind. Cas. 909, F.)

(61)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code—Description of land in plaint not sufficient—Decree for possession—Execution proceedings not defining land with any greater certainty—Res judicata.—A decree for possession of certain land had been made. The plaint described such lands by general boundaries not sufficiently detailed to admit of exact identification. The execution proceeding under which possession was obtained did not define them with any greater certainty. The possession actually taken, had been of lands demarcated shortly after possession was delivered—it did not appear by whom—but in a matter which was subsequently approved by the Revenue authorities. Held, in a suit by Government for ejecting the decree-holders, that the land so demarcated must be accepted as covered by the decree and that the suit was barred as res judicata. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL v. DURBIJOY SINGH, 19 C. 312, P.C.=19 I. A. 69=6 Sar. 113. [F., 11 O. C. 30.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(62)—Reg. XVII of 1806 — Foreclosure — Decree for proprietary possession—Res judicata. —The plaintiffs, mortgagees, having obtained an order for foreclosure under the provisions of Reg. XVII of 1806 subsequently got an ex parte decree declaring their right to proprietary possession of the mortgaged property, and under that decree obtained possession thereof. More than 12 years after this decree had been executed, the mortgagors sued to cancel the foreclosure proceedings on the ground that they had been taken entirely behind their backs and they had no notice of them ; this plea had not been taken in the suit which had resulted in the mortgagor's decree for possession :—held that the plaintiff's suit was barred as res judicata and even if this were not so, the defendants had been in adverse possession for more than 12 years. MAULA BAKHSH v. TAJAMMAL HUSAIN, A.W.N. 1892, 51.

(63)—Res judicata—Former decision that plaintiff purchased plot A only—Second suit that he purchased A and B, whether lies.— The plaintiff purchased a certain plot of land which had been previously mortgaged to the defendant. The plaintiff instituted a suit for redemption and obtained a decree. It was decided in execution of that decree, on the objection of the defendant, that the plaintiff had purchased property A only. He subsequently brought a suit for possession of property B on the strength of the same sale. Held, that the suit was barred as res judicata. BOHRA GAJADHAR SINGH v. GIRDHARI LAL, 10 Ind. Cas. 453.

(64)—Effect of pleadings—Cause of action—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 2—Issue really decided, though not in form—Res judicata.—Plaintiff, as the adopted son of one C, brought this suit to recover certain immoveable and moveable properties belonging to the estate of C. The defendant was the widow of the devisee of C under a Will left by the latter. The plaintiff's contention was that the real property in dispute was either ancestral property or property acquired by C from the income of such property and as such ancestral, and that C had no right to dispose of any of them by Will. The defence was that the deceased C had, according to the Mitakshara law, power to dispose by Will of property acquired by him out of the income of ancestral property, and that such property was self-acquired. In a former suit between the same parties instituted by the present plaintiff for cancellation of several alienations made by C, the present defendant was a defendant. The effect of the pleadings in that suit was to put in issue the question, among others, whether C had power to dispose of the real properties by the Will in dispute : but the question actually dealt with in the case was as to whether or not the testamentary disposition was assented to by the present plaintiff ; and it was decided that he had assented to the Will. Held, that the effect of the pleadings in the previous suit being that the plaintiff sought therein to cancel the Will on the ground of the want of legal capacity in C to make a testamentary disposition of the real property by reason of its being ancestral property, (i e.) partly inherited and partly acquired out of the income of such property, the decision barred the present suit, though an issue in the form in which it was now raised had not been distinctly raised therein. The expression "cause of action" in s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859 (Civ.Pro. Code), is to be construed with reference rather to the substance than to the form of action. Viewed in this light the former suit was, in substance, taking the pleadings and the grounds of appeal into consideration, one to declare the Will invalid on the ground of the want of legal capacity in C to devise the property dealt with in the Will. S. 2 does not prevent the operation of the general law relating to res judicata founded on the principle "nemo debet bis vexari pro eadem causa." SOORJOMONEE DAYEE v. SUDDANUND MOHA PATTER, 12 B.L.R. 304, P.C.=20 W.R. 377=I.A. Sup. Vol. 212=3 Sar. 285. [F., 6 C. 319, F.B.=7 C.L.R. 227 ; Appl., 1 C. 144=2 I.A. 283 ; Appr., 21 W.R. 207, 24 W.R. 304, 11 C 301, P C.=12 I.A. 23, 10 B. 439, 15 M. 494, 21 C. 430 ; R., 7 N.W.P. 17, F.B., 7 N.W.P. 60, F.B., 3 B. 3, 4 C. 190, P.C.=5 I.A. 149, 6 C. 171=6 C.L.R. 439, 6 C. 406, 13 B. 567, 14 B. 31, 19 C. 372, 17 A. 174, 25 C. 136, 25 B. 189, 6 C.L.J. 621, 12 C. W.N. 739=9 C.L.J. 597 ; D., 24 C. 83.]

(65)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Joint contract. —If a party sues upon a joint contract, which is not also several, and gets a judgment, he cannot bring a fresh suit against the persons who were jointly liable with the defendant, but were not included in the former suit, such second suit being expressly prohibited by Act VIII of 1859, s. 2. NUTHOO LALL CHOWDHRY v. SHOUKEE LALL, 10 B.L.R. 200=18 W.R. 458. (4 W.R. 50, Diss.) [Appr., 3 C. 353 ; R. & D., 23 C. 302, 22 A. 307, 25 A. 57=22 A.W.N. 190 ; D., 5 C. 291=4 C.L.R. 501, 9 C. 888.]

(66)—Error of law—Erroneous opinion on a point of law how far conclusive.—An erroneous opinion on a point of law may be between the parties to it, but not further, a sufficient res judicata to preclude them from re-agitating it. WAMAN HARI v. HARI VITHAL, 8 Bom. L.R. 932=31 B. 128.

(67)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 (=s. 11, present Code)—Decision erroneous in law.—An erroneous decision on a pure question of law in

G. N. Dar
Advocate High Court
Jammu & Kashmir
Srinagar

Res Judicata—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

a previous suit may operate as res judicata. RAICHURN GHOSE v. KUMUD MOHON DUTTA, 1 C.W.N. 687. (10 C. 1087, 15 A. 327, F.; 5 M. 304, D.; 9 B. 75, 15 B. 104. R.) [R., 14 C.P. L.R. 109, 8 O.C. 37, 44 P.R. 1908; D., 32 C. 749=9 C.W.N. 466=1 C L.J. 176.]

(68)—Act X of 1859, s. 54—Res judicata.—S. 54, Act X of 1859, contemplates cases where neither of the parties appear in person or by agent. It does not in any way apply to a case in which both parties being present, the Court held that, in the absence of documentary evidence, the plaintiff's claim must be dismissed. The decision being the dismissal of a suit after adjudication on the merits, the matter must be considered as res judicata. MOHANUND CHOWDHRY v. H. A. EGLINGTON, 1 W.R. 343.

(69)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2 — Question of title—Suit prior to Act X of 1859.—Where a rent suit was instituted and heard in a Civil Court before Act X of 1859 came into force, and an issue as to title between plaintiff and an intervenor was raised and decided, held, that a subsequent suit by plaintiff for possession was barred by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859. CHOWDHRI NILKANTH PRASAD SINGH v. DIGNARAYAN SINGH, 1 B.L.R.A.C. 30=10 W.R. 75. (8 W.R. 175, D.) [R., 13 W.R. 129.]

(70)—Suit by purchaser of equity of redemption against mortgagee—Application for execution of decree after limitation—Subsequent suit by purchaser against mortgagees for redemption, maintainability of.—Where the decree in a suit amounted in fact only to a decree declaratory of the proprietary right of the purchaser of the equity of redemption and under the circumstances of the admitted possession of the mortgagee, was not enforceable by delivery of possession, the remedy which the law gives by process of execution may, by lapse of time, be barred, and yet the right and title decreed may exist in full force, and be capable of enforcement by suit. JUGUR NATH v. BAL GOBIND, 1 N.W.P. 154.

(71)—Res judicata—Former suit dismissed for failure to produce evidence, with reservation to bring new suit—Fresh suit—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—A suit brought in the year 1856, to set aside an auction sale of a putnee taluk for arrears of rent, under Beng. Reg. VIII of 1819, was dismissed for want of evidence on the part of the plaintiffs, with a reservation by the Court that the order made was not to be a bar to the plaintiffs, or any other persons who might substantiate their rights, from proceeding to recover. On a fresh suit by the same parties for the same matter, held, that such reservation was of no effect as, under s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859, the former suit was a bar, and a plea of res judicata allowed. There is no power in the Courts in India, similar to that exercised by Courts of Equity or Common Law in England, to dismiss a suit with liberty for the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit for the same matter, or to enter a non-suit. Such power of the Indian Courts is limited to questions of form, as (1) in the case of misjoinder of parties or of the matters in suit, (2) where a material document has been rejected for not bearing a proper stamp, and (3) if there has been an improper valuation of the subject-matter of the suit; but not to a case where the issue has been joined and the plaintiff fails to produce the evidence he is bound to give to support the issue. WATSON v. THE COLLECTOR OF RAJSHAYE, 3 B L R.P.C. 48=13 M.I. A.160=12 W.R. P.C 43=2 Suther. 269=2 Sar. 500. [F., 21 W.R. 291, 12 M. 500, 35 C. 924 =12 C.W.N. 921. R., 3 A. 528, 9 A. 155, 9 A. 690, 14 B. 31, 19 B. 571, 9 C W.N. 679, 6 Bom. L.R. 594, 29 B. 219=7 Bom. L.R. 90, 29 A. 471=4 A.L.J. 375, 18 M.L.J. 198, 11 Bom. L.R. 1109; Cons., 8 A. 282; Observed on, 16 W R. 276; D., 23 W.R. 345, 3 C.L R. 447.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(72)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 373—Withdrawal of suit—Notice of application, under s. 373, Civ. Pro. Code.—Upon an application by plaintiff under s. 373, Civ. Pro. Code, praying for permission to withdraw from the suit with liberty to bring a fresh suit, the order passed by the Court was, "Let the plaintiff's claim be 'Kharij' with costs, and let notice be given to the opposite party: the plaintiff has liberty to institute a fresh suit." This order, it was contended by the defendant was an order of dismissal, and barred the second suit by the plaintiff: Held, that the order was one of withdrawal with liberty to bring a fresh suit, and not a decree dismissing the suit. Held, further, that though the notice mentioned in the order was not issued, yet the validity of the order, not having been objected to in appeal or revision, could not now be questioned. LALTA PERSHAD v. CHUTKO, 1 O. C. 97.

(73)—Purchase by first mortgagee, of the equity of redemption — Suit to enforce lien against second mortgagee—Suits between first and second mortgagee—Erroneous suggestion by Court—Party acting upon it.—A first mortgagee, under a security bond, who brings to sale and purchases the equity of redemption, in execution of a money-decree, passed by a Revenue Court on such bond, is not precluded from suing to enforce his lien on such property against the second mortgagee. Where, in a suit by the second mortgagee for the sale of the mortgaged property, the first mortgagee asserts his lien and is referred to a separate suit for enforcing it, this does not bar such separate suit, for the first mortgagee cannot resist the claim of the second mortgagee to bring the property to sale subject to the mortgage. Where the defendant raised certain contentions, and the Court, instead of trying and adjudicating on them, referred him to a fresh suit, his acquiescence in such suggestion, instead of preferring an appeal, is reasonable submission to the Court; and, in such circumstances, the rule of res judicata cannot be applied with justice. BABU LAL v. ISHRI PRASAD NARAIN SINGH, 2 A. 582, F.B. [R., 14 B. 31.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(74)—Judgment of Criminal Court, whether res judicata in civil suit.—The judgment of a Criminal Court that a person did not commit an offence, does not operate as res judicata to prevent a Civil Court from determining such question for purpose of a suit. RAM LAL v. TULA RAM, 4 A. 97 = A.W.N. 1881, 143. [R., 23 C. 610.]

(75)— Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13, 540, 561, 584 —Decree--Judgment—Appeal—Objections of respondent—Res judicata.—In a suit for possession of certain property and for setting aside a wakfnama or deed of endowment on the ground that the execution of it had been obtained by fraud, the defendant, a Muhammadan female, pleaded that the deed was valid and that she was entitled to retain possession of the property till her dower debt was satisfied. The Court of first instance held that the deed was invalid, but that the defendant was entitled to retain possession till her dower was paid, and simply dismissed the suit, without embodying in the decree its finding as to the deed. On appeal by the plaintiff, the defendant-respondent filed objections under s. 561, Civ. Pro. Code, to the lower Court's finding as to the deed. The District Judge dismissed the appeal, affirming the lower Court's finding as to the dower, and dismissed the respondent's objections also without going into the question of the validity of the deed as being unnecessary for the disposal of the appeal. The defendant appealed to the High Court.—Held by the Full Bench (Oldfield and Mahmood, JJ., dissenting). If a decree is upon the face of it, entirely in favour of a party to a suit, such decree being the thing which by law is made appealable and nothing else, that party has no right of appeal therefrom. It may be that, in the judgment, of which such decree, is the formal expression findings have been recorded upon some issues against that party; but if this be so, and he desires to have formal effect given to them by the decree, so as to allow of his filing objections thereto under s. 561 of the Civ. Pro. Code, or of appealing therefrom under s. 540, he must take steps under s. 206 to have the decree properly brought into conformity with the judgment, so that there may be matter, on the face of it, to show that something has been decided against him. In other words, he must obtain insertion, in the decree itself,—which alone contains the final determination of the cause, and not the judgment, —of such portions of the Court's findings as he considers himself injuriously affected by, so as to place himself in the position which the statute recognizes as giving him a right to impeach the decree. If he fails to follow this course, the decree, though in general terms, will stand good as finally deciding the issues raised by the pleadings upon which the ultimate determination of the cause and the decree itself actually rested. The findings in a judgment upon matters which subsequently turn out to be immaterial to the grounds upon which a suit is finally disposed of as to the plaintiff's right to any portion of the relief sought by him as declared by the decree, amount to no more than obiter dicta, and do not constitute a final decision of the kind contemplated by s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code—The defendant's objections before the lower appellate Court, therefore, were not maintainable, as the decree, on the fact of it, dismissed the plaintiff's claim in general terms, and did not record any adverse finding or declaration in respect of the defendant, and for the same reason, her appeal to the High Court was also not maintainable. And the District Judge was right in holding that it was unnecessary to go into the question of the validity of the wakfnama. (The judgment of Straight, J., in 2 A. 497, Appr. & F.). Per Oldfield, J.—In order that a decree may agree with the judgment and fulfil the requirements of s. 206 it should contain the material points for determination passing out of the claim, and material for the decision thereon, and if any issue material for the decision of the suit has been decided, the determination of it should find a place in the decree: and if this has not been done, the defect is a good ground of appeal, even though the decree, on its face, may be altogether in favour of the appellant, and even though the appellant may not have applied for amendment of the decree under s. 206 of the Civ. Pro. Code, or for review of judgment. The defendant's objections and her appeal to the High Court were therefore maintainable. Per Mahmood, J.—The provisions of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, apply as well to the trial of issues as to the trial of suits. The validity or otherwise of the deed in the above case was directly and substantially in issue between the parties, and was adjudicated upon by the Court of first instance; its finding on that issue cannot be considered a mere obiter dictum, and would be binding on the defendant as res judicata though the suit against her was dismissed on another ground. Whatever has the force of res judicata must be necessarily appealable. The word 'from' in ss. 540, and 584 and the expression "objection to the decree" in s. 561 of the Civ. Pro. Code, are" not confined to matters appearing on the face of the decree, but they refer to matters which should have found a place in it, though they have been omitted. It is doubtful if, in the above case, the defendant could have applied for amendment of decree or for review of judgment, but even assuming such remedies were open to her, there was nothing to preclude her from seeking her remedy by way of appeal. JAMAITUN-NISSA v. LUTFUN-NISSA, 7 A. 606, F.B. (7 B. 484, 1 A. 480, 2 A. 843, 6 C. 319, N.W.P. 1874, p. 19, R.)

Res Judicata*—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

[F., 28 A. 365=3 A.L.J. 171=A.W.N. 1906, 44; Cons., 17 A. 174; R., 8 A. 354, F.B.=A.W.N. 1886, 110, 157 P.R. 1889, F.B., 18 B. 597, 22 M. 364, 56 P.R. 1904=84 P.L.R. 1904, 6 C.L.J. 621, 57 P. R. 1907=66 P.W.R. 1907.]

(76)—Ryot's tenure sold in execution of decree—Purchaser not ryot's vendee— Admission.—The purchaser of a tenure held by a ryot in execution of a decree under Act X for rent obtained by the zemindar, against the ryot registered in his sherista is not the ryot's vendee, and he is not bound by any decision to which the ryot was a party, or by an allegation or admission of that party. SHUMBOO CHUNDER SINGH v. RAM NARAIN DOSS, 9 W.R. 217.

(77)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Dismissal of suit—Under-valuation—Court Fees Act, 170, s. 10, cl. (ii)—Misjoinder—Dismissal of suit in its present form—Heard and finally determined.—The dismissal of a suit on the ground that it has been under-valued, or that the plaintiff has failed to pay in time the additional Court-fee required, does not bar a fresh suit. The object of s. 10 of the Court Fees Act, and indeed of the whole Act, is to lay down rules for the collection of one form of taxation. Encroaching, as such provisions do, upon the rights of the subject, they must be construed strictly, especially when they impose a penalty. And the dismissal of a suit under s. 10 of the Act is intended to be simply a penal clause to enforce the collection of Court-fees. [R., 3 C.P.L.R. 3; D., 9 C.W.N. 679.] The dismissal of a suit for misjoinder does not bar a fresh suit. (13 B. L.R. App. 37, 7 C. 214, R.) [R., 3 C.P.L. R. 3; D., 9 C.W.N. 679.] The dismissal of a suit "in the form in which it is brought" (bahaisiyat maujuda) can have only one meaning, namely, that the Judge using those words in his decree had no intention to decide the case finally, so as to bar the adjudication upon the merits of the rights of the parties in a future litigation between them. The procedure prescribed by Chap. XXII of the Civ. Pro. Code, is not the only manner in which a plaintiff can come into Court for the second time to ask for adjudication upon the merits of his rights—merits which were not adjudicated upon on the former occasion owing to some technical defect which proved fatal to the former suit (5 A. 595, Diss.; 13 M.I.A. 160, 5 A.W.N. 171, R.) [R., 3 C.P.L.R 3; D., 9 C.W.N. 679.] A decree disposing of a suit purely on the ground of technical defects, without going into the merits, cannot be res judicata so as to bar a fresh suit upon the same cause of action. To conclude a plaintiff by such a plea, it is not sufficient to show that there was a former suit between the same parties, for the same matter, upon the same cause of action. It is necessary also to show that there was a decision finally granting or withholding the relief sought. MUHAMMAD SALIM v. NABIAN BIBI, 8 A. 282=A.W.N. 1886, 119. (3 W.R Act X, Rul 140, 11 W.R. 327, 4 B.H.C. A.C. 110, 6 B. 482, 13 B.L.R. App. 37, 7 C. 214, 3 M.H C. 84, R.) [R., 3 C.P.L.R 3; D., 9 C.W.N. 119.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(78)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Joint family.—Where the question about a family being joint or divided had not been determined in a previous suit as between the defendants inter se, but simply as against the plaintiff who was a stranger, the decision could not operate as res judicata when one of the defendants sued the other on the ground that the family was joint. BHAGAVANT SINGH v. TEJ KUAR, 8 A. 91=A.W.N. 1886, 12. (4 A. 92, D.; 2 A. 738, R.) [Appr., 6 C.P.L.R. 87, 25 B. 74.]

(79)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, new Code)—Decree in conflict with statements of fact.—Where a finding on an issue in a judgment is in conflict with the decree and no steps are taken to bring the decree into conformity with the judgment, no plea of res judicata can be sustained on the strength of such finding. Thus, a decree in a suit gave the plaintiff an absolute right to certain property, but in the judgment it was stated that the defendant was entitled to certain rights in respect of the same property. No application was made to bring the decree into conformity with the judgment, and the decree as it stood was affirmed on appeal. Held, the finding in favour of the defendant would not constitute res judicata in the face of the clear wording of the decree. INDRAJIT PRASAD v. RICHHA RAI, 15 A. 3=A.W.N. 1892, 113.

(80)—Undivided family—Prior suit for partition against father—Dismissal of suit as to moveables and immoveables on different grounds —Suit on father's death.—A previous suit for partition against the father in an undivided Hindu family, which was dismissed, as regards the moveables, on the ground that the son cannot compel his father in his life-time to make a partition of the moveables, and as regards the immoveables, on the ground that they were beyond the local limits of the Court's jurisdiction, does not bar as res judicata a suit by the same person brought against his brother, on the father's death, as to his rights in the joint ancestral estate. LAKSHMAN DADANAIK v. RAMCHANDRA DADANAIK, 1 B. 561. [R., 8 B. 548, 18 B. 389; Affirmed, 5 B. 48=7 I.A. 181=7 C.L.R. 520.]

(81)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata.—A suit is not barred by Act VIII of 1859, s. 2, by reason of a prior suit decided against plaintiff's father while plaintiff was a minor, in which the father was sued in his personal capacity, the plaintiff being no party. RAJ DOOLLUB SIRCAR v. OOMA CHURN BISWAS, 21 W. R. 109.

(82)—Finding in previous suit on unnecessary issue—Insertion of finding in decree- Effect—

Res Judicata - continued.

——1.—General—continued.

Subsequent suit between same parties - Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Practice—Appeal.—Where an issue is not necessary for the decision of the suit, the decree couched in general terms does not cover the finding on that issue; nor can such a finding by being expressly inserted in the decree acquired the force of res judicata in a subsequent suit between the same parties. The Civ. Pro. Code, does not contemplate findings on issues being inserted in decrees, nor is there any section in the Code which makes it necessary to appeal from a decree in which a finding on an issue not necessary for the determination of the suit has been inserted. (See ss. 2 and 6 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, and the forms of decrees in the fourth schedule.) GHELA ICHHARAM v. SANKALCHAND JETHA, 18 B. 597. [Expl., 25 B. 115; Appl., 35 B. 38=12 Bom. L.R. 766; R., 17 A. 174=15 A.W.N. 47, 22 B. 245, 92 P.R. 1902, F.B.=16 P.L.R. 1903, 9 C.W.N. 60, 10 Bom. L.R. 380=32 B. 315.]

(83)—Suit by a widow for declaration of her marriage to her husband (deceased)—Marriage—Decree on award by arbitrators appointed by consent of parties—Decree silent in respect of declaration prayed for—Subsequent suit by widow for declaring that she was the lawful wife of the deceased—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Release.—One H, a Cutchi Memon Mahomedan, died in 1872, leaving him surviving two widows F and A, and M, a daughter by F. In 1882, F sued A claiming a share of the property left by H, and prayed for a declaration that she was the legitimate wife and M the ligitimate daughter of H. The legitimacy of both was denied by A. In pursuance of the award given by the arbitrators appointed in the suit, a decree was passed directing A to pay F Rs. 55,000 in full satisfaction of all her (F's) claims and of her daughter's, and declaring A to be absolutely entitled to the property of H. A re-married in 1886. Therefore the present suit was brought by F against A in 1887. The plaintiff alleged that, by law and custom, the re-marriage of the defendant worked a forfeiture of her rights to the estate of H and that she was therefore solely entitled thereto. She also prayed for a declaration that the estate belonged to her as the sole surviving widow of H. The defendant contended (1) that the present suit was barred by res judicata inasmuch as the decree in the suit of 1882, in which the present plaintiff prayed for a declaration of the legitimacy of her marriage with H was silent in respect of it, the prayer must be considered to have been refused under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882; (2) that the decree in the previous suit having awarded a certain sum in full satisfaction of her claims, she had no right to bring the present suit in any event, and (3) that the decree in the previous suit operated as a release and assignment by plaintiff of all her rights to the suit property to the defendant. Held (1) that, as the question of F's marriage with H was not denied and decided finally by the arbitrators, the present suit was not barred by res judicata. An award given by arbitrators would work an estoppel only as regards questions properly considered by them. S. 13, Explanation III of Civ. Pro. Code, (1882), is applicable to cases where the Court is silent on an independent head of relief claimed and denied but not where it is silent on a head of relief which is claimed only as ancillary to the main relief, and which by implication must be deemed to have been refused, (2) that the plaintiff was not estopped in bringing the present suit by the fact that, in the suit of 1882, she was awarded a fixed sum in full satisfaction of her claims on the suit property. The ground on which the present suit was brought was different from that which was the basis of the previous suit. The previous suit was by one widow against another. The present suit was by one widow against another who had lost her rights as widow by her remarriage. But the High Court dismissed the suit holding that the award and release contained in the decree of 1882 constituted a binding agreement by which the present plaintiff, for the sum of Rs 55,000, waived all her rights against the present defendant inclusive of the present claim. FATMABAI v. AISHABAI, 12 B. 451.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(84)—Res judicata, matter set up in defence whether could be objected to as—Dismissal of suit for failure to give security for costs, whether could operate as res judicata.—In this suit on a promissory note, the plaintiff objected to the defendants being permitted to put forward, as their defence, the matters set forth in their written statement, inasmuch as they had been the matters in issue in a previous suit between them in which the present defendants were plaintiffs and the present plaintiff was the defendant. The previous suit had been dismissed on account of the then plaintiffs' failure to comply with the Court's order in that suit for giving security for the defendant's costs. Held that, although, under the words of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, "suit or issue," the answer of res judicata is admissible to estop a defendant from defence as well as a plaintiff from attack, there had been no final hearing or decision of the matter in the previous suit. The Court cannot properly be said to have heard and decided a matter, which it was actually relieved from hearing and deciding by reason of the plaintiff's default, whether such default be his non-appearance or his failure to furnish the ordered security. Quære:—Whether a plaintiff, whose suit had been dismissed under s. 381 of the Code could be allowed to litigate again the subject-matter of the dismissed suit (possibly, the reference to s. 373 may be found sufficient to preclude him from so doing). RUNGRAV RAVJI v. SIDHI MAHOMED EBRAHIM, 6 B. 482. [R., 12 C. 563, 10 M. 272; R., 24 B. 251, 9 C.W.N. 679.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(85)—Decree dismissing suit—Nothing in decree as res judicata in plaintiff's favour—Incidental finding against defendant—Judgment not appealable from by defendant.—From a judgment against a plaintiff dismissing his suit, no adjudication of any point in his favour can properly be derived as res judicata, and no appeal being admissible as on any point not having the authority of res judicata, no appeal can be preferred by a defendant from a decree which, being adverse to the plaintiff, is not in any way prejudicial to the defendant merely on the ground of the judgment containing incidental decisions against the interests of the defendant. ANUSUYABAI v. SAKHARAM PANDURANG, 7 B. 464. [Appr., 15 M. 111; R., 157 P.R. 1889, 2 M.L.J. 36, 18 B. 597, 17 A. 174, 11 C.P.L.R. 150, 32 B. 315=10 Bom. L. R. 380, A.W.N. 1908, 211.]

(86)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13 and 43—Suit for possession of land as khewatdar without claiming shamilat.—Held, that a decree for possession of land in favour of plaintiffs as khewatdars impliedly included proportionate share of shamilat although no claim was specifically made in respect of it. In partition proceedings objection was taken that the decree-holders had no right to a share in the shamilat and they were referred to a regular suit; held, that the suit brought by the decree-holders was not barred by s. 13 or s. 43 of the Code of Civil Procedure. BURA v. JHANDA, 26 P. L. R. 1901=113 P. R. 1900.

(87)—Beng. Reg. VIII of 1819—Landlord and tenant—Non-registration of transfer—Sale for arrears of rent—Deposit to stay sale—Voluntary payment—Set off—Res judicata.—The defendants L and R who were patnidars of a taluk, granted in 1856 a darpatni lease of the mouza to one S, at an annual rent, the lease stipulating that S should have full powers of sale and gift, but should not sublet in sepatni without the defendants' consent. The lease contained no stipulation for the registration of the name of any vendee or donee. In 1860, S, sold the darpatni lease to the plaintiffs. The deed of sale provided for mutation of names in the patnidar's books. The plaintiffs however never effected such mutation, and were never recognised by the defendants as their tenants, the rent of the darpatni being paid in the name of S. In 1864, the defendants having failed to pay their patni rent to the zemindar, the latter proceeded to sell the patni under Regulation VIII of 1819; whereupon the plaintiffs, in order to save their under-tenure, deposited a sum of money in the Collectorate on the 17th November, 1864. At that time, the plaintiffs were in arrear with their darpatni rent, and they accordingly applied to the defendants to set-off the amount deposited against such rent. The defendants refused and brought a suit against S and his sureties to recover the darpatni rent then due. The plaintiffs intervened in that suit claiming to be entitled to set-off the sum deposited against the rent, but the High Court, on the 26th June 1866, ruled that S was not entitled to the benefit of that set-off, on the ground that the deposit was only a voluntary payment by the plaintiffs. On the 30th October, 1867, the plaintiffs brought a regular suit against S and L and R to recover the amount of deposit. The plaintiffs obtained a decree in the first Court, but on appeal that decision was reversed and the suit dismissed for want of jurisdiction. On the 8th June, 1869, the plaintiffs filed the plaint in the proper Court. It was contended that the money deposited by the plaintiffs was a voluntary payment. Held, that though the transfer was not registered, the plaintiffs, being the assignees of the darpatni taluk, had the right and were compelled to deposit the amount of rent due to the zemindar in order to protect their own interest and that the plaintiffs were consequently entitled to recover the amount deposited by them in the Collectorate. Held, also, that the decision of the 26th June, 1866, was no bar to the suit. LACKHINARAIN MITTER v. KHETTRO PAL SINGH ROY, 13 B.L.R. 146, P.C.=20 W.R. 380=24 W.R. 407, Note=3 Sar. 273. [F., 10 C.L.J. 453, Rel. on., 14 C.W.N. 905=6 Ind. Cas. 605; R., 22 W.R. 299, 12 C. 622, 20 C. 247.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(88)—Valid and operative deed of gift—Res judicata.—A deed of gift, valid and operative between the parties, cannot be avoided, for the reason that, in another suit between different parties, it has been held to be fraudulent as against creditors. It is doubtful whether a donor can avoid his own deed of gift on the ground of his own fraud. RAMANUGRA NARAIN v. MAHASUNDUR KUNWAR, 12 B.L. R. 433, P.C.=3 Sar. 277. [R., 33 C. 967=10 C. W.N. 650=4 C.L.J. 22.]

(89)—Res judicata—Judgments in rem and judgments inter partes.—A Rajah of an impartible Raj died, leaving children by various wives and concubines. A suit, by one of the widows, on behalf of an infant, was brought to set aside a summary award under Act No. XIX of 1841, giving possession and for possession of the Raj. This suit involved issues of legitimacy, and the validity of a particular form of marriage of one of the members of the family. The Sudder Dewanny Adawlut decreed in favour of the plaintiff. Another suit was afterwards brought by a member of the family, who was not a party to the former suit, against the party in possession, which raised substantially the same issue of legitimacy, and a further question of priority to succeed by reason of the superior nature of the marriage of which the plaintiff was the issue. The defendant pleaded the decree of the Sudder Court as a bar to the suit. Held, that the suit raised a different issue, and that the decree in the former suit was not a judgment in rem, but a judgment inter partes. JOGENDRO DEB ROY KUT v. FUNINDRO DEB KUT

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

11 B. L. R. 244=17 W. R. 104=14 M.I.A. 367, P.C.=2 Suther. 517=3 Sar. 32. [Appl., 5 B. 685; R., 6 B. 703, 7 B. 467, 22 M. 461, 1 C.L.J. 388, 30 B. 477=8 Bom. L R. 268; Cons., 12 A. 1.]

(90)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13.—The dismissal of a suit brought by the assignee of a hypothecation bond, on the ground that the deed of assignment to him, being unregistered, could not be received by him in evidence and could not convey to him any rights in the hypothecation-bond, cannot bar a subsequent suit by him on the same bond again assigned to him by a registered instrument. ISHRI DAT v. HAR NARAIN LAL, 3 A 334.

(91)—Res judicata—Letters of Administration, proceedings for—Title suit—Concurrent jurisdiction, Courts of—Matters directly and substantially in issue—Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13.—X died leaving a widow Y. Upon the death of Y, A applied for Letters of Administration to the estate of X on the allegation that he was the next reversionary heir. B, a transferee from Y, opposed the application and denied that A was the reversionary heir. The application was dismissed as A failed to prove the alleged relationship. A then sued to recover from B the property transferred to him by Y, on the allegation that there was no legal necessity for the alienation and that, as the reversionary heir to the estate of X, he was entitled to recover possession: Held, that the decision on the proceedings for Letters of Administration did not operate as res judicata upon the question of the relationship between A and X. LALIT MOHAN DAS v. RADHARAMAN SAHA, 13 C.L.J. 547. (20 C. 888, F.; 11 C.L.J. 623, D.)

(92)—Civ. Pro, Code, 1882, s. 13, Ex, II—Res judicata—Auction sale of equity of redemption—Purchase by mortgagee—Fraud—Sale set aside—Suit on mortgage—No res judicata.—Where the prior suit was to set aside an auction sale as fraudulent and void and for recovery of possession from the mortgagee purchaser, a decision in that suit cannot bar the mortgagee from suing to recover the amount due under his simple mortgage. The simple mortgage was not a matter which might or ought to have been made a ground of defence or attack in such suit, as it was wholly immaterial in answer to such an action and could not alter the result which was to set aside the auction sale. GURUSAMI AIYAR v. KAVEREE BOYEE AMMAL, 14 M.L.J. 485.

(93)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 43—Suits on different titles—Res judicata.—A suit by a person to recover certain property on the ground that he was the adopted son of the last owner could not bar a subsequent suit by him to recover the same property as the devisee under the Will of the said owner. SUBRAHMANIAN CHETTI v. AUTHINARAYANAN, 7 M.L.J. 288.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(94)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—Res judicata—Previous suit for a share as heir—Subsequent suit for maintenance—Plea of res judicata whether can be taken in second appeal—Pleading—Practice.—In a previous suit, the plaintiff claimed her share under the Muhammadan Law and repudiated a will, under which the defendants held exclusive possession. In a subsequent suit she claimed maintenance under the will: Held, that the subsequent suit was not barred by res judicata (21 C. 157, 20 I.A. 155, F.; 25 B. 189, 11 M.I.A. 50, 10 W.R. 1, P.C. D; 21 A. 446, 4 A. 69, F.) The plea of res judicata can be allowed in second appeal although it was not taken in the first appellate Court. ABDUL AZIZ v. MUSAMMAT AZIMAN, 5 Ind. Cas. 294.

(95)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 13 and 43.—In 1896 the plaintiff had sued one of the present defendants for a shop, on the ground that, at a previous partition between them, it had fallen to his share and had been leased to the defendant. Plaintiff could not prove partition as the deed of partition had not been registered, but in the Chief Court his claim was treated as one by a co-sharer against a trespasser who had wrongfully taken possession of joint property, and it was held that the plaintiff could not get possession of more than one-third share which was accordingly decreed in his favour. The plaintiff now brought a suit for partition of the whole joint property consisting of six shops, making his co-sharers parties and likewise impleading the defendant in the previous case as he was in possession of two-thirds of the shop in dispute in the previous case. The defendant pleaded that the previous suit and decree precluded the plaintiff from suing him again in respect of this shop. Held, that the plaintiff was not barred by the rule of res judicata from including in the partition suit the two-thirds of the shop in dispute which was in the defendant's possession and from ejecting him, if he got the aforesaid two-third shares allotted to him at partition, and that s. 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code had no application to the case. MULA MAL v. BHANA MAL, 48 P.L.R. 1902.

(96)—Right of mortgagee to throw the whole debt on a portion of the security and release the rest—Omission of prior mortgagee in a suit by subsequent mortgagee to set up his prior rights whether a bar by rule of, in a subsequent suit by him to enforce his security—Constructive—Applicability of—Determination of—Acknowledgment by mortgagor, saving of limitation by—Revival of mortgage right after satisfaction when permissible—Limitation after revival.—The plaintiffs were mortgagees of certain properties. A major portion of the properties was sold to the plaintiffs for the purpose of discharging their mortgages and certain other debts due by the mortgagors. The mortgagors undertook to pay off the prior incumbrances on the properties sold and executed an ekrarnamah under which they mortgaged a number of properties, not the subject of the present appeal, to secure the purchasers against any loss they might sustain by being called upon to pay off earlier incumbrances. Subsequently, the present appellants, who were subsequent incumbrancers upon a portion of the properties mortgaged to the plaintiffs, obtained a decree upon their mortgage and in execution of their decree purchased the properties mortgaged to them. The plaintiffs alleged that they were dispossessed of the properties sold to them and hence brought the present suit to recover possession of the property sold to them or, in the alternative, for enforcement of their mortgage. Before the suit came on for hearing, the plaintiffs exonerated the defendants, other than the appellants, in respect of claims against them so far as the mortgaged properties, other than those purchased by the appellants, were concerned. The lower Court, thereupon, passed a decree in favour of the plaintiffs for realization of sums due to them by auction-sale of the properties purchased by the appellants and by auction-sale of properties comprised in the ekrarnamah. Held, that the plaintiffs were not entitled to throw the whole debt on a portion (property purchased by the appellants) of the whole property comprised in the mortgage on the ground that the other shares had been mortgaged up to their full value under prior mortgages. Appeal allowed and suit dismissed so far as it affected the appellants. Per Mookerjee, J.—An acknowledgment by a mortgagor in favour of a first mortgagee, does not preclude a puisne mortgagee, whose title accrued before the acknowledgment was given, from relying on the Statute of limitation. For, the proper construction to be put upon s. 19 of the Limitation Act is that when it makes an acknowledgment given by one person operative against another on the ground that the latter derives title or liability from the former, it contemplates that the derivation of title or liability takes place after the acknowledgment has been given. (1 C.L J. 23, 12 W.R. 362, 8 A. 324, R) Although, ordinarily, limitation runs from the earliest time at which an action can be brought, yet there may be a revival of a right to sue when a previous satisfaction of the claim has been nullified. Consequently, in the present case, the plaintiffs got a fresh cause of action when the conveyance in their favour proved to be inoperative: and, as the suit was instituted within twelve years from the time when the money became due upon the revival of the cause of action, the suit was not barred. [R., 2 C.L. J. 288; D., 6 C.L.J. 612=12 C.W.N. 107.] It is open to a puisne mortgagee, in an action against his mortgagor, to join prior as well as subsequent incumbrancers as defendants, so as to enable them to obtain a decree entitling them to redeem the prior incumbrancers as also to call upon the subsequent incumbrancers to redeem him; in an action so framed, a prior incumbrancer must set up all the earlier securities held by him, and, if he omits to do so, he may find himself estopped when he seeks to enforce them in a subsequent action. On the other hand, if a puisne mortgagee brings an action against his mortgagor and joins all prior as well as subsequent incumbrancers, but asks for no relief against the holder of the prior security and contents himself with a prayer for the sale of the properties subject to prior charges, it is not necessary for the prior incumbrancer to set out his earlier securities; they are entirely foreign to the scope of the suit, and no investigation as to their validity or extent can possibly take place in the action so framed. The present plaintiffs were made parties to the previous suit by the appellants, as the holders of a subsequent mortgage, bound to redeem the then plaintiffs; but no relief was asked for against them in their character of prior mortgagees; it was, consequently, not obligatory on them to set up their prior securities, or to compel the then plaintiffs to convert their suit for sale into a suit for redemption. Consequently, the plaintiffs were not barred by rule of res judicata from enforcing their lien on their security. [R., 33 C. 425=3 C.L J. 205, 5 C.L.J. 611=36 C. 193.] The doctrine of constructive res judicata embodied in explanation II to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, is not applicable, unless the subject-matter of the present suit was identical with the subject-matter of the previous suit. [R., 35 C. 979=12 C.W. N. 862=8 C.L.J. 82.] In determining the question of res judicata, reference must be made not only to the decree but also to the judgment and pleadings. SURJIRAM MARWARI v. BARHAMDEO PERSAD. 1 C.L.J. 337. [F., 33 C. 613=10 C.W.N. 551=3 C.L.J. 576; R., 6 C.L.J. 46, 10 C.L.J. 150, 9 C.L.J. 597=12 C.W.N. 739=6 M.L.T. 363, 10 C.L. J. 420=2 Ind. Cas. 129=13 C.W.N 1197; D., 7 C.L.J. 274]

Res Judicata*—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(97)—Res judicata — Discharge, pleaded in prior suit—Not proved.—A plea of discharge which the plaintiff failed to prove in a prior suit brought by the defendant against plaintiff to recover waram will not constitute res judicata in a subsequent suit by plaintiff for the return of a loan advanced to defendant. AKILANDAM PILLAI v. CHINNASAMI MOOPAN, M.W.N. 1912, 172=11 M.L.T. 201=13 Ind. Cas. 642.

(98)—Res judicata — U. P. Land Revenue Act (III of 1901), s. 185—Decision of the Deputy Commissioner as to the amount of rent and cesses payable by an under-proprietor to a superior proprietor — Summary proceedings to recover rent, effect of—Oudh Land Revenue Act, (XVII of 1876), s. 158—Rural Police rate—Effect of neglecting to enforce right for some time—Want of inclusion in settlement amount.—The decision of a Deputy Commissioner in a proceeding held under s. 185 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act or s. 158 of the Oudh Land Revenue Act, 1876, does not render the question of the amount of rent and cesses payable by an under-proprietor to the superior proprietor res judicata. S. 185 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, like s. 158 of the Oudh Land Revenue Act of 1876, provides a summary remedy for the recovery of rent and other sums payable by the under-proprietors. Such proceedings do not result in a decree and cannot have the force of res judicata. A superior proprietor cannot be deprived of his rights merely because for some years he had neglected to enforce them. A claim for rural Police rate cannot be rejected on the ground that it was not included in the amount fixed as rent by the Settlement Officer at the revision of Settlement, where the Settlement was revised before the rural Police rate was imposed. RAJPAL SINGH v. PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH, 12 Ind. Cas. 331.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(99)—Res judicata—Joint tort-feasors—Action against one joint tort-feasor bars another action against others—Rule in, Brinsmead v. Harrison—Rule does not apply to subsequent tort—Cause of action in both suits to be the same for res judicata to apply—Lis pendens does not apply to moveable property—Plea of adoption by defendant—Decision in first suit—Defendant not claiming under the parties in first suit can agitate the question in second suit—Pledge—Conversion.— M K, claiming to be the adopted son of M R, took possession of certain ornaments belonging to MR, which he wrongfully pledged in 1897 with G. Soon after, J, the daughter of MR sued MK to recover the ornaments, and obtained a decree which was not satisfied. MK had pledged only two of the ornaments with G before the date of the suit; while the remaining ones were pledged after the institution of the suit. Subsequently, in 1907 J sued G, the pawnee, to recover the ornaments. The defendant contended in reply that, MK and G being joint tort-feasors, the suit was barred under the rule in (15 A. 108, F.). He also pleaded that MK was the validly adopted son of MR. Held, that the plea of res judicata must fail in so far as it was based upon the rule of Brinsmead v. Harrison, for a fresh assignment in respect of a tort subsequent to that originally sued upon would not come within the scope of the rule so as to bar the fresh assignment; and that the cause of action in the second suit must be precisely the same as the cause of action in the first suit, in order to make the judgment in the first suit a bar to proceedings in the second suit; that the fact that the first suit was pending at the time of the pledge of a large portion of the ornaments sought to be recovered in the second suit could not prejudice the defendant on the issue of res judicata, for the doctrine of lis pendens did not apply to moveable property; that the defendant was entitled to raise the issue about MK's adoption, for the first suit was no bar to the issue sought to be raised by the defendant as it was subsequent to the pledge, and the defendant did not claim under a person against whom the issue of adoption had been at the time of the pledge finally heard and determined. GOVIND BABA GUJAR v. SHRIMANT JIJIBAI SAHEB, 14 Bom. L.R. 9=36 B. 189=13 Ind. Cas. 849.

(100)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Suit for recovery of receipt no bar to subsequent suit for balance due on account — Cause of action. —A person sued for the recovery of a certain commissariat receipt which had been made over to another as security for an advance of money given by the latter. Held in a subsequent suit by the same person against the same party for the balance due on the whole account, that the plaintiff was not bound to joint the present claim, which rested on a different cause of action, with the previous one in which it was not necessary for the Court to have gone into the whole account between the parties and have decided the amount of the balance due. NAWAB MEHDI ULLEE KHAN v. MAHOMED WAJID ULLEE, 1 N.W.P. 70.

(101)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 12 and 13—Rent, Suit for—Mesne profits, Suit for.—A purchased a tenure at a sale for arrears of rent, and some time after, served a notice upon B, an under-tenure holder under s. 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. A then sued to eject B, and to recover mesne profits. The Court made a decree for ejectment and allowed mesne profits from the date of the service of notice under s. 167. B preferred an appeal. During its pendency, A sued B for rent for the period between the date of his purchase and the date of the service of notice. Held, (1) that the suit was not barred under s. 12 of the Civ. Pro. Code (7 C.W.N. 720, Appl.)—(2) that the suit was not barred under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, as A could not join claims for rent and mesne profits in the previous suit. NAFFAR CHANDER PAL CHOWDHURY v. MUNSHI MAHOMED KAYUN, 8 C.L.J. 303.

(102)—Suit for the possession of the whole dismissed—Subsequent suit for declaration of right—Cause of action— Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Exp. II. and s. 43.--In consequence of a dispute between the parties, the Criminal Court acting under the provisions of the Crim. Pro. Code maintained the defendant in possession. The plaintiffs brought a suit for possession alleging that they were the owners of the whole. The Court found that the parties were joint owners but dismissed the suit on the ground that the plaintiffs had not asked for declaration of their right to a proportionate part. The plaintiffs brought this suit for declaration that they were entitled to collect their half share of rents from the land in dispute. Held, that, having regard to the nature of the two suits, the relief claimed in the present suit would have been inconsistent with the relief claimed in the former suit, and hence the plaintiffs were not bound to make it a ground of attack in that suit. The present claim was, therefore, not barred by Exp. ii to s. 13 of the Code. Held, further, that the suit was not barred by s. 43. MAHANDAR SINGH v. JANKI SINGH, 2 A.L.J. 342. (19 A. 517, 25 B. 189, A.W.N. 1903, 97, R.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

(103)—Plea of res judicata in appeal.—A plea of res judicata may be raised at any stage of a case, provided that where the plea is urged in the appellate Court the facts are already in evidence which are alleged to bar the suit. FATTEH KHAN v. BAZ, 139 P.R. 1888. (80 P.R. 1884, R.)

(104)—Act X of 1877, s. 13—Res judicata, essentials of.—To constitute a res judicata under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, not only must the same issue have been raised between the proper parties, but it must have been heard and finally decided. KHUSHALA v. ISHAR DAS, 104 P.R. 1883, Note (a).

(105)—Res judicata—Act X of 1877, s. 13.—Where the plaintiffs' suit relating to a certain land at the Summary Settlements in 1857, 1858 and 1859, were according to the practice of that time dismissed, and they were told to sue again at the Regular Settlement, a suit brought by them at the Regular Settlement was held not barred by s. 13, inasmuch as the matter in dispute could not be said to have been heard and finally decided in the former suits within the meaning of that section, the effect of the former decisions being simply to postpone the determination of the matter. ALLAHYAR v. SHAHWALI, 104 P.R. 1883, Note (b).

See ACCOUNTS—SUIT FOR ACCOUNTS, 3 C.L.R. 444.

See ACT XX OF 1863, s. 2, 14 M. 1.

See ACT IV OF 1869, ss. 13, 14, 45 P. R. 1871.

Reference to Civil Court of question of apportionment of compensation money—Decision, if res judicata on question of title to other properties—See ACT I OF 1894, 11 C.W.N. 525=34 C. 466.

Adjudication by Forest Settlement Officer under Madras Forest Act of 1882—Subsequent civil suit barred—See ACT I OF 1894, ss. 16, 48, 17 M.L.J. 557.

Decision of Settlement officer that land was not held rent-free, effect of—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 9, 11 C.W.N. 859.

Previous rent decree not deciding rate of rent —Res judicata—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 29, 9 C.L.J. 343=36 C. 604=2 Ind. Cas. 828.

Suit for assessment of additional rent on same additional area which formed subject-matter of previous suit barred—Previous suit operates as—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 30, 37, 50, 52, 115, 12 C.W.N. 904.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

Whether decision in a previous rent-suit operates as—In a suit for rent for subsequent years—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 51, 5 C. L.J. 92.

Temporary revenue settlement—Settlement affirmed by special Judge—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 55, 107, 109, 109-A, and 192, 11 C.W.N. 939.

Question heard and decided by a Revenue officer—Decision operating as res judicata—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 102, 106, 17 C. 721.

Dismissal of a petition of objection under s. 104-E of the Bengal Tenancy Act, does not bar subsequent suit for rent by objector—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 103-A, 104-E, 104-H, 111-A, 3 C L.J. 133.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 105, 106, 28 C. 471=5 C.W.N. 798.

Decision under ss. 105, 106, 809, Bengal Tenancy Act—Res judicata—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 105, 106, 109, 7 Ind. Cas. 71.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 107, 28 C. 676.

Rate of rent determined in a rent-suit—Subsequent suit at enhanced rate—Effect of entry of rate of rent in settlement record—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 107, 109, 32 C. 336 =9 C.W.N. 610=1 C.L J. 134.

Prior suit on pattah—Inclusion of voluntary fees in pattah—Failure to object to such inclusion — Subsequent suit—Res judicata—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 17 M.L.J. 433=30 M. 498=3 M.L.T. 17.

See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 7, 9, 13 M. L.J. 485.

Dismissal of suit to enforce acceptance of patta by Revenue Court—Subsequent civil suit for recovery of rent on the basis of tender of proper patta—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 9 and 72, 17 M.L.J. 601=3 M.L.T. 186= 31 M. 62.

See U. P. ACT XIX OF 1873, ss. 113, 114, 2 A 839.

See U. P. ACT XVII OF 1876, s. 53, 5 O.C. 97.

Previous suit for interest on rent for a different period—Res judicata—See U. P. ACT II OF 1901, s. 101, 1 Ind. Cas. 529.

Suit for rent under Agra Tenancy Act—Tenant not pleading proprietary title—Subsequent suit for declaration—Res judicata—See U. P. ACT II OF 1901, s. 190, 6 A.L J. 259= 31 A. 323=2 Ind. Cas. 218.

Judgment of Assistant Collector—Res judicata—See U. P. ACT II OF 1901, s. 199, 6 A.L J. 917=32 A. 8=3 Ind. Cas. 954.

Res Judicata —continued.

——1.—General —continued.

Bond obtained from tenant for non-occupancy and ex proprietary holding—Application for fixing rent—Bond found to have been obtained by undue influence as to ex-proprietary holding—Subsequent suit for arrears of rent—Whether finding as to undue influence res judicata—See U.P. ACT III OF 1901, s. 36, 5 A.L.J 642=A.W.N. 1908, 250.

Finding upon unnecessary issue—Whether res judicata—See APPEAL—GENERAL, 120 P. L.R. 1911.

Plea of res judicata taken for first time in second appeal—See APPELLATE COURT—OBJECTIONS FIRST TAKEN IN APPEAL, 4 A. 69, F.B.=A.W.N. 1881, 116.

See APPELLATE COURT — OBJECTIONS FIRST TAKEN IN APPEAL, 2 Hay 154.

Order refusing to file award—Suit to enforce it whether barred—See AWARD, 8 A.L.J. 315.

Applicability of rule of—To insolvency proceedings—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1882, ss. 336, 344, 75 P.R. 1905, F.B.=193 P.L.R. 1905.

Interpretation of decree in a particular sense —Effect—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 33, 7 A.L.J. 190=5 Ind. Cas. 210=32 A. 210.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 47, 11, 1 O. C. 22.

Sale of property under attachment—Partition of property purchased—Dismissal of suit by attaching creditor, as co-sharer, for declaration of his title to property purchased—Subsequent application for sale of property in execution of decree—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 64, O. XXI, r. 58, 2 A.L J. 265.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 144 (1), 9 O.C. 254.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. IX, r. 8, 177 P.R. 1888.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. X, r. 4, 13 B.L.R. 658.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 2, 20 M. 369=7 M.L.J. 71.

Application for rateable distribution by transferee to Court to which decree transferred—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 16, s. 73, s. 47, 25 A. 443=A.W.N. 1903, 99.

Res judicata—Decision declaring character as legal representative—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXII, r. 5, 9 M.L.T. 403.

Res judicata—Appeal—Unconditional withdrawal of—Whether bars fresh suit—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXIII, r. 1, 5 N.L.R. 88=3 Ind. Cas. 61.

Suit for share of profits—Compromise—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXIII, r. 3, 2 O.C. 112.

Res Judicata —continued.

——1.—General —continued.

Operation of—Preventing a judgment-debtor from pleading bar by limitation in respect of a previous application ordered without objection —See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXVI, rr. 13, 14, 47 P.R. 1906=86 P.L R. 1907.

Compromise decree by guardian ad item, suit leased on allegation of fraud, to set aside—Subsequent suit for the purpose on the ground of want of Court's sanction—See COMPROMISE—GENERAL, 21 M. 91=8 M L.J. 28.

Compromise decree when operates as—See COMPROMISE—EFFECT OF, 5 C.L.J. 611=36 C. 193=1 Ind. Cas. 913.

Estoppel by—Applicability of rule—Question of law—See COMPROMISE—ENFORCING, 9 M.L.T. 497.

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 43, 3 C. 353=1 C.L.R. 488.

Suit for contribution—Question left open in previous suit—Limitation—See CONTRIBUTION, SUITS FOR—GENERAL, 71 P.L.R. 1911 =66 P.W.R. 1911=10 Ind. Cas. 839.

Question of Khanadamad—Res judicata—See CO-SHARERS—GENERAL, 145 P.W.R. 1904=4 Ind. Cas. 1004.

Costs—Plea of—Raised after evidence—See COSTS—SPECIAL CASES, 6 C. 406=7 C.L.R. 251.

See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB — GENERAL, 23 P.R. 1897.

Alienation by sonless proprietor—Suit by reversioner during life of proprietor—Dismissal of such suit—Subsequent suit by reversioner's son after proprietor's death barred—See CUSTOM—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 68 P.R. 1905.

Res judicata—Dismissal of previous declaratory suit brought by some reversioners to contest alienation on the ground that they had no locus standi—Subsequent suit by other reversioners not party to the former suit, whether barred—See CUSTOM — PUNJAB — ALIENATION, 36 P.W. R. 1908=111 P.L.R, 1908.

Former suit by mortgagee to enforce his rights—Subsequent suit by his sons and reversioners to protect their intersts—Opposite finding in two cases illegal—Duty of Judge—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 139 P.W. R. 1909=4 Ind. Cas 997.

See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 140 P.L.R. 1902.

See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB— INHERITANCE, 146 P.R. 1894.

Identity of subject-matter, if essential—How established—See DEBUTTER PROPERTY, 12 C.W.N. 739=9 C.L.J. 597.

Declaration of title—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR, 5 A. 345, F.B.

Res Judicata*—continued.

——1.—General —continued.

Decree obtained ex parte for specific performance—Declaration of plaintiff's right alone under agreement—Dismissal of defendant's application to set aside decree—Subsequent application for amending decree — Whether barred by — See DECREE — ALTERATION OR AMENDMENT OF DECREE, 12 B. 174.

See DECREE—ALTERATION OR AMENDMENT OF DECREE, 10 A. 51=A.W.N. 1887, 284, 15 M. 403=1 M.L.J. 535.

Decisions on questions raised and decided in review-proceedings — See DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 C.L.J. 508.

Acquisition of easement — Res judicata—See EASEMENTS ACT, 1882, s. 13, 9 Ind. Cas. 813.

See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—ENHANCEMENT, NOTICE OF, 3 C. 271.

Estoppel by conduct—Cause of action—See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT, 2 Ind. Jur. N.S. 122.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 13, 25 A. 546 =A.W.N. 1903, 137.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 40, 20 B. 475.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 40, 41, 42, 24 A. 242=A.W.N. 1902, 38.

Estoppel by judgment — Judgment inter partes—Non-disclosure of title in a previous suit—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 115, 1 C. L J. 23=32 C. 357, P.C.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 116, A.W.N. 1884, 274.

Finality of ex parte decree—Suit to set aside decree—Fraud— Limitation—See EX PARTE DECREE, 47 P.L.R. 1910=8 Ind. Cas. 232.

See FALSE PERSONATION, 15 A. 261, P.C.

Decree without fraud, strangers when bound by—Decree obtained on fraud of one of the parties, effect of, till set aside for fraud—Fraud and collusion of both parties to suit, decree obtained on, how far binding on other persons—See FRAUD—EFFECT OF FRAUD, 6 B. 703.

Fraudulent transaction upheld by decree of Court—Party precluded from setting up his own fraud—See FRAUD—MISCELLANEOUS, 4 M.L.T. 331.

Alienation by grand-father—Vendee suing minor grandson for possession—Guardian ad litem confessing judgment—Subsequent suit for possession by minor not barred — See GUARDIAN—GENERAL, 15 P.L.R. 1912=36 P.W.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 20.

Petition by one of minor's relatives to be appointed guardian in preference to another, referred to a fresh petition—Subsequent petition, if—See GUARDIAN—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS, 5 M.L.T. 208.

Res Judicata*—continued.

——1.—General—continued,

See HIGH COURT, 17 A. 294, F.B.=15 A. W.N. 1895, 167.

Question of validity of adoption settled in prior suit—See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 1 M.H.C. 45.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 23 B. 296.

See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE, 22 M. 175, 129 P.L.R. 1902.

Institution of suits as regards different portions of estate belonging to family — Res judicata—See HINDU LAW—PARTITION, 13 B. 25.

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT, 14 B.L.R. 450, P.C.=3 Sar. 449=23 W.R. 253=2 I.A. 145.

First suit by some reversioners against others during widow's life—Second suit between the same parties after widow's death—Question in issue same in both suits—See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONERS, 2 C.L.J. 144.

Finding not embodied in decree may operate as—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 3 N.L.R. 35.

See HINDU LAW—WILL, 2 Ind. Jur. N.S. 24.

Decision of questions in former suit, not quite necessary for its determination, not—Between same parties in latter suit—See HINDU LAW—WILL, 12 C.W.N. 1002=36 C. 75=1 Ind. Cas. 523.

See INSOLVENCY—GENERAL, 76 P.R. 1899.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—EJECTMENT, L.B.R. 1872—1892, 625.

Tenancy denied in previous suit for rent between landlord and tenant—Suit for rent dismissed—Plaintiff seeking to recover possession cannot sue defendant as tenant—Plea of res judicata—Only course is in ejectment—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—RELATIONSHIP OF LANDLORD AND TENANT, 34 C. 922.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—RELATIONSHIP OF LANDLORD AND TENANT, 6 A. 52= A.W.N. 1883, 203.

Finding as to eviction—Erroneous decision on point of law—Effect—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TENANTS' LIABILITY FOR RENT, 13 C.L.J. 119=9 Ind. Cas. 568.

Claim to lands—Omission to make some defendants as parties respondents—Res judicata—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TENANTS' LIABILITY FOR RENT, 9 C.L J. 479=13 C. W.N. 746=1 Ind. Cas. 539.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TENANTS' LIABILITY FOR RENT, 14 M. 365.

Decree for ejectment against tenant for converting agricultural holding into one of a different nature—Effect of decree on tenant's minor son not party to suit against tenant—Suit by son claiming tenancy—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 2 M.L.T. 86 =17 M.L.J. 197.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General —continued.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 9 Ind. Cas. 2.

Court misconstruing decree— If mistake of law can give rise to—See LEASE—GENERAL, 6 M.L.T. 313=20 M.L.J. 20=33 M. 102=3 Ind. Cas. 701.

Decree for money rent—Res judicata—See LEASE -CONSTRUCTION OF LEASE, 12 C.L.J. 595=8 Ind. Cas. 945.

Decision of issue improperly raised after remand—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 29 (1)a, arts. 118, 144, 10 C.W.N. 1065, P C.=8 Bom. L.R. 722=16 M.L.J. 440=3 A.L.J. 695=4 C. L.J. 405=1 M.L.T. 265=9 O.C. 377=28 A. 727=33 I.A. 156.

Withdrawal of suit—Order becoming final—Res judicata—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 31 (2), 9 A.L.J. 378=14 Ind. Cas. 175.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 116, 62, 97, 29 M. 353.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 120, 140, 144, 3 M.L.J. 213.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 134, 12 B. 352.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 2 C. L.R. 10.

Successive rent suits—Question of area on which rent assessable—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 175, 11 C.W.N. 1100=6 C.L.J. 715 =34 C. 1020.

See LIS PENDENS, 1 A. 588.

Unsustainability of plea of—in the absence of previous proceedings in evidence — See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WILL, 9 C.W.N. 938, P.C.=1 C.L.J 594=2 A.L.J. 758=15 M.L.J. 336=7 Bom. L.R. 876=33 C. 116=32 I A. 244.

See MALABAR LAW—ENDOWMENT, 14 M. 312.

Former suit declaring possession in favour of Tarwad—Right of Karnavan to claim possession in subsequent suit—Res judicata—See MALABAR LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 7 M.L.T. 431=6 Ind. Cas. 268.

Between co-defendants — Appellate Court declining to decide an issue and disposing of the case on other grounds—First Court's judgment upon that issue no bar to future suit—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 5 C.L.J. 653.

Mortgage—Second suit not maintainable for same cause—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 8 A.L.J. 599

Subsequent mortgagee seeking priority — Failure to plead in previous suit plea barred in subsequent suit—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 9 C. L.J. 78=3 Ind. Cas. 686.

Res judicata—Prior suit for declaration of title to moiety of property —Dismissal—Subsequent suit for declaration of title to whole property and injunction — See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 7 M.L.T. 405=6 Ind. Cas. 764.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General —continued.

Mortgage suit—Person joined as defendant failing to set up paramount title—Effect—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 6 N.L.R. 156.

See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 2 A. 455.

Decree couched in general terms—Question whether it operates as—Duty of Court—Mortgage decree—Decree nisi—Decree absolute—Res judicata—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 13 Bom. L.R. 162.

Constructive — Defence which might and ought to have been taken in former trial—Principle of the rule—Civ Pro. Code, s. 13, Explanations 2 and 3—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 5 C.L.J. 192=34 C, 223.

Suit for redemption—Two appeals in the lower Court - Two decrees passed — Appeal against one —Res judicata—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 8 A.L.J. 605.

Whether right to redeem is —See MORTGAGE —REDEMPTION, 4 M.L.T. 73.

Redemption suit dismissed for default of payment—Second suit barred—See MORTGAGE —REDEMPTION, 2 Ind. Cas. 662.

Second suit for redemption—First decree not fixing a time within which mortgage-money was payable—See MORTGAGE — REDEMPTION, 8 O.C 361.

Property undivided and subject to mortgage —Power of one sharer to redeem—Lien over other shares—Res judicata—See MORTGAGE —REDEMPTION, 8 M.L.T. 186.

See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 5 Ind. Cas. 478=8 M.L.T. 252, 9 Ind. Cas. 158, 4 O.C. 100, 6 O C. 239, 8 O.C. 302.

See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, 8 C. W.N. 385, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 14.

"Heard and finally decided," meaning of—Effect of appeal in former suit having abated—Partition suit—See PARTITION—GENERAL, 8 Ind. Cas. 325.

Suit by a Mahomedan co-sharer for partition and separate possession of his share—No obligation on other co-owners to come to partition—Fresh suit by another co-sharer for separate possession of his share, maintainability of —See PARTITION—GENERAL, 3 S.L.R. 93=3 Ind. Cas. 899.

See PARTITION—RIGHT TO PARTITION, 7 B. 272.

Previous suit for partnership debt—Widow as co-plaintiff—Application of old or new Code on the question of—See PARTNERSHIP—GENERAL, 142 P.W.R. 1910=97 P.R. 1910=8 Ind. Cas. 999.

See PLAINT—AMENDMENT OF PLAINT, 4 O.C. 108.

Mortgage—Equity of redemption, capable of being subject of adverse possession—Limitation —See POSSESSION—ADVERSE POSSESSION, 14 B. 176.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—continued.

See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 8 P. R. 1904.

Pre-emption suit decreed on the ground that an ostensible mortgage is in reality a sale—Subsequent suit by vendor's son against vendee to impugn alienation — Res judicata—See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 157 P.W. R. 1909.

Two appeals from one decree—Decrees in appeal drawn up in identical terms, effect of—See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—GENERAL. 4 A.L.J. 587=A.W.N. 1907, 245=29 A. 730.

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1865, s. 6, A.W.N. 1890, 21, 9 C. 183=11 C.L.R. 305.

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 17, cl. (2), 2 O.C. 250.

Decision in rent suit how far operates as—See RENT, 2 Ind. Cas. 160.

See RENT, 7 O.C. 169.

See RENT, SUIT FOR, 3 O.C. 65.

High Court's powers of revision—Wrong decision on question of—See REVISION—GENERAL, 9 B. 432.

Erroneous decision on question of res judicata—Failure to exercise jurisdiction—Revisional powers of High Court under s. 622, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—See REVISION—GENERAL, 11 B. 488.

Wrong decision as to—When a ground for revision—See REVISION—GENERAL, 2 P.R. 1910, Rev.=6 Ind. Cas. 75=101 P.L.R. 1910.

See RIGHT OF SUIT—DECREES, 2 N.W.P. 382.

Effect of obiter dictum—See SHAMILAT, 94 P.L.R. 1910.

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT, 1889, s. 18 (b and c) 19 B. 821.

S. 13 Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, applicability of, to applications under s. 90 of the Transfer of Property Act—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 90, 2 A.L.J. 379=A.W.N. 1905, 144.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 90, 14 M.L.J. 103.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 99, 18 A. 325=A.W.N. 1896, 94.

Wills—Application for probate—Earlier wills not revoked by last—Finding by Probate Court—Res judicata—See WILL—CONSTRUCTION, 9 M.L.T. 319=21 M.L.J. 485=9 Ind. Cas. 613.

By plaintiff with permission to sue afresh—Subsequent suit on same cause of action—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss 13, 373—See WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT, A.W.N. 1885, 151.

Res Judicata—continued.

——1.—General—concluded

Former suit dismissed for failure to produce evidence, with reservation to bring a new suit—Fresh suit—See WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT, 3 B.L.R. P.C. 48=13 M.I.A. 160=12 W.R. P.C. 43.

No judgment defining rights and obligations of defendants inter se—Applicability of principle of—See WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT, 7 Ind. Cas. 892=12 C.L.J. 434.

——2.—Adjudications.

See ESTOPPEL — ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT.

(1)—Decree, test of res judicata.—It is by the decree and not by the judgment that a question of res judicata must be decided. AVALA v. KUPPU, 8 M.77. [R., 12 M. 500.]

(2)—Res judicata—Error of law.—The doctrine of res judicata does not necessitate a repetition of an error of law. VENKU v. MAHALINGA, 11 M. 393. [F., 28 M. 517=15 M.L.J. 466, 44 P.R. 1908; R., 2 O.C. 261, 14 C.P.L.R. 109, 32 C. 749=9 C.W.N. 466=1 C.L.J. 176, 8 O.C. 37, 30 M. 461=17 M.L.J. 250.]

(3)—Final adjudication—Parties to be arrayed on opposite side.—For the purposes of res judicata, no adjudication can be final, unless the parties between whom the doctrine is to be applied were arrayed on opposite sides in the former litigation. MUHAMMAD ZAHIA KHAN v. MIRDAD KHAN, A.W.N. 1887, 246.

(4)—Decision of question of title—Test.—In considering the question whether a decree determines the rights of parties so as to bar a subsequent suit, it must not be assumed that, because a decree does not in precise terms say anything as to the matter of title involved in a suit, it necessarily does not determine such title. What has to be seen is, whether, upon examination of the pleadings of the parties, and the questions arising between them thereon, a decision of the question of title was essential to the passing of a decree. If it was, then, the decree must be taken to decide it; if it was not, then otherwise. MELVILL v. KHUAJU, A.W.N. 1886, 3.

(5)—Adjudicated matter incidentally in issue—Finality.—Per Muthusami Aiyer, J.—If the matter adjudicated on in a suit, is only incidentally in issue or cognizable, the adjudication is final, whether by a Court of concurrent or limited jurisdiction only for the proper purpose and object of that suit. MANAPPA MUDALI v. S. T. MCCARTHY, 3 M. 192, F.B. [F., 1 M.L.J. 313, 2 M.L.J. 36; R., 13 M. 287.]

(6)—S. 13—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882.—Res judicata—"Finally decided," meaning of.—A matter cannot be considered to be finally decided, unless in point of fact it was actually decided by all the tribunals before which that particular matter came for decision. Therefore, when the decision of a lower Court is appealed to a superior tribunal, and that tribunal for any reason does not think fit to decide the matter, it is left an open question. BISHNU CHARAN MODAK v. MOHESH CHANDRA MOHANTI. 3 Ind. Cas. 87. (11 C.L.R. 22=18 C. 631, F.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(7)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13 — Matter directly and substantially in issue.--Although a plaintiff and a defendant may have been co-defendants in a former suit, a matter in dispute between them, in a subsequent suit, may have formed the subject of active controversy in the former suit so as to preclude them from raising the same question in the subsequent suit. The adjudication of a matter, directly and substantially in issue between the parties in a previous suit, operates as res judicata to bar the trial of the same issue in a subsequent suit, even though the decision of the previous suit may not have proceeded upon the finding on this issue. VENKAYYA v. NARASAMMA, 11 M. 204. [F., 15 M. 264; R., 14 M. 324, 79 P. R. 1905.]

(8)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 148—Res judicata.—The plea of res judicata ordinarily pre-supposes an adjudication on the merits, as contra-distinguished from an adjudication of which the effect consists in suspending the right of action, until a certain event occurs or for some time. S. 148 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act VIII of 1859) contains a statutory direction that, in case the plaintiff neglects to produce evidence and to prove his claim as he is bound to do, the Court do proceed to decide the suit on such material as is actually before it, and that the decision so pronounced shall have the force of a decree on the merits, notwithstanding the default on the part of the plaintiff. VENKATACHALAM v. MAHALAKSHMAMMA, 40 M. 272. [R., 9 C. W.N. 679.]

(9)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Litigating under the same title.—A plea of res judicata is a bar, under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, not only to the trial of a suit, but also to the trial of any one of the issues in a suit which may have been finally heard and determined, and which may form the ground or one of the grounds of decision, and the trial of such an issue will be barred, even though the ground of action in the second suit is not the same as in the first. The words litigating under the same title do not refer to the identity of the ground of action, but mean that the question must have been raised and decided in the same right, i.e., in the right of the parties to the second suit. ALI MOIDEN v. KOMBI, 5 M. 239.

(10)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Decision of a Court in British India, whether res judicata in Berar.—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, as applied to Berar, is not the same law as it is in British India. In British India, it is Act XIV of 1882 enacted by the Governor-General in

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

Council. In Berar it is a replica of this enactment set up by an executive order of the Government of India in the Foreign Department. In Berar, the judgment of the Nagpur Court is a foreign judgment. Hence a matter decided by a Court in Nagpur is not res judicata as applied to Berar. SYED IMAM v. MOHAMAD SHIKANDAR, 4 N.L.R. 61. (29 C. 707, F.)

(11)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, New Code)—Application under s. 90, Transfer of Property Act, IV of 1882.—S. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code would not apply to an application under s. 90 of the Transfer of Property Act, for a decree, no matter whether the plaintiff had or had not claimed originally in his suit subsequent relief, or whether, if claimed, such subsequent relief had been allowed or disallowed by the Court when making the decree under s. 88 of the Act, the time for adjudicating on the claim for subsequent relief not arriving until the decree under s. 88 had been exhausted. HAMID-UD-DIN v. KEDAR NATH, 20 A. 386=A.W.N. 1898, 83. (14 A. 513, F.) [R., A.W.N. 1899, 72.]

(12)—Res judicata — Judgment —Findings essential to sustain judgment—Re-agitating to defeat direct object—Will, construction, suit for —Representative of trustee, if necessary party—Party having no present interest praying for construction of Will—Party, if bound—Co-defendants — Adjudication defining rights — Erroneous decision on question of law, if operates as res judicata—Trustee, dealing with trust property for his benefit—Trustee, who to be appointed—Costs.—An estoppel is not confined to the judgment, but extends to all facts involved in it as necessary steps or groundwork : in other words, a judgment operates by way of estoppel as regards all the findings which are essential to sustain the judgment. The rule against re-agitating matters, adjudicated is subject to the restriction—that, however essential the establishment of particular facts may be to the soundness of a judicial decision, however it may proceed on them as established, and however binding and conclusive the decision may as to his immediate and direct object be, those facts are not all necessarily established conclusively between the parties, and, that either may again litigate them for any other purpose as to which they may come in question, provided the immediate subject of the decision be not attempted to be withdrawn from its operation so as to defeat its direct object. In a suit for construction of a will, the representatives of the original trustees appointed thereby are necessary parties. (3 C.L.J. 224, R.) Where a party did not ask the Court to be dismissed from the suit on the ground that, as he disclaimed all present interest in the estate, he was not a necessary party, but raised the question of construction of the will in that suit, he is bound by the decree. Where an adjudication between defendants who had a conflict of interest between them, was necessary to give the appropriate relief to the plaintiff and there was such adjudication, the adjudication which defined the real rights of the defendants inter se will be res judicata between the defendants, as well as between the plaintiff and the defendants. (5 C.L.J. 611, 36 C. 193, 5 C.L.J. 653, F.) So far as an issue of mixed law and fact is concerned, it stands on the same footing as an issue of fact, and decision thereon operates as res judicata. Cases of construction of Wills fall within this class. (28 C. 318, 29 M. 225, R.) As regards applicability to decisions erroneous in law, the rule of res judicata applies where the parties seek to litigate again the same cause of action as had been decided between them in a prior suit; but where the dispute relates to matters which had already been in controversy and formed the subsidiary consideration in the previous suit, although the causes of action in the two suits may be distinct, the estoppel is to be limited to matters distinctly put in issue and determined in the prior action, and it should further be restricted to questions of fact or mixed questions of fact and law. Cases on the subject reviewed. The same words in different parts of a will should be given the same meaning, unless there is some clear indication that the testator intended to use the word a second time in a restricted sense. Although the cardinal rule in the construction of will is to give effect to the intention of the testator, the duty of the Court is to discover, not what the testator meant, but what is the meaning of his words. Those who claim under an instrument are bound by the testator's expressed intention. A trustee, who deals with the trust property for his own personal advantage, renders himself liable to be removed. A man should not be appointed a trustee who is likely to misappropriate trust money, but poverty alone is not a sufficient ground for exclusion from the office of trustee. Where difficulty has been created and litigation has been in a manner rendered necessary by the act of the testator, for instance, by reason of the ambiguity or inconsistency in the provisions of his will, the Court orders costs of all parties to come out of the estate (3 C.L.J. 224, R.). AGHORE NATH MUKERJEE v. SRIMATI KAMINI DEBI, 11 C.L.J. 461=6 Ind. Cas. 554.

Res Judicata—continued.

—2.—Adjudications—continued.

(13)—Decree for possession—Right to execution in terms of decree—Separate suit.—Where a decree is specific and unmistakeable in its terms and the remedy awarded by it is clear and definite, the decree holder is entitled to have execution according to the terms of the decree and ought not to be driven to a separate suit to enforce it. BIRJ LALL v. BURKUT ALI, 109 P.R. 1868.

(14)—Res judicata—Finding of fact in judgment not necessary for the decree, effect of—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—For findings of fact in a judgment to operate as res judicata, they must have been findings upon which the decree or some operative part of it was made, and which were necessary for the making of the decree in the way in which it or some operative part of it was made; and, it is the decree read in the light of such findings, and not the findings in the judgment apart from the decree, which finally, within the meaning of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, decides the matters in issue or which might and ought to have been in issue (Expl. II) between the parties to the suit. Where the decree is inconsistent with the findings, the decree prevails over such findings. In such a case, the finding must be considered either as superseded by the decree, or as entirely immaterial, or as no more than incidental and subsidiary to the main question in the suit. Further, such a finding to have the effect of res judicata need not have been the sole finding of fact upon which the decree was made, but it must have been a necessary and material finding of fact, material and necessary in the sense that the fact must have been found as it was found in the judgment, and could not have been found otherwise, for the decree, as it was made, to have been a good result in law from the fact or facts so found. SHIB CHARAN LAL v. RAGHU NATH, 17 A. 174=A.W.N. 1895, 47. (2 I.A. 283, I.A. Sup. Vol. 262, 12 I.A. 23, 15 I.A. 97, 25 W.R. 225, 6 C. 319, 7 A. 606, 1 A. 489, 2 A. 497, 1 A. 666, 7 B. 464, 4 M. 134, 18 B. 597, 5 W.R. 63, R.) [F., 20 A.W.N. 89, 32 B. 315=10 Bom. L.R. 380; R., 19 A.W.N. 182, 27 A. 37, P.C., 121 P.R. 1907=51 P.W.R. 1907, 4 M.L.T. 90; D., 24 C. 900, 4 O.C. 145, 57 P.R. 1907, F.B.=66 P.W.R. 1907, A.W.N. 1908, 41=5 A.L.J. 48.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—2.—Adjudications—continued.

(15)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Finding in judgment not necessary to decree as made.—Where there are two findings of facts either of which would justify in law the making of the decree which was made, that one, of such two findings of facts, which should in logical sequence of necessary issues have been first found, and the finding of which would have rendered the other of such two findings unnecessary for the making of the decree which was made, is the finding which can operate as res judicata. HIRA LAL v. DOST MUHAMMAD KHAN, A.W.N. 1900, 89. (17 A. 174, F.)

(16)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Effect of finding in judgment not embodied in decree.—In order that a finding in a judgment, which is not embodied in the decree, may be available as res judicata in a subsequent suit, it is necessary that such finding should be essential to the making of the decree as framed in the former suit. ALI SAJJAD v. JHAMMO BIBI, A.W.N. 1899, 182. (17 A. 147, F.; 12 I.A. 23, R.)

(17)—Consent decree—Evidence—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—A consent decree in a suit, being the decree of a Court having jurisdiction over the subject matter of the suit and over the parties, is admissible in evidence in a subsequent suit between the same parties. LALA SHIB LAL v. LALA GOURI PRASAD, 2 C.W.N. 174.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(18)—Purchase of land—Entry of sale in wajib-ul-arz, effect of—Limitation.—An entry in the wajib-ul-arz is only good for what it may be worth as evidence, and cannot be held to be like a judgment or to require to be set aside by a suit subject to a limitation reckoned from the date of the instrument. BHOLA SINGH v. BULRAJ SINGH, 1 Agra 233.

(19)—Adjudications held to be res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, New Code) —Validity of decree in previous suit cannot be questioned in subsequent suit.—Where a decree in a previous suit has not been set aside and is still a subsisting one, its operation as res judicata in a subsequent suit regarding the same subject-matter cannot be prevented, nor can the validity of the previous decree be questioned in the subsequent suit. BANSI LAL v. RAMJI LAL, 20 A. 370=A.W.N. 1898, 75. (9 A. 508, 13 B. 137, R.)

(20)—Matters mentioned in s. 521 of the Civ. Pro. Code being directly and substantially in issue determined in proceeding under s. 525—Res judicata.—Any matters, mentioned in s. 521 of the Code, which have been directly and substantially in issue and determined in a proceeding under s. 525, Civ. Pro. Code, would be res judicata in any subsequent litigation in which the same matters were sought to be put in issue. In order to make the refusal to file an award a binding judgment, against its validity, on the ground of the partiality of the arbitrator, it would be at least necessary to show that the point was definitely raised and put in issue and made the subject of trial. MUHAMMAD NEWAZ KHAN v. ALAM KHAN, 18 C. 414, P.C.=18 I.A. 73=6 Sar. 26. [F., 13 M.L.J. 275; Appr., 14 M.L.J. 356; Cons., 25 C. 757, F.B.; R., 17 A. 21, F.B.=A.W.N. 1894, 187, 28 A. 21=2 A.L.J. 450=A.W.N. 1905, 165, 2 C.L.J. 80, 9 O.C. 205, 33 C. 881=4 C.L.J. 162, 4 L.B.R. 130.]

(21)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13—Res judicata—Question of law.—Even if the former Court was in error in a point of law, the matter, which such Court adjudicates on, is, for the purposes of the second Court, res judicata. MAIGAR SINGH v. JOTI LAL SAHU, 3 Ind. Cas. 351. (28 C. 318, F.; 5 M. 304, Diss.)

(22)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Res judicata—Plea of res judicata prevails even where its effect is to sanction what is illegal—Bhagdari and Narvadari Act (Bombay Act V of 1862), s. 3.—A plea of estoppel by res judicata can prevail, even where the result of giving effect to it will be to sanction what is illegal, in the sense of being prohibited by Statute. CHHAGANLAL KISHORDAS v. BAI HARKHA, 11 Bom.L.R. 345=33 B. 479=2 Ind. Cas. 530.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(23)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Suit dismissed on an alternative ground, whether res judicata.—A decision in a former suit will operate as res judicata notwithstanding the fact that the previous suit was decided on an alternative ground of decision. MALLISHERI ILEATH VASUDEVAN NAMBUDIN v. KOVOOR CATHATH KANNAN NAMBIAR, 4 M.L.T. 90. (24 C. 900, F.; 17 A. 174, D.)

(24)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res-judicata—Plaintiff declining to proceed with suit.—Where in a previous suit the plaintiff sued R for inheritance of D, and the defendant dying during the pendency of the suit, A applied to be made and was made, a party, but on the plaintiff's statement, that he did not wish to proceed against A, the latter was absolved from liability.—Held, that a subsequent suit against A by the same plaintiff for inheritance of D was barred by res-judicata. AMIR CHAND v. DURGA DAS, 198 P.L.R. 1908=218 P. W. R. 1908.

(25)—Res judicata—Inconsistent findings.—Where there are two inconsistent findings of the same Court in two suits, one declaring the sale of the rights of the defendant's husband to be valid, and the other invalid, and in the earlier of the above suits the rights of the ladies were under determination, the decision in the former suit should be upheld, as the Court ought to have abstained in the latter suit from coming to an independent conclusion on that point SALIGRAM SINGH v. MAHARAJAH RAJENDUR KISHORE, 5 W.R. 149.

(26)—Appeal against only one out of two decrees.—Where there have been two decrees passed by the lower appellate Court, and both of them require to be set aside in order to give the dissatisfied party, the relief which he seeks, but a second appeal is filed against one decree only, held, that the decision, which has been allowed to become final, operates as res judicata in respect of the second appeal. WALIULLUAH v. EZAZ ALI, 15 O.C. 22=13 Ind. Cas. 984.

(27)—Judgment, if conclusive when appeal pending.—Where S and others sued to recover two villages from T and others, claiming title from C the purchaser, and T alleged that her husband and not C was the purchaser, and it appeared that the question was determined in a former suit in which T was plaintiff and S and others defendants, and was decided in favour of S and others by the Civil Judge, and the decision was confirmed on appeal by the Sudr Court, and an appeal to Her Majesty in Council was dismissed for want of prosecution, held that the matter in issue was res judicata. Quære—Whether the former judgment could be deemed conclusive for the purposes of res judicata, when an appeal was pending. SRI RAJA SURIYA NARAYANA RAZU GARU v. O. ELLAMMA, 5 M.H.C. 176. [R., 11 A. 148.]

Res Judicata - continued.

——2.—Adjudications —continued.

(28)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11)—Res judicata —Former decision not sound in law, effect of, where no appeal was made therefrom. —S. 13 of the Code forbids the re-opening of any question which was a matter in issue decided directly in the former suit between the parties; and the former decretal finding on any legal point, though ever so erroneous, would be binding on parties who did not get rid of it by appeal. PHUNDO v. JANGI NATH, 15 A. 327=A.W.N. 1893, 110. (5 M. 304, Diss.) [R., 1 C.W.N. 687, 28 C. 318, 14 C.P.L.R. 109, 5 O.C. 181, 8 O.C. 37, 9 O.C. 243, 57 P.R. 1907, F.B.=66 P.W.R. 1907, 44 P.R. 1908; D., 32 C. 749=9 C.W.N. 466=1 C.L.J. 176.]

(29)—Findings by Court not embodied in decree—Res judicata—Findings not embodied in the decree —Duty of parties—Amendment of decree.—Although the decision in a former suit becomes immaterial for the purposes of that suit and the defendant had no opportunity of appealing against it because the decree was in his favour, it would be binding as res judicata on him. (25 W.R. 225, 12 B.L.R. 304=20 W. R. 377 and 1 C. 144=25 W.R. 1=2 I.A. 283, R.) [Not F., 9 C.L.J. 493, 18 C. 647, 31 P.R. 1898; R., 18 B. 597, 17 A. 174=15 A. W. N. 47, 24 C. 900, 9 C.W.N. 60.] If the material findings in a case are not, as they ought to be, embodied in the decree, the parties must, to avoid being bound by decisions against which no appeal lies, apply for amendment of the decree in accordance with the judgment. NIAMUT KHAN v. PHADU BULDIA, 6 C. 319=7 C L. R. 227, F.B. [Not F., 9 C.L.J. 493, 18 C. 647; Diss., 4 M. 134; R., 22 M. 364, 56 P.R. 1904=84 P.L R. 1904.]

(30)—Jurisdiction—Competent Court wrongly deciding question arising in suit.—If a Court is competent to hear and to decide a suit, it is competent to decide it wrongly as well as rightly, and as long as the decision stands unreversed by a higher tribunal on appeal, it is a valid and binding decree. The mere fact that a Court competent to hear and decide a suit decides it wrongly on a question of limitation does not make the decree, though unreversed and final, a nullity. NATHU RAM v. KALIAN DASS, 26 A. 522=1 A.L.J. 217. (25 B. 337, 22 A. 270, R.) [R., 7 P.R. 1906=56 P.L.R. 1906, 6 Ind. Cas. 98.]

(31)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), ss. 32, 36 — Dismissal of suit under s. 32 — Fresh suit, on same cause of action—Whether legal.—The fact that provision is expressly made in s. 36 of the Civ. Pro. Code, to the effect that when plaints are rejected under ss. 29 to 31, the plaintiffs are not precluded from bringing fresh plaints on the same cause of action suggests the inference that, when a plaint is rejected under s. 32, a fresh plaint cannot be entertained on the same cause of action, as an appeal lies from that order of rejection. NAGAR MAL v. BHAGWANDAS, 81 P.R. 1878.

Res Judicata —continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(32)—Adjudication between co-defendants — Right of appeal.—Where an adjudication between the defendants is necessary to give the appropriate relief to the plaintiff, the adjudication will be res judicata between the defendants as well as between the plaintiff and defendants, with a right of appeal. MOOLCHAND DOULAT v. MOOLCHAND KHUBCHAND, 16 C.P.L.R 42. (18 B. 520, F.)

(33)—S. 11, Civ. Pro. Code, 1908—Two suits —One judgment, but two decrees—Appeal against one decree—Finality of the other decree. —The Code of Civil Procedure requires a separate judgment and decree for each suit for appeal, and two or more decrees cannot be challenged by one appeal. A decree, unless it be a decree, which is a nullity by reason of, for example, fraud, cannot be superseded, except it be upon appeal in the regular course. An Appellate Court is bound to apply the rule of res judicata, even though the decision pleaded in bar is the decision of an inferior Court, provided that that Court was competent to decide the case. Where, therefore, two suits were tried together and disposed of by one judgment, and a decree was passed in each suit, but an appeal was preferred against the decree in one of the suits only, held that the appeal would be barred by the other decree which stood unreversed, and was binding upon the appellant. ZAHARIA v. DEBIA, 7 A.L.J. 861, F.B.=7 Ind. Cas. 156. (10 A. 123, 11 A. 148, 12 A. 578, Appr. & F., 29 A. 730, Overruled) [F., 7 A.L.J. 995.]

(34)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Two connected suits—Appeal in one suit, the decree in the other meanwhile becoming final—Effect.—One K.T. brought two suits, the one, to redeem a mortgage of a 4 anna share in a village, against A and M, and the other for a declaration of his right to redeem a 3 anna share out of the above mentioned 4 anna share, against B and M. The plaintiff obtained decrees in both suits. No appeal was preferred in the first suit. In the second suit an appeal was preferred by the defendants, but, by the time that appeal came on for hearing, the decree in the first suit had become final. Under these circumstances, it was held that, so far as the appellant M was concerned, he was precluded from questioning the title of the plaintiff which had been affirmed in the first suit. KESHO TIWARI v. SARJU KUAR, A.W.N. 1893, 221. [F., A.W.N. 1908, 211.]

(35)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Cross appeals from one decree—Appeal from one of the appellate decrees but not from the other.—If an issue decided against a party is embodied in two decrees and that party appeals from one of them only, the other decree on becoming final operates as res judicata and precludes the Original and Appellate Courts from deciding that issue again. ABDUL BASIT v. ASHFAQ HUSAIN, A.W.N. 1908, 211=4 M.L.T.172. (10 A. 123, A.W.N. 1890, 183, A.W.N. 1893, 190, 221, F.; 29 M. 333, 16 C. 233, 33 C. 1101, 29 A. 730, Diss.)

Res Judicata*—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(36)—Res judicata—Cross appeals—Death of plaintiff—Legal representative brought on record in plaintiff's appeal—Omission to add in defendant's appeal—Both appeals decided in favour of plaintiff—Right of plaintiff to execute the whole decree.—Where in cross appeals by both parties to a suit decreed in part plaintiff died and his representative was brought on the record in the plaintiff's appeal but the defendant omitted to do so in his appeal, held, on both the appeals being decided in favour of plaintiff, that his representative was entitled to execute the decrees in both, as the decision adding plaintiff's representative in the one appeal was res judicata so as not to affect the right to execute the other decree in appeal by reason of defendant's omission to add the legal representative. SANOLI BIBI v. KAPUR CHAND, A.W.N. 1888, 83.

(37)—Compromise of appeal—Effect of.—The fact that an appeal against a decree was compromised and withdrawn, does not preclude the decree becoming final, and hence operating as res judicata. VYTHILINGA v. VIJAYATHAMMAL, 6 M. 43. [R., 15 B. 370, 54 P.R. 1908=87 P.L.R. 1908=40 P.W.R. 1908.]

(38)—Civ. Pro Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13—Res judicata—Pre emption, suits by rival pre-emptors—Final decision in one suit operates as res judicata in other.—Where, in the pre-emption suits filed by rival pre-emptors, the plaintiffs are impleaded as defendants in each other's suits and a decree is passed in the suit instituted first, and the unsuccessful pre-emptor files appeal against the decree passed in the suit in which he is defendant, but omits to file appeal in the counter-suit, the decree not appealed against operates as res judicata, and the appeal in the other suit cannot be heard. The Appellate Court may in a fit case keep the appeal pending and allow the appellant time to enable him to file the appeal in the other case. GURMUKH SINGH v. HARI CHAND, 104 P.L.R. 1903=8 P.R. 1903. (A.W.N. 1887, 301, 83 P.R. 1888, R.)

(39)—Pre-emption decree — S. 2, Civ. Pro. Code, 1859—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 11.—Plaintiff having obtained a decree for pre-emption against defendant in respect of certain land with trees on it, obtained possession of the same. He now sued for the value of the said trees which had been cut and removed by defendant during the pendency of the previous suit. Held that the matter was res judicata (s.2, Civ. Pro. Code). Whether the value of any missing trees could be deducted from the price payable was a question properly determinable in execution or under s. 11 of Act XXIII of 1861, and not by a separate suit. FUTTA v. BHANI SINGH, 48 P.R. 1871.

(40)—Decrees determining exactly the same matter one of which decrees has become final—Pre-emption, Suit for — Appeal filed beyond time owing to erroneous advice given by pleader —"Sufficient cause," for admitting appeal

Res Judicata*—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

filed beyond time—Limitation Act, s. 5.—Certain persons sold a share in a village to one E on the 7th February, 1899. On the 4th February 1900, S.K., G.P., and S entered into an agreement in writing. This agreement recited the fact of the sale, that S.K., G.P., and S had a right of pre-emption, that G.P. was entitled "in every way," and that S.K., G.P., and S "with an unanimous opinion claimed for pre-emption," and then provided as follows: "Therefore, we with the consent of each other do covenant and put into writing that the law costs and miscellaneous expenses incurred in the pre-emption (suit) shall be borne by S. K. and S, besides, after the disposal and success of the suit, each party shall pay the principal money together with law and miscellaneous costs in proportion to the share which he buys and shall be entitled to the said share." Two days later, that is, on the 6th February, 1900, G. P. instituted a suit against the sellers and the purchaser to enforce his right of pre-emption. On the same day, S. K. instituted a suit against the same persons to enforce his right of pre-emption. In his plaint, he referred to the agreement, and he alleged that, after its execution "G.P. acting on some policy colluded with the purchaser and through his help and at his cost made himself a separate claimant." G. P's suit was numbered 32 and S. K.'s 33. S. K. was made the 7th defendant in suit No. 32 and G. P. was made the 7th defendant in suit No. 33. The Subordinate Judge decided the suits by his judgment in suit No. 33 in which he passed a decree to the effect:—"Decreed that on payment of Rs. 6,000 up to 15th October, 1900, G. P. plaintiff in case No. 32 or S. K. plaintiff in this case (No. 33), or both of them, or any of them shall take possession by right of pre-emption of the 1 anna 6 pies share in question sold under the deed dated the 7th February 1899, but, in case of default in such payment, ordered that both the suits shall stand dismissed with costs. If one of the plaintiffs pays the money and the other does not, the payment by such plaintiff shall be taken as being made in his own case and he shall be deemed a decreed pre-emptor, but, if each plaintiff pays the same in his case, the question as to who is the person to enforce pre-emption shall be determined by lot, and in conformity with the result of such lot, the unsuccessful plaintiff's suit shall stand dismissed against the vendee and the vendors, but not against defendant No. 7 in each case, it being open to them (plaintiff or defendant No. 7 in each case) to ask eventually against each other any relief that might be based on the genuine terms of the agreement dated the 4th February 1900." A similar decree was made in suit No. 32. In both suits G.P. appealed to the Judicial Commissioner. The appeal in suit No. 33, the time for presenting which expired on the 21st September 1900, was not presented till 26th August

Res Judicata —continued.

——2.—Adjudications —continued.

1901. The Court was asked to admit it under the provisions of s. 5 of the Limitation Act, on the ground that the appellant had sufficient cause for not presenting it within time, inasmuch as, at the time when he preferred the appeal in suit No. 32, he consulted a pleader as to whether an appeal in that suit should only be preferred or appeals in both suits should be preferred; and, as he was advised by the pleader that it would suffice to prefer an appeal in suit No. 32 only, he preferred an appeal in that suit only. But on the 26th August 1901, the date fixed for the hearing of that appeal, he was told by another pleader that he should have preferred appeals in both. He had no personal knowledge as to whether one or two appeals should be preferred and in preferring only one he acted honestly and on the advice of the pleader first mentioned. The truth of this statement of the appellant (G.P.) was accepted by the Court. Held, that the circumstances that the appellant did not prefer the appeal within time in consequence of having been erroneously advised by a legal practitioner not to prefer the appeal was not a sufficient cause for not presenting it within time, and that his appeal in suit No. 33 should be dismissed Held, further, that the decree in suit No. 33, which determined that K had a right of pre-emption, having become final, the Court was debarred from trying that question in the appeal in suit No. 32 by the principle of res judicata. GAJADHAR PERSHAD v. MUSSAMAT LACHMIN, 5 O.C. 384.

(41)—Case taken up and enquired into on verbal application—Irregularity.—In this case, the Settlement Officer called on the plaintiff, in the presence of the defendant's agent, seemingly on his verbal application, to state his claim to the village in question, which the plaintiff did. The Officer then passed a decree for proprietary rights in favour of the defendant, which was confirmed on appeal. In a suit to set aside these decisions, it was contended that they were not judicial ones, but were vitiated by the Settlement Officer having no jurisdiction inasmuch as he took up the case without any proper petition and did not carry out the proper procedure which should have prevailed in a judicial trial. Held that the suit did not lie as it was perfectly clear that both parties looked after their interest to the best of their power and that the Courts went thoroughly into the claims of both parties and gave well-considered judicial decisions. MULLIK SHER BAHADUR KHAN v. MULLICK FUTTEH SHUR KHAN, 60 P.R. 1870.

(42)—Prior suit for possession—Occupancy rights set up by defendants—Defendant referred to separate suit—Res judicata.—In a previous suit for possession, the present plaintiffs, then defendants, pleaded their right as occupancy tenants. The suit was decreed and the defendants therein were directed to bring a separate suit to establish their occupancy rights, and they accordingly instituted the present suit. Held that the decree for possession in the former suit, though erroneously ignoring the then defence of the present plaintiffs on the ground of occupancy and leaving the question of their status undetermined, was a bar to the present suit. The remedy of the plaintiffs was to have appealed from the decree passed against them. KALA v. WILAYAT, 45 P.R. 1879. [D., 25 P.R. 1884.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications —continued.

(43)— Suit relating to occupancy rights—Decree passed before passing of Tenancy Act, 1868 — Second suit relating to same matter after passing of Act—Res judicata—Compromise—Tenancy Act, s. 2, effect of.—In a suit tried by the Court of the Superintendent of Settlement, with the aid of assessors, the plaintiff A claimed proprietary rights in a certain land, and the Court, in accordance with the finding of the assessors which was accepted by both parties, passed an order that the defendant B should be allowed occupancy rights for 7 years. After the expiry of the 7 years, A served a notice of ejectment on B, and the latter brought the present suit claiming to hold the land as a tenant with rights of occupancy under s. 5 of the Tenancy Act, 1868, which was passed subsequent to the decision in the former suit. Held that the decision in the former suit barred the present suit. Per Plowden, J.—The order in the previous suit was a judgment of a competent Court in a contested suit and not merely an order giving effect to a compromise between the parties, and barred the plaintiff's claim, by the rule of res judicata; the claim was also barred by s. 2 of the Tenancy Act. If the order in the first suit be regarded as one merely based on compromise, so that it could have no effect as a judgment upon the matter in dispute, the compromise itself would furnish a complete answer to the second suit to establish the disputed claim. Per Fitzpatrick, J. The judgment in the first suit was passed by consent of parties and was based on a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim and the present suit was barred by the general law relating to res judicata, according to which a decree by consent is regarded as an estoppel quasi of record. BAGGU KHAN v. SUJA, 77 P.R. 1877. [R., 22 P.R. 1879, 67 P.R. 1880, 104 P.R. 1884.]

(44)—Bombay Act, III of 1876, s. 13—Suit in Mamlatdar's Court—Dismissal for default—Suit under s. 9, Specific Relief Act.—A plaintiff, whose plaint has been rejected for default in the Mamlatdar's Court under Bombay Act III of 1876, would be barred by res judicata from bringing another possessory suit on the same cause of action in the Civil Court under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877. The rejection of a plaint for failure of appearance under s. 13 of the Bombay Act III of 1876 is a hearing and a final decision of the suit for the purpose of the rule of res judicata in s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877). RAMCHANDRA v. BHIKIBAI, 6 B. 477. [Diss., 24 B. 251; R., 21 B. 91, 25 B. 82, 28 B. 601=6 Bom. L.R. 612.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(45)—Act X of 1859, decision passed under, Civil Court bound by.—This case had been remanded to the Judge of the lower appellate Court because he had not considered the effect of a former decision in an Act X suit and he was directed to consider the legal effect of that decision alleged by the plaintiff to be a pre-adjudication in his favour, and he again dismissed the plaintiff's suit.—The High Court held that he was wrong in saying that a decision in an Act X case could not bind a Civil Court. An Act X Court is a regular Court. and all questions involving title are appealable to the Judge, and the present case had been so appealed to the Judge. WOOMESH CHUNDER SOOTE v. RAM CHUNDER MOWREE, 4 W.R. Act X, 40.

(46)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata —Joint right declared in first suit—Separate share claimed in second suit—Mode of enjoyment—Ijmalee property.—Plaintiff sued for a declaration of his right to occupy one half of a chundee mundul for pooja purposes, to a joint right in which he had been previously declared to be entitled. Looking at it as an attempt to reverse a previous decision passed in a suit in which the plaintiff claimed a separate share of the chundee mundul but in which the Courts declared him entitled to joint possession of it, the suit was not maintainable under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859 ; but regarding it as a means of obtaining from the Court an order as to the mode in which an ijmalee right should be exercised, it was equally untenable. The mode of enjoyment of ijmalee property is a matter for private arrangement, and not for judicial determination. ROMESH CHUNDER BHUTTACHARJEE v. SOORJOO COOMAR BHUTTACHARJEE, 5 W.R. 90.

(47)—S. 13 (Civ. Pro. Code, 1882)—Res judicata—Selami and tehwari cesses agreed to be paid under kabuliyat—Previous decision disallowing the same.—Plaintiff sued a Mokuraridar for rent and, also, for certain illegal cesses known as selami and tehwari on the basis of a kabuliyat, under which the defendant-mokuraridar had agreed to pay the same. The defendant denied his liability to pay the cesses and relied, in his support, on a judgment between the same parties and in relation to the same property in a suit for a previous fasli. Held, the claim for the cesses was res judicata, the judgment in the previous suit having declared the non-liability of the defendant to pay the same. RAJAH PADMANAND SINGH BAHADUR v. RADHE SINGH, 9 C.W.N. 469.

(48)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13— Suit for recovery of lands.—Where a prior suit for the recovery of lands, claimed as a portion of certain parcels situate in a mouza leased in putni, was dismissed on the ground of those parcels having been included in a putni lease of an adjoining mouza, granted prior to the plaintiff's lease, a subsequent suit for the recovery of certain other lands forming portion of the same parcels on the same title was held barred as res judicata. SUNDHYA MALA v. DABI CHURN DUTT, 6 C. 715. (1 M. H.C. 245, 13 W.R. 64, 2 C.L.R. 33, 3 C. 145, F.) [R., 12 C.W.N. 739=9 C.L.J. 597.]

(49)—Act XIX of 1863, ss. 8 and 9—Adjudication of title—Res judicata.—An adjudication of title by a Collector under s. 8 of Act XIX of 1863, which, under s. 9, becomes final by not being appealed against, is res judicata and cannot be re-opened in a civil suit. HARSAHAI MAL v. MAHARAJA SINGH, 2 A. 294. [F., 5 A. 280= A.W.N. 1883, 20 ; D., 2 A. 839.]

(50)—Landholder and tenant—Ejectment of tenant by order of Revenue Court—Suit by tenant in Civil Court for declaration of title—Jurisdiction—Res judicata —Act XVIII of 1873 (N. W. P. Rent Act), ss. 34, 93 (b)—Civ. Pro. Code, *s.*13.—Where the question of a tenant's liability to ejectment in consequence of certain acts committed by him, being made exclusively cognisable by the Revenue Court, is decided by such Court, such decision, on becoming final, is res judicata, and bars a fresh suit in the Civil Court in respect of the same matter. RADHA PRASAD SINGH v. SALIK RAI, 5 A. 245=A. W.N. 1883, 10. (3 A. 85, D.)

(51)—Act II of 1901, (Agra Tenancy Act), s. 199—Suit for ejectment in Revenue Court—Omission on part of defendant to plead title in himself.—In a suit for ejectment under Act II of 1901, the defendants did not plead their own title to the plot in suit, and, in fact, did not oppose the suit for ejectment. Held that a subsequent suit, brought in a Civil Court by the then defendants, for proprietary possession of the same plot, was barred by the principle of res judicata. BIHARI v. SHEOBALAK, A.W.N. 1907, 189=4 A.L.J. 545=29 A. 601. (A.W.N. 1904, 109, 141, 27 A. 569, D.; A.W.N. 1907 1, 6, R.; 29 C. 707, Disc.) [R., 6 A.L.J. 259.

(52)—Res judicata—Decision in rent suit—Ex-parte decree—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13.—The rule of res judicata may be applied, although the decree in the former suit was passed ex parte. Where an issue was raised on the points now called in question, and the issue was heard and finally decided by the Court on the previous occasion in the rent suit, the rule of res-judicata applies, although the suit was decided ex-parte. HARA CHANDRA BAIRAGI v. BEPIN BEHARY DAS, 6 Ind. Cas. 860. (2 Ind. Cas. 11, Affirmed.)

(53)—Res judicata—Matter of record—Estoppel.—Where, in a previous suit for rent, the Court found that the defendant was not the plaintiff's tenant, the defendant is estopped by a matter of record from pleading in a subsequent suit for khas possession that he is plaintiff's tenant. FAYJ DHALI v. AFTABUDDIN SIRDAR, 6 C.W.N. 575. [F., 3 C.L.J. 201, 34 C. 922; Doubted & D., 9 C.W.N. 928=2 C.L.J. 389; D., 11 C.W.N. 100, N, 7 C.L.J. 483=35 C. 807.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(54)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Suit for rent based on a lease deed—Subsequent suit for possession and rent based on same lease deed— Res judicata—Oaths Act (X of 1873)—Decree of appellate Court on strength of oath of party—Confirmation of first Court's decree—Final adjudication. — Plaintiff sued to recover a paramba with arrears of rent. A prior suit by the plaintiff for rent in respect of the same land and based upon the same lease deed had been dismissed. Plaintiff contended that as the former suit was cognizable by a Small Cause Court, the present suit was not barred by the decision in that suit. Held that the present suit was within the competency of the Court which tried the other suit, notwithstanding that in that other case there could have been no second appeal. The suit was, therefore, barred by s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. (17 M. 273, R.; 28 C. 78, F.; 18 M. 189, R.) [Overruled, 29 M. 195=16 M.L.J. 41=1 M.L.T. 25, F.B.; F., 13 M.L.J. 23; R., 27 M. 63, 13 M.L.J. 134, 9 C.W.N. 656.] Where an appellate Court confirms the decree of the first Court on the strength of the oath of a party to the suit on a question of fact, the decree of the appellate Court is none the less a final adjudication. AHMED v. MOIDIN, 24 M. 444.

(55)—Suit for declaration of nature of rent payable by tenant and that plaint lands were nij-jote lands — Settlement proceeding fixing certain kind of rent, existence of, whether a bar to suit—Necessity for adjudication as to nij-jote or otherwise of land—Bengal Tenancy Act, ss. 104 (2) to 107 and Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—The plaintiff sued for a declaration that the land in dispute situated in Orissa, was held by the defendants under the plaintiffs on a produce-rent and not on a money-rent as shown in the settlement records and also for a declaration that the lands were the nij-jote lands of the plaintiffs and used to be cultivated before the plaintiffs and their ancestors. Both the lower Courts held that the first question was res judicata by virtue of a settlement proceeding and that there was no necessity for determining whether the lands were nij-jote or not. Held, the Settlement Officer had jurisdiction to deal with the question of fair rents arising between the parties, because a settlement of revenue was being made in the province of Orissa. That being so, the Settlement Officer had jurisdiction under sub-s. 2 of s. 104 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. He fixed a money-rent and not a produce-rent as payable by the defendants to the plaintiffs. No objection was preferred under s. 105 and no dispute was raised under 106 and, therefore, under the provision of 107, the decision of the Settlement Officer in the proceedings for settlement of rent under s. 104 had the force of a decree. Consequently, the plaintiff's claim for rent in kind was barred by rule of res judicata. Held, also, that it was quite unnecessary in this case to decide whether the lands were the nij-jote lands of the plaintiffs or not, for, in Orissa, occupancy-right can accrue in nij-jote and their accrual is not barred, as in Bengal, under s. 116 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. This section was not extended to Orissa. BRAHMANUNDA MAHAPATRA v. ARJUN RAUT, 1 C.L.J. 310.

(56)—Legality of resumption by Zamindar—Question decided once—Subsequent suit between same parties in respect of same matter—Maintainability.—Where the question of the legality of a resumption made by a zemindar had become final by a decision, of the second appellate Court, it was not competent to the parties to litigate again in respect of the same matter. VENKATA NARASIMHA APPA ROW v. SOBHANADRI APPA ROW, 13 M.L.J. 134.

(57)— Enhancement — Res judicata—Fresh evidence, discovery of—Review of judgment.—The question of the right to enhance, having been decided in the plaintiff's favour in the former suit, it must be considered as res judicata in this suit for enhanced rent. The course for the defendant when he discovered fresh evidence not in his knowledge or power at the time of the first decision, is to apply for a review. BHUGGOBUTTY DABEA v. RAM KANNAYE LOHA, 1 W.R. 167.

(58)—Suit for enhancement—Dismissal—Re-assessment—Subsequent suit—Maintainability.—A suit for enhancement of rent was dismissed on the ground that the defendant held under an unexpired lease. Subsequently, Revenue authorities re-assessed the land. A second suit was then brought for enhancement. Held that the circumstances that the Government had increased the assessment will not alter the relative position of the parties and therefore the second claim was res judicata. MUHAMMAD GUL v. KARAM CHAND, 6 P.R. 1890, Rev.

(59)—Res judicata—Right of Brahmans of Mauza Sangal, Tahsil Kaithal to one-fourth of khudi kamini or hearth tax—Revision—S. 16 of Act XVII of 1887.—Held, that Brahmans of mauza Sangal, tahsil Kaithal, are entitled to get from the Lambardars of that place one-fourth of the khudi kamini or hearth tax collected by them, and their right to get it is res judicata by reason of a previous decision between the parties. Held, also that an order of a Revenue Court, which re-opens a res judicata question between the parties, is liable to be set aside on revision under s. 16 of Act XVII of 1887. BODHA RAM v. NET RAM, 4 P.W.R. 1911, Rev.=10 Ind. Cas. 299.

(60)—Suit to enforce award of, for partition—Alternative relief.—Where disputes as to partition of family properties had been submitted to arbitrators and an award had been made and some properties divided in pursuance thereof, but the partition was not completed on account of disputes, held, in a suit to enforce the award, that an alternative claim for partition cannot succeed, since there has been already a valid award. SUBBARAYA CHETTI v. SADASIVA CHETTI, 20 M. 490.

Res Judicata*—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(61)—Suit for partition—Award, effect of.—An award duly passed in accordance with a submission of the parties is equivalent to a final judgment. To give effect to it, the subsequent consent or approval of neither party is required. After an award made for a partition of joint property neither party can sue for partition, any more than he could, if a decree in a suit for partition had been passed. In order that the parties should be remitted to their previous rights, there must be positive evidence that both parties agreed that the former state of things should be restored. It is not enough that the award was not enforced or that even both the parties objected to it. KRISHNA PANDA v. BALARAM PANDA, 19 M. 290. [F., 20 M. 490, 33 C. 881=4 C.L.J. 162=11 Bom. L.R. 20=5 M.L.T. 220, 1 S.L.R. 236; R., U. B.R. 1906, 1st Quarter, Specific Relief, 30.]

(62)—Partition-proceedings — Determination of question of title—Res judicata—Act XIX of 1873 (N. W. P. Land Revenue Act), ss. 113, 114.—An adjudication of a question of title raised between parties to partition-proceedings under Act XIX of 1873, is a bar to a suit in the Civil Court between the same parties in respect of the same title, although, in some respects, such adjudication may have been defective or irregular. (2 A. 294 and S. A. No. 129 of 1881, decided on 27th July, 1881, F.) Such an adjudication, being one under s. 113 of the Act, can be questioned only in the manner provided by the subsequent sections, and not by separate suit. BATESHAR NATH v. FAIZUL-HASAM, 5 A. 280=A.W.N. 1883, 20.

(63)—Civ. Pro. Code (1882), s. 13— Decisions of questions of title in suits under s. 283, when operate as res judicata.—Where in his suit under s. 283 of the Code, the claimant-objector claims both in form and substance, against the judgment-debtor, a declaration of his title to the whole of the property, the title to which is in issue in the suit, a decree in such suit declaring the liability or non-liability of the property to attachment and sale in execution of the creditor's decree, must necessarily, unless the suit be decided on a ground not involving the question of title, decide and determine all questions of title on which the parties to the suit could rely, so that such decision would operate in any future suit between the parties as res judicata on those questions of title, though such subsequent suit might relate to property not in question in the prior suit under s. 283 of the Code. DWARKA DAS v. KAMESHAR PRASAD, 17 A. 69=A.W.N. 1895, 3. [R., 57 P.R. 1907=66 P.W.R. 1907.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(64)—Res judicata—Dismissal for default—Questions of title—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13.—Where, in a former suit between the parties, issues had been fixed on the question of title, and the suit was dismissed, as the plaintiffs had failed to adduce evidence, which it was incumbent upon them to do, it must be held to have been dismissed on the merits, so that a subsequent suit for possession of the property on the same title would be barred as res judicata. KARTICK CHANDRAPAL v. SRIDHAR MANDAL, 12 C. 563. [R., 9 C.W. N. 679, 6 C.L.J. 362.]

(65)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11)—Dismissal of suit—Decree providing that fresh suit might be brought as to part of subject-matter—Res judicata.—Where a suit for possession of immoveable property was dismissed on the ground that plaintiff could not prove his title to the whole property, although he could to the extent of one-third, it was held that the decision was res judicata in regard to the one-third, although the decree declared that he could bring a second suit for it, and although this portion of the decree was not appealed against. SUKH LAL v. BHIKHI, 11 A. 187, F.B.=A.W.N. 1889, 13. (5 A. 595, 8 A. 282, 9 A. 155, A.W.N. 1885, 171, Expl.) [R., 6 Bom. L.R. 594; D., 17 C. 398.]

(66)—Decision in previous suit for possession, holding plaintiff's right barred by reason of an agreement — Whether res judicata in a subsequent suit, after bar of the agreement by time.—The present suit for possession was on a cause of action identical with that of, and between parties virtually the same as those in, a prior suit, in which, it had been held that the plaintiff was not entitled to possession, by reason of an agreemet to sell in favour of the defendant. The Subordinate Judge dismissed the present suit as res judicata by reason of the prior decision, but the District Judge held that the plea of res judicata was not sustainable. Setting aside the decree of the District Judge held the fact that the agreement to sell in favour of defendant was enforceable by him, at the time of the prior suit, but had become barred by time, at the time of the subsequent suit, could not prevent the operation of the bar by res judicata. ADAKKALAM CHETTIAR v. RAMALINGA CHETTIAR, 29 M. 320.

(67)—Civ. Pro. Code. s. 13—Suit for joint possession—Prior suit for same relief dismissed—Res judicata.—The plaintiffs had brought a suit against the defendants for exclusive possession, and, in the alternative, for joint possession of the plaint land. The questions raised in that suit having been brought into issue and evidence having been taken, the action was dismissed. The Court in dismissing the suit, though wrongly, did not reserve to the plaintiffs the right to bring a fresh action. The present suit was for joint possession of the same land. Held, that the dismissal of the former suit was a bar to the present suit. KUDRAT v. DINU, 9 A. 155=A.W.N. 1887, 5. (5 A. 595, 8 A. 282, 13 M.I.A. 160, R.) [F., 9 A. 690; Appr., 11 A. 187.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(68)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Suit for declaration when plaintiff was entitled to possession—Passing of decree accordingly—Subsequent suit for possession—Mistake of law—Maintainability of suit.—There were two divided brothers. One of them, in conjunction with his senior wife and to the exclusion of the first defendant, his junior wife, took a son of the other brother in adoption. On the date of the adoption he made a settlement of some of his properties upon the first defendant for life and with remainder to his daughter by her. He died sometime after and was followed by his senior wife and the adopted son successively. Thereupon his brother, claiming as the reversionary heir of the deceased adopted son, sued for a declaration that he was entitled to succeed to the properties left by his brother, including the properties comprised in the deed of settlement made by him in favor of the first defendant and her daughter. The suit was dismissed as regards the properties comprised under the deed of settlement, and a decree was passed in respect of the other properties. On the death of the then plaintiff, his sons, the present plaintiffs, instituted the present suit for possession of the properties in respect of which a declaratory decree had been passed in the former suit. Plaintiffs contended that on the death of the adopted boy, the first defendant, being only in the position of adoptive step mother, could not succeed to his properties and their father succeeded to those properties and on their father's death, the same devolved on them by descent as his heirs. They sought avoid the effect of the former decree on the ground that it proceeded on a mistake of law, namely, that the first defendant was entitled to succeed as adoptive mother and that their father was only presumptive reversioner on her death. Held, that the express adjudication in the former decree, that the plaintiff's father was entitled to succeed to the properties now sued for only on the death of the first defendant, necessarily implied that the first defendant and those claiming under her were entitled to the possession and enjoyment of the properties during her life-time. When such declaration was embodied in the decree itself, it was immaterial that no question or issue was actually raised and decided as to whether or not plaintiffs' father was entitled to succeed to the properties on the death of the adopted boy as his immediate heir, which was the claim on which the present suit was founded. The plaintiffs' claim could not be allowed and declared in the present suit and plaintiffs put into possession by ejecting defendants, without setting aside the prior decree. The present suit was therefore barred as res judicata, quite independently of explanation I or explanation II to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. KAVERI AMMAL v. SASTRI RAMIER, 26 M. 104=13 M.L.J. 58. [R., 13 M.L.J. 448, 9 O.C. 243, 30 M. 461=17 M.L.J. 250, 44 P.R. 1908, 26 M. 760.]

(69)—Decision as to point pleaded by one defendant and supported by another defendant to be res judicata between them.—The plaintiff, S, brought a suit against the defendant, C, for possession of a deceased Hindu's property on the ground that he became entitled to it by survivorship. The defendant, besides pleading adoption, custom, &c., also pleaded that, if his adoption was invalid, it was not the plaintiff but one R who was entitled to the property by right of inheritance. In consequence of this last plea, it would seem, R instituted a suit for possession of the property. The Subordinate Judge thereupon made R a defendant to the plaintiff, S's suit and S a defendant to her suit. In the suit of R, it was pleaded by the present defendant, C, that R had a better right than the present plaintiff, S. The Subordinate Judge held that R had no title as against the plaintiff, S, and accordingly decreed to claim of S and dismissed that of R who did not appeal. The defendant C appealed, making the plaintiff, S, alone a respondent. Held, that the question whether it was R or the plaintiff, S, who had a better title was res judicata between the plaintiff and R as well as between the plaintiff and the defendant. C. CHUNNI LAL v. SRIMANDIR DAS, 9 O.C. 125, B.

(70)—Civ. Pro. Code (1882), s. 13 (=s. 11, Present Code)—Res judicata—Suit by puisne mortgagee—Prior mortgagee's omission to plead his charge—Decree for sale—Subsequent suit on puisne mortgage, not maintainable.—If, in a suit by a subsequent mortgagee for sale of the mortgaged property, a prior mortgagee who is impleaded as defendant, fails to plead his prior mortgage and his right to have it redeemed, and a decree is passed for sale of the mortgaged property, but not subject to his prior charge, a subsequent suit by him on his prior mortgage will be barred by Expl. II to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. SRI GOPAL v. PIRTHI SINGH, 24 A. 429, P.C.=6 C.W.N 889=4 Bom. L.R. 827=29 I. A 118=8 Sar. 293. [F., 2 C.L.J 574; Rel. on, 31 C. 428; Expl., 1 C.L.J. 248, 1 C.L.J. 337; R., 7 O.C. 152, U.B.R. 1906, 3rd Qr. C.P.C. 46, 36 C. 193=1 Ind. Cas. 913=5 C.L.J 611, 12 C.W.N. 292=7 C.L.J. 504, 10 O.C. 146, 12 C.W.N. 862=8 C.L.J. 82=35 C. 979, 12 O.C 347, 9 C.L.J. 78=3 Ind. Cas. 686, 13 M.L.J. 448=26 M. 760; Appl., 17 M.L.J. 301=2 M.L.T. 330=30 M. 353.]

(71)—Dismissal of suit for possession—Second suit for redemption by same plaintiff—Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—A suit for proprietary possession of a house having been dismissed on the ground that the defendant had been in adverse possession, the plaintiff brought a second suit for redemption against the same defendant, alleging that the house had been mortgaged to defendant by the plaintiff's father, and the defendant was in possession as mortgagee. Held, that, as the plaintiff had an opportunity of bringing the question of mortgage before the Court in the former suit and failed to do so, he could not rest a new suit on that ground, and that the second suit was barred by s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859. PARI MAL v. VASAND RAM, 33 P.R. 1877.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2 —Adjudications—continued.

(72)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, Expl. II, 42, 43—Dismissal of suit for redemption of mortgage—Subsequent suit for redemption of another mortgage.—Though the subject of res judicata was dealt with more comprehensively in Act XIV of 1882 than in the former Code, yet, ss. 13 and 43 of the Code of 1882 were not exhaustive of the law of res judicata. That law was the same under the Codes of 1877 and 1882 and was substantially the same as the English law. The expression "the subjects in dispute" in s. 42 signifies the jural relation between the parties to the suit, for the determination of which the suit was brought. The object of s. 42 was to require the plaintiff to bring forward his whole case as to the matter of litigation on the question of right involved in the suit and not to require him to unite all the causes of action which he may have against the defendant in respect of the corpus or object matter of the suit. Where several independent grounds of action are available, a party is not bound to unite them all in one suit though he is bound to bring before the Court all grounds of attack available to him with reference to the title which is made the ground of action. Plaintiff, claiming as the daughter's son and legal representative of the original owner of certain property, sued for redemption of an alleged usufructuary mortgage thereon. The defendants, while denying the plaintiff's relation to the owner as well as the mortgage sued upon, pleaded that a portion of the property had been usufructuarily mortgaged to them by the said owner and that the same had been sold to them subsequently. Without deciding the question of plaintiff's relation to the owner, the suit had been dismissed, on the ground that the mortgage sued upon was not proved. Thereupon, plaintiff brought the present suit substantially against the same defendants for redemption of the usufructuary mortgage admitted by the defendants in the previous suit. Held that neither of the decisions of the Privy Council in 11 B.L.R. 158 and 20 C. 79, nor Expl. II to s. 13, could be relied on as lending any support to the proposition that a plaintiff who sought to redeem a specific mortgage or to eject on a specific lease and failed in such suit, because the mortgage, or lease was not proved, was thereby precluded from seeking to redeem the same property or a portion thereof from another specific mortgage, or to eject, on the strength of his title, the person in possession. The real test was whether the cause of action, or the transaction on which the two suits were based, was the same, and not whether the transaction was sought to be established in different modes or by different means. Consequently, the present suit to redeem a mortgage other than that which formed the subject of the prior suit was not barred by s. 13, Expl. II, or by s. 43 of the Code. RAMASWAMY AYYAR v. VAITHINATHA AYYAR, 26 M. 760 = 13 M.L. J. 448. (21 M 91, 22 M. 259, Disc.; 25 B. 189, Diss.) [Not F., 6 Bom. L.R. 594; F., 28 M. 406, 29 M. 153 = 16 M.L.J. 48, F.B.; Appr., 27 M, 102; 2 N.L.R., 94; R., 27 M. 380, 1 C.L.J. 337. 30 B. 395 = 8 Bom. L.R. 296, 55 P.R. 1907 = 96 P.W.R. 1907 = 65 P.L.R. 1908, 7 C.L.J. 504 = 12 C.W.N. 292, 31 M. 385, 12 O.C. 347.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(73)—S. 11, Civ.Pro. Code, 1908, Expl. IV—Suit on first mortgage—Order for unconditional sale—Non-disclosure of second mortgage—Subsequent suit on second mortgage — Bar.— Where a mortgagee holding two mortgages, under two separate deeds, of the same property, sued upon the first mortgage without disclosing the existence of the second mortgage, and obtained a decree for unconditional sale of the property, and where he subsequently sought, by a second suit, to enforce his second mortgage by sale of the same property, held that he was barred from suing a second time for sale of the property on his second mortgage, by s. 11, Expl. IV, Civ. Pro. Code, 1908. DIWAN SAHIJRAM TAHILRAM v GAGUMAL DHARAMDAS, 4 S.L. R. 82 = 8 Ind. Cas. 216. (24 A. 429, P.C., 30 M. 353, F.)

(74)— S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Prior mortgage of entire share with possession—Second mortgage of two-third share—Suit for sale on second mortgage— Prior mortgagee party—No prayer for possession of one-third—Second suit for possession— Res judicata.— D, father of R K, R L and G, mortgaged his property to S with possession. Subsequently R K and R L executed a simple mortgage of their two-third share to B. B brought a suit for sale upon his mortgage and offered to redeem S. He did not ask for possession of G's share after redemption. The Court gave him a decree ordering him to pay up S's mortgage. B applied for an order absolute praying for sale of G's share after redemption. The application was rejected. He then brought the present suit against G for possession of G's one-third share. Held that the suit was barred by the rule of res judicata inasmuch as the plaintiff in the first suit ought to have claimed possession of G's one third share, which could not be sold in execution of his decree against the other two-third. The cause of action for demanding possession had accrued when B brought the former suit. The right for the redemption of the entire mortgage, as then interpreted, had vested in B, and to demand possession was part and parcel of that right. BHURA v. GHURE, 8 A.L.J. 352. (26 B. 661, R.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(75)—Act IV of 1882 (Transfer of Property Act), ss. 90, 100—Suit to enforce vendor's lien by sale—Determination in that suit of vendee's personal liability—Application for decree over under s. 90.—In a suit for enforcemsnt of a vendor's lien by sale of the property, the Court further decided that " the defendants cannot, either personally or their other properties, be held liable for any part of the amount claimed. The property sold to them can alone be liable." Subsequently, the plaintiffs applied for a personal decree under s. 90 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Held, that it was within the competence of the Court to determine the personal liability or otherwise of the defendants—if not, at that stage, to pass any decree under s. 90—and that the matter so determined was res judicata in respect of their subsequent application (14 A. 513, 11 A. 486, 13 A. 356, A.W.N. 1890, 142, R.) and it was none the less res judicata because the finding as to the personal liability of the defendants was not embodied in the decree. UTTAM ISHLOK RAI v. RAM NARAIN RAI, A.W.N. 1906, 44 = 3 A.L.J. 171 = 28 A. 365. (7 A. 606. R.)

(76)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, Res judicata—Suit for sale on a mortgage—Compromise by which mortgagee accepted a simple money decree—Second suit for sale barred.—A suit for sale on a mortgage was compromised on the terms that the mortgagee should accept a simple money decree for the amount of the mortgage-debt, and such a decree was accordingly passed. This decree not being satisfied, the mortgagee again sued for sale of the mortgaged property. Held that the suit was barred. PIARI LAL v. NAND RAM, A.W N. 1908, 265 = 5 A.LJ.. 732 = 31 A. 19 = 1 Ind. Cas. 561. (33 C. 849, F; 26 A. 223, A.W.N. 1905, 152, D.)

(77)—Consent decree—Effect.—A decree by compromise is as binding on the parties thereto and their privies as the decree obtained on contest. NICHOLAS V. ASPHAR, 24 C. 216. (In re South American and Mexican Co., L.R. 1895, 1 Ch. 37, The Bellcairn, L.R. 10 P.D. 161, 18 M. 1, 13 M.I.A. 497. R.)

(78)—Evidence Act, s. 13—Previous judgment inter partes determining question at issue—Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—Plaintiff in the present suit instituted in 1874, had sued the defendant in 1872 for alienating a piece of land alleged to belong to the gaddi of a Dhurmsala to which plaintiff claimed to be the apparent successor. A decree having been then made in favour of the plaintiff, he again sued the same defendant for making another alienation of a portion of the same land. It was held that the previous judgment of 1872 was a fact and a relevant fact (Indian Evidence Act, s. 13) on the issue between the parties whether the land belonged to the gaddi or not. The judgment therefore was relevant and cogent evidence that the property in question belonged to the gaddi and not to the defendant by acquisition. It was not therefore open to the defendant to again raise the defence that the land did not belong to the gaddi, the issue as to the ownership of the property having become res adjudicata between the parties. LACHMAN GIR v. LAHAR SINGH, 70 P.R. 1875.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(79)—S. 13—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Res judicata—Manager of trust property must set out his title in an ejectment suit.—Plaintiff filed a suit to eject defendant in possession of a room used as a temple in a house belonging to the plaintiff. The plaintiff's title to the property was not set out in the plaint, and no question was raised whether the whole of the property was not the subject of a religious trust. He got a decree in the Court of first instance, but the Appellate Court came to the opinion that the house was impressed with a religious trust, and that the plaintiff's claim should have been based upon his right as manager. The plaintiff was offered an opportunity of altering his claim as manager under the will of the person who established the trust. That offer was not accepted and the Appellate Court dismissed the suit. The plaintiff subsequently brought another suit, as manager under the will of the owner of the house who established the trust, to eject the defendant from the room and to get an account of the profits and emoluments which the defendant had received as manager. Held, that the second suit was barred as res judicata, for the plaintiff in both the suits was asserting a purely personal right in his own personal interest, and it was a right which might and ought to have been put forward in the first suit. HARGOVAN RAMJI v. MULJI HARJIVAN, 11 Bom. L.R. 921 = 34 B. 416 = 4 Ind. Cas. 241.

(80)—Claim by a scheduled creditor against the insolvent after his discharge—Held, that a suit by the creditor of an insolvent in respect of debt entered in the schedule prepared in the insolvency proceedings of which he was well aware, was barred as res judicata. J.B. PENHEAROW v. PARTAB SINGH, 76 P.R. 1899 = 24 P.L.R. 1900, Notes of Judgments.

(81)—Procedure—Fresh suit for portion of claim disallowed--Extra-judicial advice—Small Cause Court — Jurisdiction — Chief Court—Powers of interference.—A portion of the plaintiff's claim having been decreed, and the remaining portion disallowed, the plaintiff on the advice of the Judge, brought a fresh suit for the disallowed portion. Held, on these facts (1) that defendant's answer of judgment recovered, would entitle him to a decree upon the production of the first record, for the cause of action was the same; (2) that the extra-judicial advice of the Judge had no effect whatever upon the right of the defendant. And with reference to the plaintiff's prayer for the exercise by the Chief Court of its discretionary powers under s. 28 of Act XI of 1865, held that the said discretion must be exercised on general principles in regard to established rules, and the Court had no power, upon a suggestion or a doubt of a possible failure of justice, to alter orders duly and formally made upon evidence heard. MOKURDAR MULL v. KHODABUX, 14 P.R. 1866, Civ. Ref.

Res Judicata*—continued.

—2.—Adjudications—continued.

(82)—Suit to set aside decree—Res judicata Review—Where a suit seeks the reversal of a former decree between the same parties on the allegation of the falseness of a fact which the former decree establishes as true, the suit cannot lie. The plaintiff's remedy is by way of review of judgment in the previous suit. MALAKSHAHBAZ v. MOWAZ, 31 P.R. 1868.

(83)—Suit to set aside a decree on the ground of fraud—Sole question raised in the suit already decided in proceedings under s. 108 of the Code of Civil Procedure—Res judicata.—In a suit to set aside a decree, as having been obtained against the plaintiff by fraud, substantially the only ground relied upon was that the suit had been improperly instituted against the plaintiff as of full age, when, in fact, he was a minor. This had been decided against the plaintiff in earlier proceedings between the parties under s. 108 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Held that the suit was not maintainable. NIDAR MAL v. RAUNAK HUSAIN, A.W.N. 1907, 191=4 A.L.J. 668=29 A. 608. (29 A. 212, F.; 21 C. 395, D.)

(84)—Suit to set aside deed of relinquishment —Dismissal of suit for default after partial enquiry—Subsequent suit by defendant to enforce the deed—Applicability of rule of—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13 and 372—Suit based upon registered deed of release—Limitation Act, arts. 49 and 116, applicability of.—The plaintiff in the suit alleged that he was desirous of publishing translations of certain Sanskrit religious books and that the defendant agreed to act as the Honorary Secretary in respect of the business of the publication. The publication became a lucrative business and was conducted entirely by the defendant as manager on behalf of the plaintiff. Subsequently, a deed of relinquishment was executed, by which the defendant acknowledged the plaintiff's title in the business and by which certain mutual agreements were entered into between them with regard to the accounts of the business. The defendant, however, declined to make over the stock of the business. Hence the present suit by plaintiff, for delivery to him of the books and publications in the possession of the defendant. The defendant contended that the deed of relinquishment was executed benamee and that the plaintiff's suit was barred by limitation. Prior to the institution of the plaintiff's suit, the defendant had brought a suit against the plaintiff for a declaration that the deed was benamee. The suit was, however, dismissed, after the examination of the present defendant as plaintiff in that suit in consequence of a report by his counsel that he had no instructions in the case, on a subsequent day to which it had been adjourned. The present plaintiff, therefore, contended that the defendant in consequence of the dismissal of the suit brought by him, was estopped from impugning the validity of the release deed. Held, the deed of relinquishment was in effect a contract and the acknowledgment that the property in the books and publications belonged to the plaintiff contained therein, implied that the property in suit was the property of the plaintiff. Hence the document fell under art. 116 and not under art. 49 and was not, therefore, barred. Held further, that the issue raised in the suit on behalf of the defendant had previously been an issue raised by him in the prior suit, i.e., as to whether the deed of relinquishment was or was not a benamee transaction. The matter in issue in this suit was directly and substantially in issue in the previous suit between the same parties. The question was heard and finally decided within the meaning of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, because the defendant having had an opportunity to prove his case failed to prove it. Consequently, the defendant was precluded from setting up the plea that the deed of relinquishment was not real but benamee and the provisions of s. 373, Civ. Pro. Code, availed him nothing (19 C. 159, 15 I.A. 186=16 C. 173, 2 C.W.N. 337=25 I.A. 102, D.; 6 B. 482, 8 A. 283, 23 W.R. 58, 10 M. 272, 13 M. I.A. 160, 12 C. 563, R.) But the Court having found, on the evidence in the case, that the plaintiff did not prove his case that the business was commenced by him with his funds, gave a decree for the plaintiff, for an account of the stock in trade of the business without costs. ROMA NATH DAS v. MOHESH CHUNDER PAL, 9 C.W.N. 679.

Res Judicata*—continued.

—2.—Adjudications—continued.

(85)—Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), decision as to person entitled to compensation in proceedings under, effect of.—The question, in this case, was with reference to the binding nature of a decision as to the rights of persons, who claimed compensation in a previous proceeding under the Land Acquisition Act, conducted on a reference made by the Collector owing to disputes between the said persons. Held, that an adjudication as to the right of persons claiming the compensation in accordance with the provisions of the Land Acqusition Act (X of 1870), concluded the question between the same parties was decided by the Judicial Committee and there is nothing in the present Act (I of 1894) to warrant its being held differently in regard to similar adjudications made under it. CHOWAKARAN MAKKI v. VAYAPPARATH KUNHI KUTTI ALI, 29 M. 173. (20 M. 69, D.)

(86)—Application under Administrator-General's Act, s 63—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13. —An application by petition under s. 63 of Act II of 1874 is a suit within the meaning of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code (X of 1877) and is barred by the diposal of a similar former application in the same matter, though the order passed is capable of being reviewed. ELIZA SMITH v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE, 3 C. 340.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(87)—Relief granted in former suit possible only upon certain findings—Subsequent suit, claim in, to be decided upon same findings—Applicability of rule of—Dismissal of suit for non-joinder after trial—Limitation Act, s. 14, applicability of—Dispossession caused by removal of decree, whether, would give fresh cause of action—Limitation Act, arts. 93, 142. —A, the purchaser of a three-fourths share in a certain village, sued to recover possession of the lands. P objected to the suit on the ground that he was the prior purchaser of the lands and that the suit was barred by limitation. The questions for decisions were, whether P was barred, by the rule of res judicata, from setting up his title to the lands and whether s. 14 of the Limitation Act could save the suit from limitation. Held, in a former suit between the parties concerning a portion of the same village the question of the genuineness of the sale deed to P was gone into by the Court of first instance and the Court of first appeal. Both the Courts found that the sale to P was antedated and a forgery and that the sale to A was true and supported by consideration. The High Court, on appeal, adopted these findings in granting a relief which was possible only on such findings. Therefore, it was not open for P in this suit to plead that his sale-deed was not antedated and not a forgery. Held, also, that the dismissal of a former suit between the parties about the same lands on the ground of non joinder of parties was not for a cause of a like nature with defect of jurisdiction, under s. 14 of the Limitation Act. The dismissal of the suit was based on findings arrived at by the Court. The Courts were able to, and did, entertain the suit. Consequently, the finding of the former suit could not save the present suit from limitation. Further, art. 142 of the Limitation Act applied to the suit. The plaintiff could not treat his second dispossession, i. e., under the order of the Court in the first suit above referred to, restoring possession to P as giving him a fresh cause of action. Therefore, the suit was barred by limitation (5 B. 382, F.; 1864 W.R. 43, 8 W.R. 373, 22 B. 733, R.) Art. 93 of the Limitation Act would not apply to a suit for possession of immoveable property though the defendant pleads that the deed whereon the suit is based is a forgery. NARAYANAN CHETTY v. KANNAMMAL ACHI, 28 M. 338. (16 M. 311, 16 B. 186, F.) [R., 6 C.L.J. 621.]

(88)—Property sued for but excluded from decree for want of certificate under Pensions' Act—Subsequent suit for such property not barred by s. 43, Civ. Pro Code—Intentional relinquishment or omission to sue.—In a previous suit by the plaintiffs, the present claim was expressly included by them, and after a decree in their favour by the Chief Court, the present defendant applied for and obtained a review on the ground that, under s. 4 of the Pensions' Act (XXIII of 1871), the Court was precluded from entertaining the suit which related to the property in the present suit, in the absence of a certificate under the Pensions' Act from the Deputy Commissioner authorising such suit being tried. On the authority of the certificate subsequently obtained, the present suit was instituted for the property excluded by the Chief Court from its decree. It was argued for the defendant that there was, in point of law, an omission to sue, because the plaintiffs had failed to obtain a certificate under s. 6 of the Pensions' Act, without which the Court was prohibited, by s. 4 of the Act, from entertaining a suit for the property claimed. The Commissioner proceeded upon the view that it was owing to want of ordinary diligence in complying with the law that the plaintiffs were not 'entitled to make' the present claim in the former suit, and that, therefore, they must be treated as having omitted to sue for it. But, the Chief Court was of opinion that, as they actually did sue for it, and as even if they had not done so, they were under no obligation either to postpone the claim which they were at the time entitled to make, or to relinquish what they might afterwards become entitled to sue for, and, as in the previous suit it was decided that the Court could not then entertain the claim, it was impossible to accept the proposition that, in the previous suit, the plaintiffs either omitted to sue for or intentionally relinquished the claim now made. MUHAMMAD RUSTAM ALI KHAN v. NAWAB MUHAMMAD AZMAT ALI KHAN, 64 P.R. 1882.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(89)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. IV—Res judicata—Suit for mesne profits by purchaser of equity of redemption, dismissal of—Subsequent suit by same person for same relief—Whether maintainable.—A suit brought by the purchaser of the equity of the redemption of a mortgage on the allegation that the mortgage debt had been paid by the mortgagor before sale, against the mortgagee for mesne profits of the land for the harvest subsequent to the purchase, had been dismissed on the ground that no cause of action had arisen as redemption had not been effected. Held, in a subsequent suit by him against the mortgagee for the same relief after redemption, that the claim was res judicata under s. 13, Expl. IV of the Civ. Pro. Code, as the previous suit was between the same parties and for the same matter as in the subsequent suit, and the plaintiff was not allowed to withdraw his claim with permission to sue again, and as the former decision not having been appealed against, became final and barred the subsequent suit. PRABH DYAL v. DEVI DAS, 69 P.R. 1883.

(90)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877*), s.* 13, Expl. IV—Previous suit between same parties, erroneous dismissal of—Subsequent suit for same relief barred.—It is equally opposed to the intention of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, to allow a decision that a suit is barred by a positive rule of law, to be treated in a subsequent suit as not binding the parties to that decision, as it is to allow a decision upon any question of fact which was directly and substantially in issue in a former suit to be so treated. Where a suit by landlords to recover possession of their lands from their tenants, has been dismissed by a Court of first instance on the erroneous ground that a previous decision has made the matter res judicata, the landlords are barred from bringing a fresh suit for the same relief, such dismissal being a final decision of matter directly and substantially in issue between the parties, within the meaning of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, Expl. IV, and the same question cannot be again tried between the parties otherwise than by an appeal from the first Court's decision. UMRA v. DITTA, 95 P.R. 1883.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(91)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. III, and s. 373—Dismissal of suit "in present form," effect of.—A suit by an auction-purchaser of immoveable property in execution of a decree having been dismissed "in the present form" on account of the non-production of the sale certificate by the plaintiff, held that such dismissal was a decision of the suit in the sense of s. 13, Expl. III, that the use of the words "in the present form" did not amount to the permission to sue again contemplated by chap. XXII of the Civ. Pro. Code, and that such dismissal was a bar to a fresh suit. GANESH RAI v. KALKA PRASAD, 5 A. 595 = A.W.N. 1883, 140. [Diss., 8 A. 282; Expl., 11 A. 187, F.B.; R., 9 A. 155.]

(92)—Execution of decree—Decision of objections raised by judgment-debtor.—In answer to an application for execution of a simple money decree, obtained against her deceased husband, the widow objected that the property sought to be taken in execution was in her possession by consent of the heirs of her husband in lieu of dower; but this objection was not pressed, and was disallowed, and no appeal was preferred from the order disallowing it. Held, that the same objection could not be raised again at a subsequent stage of the execution of the same decree. ABADI BEGAM v. ABDUL GHAFFAR, A.W.N. 1906, 70 = 3 A.L.J. 198. (24 A. 282, F.; 12 A.W.N. 238, D.)

(93)—Plaintiff not paying into Court expenses of commission as ordered—Dismissal of suit—Nature of order of dismissal—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, Ch. VII—Fresh suit on the same cause of action—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13.—Where a suit is dismissed because of the failure of the plaintiff to pay into Court, as ordered by it, the expenses of a commission which he had applied for, the order of dismissal is not one passed under any of the provisions of Ch. VII of the Civ. Pro. Code for want of attendance of the parties, but must be considered to be a decision of the suit on the merits, both parties being present. Such an order is only open to appeal in the regular course of procedure, and another suit on the same cause of action is barred by the rule of res judicata. RAM GULAM SINGH v. HARNANDAN SINGH, A.W.N. 1885, 168.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(94)—Ss. 13, 258, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Application under s. 258, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, to have adjustment out of Court recorded—Dismissal on merits—Subsequent suit to recover money paid out of Court— Res judicata.—A judgment-debtor applied under s. 258, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, to have an adjustment out of Court recorded. The Court dismissed the application on its merits, and that order was upheld in appeal. The judgment-debtor thereafter brought the present suit, to recover the money alleged to have been paid by him by way of adjustment out of Court. Held, that the provisions of s. 11, Civ. Pro. Code, 1908 (=s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882) applied and that the suit was barred as res judicata. MANURATH SINGH v. RAJ KUMARI AND RAM SINGH, U.B.R. 1909, 2nd Quarter, Civil Procedure, 31. (11 I.A. 37, 13 W.R. F.B. 69, 21 C. 437, 5 M. 397, 18 M. 26, R.)

(95)—Purchase pendente lite—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata.—A purchaser, pendente lite, is bound by the decree passed against the persons through whom he claims, and cannot, in a fresh suit, claim to go behind the decree, on the ground, that it was wrong in so far as it included the property he had purchased. HUKM SINGH v. ZAUKI LAL, 6 A. 506 = A.W.N. 1884, 177.

(96)—Adjudications held to be no res judicata—"Former suit"—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882.—The expression "former suit" in s. 13 of the Code means a previously instituted suit and cannot apply to a suit instituted subsequently to the suit in which the bar is pleaded. GHAMANDI LAL v. BHANA MAL, 57 P.R. 1895.

(97)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), ss. 10, 12—Res judicata—Suit dismissed for default no bar to subsequent suit for same subject-matter.—A suit which was dismissed for default under s. 110 of Act VIII of 1859, was held to be no bar with reference to s. 12 or s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, to the institution of a subsequent suit by the same plaintiff against the same defendants and relating to the same subject-matter. It was no bar with reference to s. 12 because it was not pending at the date of the institution of the second suit, nor was it a bar with reference to s. 13, as the matter in issue in it was not finally decided between the parties within the meaning of that section, inasmuch as the Court could, on the application of the plaintiff, have altered the decision then passed. GULABA v. RAI SINGH, 104 P.R. 1883.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(98)—Refusal to consider a question.—Where the Court refused to consider a question at all, there is no adjudication of it, and so, the matter is not really res judicata. DROBOMOYI GUPTA v. C. T. DAVIS, 14 C. 323. [R., 3 O.C. 273.]

(99)—Matter substantially in issue in previous suit, refusal by Court to decide, whether amounts to final determination within s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code.—This was a suit for declaration denying the right of occupancy of the defendant in certain land. Defendant contended that, as his right to an occupancy tenure was expressly challenged by the plaintiff in a former case, and was put in issue, it must be assumed to have been decided against plaintiff, notwithstanding that the Court expressly left the question undecided. Held that the contention was unsustainable inasmuch as, though the point was substantially in issue, it was never decided at all. BAGO v. DIWAN, 25 P.R. 1884. (45 P.R. 1879, 84 P R 1880, R.)

(100)—Refusal to consider issues—No res judicata.—Where the Court refused to consider a question at all, there is no adjudication of it, and so the matter is not really res judicata. KOKAN MAL v. MIR ALAM, 51 P.R. 1891.

(101)—Res judicata—Matter pleaded as constituting res judicata not "heard and finally decided" in the former suit—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Explanation II.—A plea of res judicata cannot be maintained where the issue pleaded as constituting res judicata, though raised in a former suit, were not adjudicated upon by the Court in that suit. YAKUB ALI v. DHANPAT, A.W.N. 1892, 238. [Dist., 3 A.L.J. 198=A.W.N. 1906, 70.]

(102)—Effect of appeal from judgment containing finding of lower Court—Finding not gone into by Appellate Court—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2; Act X of 1877, s. 13, Expln. 4.—When the judgment of a Court of First Instance upon a particular issue is appealed against, that judgment ceases to be res judicata, and becomes res sub judice; and if the Appellate Court declines to decide that issue, and disposes of the case on other grounds, the judgment of the first Court upon that issue is no more a bar to a future suit than it would be if that judgment had been reversed by the Court of Appeal. NILVARU v. NILVARU, 6 B. 110. [F., 11 A. 148=A.W.N. 1889, 42, 5 C.L.J. 653, 1 S.L.R. 171; R., 9 B. 75, 15 B. 370; D., 4 N.L.R. 98.]

(103)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Finally decided.—N and U were brothers. N died first and his share of the property was enjoyed by his wife. After the death of U, his sons hypothecated their interest in the property to the defendant. The grandsons of U instituted a suit in 1865 against the defendant for a declaration that their shares of the property were not liable for the decree obtained by the defendant against their father. The suit was dismissed in 1866. In that suit, the grandsons of U, the plaintiffs stated that N's wife was in possession of her share of the joint property. N's wife died. Then the plaintiffs again instituted the present suit against the defendant claiming to be entitled to the whole of the estate of N as his heirs. The defendant pleaded that the suit was barred by res judicata and contended that N was joint with U and N's property also was affected by the decree of 1866. Held that the suit was not barred by res judicata inasmuch as the question whether the father of the plaintiffs (the judgment-debtor in the previous suit) had acquired then any interest in the property of N, was not heard and finally decided in that suit. NATHU SINGH v. BHUPAT RAM, A.W.N. 1883, 190.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(104)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Question in issue but not heard and finally decided in a previous suit.—The appellants sued their vendor and the respondent for the possession of the property purchased by them under a sale deed. The respondent contested the suit on several grounds, one of which was his right of pre-emption. The Court framed an issue to the effect whether the respondent was a proprietor and could in that suit claim the right of pre-emption. The Court decided that the respondent should sue separately for pre-emption, as the matter could not be decided in that case. The respondent then brought a a suit for pre-emption against the appellants, who urged that this suit was barred by the provisions of s. 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure and was res judicata. Held, that the question whether the respondent had a right of pre-emption in respect of the property was not heard, and finally decided in the former suit and that, therefore, the present suit was not res judicata. SHAMBHU NATH v. AMBIKA PRASAD, 3 O. C. 273.

(105)—Erroneous decision of question of law—Re-trial of the same question.—The erroneous decision, by a competent tribunal, of a question of law directly and substantially in issue between the parties to a suit does not prevent a Court from deciding the same question in a subsequent suit according to law. (5 M. 304, 11 M. 396, 28 M. 517, 22 B. 669, 32 C. 749, R.) The Court cannot, of course, allow the correctness of the decree given in the former suit to be questioned in the latter suit, on the ground that the former suit was decided under a mistake of law; nor can it pass a decree, the effect of which would be to set at naught, in whole or in part, the decree in the former suit. MANGALATHAMMAL v. NARAYANASAWMY AIYAR, 17 M.L.J. 250=30 M. 461. (26 M. 104, 29 M. 235, 32 C. 749, R.) [F., 18 M.L.J. 548=4 M.L.T. 233; R., 20 M.L.J. 20=6 M.L.T. 313=3 Ind. Cas. 701.]

(106)—Alternative finding, whether operates as res judicata.—A sold to C 47 bighas of land. B sued to pre-empt 23 bighas on the allegation that A owned only that extent of land. In the course of inquiry, it was found that, even according to B's allegation, A's share was about 28 bighas. In the final judgment, the finding was:—"Whether B's allegation was true or C's allegtaion was true, the suit must fail:"—Held, that the finding could not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit between B and C as to the extent of A's share. HARPAL SINGH v. SHEO MANGAL, 14 Ind. Cas. 161.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(107)—"Res judicata"—Question of law.—An error committed by a competent tribunal in deciding on a question of law, which was directly and substantially in issue between the parties to a suit, does not compel the Court to repeat its error on every subsequent occasion when the same question arises between the parties. PARTHASARADI v. CHINNA KRISHNAN, 5 M. 304 [Diss., 15 A. 327, 1 C.W.N. 687, 28 C. 318, 8 O.C. 37; Not F., 14 C.P.L.R. 109; F., 22 B. 669, 28 M. 517=15 M.L.J. 466, 30 M. 461=17 M.L.J. 250; Appr., 11 M. 393; R., 31 B. 128, 32 C. 749=9 C.W.N. 466=1 C.L.J. 176, 22 B. 669, 14 M. 312, 2 O.C. 261, 26 B. 25=3 Bom. L. R. 450, 44 P.R. 1908; D., 15 M. 327, 29 M. 225=16 M.L.J. 136.]

(108)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Ex parte judgment not final decision.—An ex parte judgment is not a final decision within the meaning of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. SELLATHAMMAL v. OLIVER, 9 M.L.J. 60. (18 M. 164, D.; 7 C. 23, 8 C. 23, 8 C. 275, F.)

(109)—Ex parte decree, Non-execution of—Effect—Admissibility in subsequent suit against defendant—Decree whether binding on question common to both suits—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. IV.—If a defendant does not think it worth while to contest the suit but allows the plaintiff's evidence and the judgment passed upon it to go unquestioned, he has no right afterwards to dispute the correctness or the value of the judgment, merely because he chose to absent himself. An ex parte decree, if it was never executed, cannot be held to have become final within the meaning of Expl. IV to s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, as it remained open to the defendant to have it set aside. But the decree is admissible in evidence against the defendant in a subsequent suit between the same parties on a question common to that and the former suit, and it is not enough for the defendant to say that he absented himself from the trial of that question. He must at least show grounds which would have justified the Court in setting aside the ex parte decree, had he applied for that, or that owing to some fraud, or some irregularity in the proceedings, it should not be treated as binding on him. MUSSAMMAT MEHARI v. GUNDA SINGH, 78 P.R. 1883.

(109-a)—Ex parte decree, Non execution of—Whether bar to subsequent suit between same parties—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. IV.—An ex parte decree which was never executed cannot bar a subsequent suit between the same parties, as the Court which passed the ex parte decree could have altered it. HASAN MUHAMMAD v. SHAH MUHAMMAD, 78 P.R. 1883, Note. [R., 78 P.R. 1883.]

(110)—Res judicata—Withdrawal of former suit—Permission of Court.—A suit is not barred by the principle of res judicata because, in a former case between the same parties, and on the same cause of action, the plaintiff, after the evidence had been recorded, obtained the Court's permission to withdraw the case, with permission to bring another suit. SREEMOTEE MONA BIBEE v. OOMED ALI, 16 W.R. 276. (12 W.R. P.C. 43, D.)

(111)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Mere filing of an appeal—Effect—Appeal dismissed on ground of limitation alone—Effect—Pendency of proceedings by way of appeal—English Law—Law in India.—The mere filing of an appeal does not vacate or annul the judgment appealed against. A judgment still liable to appeal, which has not yet been appealed from or an appeal which is actually pending, cannot operate as res judicata, during the interval preceding the appeal or while the appeal is actually pending. (5 C. 246, 11 A. 148, R.) Where an appellate Court dismisses an appeal on the ground of limitation alone, the appellant is not in a better position than one who is heard but fails on the merits. In such a case the decision of the lower Court on the points actually decided binds the parties to the suit. (6 B. 110, 7 C. 381, 8 C. 631, 22 B. 216, D.) In English Law even the pendency of proceedings by way of appeal is no answer to a pleading of estoppel by judgment, though it may be ground for applying for a stay of proceedings For India Explanation IV to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code (1882), lays down a different rule. RAM CHANDRA NARAIN, 4 N.L.R. 98.

(112)—Remand—Appeal from order of remand—Effect of order in appeal—Res judicata.—An order of High Court, on appeal from an order of remand, setting aside the order of remand, being merely of an interlocutory kind, cannot have the effect of res judicata upon any point that may be urged in appeal on the merits. Any affirmance in such order, of the lower appellate Court's findings on the merits must be considered merely as an obiter dictum. DEOKISHEN v. BANSI, 8 A. 172, F.B.=A.W. N. 1886, 35. [R., 14 A. 348, 15 A. 413, 10 O.C. 350.]

(113)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Res judicata—Rival suits—Same judgment in both suits—One appeal sufficient.—When two suits are filed by two persons in respect of the same subject-matter (e.g.) for pre-emption, against the same defendant, and they are impleaded in each other's suit, and the same issues are fixed in each and the suits are heard together and disposed of by one judgment and decree, it is not necessary for the party, against whom the decree is passed, to file an appeal in each case. It is sufficient for enabling the Court of appeal to give a binding decision with respect to any matter common to the cases, if that party appeals in his own suit, though such matter has been decided adversely to him in the other suit also. The adverse decision, in the other suit not appealed against, does not preclude the Court of appeal from entering into the question in each party's appeal. JUGAL KISHORE v. CHAMMO, 151 P.L.R. 1905, F.B.=85 P.R. 1905. (83 P.R. 1888, 10 A. 123, 16 C. 233, 23 P.R. 1897, 31 P.R. 1898, 8 P.R. 1904=104 P.L.R 1903, R.) [R., 57 P.R. 1907, 88 P.R. 1908.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(114)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13 — Two suits decided by same judgment—Appeal in one suit, if barred by decision in the other suit—"Former suit," what is—Hearing two suits together —Irregularity.—A Mahomedan died leaving two widows. Each of them brought a suit, for the recovery of her dower, from the estate of the husband, making the other a party defendant. One of the widows, M, having claimed certain houses to be her exclusive property, and the other, J, denying it, an issue was raised in each of the suits as to whether those houses belonged to the estate of the husband, so as to be liable for the dowers claimed, or, were the separate property of M. The two suits were, with the consent of the parties, tried together and decided by one and the same judgment, though two separate decrees were made, the Court holding that the houses were M's property. J appealed only from the decree in her suit, and it was contended on behalf of M, that the judgment in her suit, not having been appealed from, became final, and was a bar to the trial of the issue as to the ownership of the houses in the appeal preferred by J, in her suit. Held, per Ghose, C.J., agreeing with Harington, J. (Rampini, J., contra). That there was no separate judgment in M's suit to operate as a bar by way of res judicata to the trial of the appeal in J's suit. (16 C. 233, Rel. on; 11 A. 148, 24 M. 350, R.) The two suits ought not to have been heard together. The proper procedure indicated. MARIAMNESSA BIBEE v. JOYNAB BIBEE, 10 C.W.N. 934=4 C.L.J. 149=33 C. 1101. [Diss., A.W.N. 1908, 211=4 M.L.T. 172; F., A.W.N. 1907, 245=4 A.L.J. 587=29 A. 730.]

(115)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act XIV of 1882, ss. 13, 158—Dismissal of previous suit for non-production of succession certificate.—The dismissal of a previous suit on the same cause of action, on the ground that no succession certificate was produced, is not a decree under s. 158 of the Civ. Pro. Code. The non-production is an omission which precludes the Court from entering into the merits at all. The dismissal therefore does not operate as res judicata. PETHAPERUMAL CHETTI v. MURUGANDI SERVAIGARAN, 18 M. 466=5 M.L J. 189.

(116)—Suits between different parties—Nature same—Evidence same—Appeal to High Court in one suit and to District Court in others—Effect of decision in High Court—Mere guidance to Judge.—Three cases brought by three parties claiming shares in the same land as against a zemindar were tried together. In one, the amount being beyond the limit, the appeal lay to the High Court; in the two others, the appeal lay to the Judge. The two cases before the Judge were postponed to await the decision of the High Court. After such decision, the Judge on that "precedent" decided the other two cases. Held, that though the decision of one case was not a pre-adjudication binding in law on the other two claimants, yet it would go far to guide the Judge in his finding on the facts. G. GREGORY v. HURREE KISHORE ROY, 3 W.R. 2.

(117)—Adverse finding against party—Decree not based on such finding— In subsequent suit, such finding not res judicata.—Where, in a suit by a creditor against the debtor's brother, the latter pleaded, among other contentions, that he had become divided from his deceased brother and the Court held that that plea was not right, though it dismissed the suit as against him on the ground that he had not benefited by the loan, in a subsequent suit between the parties the decision in the prior suit on the question of partition was not res judicata. SURYABHAN v. ISHWAR, 7 C.P.L.R. 139. (11 C. 301, 13 C. 17, 18 C. 650, F.)

(118)—Res judicata — Non-suit.—This suit was brought at a time when the present defendant had been unsuccessful in the lower Court in a separate suit involving the whole of the property claimed, which suit had been decided in the Civil Court in the plaintiff-appellant's favour, and while the appeal was still pending in the High Court. By the decision of the High Court above alluded to, the position of the parties was reversed, and a decree was given in favour of the present defendants. Held, that the lower Court was wrong in non-suiting the plaintiff in this case, and that the case should have been allowed to proceed subject to the eventual decision of the separate appeal in the other case, as the present plaintiff's position (which he lost by the decision of the High Court) might be again restored to him by the Privy Council. With reference to the peculiar state of the parties, the case was, by consent ordered to be restored to the file of the lower Court pending the decision of the Privy Council. GUNPUT LOLL v. KHEDOO LOLL, 1 W. R. 365.

(119)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11 —Res judicata — Different subject-matter. — Two houses A and B were purchased under a sale deed, dated 15th June, 1881. There was a previous litigation between the same parties in respect of the house A, in which it was decided that the house A belonged beneficially to M and not to S. The present suit was brought in respect of the house B: Held, that the decision in the previous suit did not operate as res judicata, inasmuch as the question of title to the house B was never determined, nor was it in dispute in the previous litigation. KHALIK YAR KHAN v. MOBARIK BEGAM, 7 Ind. Cas. 388.

Res Judicata—continued.

— 2.—Adjudications —continued.

(120)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13 (=s. 11) 43 (=O. II, r. 2, new Code)—Res judicata.—Where a suit for setting aside an order made in one district, for sale of plaintiff's interest in property therein, was dismissed, held, that it did not bar another suit to obtain relief against an order in another district for the sale of property therein belonging to him, or of other property not included in the order of sale against which the former suit was directed. RADHA PRASAD SINGH v. LAL SAHAB RAI, 13 A. 53 =17 I.A. 150, P.C.=5 Sar. 600. [R., 15 A. 359, 16 A. 390, 24 B. 251, F.B., 10 C.W.N. 40.]

(121)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—Res judicata—First suit between the parties deciding on merits, but failing on account of non-payment of deficiency in Court-fee—Second suit for trial on the same merits—Practice.—In a previous suit between the parties, there was a decision on the merits; but the suit failed on the ground that the plaint had been undervalued and the plaintiff had refused to pay the additional Court-fee. A subsequent suit having been brought between the parties for determining the same issues, the decision in the first case was pleaded as res judicata: Held, that, the failure of the first suit on non-payment of additional Court-fees was sufficient by itself for the dismissal of the previous suit; and that, therefore, the findings on the issues on the merits not having been necessary for the decision of the suit, could not have the force of res judicata. IRAWA LAXMANA MUGALI v. SATYAPPA SHIDDAPPA MUGALI, 12 Bom. L.R. 766.

(122)—Ss. 13 and 43, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Partners suing for specific sum of money—Previous partnership suit wherein adjustment of accounts effected by Amin.—Where some partners, parties in a previous partnership suit, brought a suit for the recovery of the amount due to them under an Amin's adjustment, in the previous suit, held, by Norris and Bannerjee, JJ. (Rampini, J., contra), that the suit was not barred. DHANI RAM SAHA v. BHAGIRATH SHAHA, 22 C. 692.

(123)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13—Former suit—Res judicata—Proceeding under Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), does not bar subsequent suit.—A decision in a proceeding under the Land Acquisition Act, cannot be treated as a decision in a former suit, so as to operate as res judicata with reference to the property other than that to which the enquiry under that Act related. BASANT DEO v. KESHAL DEO, 2 Ind Cas. 853. (12 C. 484= 42 I.A. 188, 24 A. 112, D.; 34 C. 466, 20 M. 269, 7 C. 406=9 C.L.R. 117, R.)

(124)—Decree in prior suit allowing interest —Interest claimed in subsequent suit for arrears

Res Judicata—continued.

— 2.—Adjudications —continued.

—Res judicata.—There was no decision in the previous litigation between the parties to this suit on the question of the plaintiffs' title as assignee of the Government Revenue. There was no previous adjudication of the defendant's liability to pay interest on the arrears and there was, therefore, no bar of conclusiveness such as res judicata precluding the agitation of that question in the present suit. (Per Bannerji, J., Aikman, J., dissenting.) CHANDI PRASAD v. MAHARAJAH MAHENDRA MAHENDRA SINGH, 23 A. 5=A.W.N. 1900, 177.

(125)—Claim for future mesne profits—Judgment silent thereon—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Interest—S. 211, Civ. Pro. Code.—Where in a suit for possession of immoveable property with past and future mesne pofits, possession is decreed with past profits, and the decree is silent as to future profits, the claim for the latter must be held to have been refused, but such constructive refusal applies only to profits accrued up to the date of the decree, and not to those which thereafter accrued before delivery of possession. A suit for such profits would not be barred under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. RAMABHADRA v. JAGANATHA, 14 M. 328=1 M.L.J. 171. [Overruled, 15 M.L.J. 462, F.B.; F., 32 C. 118; Diss., 21 A. 425, F.B.; R., 25 B. 115.]

(126)—S. 13—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 — Res judicata — Suit for possession not barred by previous suit by the same plaintiffs for mesne-profits.—A suit for possession is not barred, by a suit previously instituted by the same plaintiffs for mesne-profits. (31 M. 405, 11 M. 151, F., 11 M. 210, R.) The right to mesne-profits may exist without any right to possession, and the cause of action need not necessarily be one and the same. MUTHUKARUPPA KOTHAN v. SITHA VEERAYYA CHETTY, 5 M. L.T. 220.

(127)—Finality of decision—Civ. Pro. Code, (Act X of 1877), s. 13.—Where, in a prior suit between the same parties, with respect to the same land, the lower Courts decided the suit on the question of title as well as possession, but the High Court, on appeal, decided the case on the question of possession alone, without entering into that of title, held, the question of title was still open between the parties and not barred under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, as the decision, in the previous suit, of the lower Courts, on the question of title, could not be said to be final. GUNGA BISHEN BHUGUT v. ROGHOONATH OJHA, 7 C. 381= 9 C.L.R. 34. [Appl., L.B.R. 1893—1900, 544; R., 3 O.C. 273, 25 B. 115, 5 C.L.J. 653; D., 4 N.L.R. 98.]

(128)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, ss. 331 and 332 —Specific Relief Act, s. 9—Res judicata.—The investigation, under s. 331 of Civ. Pro. Code, before its amendment, was to proceed as in a suit under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act; only there was an appeal from the decree under

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

s. 332. The question tried in such a suit was only one of possession and, notwithstanding the decree, the parties may proceed to try the title in a subsequent suit. CHINNASAMI PILLAI v. KRISHNA PILLAI, 3 M. 104. [R., 14 B. 627.]

(129)—Decision in pre-emption suit that no real sale took place—Whether bars adjudication upon that point in subsequent suit by vendee for possession against vendor—Right of one of two or more defendants to appeal from a decree adversely affecting him, even in cases whether plaintiff's claim is unsuccessful.—The decision in the pre-emption suit that no real sale had taken place is no bar to an adjudication upon that point in a subsequent suit by the vendee for possession against the vendor, though both the latter were co-defendants in the pre-emption suit. (3 A. 152, F.) In certain cases it may be open to one of two or more defendants to appeal from a decree which adversely affects him, even in a case when the plaintiff's claim is unsuccessful. But the question 'who may appeal' is determinable by the commonsense consideration that there can be no appeal when there is nothing to appeal about. DHIAN SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT BELAS KAUR, 42 P.R. 1912 = 123 P.W.R. 1912 = 154 P.L.R. 1912 = 16 Ind. Cas. 127. (9 C.W.N. 584, R.)

(130)—Mortgage — Decree for redemption—Fresh suit again for redemption if barred.—In this suit for redemption of a mortgage, the defendant pleaded that a previous suit in which redemption of the same mortgage had been decreed to the plaintiff was a bar to the present suit. Held that the second suit was not barred by reason of the previous suit. (86 P.R. 1877, F.) NATHU SINGH v. RURA, 14 P.R. 1881. (86 P.R. 1877, R.) [F., 93 P.R. 1908, F.B. = 164 P.L.R. 1908; R., 100 P.R. 1905 = 16 P.L.R. 1906; D., 43 P.R. 1907.]

(131)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Redemption—Second suit for—Conditional decree in first suit not given effect to.—Where a mortgagor brings a suit for redemption and obtains a conditional decree, but, omits to fulfil the condition imposed upon him, he is not debarred from bringing a second suit for redemption, unless the decree lays down that, if he fails to fulfil these conditions, the property will be sold or he will be debarred of all his rights to redeem. NAKTA RAM v. CHIRANJI LAL, 7 A.L.J. 185 = 5 Ind. Cas. 269 = 32 A. 215.

(132)—Mortgage—First suit by second mortgagee for sale—Discharge of first mortgage by second mortgagee under his decree—Second suit by second mortgagee to sell property mortgaged to first mortgagee—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, explanation II.—When a second mortgagee sued for sale of property mortgaged to him and offered, and was allowed by the decree, to redeem a prior mortgage, and realised his mortgage money by sale of the property mortgaged to him, held that a second suit by him, to sell the rest of the property under the first mortgage, which was discharged by him, was not barred by the rule of res judicata as laid down in explantion II of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code. AJUDHIA PRASAD v. HAR DAYAL, 3 A.L.J. 541 = A.W.N. 1906, 249.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(133)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Mortgage—Redemption suits—Held, by the Full Bench, following the principle of stare decisis, that it is open to a mortgagor who has brought a suit for redemption and obtained a decree to bring a second suit for redemption. DHANPAT MAL v JHAGGAR SINGH, 164 P.L.R. 1908, F.B. = 93 P.R. 1908 = 133 P.W.R. 1908. [F., 100 P.R. 1909.]

(134)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Suit for redemption of mortgage and also on title—Question of title excluded from consideration—Dismissal of suit—Subsequent suit on the strength of lease and title, whether sustainable.—A brought a suit for redemption of a mortgage and based his suit also on his title as Jenmi. The question of title was excluded by the Court from consideration, and the suit was dismissed, the Court having found that the property was held only under a lease. The present suit was then brought on the strength of the lease and also on title. The lease was not proved, and as to title the lower appellate Court found the claim was barred as res judicata. Held, the fact that A prayed for relief on title in the previous suit for redemption makes no difference, as the Court has excluded the question from consideration, and treated the suit solely as one for redemption of mortgage, and that the present claim based on title is not barred as res judicata. KUNDUR CHIRUKANDAN v. MANNATH KANDI CHATHU, 7 M.L.T. 354 = 5 Ind. Cas. 262.

(135)—Ss. 13, 43, Expl. II, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Res judicata—Dismissal of suit for redemption of a mortgage—Second suit for redemption of another mortgage of the same properties—Suit not barred.—The dismissal of a previous suit for redemption upon an alleged mortgage is no bar to another suit for redemption on another mortgage in respect of the same properties, under the provisions of ss. 13 and 43, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882. RAM SAHAI v. AHMADI BEGAM, 8 A.L.J. 47 = 9 Ind. Cas. 53. (29 M. 153, F.)

(136)—Suit for redemption—Dismissal for non-payment of mortgage-money before suit—Second suit for redemption on full payment not barred—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 92, 93.—A decree in a suit for the redemption of a usufructuary mortgage, not being a conditional decree for redemption under s. 92 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, but simply dismissing the suit on the ground that the mortgagor had not, prior to its institution, paid or tendered the whole of the mortgage-money at a time authorised by the deed, cannot have the effect of foreclosure or of res judicata so as to bar a second suit for redemption, where the deed has expressly authorised redemption on payment of the mortgage-money in a particular month in any future year after due date, and the mortgagor has tendered the whole of such money in that month between the dismissal of the first suit and the institution of the second. DONDH BAHADUR RAI v. TEK NARAIN RAI, 21 A. 251=A.W.N. 1899, 50. [R., U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 582, 3 O.C. 371, 24 A. 44=A.W.N. 1901, 194, 7 A.L.J. 185; D., 25 M. 300.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(137)—Ex parte decree ordering repayment of money due under mortgage—Subsequent redemption suit.—An ex parte decree obtained by the mortgagee, for the recovery of the amount due under the mortgage, does not bar a subsequent suit by the mortgagor to redeem the property, on the ground that the mortgage amount has been paid off from the usufruct. LAKSHAMAYA v. APPADU, 7 M. 111.

(138)—Samudayam, uralers and tenants—Samudayam a mortgagee in possession.—In previous litigation between the samudayam, the uralers, and the tenants, the opinion was expressed in judgments of the High Court, that the position of the Samudayam was that of a mortgagee in possession. But, as it appeared that such opinion was not expressed as to the construction of the document, it was held not to be res judicata when the question of the proper construction of the document arose. KRISHNAN v. VELOO, 14 M. 301, F.B. [F., 14 M. 312.]

(139)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13—Sale subject to mortgage.—In execution of a decree against the purchaser of a certain property subject to a mortgage, such property was attached and sold, and the balance of the sale proceeds, after satisfaction of the decree, was paid over to him. In two suits brought by the mortgagees against the mortgagors, the purchaser above-mentioned, and the auction-purchaser, for the interest on the mortgage which was payable annually, it was decided that the purchaser was primarily and personally liable for the same, as he had received the balance of the sale proceeds. The purchaser having subsequently refunded the sale proceeds into Court, held in a subsequent suit by the mortgagees to recover the principal and interest by sale of the mortgaged property, that whatever might have been the rights and relations of the parties so long as the sale proceeds remained with the purchaser, they underwent a change when such proceeds were refunded, and the "ratio decidendi," of the previous decisions having ceased to exist, the mortgagee was not precluded, from claiming in the first instance the sale of the mortgaged properties, by the previous decision that the purchaser was primarily and personally liable. RATAN RAI v. HANUMAN DAS, 5 A. 118=A.W.N. 1881, 139.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(140)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13—Finally decided—Res judicata.—Where, in a previous suit by the plaintiff for possession of certain mortgaged lands, the first Court found that there had been no default in payment of interest, a condition precedent to the plaintiff's right to possession, and that full consideration had not been paid, and, on appeal, the Divisional Judge held that there had been no default in payment of interest, and dismissed the appeal in limine, but also remarked in the judgment that the plea of consideration (want of consideration) for the mortgage did not seem sound—Held, that the trial of the question regarding the alleged failure to pay consideration was not barred by res judicata. SULTAN v. HAKIM RAI, 10 P.L.R. 1902.

(141)—Res judicata—Abatement of suit—Fresh suit—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 371.—Property which had been previously mortgaged was sold in execution of a money decree against the mortgagor. The mortgagee, subsequent to this sale, brought a suit upon the mortgage, against the mortgagor and the auction-purchaser. The purchaser having died in the meanwhile, no steps were taken to make his heirs or representatives parties to the suit in his place. The decree was passed and the mortgagee purchased the property in execution. He sued now to recover possession of the property from the representative of the purchaser at the former execution sale. Held that the previous mortgage suit was not a bar to the present suit against the defendant, the representative of the purchaser in execution of the money decree, as the present suit was under the Procedure Code of 1859, which did not contain the express provision which is to be found in the Code of 1877, which provides that when a suit abated, as regards the defendants or one of the defendants, no fresh suit could be brought on the same cause of action. NISTARINI DEBI v. BROJO NATH MUKOPADHYA, 10 C.L.R. 229.

(142)—Partition suit — Incidental determination of question of partition in previous suit for possession—Res judicata.—Where the previous suit brought to establish the plaintiff's sole right to a certain land, which the defendant also claimed as his share obtained by partition, was dismissed, the Court holding that no partition had taken place, held that a second suit for partition of the field, including the land for which his former suit had been instituted, was not barred by the previous suit. SHIVRAM v. NARAYAN, 5 B. 27.

(143)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Dismissal for want of cause of action—Partition of mahal—Refusal by Revenue Court to partition—Suit to establish right—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.—A applied to the Revenue Court for the partition of a village. B objected to it on the ground that he was entitled to the entire mauza by the right of primogeniture. A was therefore referred to the Civil Court for the determination of his right to and possession of, a moiety of the village. This suit was ultimately dismissed on the ground that the Revenue Court ought to have disposed of the application for partition and had no power to decline to grant it. A thereupon again applied for partition of the village, but this application was again refused by the Revenue Court on the ground that the village was impartible. He then brought the suit to have it declared that he had equal rights with his brother B in the village. Held that the suit was not barred by s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, as the dismissal of the suit on the ground that there was no cause of action for the suit, was no adjudication of any right so as to bar the present suit. Held, also that the order of a Revenue Court declining to give partition, on the ground that the village was impartible, was not a bar to a subsequent suit in the Civil Court to have it declared that the plaintiff had equal rights with the defendants in the village, as a Revenue Court was not competent to determine the rights of the parties. JAGAT SINGH v. DURJANLAL, A.W.N. 1884, 2. [R., 13 A. 309.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—2.—Adjudications—continued.

(144)—Suits by tenant to compel tender of pattah and by landlord to compel acceptance of it—Both suits decided against the tenant—Appeal from one of the decisions—The unappealed decision whether res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—The appellant, a tenant sued the respondents to compel them to grant him a pattah and subsequently the respondents instituted a suit against the appellant before the same Revenue Court for compelling him to accept a pattah for the same year. The suits were tried together and judgment given on the same day. The decree in each suit ought to have been, in effect, the same but the Court however dismissed the appellant's suit and allowed the landlords' suit brought against him. The tenant appealed to the District Judge against the dismissal of the suit brought by him without any reference to the other decision against him in the landlords' suit. Held, on reference to a Full Bench in second appeal — though, technically, the tenant's appeal ought to have been in both suits and the proper course for the District Judge to have taken would have been to require the appellant to amend his memorandum of appeal so as to make it an appeal in both suits, yet the fact that the tenant appealed in his own suit and did not prefer an appeal in the landlord's suit, did not preclude the District Judge from deciding upon the merits of the questions raised in the appeal, which was before him, because an appellate tribunal cannot be regarded as incompetent to deal with a question, which comes before it on appeal, because an inferior Court, upon the same facts, but in a case other than the case under appeal, had given a decision, which had not been appealed against, at the same time as the decision in the case under appeal. PANCHANADA VELAN v. VAITHINATHA SASTRIAL, 16 M.L.J. 63=29 M. 333.

Res Judicata—continued.

—2.—Adjudications—continued.

(3 C. 30, R.; 16 C. 233, F.) [Diss., A.W.N. 1908, 211; F., A.W.N. 1907, 245 = 29 A. 730.]

(145)—Res judicata—Suit for rent — Previous certificate cancelled on ground that bona fide claim of right is involved— No adjudication on merits—Public Demands Recovery Act (I. B. C. of 1895), s. 7, sub-s. (1), cl. (c), s. 10, s. 12, sub-s. (1), s. 32, sub-s. (1)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13.—A certificate for arrears of rent was made on behalf of a landlord who was a ward of Court. The tenant objected on the ground that he held the land rent-free. The certificate officer decided in favour of the landlord. Upon an appeal by the tenant, the Collector, without entering into the merits, cancelled the certificate on the ground that there was a bona fide claim of right involved in the proceedings. The landlord then brought a suit for rent in respect of which the certificate had previously been made: Held, that the suit is not barred by the doctrine of res judicata, as the Collector did not cancel the certificate on the merits. JANKI KOERI v. BASDEO OJHA, 13 Ind. Cas. 351.

(146)—Adjudication of title of intervenor in rent-suit—Act X of 1859.—The decision on a question of title of an intervenor in a rent suit brought under Act X of 1859, though passed by the District Judge on appeal against the Deputy Collector's decision, would not operate as res judicata in a subsequent regular suit by such intervenor in a Civil Court. MAHOMED AFSURUDDIN v. BEER CHUNDER MANIKYA, 8 C. 470=10 C.L.R. 416. (B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 366=5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 23, R.)

(147)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s 13—Previous decision in rent suit, no res judicata in subsequent suit.—The previous decision in a suit by a landlord for rent does not operate as res judicata, and the Court must determine upon the evidence adduced whether the rent claimed in the particular suit, under adjudication, is or is not due. MAHARAJA JOTINDRA MOHUN TAGORE v. SHUMBHU CHUNDER BHUTTACHARJEE, 4 C.W.N. 43. (19 C. 656, 21 C. 236, F.) [Appl., 6 C.W.N. 589.]

(148)—Declaratory suit—Suit for possession —Denial of tenancy—Jurisdiction—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Act XII of 1881 (N.W.P. Rent Act), ss. 35, 40, 95.—S. 95 of the Rent Act pre-supposes the admitted relation of landholder and tenant; where this is denied, a Revenue Court cannot adjudicate on the rights of the parties; and an adjudication by such Court under such circumstances would not bar a suit in the Civil Court for the relief which had been refused by the Revenue Court. LODHI SINGH v. ISHRI SINGH, 6 A. 295= A.W.N. 1884, 90.

(149)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 12, 13, 18, Expl. (IV)—Pending suit—Malikana—Different reliefs claimed—Recurring liability—Different subject matters claimed—Judgment in first suit relating to root of plaintiff's title—"Final" judgment—Judgment liable to or under appeal—Effect of final judgment in previous suit pronounced subsequant to decision in second suit of lower appellate Court, but before hearing of second appeal in second suit—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, applicability to appeals and applications.—The rule contained in s. 12 of the Code forms no part of the rule of res judicata, for it relates to matters sub judice, and bars only a "suit," while the rule in s. 13 relates to matters which have passed into rem judicatam and bars the trial of a "suit" and of an "issue." Accordingly, the pendency of a litigation connected with the rent, malikana, or any other demand for one year does not, under s. 12 of the Code, bar a suit for a subsequent year, the reliefs prayed for in the two cases not being the same. (8 C.L.R. 113, R.) [R., 12 C.P.L.R. 91, 16 M.L.J. 526=2 M.L.T. 40, 1 S.L.R. 104.] For the purposes of res judicata, it is not essential that the subject-matter of the litigation should be identical with the subject-matter of the previous suit, for the rule bars a suit as well as the re-trial of an issue (12 I A. 16, R.). Where a recurring liability is the subject of a claim, a previous judgment, dismissing the suit upon findings which fall short of going to the very root of the title upon which the claim rests, cannot operate as res judicata, but if such previous judgment does negative the title itself, the plaintiff cannot re-agitate the same question of title by suing to obtain relief for a subsequent item of the obligation. So, if in the previous litigation, any final adjudication, as to the plaintiff's absence of title to receive malikana has been arrived at, the mere circumstance that that adjudication related to a claim of malikana for the earlier years will not prevent the application of the rule of res judicata. [R., 23 A. 5, 24 A. 112, 12 C.W.N. 739, 33 C. 1101=10 C.W.N. 934=4 C.L.J. 149; D., U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 535, 31 P.R. 1898.] A judgment liable to appeal and which has not yet been appealed from, or an appeal from which is actually pending, being only a provisional but not definitive or final adjudication, cannot operate as res judicata during the interval preceding the appeal and the period during which the appeal is depending in a higher tribunal (Expl. IV to the section commented on, 5 M.H.C. 176, 6 B 110, R.) [R., 4 N.L.R. 98.] The doctrine of res judicata, so far as it relates to prohibiting the re-trial of an issue, must refer not to the date of the commencement of the litigation, but to the time when the Judge is called upon to decide the issue. For, even in cases where the Judge has commenced the trial of an issue which is also an issue in a pending litigation, a final judgment pronounced meanwhile in such previous litigation by a competent Court (the identity of parties and other conditions mentioned in s. 13 being satisfied), should operate as res judicata, preventing the Judge dealing with the later litigation from adjudicating differently. [F., 24 M. 350, 6 A.L.J 991=3 Ind. Cas. 707; R., 13 M.L.J. 134, 6 C L.J. 74=11 C W.N. 732, 9 C.L J. 597, 12 C.W.N. 739, A.W.N. 1908, 211; D., 31 P.R. 1898.] The rule contained in the section is not limited to the Courts of first instance, but applies equally to the procedure of the first and second Appellate Courts, and even to miscellaneous proceedings BALKISHEN v. KISHAN LAL, 11 A. 148=A.W.N. 1889, 42.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(150)—Claim to arrears of rent disallowed in previous suit--Subsequent suit for enhancement--Beng. Act VIII of 1869.—The judgment in apprevious sut, disallowing the claim of the plaintiff to arrears of rent at a certain rate, on the plea of the defendant that the land had been held at a uniform rent for more than twenty years, would not bar a subsequent suit for enhancement of rent on notice, neither of the questions for consideration in the latter suit having been concluded by the decision in the former GOPEE MOHUN MOZOOMDAR v. HILLS, 3 C. 789.

(151)—Favourable decree—Unfavourable finding on one issue.—A plea set up by the tenants in a Civil Court, in answer to a suit by the landlord for recovery of rent, was found against them, but the suit was dismissed as the patta tendered to the tenants was not such an one as they were bound to accept. In a subsequent suit, by the landlord to enforce the acceptance of a patta, the tenants are not disabled from setting up the same plea, as it does not operate as res judicata. MUTTUKUMARAPPA v. ARUMUGA, 7 M. 145. [R., 13 B. 650, 157 P. R. 1889, F. B ; D., 30 M. 447=17 M.L.J. 260=2 M.L.T. 368.]

(152)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13 and 43—Suit to recover land on contract of letting.—Where, in a suit to recover land on a contract of letting in which the title also was alleged, the question was deliberately narrowed to that of letting, and a decision was arrived at on an adjudication of that question alone, a subsequent suit based on title was not barred by the provisions of s. 13, inasmuch as the question of title cannot be said to have been heard and determined in the former suit, though the question was in issue in that suit also. The suit was not also barred under the provisions of s. 43 as the cause of action was different in both the suits; in the former, the non-payment of rent due constituted the cause of action, the title being only an incidental question; in the latter, the title was the cause of action. THYILA v. THYILA, 4 M. 308. (3 C. 23, 2 C. 152, D.) [Cons., 14 B. 31; R., L.B.R. 1893—1900, 575, 7 M. 264, 21 A. 425, 25 B. 189, 13 M.L.J. 448=26 M. 760, 13 B. 326.]

(153)—Ejectment— Limitation — Estoppel— Res judicata—Jurisdiction.—In a suit for ejectment and mesne profits on the allegation that the terms of the temporary leases under which defendants had been in possession had expired, where defendants pleaded that they had held the land in mokurrari for generations, and that an ancestor of plaintiffs had confirmed their mokurrari rights by the grant of a pattah, held that, if defendants could prove that they had held for more than 12 years previous to the institution of the suit under a mokurrari tenure to the knowledge of the plaintiffs, the suit would be barred by limitation. Held that the judgment of the Munsiff's Court (confirmed by the lower appellate Court) in a suit for arrears of rent as to the validity of the same leases which plaintiff there set up and of the same mokurrari pattah which defendants then brought into Court was not conclusive evidence in the present case; for, though an inferior Court has jurisdiction to try every matter which is necessary for the adjudication of the point in contest before it, its decision is not final as regards other facts not in contest before it. TEKAITNI GOWRA KUMARI v. THE BENGAL COAL COMPANY, 5 B.L R. 667, Note.

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(154)—Former judgment non-suiting plaintiff —Decision of point of limitation in favour of plaintiff, if conclusive in subsequent suit.—The proceedings and judgment in a prior suit in which the Judge, although he decided the issues both of limitation and right in favour of the plaintiff, had yet non-suited him, cannot be taken as conclusive as regards the point of limitation in a fresh suit brought for the same matter. MUDDUN MOHUN CHUNDER CHOWDHRY v BRINDABUN CHUNDER SIRCAR CHOWDHRY, 4 W.R. 104.

(155)—Right to levy cess—Suit for declaration of—Wajib ul-arz — Proceedings of Settlement Officer.—The mention of a cess in the wajib-ul arz and in the Settlement Officer's proceeding, was held not equivalent to a judgment on the question raised in a civil suit so as to preclude adjudication on the merits. RAM CHUND v. ZAHOOR ALI KHAN, 1 Agra 135.

(156)—Act XIV of 1859, s. 1, cl. 6—Proceedings of Settlement Officer—Cess—Mention of, in wazib ul-arz—Conclusive.—In a suit to set aside an order of the Settlement Department, it was held that the proceeding before the Settlement officer was not a judicial award, as it was merely a fiscal one not adjudicating on any point at issue between the parties, and s. 1, cl. 6 of Act XIV of 1859, was inapplicable; and that the mention of the cess in the wazib-ul-arz was not conclusive proof of the right of the zemindar to levy it against persons who were not parties to that record. RAM CHUND v. ZAHOOR ALI KHAN. 1 Agra 134.

(157)—Order of Superintendent of Settlement, whether a decree of Court of competent jurisdiction—Res judicata.—A judicial decision by a Superintendent of Settlement in a suit between landlord and tenant (passed before the Tenancy Act XXVII of 1868 became law), which awards to the tenant a status unknown to the law, and which the subsequent legislation shows to have been based upon a misapprehension of the law, may be successfully impugned in a subsequent suit, notwithstanding the rule as to res judicata. SIDHA v. DATA RAM, 118 P.R. 1876. [D., 77 P.R. 1877, 22 P.R. 1879.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(158)—Mutation proceedings — Persons not parties—Res judicata.—Ordering dakhil kharij does not constitute the matter res judicata, much less as against persons not parties to the mutation proceedings. HEERA SINGH v. JAGEER BEG, 3 P.R. 1868.

(159)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—First suit for revocation of agency—Subsequent suit for dismissal on the ground of misconduct, maintainable—Agency when terminable—Duty of agent —Cause of action, existence of, how determined —Abatement.—First defendant was appointed agent of plaintiff for 18 years. Plaintiff brought a suit for revoking the authority, which was dismissed on the ground that the authority was irrevocable. He then brought the present suit for dismissing the first defendant on the ground of misconduct. Held that the suit was not barred on account of the decision in the former suit. Held also that, in every contract of service here, is an implied condition that, if the service be not faithfully performed, the employer is entitled to put an end to the contract. Held also that the agent was bound to act, in all matters left to his discretion, in good faith and to the best of his judgment, solely for the benefit of his principal. That the first defendant, whether regarded as a servant or as an agent, or as holding a fiduciary position resembling in respect of his duties the position of a trustee, his right to retain his position depends on the faithful performance of duties attached to it. In considering the question of the cause of action, the allegations of misconduct set out in the plaint must be assumed as true. Held further that the appeal would not abate owing to the death of the first defendant pending the appeal. MAYIL NAIR v. KUNDUR KUTTALA MADATHIL PITCHU PATTAR'S SON SUBRAMANIA PATTAR, 7 M.L.T. 87=33 M. 162=5 Ind. Cas. 758.

(160)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Order refusing to file an award—Subsequent suit to enforce the award. — An application was made to file an award, and the question of misconduct of the arbitrators was heard and decided in that proceeding, and an order was made refusing to file the award. In a subsequent suit for enforcing the award, the same question was raised. Held that the issue as to misconduct of the arbitrators was decided in a proceeding which was not a suit within the meaning of s. 13, and the decision on the said issue could not operate as res judicata. KUNJI LAL v. DURGA PRASAD, 7 A.L.J. 425=6 Ind. Cas. 127=32 A. 484. (6 A. 186, A.W.N. 1904, 234, 28 A. 21, F.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(161)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Arrears of maintenance, Suit for - Contribution, Suit for —Rights of defendants inter se, Determination of — Res judicata.—In a previous suit for arrears of maintenance by one F. A., against the person in possession of different portions of an estate on which it was alleged the maintenance was a charge, the plaintiff was one of the defendants against whom a decree was passed, for the full amount of arrears, while some defendants were discharged from liability. The plaintiff appealed making F.A., and his co defendants respondents in the case. The appellate Court refused to decide the relative liability of the defendants and referred the plaintiff to a suit for contribution. Subsequently, the plaintiff brought a suit for contribution against his co-defendants on the allegation that they were liable to contribute towards the sum decreed in proportion to their shares. Held, that the second suit was not barred by s. 13 of the Code of the Civil Procedure, the rights of the defendants inter se not having been finally decided in the first suit. MANIK CHAND v. RAJA TASADDUK RASUL KHAN, 2 O.C. 303.

(162)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Ss. 13, 43, 462 —Custom—Adoption—Daughter's son—Dhillon Jats of Hoshiarpur district — Res judicata—Splitting of claims-Minor- Compromise of suit on behalf of.—Held, that adoption of a daughter's son among Jats of Hoshiarpur district being established by custom, the burden of proving that the custom did not apply to Dhillon Jats of the district, lay on the defendants who contested the validity of such adoptions and that they had failed to prove it. (50 P.R. 1893, R.) Where it appeared that a suit by the father of a minor on behalf of the latter was misconducted by him, that the father was incapacitated owing to physical incapacity from properly representing the minor's interest at the time of the institution of the suit, and no steps taken in the suit could be treated as taken in good faith, and the suit was allowed by Court to be dismissed on the father entering into a compromise with the opposite party, under which the father relinquished claim to nearly half of the property to which the minor was clearly entitled. Held, that the minor could not be held bound by the compromise, and a fresh suit filed by him was not barred either under s. 13 or s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code. Held, also, that the Court should not have sanctioned the compromise under s. 462 of the Code. JAWALA SINGH v. JAIMEL SINGH, 25 P.L.R. 1909=14 P.W.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 400.

(163)—Ss. 13, 623, 1882—Civ. Pro. Code—Consent decree—Application for review on the ground of fraud, coercion, misrepresentation, &c., refused—Fresh suit for same relief, if lies—Election of remedies—Res judicata — Appropriate remedy for setting aside consent-decree on ground of fraud.—When a consent-decree is sought to be attacked on the ground of fraud, misrepresentation, mistake, coercion or undue influence or any similar grounds, the appropriate remedy is by a suit, although, on the terms of s. 623, Civ. Pro. Code (1882), as also on the authorities, it cannot be said that a Court has no jurisdiction to review a consent decree on any such ground. (10 C. 612, Cons.; 6 B.L.R. 649, 13 B.L.R. App. XI, 22 W.R. 213, 5 C.W.N. 757=28 C. 475, 6 C.W.N. 473=29 C. 395, 29 I.A. 99, 22 W.R. 290, 25 C. 649, 3 C.L.J. 119, 34 C. 83, 8 C.L.J. 266, 8 C.W.N. 473, 3 C.W.N. 375, 10 C.W.N. 286, 15 B. 594, R.) The two remedies though co-existing are not inconsistent remedies, so that, when the party aggrieved has had recourse first to the less appropriate remedy of a review and has failed, the doctrine of election does not apply in bar of a regular suit for the same relief. No question of election of remedies arises, unless the remedies are inconsistent and alternative. The decision of the Court upon the application for review would not also operate as res judicata in the regular suit subsequently instituted. (10 C.W.N. 529 =2 C.L.J. 508, Doubted; 11 I.A. 37=6 A. 269, 11 I.A. 181=7 A. 102, 8 I.A. 123=8 C. 51, R.) Where however in such a case, the aggrieved party has been successful in one proceeding, the judgment absorbs all his other judicial remedies. MUSSAMMAT GULAB KOER v. BADSHAH BAHADUR, 13 C.W.N. 1197 =10 C.L.J. 420=2 Ind. Cas. 129. [F., 14 C.W.N. 451; R., 10 C.L.J. 538=3 Ind. Cas. 346=6 M.L.T. 255.]

(164)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Right to sue reserved by decree—Second suit not barred by first.—In a suit by an auction purchaser for recovery of lands, the decree directed the dismissal of the suit on the ground of non-production of the sale-certificate, but reserved the right of the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit on obtaining the sale-certificate. In a second suit by the plaintiff for recovery of the same property on production of the sale-certificate, held, the first suit did not operate as res judicata. MURUGAPPA ASARI v. SANTHIAMMAL, 18 M.L.J. 198.

(165)—Suit against widow for setting aside gift by her—Subsequent suit against her daughters for possession, subject-matter of, neither in issue nor heard and decided in previous suit —Civ. Pro. Code, s 13, Expl. II.—Plaintiffs, who were the collaterals and reversioners of one B. deceased, had sued his widow M to set aside a gift of B's estate made by her. Subsequently, the widow having died, the present suit for possession of the property, was instituted by them against the two daughters of B and certain co-reversioners with them. The daughters pleaded that the plaintiffs had not a superior right to succeed, but their contention was overruled by the lower Courts as barred under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, Expl. II, on the ground that, although the daughters were not parties to the previous litigation, the entire estate was represented by their mother through whom they claimed and they were therefore bound by the prior decision that the plaintiffs were the reversionary heirs. Held, because the question as to who had the superior claim was not a necessary issue in the previous declaratory suit and had not been therefore adjudicated upon, the matter could not be held as having been heard and finally decided, within the meaning of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, and the daughters were not barred from setting up the above defence, by reason of the decision in the prior suit. BEHARI v. PIR BAKHSH, 107 P.R. 1906=76 P.L.R. 1907. (24 C. 711, 28 C. 17, F.; 29 P.R. 1895 and 11 C. 196, D.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(166)—Estoppel—Res judicata —A plaintiff, who sues to obtain property which belonged to a Hindu widow, on the ground that he is the adopted son of a brother of the deceased husband, is not barred from setting up his title, because, in a former suit against the same defendants for other property, it was decided that he was not the adopted son of that brother. KRIPARAM v. BHAGWAN DAS, 1 B.L.R.A.C. 68=10 W.R. 100. [Overruled, 1 C. 144, P.C.; Disappr., 4 C. 199, P.C.]

(167)—Principles operating—Will—Gift to widow—Absolute or life estate.—Where, in a former suit, a party disputed a will on the ground that the properties willed belonged to the undivided Hindu family, which was found against, a later suit in which he seeks a declaration that the will gave only a life estate to the widow, and that he was the reversioner, is not barred by res judicata. In order to avoid the objection of res judicata it is not necessary that a plaintiff should put forward the claim and also the alternative inconsistent claim. Where the adjudication of the matter was wholly unnecessary for the decision of the case, the matter cannot be res judicata. Where the testator makes no express bequest in favour of his widow, but merely says "they shall have the documents:" Held, that the widow did not get an estate of inheritance. DHANAPALU CHETTY v. ANANTHA CHETTY, M.W.N. 1913, 322=13 M.L.T. 305=24 M.L.J. 418=18 Ind. Cas. 973.

(168)—Right to construct a wall, declaratory decree obtained in respect of—Subsequent interruption by defendant—Fresh suits for injunction—One co-sharer whether bound by suit by or against another co-sharer—Res judicata—Act X of 1877, s 13, Expl. V and s. 30.—Plaintiff in this suit asked for the following reliefs: (1) a declaratory decree that he was entitled to build up a wall in the lower court-yard of his house, so that it might serve as a boundary line between his own and the defendants' premises which adjoined each other; (2) to erect a balakhana or upper story, so as to exclude the defendants from the use of the roof; and (3) for an injunction to restrain the defendants from interfering with his building the wall in the lower court-yard. Plaintiff alleged that the site, on which he desired to build the wall, had been previously decreed in his favour by a decree dated 21st March 1878, and that the roof on which he now wished to erect a balakhana had also been decreed to him on the 22nd March 1878, but that, five days before the present suit, the defendants had prevented the plaintiff from building up the wall, and he accordingly prayed for an injunction that the defendants might be restrained from obstructing him in exercising a right which he was declared entitled to exercise by a competent Court. The lower Appellate Court considered that plaintiff was entitled to the injunction claimed, with respect to the wall, on the ground of the subsequent obstruction complained of in the plaint; and, with respect to the balakhana, it held that the rights of the parties were conclusively settled by the previous decisions. On this appeal by one of the defendants, it was argued for him, first, that plaintiff was bound to proceed by enforcing the declaratory decree previously obtained by him and was not entitled to bring a fresh suit. Secondly, that the appellant was not bound by the previous decisions, as he was no party to those suits and because Expl. V, s. 13, is altogether inapplicable to a case where one of the two co sharers is either sued or sues in his own name and not as representing a numerous class of persons. Held that the previous decree obtained by the plaintiff was of the nature of a declaratory decree and that plaintiff, when he came into Court a second time, alleging a new and recent obstruction to the exercise of his rights, had prima facie a fresh cause of action entitling him to maintain a suit. On the question whether the defendant appellant must be held bound by the result of the previous litigation conducted by his brother, the Chief Court was of opinion that he was not so bound. Courts are not bound to allow Expl. V, s. 13, to operate as a bar to litigation unless they are firmly persuaded that it applies to the exact case in point. The above provision of the law was not intended to apply to a case similar to the present, where a junior brother finding himself involved in litigation regarding property held jointly by himself and an elder brother during the absence of that brother in a distant part of the country, did his best to defend the joint rights, and at the same time, pointed out to the Court that advantage had been taken by the opposite party of such absence, no notice having been given through the Court to that elder brother of the fact of the pendency of the litigation. GHULAM GHOUS v. SHER MUHAMMAD, 111 P.R. 1882. [R., 38 P.R. 1897, 41 P.R. 1899, 27 P.R. 1900=241 P.L.R. 1900.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(168-a)—Res judicata—Notice under s. 30, Civ. Pro. Code—Present plaintiffs not parties to arbitration in previous suit—Question not previously litigated bona fide—Expl. V to s. 13 inapplicable.—The three plaintiffs in the suit instituted previously in January, 1878, sued for what their co-sharers were entitled to; yet when the case was referred to arbitration, the award only disposed of the shares of the plaintiffs whose names were on the record. Admittedly no notice was given to the present plaintiffs under s. 30 of the Civ. Pro. Code so as to bind them by the result, and they were no parties to the appointment of arbitrators, and could not be held to have been deprived of their right to sue, because other persons claimed on their behalf what they were entitled to, but were content in the end to accept their own shares as individuals. SHEOYA v. SHADI, 111 P.R. 1882, Note (a). [R., 111 P.R. 1882.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——2.—Adjudications—continued.

(168-b)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. V—Question relating to construction of mortgage—Res judicata—Parties interested bound by bona fide proceedings—In a previous suit between the parties, the decision was in favour of a particular construction of the terms of a mortgage-deed. Held, that the parties were bound by this decision and that it was not open to them, in a subsequent suit, to contend for a different construction Where the proceedings in the former suit were carried on in perfect good faith by the then plaintiffs, and it was plain that the then plaintiffs sued on behalf of themselves and all the mortgagees and were allowed by the Court to do so, the decision in the suit would bind all the parties interested. DINA v. MUSST. ATMA DEVI, 111 P.R. 1882, Note (b). [R., 111 P.R. 1882.]

(168-c)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Suit in respect of private right claimed in common by plaintiffs and others—Subsequent suit on same title—Presumption as to bona fides of litigation.—In a previous case in 1865, two persons S. and M. litigated as plaintiffs in respect of a private right claimed in common for themselves and others. The right of S. and of the plaintiff in the present case was based upon precisely the same title and S. claimed the right in common for himself and the present plaintiff among others. There was no ground for supposing that the litigation was otherwise than bona fide; the presumption was that it was bona fide and also on the appeal to the Commissioner no objection was raised on the point specifically. Held, that the present plaintiff was bound by the decree in the suit of 1865. JAI SINGH v. THOBA, 111 P.R. 1882 Note (c). [R., 111 P.R. 1882.]

(168-d)—Erroneous decision by lower Appellate Court on question of res judicata—Material irregularity—Revision—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 622.—In this case, the lower Appellate Court had wrongly held that the present suit was barred under Expl. V, s. 13, by reason of a former suit to which the plaintiffs were no parties, and had for that reason refused to adjudicate on the merits of the plaintiff's appeal. Held, that the lower Appellate Court had committed a material irregularity justifying interference under s. 622, Civ. Pro. Code. As the provisions of s. 30 had been previously entirely ignored, it was not possible to hold that the present plaintiffs were bound by the previous decision, simply because certain persons chose to sue others as representing them, who were not authorised in any legal way to act on their behalf. Moreover, the previous case had been referred to arbitration and decided by the Court on the same day that the award was filed, contrary, to the express provisions of s. 522 of the Code, and, such decision contrary to law cannot be regarded as the final decision of a competent Court within the meaning of s 13 of the Code, so as to bind the present plaintiffs. CHUHAR v. DEVIA, 111 P.R. 1882, Note (d), [R., 111 P.R. 1882.]

(169)—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 41—Judgment of Court of Probate, a judgment in rem—Proceedings under Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), previous decision under Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), if res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—On an application for probate of a will, the District Judge passed an order refusing probate on the ground that, in the course of certain prior proceedings, inter partes, under the Guardians and Wards Act, it had been decided that the will propounded was not a genuine will, and that by virtue of such decision the question as to the genuineness of the will was res judicata, and could not be re-opened in the subsequent proceedings for probate. The order was reversed on the ground that the proceedings under the Guardians and Wards Act could not so operate as to make the question of the genuineness of the will res judicata so as to bar the subsequent application for probate. The prior decision under the Guardians and Wards Act was only a decision inter partes and could not affect the subsequent application for probate, the adjudication upon which will have the effect of a judgment in rem, as provided in s 41 of the Evidence Act, and will affect not only the parties to the previous proceedings, but the beneficiaries under the will and the world at large. CHINNASAMI v. HARIHARABHADRA, 16 M.380=3 M.L.J. 121.

(170)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 111, 13—Ascertained sum due to defendant in same matter as plaint transaction, set-off allowable in respect of—Ground of claim for set-off in subsequent suit not in issue in previous suit, no res judicata.—Plaintiff sued to recover money due as wages from the defendant, who had engaged him to sell cloth at a monthly salary. Defendant claimed to set-off a certain sum due to him, as the price of cloth sold on his account, by the plaintiff on commission. In a previous suit by the present defendant to recover the price of the above cloth alleged to be sold and delivered to the present plaintiff, the latter (defendant in the former suit) pleaded that the cloth had been delivered to him only for sale on commission. In that suit, which was dismissed, the question whether any sum was due, as for cloth sold on commission sale, was not gone into. Under the circumstances, the defendant was held entitled, under s. 111, of the Civ. Pro. Code, to set off the sum claimed by him as due for cloth sold on commission, since it was an ascertained sum claimed in relation to the same contract as that on which the plaintiff's claim was based. Further, the claim for the set-off was not barred by s. 13 of the Code, since, the claim made by the defendant in the subsequent suit was based on a different ground from that of his claim as plaintiff in the previous suit, and the issue in the later suit had not been heard and decided in the previous one. AMIR ZAMA v. NATHU MAL, 8 A. 396=A.W.N. 1886, 159. [R., 16 C.P.L.R. 118.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—2.—Adjudications—continued.

(171)—Indian Oaths Act, ss. 9 and 11—Estoppel.—The decision of an issue arrived at, under the provisions of the Oaths Act, ss. 9 and 11, is not an adjudication operating as an estoppel in any future proceedings. KESHAVA v. RUDRAN, 5 M. 259. [Expl., 10 M. 272; R., 6 M. 284, 25 M. 662; D., 21 B. 465, 24 M. 444.]

(172)—*Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—*Res judicata—Suit for partition—Previous suit for partition of other property.—K, a Hindu widow, sued the heir of her husband's brother (defendant No. 1) in 1884, to recover by partition her husband's share, certain lands which he held jointly with his brother, but failed. In 1908, the plaintiff claiming through K's husband, sued defendant No. 1 to recover possession of the house in which K resided during her lifetime. In both the suits it was alleged that the brothers had already separated as regards houses and the house in question had fallen to the share of K's husband. The defendant contended that the second suit was barred by res judicata: Held, that the suit was not barred by res judicata, for what was substantially in issue between the parties in the second suit, did not necessarily call for decision and had not in fact been decided in the first suit. MULJIBHAI NARBHERAM BHATT v. LAKHMIDAS DADABHAI PATEL, 13 B L.R. 1034=36 B. 127=12 Ind. Cas. 711.

(173)—Res judicata—Two findings in former suit—Second finding not necessary to dispose of the case—Whether bars subsequent suit.—A brought a suit against B for profits of a certain plot of land for the year 1313 F., on the allegation that the same had been assigned to him by C and D. The Court dismissed the suit on the finding that the profits had not been assigned to A by C and D. It further found that it had not been proved whether C and D themselves had been in enjoyment of the profits within 12 years prior to the institution of the suit. Subsequently A brought a second suit for recovery of the profits for the years 1314-1315-F., against the same defendant on the ground that he was mortgagee in possession of the share of C and D. Held, that the second suit was not barred by res judicata. The finding in the former suit as to the enjoyment of profits by C and D was not a finding on which the decision of the case turned. MISRI LAL v. MOHAMMAD PIDA HOSAN, 11 Ind. Cas. 89. (27 A. 436, A.W.N. 1905, 36, 2 A.L.J. 107, 17 A. 174, R.)

Res Judicata—continued.

—2.—Adjudications—continued.

(174)—Occupancy tenants—Status—Res judicata.—In a suit for enhancement of rent, the Settlement Collector declared the tenants to come under s. 6 of the Tenancy Act, 1887, and enhanced their rent accordingly. The tenants had not expressly claimed any particular status, and the question of their status was not expressly put in issue. Held, in a subsequent suit by the tenants to establish a right of occupancy under s. 5, sub-s. (1) (a) of the Tenancy Act, that the Lower Courts had rightly held that the question of status had already been decided. NIHAL SINGH v. HIRA SINGH, 5 P. R. 1892, Rev.

(175)—*Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), s. 375—*Razinamah—Subsequent suit to enforce promise inducing compromise—Res judicata.—The fact that in a former suit between the same parties, a razinamah had been filed by the plaintiff admitting complete satisfaction, does not prevent him from afterwards suing to enforce a specific promise to pay a certain sum of money on the strength of which he was induced to forego his original claim in that suit: and, if such a promise could be proved, he would be entitled to maintain the subsequent suit, and to obtain a decree for such sum as was agreed to be paid. NARAIN DAS v. BABA KISHEN DAS, 95 P.R. 1880. [R., 1 P. R. 1904=41 P. L R. 1904.]

See ACT X OF 1870, s. 39, 7 C. 406=9 C L.R. 117.

Suits settled by compromise—Compromise dealing partly with properties in suit and partly with those outside suit—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXIII, r. 3, 1 C.L.J. 388.

Refused by Criminal Court—See COSTS—SPECIAL CASES, 8 C.W.N. 178.

See EVIDENCE—DECREES, JUDGMENTS AND PROCEEDINGS IN SUITS, 13 C. 352, F.B.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 19, 20 P.R. 1887.

Arrears of share in vatan cash allowance by Government, suit for recovery of—Limitation—Limitation Act, 1877, art. 62—Previous decision inter partes on point of law, cannot operate as res judicata—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 62, 22 B. 669.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ART. 182—MISCELLANEOUS 23 A. 465=A.W.N. 1901, 142.

Ss. 13, 102, 103, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Redemption suit dismissed for default—Second suit not barred—Res judicata—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 2 Ind. Cas. 630.

See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 24 A. 44, F.B.=A.W.N. 1901, 194, 27 P.R. 1900.

See PLAINT—REJECTION OF PLAINT, 12 A. 553=A.W.N. 1889, 185.

Res Judicata—continued.

—2. —Adjudications—concluded.

See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—GROUNDS OF APPEAL, 6 W.R. 157.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, 92, 25 M. 300, F.B. = 12 M.L.J 128.

——3.—Cause of action.

See CAUSE OF ACTION.

See RELINQUISHMENT OF PORTION OF CLAIM.

(1)—Civ. Pro. Code—Judgment and order passed on review, part of record.—The rule of law applicable to the defence of res judicata in bar of a suit is that there must be not only the same property or subject of demand in dispute either wholly or in part between the same parties or their privies, but it must also appear that the identical question of right or title has been before in judicio. The judgment must be on the same res or matter directly in question as that sought to be litigated in the second suit. When a question of right or title has been adjudicated on in a suit, the bar of the judgment cannot be avoided by suing on a new form of claim, or on a ground of relief which might have been, but was not, raised or determined in the former sui, if such claim or ground arises out of and depends upon the same right or title as that which was directly in question in the former suit. [F., 22 W.R. 464, 28 M. 406; Cons., 2 C. 152, F.B.; R., 7 M.H.C. 160, 4 C. 190, 14 B. 31, 20 B. 86, 2 O. C. 303, 13 M. L. J. 448 = 26 M. 760, 31 M. 385.] The Civ. Pro. Code makes the judgment of the Court and an order passed on a review of judgment as much a part of the record in a suit as the decree, and in considering the question of res judicata, they should be looked at to see not only that the suit was dismissed on the merits but how the matter in litigation was judicially dealt with. CHINNIYA MUDALI v. VENKATACHELLA PILLAI, 3 M.H.C. 320.

(2)—Suits based upon same right.—Where the causes of action in the former and subsequent suits are identical and there is no allegation of a wholly different right or of a wholly different group of facts infringing it in the latter suit from what there was in the former one, the rule of res judicata will apply. Having striven to establish his title by one means and failed, a person cannot be permitted in a latter suit to establish that title by other means which were equally at his command when the former suit was tried, and so connected with the grounds on which he in that case relied that they ought to have been submitted for consideration together. HAJI HASAM v. IBRAHIM MANCHARAN KALIANDAS, 3 B 137. [R., 8 B. 174, 14 B. 31, 21 M. 35, 25 B. 115, 25 B. 189, 1 Ind. Cas. 808.]

(3)—Pleadings—Every title should be raised—Decision on every part of case to be obtained—Fresh suit.—A plaintiff is bound to raise can succeed and to obtain a decision upon every part of his case, and if it is found that any part of the case which he made has been neglected by the Court which tried the suit, he is not at liberty to bring a fresh suit in respect of such part SREEKRISTO BISWAS v. JOY KRISTO BISWAS, 24 W.R. 304.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of action—continued.

(4)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Res judicata—Joinder of several causes of action—Institution of suit in superior Court—S. 13 not evaded—To make a matter res judicata, the two suits need not be open to appeal in the same way. (25 C. 571, F.; 9 B. 75, 15 B. 104, 111, 9 C. 439, D.) [F., 24 M 444; Rel. on, 10 C.W.N. 529 = 2 C.L.J. 508; Not F., 29 M. 195, F.B. = 1 M.L.T. 25 = 16 M.L.J. 41; D., 9 C.W.N. 656, 35 C. 353 = 12 C.W.N. 359 = 7 C.L.J. 470; R., 13 C.W.N. 1197 = 10 C.L.J. 420.] A plaintiff cannot be allowed to evade s. 13, by joining several causes of action against the same defendant in one and the same suit and instituting it in a superior Court. BHUGWANBUTTI CHOWDHRANI v. FORBES, 28 C. 78 = 5 C.W.N. 483. [R., 57 P.R. 1907 = 66 P.W.R. 1907.]

(5)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 43—Res judicata—Prior suit erroneously dismissed under s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code—Subsequent suit on same cause of action—Object matter same.—The decision in a former suit erroneously dismissing it under s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code, will be res judicata in a subsequent suit brought for the same relief, on the same cause of action, between the same parties, as the object matter is the same. DASARI CHELLAMMA v. M. CHELLAYYA, 7 M.L.T. 84 = 5 Ind. Cas. 756.

(6)—Res judicata—Issue heard and determined—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—S. 2 of Act VIII of 1859 bars a suit where the matter in issue has been heard and determined by a Court of competent jurisdiction in a former suit between the same parties. NUFUR CHUNDER PAUL CHOWDHRY v. LUCKHEE MONEE DABEE, 9 W.R. 300.

(7)—Res judicata—Omission to include claim in previous suit—Cause of action.—A party who based a previous suit as against the present defendant on the same cause of action and might then have made his present claim, but did not, cannot bring a second suit on the same cause of action for that purpose. LALLA LUCHMUN SAHOY v. RAMSARU PANDYAN, 20 W.R. 144.

(8)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Dismissal of suit to recover property by right of gift—Subsequent suit by right of inheritance.—A plaintiff's cause of action is a very different thing from his title; the one is something done contrary to a person's interest which obliges him to seek the aid of a Court of justice, the other is the proof that that something affords him a valid ground for relief. (10 W.R. 426, Appl.) A litigant cannot be allowed to keep back one of his titles, on the ground that he had still a right in reserve, as he is bound to disclose all his titles at once. Dismissal of a suit brought by a person claiming property by gift to his mother bars a subsequent suit by that person claiming the same property as heir to his grandfather, when the cause of action was the same in both the suits. BROJO LALL ROY v. KHETTUR NATH MITTER, 12 W.R. 55. [R., 11 B.H.C. 224, 2 O.C. 347.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of action—continued.

(9)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 43—Suit for permanent injunction — Second suit for possession barred—Cause of action—Object of res judicata—Suit for declaration —A suit by an owner, out of possession, for a permanent injunction against the defendant, who holds the property in dispute adversely to him, bars a subsequent suit for possession on the same cause of action. (5 A.L.J. 640, A W.N. 1908, 252, 4 M.L.T. 444, 4 A. 261, 2 A. 356, D.; 1 A. 252, 8 C. 528, 14 A. 512, 8 C. 483, R.) The object of the rule of res judicata is always put upon two grounds:—(1) the public policy that there should be an end of litigation; (2) the hardship on the individual that he should be vexed twice for the same cause. The expression cause of action means infringement of some right by some one, which entitles the owner of the right to seek the assistance of the Court. S. 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, must apply to the facts as found by the Court and not to facts as alleged in the plaint. GOKUL MISIR v. BANDE ALI BEG, 8 Ind. Cas. 9. (18 B. 537, Appr.; 8 C. 819, 12 C. 291, R.;

(10)—Identity of basis of claims—Non-production of evidence—Effect.—The latter of two suits (between the same parties or their privies), in which the reliefs sought for are different, but in respect of the same property and based on the same title, is barred by the dismissal of the former for failure to establish the title. [D., 14 B. 206.] Dismissal for non-production of evidence has the same effect as dismissal founded on evidence, in barring a subsequent suit as res judicata. RAMA RAO v. SURIYA RAO, 1 M. 84.

(11)—Second suit for same property on different title.—A plaintiff, bringing a suit, to recover property on the strength of one title, and failing in such suit, cannot, afterwards, sue to recover the same property on another title which he might have, but did not, put forward in the first suit (Garth, C.J., Diss.) [F., 3 C. 23; D., 6 C. 559=8 C.L.R. 10, 5 B. 589, 10 M. 272, 16 C. 137, 14 B. 31, 24 C. 83; Diss., 4 M. 308, 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448; R., 8 C. 483 =11 C.L.R. 57.] Garth, C.J., held that the suit was not barred by res judicata because the words 'cause of action' mean not the claim itself (e.g.) the money, goods, or land claimed by the plaintiff but the grounds upon which that claim is founded and that, for a judgment to operate as res judicata, the grounds upon which a thing is sought to be recovered must be substantially the same in both the suits. DENO BUNDOO CHOWDHRY v. KRISTOMONEE DOSSEE, 2 C. 152. [Diss., 25 B. 189 =2 Bom. L.R. 872.]

(12)—Suit for specific sum of money—Civ. Pro Code. (Act VIII of 1859), s. 2.—A plaintiff, suing for a specific sum of money, must put forward every right, under which he claims it. A subsequent suit for the same sum under a right different from the one put forward in the first suit would be barred by res judicata. BEEKHA LALL v. BUGGOO LALL 3 C. 23. (2 C. 152, R.) [D., 6 C. 559=8 C.L.R. 10; Diss., 4 M. 308; R., 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448.]

(13)—Cause of action—Suit for mesne profits —Former suit for possession.—The plaintiff sued to recover possession of land and for wasilat from the period at which he alleged he was dispossessed; and he obtained a decree for possession of the lands and for wasilat from the date of the plaint. He afterwards sued the defendant for wasilat from the date of the alleged dispossession to the date of the plaint. Held that wasilat having been claimed in the previous plaint for that period, and there having been an adjudication upon his claim for wasilat and no evidence that wasilat was withheld for the period for which it was now claimed, through inadvertence or by mistake, the case within Act VIII of 1859, s. 2, excluding from the jurisdiction of the Court causes of action "which shall have been heard and determined by a Court of competent jurisdiction in a former suit between the same parties." LUTEE FOONISSA BIBEE v LUCKEEMONEE DOSSEE, Marsh 93=1 Hay 161.

(14)—Causes of action—Decision as to genuineness of document—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 2—Co-defendants.—A former judgment, in which a certain document has been held to be genuine between a third person as plaintiff and the present plaintiff and present principal defendant as defendants, was held to be conclusive in this suit on the point of authenticity of the document, though not a res judicata under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, in other respects. KALLY PERSAD SEIN CHOWDHRY v MOHESH CHUNDER BHUTTACHARJEE, Hay 430.

(15) Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Decision of claim of title in prior suit—Fresh suit in respect of same subject-matter.—Where the ground of legal right on which a plaintiff sues was a point raised and opened for decision in a former suit and was finally dealt with by the judgment and decree therein, it cannot be permitted to be raised in a subsequent suit between the parties or their representatives in interest. As a rule, a party is bound to bring forward his whole case in respect of the matter in litigation and open to him upon the points for decision in the suit. He is not at liberty to abstain from relying upon, still less to abandon a ground of claim which is in question and proper for consideration and decision in the suit, and afterwards to make it a cause of fresh suit in respect of the same subject-matter of litigation. Plaintiff sued to recover possession of a zamindari as the legal representative of a devisee under the will of a former zemindar. The whole foundation of the suit was the validity of the alleged will. In prior suits for possession brought by the testator's widow and daughter, respectively, against the plaintiff's father and the plaintiff, the same will was set up as the ground of title on behalf of the defendants, though the actual decision of the suits went on different grounds. Held that it was open to the present plaintiff as party in both suits to have put forward the right claimed under the will and to have his case upon that point fully heard and determined. The cause of action upon which the present suit was brought was finally concluded by the judgment and decree in the appeal in the prior suits. Consequently the present cause of action was concluded. It made no difference that the party now plaintiff was defendant in the former suit. UDAIYA TEVAR v. KATAMA NACHIYAR, 2 M H.C. 131. [R., 3 W.R. 39, 3 M.H.C, 320, 7 M.H C. 263, 14 B. 31, 26 M. 760 ; D., 3 M.H.C. 217.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

——3.—Cause of action—continued.

(16)—Suit for same property by defendant in prior suit on fresh ground—Prior suit adjudging possession of Hindu mother, a widow—Subsequent claim by defendant in the first suit, as reversioner.—When a plaintiff claims an estate and the defendant, being in possession, resists that claim, he is bound to resist it upon all the grounds that it is possible for him, according to his knowledge then, to bring forward. If (e.g.) he could have, but did not, put forward a Kulachar or family custom, negativing the right of the plaintiff in the first suit, a Hindu mother, but giving him a right to succeed, he cannot avail himself of that ground in a subsequent suit, of his own, to recover the same property as against the successful plaintiff in the first suit. [D., 24 C. 83 ; R., 11 C.L.R. 483, 14 B. 31, 24 C. 711.] But he may avail himself of the ground of the Kulachar or family custom, set up by him, to show that he, if he survived the widow, would be entitled to succeed her in preference to other male heirs and that, on that ground, he is entitled to question the alienations made by the widow. DOORGAPERSAD SINGH v. DOORGA KONWARI, 4 C. 190, P.C.=3 C.L.R. 31=5 I A. 149 =3 Sar. 827. [R., 16 M.L.J. 307=1 M.L.T. 183=29 M. 390.]

(17)—Suit—Difference in terms of partnership—Res judicata.—Where there is a difference between the terms and conditions of the partnership set up in the first suit and those asserted in the second, and the first was dismissed for want of proof of the partnership, the circumstance of difference in terms alone will not give a new cause of action. SAMARAPURI v. SHANMUGA, 5 M. 47.

(18)—Previous suit dismissed—Second suit for same subject—Suit for recovery of property as son of pattashree of last owner—Later suit as eldest son of such owner.—Where a previous suit is dismissed, a second suit for the same object matter cannot be brought because a new basis in fact of the same "causa" is adduced, but a second suit can be brought where there is a different "causa." Where a suit for recovery of property on the ground that the plaintiff was heir being the son by the Pattaba Stri of the last owner was dismissed, a second suit could not be brought for recovery of the same property on the ground that he was the eldest son of the last owner and was therefore the heir. To the judgment reported at 3 M. H.C.R. 326-334, after the words in p. 334 "in favour of the defendant all the objective grounds of the decision which have led to the dismissal of the suit," the following ought to be added, "and without the establishment of which the suit could not have been logically or legally dismissed." MUTHUMADEVA NAIK v. SEVATTAMUTHUMADEVA NAIK, 7 M.H.C. 160. [Appr., 28 M. 406, 31 M. 385; R., 13 M.L.J. 448=26 M. 760 ; D., 24 C. 83.]

(19)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s 2—Res judicata—Solehnamah, effect of.—The plaintiff had in 1853 sued for certain properties claiming them as belonging to her deceased father's estate. It was found that the said properties belonged, not only to her father, but also to another person. Those properties which did not belong to her father's estate were excluded and set apart from the decree obtained by her. Fourteen years after this she brought a second suit based on a right of inheritance to a share in her father's estate, claiming those very properties belonging to another which had been excluded from the decree in the former suit. Held that the second suit was barred under s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859, that, as it was distinctly based on a right of inheritance and not, as it was contended, on a solehnamah (which altered and modified the decree of 1853 by admitting and declaring that the disputed properties belonged to her father's estate), she was not entitled to claim those properties, the solehnamah not having given her a fresh cause of action. MUSSAMUT SYUDOONISSA v FEDA HOSSEIN, 12 W.R. 182.

(20)—Res judicata—First suit based on title on strength of gift—Second suit basing claim on title by inheritance.—Where the plaintiff sued the defendant on the strength of a title derived by gift from plaintiff's mother, a subsequent suit basing a similar claim on the strength of title by inheritance would be barred by ss. 2 and 7 of the Civ Pro. Code, 1859, if the title by inheritance existed on the date of the first suit.—(Mitter, J., dubitante) DUDSAR BIBEE v. SHAKIR BURKUNDAZ, 15 W.R. 168. [R., 11 B.H.C. 224.]

(21)—Mahomedan Law—Imamea school—Registered deed of gift—Donee obtaining possession by suit against donor—Claim of donor's heir to gift property whether maintainable.—A

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of action—continued.

Shea made a gift of all his property to his wife's niece, by a registered deed. Shortly after, the donee sued the donor for possession and obtained a decree, the donor having confessed judgment. After the donor's death, his brother sued to set aside the deed of gift, contending that the gift was invalid as there had not been actual transfer of possession. Held that though it might have been a good defence on the part of the donor to the suit brought against him by the donee, still, after the decision of the suit, declaring the validity of the gift, as against the donor and all others claiming through him, it was not open to his heir to dispute the donee's title, as the heir could have no higher right than the donor had at his death. MIR GURZAND ALI v. MUSSUMAT JAFFREE BEBEE, 5 N.W.P. 118.

(22)—Suit for demurrage—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 7—Res judicata.—Where, in a suit for demurrage, the plaintiff fails to claim a portion, he is barred, by the principle of res judicata under s. 7, Act VIII of 1859, from subsequently instituting a suit for recovering such portion of the claim. MUNGHROO MANJHEE v. GYARAM NUNDEE, 14 W.R. 253.

(23)—Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7.—Where plaintiffs had, in a former suit, claimed certain moneys alleged to have been misappropriated by defendant as manager for the joint family, the cause of action having been the latter's refusal to allow plaintiffs their share at the time of separation, their present suit for a share of certain paddy which defendant had refused to make over when the separation took place, was held to be barred by s. 7, Act VIII of 1859. GANES CHANDRA CHOWDHRY v. RAM KUMAR CHOWDHRY, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 265=12 W.R. 79. (8 W.R. P.C. 11, R.) [R., 1 A. 543.]

(24)—Res judicata—Grant of share to widow—Decree not appealed against—Suit to set aside effect of decree.—A widow was treated as an equal sharer in her husband's estate with her sons, and in conjunction with one son applied for and obtained partition as a sharer. Objections were taken as to her right to the partition; these objections were overruled, and no appeal was made to the Civil Court. Held that the partition proceedings still standing good, a suit to declare that the widow was entitled only to maintenance was not maintainable. MUSSUMMAT OODIA v. BHOPAL, 3 Agra 137.

(25)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, ss. 2, 3—Alienee suing for alienor's share twice—Same cause of action.—In a former suit the plaintiffs, the purchasers of the rights of some widows in certain property, claimed a partition of the shares so purchased. The defendants admitted the right of the widows to some share, but the suit was dismissed on the ground that partition could not be obtained until the plaintiffs had established their right, and that the extent of their right was as claimed by them. Held, on a second suit by the plaintiffs against the same defendants, that the cause of action being clearly the same in both suits, viz., the plaintiffs' alleged right as purchasers to some share of the property of the widows, the cognizance of the second suit was barred by the Civ. Pro. Code., 1859, s. 2; that the defendants' admission in the first suit which was merely evidence in the plaintiffs' favour did not give rise to a fresh cause of action; that, if the judgments in the former suit were erroneous or defective, the High Court have no authority to revise them in a new suit, nor can it in a new suit take cognizance of that which might have been brought forward as part of the subject in the contest in the former suit. GHASEE KHAN v. KULLOO, 1 Agra 152. [F., 7 N. W.P. 17, F.B.]

(26)—Ss 13 (Exp. II), 43, 373, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Cause of action—Second suit in respect of a portion of claim omitted in a previous suit on the same cause of action—Res judicata—Withdrawal of suit with permission to bring a fresh suit, application for—Effect upon subsequent suit when application for withdrawal of previous suit refused and suit dismissed.—M, the defendant's predecessor in title, obtained against the plaintiff a decree for possession of a village under s. 108, cl. 10 of the Oudh Rent Act. The plaintiff afterwards sued M for a declaration of his right before a Civil Court, but amended the prayer so as to read that a decree be passed in his favour for possession of the village. The suit was dismissed on the ground that it was not cognisable by a Civil Court. In second appeal the plaintiff applied under s. 373, Civ. Pro. Code, for leave, to withdraw the suit with liberty to bring a fresh suit. The application was refused and the appeal dismissed. The plaintiff then brought the present suit with the only difference that, now, he prayed for a declaration of right of which in the former suit the prayer was for possession. Held, that although the cause of action stated by the plaintiff was identical in both suits, yet as the only matter, which was determined in the former suit was that the Civil Court could not give the relief therein sought, it was doubtful whether s. 13. Civ. Pro. Code, or explanation II of that section could apply, but that s. 43 of the Code barred the suit. The "cause of action" means every fact of which it is material to be proved to entitle the plaintiff to succeed and every fact which the defendant would have a right to traverse, and does not depend upon the relief claimed. One test in deciding whether the cause of action in two suits is the same is whether the same evidence would support both. (15 C. 422=15 I. A. 66, P.C., 16 C. 98=15 I.A. 156, P.C., R.) Held, further, that s. 373, Civ. Pro. Code, did not bar the present suit. MOHAMMED ASGHAR v. AMJAD ALI, 8 O.C. 389. (26 M. 760, 24 M. 491, 5 O. C. 173, R.) [F., 10 O. C. 44; R., 13 O.C. 19.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——3. – Cause of action—continued.

(27)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 42, 43, 102, 103, 157, 158—Adjournment of suit—Absence of plaintiff or his pleader on adjourned date—Dismissal for default—Suit for injunction Subsequent suit for possession—Cause of action—Multifariousness.—After the settlement of issues, a case was fixed for final hearing on a certain date. On that date the plaintiff obtained adjournment on the ground that he had not sufficient time to summon his witnesses. On the adjourned date the plaintiff or his pleader, did not appear, though some of the witnesses summoned were present, and the Court dismissed the suit with the following order: "From the issues above mentioned it will be seen that the plaintiff's claim is completely denied by the defendants. I should, therefore, dismiss the plaintiff's suit with costs." Held, that, as the plaintiff did not appear at the adjourned hearing, the order of dismissal was made under s. 102 read with s. 157, Civ. Pro. Code (1882). (12 M. L. J. 473, F.) Held, further, that, where the plaintiff does not appear at the adjourned hearing of a suit, time having been granted at his instance, it is open to the Court to deal with the matter either under s. 157 or s. 158. There is nothing in the language of s. 158 to preclude its application to a case where the plaintiff does not appear. (5 Ind. Cas. 23, 20 B. 736, Diss.) In the suit, dismissed as aforesaid, the plaintiff had sued for a perpetual injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with the suit land on the ground of his (plaintiff's) relationship to one N. In the present suit, he stated that neither N nor his widow S was exclusively entitled to the property, and he prayed for possession also. In both suits the cause of action was alleged to be that Government, by mistake, had recognised the title of the defendant. Held that, in order to ascertain whether the cause of action in the two suits was the same, it was open to the Court to travel outside the four corners of the plaint, and to refer to the issues which were raised in the first action for the purpose of finding out what the plaintiff had to prove and undertook to prove in order to support his claim as alleged in the plaint, that the second suit was barred under s. 42, Civ. Pro. Code (XIV of 1882), as it was open to the plaintiff in the first suit to base his claim on the two alternative titles which he put forward in the second suit. NAGANADA IYER alias ESWARAPPIER v. KRISHNAMURTHI AIYAR, 6 Ind. Cas. 233 = 8 M L T. 60 = 20 M.L J. 535. (16 C. 98, 3 B. 137, 18 W.R. 163, 11 B L.R.P. C. 158, 11 M I.A. 551, R.; 8 M. 520, 29 M. 760, 8 C. 819, D.)

(28)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13—Suit to recover property as trustee—Subsequent suit by heirs after plaintiff's death—Res judicata.—Plaintiff's father sued to recover certain property as its trustee. That suit was dismissed. After plaintiff's father's death, plaintiffs brought the present suit to recover the same property as trustees: Held, that, whether the plaintiffs succeeded their father as trustees or the trusteeship was joint family property of which the father was the manager, the plaintiffs were concluded by the decision in the previous suit by their father. RAMAPPAYA v. AITHU MELANTA, 7 Ind. Cas. 184 = 8 M.L. T. 221.

(29)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13—Suit to declare plaintiff's right as karnam—Prior suit between parties for invalidation of pattahs granted by plaintiff—Decision that plaintiff was not karnam—Res judicata.—Plaintiff sued for declaration of his right as hereditary karnam of a certain temple. In a prior suit between the parties (wherein plaintiff was third defendant) it was sought to invalidate certain pattas granted by plaintiff in respect of the temple lands. An issue was raised as to whether plaintiff was karnam of the temple and was decided against him. Held, that the present suit was barred as res judicata. Obiter: The suit will not be res judicata if it were based on a subsequent appointment of plaintiff as karnam. ANTHARYAMI PATNAIK v. HARIBANDHU SABUTO, 8 Ind. Cas. 427 = 9 M.L.T. 107.

(30)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—First suit on pro-note executed for balance due under accounts, dismissed—Second suit on accounts barred.—Where a suit on a pro-note executed by the defendant to the plaintiff for balance due on a settlement of accounts, in which it was alleged in the plaint that the note was made in the plaintiff's account book, was dismissed on the ground that the plaintiff failed to prove the execution of the pro-note set up, a subsequent suit by him on the accounts is barred by s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, as the plaintiff might and ought to have joined the latter claim in the former suit. MURUGA PILLAI v. SUBRAHMANIA AIYAR, 8 M.L.J. 197, (21 M. 91, F.)

(31)—Res judicata—Suit for possession—Setting aside sale — Irregularity — Void sale.—When a plaintiff sues for possession and determination of right to a certain property, and to set aside an execution sale of a portion of the property on the ground of irregularity, and his suit is dismissed on the merits, a subsequent suit for possession of the property sold, on the ground that the sale was void ab initio, will be barred as res judicata. THOMAS M. PIGOU v. SYED MOHAMED ABOO SYED, 3 C.L.R 253. (11 B.L.R 158, 11 M.I.A. 50, F.)

(32)—Previous suit for confirmation of sale—Dismissal—Subsequent suit for sale certificate.—A previous suit by the purchaser at an execution sale for an order confirming the sale, after reversing the order of a Judge annulling the sale, was dismissed on the merits and he subsequently brought a suit for possession with mesne profits by the reversal of the said order of the Judge and of the purchase by third parties and for a bynama or sale certificate of the same property; held that, the legal point arising out of both the plaints and now in issue, being the same, viz., whether the summary order for reversal of the sale can be set aside in a regular suit as between the parties before the Court, and it having been adjudicated upon unfavourably to the plaintiff, the present suit was barred. G. LAMB v. DEWAN PUDDUM LOCHUN, W.R.F.B. 28=Marsh. 96=1 Hay 168.

Res Judicata —continued.

——3.—Cause of action—continued.

(33)—Transfer of Property Act, ss. 92, 93—Decree for redemption—Failure to pay by mortgagor—Subsequent suit for redemption—Res judicata.—A decree passed under s. 92 of the Transfer of Property Act becomes a final decree, even though no order under s. 93 has been passed, when the time limited in it for the payment of the mortgage amount has expired, without the mortgagor taking any steps. No subsequent suit for redemption of the same mortgage will lie. RAMASAMI v. SAMI, 17 M. 96=4 M.L.J. 29. [Cons., 25 M. 300, F.B.; R., 19 M. 40, F.B., 25 M. 244, 21 A.W.N. 1901, 194=24 A. 44, 27 M. 40, 6 O.C. 114.]

(34)—Civ. Pro. Code (1859), s. 114—Identity of cause of action in two suits—Difference of relief.—Though in the former suit a person claimed the under-proprietary right in virtue of a sub-settlement, and in the subsequent suit he claimed the superior proprietary right, held that the difference in the mode of relief claimed did not affect the identity of the cause of action, which was in both cases the refusal of the right to redeem, and that under s. 114 of the Code of 1859 the judgment in the prior suit was final. SHANKER BHAKSH v. DAYA SANKAR. 15 C. 422, P.C. = 15 I.A. 66=5 Sar. 107. [F., 39 P.L.R. 1905=32 P.R. 1905; R., 14 B. 31, 117 P.R. 1891, 19 C. 372, 25 M. 736, 8 O.C. 389, 43 P.R. 1907, 101 P.W.R. 1907=43 P.R. 1907=169 P.L.R. 1908.]

(35)—Suit on bond to recover money enforcing mortgage-lien—Decree passed for money only—Subsequent suit to enforce lien, not maintainable.—Plaintiff sued on a registered bond to recover the amount due upon it enforcing his mortgage-lien thereunder; he however obtained only a money decree. Another person who also held a decree against the same debtor caused a portion of the property included in the plaintiff's mortgage to be brought to sale, and the present suit was brought by the latter to enforce the lien and was met, on the part of the purchaser, with the plea that, as the person from whom he derived title had been already once sued on the same cause of action, the suit was not maintainable. The question amounted to this, whether, when a plaintiff has put a cause of action in suit and claimed in respect of it all the relief to which he can be entitled, and has obtained a decree which, by inadvertence, has omitted to give him all the relief to which he is entitled, he can maintain a second suit on the same cause of action, claiming in part the relief he had already claimed in the former, but which had been omitted from the decree; and, it was held that where a plaintiff complains that the decree obtained by him does not award him all the relief which he has claimed and to which he is entitled, his remedy lies in appeal or by review, and he cannot seek it in a second suit. The substance of the action or the question of right in dispute in the first suit was the plaintiff's right under the bond, which included a right to charge the property for the debt, and this last claim must be held to have been raised in the pleadings, for it was expressly named in the plaint and was part and parcel of the right to which the bond given entitled the plaintiff, and when a decision was in that suit, it must be held to have been one upon the entire right of the plaintiff under the bond, with everything that properly belonged to it, and so must include the right to charge the property for the debt. If the decree was purposely or accidentally silent on the point, the plaintiff should proceed with his proper course of remedy by way of appeal or review of judgment, but not by a second suit which would be barred by s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859. BAHO SINGH v. HET RAM, 7 N.W.P. 17, F.B.

(36)—Ss. 13 and 43, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Prior and puisne mortgage—Sale of mortgaged property—Redemption by vendee of the prior mortgage—Suit for sale by puisne mortgagee—Dismissal of suit on the ground that previous mortgage not offered to redeem—Second suit for redemption of prior mortgage and sale — Res judicata—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 89.—In August 1876 the owners of a village M mortgaged it to one G for Rs. 7,000 and put him in possession. In February 1884 the owners mortgaged M and other property to the plaintiff's father for Rs. 2,400 without possession. In October 1891 the owners sold M to the defendant for Rs. 14,000, of which Rs. 7,000 was left with the purchaser in order to redeem the mortgage of 1876. Defendant redeemed the mortgage and obtained possession. In August 1892 plaintiff sued for recovery of the amount due on his mortgage impleading the owners, the defendant and other persons describing them in the plaint as transferees of the mortgaged property, but he did not offer to redeem any mortgages. One of his prayers for relief was that the Court should make all orders that might be necessary to give him the main relief, i. e., sale of the property. The Court held that the plaintiff could redeem the village M, but he could not bring it to sale without first redeeming it. It therefore declared that the village was not saleable for plaintiff's money. A decree for the sale of other property was, however, passed in favour of the plaintiff. The present suit was instituted by the plaintiff for redemption of the mortgage of 1876 and for the sale of M to recover the costs of redemption and the balance due at the date of suit on the former decree. (Per Chamier, A.J.C.) Held, that the plaintiff's cause of action for the present suit was exactly the same as his cause of action for the former suit, viz., mortgage to him and non-payment of the mortgage money. In the former suit, he might and ought to have offered to redeem the prior mortgage. The Court, which decided the former suit, did not mean to decide that the suit was premature. The suit should therefore be dismissed as barred by ss. 13 and 43, Civ. Pro. Code. (24 M. 491, P.C., R.) (Per Scott, J.C.) Held, that the decision in the first suit was in fact that the suit was premature, and this decision being on a question of law was res judicata between the parties. Held, further, that the words "ground of defence or attack" in s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, do not include a ground of defence or attack, which may come into existence by some act of the plaintiff, such as the payment of money to another. They refer to the condition of things at the time the former suit was instituted. Held, also, that the suit was not barred by either s. 13 or 43, Civ. Pro. Code. (1 O.C. 105, 8 O.C. 37, R.) (Per Evans, A.J.C.) Held, that the plaintiff was bound to sue for redemption of the prior mortgage in his first suit and ought to have made the offer to redeem a ground of attack. He is, therefore, barred from bringing a fresh suit on the same cause of action. Held, further, that the plaintiff having obtained a decree for sale on his mortgage and the decree for sale having been made absolute, the security had been extinguished under s. 89, Act IV of 1882, and the plaintiff had therefore no title to maintain the present suit. CHAUDHRI GANGA SINGH v. LACHMI NARAIN, 10 O.C. 145. (20 A. 110, 2 A. 429, P.C., R.) [R., 12 O.C. 347.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

——3.—Cause of action—continued.

(37)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl. II—Mortgage for balance of unpaid purchase-money—Dismissal of suit on mortgage—Subsequent suit to enforce lien for balance of unpaid purchase-money—Maintainability.—A mortgage deed had been executed for certain unpaid purchase money. Plaintiff instituted a suit on the mortgage deed and the suit was dismissed on the ground that the mortgage deed had not been registered. Subsequently, plaintiff brought this suit to enforce his lien for the balance of unpaid purchase money. Held that the suit was one to which s. 13, expl. II, Civ. Pro. Code, applied. There was nothing to prevent the plaintiff from instituting the former suit on the basis of his lien for the balance of unpaid purchase money under the general law. He ought to have then based the suit on this ground as well as on the mortgage sued on, so as to avoid the necessity for a second suit in the event of the mortgage being held invalid for want of registration. AKAYI KUNTI v. AYISSA BI, 26 M. 645. (20 C. 85, F.) [R., 1 Ind. Cas. 808, 12 O.C. 347.]

(38)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), s. 13—Res judicata—Different plots in the same holding—Previous suit for one plot—Subsequent suit for another plot.—The plaintiffs claimed certain land's situate in B as covered by a certain pottah granted to them by certain persons.

Res Judicata*—continued.

——3.—Cause of action—continued.

The defendant also claimed to hold the lands under a pottah granted by the same persons prior to the pottah of the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs claimed the land in dispute as appertaining to mouzah M of which they were the putnidars, whereas the defendant claimed it as appertaining to mouzah S. It appeared that in a former suit between the same parties in respect of another portion of B, it was held that B belonged to mouzah M, but that the pottahs of both the plaintiffs and the defendant covered B, and that, inasmuch as the present defendant's pottah was prior in title, he had the preferential title to the land. Held that the matter in dispute in the present case was res judicata by the former suit, because the present suit referred only to another plot in the same holding. SUNDHYAMULA v. DEVI CHURN DUTT, 9 C.L R. 216.

(39)—Civ. Pro. Code, s 13—Res judicata—Prior suit for rent—Determination of question of title—Subsequent suit for possession—If in a rent suit the question of title is decided, that decision constitutes res judicata between the same parties in any subsequent suit relating to the title between the same parties. GOPAL DAS v. GOPI NATH SIRCAR, 12 C L.R. 38. (1 C.L.R. 35, F.) [R., 26 C. 428, F.B., 49 P.L. R 1903.]

(40)—Previous suit for arrears of rent—Plaintiff made party at his own request—Failure to prove claim—Subsequent suit for land—Bar.—Where, in a previous suit, by the defendant against a tenant, for arrears of rent, the plaintiff was made a party, at his own request, on the ground that he was the person entitled to the rent, but failed to establish his claim, it was held that a subsequent suit, by the plaintiff against the defendant, for possession of the land under a certain right, which he could have advanced in the prior suit, was barred as res judicata. BEMOLASOONDURY CHOWDHRAIN v. PUNCHANUN CHOWDHRY, 3 C. 705. (3 C. 145=1 C.L.R. 35, F.) [Cons., 5 C. 832=6 C.L.R. 305; R., 6 C. 406=7 C.L.R. 251, 6 C. 559=8 C.L.R. 10.]

(41)—Civ. Pro. Code (XIV of 1882), s. 13—Res judicata—Prior suit based on lease, title of plaintiff recognized in—Subsequent suit on title not barred.—In a previous suit based on a verbal letting by the plaintiff, it was found that the defendants were tenants in possession under the plaintiff. The defendants set up a written lease, but the Court held that they did not occupy under that letting but under a subsequent verbal letting. On the present suit brought for possession with arrears of rent as under the written lease, plaintiff was held entitled to a decree for land on the strength of his general title, the omission to sue on which in the previous suit was no bar to the subsequent suit. With regard, however, to the arrears of rent claimed under the above old written lease, the plaintiff's claim was held to be barred by res judicata by reason of the prior decision of the Court that the defendant did not hold under that lease. KUTTI ALI v. CHINDAN, 23 M. 629. (22 M. 323, R.) [R., 13 M.L.J. 448=26 M. 760.]

Res Judicata —continued.

——3.—Cause of action—continued.

(42)—Res judicata — Identity of cause of action with that of prior suit.—Where an Oudh Talukdar died leaving talukdari as well as non-talukdari estate, and his heir, under Oudh Act I of 1869, obtained a judgment declaring that he was entitled to the talukdari estate, as against a person who claimed under a will of the deceased, which, however, was found to have been revoked, held, that that judgment was a bar to a subsequent suit by the latter for declaration that he was entitled to the whole estate of the deceased, talukdari as well as non-talukdari, it being found that this suit was only founded upon his rights under the will and not under any other title, although the heir was not entitled to possession of the non-talukdari estate of the deceased. TRILOKI NATH SINGH v. PERTAB NARAIN SINGH, 15 C. 808=15 I.A. 113, P.C.=5 Sar. 219. [R., 20 B. 86.]

(43)—Suit for possession—Res judicata.—A suit for possession of lands, by setting aside a sale executed by the plaintiffs' mother as their guardian, was held barred on the principle of res judicata by reason of a previous decision between the mother as guardian and the defendant for setting aside the sale as not being for any legal necessity, in the absence of an allegation and proof that the sale and the subsequent suit were collusive. Where the plaintiffs' pleader in the above case, without any instructions whatever, suggested that the mother was a frail woman and executed the sale while she was in improper intimacy with the defendant: Held, that it amounted to gross impropriety and that the pleader ought to be censured. GUNGA RAM SADHOOKHAN v PANCH COWREE PORAMANICK, 25 W.R. 366.

(44)—Res judicata—Difference of title with same cause of action, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—A suit to recover possession as part of her own taluk of land which plaintiff had claimed in a former suit as towfir reclaimed and occupied, is barred by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859. UMATARA DEBI v. KRISHNA KAMINI DASI, 2 B.L.R. A.C. 102=10 W.R. 426. [Affirmed, 11 B.L.R.A.C. 158; F., 13 W.R. 209, 2 C. 152, F.B.; Appr., 12 W.R. 55, 12 W.R. 235; R. 14 B. 31; D., 13 W.R. 343.]

(45)—Suit for taluk on joint title—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, ss 2, 7—Res judicata.—A previous suit founded on the allegation that the plaintiff was entitled to enjoy a certain land with several other persons as part of a taluk was dismissed, and the plaintiff brought the present suit claiming the same property against the same defendants, basing his right on a joint title with one other person as part of another taluk. Held, that the second suit was barred and the plaintiff had lost his right by any title that existed at the time of his bringing the first suit to insist upon having possession of the land as against the defendant. SHIB SHANKER NEOGI v. HURO SOONDUREE GOOPTA, 13 W.R. 209.

Res Judicata —continued.

——3.—Cause of action - continued.

(46)—Act XIV of 1863, s. 10—Suit by landlord to enhance rent—Decision in former suit barring right of enhancement—Bar to subsequent suit—Res judicata.—In a suit by a landlord to enhance rent, it was shown by the defendant-cultivator that in a former suit brought by him to contest the right of his landlord to enhance rent, it had been decided that the landlord had no right to enhance. Held, that as the two suits were precisely of the same character, and the issue tried was the same, the decision in the former suit operated as a bar to the subsequent suit as res judicata. KOOER MANIK SINGH v. PIRTHEE SINGH, 5 N W.P. 163. (1 W.R. 128, F.)

(47)—Landlord and tenant—Kabuliat—Res judicata.—Where, in a former suit, it was determined that the defendant held only 7 bighas out of 8 bighas and 17 cottas for which plaintiff sued to obtain a kabuliat, a subsequent suit to eject defendant from the remaining 1 bigha 17 cottas is not maintainable. GOPAL-CHANDRA ROY v. NABIN CHANDRA BHANDARI, 3 B.L.R. App. 34.

(48)—Suit to contest enhancement—Occupancy—Presumption.—If in a suit to contest enhancement the plaintiff admits that his tenure was created in 1244, such admission would deprive him of the benefit of the presumption of having held on fixed rates from the time of the permanent settlement. And if the liability of the tenure to enhancement was decided against the zemindar in a former suit, that finding must be treated as res adjudicata. SREEDHESSURY CHOWDHRY v. MUDDUN KOOWAR JHA, 1 W.R. 128. [F., 5 N. W. P. 163.]

(49)—Suit for enhancement of rent—Previous decree—Res judicata.—A previous suit for enhancement of rent, wherein the Court found that the tenure was liable to enhancement, but that the grounds for enhancement had not been sufficiently established, is binding on the tenants in a subsequent suit for enhancement, and they cannot question the liability of their tenure to enhancement even though the finding in the previous suit regarding the question of enhancement was not incorporated in the decree which was merely a decree for payment of rent at the old rate. SHAIKH ENAETOOLLAH v. SHAIKH AMEER BUKSH alias SHAIKH MOHEEOLLAH, 25 W. R. 225. [Not F., 17 A. 174=A.W.N. 1895, 47; R., 7 C.L.R, 227.]

(50)—Putnee and mowrosee titles—Cause of action—Estoppel.—In a former suit to establish his right to certain land as belonging to his putnee taluq, the plaintiff failed. Held, that he cannot, in a subsequent suit, claim the same land under a different title, viz., as belonging to his mowrosee, the cause of action in both the suits being the same. AUNUNGO MOHUN DEB ROY v. UNNODA DOSSEE, 17 W.R. 351.

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of action—continued.

(51)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2 —Claim to land as accretion—Prior suit for same land as accretion of different estate—Difference in origin—No difference in cause of action.—A complainant must avail himself of all the grounds of origin of his right. Whatever grounds there are plaintiff must bring them all in his suit. Where certain land was claimed as an accretion to a particular mouzah, a decision in a prior suit between the parties in respect of the same land as an accretion to a different mouzah operated as a bar under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, the difference in the origin not giving rise to a different cause of action in determining the same question of title by accretion. KASHEE KISHORE ROY CHOWDHRY v. KRISTO CHUNDER SANDYAL CHOWDHRY, 22 W R. 464. [F., 3 B. 132; Appl., 1 B. 87; R., 2 C. 152, F.B.]

(52)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2 —Suit on joint promissory note—Prior suit against executant dismissed for want of jurisdiction—Subsequent suit against him for balance due.—Where a suit on a joint promissory note was dismissed against one of the executants for want of jurisdiction over him, a subsequent suit against him for the balance of money due to the obligee after execution of the decree in the prior suit brought in a Court having jurisdiction over him, was not barred by the provisions of s. 2. Act VIII of 1859. SREERAM MITTER v. NOBIN KRISTO MOOKERJEE. 22 W.R. 290.

(53)— Suit by younger son for maintenance charged upon inheritance—Res judicata —An order dismissing a claim for maintenance, founded on an ekrarnama, by a younger son against the father, would not bar a subsequent suit by such son for maintenance charged on the inheritance, to which the elder brother succeeded as eldest male member after the father's death. AHMED HOSSEIN KHAN v. NIHAL-UD-DIN KHAN, 9 C. 945, P.C.=13 C.L R. 330 =10 I.A. 45=4 Sar. 442.

(54)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Nature of claims.—The fact that the plaintiff's former claim to certain property as the heir of S's father was dismissed cannot bar his present suit for possession of the same property as the heir of S under s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859. Although the property may be the same, the nature of the claim is different. GOOROO DUTT v. SOOROO, 16 W. R. 264. [R., 12 O.C. 347.

(55)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13, 43 and 44—Res Judicata—Joinder of causes of action—Right to sue — Presumption of correctness of a geneological table prepared at Settlement—

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of action—continued.

Custom—Inheritance—Escheat to the proprietary body—New case set up in the Chief Court on appeal.—In 1875, N. and S. sued in the Court of a Munsif, 1st class, to contest the validity of the adoption of K. by H. That suit was dismissed, it being found, firstly, that N. and S. were not collaterals of H., and so had no locus standi to object; and, secondly, that the adoption was valid. K, having died without issue, N. and S. filed a suit for possession of the moveable and immoveable property of K, as collaterals of his adoptive father H. D. and others, proprietors of and in possession of the land, also filed another suit for declaration of their title to succeed as the proprietary body denying the relationship of N. and S, with H. Held, that the question, whether N. and S. are collaterals of H. or not, is not barred by res judicata by reason of its being decided in the previous suit in 1875, as—The Court trying the first suit, a Munsif with jurisdiction up to Rs. 1,000 only, had no jurisdiction to try the subsequent suit which was valued at more than Rs. 1,000. D. and C. cannot be said to be suing as representative of H. and K., who were defendants in the previous suit. The claim is simply a claim founded on the custom of escheat in favour of the proprietary body who no more represent the deceased than the Crown does in cases in which property lapses to the Crown for want of heirs. A party claiming as an heir can and should sue for the whole of the estate, both moveable and immoveable, in one and the same suit (10 M. 375, F.) Although a presumption exists by law in favour of the correctness of the pedigree table as prepared at a settlement, such presumption is greatly weakened, if the contents of that document are vague. The contention of N. and S., that they were also members of the proprietary body, along with D and others, could not be entertained in the Chief Court, where it was raised for the first time on appeal RAM SINGH v. DULA SINGH, 58 P.W.R. 1908.

(56)—Res judicata—Subsequent suit on title different from that set up in previous suit.—Where the previous suit for a share of the family property had been brought, as based on an express written agreement between the members, such suit was held not to bar a subsequent suit in which the plaintiff sought to enforce his general rights of inheritance as a member of the family. SADU v. BAIZA, 4 B. 37, F. B. [D., 25 B. 189.]

(57)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2 — Res judicata—Suit for share—Declaratory decree — Permission to bring fresh suit.—The plaintiff obtained a decree in a former suit for a share of the ancestral property, both moveable and immoveable. On appeal by the defendant, the plaintiff retained his decree for a share of the immoveable property, the decree for the value of the moveables being set aside, as there was no evidence as to their value. The plaintiff, however, got a declaratory decree affirming his right to the share of the moveables claimed by him. The plaintiff then brought the present suit for the value of the moveables. Held that the suit was not barred by s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859. No permission to bring a fresh suit can be given under s. 97, Act VIII of 1859, where final judgment has been pronounced. RAJAH SHEORAJ NUNDUN SINGH v. RAJCOOMAR BABOO DEO NUNDUN SINGH, 24 W.R. 23.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(58)—Civ.Pro.Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, New Code)—Res judicata—Former suit as family arrangement—Subsequent suit for same subject-matter as co-sharer—Cause of action.—A former suit for a share of joint family property based upon an alleged agreement is no bar to a subsequent suit based on the plaintiffs' hereditary right to sue as members of the family.. NILO RAMCHANDRA v GOVIND BALLAL, 10 B. 24. (8 B. 174, F.) [R., 14 B. 31].

(59)—Res judicata—Suit for possession of ancestral property — Eviction. — Where the previous suit was to establish the plaintiff's right to a share of the ancestral property, part of which was in his sole possession, held, that that would not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit to recover possession of a part of the ancestral property which was in his sole possession and from which he was forcibly evicted by the defendant during the pendency of that suit. BABOO GOOROO DOSS ROY v. BABOO HURONATH ROY, 7 W.R. 423. [R., 20 B. 86.]

(60)—Suit for declaration of title as reversioner to widow—Previous suit based on title as heir to ancestral joint estate prior to widow—Causes of action different--Res judicata.—Plaintiff was the son of one brother, and the first defendant, the widow of the other. Plaintiff sued as reversionary heir to the first defendant, the widow of his uncle, for a declaration of his title and interest after her death, and was met by the defence that his claim was barred by ss. 2 and 3 of Act VIII of 1859 by reason of the dismissal of a previous suit brought by the plaintiff in 1847. The lower Court dismissed the plaintiffs' suit as barred, since, in the previous suit above mentioned, it had been decided that the property was the separate and distinct property of his uncle, the husband of the first defendant; and consequently, plaintiff, as the son and heir of the other brother, could have no right to a part or any other share of it on a claim founded, as the present one was, on the allegation of the same property being joint and undivided. The High Court reversed the order of the lower Court, observing that that Court was wrong in having concluded that the causes of action in the two suits of the plaintiff were the same, and that the plaintiff's present suit was therefore barred under ss. 2 and 3 of Act VIII of 1859. The claim of the plaintiff in 1847 was that he had a title as heir to the moiety of the property prior to his uncle's widow, in respect of the whole of the estate in suit, on the plea that it was joint and undivided, whereas plaintiff now claimed as heir next in reversion after the widow, regarding her property as separate, with a view to a declaration of his right as such heir, to have a certain alienation by the widow, alleged by the plaintiff to be illegal, set aside. The two cases and causes of action were therefore essentially and truly different. BABOO SUNKUR DYAL SINGH v. BABOO PURMESSUR DYAL SINGH, 6 W.R. 44.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(61)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Reversioner suing in representative character and in his own right.—A Hindu widow who had transferred to her granddaughter by agreement certain land of which she was a life-tenant, subsequently sued to have that agreement set aside. She died while the suit was in the appellate stage, and the next reversioner, one D, was allowed to carry on the appeal on her behalf on his own application to the Court to be made kaem-mukam of the widow. The agreement was upheld in its integrity and the possession of the grantee was maintained. D, as next reversioner, afterwards sued to recover possession of that very land. Held that D was not bound to disclose his whole claim when he represented the widow, as the causes of action in the two cases were very different; that s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859 was no bar to the subsequent suit as the reversioner was not in a position to introduce any pleas arising out of a new state of facts not existing or before the Court, when the former suit was instituted and decided in the first Court. DEORANEL KOOWAR v. MUSSAMUT INDURJEET KOOWAR, 12 W.R. 234. (10 W.R. 426=2 B L.R.A.C. 102, D.).

(62)—Suit for recovery of property from Hindu widow's alienee—Subsequent suit for compensation-money awarded by Government for the same property — Execution proceedings, claim not determinable in.—The decision in a suit for the recovery of property, (instituted in ignorance of the property having been taken up by Government for public purposes), wrongly alienated by a Hindu widow, would not bar a subsequent suit for the recovery of the compensation-money paid therefor by Government, which had been withdrawn from the collectorate by the defendants during the pendency of the former suit. The claim of the heirs to the money in the second suit could not have been determined in the execution-proceedings of the decree in the first suit but was triable only in a regular suit. NUND LALL BOSE v. MEER ABOO MAHOMED, 5 C. 597=5 C.L.R. 45. [R., 38 P.L.R. 1909=37 P.R. 1909.]

(63)—Res judicata—Former suit dismissed for want of cause of action and for want of jurisdiction—Subsequent suit after accrual of cause of action.—One of the sons of an undivided Hindu father, governed by the Mitakshara law of the Bombay Presidency, sued for a partition of the moveables and immoveables belonging to the family; and the suit was dismissed as regards the moveables on the ground that he could not compel a partition of them during his father's lifetime, and, as regards the immoveables, on the ground of want of jurisdiction. On the death of the father the same person brought a suit against his brother for partition of the same properties. Held that the former suit did not operate as res judicata because in that suit there was no adjudication between the brothers as to their rights in the estate arising on their father's death. LUKSHMAN DADA NAIK v. RAM CHANDRO DADA NAIK, 7. C L. R. 320, P.C. = 5 B. 48 = 7 I.A. 181 = 4 Sar. 173.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(64)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13 (=s. 11, New Code)--Res judicata—Hindu family—First suit for possession on ground of partition—Second suit for general partition — Maintainability—Whether objection can be taken for first time in appeal.—Although a claimant, who has failed to recover property under one title, cannot bring a second suit to recover the same property by a different title, yet there is nothing to prevent that person from suing for another property under a different title. In the former suit between the plaintiff and the defendant, the plaintiff's case was that there had already been a valid partition of their property into two parcels A and B; and he asked that either A or B may be awarded to him. The suit was rejected without prejudice to the plaintiff's bringing a fresh claim for a general partition. Accordingly, the present suit was brought, in which the plaintiff's case was that there was no partition, and that he may recover not A, nor B. but such portion of both A and B as may fall to his share upon a general partition made in the ordinary manner between the defendant and himself as members of an undivided Hindu family. Held that the former suit did not operate as res judicata, the cause of action in the two cases not being the same, and the relief sought also being essentially different. [R., 14 B. 31, 15 M. 336 = 2 M.L.J. 130, 24 C. 711 = 1 C.W.N. 565, 27 B. 379, 4 P.R. 1903; Expl. and D., 25 B. 189.] The objection on the ground of res judicata may be taken for the first time in appeal. KONERRAV v. GURRAV, 5 B. 589.

(65)—Previous suit for partition based on general right as co parcener — Right to partition under previous award not included in plaint—Subsequent suit whether maintainable as based on award—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expls. 1 and 2.—P, the father of the plaintiffs in this suit, had brought a suit in 1874 for partition of the joint property of the family. In that suit, P applied to the Court to withdraw it alleging that the partition had been effected through private arbitration, and the suit was accordingly dismissed. The award deciding on postponement of partition till the payment of all family debts, was accepted by the parties and, on the subsequent payments of such debts, P demanded partition of the estate which was refused by the co-sharers. In 1883, P, therefore, again sued the present defendants for declaration of his half share in the estate and for possession of the same. In the plaint in this suit, no mention was made of the suit of 1874 or of the circumstances under which it had been withdrawn. Those facts, however, having come out in the pleadings, P applied for leave to amend his plaint so as to include his right to partition as based on the previous award. The Court refused the application on the ground that it was made too late, and that it would change the nature of the suit. The Court confined the plaintiff to the title put forth in his plaint, i.e., the ordinary right of a member of a Hindu family to a share in undivided joint property, and refused to allow him to change to the title not mentioned in the plaint, viz., the same rights modified by the compromise which had been put in the form of an award in the previous proceedings. P's claim was therefore rejected as barred by s. 373 of the Civ. Pro. Code, since the previous suit of 1874 had been withdrawn without the Court's permission. P did not appeal against the above decision, and his sons, the present plaintiffs, filed this suit in 1884 to obtain possession of their one-half share in the estate founding their claim on the arrangement made in 1874. The Subordinate Judge awarded the claim, holding that the suit was not barred by limitation, or by s. 43 or by s 373 of the Civ. Pro. Code, that the arbitration award of 1874 was proved and valid and that the plaintiffs were half sharers in the estate. Held, on appeal, that the refusal of the Subordinate Judge, in the suit of 1883, to adjudicate on the right to partition as the claim was then framed was no bar to the present claim, the adjudication on which was expressly reserved for further suit if such should be brought. Also, the defendant's plea of res judicata could not be sustained, because, though P might have framed the plaint of 1883 to the effect that even if his general right to partition as a member of an undivided Hindu family was lost owing to withdrawal of the suit of 1874, he still was entitled to partition by the agreement of the parties subsequent to the filing of the former suit in 1874, it cannot be said that he ought to have done so. THAKORE BECHARJI RANAJI v. THAKORE PUJAJI VAKTAJI, 14 B. 31 [R., 20 B. 86, U B.R. 1897--1901, Vol. II, 284, 10 C.W.N. 839, 11 Bom. L.R. 46; D., 25 B. 115, 10 O.C. 44.]

(66)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, ss. 2, 32—Rejection of plaint—Unlikelihood of plaintiff's success not sufficient ground.—A suit had been instituted between two brothers in respect of their patrimonial estate. The suit was compromised, the brothers agreeing to divide certain properties equally. The plaintiff in the suit obtained possession of the property which fell to him under the rasinamah. The plaintiff having subsequently died, his widow entered into an agreement with the surviving brother and filed in Court an instrument in writing, whereby the property got possession of by her deceased husband was to be made over to the defendant, who was to maintain her by giving her certain allowances in money and grain. Subsequently, the parties put in an amended copy of the instrument. The defendant not having acted according to the agreement, the widow instituted the present suit to recover possession of the said property which, having belonged to her deceased husband, vested in her on his death. The widow alleged that by the agreement she did not absolutely relinquish all rights to the property, and that she had lost confidence in the defendant by his subsequent conduct. The Court rejected the plaint on the ground that the subject-matter of the plaint did not constitute a cause of action and that the agreement had determined the matter in dispute between the parties. Held that the agreement could not be considered as a razinamah so connected with the suit by the widow that the alleged cause of action in the suit could be held to have been heard and determined in the former suit within the meaning of s. 2 of the Code Held also that, under s. 32 of the Code, it was not necessary that the cause of action alleged in a plaint was likely to succeed. It was enough if it appeared that the subject-matter alleged raised a fair question of claim or right for trial and determination between the parties. Where that was the case, a plaintiff was entitled to institute his suit and to have it regularly proceeded with and fully heard, and a decree pronounced upon the matter in question. In the present case, the cause of action alleged by the widow was the breach of the agreement, and this depended upon the meaning and effect to be given in the construction of the agreement to the language used, as regards the intention of the parties. Consequently, the Court was wrong in having rejected the plaint. LAKSHMI AMMAL v. TIKARAM TOVAJI, 1 M. H.C. 240.

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(67)—Principal and agent—Suit for money due after prior suit for account.—In the mofussil, a second suit by a principal against his agent, for the recovery of the sum found due in a prior suit for account alone, is not barred as res judicata by the first suit. GOBIND MOHUN CHUCKERBUTTY v. SHERIFF, 7 C. 169=8 C. L.R. 357.

(68)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13—Res judicata—Cause of action—Suit on accounts.—A brought a suit against B for the recovery of a sum due on an account. The parties agreed out of Court to refer the matter to arbitration, and sometime after, the Court, hearing that the matter had been settled by arbitrators, dismissed the suit for default. In a suit brought by A against B, claiming a certain sum on the award, it was held that the suit was not barred. SANNU PURWAR v. BRIJ LAL, A.W.N. 1881, 23.

Res Judicata -continued.

—3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(69)—Instalment-bond — Declaratory decree for future instalments—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13.—In a suit on an instalment-bond, hypothecating immoveable property as collateral security for the payment of instalments, in which not only the two obligors but also the immoveable properties hypothecated were impleaded as defendants, a decree was passed for the amount of the overdue instalments claimed, against the two defendants, and a declaration was also made, as prayed for, that "until the satisfaction of the entire amount of the bond, the plaintiff can realize the amount of each future instalment as it became due, by executing this decree." Execution of this decree by sale of the hypotheca for instalments that had become due subsequent to the passing of the decree having been refused, on the ground that it was only a money decree, held, in a subsequent suit by the plaintiff upon the bond to recover such instalments by the sale of the hypothecation, that the suit was not barred by s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code; for (1) it was doubtful whether the Court was competent to grant the declaration prayed for in the first suit, in respect of future instalments, and (2) the relief claimed in the second suit, viz., a decree for instalments actually due, was quite different from a declaration in respect of instalments to fall due in the future. [R., 17 A. 174.] Observations by Stuart, C.J., condemning the practice of allowing parties to implead immoveable property as a defendant in a suit. UMRAO LAL v. BEHARI SINGH, 3 A. 297.

(70)—Promise to pay money and grain—Pro-note—Res judicata.—Where, since the date of a document executed by defendants promising to pay a certain sum and grain, there was an oral promise by some of the defendants to pay their quota, the dismissal of a suit based on the oral promise is no bar to a subsequent suit on the original claim, under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, exp. 2. MUTHU v. MUTHAN, 4 M. 296, F.B. [R., 4 P.R. 1903.]

(71)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—First suit to share in certain bond debts—Second suit for share in moneys since realised.—Where the former suit merely declared a right to a share of certain bond debts, and the subsequent suit was for a share of certain moneys which had since been realised upon those debts, the causes of action in the two suits were very different. BURODA SOONDUREE DOSSEE v. RAJ BULLUB SEN, 18 W.R. 202.

(72)— Res judicata—Suit on bond—Subsequent suit for original consideration—Suit of small cause nature.—Plaintiff's suit against the defendant to recover money due on a bond having been dismissed, he again sued to recover the identical sum as a balance of money due on a khata account. Held that the second suit was not brought on a cause of action previously tried and determined between the parties. Held, also, that the suit was cognizable by a Court of Small Causes. AUGHORE NATH GHOSAL v. ROOP CHUND MUNDUL, 13 W.R. 97.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(73)—Decree for restitution of conjugal rights—Decree not executed—Subsequent co-habitation—Second desertion by wife—Second suit for same relief—Maintainability — Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 244.—In 1885 A obtained a decree against his wife B for restitution of conjugal rights. Plaintiff's attempt to execute the decree proved a failure and in 1887, the defendant, after returning to the plaintiff and staying with him for two months, subsequently deserted him with the result that a second suit for restitution of conjugal rights was filed against the defendant. The lower Court dismissed the suit on the ground that the matter was res judicata. On appeal by the plaintiff, held that s. 13 or s. 244 of the Civ. Pro. Code was no bar to the suit. The decree having been satisfied by the wife coming to the husband's house voluntarily and living with him, her subsequent withdrawal from co-habitation constituted a fresh cause of action. KESHAVLAL GIRDHARLAL v. BAI PARVATI, 18 B. 327.

(74)—Suit heard and determined—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 2—Misdescription of document—Admissions.—The dismissal of a former suit to recover land, on the ground that it was mortgaged to the defendant by a predecessor of the plaintiff, does not bar a subsequent suit for redemption of the mortgaged property. Held, also, that the description which the former judgment of the Court gave of the document under which the defendant held the land as an instrument of sale, was not conclusive in the second suit as to the real nature of the instrument. VALLABH BHULA v. RAMA, 9 B.H.C. 65. [F., 14 B. 78.]

(75)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Cause of action.—Where a suit for the cancellation of a document has been dismissed for non-payment of Court-fees, it does not operate as res judicata to bar a subsequent suit for a declaration that the document was executed for nominal purposes only and was not intended to take effect, as the cause of action in the two suits is not the same. NAGATHAL v. PONNUSAMI, 13 M. 44. [R., 18 M. 189, 23 B. 406]

(76)—Res judicata—Damages—Breach of continuing contracts.—Where a contract is a continuing one, then the cause of action is also a continuing one; and therefore, a new cause of action arises every time a breach is committed of the continuing contract. A suit for damages for a former breach of continuing contract does not bar similar suits for subsequent breaches of the same. COOK v. JADAB CHANDRA NANDI, 2 B.L.R.O.C. 48.

(77)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13 and 43—Plaintiff suing as administrator formerly—Subsequent suit by him for share in deceased's estate—

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

Whether subsequent suit res judicata.—A plaintiff, who formerly sued as the administrator of the estate of the deceased, subsequently sued for his share in the same estate. The former suit had been dismissed, one of the grounds of the decision being that the plaintiff had received his share by way of remission of a debt due by him to the deceased. Held, though the same issue was involved in the subsequent suit, yet the title under which the parties litigated was not the same and that the later suit was not barred. MAUNG SAW BWA v. MAUNG SAW KE, 14 Bur. L R. 334. [21 C. 157, R.]

(78)—Sale of share in similar wells—Decree for pre-emption—Res judicata—Subject-matter different.—Where in the case of the sale of a share in the same wells of an exactly similar nature, the plaintiff has obtained a decree for pre-emption against the present defendant, this would not bar the defendant's right to contest the principle when another share is the subject of dispute. Though the principle at issue would be the same in both the cases, yet the things are different. UMUR ALI v. MUKHDUM ALI MOHOMED, 59 P.R. 1870.

(79)—Decision in pre-emption suit that no real sale took place—Whether bars adjudication upon that point in subsequent suit by vendee for possession against vendor—Right of one of two or more defendants to appeal from a decree adversely affecting him, even in cases where plaintiff's claim is unsuccessful.—The decision in the pre-emption suit that no real sale had taken place is no bar to an adjudication upon that point in a subsequent suit by the vendee for possession against the vendor, though both the latter were co-defendants in the pre-emption suit. In certain cases it may be open to one of two or more defendants to appeal from a decree which adversely affects him, even in a case when the plaintiff's claim is unsuccessful. But the question 'who may appeal' is determinable by the common sense consideration that there can be no appeal when there is nothing to appeal about. DHIAN SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT BELAS KAUR, 42 P.R. 1912 = 123 P.W.R. 1912 = 154 P.L.R. 1912 = 16 Ind. Cas. 127. (3 A. 152, F.B., F.; 9 C.W.N. 584, R.)

(80)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Question not decided in previous suit—Cause of action different.—A suit was instituted by a Mahomedan daughter to obtain her share of her deceased father's property. She also claimed a share in certain property in respect of which her father before his death had recorded the name of his minor son, contending that the alienation was invalid as no deed of gift had been executed. When the case came on before the High Court the daughter contended that as some portion of the property was 'musha' (undivided) the gift in regard to that portion was invalid. As this objection had not been taken in the Court of first intance, the point being one of fact, the High Court refused to allow the plea to be taken in special appeal.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

One of the widows of the deceased who was a defendant in the above suit sold her share of the property, in which was included a portion of the property affected by the gift. The purchaser sued his vendor, the daughter and the other members of the family and the guardian of the minor son to recover the property sold to him, and it became necessary for him, in order to realize all his property, to set aside the gift as invalid, because a portion of the property conveyed by it was undivided, and therefore a gift of such property was invalid under the Mahomedan law. The guardian of the minor contended that the suit by the purchaser was barred by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859. Held, that, as the question whether the gift was valid or invalid was not determined in the former suit, and as the cause of action in that suit was not the same as in the subsequent suit, s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, was no bar to the second suit. MUSAMMAT IMAMAN v. FAZUL KARIM, 7 N. W.P. 251.

(81)—Suit for possession of share as heir to husband—Previous suit under will of husband —Second suit not barred by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859—Possession in lieu of dower.—The question referred to the Full Bench in this case was, whether the plaintiff having once previously sued for recovery of the property under her husband's will, and failed, it was competent for her to again sue the same parties for a portion of the same property by right of heirship to her husband. It was decided by the Full Bench that the suit was not barred by s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859, by reason of the former suit brought on the basis of the will. Admittedly, the title asserted in the present suit was by right of inheritance to a portion of the property claimed by her in the former suit and was thus perfectly distinct from that set up by her therein. The ground of claim asserted in the present suit was not that advanced in the former suit, nor could it have been raised and determined in that suit. There was no idem jus; the present claim was in virtue of a cause of action which was not advanced in the former suit and which was not pertinent to the cause of action asserted in that suit. On the merits, it was found that the defendant widow having obtained actual and lawful possession of the estate in lieu of dower, she was entitled to retain possession as against the present plaintiff whose claim brought for possession as such was held to be liable to dismissal without prejudice to any suit for administration. MUSSAMMAT NOUSHA BEGUM v. MUSSAMMAT UMRAO BEGUM, 7 N.W.P. 60. [R., 9 O.C. 235, 12 O.C. 347.]

(82)—Ss. 13, 43 and 45, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, —Suit based on one cause of action no bar to suit based on different cause of action— No estoppel—Plaintiff not bound to unite in a suit claims based on several causes of action.—The two widows of a Mahomedan owner of a permanently settled estate held possession of the estate for more than twenty years to the exclusion of their husband's residuaries. On the death of one of them, her brother and sister brought a suit and obtained a decree for possession of half the estate. The other widow, by name Mussammat Bhagbhari, died leaving behind her three brothers and one sister, the present plaintiff. Before the present suit, the plaintiff had brought two other suits. One was against one of her brothers and sons of another brother, for maintenance alleged to be due upon an agreement given by her three brothers, on the death of her father, and this suit was compromised; the other was against the same persons for her legal share, as a sister, in the property left by Bhagbhari and in which she obtained a decree. In the present suit, she claimed the whole share, which her other brother had inherited from his sister, Bhagbhari, and the whole of the property which he inherited from his father, on the allegation that his widow and daughters were excluded by custom and that his nephews were, by her, rendered mahjup ul-irs. The Subordinate Judge dismissed the suit on the ground that the plaintiff had, by her conduct, renounced her right to the property in suit and was also, by that conduct, estopped from putting forward her claim. Held, on appeal, that the plaintiff had not, by her conduct, relinquished her rights. Her present claim and the maintenance claim were totally dissimilar and the joinder of the two claims would have been very inconvenient. Nor need she have joined this claim with her claim in the second suit. It would not be right to infer, from the plaintiff's inaction in the two suits, that she intended to abandon her claim to a share in the property, which had devolved upon her brother on the death of Bhagbhari. Before a pardanashin lady, like the plaintiff, can be held by implication to have renounced her rights, it must be shown that she was aware of them. Her failure to claim her brother's property in the second suit is of little value as indicating renunciation, for she was then claiming a sister's share in her sister's property. So, neither of her claims in the present suit were barred by either s. 13 or s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code, and plaintiff was not bound, by s. 45, Civ. Pro. Code, to include in any suit several causes of action arising on different dates and relating to entirely different properties. MUSSAMMAT IMTIAZ FATIMA v. MOHAMMAD KAMIL, 8 O.C. 65. (17 W.R. 108, Expl.; 17 W.R. 1, P.C., R.) [R., 12 O.C. 347, 13 O.C. 183.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(83)—Former suit for possession—Second suit for possession on title.—M K and H, were three Muhammadan brothers. M died and his widow J became possessed not only of her share in M's estate but also of the share inherited by K and H from M in lieu of her dower. On J's death, the defendants, who were her personal heirs, brought a suit against the plaintiffs to recover the property which was in J's possession and obtained a decree. Subsequently the plaintiffs brought the present suit to recover the ¾ths share of M's property, the remaining ¼th being the share of J, deceased. Held, that the present suit was not barred by res judicata by reason of the former suit by the defendants against the plaintiffs. JAMADAR v. IMAM BAKHSH, 16 Ind. Cas. 431.

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(84)—Suit for recovery of land based on demise—Demise not proved—Fresh suit on title also—Bar.—The dismissal of a suit for the recovery of land based on a demise, because the demise was not proved, is no bar to a fresh suit based on title and on a prior demise, of which the later demise was alleged to be only a renewal. KANDUNNI v. KATIAMMA, 9 M. 251 [Appr., 22 M. 323; R., 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448.]

(85)—Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 2, 26 (4).—In a previous suit brought to recover certain land on the ground that the plaintiff had been forcibly dispossessed, the Court of first instance disallowed the claim, on the ground that the plaintiff had failed to prove dispossession but suggested that the plaintiff could bring another suit to recover the land from the defendant as a trustee on payment of certain judi to him. A suit as suggested was brought against the defendant who pleaded the previous suit as barring the present suit. Held, that, as the second suit was based on a different cause of action and as no question of title was gone into in the previous suit, the second suit could not be held to be barred. BHISTO SHANKAR PATIL v. RAMACHANDRARAV RAGHUNATH JAHAGIRDAR, 8 B.H.C.A.C. 89 [R., 11 B.H.C. 224, 3 B. 137; D., 8 B. 124, F.B.]

(86)—Res judicata—Unsuccessful suit for damages for trespass—Suit to establish title to lands—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—A, alleging himself the owner of a certain garden, brought a suit for damages against B and C for forcibly carrying off fruit grown in such garden. In this suit the question whether A was exclusively in possession of the garden was incidentally raised and decided against him. Thereupon A who in the meantime had been ousted from possession, brought a subsequent suit in which B and C, together with others, were co-defendants, in which he claimed an undivided share in the same garden. Held that, under the circumstances, the doctrine of res judicata did not apply, and that such suit was maintainable. DOORGARAM PAUL v. KALLY KRISTO PAUL, 3 C.L.R. 549.

(87)—Res judicata—Splitting of causes of action—Error—"May," Construction of word—Act VIII of 1859, s. 372.—Where a suit by A against B and B's judgment-debtor C, for a declaration that property attached by B was a portion of a turuf purchased by A from C, was dismissed on the ground of A having held benami for C, and then B purchased the rest of the turuf from C and sued A and C for possession thereof, held, that A was not barred on the question of title. It is not every error which warrants a remand. The High Court must be satisfied that the error is a substantial error, which may have (according to s. 372 of Act VIII of 1859) produced an error or defect in the decision of the case upon the merits. "The word 'may' in s. 372 does not imply 'may by some possibility,' but only 'may not improbably.' It is not for the High Court to exercise its discretion in determining whether there is such a probability, whether there has been a fair and sufficient trial and whether the litigation has reached a stage at which it ought to cease or not." RAM CHUNDER CHOWDHRY v. KASHEE MOHUN, 21 W.R. 57.

(88)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 13, 43—Res judicata—Court not competent to try the earlier suit—First plaint alleging interference with plaintiff's possession—Second plaint alleging dispossession—Cause of action.—A suit will not be barred under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code (XIV of 1882), by reason of a prior suit having been instituted in respect of the same subject-matter, if the Court in which the first suit was not competent to try the later suit. Where the first suit did not allege dispossession by defendant, but only a certain degree of interference with plaintiff's possession and the plaint in the second suit alleged dispossession. Held, that the two causes of action were not the same, and the second suit was not barred under s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code (1882). GADULULA VENKATAMMA v. YADIKI HONKARAM, 4 Ind. Cas. 97=6 M.L.T. 375.

(89)—S. 13, Expln. II, Civ. Pro. Code—Former suit based on allegation that plaintiff was owner by purchase—Dismissal of suit—Subsequent suit for possession by him as heir.—Expln. II to s. 13 merely explains a matter directly and substantially in issue in a suit but it does not dispense with the necessity of finding, in a particular case, the other equally essential requirements of the section, such as that the parties were litigating under the same title and that the matter in issue was finally heard and decided. So, where the former suit brought by a person was based on an allegation that he was owner of the land then sued for by reason of his purchase, the dismissal of that suit is not res judicata in a subsequent suit brought by him for possession of the same land on the ground that he was entitled thereto, not as owner, but as heir to the last male owner. Under such circumstances, the plaintiff could not have included such inconsistent claims in one plaint in the former suit without creating confusion. CHIRAGH DIN v. NIZAM DIN, 55 P.R. 1907=96 P.W.R. 1907=65 P.L.R. 1908. (146 P.R. 1890, 26 M. 760, 27 M. 102, 28 C. 17, 24 C. 711, R; 4 P.R. 1889, 4 P.R. 1903, 39 P.R. 1881, 142 P.R. 1884, 96 P.R. 1881, 146 P.R. 1890, 63 P.R. 1896, 100 P.R. 1898, 19 A. 517, 20 C. 79, 20 A. 81, 20 A. 516, D.)

(90)—Suit for possession dismissed as premature—Subsequent suit for possession on cause of action arising thereafter.—A suit for possession based on a cause of action arising after the date of decree in a previous suit for possession, which was dismissed as plaintiff was not entitled to possession at that time, is not barred. SHAM DAS v. GAMUN, 41 P.R. 1891.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(91)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Suit for khas possession.—S. 2 does not apply to a suit for ejectment and khas possession brought after plaintiff had, in a former suit, obtained a declaration that the land was his mal land and not defendant's lakhiraj, and had served defendant with a notice to quit, which was not complied with. ESHAN CHUNDER GHOSE v. HURISH CHUNDER BANERJEE, 10 B.L.R. App. 5=18 W R. 19.

(92)—Mesne profits—Res judicata.—Where, in a suit for possession, mesne profits are not treated as a matter in issue, the question cannot be regarded as a cause of action "heard and determined" under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859. Where the amount of mesne profits cannot be ascertained till after the end of the year, the cause of action does not arise till then. Further, the parties in possession are liable for mesne profits to the legal owners, although there is no mala fides on their part. BABU GARBI BAIJNATH PRASAD v. BUDHU SING, 2 B.L. R.S.N. 16=10 W.R. 486.

(93)—Suit for rent — Tenancy not proved—Suit dismissed—Suit for possession and mesne profits based on title.—The plaintiff had sued the defendant, describing him as a tenant, for an arrear of rent; on the defendant's denial of the tenancy and the plaintiff's title to the land, the suit was dismissed in the Revenue Court. The plaintiff then sued him as a trespasser in the Civil Court to recover possession of the land with wassilat, estimating wassilat only at the rate of rent which he had claimed in the Revenue Court. Held that the plaintiff was entitled to possession as well as mesne profits, and that the second suit was not for the same thing as the first under a different name. DATARAM v. RAM KRISTO, 9 W.R. 594.

(94)—Bona fide lessees without title — Purchaser—Mesne profits.—A plaintiff failing in a previous suit to establish his title under two leases against a purchaser is not barred from pleading in a subsequent suit the bona fides of his leases as exempting him from the purchaser's claim for wassilat during the plaintiff's possession as lessee. MAHOMED KAWIL v. GOBIND CHUNDER SEIN, 1 W.R. 293.

(95)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, exp. III—Suit for mesne profits accruing due during pendency of suit for possession.—Suit for mesne profits. In a previous suit for possession, plaintiff had asked for mesne profits from date of suit to date of possession. The Court awarded possession, though the decree was silent as to the mesne profits claimed. Held, the omission in the previous suit, to grant mesne profits did not debar the present claim therefor as res judicata, because, the grant of mesne profits pending suit was discretionary with the Court, under s. 211, Civ. Pro. Code, and s. 13. exp. III is not applicable to such a case. BAPUJI KALE v. YAGOSA LAID, 2 N.L.R. 91. (21 A. 425, 32 C. 115, F.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(96)—Ss. 13, 373, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Future mesne profits claimed in a previous suit for possession—Previous suit dismissed in toto—Subsequent suit for the same mesne profits no bar either under s. 13 or 373.—Present plaintiff had previously instituted a suit for possession of the lands, whose mesne profits from the subject-matter of the present suit. In that suit, he had added a prayer with regard to the said mesne profits as well, but the Court of first instance dismissed the suit in toto. Plaintiff appealed from the dismissal and stated in his memorandum of appeal that he would make his claim for future mesne profits, the subject of a separate suit. Plaintiff, subsequently, instituted this second suit, against the same defendants as before, claiming mesne profits from the date of the plaint in the previous suit up to the date of the delivery of the lands for the recovery of which that suit had been brought. The Court of first instance and the lower appellate Court dismissed this second suit. On second appeal, the question was referred to the Full Bench, whether, on the facts of the case, the claim of the plaintiff in the second suit for mesne profits, in respect of the period between the institution of the previous suit and the decree therein is res judicata, or is barred by the provisions of s. 373 of the Civ. Pro. Code. Held, that the claim of the plaintiff is not res judicata (17 C. 968, F.), and is not barred by the provisions of s. 373. The words of explanation III to s. 13 "relief claimed in the plaint" mean relief which, assuming the defence fails, the plaintiff is entitled to as of right. Provision for the future mesne profits, therefore, which the Court has a discretion, in any event, either to make or to refuse, is not "relief" within the meaning of the explanation. Future mesne profits, accruing after the institution of the suit, do not form part of the causes of action and cannot be claimed as of right and could not, but for s. 211, be asked for at all, and may, in any case, be refused by the Court at its discretion (4 B.L.R. 113, F. B., R.), and, on principle, no distinction can be drawn between mesne profits for the period from the date of suit up to that of the decree and that for the period after the decree and before delivery of possession (14 M. 32, Diss.). As regards s. 373 of the Code, the word "claim" in that section means such a claim as, if the allegations on which it is based are true, gives the plaintiff a cause of action quoad that particular claim and not a claim, which is not a cause of action and which the Court may, in any event, in the exercise of its discretion, either grant or refuse. KUPPUSAWMY AIYAR v. VENKATARAMIER, 15 M.L J. 462, F.B.

(97)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 211—Mesne profits—Res judicata.—Where the defendant in a suit for possession was not in wrongful possession, mesne profits could not be claimed from him under s. 211, Civ. Pro. Code, and a subsequent suit for the recovery of mesne profits is not barred by res judicata. SUBBIER v. RANGA AIYANGAR, 9 M.L J. 163.

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(98)—Suit for mesne profits—Subsequent suit for possession - Maintainability.—A suit for mesne profits does not bar a subsequent suit for possession of the property in respect of which the mesne profits had been claimed, as the trespass on the plaintiff's land was a continuing injury giving a fresh cause of action. BHAIRAO PRASAD v. SANGRAM SINGH, 1 C. P.L.R. 143.

(99)—Second suit for same rent upon a different basis —The landlord's first suit for rent, brought for use and occupation, having been dismissed as not having been brought upon the basis of a lease pleaded by the defendant, a subsequent suit for the same rent on the basis of the lease is not res judicata, the cause of action in the second suit not having been heard and decided in the prior suit. WATSON AND CO. v. DHONENDRA CHUNDER MOOKERJEE, 3 C. 6.

(100)—Causes of action —Suit to recover possession, dismissal of—Subsequent suit to enhance rent.—In a suit to recover khas possession of land, of which the plaintiff alleged he had been fraudulently dispossessed by the defendant, the defendant claimed to be entitled to the possession of the land under a deed of gift at a fixed rent. The Judge found upon the facts that the deed of gift was invalid ; that the land was mal; and that the defendant was entitled to retain the possession, and thereupon dismissed the suit. Held, that the plaintiff was not precluded by the decision in that suit from afterwards maintaining a suit against the defendant to enhance the rent. NEELMONEY SINGH DEO v. SHOBHAN BEBEE, Marsh, 606.

(101)—Suit by zamindar for recovery of land —Jirayati land — Temporary alienation—Resumption—Mokhasa jagir—Government order— Res judicata —In 1856, the young zamindar of Tarla (who had attained his majority in 1853) instituted suits for the recovery of the two villages forming the subject of the present claim, on the ground that the villages were jirayati and had been temporarily alienated, and he claimed a right of resumption. It was decided that the villages had formed a Mokhasa jaghir from a date prior to that of the permanent settlement, and that, as they did not constitute any portion of the assets of the zamindari at the date of the permanent settlement, they were in no sense property appertaining to the zamindari liable to resumption. Pending this litigation, an order was made by Government which was construed by plaintiff as a transfer to him of the Government rights in these villages, and his present suit was founded upon the alleged lapse of the Mokhasa to Government by the death of the last holder who was a mere tenant for life, and the order of Government creating in him the title to the villages which had so lapsed to the Government. Held, that the present suit was not res judicata. ARICHANDRANA DEO GARU v. D. RAMANNA CHANDIRI, 3 M.H.C. 207.

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of Action —continued.

(102)—Suits for rent—Matters provable in prior and later rent suits.—The mere failure of the defendant to prove what he tried to prove in the previous rent-suit would not prevent him from proving it in a suit for subsequent arrears of rent. Where, in the first suit, the determination as to the measurement of land alleged to be in the possession of the defendant was not general in its character, but was confined to the particular years for which the rent was claimed (no issues having been framed and no measurements having been taken), it would not bar a subsequent claim for subsequent years, the cause of action being different. NIL MADHUB SARKAR v BROJO NATH SINGHA, 21 C. 236. (4 C. 686, 1 C. 202, D.) [F., 4 C.W N. 43, 6 C.W.N. 589 ; R., 25 B. 115, 1 C.L.J. 248.]

(103)—Suit for rent—Ex-proprietary tenant's liability to pay rent fixed by Revenue Courts.—Where a former suit for arrears of rent brought by the plaintiff against the defendant was dismissed on the ground that the plaintiff had failed to prove the defendant to be a tenant-at-will, held, that it did not operate as res judicata to bar a subsequent suit against the defendant as an ex-proprietary tenant. Held, further that a zamindar's right to claim rent against an ex-proprietary tenant at the rate fixed by the Revenue Courts accrues not merely from the date on which the rent is so fixed but from the date on which the ex-proprietary tenancy arises. BHAN PARTAB SAHI (RAO) v. SHEO DAT BAHADUR SINGH, 16 O.C. 45 = 16 Ind. Cas. 189. (22 M. 323, R.; 12 O.C. 35, F.)

(104)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, new Code).—A lambardar of a mahal brought a suit against B and K for possession of certain property alleged to have been of M M in her lifetime ; and the finding in that suit was that K was the heir of M M. Subsequent to the institution of the suit, but before its decision, B as the heir of M M assigned some other property of M M, not the subject of the above-mentioned suit, in favour of M K who brought a suit against the lambardar for a share of the profits. Held that the former suit did not operate as res judicata as regards the claim of M K under the assignment. NIAZ-ULLAH KHAN v. NAZIR BEGAM, 15 A. 108 = A.W.N. 1892, 246.

(105)—Suit for measurement—Previous suit for rent—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—A suit by ryots, for a declaration of the annual rent on measurement, will not be barred as res judicata by a prior suit between the same parties for arrears of rent, wherein the Judge had declined to try if the extent had been over stated as alleged by the tenants, and decided that suit on the basis of a jamabandi signed by them. RAGHOONATH MUNDUL v. JUGGOT BUNDHOO BOSE. 7 C. 214=8 C L R. 393. [R., 3 O.C. 273, 21 C. 236; Cited, 8 A. 282=A.W.N. 1886, 119.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(106)—Civ Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Prior suit for rent based on lease dismissed—Subsequent suit for land and rent based on title—Maintainability.— Plaintiff sued to recover certain land with arrears of rent. The suit was based by the plaintiff on the strength of his title. In a prior suit to which the plaintiff and defendants were parties, the specific lease now sued on was relied upon, but the Court then found that no such lease had been executed. Held that, though the invalidity of the lease sued upon was res judicata by the decision in the former suit, the plaintiff, however, was at liberty to sue also on the strength of his title, independently of the lease, and he was not estopped from so suing by the fact that the former suit was based on the lease alone. If the relation of landlord and tenant were shown to have existed prior to the specific lease sued upon, it was for the tenant to prove that it had ceased to exist. In the absence of such proof, it was presumed to continue, and the tenant's possession in that case could not be adverse. ZAMORIN OF CALICUT v. NARAYANAN MUSSAD, 22 M. 323. [F., 29 M 515; R., 23 M. 629, 92 P.R. 1902, 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448; D., 16 P.L.R. 1903.]

(107)—Previous suit for ejectment based on lease—Subsequent suit based on trespass.—The plaintiffs in this case had sued the defendants in ejectment in virtue of the terms of an alleged written lease or kabuliyat binding the defendants to quit when desired. The defendants in that suit averred that they were permanent tenants subject to a fixed rent under an agreement with the plaintiffs' ancestor and predecessor-in-title. Plaintiffs failed in that suit because the lease relied on was not proved by them. The present suit for ejectment and possession was brought by the plaintiffs to eject the defendants, alleging that they were in occupation simply as tenants paying the Government assessment and a further rent to plaintiffs, and refused to go out when desired by the plaintiffs. This suit was held not to be barred by the judgment in the previous suit. Both suits were against the defendants as tenants of the plaintiff, but that could not be taken to imply that the former suit was on a cause of action identical with the one in the present suit. What has to be seen in such cases is whether the particular contract or relation put forward in the first case was the same as that sued on in the second. A cause of action reduced to the concrete form which it must assume in a contest between individuals implies a specific right and a specific infringement of the right. A judgment, that one such specific right has not been made out, is not a trial and determination of the cause of action as resting on another specific right, and the former adjudication, therefore, cannot be res judicata in respect of the subs quent suit. GIRDHAR MANORDAS v. DAYABHAI KALABHAI, 8 B. 174, F.B. [Appr., 14 B. 31; R., 10 B. 24; 21 M. 35, 11 Bom. L.R. 921; D., 25 B. 189, 2 N.L.R 94.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(108) Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Rent-suit.—The plaintiff sued to recover rent at an enhanced rate after service of notice under s. 13, Act X of 1859, but eventually failed. He brought the present suit for recovery of rent at the rate admitted by the defendant for the same year. Held that the second suit was not barred. KHEDAROONISSA BIBEE v. BOODHEE BIBEE, 13 W.R. 317. [F., 15 C. 145, F.B.]

(109)—Liability of ryot's holding to enhancement, decree of competent Court declaring—Subsequent suit for enhanced rent, under Act X of 1859—Ryot not entitled to benefit of presumption under s. 4.—This was a suit to recover arrears of rent at enhanced rates brought under Act VIII of 1859. The defence was payment of rent at an unvarying rate from the date of the Permanent Settlement. The lower Courts held that, although the question of istimararee had been decided previously by the Civil Court adversely to the tenant, still the plaintiff was not entitled to demand enhanced rates. On special appeal, the defendant contended that, as the suit had been brought by the landlord under Act X, he (the tenant) was entitled to all the benefit conferred on him by law, and that, as he had paid an unvarying rate for 20 years, his holding was not liable to enhanced rates. The High Court, however, held that the above two matters were altogether different. The landlord having sued under Act X cannot have the effect of doing away with the previous decree of the competent Civil Court which long ago had declared the defendants' holding to be one the rent of which could be enhanced. Also, the defendant having, in the previous case, stood on his pottah, could not be allowed to shift his ground and claim exemption on the plea of 20 years' payment of uniform rent. RAKHAL DOSS BOSE v. SHEIKH GOLAM SURWUR, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul 69. [R., 19 W. R 175; D., 11 W.R. 571.]

(110)—Landlord and tenant—Suit for right to get rent—Dismissal—Subsequent suit for possession—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—The fact of a landlord having failed in his suit to establish his right to get rent cannot prevent his bringing a second suit to get possession of the land. KASHEENATH BOSE v. SHARADA SOONDUREE CHOWDHRAIN, 19 W.R. 97.

(111)—Khas possession of land, suit for—Subsequent suit for rent—Res judicata.—A suit for khas possession of certain land does not operate as res judicata in respect of a subsequent suit for rent of the same land. BHUGWANDAS v. SHEO NARAIN SINGH, 23 W.R. 253.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(112)—Res judicata—Relinquishment of holding by ryot—Right of occupancy—Seer land.—The decision in a former suit by the present defendant, a ryot, against the present plaintiff, to recover back his holding from which he had been dispossessed, in which the question of relinquishment of the land by defendant was in issue, is no bar to the present suit in which the question in dispute is, whether, as the plaintiff says, the land sued for is the seer land, formerly belonging to the defendant's father, which the plaintiff had purchased, and from which he says he is entitled to eject the defendant, or whether, as the defendant insists, the land has been cultivated and held by him for twelve years as ryoti land, and, therefore, that he has a right of occupancy. NAIPAL SINGH v. RAM NARAIN, 2 Agra 93.

(113)—Former suit to establish proprietary title—Subsequent suit as planter of trees or digger of tank—Res judicata.—Where in a former suit it had been determined that the plaintiff had no proprietary title in the land then claimed and the Court disallowed the claim then preferred for want of proof of proprietary right in the land without reference to any right which the plaintiff might possess as planter of trees in a garden or digger of a tank, a subsequent suit by the plaintiff to have it declared that as planter of the trees in the garden and as having constructed the tank he was entitled to retain possession of the tank and garden, would not be barred by res judicata. GOSHIEN JUGOOPOOREE v. BABOO BISHEN DYAL CHUND, 2 Agra 32.

(114)—Estoppel—Decree fixing rent in previous year—Right of zemindar to enhance rent in following year.—A zemindar is not estopped from enhancing rent in one year by a decree passed in a suit as to the propriety of enhancement in a preceding year, nor does such decree preclude a comparison of the rents paid by actual cultivators for the year in respect of which the second enhancement was made. GUNGA PERSHAD v. BULDEO SINGH, 3 Agra 310.

(115)—First suit on lease—Second on title.—First suit was for possession by a lessor against a lessee. Second suit for possession on the basis of the plaintiff's title. In the first suit, the title had not been adjudicated upon. Held, the second suit was not barred by the first, because, the title had not been adjudicated upon in the first suit. Nor could explanation II of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, bar the suit as res judicata, because, it could not be said that the plaintiff ought to have put forward his title in the previous suit, in which the cause of action was the lease and the holding over by the defendant after its expiry, and plaintiff expressly limited his claim in that suit to the cause of action given him by the lease. GOPALA v. ANIA, 2 N L.R. 94. (26 M. 760, 27 M. 102, 28 M. 406, F.; 6 Bom L.R. 594, D.)

(116)—Discharge, pleaded in prior suit—Not proved.—A plea of discharge which the plaintiff failed to prove in a prior suit brought by the defendant against plaintiff to recover waram will not constitute res judicata in a subsequent suit by plaintiff for the return of a loan advanced to defendant. AKILANDAM PILLAI v. CHINNASAMI MOOPAN, M.W.N. 1912, 172=11 M. L.T. 201=13 Ind. Cas. 642.

(117)—Res judicata—Previous suit for rent against mortgagor, no bar to subsequent suit on mortgage.—Decrees in previous suits for rent, instituted by the mortgagee against the mortgagors, for arrears of rent accrued due under distinct pattamchits executed by the latter at the date of the mortgage, cannot be taken to operate as res judicata, so as to preclude the former from suing and obtaining a decree for sale for recovery of the principal and interest due under the mortgage-deed. NANU v. RAMAN, 16 M. 335.

(118)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code (1877), s. 13—Suit for possession—Subsequent suit to redeem—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 43—Act VIII of 1859, s. 7—Inclusion of entire claim in one suit.—Where the claim in the subsequent suit does not arise out of the cause of action in a former suit, within the meaning of the sections of the Code of 1859, relating to the inclusion of the whole claim in a suit, the subsequent suit is not barred under s. 13 of the Code of 1877, as amended by s. 6 of Act XII of 1879. So a suit for possession of property as sub-proprietor or on a statutory right would not prevent a subsequent suit to redeem the same property. [F., 27 B. 379; Cons., 26 M. 760=13 M.L.J. 448; R., 16 C. 137, 28 M. 406, 29 M. 153=16 M.L.J. 48, F.B.] A right which a litigant possesses without knowing or ever having known that he possesses it, can hardly be regarded as a "portion of his claim" within the meaning of s. 7 of Act VIII of 1859. And therefore the omission to include the whole claim in the previous suit does not bar the subsequent suit, where the plaintiff was not aware of his right when he brought the first suit. AMANAT BIBEE v. IMDAD HUSAIN, 15 C 800=15 I.A. 106, P.C. =5 Sar. 214. [R., 9 Bom. L.R. 1020, A.W.N. 1908, 96=30 A. 225=5 A.L.J. 192.]

(119)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 2.—Knowledge of a second ground of right when a first one is relied on in a suit does not prevent that second ground being afterwards made the basis of a second suit seeking the same relief as the first. Failure in a suit of simple ejectment does not bar a subsequent suit for redemption, notwithstanding that the defendant had asserted the existence of his mortgage in the former suit. SHRIDHAR VINAYAK v. NARAYAN VALAD BABAJI, 11 B. H.C. 224. [F., 13 B. 326; R., 1 B. 87, 3 B. 137, 7 B. 526, 20 B. 86, 21 M. 35, 9 O.C. 235, 8 B. 174, 2 O.C. 139, 12 O.C. 347, 35 B. 507=13 B. L.R. 895.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(120)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Zur-i-peshgee lease—Decree for redemption and for possession on payment of certain money found due — Non-payment of money — Subsequent suit for possession on ground of discharge by usufruct—Fresh cause of action.—Plaintiff had instituted a suit for possession of certain property which had been mortgaged to the defendants under a zur-i-peshgee lease, and a decree had been passed in his favour for possession on his depositing in Court the sum found to be due on the mortgage. The plaintiff however did not pay the amount and execute the decree. An application was made by him four years after the decree was passed for possession of the property, on the ground that the mortgage money had been paid off by the usufruct of the land. This application having been dismissed, he instituted the present suit for possession on the said allegation. Held, that the former decree not having put an end to the relation of mortgagor and mortgagee between the parties, the plaintiff was entitled to an adjudication of the state of accounts between him and the defendant up to the date of the present suit, and s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, did not bar the present suit as there was a fresh cause of action since the date of the decree in the former suit. ROY DINKUR DOYAL v. SHEO GOLAM SINGH, 22 W.R. 172. [Not F., 24 A. 44, F.B.; F., 22 W.R. 269; R., 21 A. 251, 26 M. 300, F.B., 2 Ind. Cas. 662.]

(121)—Mortgage-bond—Special Registration —Act XX of 1866, s. 55—Suit to enforce lien on property—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.—S. 55 of Act XX of 1866, does not prevent the institution of a suit in the Civil Court for the enforcement of a lien on landed property mortgaged under a bond specially registered under the provisions of that Act. OOTSHUB NARAIN CHOWDHRY v. CHITTRA RECKA GOOPTA, 17 W.R. 154. [R., 23 W.R. 187.]

(122)—Res judicata—Finding in former suit not necessary for decision.—A decision in a former suit against the present plaintiffs as to the validity of the mortgage now in suit, where that matter was not for adjudication then before the Court, would be no bar to the plaintiff's present suit in which the question was as to the genuineness or otherwise of the mortgage by defendants to plaintiffs. BUSTEE RAM v. NEWAZ SINGH, 2 Agra 62.

(123)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Conditional decree in redemption suit—Establishment of right to mortgage property by another—Suit by such person for redemption.—Where, subsequent to a conditional decree in a suit for redemption, another person sued the decree-holder to establish his right to the mortgage-property and obtained a decree, he was not precluded by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, from maintaining a suit for redemption against the said decree-holder. BHOOP SING v. NARSING RAI, 3 Agra 144.

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(124)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Title—Suit for declaration—Title as absolute owner—Second suit as mortgagor not barred—Suit for declaration does not bar suit for possession.—K brought a suit for a declaration of his title as an absolute owner of a certain property against B. The suit was dismissed as time barred. Subsequently a second suit was brought by the representative of K against B in respect of the same property as mortgagor: Held, that the second suit was not barred by res judicata. Held, further, that a suit for a declaration of title does not bar a subsequent suit for possession. SYED ABID HUSAIN v. MUSSAMAT ASUDA, 6 Ind. Cas. 696. (5 A.L.J. 637, A.W.N. 1908, 252, 4 M.L.T. 444, R.)

(125)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl. II—Redemption, Suit for—Possession, Previous suit for—Alternative relief, Right to redeem—Res judicata.—The plaintiffs brought a suit against the defendant for possession of certain land, alleging that, on the death of S, who had a Hindu widow's estate in the said land, they succeeded to it as the heirs of her deceased husband, but were subsequently dispossessed of it by the defendant. Upon certain findings based upon a decision passed in a suit brought by T.S., father of the defendant, against S, for possession of the land in dispute, in which T.S. obtained a decree for possession as mortgagee, the Court dismissed the plaintiffs' suit. The plaintiffs then brought the present suit against the defendant for redemption of the mortgage. This suit was dismissed on the ground that the plaintiffs ought, in the former suit, to have claimed as an alternative relief, the right to redeem the mortgage, and that, as they did not do so, the suit was barred by s. 13, Expl. II of the Civ. Pro. Code. Held, (following 11 B H.C. 224) that the plaintiffs 'ought' not to have made the mortgage they now sought to redeem ground of attack in the former suit, and consequently that the second suit was not barred by s. 13, Expl. II of the Civ. Pro. Code. A claim for possession of property as owner and as mortgagee are essentially different matters, and their union is calculated to lead to confusion. BALDI SINGH v. KALKA SINGH, 2 O.C. 139. (19 A. 517, Diss.)

(126)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. II—Matter which ought to have been made ground of defence or attack—Different suits on different causes of action with regard to the same subject-matter—Questions to be decided in execution—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 244.—R purchased a certain property in execution of a mortgage-decree against the mother of D and B. Subsequently, the same property was again sold in execution of a decree for rent obtained by the landlord against the recorded tenant (father of D and B), and was purchased by R in the benami of his son-in-law, and he took possession in execution of both the decrees. D and B then instituted two suits for recovery of possession. One was on the ground that the rent-decree, being fraudulent, was inoperative against them ; and the other on a declaration that the mortgage executed by their mother was without legal necessity and that the sale in execution of the mortgage-decree was not binding on them. The first suit was decreed and the second suit dismissed. D and B then transferred their right to possession under the decree in the first suit to the present defendant, who recovered possession in execution. An objection on behalf of R that he was in possession under the purchase in execution of the mortgage-decree was disallowed. R then brought the present suit for recovery of possession on the ground of his purchase in execution of the mortgage decree. Held, that the suit was not barred either under s. 13 or under s. 244 of the Code. Where a plaintiff brings two suits based on different causes of action with regard to the same property, it is not obligatory on a person who is a defendant in both the suits, to plead as a defence to each suit what is properly a defence to the other. KAILASH CHANDRA MANDAL v. RAM NARAIN GIRI, 4 C.L.J. 211. [R., 12 C.W.N. 292=7 C.L.J. 504.]

Res Judicata - continued.

—— 3.—Cause of Action —continued.

(127)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 43—Mortgage — Two simple mortgages — Suit on first mortgage Second mortgagee not impleaded—Part of hypothecated property sold—Second suit for sale of remainder not barred against second mortgagee.—Where there are two simple mortgages on certain property, in a suit upon the first mortgage, the second mortgagee should be impleaded in order to give him an opportunity to redeem that mortgage. If he is not so impleaded and a decree is obtained and a sale held in execution of the decree, the auction-purchaser may not be competent to maintain an action in ejectment against the second mortgagee, if the latter is in possession. But a person interested in the first mortgage is not precluded from bringing a second suit for the sale of part of the mortgaged property, for the sale of which a proper decree has not been passed against his second mortgagee. The object of the suit is to afford to the latter an opportunity to redeem this property from the first mortgage, and neither s. 13 nor s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, is a bar to this suit, inasmuch as the second mortgagee was not a party to the first suit. MUSSAMMAT SHAMDEI v. BALLIT SINGH, 7 A.L.J. 29=32 A. 119=5 Ind. Cas. 481.

(128)—Hindu Law—Joint family—Mortgage by co-parcener of his share—Custom—Liability of surviving co-parcener obtaining mortgagor's interests—Res judicata.—In the absence of any special custom applicable, the decision in the present case had to follow the Hindu law. According to the decisions of the Chief Court, in the absence of any custom to the contrary, an alienation made by a co-sharer in joint ancestral property, without the consent of his co-parceners, is under the Mitakshara, as interpreted in the Punjab, invalid even to bind the share of the alienor. The mortgage, therefore, executed by one of the several co-parceners for his private debt, was held to be invalid even as regards his own share and, on the death of the mortgagor co-sharer, the property passed by survivorship to his co-parcener free from encumbrances. Plaintiffs who paid off the mortgage should be deemed to have succeeded to whatever rights the mortgagee would have had against the surviving co-parcener to recover the mortgage-money. On the question whether when one co-sharer in joint ancestral property dies and his property passes by survivorship to another co-sharer and comes into his possession, such share is liable to be taken and sold in the hands of the latter, to satisfy a separate debt due by the deceased co-sharer, it was held that, though the point had not been definitely settled by judicial decision, yet in the Punjab at least the share would be liable for the debt in the hands of the survivor. Further, the present suit was held not to be barred by the doctrine of res judicata. MUSSAMUT ZAHRO v LALLU MAUL, 21 P.R. 1879. [F., 153 P.R 1883 ; R., 58 P.R. 1880, 6 P. R. 1893.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(129)—Res judicata—Cause of action—Mortgage money, Suit for - Suit for possession—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 2, 7.—The first defendant mortgaged certain lands to plaintiff by way of zuripeshgi lease, under which the latter entered into possession. The first defendant afterwards gave a ticca of the lands to the second defendant, who turned the plaintiff out of possession before the term of the zuripeshgi lease had expired. Plaintiff then sued the first and second defendants, basing his cause of action on the dispossession by the latter and praying for the recovery of the mortgage money by a sale of the mortgaged property. The suit was dismissed, the Judge observing that plaintiff's proper remedy was to bring a suit for possession. Plaintiff then brought a suit for possession against the same parties, and on the same cause of action. The defendants objected that the suit was barred under ss. 2 and 7, Act VIII of 1859. Held that the suit was not barred DEODHARI SINGH v. LALLA SEWSARUN LAL, 3 C.L.R. 395.

(130)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, new Code)—Usufructuary mortgage—Suit for redemption—Conditional decree, not satisfied by mortgagor—Subsequent suit for redemption.—Where a usufructuary mortgagor brought a suit for redemption, alleging that the mortgage had been satisfied out of the usufruct, and it was found that, at that time, the mortgage had not been so satisfied, and a decree was passed that, on payment within a specified time of a sum found still due, the property might be redeemed, which payment, however, was not made, held that there was no bar of res judicata to his subsequently instituting a second suit after a further expiration of time when, by further enjoyment of the profits of the property by the mortgagee, it is alleged that the mortgage-debt has been discharged. MUHAMMED SAMI-UD-DIN KHAN v. MENNU LAL, 11 A. 386 = A.W.N. 1889, 136. [Diss., 19 A. 202; Not F., 25 M. 300, F.B., 43 P.R. 1907 = 101 P.W.R. 1907 = 169 P.L.R. 1908; R., 21 A. 251, 24 A. 44, F.B. = A.W.N. 1901, 194.

Res Judicata –continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(131)—Second redemption suit—Res judicata. —When a mortgagor has obtained a decree in a suit for redemption of a mortgage, and the decree has become unexecutable in consequence of a period exceeding three years from its date having been allowed to pass without any step having been taken to execute it, and the decree contains no direction that the mortgage should be foreclosed in default of the mortgagor exercising the right of redemption thereby decreed to him, a subsequent suit by the mortgagor for redemption of the same mortgage is not barred as res judicata by reason of the previous decree. RAMUNNI v. BRAHMA DATTAN, 15 M. 366. [Overruled, 25 M. 300, F.B.; Diss., 19 A. 202; R., 19 M. 40, 21 M. 18, 3 O.C. 380, 24 A. 44 = A.W N. 1901, 194, 43 P.R. 1907 = 101 P.W.R. 1907 = 169 P. L.R. 1908, 93 P.R. 1908 = 164 P.L.R. 1908 = 133 P.W.R. 1908.]

(132)—Civ. Pro. Code, s 13, Expl. II, —Suit by auction-purchaser—Second relief for sale upon mortgage.—A property was mortgaged first to B, then to H. Both the mortgagees brought suits for sale without joining the other mortgagee and obtained decrees and sold and purchased the mortgaged property. H executed his decree first and obtained possession. B applied for mutation of names and was resisted by H. He brought a suit for possession as auction-purchaser. The suit was dismissed. He then brought the present suit, as mortgagee for sale, making all the persons interested, including H, parties to the suit. Held, that the suit was not barred by the rule of res judicata inasmuch a B in the suit for possession, as auction-purchaser, was not litigating under the same title as he was in the present suit. Held further, that the relief for sale could not have been joined in the suit for possession by the auction-purchaser. RAGHUBIR SARAN v. HET RAM, 5 A.L.J. 729. [R., 12 O.C. 347.]

(133)—Res judicata—Execution of decree—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, ss. 13, 244—Distinct cause of action.—The respondent brought a suit against the appellant and one G for possession of two houses, in which he eventually obtained a decree against G alone, the appellant's shares of the houses being exempted. When the respondent applied for the possession of the houses in execution of his decree, the appellants objected on the ground that the whole of the house did not belong to G. This objection was disallowed, and the respondent was put in possession of the houses. He subsequently sued the tenants of one of the houses for rent. The appellants applied to be made parties to that suit, but the application was rejected. The respondent obtained a decree in the suit. The appellants next took up their residence in the house with the connivance of the tenant. The respondent sued the appellants for possession of the house. Held, that the respondent's right of suit was distinct from that in the former suit, and there was no bar to the present suit, with reference to the former suit, or the execution proceedings in that suit. KALKA PRASAD v. RAM RATAN, A.W N. 1881, 64.

Res Judicata—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(134)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13, 43—S. 13, bar by res judicata—Identity of cause of action—Hearing and final decision of matter in previous suit essential—Bar of suit by s. 43—Splitting of claim—Omission to sue in respect of portion of claim.—M, widow of A, having succeeded to a share in the village of her husband, mortgaged the share to the defendant's predecessor in title by a deed of conditional sale. The mortgagee was put in possession under a decree which he obtained on 31st January, 1879, against the mortgagor. On the 4th of November, 1879, the widow having meanwhile died, one of the present plaintiffs, a brother of A, sued to recover from the mortgagee certain resumed rent-free lands in the village. In the plaint he stated his intention to sue separately for the recovery of the mortgaged lands as heir of A. The issue, whether the lands in suit were included in the mortgage and in the decree thereon, was decided in plaintiff's favour by the first Court which gave him a decree. On first appeal, the Court ordered a nephew of the plaintiff to be made a party, and finding that the land in suit was included in the conveyance, it dismissed the plaintiff's claim. The present suit was brought by the above plaintiff and his nephew to recover the mortgaged land from the defendant on the ground that the alienation by the widow was only valid for her own lifetime and did not bind them as heirs of A. The Commissioner dismissed the claim under s. 43 of Act X of 1877, though he found that the plaintiff really believed that the land, as sued for in the prior suit, formed no part of the mortgaged property, and was entirely separate from the present claim. The Chief Court accepted the contention on behalf of the plaintiff that the causes of action in the two cases were quite different, the former suit having been brought to recover land on the ground that it was not included in the conditional sale, while the present suit was brought to recover the land to which the conditional sale applied on the ground that the alienation did not bind the estate after the death of M, and that in the former suit there was clearly no intentional relinquishment of the present claim as the plaintiff stated that he would sue for it separately. The defendant contended that, though the suit might perhaps not be barred by s. 43, it would surely be barred by the combined operation of s. 43 and Expl. 2 to s. 13. Held, that s. 13 did not apply to the present suit as, though the plaintiff in the former suit might have made the invalidity of the alienation a ground of attack, he did not in fact do so, and the question not having been raised in that suit, the matter cannot be said to have been heard and finally decided by the Court. As regards the contention based on the bar by s. 43 of the Code, it was held that there was no splitting of the claim which the plaintiff was entitled to make in respect of his cause of action and that he did not in the former suit omit to sue in respect of any portion of his claim. Also, even if the claim of the first plaintiff was barred by s. 43, such bar would not affect the other plaintiff as he was not made a party to the former suit in the Court of first instance, and it could not at all be held that there had been any splitting in the cause of action so far as he was concerned. SYED YAR KHAN v. RAMCHAND, 24 P.R. 1882. [R., 59 P.R. 1883, 168 P.R. 1882, 47 P.R. 1886.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(135)—Res judicata—Cause of action—Identity of cause of action.—Plaintiff purchased an estate from L (defendant No. 1), during the pendency of a suit by L against his vendor G (defendant No. 2) for confirmation of possession and registration of name. L's suit against G was dismissed for default. Plaintiff now sued L for possession on the ground of having been dispossessed after the decision in the other case. Held, that the cause of action in that other case was not the same as the cause of action in the present suit. MAHABIR PRASAD v. LALA-RAM BAHADUR, 5 B.L.R. 327, Note=11 W.R. 193.

(136)—Ben. Act VI of 1862—Res adjudicata—Suit for money on security of deposit—Suit for setting aside attachment of deposit—Causes of action—Identity of.—Where plaintiff sues K for a sum of money, K pledging as security certain fees in deposit in the Collectorate, and then sues K and defendant No. 2, who had meantime attached those fees in execution of a decree against K, held, that the causes of action in the two suits are not identical. LALA TILAK HARI LAL v. JAMES FURLONG, 2 B.L.R. A.C. 230=11 W.R. 149.

(137)—Suit to raise attachment—Estoppel—Res judicata—Priority—In a suit to raise an attachment, the plaintiff failed in the first Court and in appeal. Thereafter the property was sold and the plaintiff sued to recover possession of it from the purchaser. Held, that the decision in the former suit refusing to raise the attachment did not estop him from suing. MORO BALAKRISHNA MULE v. SHEK SAHEB VALAD BADDRUDDIN KAMBLE, 5 B.H.C.A.C. 199.

Res Judicata—continued.

—3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(138)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Suit to set aside sale.—In a suit to recover property which plaintiff had purchased, he failed as to a portion which had been previously purchased by one of the defendants who held a sale certificate thereof. Plaintiff then brought a suit to get rid of the sale. Held, that this was a different suit from the former and was not barred by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859. CHANNU LAL SAHU v. MANU LAL. 5 B.L.R. 220=13 W.R. 343. (3 B.L.R. A.C. 42, 2 B.L.R.A.C. 104, D.)

(139)—First suit by reversioner during life of vendor for declaration dismissed on ground of limitation alone—Second suit after vendor's death calling in question validity of sale not barred.—Plaintiffs were reversioners to the estate of a vendor of a certain land. Their suit, during the vendor's life, for a declaration that the sale was not binding on their reversionary rights was dismissed on the sole ground that it was barred by limitation. They now sued, after the death of the vendor, for possession of the land and the point of the validity of the land came into question. Held, the former suit having been dismissed on the only ground of limitation, such suit not being necessary and the question of the necessity for the sale and the validity thereof not having been decided therein, the present suit was not barred by the rule of res judicata. BARKET ALI v. HUSAIN KHAN, 6 P.R. 1906=61 P.L.R. 1906.

(140)—Joint tort-feasors—Action against one joint tort-feasor bars another action against others—Rule in Brinsmead v. Harrison—Rule does not apply to subsequent tort—Cause of action in both suits to be the same for res judicata to apply—Lis pendens does not apply to moveable property—Plea of adoption by defendant—Decision in first suit — Defendant not claiming under the parties in first suit can agitate the question in second suit — Pledge—Conversion.—M. K. claiming to be the adopted son of M.R. took possession of certain ornaments belonging to M.R. which he wrongfully pledged in 1897 with G. Soon after J., the daughter of M. R. sued M.K. to recover the ornaments, and obtained a decree which was not satisfied. M.K. had pledged only two of the ornaments with G. before the date of the suit; while the remaining ones were pledged after the institution of the suit. Subsequently, in 1907, J sued G, the pawnee, to recover the ornaments. The defendant contended in reply that M.K. and G. being joint tort-feasors, the suit was barred under the rule in 7 C.P. 547, R. He also pleaded that M.K. was the validly adopted son of M. R. Held, that plea of res judicata must fail in so far as it was based upon the rule of Brinsmead v. Harrison, for a fresh assignment in respect of a tort subsequent to that originally sued upon would not come within the scope of the rule so as to bar the fresh assignment; and that the cause of action in the second suit must be precisely the same as the cause of action in the first suit, in order to make the judgment in the first suit a bar to proceedings in the second suit. That the fact that the first suit was pending at the time of the pledge of a large portion of the ornaments sought to be recovered in the second suit could not prejudice the defendant on the issue of res judicata, for the doctrine of lis pendens did not apply to moveable property. That the defendant was entitled to raise the issue about M K's adoption, for the first suit was no bar to the issue sought to be raised by the defendant as it was subsequent to the pledge, and the defendant did not claim under a person against whom the issue of adoption had been at the time of the pledge finally heard and determined. GOVIND BABA GUJAR v. SHRIMANT JIJIBAI SAHEB, 14 Bom. L.R. 9=36 B. 189=13 Ind. Cas. 849. (15 A. 108, F.)

Res Judicata*—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—continued.

(141)—Claim to two distinct inheritances—Causes of action not same—Circular 95 of 1858. --First suit in respect of certain wells left by the grandfather of plaintiff and defendant, in which other persons were also interested. It came before the Settlement Department. Second suit (the present one) was in respect of a share in a house left by the father of the plaintiff and the defendant. Held, that the latter suit was not barred by the plaintiff's omission to claim his share in the house in the previous suit, as the causes of action were different and the persons interested not the same in the two suits, and moreover, the Settlement Department which took cognizance of the matter in the first suit could not have had cognizance of the second. The object of Circular 95 of 1858 is to prevent the splitting up of claims arising out of the same cause of action It is true that it prevents the splitting of a claim arising out of the same inheritance. But it cannot have the effect of compelling the joinder of claims arising from two distinct inheritances. SOOK DIAL v. LUJPUT RAI, 15 P.R 1866.

(142)—Dismissal of suit for redemption, plaintiffs having no locus standi—Suggestion in judgment that plaintiffs might sue again in certain events—Subsequent suit—Res judicata. --A suit for redemption of mortgage was dismissed on the ground that the proper persons to sue were the sons of the mortgagor and not the plaintiffs who had no locus standi. But though in the decree the claim was simply dismissed, the Court in the body of the judgment threw out a suggestion that if those sons did not sue in three years' time, plaintiffs could sue again provided they were still within limitation. The sons not having sued, the plaintiffs brought the present suit for redemption. Held that their claim was res judicata under s. 13 of Act X of 1877, as the words relied upon by the plaintiffs in the former judgment must be regarded as mere surplusage and that they could not enable them to institute a fresh suit with respect to a cause of action once heard and determined. UDMI v. NEKI, 84 P.R. 1880. [D, 25 P.R. 1884.]

Suit for possession of land—Subsequent conversion of moveables on the land—Second

Res Judicata*—continued.

——3.—Cause of Action—concluded.

suit for damages for conversion— See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 154, 156, 157, 158, O. II, r. 2, O. XIII, r. 9, 22 M. 197.

Res judicata—Suit for maintenance for definite period only—Subsequent suit for later period and for charging ancestral estate for future maintenance—See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE, 2 B. 494.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 3 A. 521.

See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 32 P.R. 1910=50 P.W.R. 1910=5 Ind. Cas. 655=57 P.L.R. 1910.

Lapse of decree for redemption by non-payment of decretal money—Second suit for redemption not-maintainable by mortgagor —See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 19 A. 202 =A.W.N. 1897, 24.

See PLAINT—REJECTION OF PLAINT, 81 P.R. 1878.

Suit for rent or in default for possession of land under Settlement Court decree entitling landlord to demand any reasonable rent at his option —Landlord and tenant, relation of—Oudh Rent Act — See RENT, SUIT FOR, 6 O.C. 341.

——4.—Competency of Court.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS.

See JURISDICTION OF REVENUE COURTS.

(1)—Res judicata—Decision by Agency Courts —Another suit in British Courts.—The leading conditions imposed by s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, as requisite to the plea of res judicata are (1) that the matter in the suit in which the plea is raised should have been directly and substantially in issue in the former suit, (2) that on that matter there should have been a hearing and a final decision in the former suit, (3) that there should be identity of parties as explained in the section, and (4) that the Court which decided the former suit should be a Court of jurisdiction competent to try such subsequent suit or the suit in which such issue has been subsequently raised. In a suit, brought in the Agency Court of Kattiaward, relating to the villages in Kattiawar, the Court decided that there existed between the parties a custom of Motap (i.e., right to an extra share by the senior member). A second suit was subsequently brought in a British Court, as regards the villages belonging to the parties situate in the British territories, wherein plaintiffs alleged that the custom of Motap did not exist in their family. It was contended on behalf of the defendant that the question was res judicata, on the ground that the test of competency to try the subsequent suit was whether the suit was one which in respect of its subject-matter and the valuation thereof could have been tried by the Agency Court and that its exclusion on territorial grounds was not to be taken into account. The High Court declined to accept the contention as not being consistent with the express terms of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code. PRITHISINGJI v. UMEDSINGJI, 6 Bom. L.R. 98.

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(2)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code—Object of section — Necessity for first suit being tried and decided finally by Court of competent jurisdiction. —The object of s. 13 is to ensure that the decision in the former suit shall be that of a Court which is competent to try the subsequent suit. The jurisdiction of the Court of first instance, and not that of the Court of appeal, is what the section regards. The matter to be a res-judicata must have been heard and finally decided. The trial by a competent Court is what is especially made necessary because the result of the case depends so much on the trial, the Court of appeal deciding the case as a rule on the record of the first Court. Where the Court which tried the first suit could not take cognizance of the second suit on account of the limit in jurisdictional value, the decision in the first suit could not operate as res judicata in the second suit. BADRINATH v. LOKNATH AGARWALLA, 1 C.P.L.R. 92. (9 B. 75, D.)

(3)—Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, s. 102—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 (=s. 11, New Code)—Proceeding under s. 103, Beng. Tenancy Act, 1885—Decision of Revenue Officer—Effect in subsequent suit for title and ejectment.—In order to constitute res judicata under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, the issue with respect to which the rule is to operate must have been heard and finally decided by a Court of jurisdiction competent to try the subsequent suit in which it is sought to raise the same issue. In a proceeding under s. 103, Beng. Tenancy Act, 1885, there being a denial of the relation of landlord and tenant either by the landlord or the tenant, it is absolutely necessary for the Revenue Officer to deal with the question in order to enable him to make the necessary entries under s. 102 of the Act; but the decision of the Revenue Officer is not res judicata in a subsequent suit by the landlord in a Civil Court for title and ejectment. DHARANI KANTA LAHIRI v. GABER ALI KHAN, 30 C. 339=7 C.W.N. 33. (17 C. 721, F.; 2 C.W.N. 491, 20 C. 249, 27 C. 167, D.)

(4)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—"Jurisdiction competent to try," meaning of.—Where the right of the plaintiff had been decided adversely to him in a suit between him and the defendants which was within the jurisdiction of the Court of the District Munsif, and the subsequent suit brought by him, although involving the same question of right, was not within the jurisdiction of such Munsif, there could be no bar by res judicata under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code. The terms "the Court of jurisdiction competent to try" in s. 13 must be taken to mean a Court having jurisdiction not only to the nature but also as to the amount of the suit. SHEIKH HASSU v. RAM KUMAR SINGH, 16 A. 183=A.W.N. 1894, 18. (9 I.A. 197=9 C. 439, R.) [D., 18 A. 59.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(5)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—"Court of competent jurisdiction," meaning of--The words "Court of competent jurisdiction" in s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, mean a Court which has jurisdiction over the matter in the subsequent suit, in which the decision is used as conclusive, in other words a Court of concurrent jurisdiction, i.e., concurrent as regards the pecuniary limit as well as the subject-matter. GANAPATHI v. CHATHU, 12 M. 223.

(6)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Construction.—The reasonable construction of the words "in a Court of jurisdiction competent to try such subsequent suit" in s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, is that it must refer to the jurisdiction of the Court at the time when the first suit was brought, that is to say, if the Court which tried the first suit was competent to try the subsequent suit if then brought, the decision of such Court would be conclusive under s. 13, although, on a subsequent date, by a rise in the value of such property or from any other cause, the said Court ceased to be the proper Court, so far as pecuniary jurisdiction is concerned, to take cognizance of a suit relating to that property. GOPINATH CHOBEY v. BHUGWAT PERSHAD, 10 C. 697. [Appr., 11 C. 153, 15 M. 494; D., 9 C.W.N. 656, 29 M. 65; R., 10 C.P.L.R. 89, 25 C. 571, 2 O.C. 261, 22 P.L.R. 1902=36 P.R. 1902, F.B.]

(7)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl. VI—Res judicata—Court of jurisdiction competent to try such subsequent suit, meaning and scope of expression—Judgment of Native Court, how far can be relied on by British Indian Courts. —The expression in s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, "a Court of jurisdiction competent to try such subsequent suit," means a Court having concurrent jurisdiction with the Court trying the subsequent suit, whether as regards pecuniary limit of its jurisdiction, or the subject-matter of the suit, to try it with conclusive effect." Expl. VI to the section must be read with the earlier part thereof so as to give it an adequate meaning. The term "Court of competent jurisdiction" is wide enough to include a competent foreign Court. The plaintiff sued the defendant to recover possession of certain property situated in the Belgaum District (British territory) by virtue of his being the adopted son of one X to whom the properties belonged. The plea of the defendants was that the adoption was false. To prove his title, the plaintiff produced a judgment of a Native Court which decided the question of his adoption in his favour, and which he had obtained against the second defendant only in a suit instituted by him to recover possession of certain other property belonging to X (his alleged adoptive father). Both the lower Courts did not admit this judgment in evidence and dismissed the plaintiff's suit, holding that his adoption was not proved. Held on appeal, that the judgment of the Native Court was passed on the merits of the case and was conclusive between the parties within the territorial jurisdiction of the Native State, and the question of the plaintiff's adoption was therefore res judicata between him and the second defendant. BABABHAT v. NARHARBHAT, 13 B. 224. [R., 24 B. 86; Doubted, 6 Bom. L.R. 98.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(8)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Court of competent jurisdiction.—The words "Court of jursidiction competent to try such subsequent suit," refer to the jurisdiction of the Court at the time when the suit is heard and determined. The Privy Council have interpreted these words to mean a Court having concurrent jurisdiction with the Court trying the subsequent suit, whether as regards the subject-matter of the suit or the pecuniary limits of its jurisdiction. KUNJI AMMA v. RAMAN MENON, 15 M. 494=2 M.L.J. 262. [R., P.L.R. 1900 at p. 435, 24 A. 112.]

(9)—Res judicata—Civ.Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, construction of—The reasonable construction of the words "in a Court of jurisdiction competent to try such subsequent suit" in s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, is that they refer to jurisdiction of the Court, at the time when the first suit was brought. (10 C. 697, Appr.) Although the Court in which the subsequent suit is brought, and that in which the former suit was brought, are now Courts of different jurisdictions, the decision in the former suit would be a bar to the subsequent suit, if the Court in which the former suit was brought was the only Court at that time competent to try suits of that kind, and that Court would have been the only Court competent to try the subsequent suit also, if it had been brought at that time. RAGHUNATH PUNJAH v. ISSUR CHUNDER CHOWDHRY, 11 C. 153. [Appr., 15 M. 494; R., 25 C. 571, 2 O.C. 261, 24 B. 456; D., 9 C.W.N. 656.]

(10)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—"Court of competent jurisdiction."—The term "competent jurisdiction" in s. 13, Civ Pro. Code, has regard to the pecuniary limit as well as to the subject-matter. There no authority for the general proposition that the competency of one Court as compared with another is affected by the circumstance that in the one case an appeal lies in the first instance to the District Court, and in the other directly to the High Court. SUBBAMMAL v. HUDDLESTON, 17 M. 273. (9 C. 439, Cited and F.; 15 M. 111, Qualified) [Overruled, 29 M. 195, F.B.=16 M.L.J. 41=1 M.L.T. 25; F., 24 M. 444, 13 M.L.J. 134; R., L.B.R. 1893-1900, 653.]

(11)—Jurisdiction of the first Court.—The bar of res judicata arises where the Court deciding the first suit was competent to try the same, and its inability to entertain it arose not from incompetence, but from the existence of another Court with a preferential jurisdiction. GULAPPA v. RAGHVENDRA, 6 Bom. L.R. 77 =28 B. 338.

(12)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Competency of jurisdiction of Court.—The plea of res judicata ought to be determined with reference to the Court in which the suit was instituted and not to the Court which decided the suit on appeal. (5 C. 832, 8 M. 83, R.) The rule of res judicata cannot prevail, if the first suit had been brought in a Court of jurisdiction not competent to try the second. BHARASI LAL CHOWDHRY v. SARAT CHUNDER DASS, 23 C. 415. (9 C. 439, R.; 11 C. 301, F.) [F., 30 B. 220= 7 Bom. L.R. 821, 25 C. 571, 35 C. 353=12 C.W.N. 359=7 C.L.J. 470.]

(13)—Civ.Pro.Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata.—In order to establish the plea of res judicata the Court which decided the former suit must have been such a Court as would have been competent to try and decide not only the particular matter in issue in the subsequent suit but also the subsequent suit itself in which the issue is subsequently raised.(9 C. 439, P. C., 11 C. 301, P. C., Rel.; 24 B. 456, 24 M. 275, 29 C. 707, R.; 5 C. 832, Not F.) It is the competency of the original Court which decided the former suit that must be looked to and not that of the Appellate Court in which the suit was ultimately decided on appeal. SHIBU ROUT v. BABAN ROUT, 12 C.W.N.359=7 C L.J. 470=35 C. 353. (28 C. 78, D.; 8 M. 83, Nol F.; 25 C. 571, 10 C.W.N. 529, 23 C 415, R.) [R., 30 A. 470=5 A.L.J. 407=A.W.N. 1908, 192.]

(14)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 331—Claim of third party resisting delivery of possession—Investigation of claim by executing Court irrespective of value of property—Bengal, N.W.P. and Assam Civil Courts Act (XII of 1887), s. 19—Res judicata—Decision of former suit by Court competent to try subsequent suit.—S. 331, Civ. Pro. Code (1882) is not controlled by s. 19 of the Bengal Civil Courts Act. Therefore, when a claim has been preferred under s. 331 of the Code, it must be investigated by the Court executing the decree, irrespective of the value of the property.(6 Bom. L R. 301, F.; 8 M. 548, Not F.) S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, bars the trial of a subsequent suit, by reason of the decision in a former suit, only when such decision has been given by a Court of jurisdiction competent to try the subsequent suit. KADAMBINI DASI v. DAYARAM DAS, 5 Ind. Cas. 573=11 C.L.J. 478.

(15)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act X of 1877, s. 13 as amended by Act XII of 1879—"Finally decided by a Court of competent jurisdiction," meaning of.—The words "finally decided by a Court of competent jurisdiction" occurring in s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, make it necessary that the Court which decided an issue relating to title in a previous suit for rent, should have been competent to decide a suit for possession of the property, in order to make its decision upon that issue conclusive in a subsequent suit for possession; and a Court of competent jurisdiction under Act X of 1877, means a Court which has jurisdiction over the matter in the subsequent suit in which the decision is used as conclusive, or in other words a Court of concurrent jurisdiction. ABDUL RAHMAN v. MULA, 163 P.R 1883, F.B. (9 C. 439, 118 P. R. 1882, R.)

Res Judicata —continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(16)—Competency of Court —True test—S. 11, expl. II, Civ. Pro. Code, 1908.—The true test of the competency of a Court deciding the former suit or issue is not merely the jurisdictional powers of the original Court in which the previous suit was instituted, but the jurisdiction of that Court viewed in connection with the course of appeal allowed in that particular case and the degree of finality attaching to the decision of each of the Courts, original and appellate, which may be called upon to exercise jurisdiction in the case. SHAMAS DIN v. GHULAM KADIR, 20 P R. 1891 (F B.) (145 P. R. 1888. Overruled). [Disc., 54 P. R 1904; D., 111 P. R. 1907; R., 57 P. R. 1907, 97 P. R. 1910=142 P.W R. 1910.]

(17 & 18)—Competency of the Court in which suit was instituted.—In considering the competency of a Court for the purpose of deciding on a question of res judicata, one must look to the powers of the Court in which the suit was instituted and not to the powers of the Court by which that suit was decided on appeal. MALUBHAI v. SURSANGJI, 7 Bom. L.R. 821=30 B. 220.

(19)—Res judicata—Civ Pro. Code, s.13.—In order to make the decision of one Court final and conclusive in another, it must be the decision of a Court, which would have had jurisdiction over the matter raised in the subsequent suit, in which the decision is given in evidence as conclusive; and such jurisdiction must be such as not to be ousted by the pecuniary limits imposed on Courts in India. In other words the two Courts must have had concurrent jurisdiction. MISSER RAGHUBARDIAL v. SHEO BAKSH SINGH, 9 C. 439=12 C L.R. 520=9 I A. 197, P.C.=4 Sar. 395 [F., 17 M. 273; Appl., 11 C. 301, P C.=12 I.A. 23; R., 9 B. 75, 8 A 324, 13 B 224, 14 B 206, 15 M. 111, 35 C. 353=12 C W.N. 359=7 C.L.J. 470, 15 M 494, 16 A. 183=14 A W N. 18 16 A. 464, =14 A.W N. 137, 18 A 59, 23 C. 415, 25 C. 571, 24 B. 456, 28 C. 78, P L R. 1900, 431, 29 M 65, 29 M. 195, F.B.=1 M.L.T. 25=16 M.L J 41, 57 P.R. 1907=66 P.W.R. 1907.]

(20)—S. 13, Civ Pro. Code, 1882—Plea of res judicata.—Under s 13, a decree in a previous suit cannot be pleaded as res judicata in a subsequent suit, unless the Judge, by whom it was made, had jurisdiction to try and decide, not only the particular matter in issue but also the subsequent suit itself, in which the issue is subsequently raised. (N.B.)—In this respect the enactment goes beyond s. 13 of the previous Act X of 1877, and also beyond the law laid down by the Judges in the Duchess of Kensington's case (1776, 2 Smith's L.C. 10th Ed., 713). GOKUL MANDAR v. PUDMANUND SINGH, 29 C. 707, P.C.=29 I.A. 196 =6 C.W.N. 825=4 Bom. L.R 793=8 Sar. 823. [F., 25 A 138, 35 C. 353=12 C.W.N. 359=7 C.L.J. 470; Expl., 31 M. 62=17 M.L.J. 601 =3 M.L.T. 186; R., 10 C.L.J 527, 31 C. 95=8 C.W.N. 30 4 N.L.R. 61, 10 Bom. L.R. 1113, 11 Bom. L.R. 335; Diss., 29 A. 601=1907 A. W.N. 189=4 A.L J. 545]

(21)—Court of competent jurisdiction.—To satisfy the requirements of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, it is necessary that the two Courts shall have concurrent jurisdiction as regards the pecuniary limit as well as the subject-matter, and the extent of the jurisdiction depends on that of the Court in which the first suit was instituted at the time the first suit was brought. RAMDAYAL v. JANKIDAS, 2 Bom. L.R. 415=24 B. 456. [R., 7 C.L.J. 470=35 C. 353=12 C.W.N. 359.]

(22)—*S.*13, Civ.Pro. Code, 1882 - Res judicata —Earlier suit in a subordinate Court—Subsequent suit in a superior Court but triable by subordinate Court—Different courses of appeal. —S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, cannot be so used as to bind the superior Courts by decision of inferior Courts, which were not, and could not have been, considered on the merits by the superior Courts; and a decision by an officer presiding in a Court passed in the exercise of a certain jurisdiction cannot be res judicata in a subsequent case, triable by that officer, but not triable in the exercise of the same jurisdiction, but under what might be called a superior jurisdiction. Where an earlier suit was tried by a Subordinate Judge of the first class, which was also triable by a single Judge of the Chief Court, a subsequent suit before a single Judge of the Chief Court, on the same issue, which suit could be entertained by the Subordinate Judge also, would be barred by the earlier suit, although, the course of appeal would be different in the two cases. GIRDHAR LAL v DEOKI NANDAN, 111 P.R. 1907 (20 P.R. 1891, F.B., 27 P.R. 1879, 157 P.R. 1889, F.B., R.)

(23)—Civ Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11, Exps. 1, 2—Res judicata—Date of institution or date of decision—Competency of Court—Competency of first Court and not that of appeal determines res judicata.—The date of decision and not that of commencement of the litigation has to be considered in determining the question of res judicata. (11 A. 148, F.B., F.) The fact that an appeal lay to the Civil Court from the decision of a Revenue Court in one of the suits, and to the Commissioner in the other, cannot affect the question of res judicata. It is the competency of the Court of first instance to entertain the two suits, which regulates the application of the rule of res judicata. The application of the rule is irrespective of any provision as to the right of appeal from the decision of the Court of first instance. BENI MADHO v. MUNSHI INDAR SAHAI, 3 Ind. Cas. 707=6 A.L.J. 991.

Res Judicata —continued.

——4.—Competency of Court —continued.

(24)—Material issue tried by competent Court —Form different.—Trial by a competent Court of a material issue between certain parties bars a subsequent trial between them of the same question, though in a different form. KRISHNA BEHARI ROY v. BUNWARI LALL ROY, 1 C. 144, P.C.=25 W.R. 1=2 I.A. 283=3 Sar. 559 =2 Suther 213. (12 B.L.R. 304, R.; 1 B.L.R. A.C. 68, Overruled.) [Expl., 25 W.R. 225; F., 5 C. 832; Compare, 11 C. 301=12 I.A. 23, P.C., 6 C. 319=7 C.L.R. 227, F.B.; Cons., 4 C. 190=5 I.A. 149, P.C., 18 B. 597; D., 7 M. 145, 9 B. 75, 24 C. 83; R., 3 B. 3, 6 C. 406, 8 M. 219=12 I. A. 16, P.C., 8 M. 348, 11 M. 204, 13 B. 25, 13 M. 287, 15 B. 89, 17 A. 174, 6 Bom. L.R. 288, 12 C.W.N. 739, 9 C.L.J. 597.]

(25)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—"Court of Jurisdiction competent to try such subsequent suit."—Where both the suits were cognizable by a Munsif of the first class, and the appeal against the decrees in both the cases could be preferred to the Divisional Court, but, in consequence of the matter in dispute in the first suit having been referred to arbitration, no appeal lay, held that the matter decided in the first suit could not be re-opened, and that the decree based on the award operated as res judicata. MEHAR ALI v. GANESH DAS, 3 P. L.R. 1900. (20 P.R. 1891, F.B., D.)

(26)—Decision on question of title—Court of competent jurisdiction—Consideration of question of res judicata—Competency of what Court to be looked to.—The decision on a question of title by a Court of competent jurisdiction with reference to the value of the subject-matter involved in the suit, will be res judicata between the parties, though the effect of such decision might be the determination of the title to an estate or estates the value whereof exceeds the jurisdiction of the Court of institution. (1 C. 144=2 I.A. 283, R.) [R., 20 B. 86, 6 C. 406=7 C.L.R. 251.] In deciding upon a question of res judicata, the competency of the Court wherein the suit was instituted and not that of the Court in which it was decided on appeal has to be considered. Per White, J. TOPONIDHEE DHIRJ GIR GOSAIN v. SREEPUTTY SAHANEE, 5 C. 832=6 C.L.R. 305. [R., 6 C. 406=7 C.L.R. 251, 23 C. 415; F., 30 B. 220=7 Bom. L.R. 821; D., 35 C. 353=12 C.W.N. 359=7 C.L.J. 470.]

(27)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 14—Suit for land — Res judicata—Jurisdiction.—A former decision by the Courts in India confirmed by the Privy Council, adjudging the land in dispute to be an accretion to the respondent's settled estate in Shahabad, was held to be a bar, under s. 14, Act VIII of 1859, to the jurisdiction of the Ghazipore Courts to try the present suit for the same land. PAHALWAN SINGH v. MAHARAJA MUHESHAR BUKSH SINGH BAHADUR, 12 B.L.R. 391, P.C.=18 W.R. 182=2 Suther 660. [Appr., 6 C.L.J. 621.]

(28)—Act XX of 1866, s. 84—Res judicata.—A suit to have a registered Kobala declared fictitious and void as against plaintiff was held to disclose no good cause of action, seeing that, on a petition preferred according to the provisions of s. 84, Act XX of 1866, a competent Court had already decided that the defendant was entitled to obtain registration of the deed. RAM CHANDRA PAUL v. BECHARAM DEY, 8 B.L.R. App. 28 Note=10 W.R. 329. [Not F., 7 C. 736=9 C.L.R. 471; Expl., 8 B.L.R. App. 26=15 W.R. 487.]

(29)—Rent-suit—Decision of title—New Rent Law.—The rulings of the Privy Council and of the Full Bench regarding the incompetency of the Revenue Courts to conclusively determine questions of title in a suit for rent under Act X of 1859, do not apply to suits for rent instituted in a Civil Court under the New Rent Law. RAM DOSS NUSHKUR v. RASH MONEE DOSSEE, 25 W.R. 189.

(30)—Decision of rent suit by Deputy Collector—Determination of issue adversely to defendant—Suit by defendant relying on arrangement covered by issue—Res judicata.—Plaintiff sued the defendant, a zemindar, seeking for a decree by the Deputy Collector that, as regards the lands in question, he was, by the terms of a certain arrangement come to between him and the defendant, only liable to pay a rent of 42 rupees and odd. When, on a former occasion, the present defendant as zemindar sued the present plaintiff as tenant, plaintiff set up the very arrangement relied on by him in the present suit, and the Deputy Collector then decreed in favour of the plaintiff and determined, in express terms, adversely to the defendant, the issue that was then raised as to the abovementioned arrangement. Held that the very same issue having been tried between the same parties and by the same Court, the present suit was liable to dismissal as not maintainable again in that Court. KALEEDASS GHOSAL v. MUDDOOSOODUN ROY, 10 W.R. 465.

(31)—Suit for rent in Revenue Court—Dismissal—Another suit for damages in the Civil Court—Sustainability.—The dismissal of a suit for rent due on a putnee lease in the Revenue Courts bars another suit for damages to the same amount in the Civil Court. GOPAL KISTO MOOKERJEE v. MUDHOOSOODUN PAUL CHOWDHRY, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 82.

(32)—Suit by tenant for possession from alleged sub-lessee—Dismissal of previous suit against same person by Collector—Res judicata. —Plaintiff stated that he was a tenant entitled to the occupation of the suit-land, and that the defendant, who was the farmer representing the landlord, had dispossessed him from his land under a sub-lease extorted from the plaintiff by the defendant by force. It appeared that the plaintiff had, upon this very cause of action, sued the same defendant in the Court of the Collector, alleging that he had been illegally dispossessed from the land in dispute, and the Collector had dismissed the suit on the ground that the lease set up by the defendant was good and valid. It was against this very dispossession that the plaintiff brought the present suit before the Civil Court. Held, that the suit having once been dismissed by a Court of competent jurisdiction, could not again be entertained by the Civil Court. MR. F. HOLLOWAY v. ASMAN ROY, 10 W.R. 325.

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(33) — Court which tried first suit not competent to try subsequent suit — Rent suits.—A judgment of a Court not competent to try a subsequent suit in which the former judgment is pleaded as res judicata, is nevertheless the judgment of a Court of competent jurisdiction so as to operate as res judicata in the latter suit. [R., 9 B. 75.] The rule of res judicata ought to be held to apply to judgments in rent-suits, at least until interventions in such suits are authoritatively prohibited. RUN BAHADOOR SINGH v. LUCHO KOER, 6 C. 406=7 C.L.R. 251.

(34)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Rent Recovery Act—Decision of Revenue Court as to landlord's title.—The decision of a Revenue Court in a previous suit, that the defendant is the plaintiff's tenant, operates as res judicata in a subsequent suit when the plaintiff sues under s. 9 of the Rent Recovery Act, to enforce the acceptance of a patta, and the defendant denies the plaintiff's title as landlord. VENKATACHELLAPATI v. KRISHNA, 13 M. 287. [F., 30 M. 498=17 M.L.J. 433=3 M.L.T. 17; R., 2 M.L.J. 36, 30 M. 510=17 M.L.J. 518=2 M.L.T. 455.]

(35)—Suit for rent in Revenue Court—Applicability of rule of res judicata to proceedings in Revenue Courts—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13.—The Revenue Courts, in matters on which the Rent Act is silent, are bound by the rules of the Civ. Pro. Code. So a plea of res judicata is an essential principle applying to all adjudications by the Courts, and to that general rule, the jurisdiction of the Rent Act is no exception. The question whethe rthe defendants are tenants of plaintiff or hold the land as sir under an agreement in lieu of the profits of their zemindari share and without any liability to pay rent, is a matter which a Revenue Court is competent to try and decide for the purpose of adjudicating on a claim for rent which is brought in that Court, and the Revenue Court cannot, in a subsequent suit for rent for a subsequent year, try the same issue again. Whether or not the former adjudication affects the question as to title to the land between the parties, it operates as res judicata so far as the question of rent and the jurisdiction of the Revenue Court is concerned. The question of liability of the defendant to pay rent for a subsequent year may be raised on other grounds in a subsequent suit, but not on the one already heard and decided in the former suit. FATIMA BIBI v. SARJU SINGH, A.W.N. 1885, 159.

(36)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Question of title decided in former suit by Revenue Court—Former suit instituted wrongly in Revenue Court—Appeal to the Civil Court—Suit to be deemed as instituted in right Court.—In a suit for an annuity for certain years, the defendants denied the title of the plaintiffs. In a previous suit in the Revenue Court between the same parties for arrears of revenue of certain other years, it was decided, upon the admission of the defendant, that he was liable. Held, that the decision of the Revenue Court operated as res judicata upon the question of the title and the defendant was estopped from re-opening the question in the present suit and the plaintiffs were entitled to receive the amount of the annuity. DWARKA DAS v. AKHAY SINGH, 5 A.L.J. 407=A.W.N. 1908, 192=30 A. 470. [R., 30 A. 405, Note=5 A.L.J. 484=A.W.N. 1908, 185.]

(37)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Jurisdiction of Civil and Revenue Courts—Suits for profits in Revenue Court—Previous suit between the parties—Question of title decided adversely to the present plaintiff.—M sued for profits due to her as owner of a share in the mahal of which D was the lambardar. In a suit between the parties, it had been decided by a Civil Court of competent jurisdiction that M had no title to the share in question. D pleaded that M was not the owner, and the question of ownership was res judicata. The District Judge overruled the plea and decreed the claim, holding that the decision of the Civil Court in the previous suit could not operate as res judicata inasmuch as that Court could not have tried the present suit for profits. Held, that, when as between parties to the revenue suit, a Civil Court of competent jurisdiction has decided the title to the property adversely to the plaintiff, who claims profits, the Revenue Court is not competent to ignore that decision, and that decision being binding upon the Revenue Court, M's suit should be dismissed. DURGA SHANKAR v. GUR CHARAN, 2 A.L.J. 834=A.W.N. 1906, 1. (22 A. 1, F.B., R.) [R., 6 A.L.J. 145, F.B.; F., 31 A. 253, F.B.]

(38)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Suit for profits by under-proprietor—Jurisdiction, Civil and Rent Court's—Decree in terms of compromise.—Held, that the decision of a Civil Court on a question of proprietary title to land is binding upon a Rent Court in a subsequent suit between the same parties, or their representatives, even though that same question may have been previously determined by a Rent Court in a different manner; and when upon that question the Court has to choose between conflicting decisions of Civil and Rent

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

Courts, the decision of the Civil Court must be accepted as conclusive, provided that the conditions have remained unchanged. Held, further, that a decree passed in accordance with the terms of a compromise is binding upon the parties to the compromise and constitutes a res judicata. MUHAMMAD ISMAEL KHAN v. ABDUL RAHMAN KHAN, 2 O.C. 28. [Cons. and R., 7 O.C. 169.]

(39)—Previous decree of Revenue Court—Finding against defendant's istimirari rights—Subsequent suit not maintainable in Civil Court to establish such rights.—Plaintiff sued in this case for the establishment of his istimirari-talukdari rights, alleging his cause of action to arise from the decision by the Collector in a former suit for assessment brought under Act X of 1859. The High Court held that the present suit was not maintainable, as the issue raised in it was precisely the issue which was raised and determined in the former suit before the Collector, and, which the Collector was legally competent to decide. MAHOMED AZIM v. RAM KANT CHOWDHRY, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 101.

(40)—Competent Court--Suit in Reveuue Court to set aside attachment--Subsequent suit in Civil Court to assess rent on same land.—A suit was brought in the Revenue Court to set aside an attachment for rent, on the ground that such attachment was for rent at a higher rate than was due. The landholder claimed the higher rate under an alleged assessment of Batwara Ameen. The Collector made a decree setting aside the attachment, on the ground that the landholder failed to prove that the higher amount was due. Held that the landholder could not maintain a suit in the Civil Court to assess the land at the higher rate claimed for the year for which the attachment had issued, on the ground of prior service of notice of demand of the higher rate, under Bengal Regulation V of 1812, that question having been already adjudicated upon by a Court of competent jurisdiction. REAZOONNISSA KHANUM v. DOYANAUTH JHA, Marsh, 638.

(41)—Res judicata—Former suit under Act X of 1859—Subsequent suit in Civil Court.—Where the right to possession as evidenced by the title of the parties was in issue in a former case under Act X of 1859, and the right to possession as between the same parties under their several titles is also the point in issue in the present case in the Civil Court, the causes of action are identical in the two cases and the present suit is barred under s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859. TARA CHAND GHOSE v. RADA MONEE DOSSEE, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 9.

(42)—Question whether land is rent-free or liable to rent—Decision of Collector—Subsequent suit in Civil Court—Res judicata, plea of—Second appeal.—A decision of the Collector in a suit for rent brought by the Zemindar of a revenue paying estate against an under-tenant, to the effect that the disputed land is lakhiraj, is conclusive in a subsequent suit in a Civil Court for a declaration that the land is liable to pay rent. The High Court, in special appeal, ought not to refuse to allow a plea of res judicata to be taken before it, by reason of its not having been taken in the Courts below, if it is one which the lower appellate Court ought to have taken up and decided for itself. MOHESH CHUNDER BUNDOPADHYA v. JOYKISHEN MOOKERJEE, 15 B. L. R. 248, Note=22 W.R. 362.

(43)—Res judicata—Decision of Revenue Court—Subsequent Civil suit.—The plaintiff in this case was the proprietor of a resumed malik which he purchased from the former owners by a private sale. He took possession and ejected the defendants who brought a suit under the provisions of s. 23, Act X of 1859, to recover possession on the ground that they held the land under a potta from the plaintiff's vendor and that the period of the potta had not expired. The Collector found that they held the land under a potta as alleged by them and directed that they should be restored to possession. The plaintiff brought the present suit in a Civil Court to recover possession of the land, and to set aside the potta propounded by the defendants. Held that the present suit was res judicata on account of the previous decision by the Collector. HURO LALL SAHA v. SREE TIRTHANUND THAKOOR, 11 B. L. R. 437, Note=13 W.R. 417. [R., 11 B.L.R. 434.]

(44)—Act X of 1859, s. 27—Order of Collector for registration of Shikmee talookdars—Suit not maintainable in Civil Court to set aside.—Plaintiffs sued to set aside an order of registration made by the Collector under s. 27 of Act X of 1859 to register the names of the defendants as shikmee talookdars in the sherishta of the plaintiff. Held, that the determination of the Collector was a decision by a Court of competent jurisdiction and therefore the Court was precluded from taking cognizance of the present suit between the same parties, by s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859. MOONSHEE MAHOMED NOOR BUKSH v. MOHUN CHUNDER PODDAR, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 67.

(45)—Act X of 1859, s. 28—Reg. II of 1819, s. 30—Resumption and assessment of invalid Lakhiraj — Res-adjudicata. — That a ryot's holding was of a date prior to 1790 once decided in a zemindar's suit under s. 28, Act X of 1859, is a res adjudicata in a subsequent suit under s. 30, Reg. II of 1819, by a zemindar (not being an auction-purchaser). KALEEPERSHAD HOLDAR v. SREEMUTTY SOOBHOGEE DABEA, 1 W.R. 218.

(46)—Rent suit—Res judicata — Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869.—The decision of an ordinary Civil Court in a suit for rent cognizable under Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 is binding in a subsequent suit between the same parties, for a declaration that the land, the rent of which was the subject-matter of the former suit is lakheraj, which raises the same question in a different form. MOHIMA CHUNDER MAZOOMDAR v. ASRADHA DASSIA, 15 B.L.R. 251, Note = 21 W.R. 207. [F., 22 W.R. 362, 24 W.R. 403 = 1 C. 202; R., 15 B.L.R. 238; D., 9 B. 75]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(47)—Ss. 104 (2), 107, Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885).—A decision in a proceeding under s. 104 (cl. 2), Bengal Tenancy Act, in consequence of an application made by a landlord for the settlement of rent has, under s. 107, the effect of a decree. The matters decided by such a decision can only be re-opened on an appeal to the special Judge. DURGA CHURN LAL v. HATEEN MANDAL, 29 C. 252 = 6 C W. N. 238. (23 C. 257, 24 C. 711, D.)

(48)—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 106—A question decided by a Revenue officer under s. 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act is res judicata between the same parties in a subsequent suit in the Civil Court. JOYPAL DHOBI v. MOHUNT PALUKDHARI DAS, 2 C.W.N. 491. (21 C. 378, D.; 17 C. 721, Rel. on) [F., 27 C. 167; D., 30 C. 339]

(49)—Act XVIII of 1873 (N.W.P. Rent Act), s. 95, cl. (n)—Decision of title by Revenue Court—Res judicata.—The determination of a question of title by a Revenue Court, on an application under cl. (n), s. 95 of the Rent Act, by a dispossessed tenant, for recovery of the occupancy of land, is res judicata, and cannot again be raised in a Civil Court, as the Revenue Court could not have disposed of the application without determining such question of title. (Per Pearson and Turner, JJ.) Per Spankie, J., and Oldfield, J., contra. The jurisdiction of the Revenue Court in the matter of an application under cl. (n), s. 95 of the Rent Act, is confined to the determination of the immediate matter of the application, the dispossession of the tenant—otherwise than by law. SHIMBHU NARAIN SINGH v. BACHCHA, 2 A. 200, F.B. [F., 3 A. 81; Appr., 15 A. 387, F.B.; R., 7 A. 148, 18 A. 270, F.B.]

(50)—Settlement Officer—Determination of nature and extent of interest of holder of land—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts—Res judicata—N.W.P. Land Revenue Act, XIX of 1873, ss. 62, 241—N.W.P. Rent Act, Act XVIII of 1873, ss. 19, 95.—The determination by a Settlement Officer as to whether certain lands were held by a person as inferior proprietor at a fixed rent or as a lessee was held to operate as res judicata to the same question being raised in the Civil Courts. RUP SINGH v. SUKHDEO, A.W.N. 1882, 111. [Overruled, 7 A. 224, F.B.]

(51)—N.W.P. Land Revenue Act, s. 113—Decision of Revenue Court—Res judicata in subsequent civil suit—Civ Pro Code, s. 13.—The position given by law to Courts of Land Revenue when determining questions in dispute relating to titles or proprietary rights, under s. 113 of Act XIX of 1873, and passing decision thereon, is the position of a Court of civil judicature of first instance. Its decisions, therefore, have the operative power of those of a Civil Court, and will operative as res judicata under the provisions of s. 13 of the Civ Pro. Code, so as to bar the trial, in a subsequent civil suit, of the issues decided by it. HAR CHARAN SINGH v. HAR SHANKAR SINGH, 18 A. 59 = A.W.N. 1895, 164. [R., 5 A.L.J. 151 N., 6 A.L J. 917; D., A.W N. 1899, 190]

(52)—N.W.P. Land Revenue Act (XIX of 1873), ss. 113, 114, competency of Revenue Court to decide question of title to rent under—Subsequent civil suit barred by res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—On an application for partition of common land, under the N.W.P. Land Revenue Act, previously made by the defendant in the present suit, the present plaintiffs had unsuccessfully objected, in the Revenue Court, that the applicant had a right to share only with regard to the proportionate extent of their pattis and not to devide the land into as many equal shares as there were pattis. The present suit was thereon brought in the Civil Court to ascertain the rights of the plaintiffs in the common land. The contention raised by the defendant, on the ground that the proceedings in the Revenue Courts came within s. 113 of the Land Revenue Act (XIX of 1873) and that the decision therein was one under s. 114 of the same Act, was upheld and the suit was held to be barred by res judicata under s. 13 of the Civil Procedure Code, because the question of title or proprietary right had been raised and decided in the Revenue Court in its decision on the previous objection made before it by the present plaintiffs. AMIR SINGH v. NAIMATI PRASAD, 9 A. 388 = A.W.N. 1887, 53. [R., 17 C.P.L.R. 10, 129; D., 16 A. 464.]

(53)—Rent and Civil Court—N.W.P. Tenancy Act (II of 1901), ss. 58 and 199—Orders of ejectment.—When a Rent Court orders the ejectment of tenant upon one of the grounds mentioned in s. 58 of the Tenancy Act deciding itself under s. 199 of the Act the question of title against him, he is barred, by the rule of res judicata from opening the question of title in a Civil Court. SALIG DUBE v. DEOKI DUBE, 2 A.L.J. 334. (A.W.N. 1904, 100, Rel. on.) [F., 4 A.L.J. 53 = A.W.N. 1907, 6 = 29 A. 160.]

(54)—Bombay Act VI of 1862—Talukdari village—Alienation thereof—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 246—Act VI of of 1862 (Bom.) was not passed with the intention of, and furnishes no means for, enforcing forfeitures to Government occasioned by the non performance of conditions in what have been called leases from Government to the Talukdars, but for the purpose of relieving the Talukdars of their debts by vesting the management of their estates temporarily in an officer of Government who is, during that period of management (which could not in any case exceed twenty years—s. 16), to make an allowance out of the annual income of the estate for the decent support of the Talukdar and his family, and to apply the balance towards the liquidation and settlement of his debts and liabilities. A mere recital in an Act of Parliament "(and therefore in a Bombay Act)" either of fac or law is not conclusive, and the Court is at liberty to consider the fact or the law to be different from the statement in the recital " (per Lord Campbell, C. H, in Reg v. Haughton, (1 El. & Bl. 501, 516.) In Bombay Acts, recitals of facts of a public nature are only prima facie evidence of the truth of those facts. It is well-settled law that, if an enactment be good in part and bad in part, and the bad be divisible from the good, the latter shall be regarded as valid and binding. The effect of holding s. 21, cl. 1, in purporting to exclude the jurisdiction of Courts established by Royal Charter, to have been thus far ultra vires on the part of the Bombay Legislature, would have been simply to have left the jurisdiction of those Courts untouched. The rest of the Act is most easily separable from that provision, and was, therefore, not in anywise invalidated by it. The question has, however, recently been settled by the Legislature of India: Act XV of 1871, s. 26. Held, that the Talukdari Act (Bombay Act VI of 1862) did not affect Talukdari villages, the right title and interest of the Talukdar in which had been sold before that Act came into operation though possession of such villages had not then been obtained by the purchaser. The plaintiff, as mortgagee of a talukdari village, obtained against his mortgagors, the Talukdars, a decree for his dues to be realized by sale of the village, under which decree the village was attached with a view to a sale, on notice of which attachment the Collector presented a petition under s. 246 of the Civ. Pro. Code seeking a removal of the attachment and prevention of the sale. On the Collector failing to appear when the matter came on for adjudication, his application was dismissed. The village was then sold under the decree and was purchased by the mortgagee. When the mortgagee sought to obtain possession of the village, he was resisted by the Collector, whereupon, he after proceedings ineffectually taken by him under s. 269 of the Code, filed a suit against the Collector praying to be put in possession of the village. Held that the right of the mortgagee to be put in possession of the village was, as between him and the Collector, res judicata by reason of the dismissal of the Collector's application under s. 246 of the Code (to set aside which dismissal the Collector had not filed a suit within the year allowed for that purpose), and that the mortgagee ought, therefore, to have been at once put in possession of the village without further proof of his title. THE COLLECTOR OF AHMEDABAD v. SAMALDAS BECHARDAS, 9 B.H.C. 205 [R., 8 B. 105, F.B., 4 B. 611, 26 B. 757=4 Bom. L.R. 550.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(55)—Competency of Court to try subsequent suits.—A suit by a mortgagee for a declaration of his right to the fruit of trees standing on the land at the time of the mortgage is res judicata when such right had been decided by a competent Court in previous suit. MAHSUN ALI v. NIJABAT KHAN, 145 P.R. 1888 [Overruled, 20 P.R. 1891, F.B.]

(56)—Suit to establish right to standing crops on basis of title to land, not cognizable by Provincial Small Cause Court—Decision regarding genuineness of kobala.—A suit to establish right to standing crops on the basis of title to land on which they are grown is not cognizable by a Small Cause Court. (7 A. 142, 7 C 608, Rel. on) A decision regarding genuineness of a kobala operates as res judicata in a subsequent suit between the same parties with regard to the title to the same land, even though no issue on this point was distinctly raised in the former suit. DHAKHYANI DABEA v. DOLEGOBIND CHOWDHRY, 21 C. 430. (12 B.L.R 304, R.)

(57)—Civ Pro. Code, 1882, s. 43—Res judicata—Decision in a previous suit on original side—Subsequent suit on Small Cause side.—A decision in a previous suit on the original side of the Court may operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit on the SmallCause side of the Court between the same parties. RAJA SIMHADRI APPA ROW v RAMACHANDRUDU, 27 M. 63=13 M L J. 23. [Overruled, 29 M. 195, F.B.=16 M.L.J. 41=1 M.L.T. 25.]

(58)—Power of Calcutta Small Cause Court.—The Calcutta Small Cause Court has full power and authority to determine the question of title under a mortgage over attached property, and that question is res judicata as between the parties DENO NATH BATABYAL v. NUFFER CHUNDER NUNDY, 26 C. 778=4 C W.N 590. (18 C. 296, F.) [R., 34 C 823.]

(59)—Res judicata—Small Cause Court decision.—The decision in a small cause suit can operate as res judicata, when the question is litigated a second time in an original suit which admits of a second appeal. NAMASIVAYA GURUKAL v. KADIR AMMAL, 17 M. 168=4 M. L.J 31. [F, 18 M. 189; R., 29 M. 195=16 M.L J. 41=1 M.L.T. 25.]

(60)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Specific Relief Act I of 1877, s. 42—Suit for declaration as to membership of tarwad—Suit instituted in Subordinate Court—Prior suit in Munsif's Court—Valuation of suit to avoid jurisdiction—Maintainability of suit.—Plaintiffs instituted a suit in a Subordinate Court for a declaration that they and defendants had no community of interest with each other and were not members of a tarwad having joint property. Plaintiffs valued the tarwad property at Rs. 3,000. The defendants contended that the suit was barred by a former decision in the Munsiff's Court in which it was held that plaintiffs and defendants belonged to the same family, and that plaintiffs had enhanced the value of the tarwad property so that the present suit might be brought in the Subordinate Court and the effect of the

Res Judicata—continued.

—4.—Competency of Court—continued.

Munsiff's judgment as res judicata might be avoided. Defendants further contended that the suit was barred by s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act. Held that the value of a suit to have it declared that certian persons are or are not members of the tarwad is the value of the share of the tarwad property which would be allotted to them if a partition were made by consent. In this suit the value of the entire property being Rs. 3,000, the value of the plaintiff's 2/3 share was Rs. 2,000. Plaintiff's suit was therefore triable by the Munsiff and was consequently barred by the decision of the Munsiff in the former suit. Further, the suit was barred by s. 42, Specific Relief Act, as the plaintiffs, in addition to the declaration asked for, were in a position to ask for the further relief of possession of the portion of the property which was in the enjoyment of the defendants under a claim that they were members of the family. PANGA v. UNNIKUTTI, 24 M. 275. [R., 35 C. 353=12 C.W.N. 359=7 C.L.J. 470.]

(61)—Civ. Pro Code, s. 13—Decree of competent Court.—Where a person sues for recovery of certain immoveable property, and a third party intervenes by setting up a title under a gift (to this and some other properties) and is made a party, any adjudication, as to the title to the particular property in question becomes res judicata, as being the decision of a competent Court; but any adjudication as to the effect of the gift as a whole, set up by the third party, will not be binding in a subsequent suit based on the gift. PATHUMA v. SALIMAMMA, 8 M. 83. [Appr., 23 C. 415; R., 25 C. 571, 35 C. 353=12 C.W.N. 359=7 C.L.J. 470; D., 29 M. 65.]

(62)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Decision based upon points of law—Jurisdiction.—The plaintiffs, on the death of their father, continued a suit originally instituted by him for a declaration that the gift of certain property made to the defendant by her father was void beyond the lifetime of the donor. The Subordinate Judge gave a decree in favour of the plaintiffs, it was affirmed by the District Judge on appeal, and the Judicial Commissioner declined to interfere with it under s. 622 of the Civ. Pro. Code. The plaintiffs subsequently brought another suit against the defendant for possession of the gifted property, or, for a declaration of their title to it, in the Court of the Subordinate Judge, who gave a decree in their favour for possession of the property. The defendant appealed to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, because the value of the subject-matter of the suit being above Rs. 5,000, the decree of the Subordinate Judge was, under s. 18 of the Oudh Civil Courts Act, as the section now stands, appealable, not to the District Judge, but to the Judicial Commissioner. The principal point for determination was whether the decision of the District Judge in the first suit was, as regards the rights of the plaintiffs to succeed to the property of the donor and as to the validity of the gift by the donor to the defendant, res judicata. Held, that the dicision in the first suit was res judicata. The decision of the District Judge in the first suit was res judicata, notwithstanding that it was not appealable to the Judicial Commissioner; and it was none the less res judicata, because the District Judge could not try the appeal in the second suit, inasmuch as he could have tried it had it been preferred at the time when the appeal in the first suit was preferred. The word "competent" in s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, means competent to try with conclusive effect, with reference to the jurisdiction of Court at the time the first suit was brought. Held further, that a decision upon a particular matter in dispute is conclusive, so far as that dispute is concerned, although it proceeds upon the points of law; but the decision as regards the points of law is not conclusive, where a different matter is in dispute. Held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to possession of the property and to recover it without setting aside the gift. DHARMA v. BIKRAM SINGH, 2 O.C. 261. [R., 5 O.C. 181.]

(63) — Res-judicata — S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 — Ex parte decree—Court of competent jurisdiction — Fresh cause of action.—An ex parte decree may operate as res judicata when it becomes final by being executed, and the time for objections to set it aside has expired. It cannot be shown in a fresh suit that the defendants ha no notice of the previous claim when an application to set aside the decree had been rejected. It is always allowable in a subsequent suit, in which the plea of res judicata is set up, to show that the former decision was passed by a Court without jurisdiction. The word "Jurisdiction" as used in s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, means competency to entertain the suit with reference to its subject-matter and to the powers of the Court. A fresh suit, on a cause of action which has arisen since the decree was passed in the former suit and which is not affected by it, is not barred. CHUNI LAL v. MUSSAMMAT AMIR BIBI, P.L.R. 1900, p. 431. =39 P.R. 1900.

(64)—Court in the former suit ought to have had concurrent jurisdiction both as regards pecuniary limit and subject-matter—S. 209, Civ. Pro. Code, inapplicability of, to mortgage suits.—In a suit by a puisne mortgage for sale, brought in a Munsiff's Court for less than Rs.2,500, the prior mortgagee was made a party defendant under s. 85 of the Transfer of Property Act. The decree was to the effect that, out of the amount to be realised by the sale of the property, the prior mortgagee was to be paid the principal amount due on his mortgage and interest at the contract rate up to the date of the plaint in that suit and at 6 per cent. per annum from that date. The property was not sold in that suit because the decree amount was otherwise paid. The prior mortgagee now sued to recover the amount due on his mortgage with interest at the contract rate, and the whole amount having exceeded Rs. 2,500, the suit was instituted in the District Court. The District Judge held that the suit, so far as it concerned interest at the rate higher than 6 per cent. per annum, which was the amount awarded in the previous suit, was barred by res judicata by reason of the prior decree. Held, there was no bar by res judicata: Per Subrahmania Ayyar, J.—The doctrine of res judicata would not apply because the Munsiff in the previous suit was not a Court of competent jurisdiction to decide the subsequent suit, which was beyond his pecuniary jurisdiction; further, though the subject-matter, viz., the mortgaged property was the same in both the suits, the matters of relief were different, because, for the doctrine to apply the Court must have had concurrent jurisdiction both as regards the pecuniary limit and the subject-matter (9 I.A. 197, 12 I.A. 23, F.); on the contention that, when the prior suit was decided, the present plaintiff's claim was limited to an amount below Rs.2,500, though, by the addition of subsequent interest it went over Rs 2,500, held that the augmentation of the claim by subsequent interest will prevent the operation of estoppel. (10 C. 697, 8 M. 83, D) Obiter—The awarding of the subsequent interest on plaintiff's mortgage in the previous suit was perhaps in the exercise of the discretion of the Court under s. 209, Civ. Pro. Code, which, however, does not apply to mortgage suits. Per Sankaran Nair, J.—There was no judicial determination in the previous suit that the present plaintiff was only entitled to subsequent interest at 6 per cent. per annum. The rate was fixed as a matter in the discretion of the Court. Further, that rate was recoverable by the present plaintiff only if the property had been sold in execution in that suit. That decision did not prevent the present plaintiff's enforcing his contract rate in a suit of his own. GIRIYA CHETTIAR v. SABAPATHY MUDALIAR, 29 M. 65.

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(65)—Plea of res judicata—Competency of Court.—The plea of res judicata in a suit cannot prevail when the former judgment relied on was that of a Court not competent to try the subsequent suit. VALIAPPA NAYAR v. PARU NETHIAR, 9 M.L J. 196.

(66)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Court of Rajah of Independent Tipperah, not competent Court.—The Court of the Rajah of Independent Tipperah is not a competent Court within the meaning of s. 2, Act VIII of 1859 MAHOMED AHMED v. ALIBUR GAZEE, 10 W.R. 337.

(67)—Evidence— Genuineness of document—Magistrate's view whether binding on Civil Court.—A Civil Court is not bound to adopt the view of a Magistrate as to the genuineness or otherwise of a document. NITYANUND SURMAH v. KASHENATH NYALUNKER, 5 W. R. 26. [R., 23 C. 610.]

(68)—Evidence—Suit for damages — Conviction.—A conviction in a criminal case in respect of an act is not conclusive in a civil suit for damages in respect of the same act. BISHONATH NEOGY v. HURO GOBIND NEOGY, 5 W. R. 27. [R., 23 C. 610.]

(69)—Suit for custody of wife—Adjudication of criminal Court on question of marriage—Res judicata.—In a suit for the custody of one S, alleged by the plaintiff to be his wife, held the fact that, in a criminal case under s. 480, I.P. C., brought by the plaintiff against the defendant, the Court had found that the plaintiff was not the lawful husband of S, did not operate as res judicata on the question of marriage. GHOLAM HOSEIN v. MAHOMED KHAN AND MUSSUMMAT SARDARI, 56 P.R. 1877.

(70)—Competent Court—Agent to Governor-General, Court of—Ben. Reg. XIII of 1833, s. 2—Order of Agent previous to the Regulation.—By Reg. XIII of 1833, s. 2, the Courts of Dewany Adawlut of zillahs Ramghur and Jungle Mehals were abolished. By the fourth section, the administration of civil and criminal justice was vested in an officer appointed by the Governor-General in Council, to be denominated agent to the Governor-General. By the 5th section authority was conferred on the Governor-General to determine in Council, inter alia, "to what extent the decision of the Agent in civil suits shall be final." In 1834, by an order of the Governor-General, it was ordered that no appeal should lie from the orders of the Agent to the Sudder Court. Held that the order of an Agent within the districts to which the Regulation applied, made previous to the passing of the Regulation, declaring A to be the rightful heir of B, was not affected by the Regulation, and was not judicial in its nature; and that therefore, in a subsequent suit relating to the inheritance to the same property, the heir of A could not set up the order as conclusive. BINODE KOOMAREE v. PURDHAN GOPAL, Marsh 80 = W.R. F.B. 26 = 1 Hay 148.

(71)—Trial of first suit without jurisdiction—Effect of decision on such trial on second suit based on same cause of action— Political expediency, on ground for dismissal of suit—Jurisdiction of High Court to transfer suit from file of Agent to Governor at Vizagapatam—Consent of parties, how far cures defect of jurisdiction.—A suit filed in the Court of the Agent of the Governor at Vizagapatam was transferred by the High Court (on the motion of the defendant and without any opposition on the part of the appellant) to the District Court of Vizagapatam. That Court dismissed the suit on the ground that the evidence in the case did not support the plaintiff's claim. The decree became final, no appeal having been preferred against it. Later on, the High Court of Madras held (23 M. 329, R.) in connection with some other proceedings, that it had no jurisdiction to order the transfer of a suit from the file of the Court of the Agent to the Governor at Vizagapatam and that no amount of consent of the parties could cure the defect of jurisdiction. Thereupon, the unsuccessful plaintiff in the first suit filed a suit in the Court of the Agent to the Governor basing it on the cause of action on which the first suit had been based and treating the decree of the District Court as a mere nullity because the trial was without jurisdiction, the transfer of the suit to that Court being, in its inception, one without jurisdiction. The Agent dismissed the suit on the ground of res judicata. An appeal preferred to the Governor of Madras in Council was dismissed on the ground of res judicata, as also on the ground that to allow it would be politically inexpedient. On appeal to the Privy Council, held, (1) that the decision of the District Court in the first suit did not operate as res judicata, because the District Court had no jurisdiction at all to try the suit, the transfer thereof to such Court being, according to the subsequent view of the High Court, one without any jurisdiction and (2) that the legal right to bring a suit and to have it determined by the proper Court created for the purposes of determining such suits, cannot be based upon considerations of policy or expediency which were urged by the Governor-in-Council in his judgment under appeal. SRI VIKRAMA DEO MAHARAJALU GARU v. GUNAPURAM DEENABHANDHU PATNAICK, 9 C.W.N 257=7 Bom L.R. 97=2 A.L.J. 135 =28 M. 42, P.C.=32 I.A. 45=8 Sar. 763.

Res Judicata—continued.

— 4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(72)—Jurisdiction - Consent of decree ultra vires—Plea of res judicata—Competency of inferior Court to ignore decree of superior Court.—Where the jurisdictional value of a suit was over Rs. 5,000 but the Divisional Judge entertained an appeal and passed a consent decree, and the same was subsequently pleaded as a bar to another suit. Held, (i) that the plaintiff was entitled to ignore the consent decree as a nullity and the defect in jurisdiction was not curable by consent of parties; (ii) (a) that the Divisional Judge had not definitely decided that he had jurisdiction, but under a mistake of fact assumed a jurisdiction he did not possess. However, (b) that "even if the Divisional Judge had definitely decided the point of jurisdiction, there was no impropriety in a decision by an inferior Court to the contrary not in the same but in a collateral proceeding." Accordingly, that the consent decree was no bar to the suit. PARWA v. MUSST. SANGARAN, 37 P.R. 1903. (80 P.R. 1893, 13 B. 650, R.; 9 A. 191=14 I.A. 160, P.C., F.)

(73)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Suit cognizable by inferior Court—Opinion on unnecessary issues.—In a suit before the Munsif for recovery of land, the value of which was under Rs. 1,000, it appeared that the plaintiff had previously brought his suit for the same land in the Court of the Subordinate Judge, and the Subordinate Judge had framed issues (1) as to the value of the suit and (2) as to the sanity of the plaintiff and his possession of the property, taken evidence on all the issues and dismissed the suit on the first issue, but expressed his opinion that the other issues also should be decided against the plaintiff. Held, that there was no decision in the first suit upon the issues raised in the case, other than the issue as to the valuation of the suit, so as to operate as res judicata. RAM GOBINDJHA v. MUNGUR RAM CHOWDHRY, 13 C.L R. 83. (25 W.R 219, 5 C. 188, D.)

Res Judicata—continued.

—4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(74)—Previous suit cognizable by Munsif tried and determined by him—Subsequent suit cognizable only by Sub-Judge and tried by him.—The judgment in the former suit, cognizable by the Munsif and tried and determined by him is no bar as res judicata to the trial of the subsequent suit cognizable by the Subordinate Judge and tried by him. HARIDAS ACHARJIA CHOWDHRY v. BARODE KISHORE ACHARJIA CHOWDHRY, 27 C. 38=4 C.W.N. 87.

(75)—Res judicata—Property within jurisdiction of different Courts - Splitting of claim—Different suits.—The decision of the Lucknow Civil Court in the former suit in respect of property situated within its jurisdiction is no bar to the present suit for the property situated at Allahabad. There could not, under the circumstances under which the former suit was tried in the Lucknow Civil Court, be legally any adjudication in respect of the property situated at Allahabad, and the decree passed by the Lucknow Civil Court cannot be executed in respect of that property. There was no splitting of the claim as far as the plaintiff was concerned as he sued in the former suit for his share in the entire estate situate in Lucknow and Allahabad. THAKOOR PERSHAD v. KALIKA PERSHAD, 2 Agra 104.

(76)—Civ. Pro. Code (XIV of 1882), ss. 13, 43—Suits under hypothecation bond—Previous suit in Court without jurisdiction in respect of hypotheca—Subsequent suit in proper Court to enforce security, not barred by res judicata or s. 43.—The holder of a hypothecation bond instituted a suit, to recover the principal and interest thereunder, in a Court having jurisdiction, over the obligor's place of residence, where the bond had been executed, but not over the locality wherein the hypotheca was situate He asked, however, for a decree against the property as well as against the defendant personally. Awarding the plaintiff a personal decree in respect of the interest accrued under the bond, the Court dismissed the rest of his claim. The fact that he had prayed in his plaint for enforcement of the security, a relief which the Court had no jurisdiction to grant, could not preclude him from afterwards suing for such relief in a competent Court. The matter could not operate as res judicata under s. 13 of the Civil Procedure Code, since the above Court was not one of competent jurisdiction to have tried the suit, so far as it related to the relief against the hypotheca. Further, the plaintiff had a right to sue the obligor for the debt under the bond in the Court in whose jurisdiction the mortgagor resided, and the mere fact that in such suit he erroneously claimed the relief, against the hypotheca, which the Court had no jurisdiction to give, would not bring him within the bar of s 43 of the Code. NARASINGA RAU v. VENKATANARAYANA, 16 M. 481.

Res Judicata -continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(77)—Will—Letters of Administration—Suit by widow—Legatee made party—Subsequent grant of Letters of Administration—Suit by legatee—Whether doctrine of res judicata applicable.—B executed a Will and died leaving him surviving his widow (defendant No. 1), his second sister (plaintiff) and a son of his third sister, defendant No. 3. Under the Will, plaintiff was entitled to the estate of B, and defendant No. 3 was the executor who took possession of the estate after B's death. The widow then brought a suit for possession against the nephew and the sister. The latter in her written statement said that she had heard of a will under which she was entitled to the property left by B. The widow then entered into a compromise with the nephew executor, and a decree by consent was made against the latter and an ex parte decree was made against the sister. The sister then obtained Letters of Administration with the copy of the Will annexed and sued to recover possession on the strength of her title as legatee: Held, that this suit was not barred by res judicata, that the Court in which the first suit was brought was not competent to determine the question of the genuineness of the Will, and as Letters of Administration were not then in existence, it was impossible for the plaintiff to establish her title thereunder. A litigant is not bound to assert his title under a Will till it has been proved. AKHIL SUNDARI DASI v. NANIBALA DASI, 8 Ind. Cas. 28.

(78)—Res judicata — Court of competent jurisdiction—Finding by District Munsif—Not res judicata in suit before District Court —Performance of service—Rights and duties—Difference between—Power to fine subordinates — Strict proof — Costs — Apportionment.—Where, in a prior suit before the Court of District Munsif, the plaintiff's right to the Dharmakartaship was found against, and where in the present suit before the District Court, the same question arose; Held, that the finding in the prior suit did not operate as res judicata. The term 'Dharmakarta' as ordinarily understood in the phraseology of religious institutions practically means trustee. (22 M. 189, R.) Where the plaintiff laid no claim to trusteeship with the defendant or any trusteeship at all, and where he simply claimed that he is entitled to the designation of 'Dharmakartha' (the phrase being used in a special and restricted sense), and that with the designation go certain rights and duties of the kind usually associated with the office of 'Dharmakartha' in its conventional acceptation, held, that the term 'Dharmakarta' is susceptible of this limited interpretation (29 C. 707, R.). The distinction between rights and duties is, in most cases, a distinction without a difference There is such a thing as right to perform a duty; where a duty is cast upon a man in virtue of his connection with an institution or an abstract personality (as distinguished from a specific individual who might absolve him from performance), and where it is primarily for the benefit of such an institution or personality, he may reasonably claim the aid of law to prevent his being obstructed in the performance of the same. On the other hand, in conceding such a right, it must be borne in mind that it is granted in the interests of the institution or abstract personality and not of the individual claiming it, and that, where the right has ceased to be beneficial to the former, it should be refused The right to fine a subordinate should be strictly made out and is by no means to be presumed to attach to the superior office. Owing to the peculiar nature of the disputes and the necessarily arbitrary manner in which items had to be valued in this case, held, it is equitable to direct each party to bear his own costs. SRIMAT PARAMAHAMSA PARIVRAJAKACHARYA PERIA KOIL KELVI APPAN SATAGOPA RAMANUJA PEDDA JIYANGAR VARU v. PRAYAGA DOSSJI VARU, 10 M.L.T. 133=21 M.L.J. 730.

Res Judicata—continued.

—— 4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(79)—Decision of Revenue Court - No res judicata in civil suit.—The decision of a Revenue Court does not operate as res judicata in a civil suit. OLIVER v. MARKANDA AIYAN, 3 M.L.J. 263. (7 M. 61, R.)

(80)—Title, Suit for declaration of—Registration of plaintiff's vendor's name as joint sharer —Estoppel.—A decree by the Revenue Courts to register the name of the vendor of the plaintiff in a suit for a declaration of title, as a joint sharer of the estate and the not taking of any steps during 12 years to set aside that decree cannot operate as an estoppel NITTANUND ROY v BYDONATH MOHAPATTUR, W.R. 1864, 350.

(81)—Res judicata—Suit by lessee in Revenue Court—Subsequent suit by another lessee in Civil Court.—Where a lessee sued the zemindar in the Revenue Court for possession and obtained a decree, and the present plaintiff was not a party to that suit, the decree passed in that suit would be no bar to the maintenance by the plaintiff, another lessee, of the present suit in the Civil Court to obtain possession against both the zemindar and the first lessee. RUN SINGH v. MAHOMED ABID, 2 Agra 127.

(82)—Suit for rent in Revenue Court—Dismissal—Subsequent suit in Civil Court to establish title and possession with mesne profits—Maintainability.—The dismissal of a suit for rent brought in a Court of Revenue is no bar to a subsequent suit by the plaintiff in the Civil Court for establishing his title and for obtaining possession with mesne profits. GOUR HUREE DOSS v. MUTTEEOOLLAH, 1 W.R. 99.

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(83)—Former suit in Court not competent to try subsequent suit.—The judgment in a suit which decides merely questions of rent, pronounced by a Court not having jurisdiction to decide the question of title to the property itself, cannot be regarded as res judicata in a subsequent suit brought to decide the question of title. RAJAH KEHTER KRISTO MITTER v. KUMAR DINENDRA NARAIN ROY, 3 C.W.N. 202. (12 I.A. 23, F.)

(84) — Res judicata — Entries in revenue papers, based on possession—Question of title raised in Civil Court.—Where the Revenue Court refused to amend an entry in the revenue papers, such adjudication, being necessarily based solely on the fact of possession, cannot operate as res judicata on a question of title subsequently raised in a Civil suit. KALIANI v. DASSU PANDE, 20 A. 520 =A.W.N. 1898, 136. (19 A. 452, R.) [R., 23 A. 360, 23 A. 481.]

(85)—Decision on title by Revenue Court—Denial of tenancy—Payment of rent—Estoppel.—The decision by a Revenue Court in favour of the existence of the relation of landlord and tenant, in a suit in which such relation is denied and an independent title claimed, is no bar to a civil suit based on such title. [Diss., 13 M. 287; R., 26 A. 468=A.W.N. 1904, 109.] Payment of rent in pursuance of a decision passed without jurisdiction by a Revenue Court, and omission to appeal from such decision, do not estop a person from denying his tenancy or asserting his title before a Civil Court. DEBI PRASAD v. JAFER ALI, 3 A. 40.

(86)—Decrees of Revenue Courts.—The circumstances of the holding of a tenant may vary in each year, and the power to sue in Revenue Courts, to enforce the acceptance of a patta, is limited to the contract for the year, for which patta is issued, so that a decree, obtained by the landlord in a previous year, enforcing the acceptance of a patta, is no bar to a suit by the tenant, for a declaration of the rates for the next fasli. A Revenue Court in this Presidency, has no power, in suits for the enforcement of the acceptance of the patta, to determine title otherwise than incidentally to the limited jurisdiction conferred on it. RAMA v. TIRTASAMI, 7 M. 61. [F., 17 M. 106; R., 3 M.L.J. 263, 20 M. 392, 21 M. 482, F.B.; D., 13 M. 287.]

(87)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Decision of Revenue Court—Second suit on title in Civil Court.—The decision by a Revenue Court of a question of title is merely incidental and no bar to a fresh suit on title in a Civil Court. GANGARAJU v. KONDIREDDISWAMI, 17 M. 106=4 M.L.J. 24. (7 M. 61, R.) [F., 124 P.L.R. 1908=73 P.W.R. 1908=12 P.R. 1909; R., 20 M. 392, 17 M.L.J. 553; D., 21 M. 482, F.B.]

(88)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Question of title in rent-suit.—A decision in a rent-suit brought by a plaintiff against a person, who i alleged to have been his tenant in respect of certain land, does not operate as res judicata in subsequent suit brought by the same plaintiff for establishment of title to his land, not only against the tenant, but also against the person whose title as landlord the tenant defendant had set up in the rent-suit. DWARKANATH ROY v. RAM CHAND AICH, 26 C. 428, F.B.=3 C.W.N. 266 [F., 6 C.W.N. 66; R., 54 P.R. 1904, 10 C.W.N. 820.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(89)—Revenue Court—Decision as to rent—Declaration of title, Suit for, in Civil Court—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.—Notwithstanding the decision of a Revenue Court that, for a certain year, a party is liable as another's tenant for rent of certain lands, the tenant is at liberty to sue in a Civil Court to obtain a declaration of title on his general civil rights, either as proprietor by purchase or mokuraridar. The decision of the Revenue Court on title is binding only for the purposes of the rent suit. JUDDOONATH SEIN v. RAM COOMAR CHATTERJEE, 9 W.R. 359. [R., 18 A. 270= A.W.N. 1896, 59, F.B.]

(90)—Revenue Court—Determination of title—Civil Court—Res judicata.—In previous proceedings before a Revenue Court between the same parties, the Revenue Court had to decide whether the appellants were entitled to any share of the produce of a grove and whether any such share was paid in past years. For the respondents, it was contended that the trees stood on a portion of a rent-free plot, and though the land had been resumed and assessed, the grove was not. The respondents also contended that they owned the groves. The Revenue Court had held that they owned the trees. Held that this finding of the Revenue Court did not bar the present suit to try the question of right, with which the Revenue Court had only been incidentally concerned, not being a competent Court to determine questions of title except as to land and between persons making conflicting claims thereto. LALA MAL v. SALAR BAKHSH, A.W.N. 1881, 82. (2 A. 260, D.)

(91)— Revenue Court deciding question of title—Res judicata.—A question of title which has been decided in a Rent Court and which it was absolutely necessary for the Rent Court to decide before it could come to a decision between the parties to the case before it, may again be litigated in a civil suit RANI KISHORI v. RAJA RAM. 26 A. 468. (3 A. 40, 2 A. 428, 6 A. 403, A.W.N. 1902, 220, R.; A.W.N. 1901, 49, 19 A. 101, D.) [R., 7 C. L. J. 202; D., 5 A. L. J. 407=A. W. N. 1908, 192 = 30 A. 470.]

(92)—Question of title incidentally tried in revenue suit—Decision of Revenue Court declaring invalidity of title, no bar to suit in Civil Court to establish title.—The Principal Sudder Ameen had proceeded on the ground that a decision of a Deputy Collector under Act

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

X of 1859, incidentally trying a question of title for the purposes of a suit under that Act, was final and conclusive, but, the High Court was of opinion that he was in error with respect to the weight which he allowed to such a decision, which could not be deemed to be final but to be good only for the purpose of that suit and not capable of precluding the institution of a suit in the Civil Courts founded upon a title declared bad by the Revenue Court's decision. DOSS MONEE DOSSEE v. HURONATH ROY, 4 W.R. 2.

(93)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, present Code)—Res judicata—Title, question of, raised in a rent suit.—Where the question of title was not directly and substantially in issue between the parties in the previous suit for rent in which the issue was as to whether the relation of landlord and tenant existed between the parties, the decision in the rent-suit does not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit brought by the same plaintiff for establishment of his title. NITYA NUNDA SARKAR v. RAM NARAIN DAS, 6 C.W.N. 66. (26 C. 428, F.; 15 C. 756, D.) [F., 54 P.R. 1904.]

(94)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Rent Court deciding question of title.—Although it is necessary for an Assistant Collector hearing a suit for profits, or for rent, or any suit which under the Rent Act he is competent to hear, to decide every question, whether of title or otherwise, which may be raised before him, he decides such questions only incidentally and for the purpose of arriving at a correct decision on the matter in dispute between the parties litigating before him, such a decision, however carefully and conscientiously arrived at, cannot be treated as res judicata in a subsequent suit in which the proprietary title to the land, the profits of which were in dispute before him, is in question. ASHRAF-UN-NISSA v. ALI AHMAD, 26 A. 601. [R., 27 A. 569=A.W.N. 1905, 103=2 A L.J. 283, 6 A.L.J. 527 ; D, 30 A. 470=5 A.L.J. 407=A.W.N. 1908, 192.]

(95)—Collector's decision with regard to possession, civil suit to try title not barred by.—A decision passed by a Collector on a question of possession and of the right to receive rent, does not bar an action in the Civil Courts to try the title of the parties. KALI DASS GHOSE v. CHANDRA MOHINI DASI, 8 W.R. 68.

(96)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 2—Rule in Duchess of Kingston's Case—Applicability to India—Judgment of Revenue Court—Res judicata.—There is nothing technical or peculiar to the law of England in the rule laid down in the Duchess of Kingston's case. A, as vendee of certain property, brought a suit in the Revenue Court against B the vendor for arrears of rent, the claim being based on a kabuliyat. B set up an ikrarnamah (said to have been simultaneously executed with the sale deed) under which he claimed to hold a certain portion of the land rent-free. This ikrarnamah was denied by A. The kabuliyat not having been proved, the suit was dismissed by the Revenue Court which held the ikrarnamah to be valid. B subsequently sued for redemption contending that the sale-deed and the ikrarnamah simultaneously executed constituted a mortgage. The question arose whether the finding in the previous suit with respect to the ikrarnamah was not res judicata and whether A could not question its validity. Held that there was no question of res judicata. The ultimate decision of the claim for rent did not turn upon the validity of the ikrarnamah. But if the judgment of the Revenue Court had been final in the matter before it, its incidental finding that the ikrarnamah was a valid instrument would not be conclusive between the parties and its decision was not that of a Court competent to adjudicate on a question of title, for, it had only a special jurisdiction to try summary suits for the recovery of rent. KHUGOWLEE SINGH v. HOSSEIN BUX KHAN, 7 B. L. R. 673=15 W. R. P. C. 30=5 M.L.J. 146=2 Sar 645=2 Suther. 404. [R., 19 W. R 322, F.B., 24 W. R. 154, F. B.=15 B.L.R. 238, 6 C. 406=7 C. L. R. 251. 9 C. 439, 9 B. 75, 18 A. 270, 7 C. L. J. 202]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(97)—Suit for rent, dismissal of, for want of jurisdiction—Subsequent suit for declaration of right to rent, whether maintainable in Civil Court.—A previous suit for rent brought in the Collector's office had been dismissed on the ground that plaintiff did not show himself to be the de facto landlord in possession and that the Revenue Court had therefore no jurisdiction. The right to rent had not ever been tried in the Revenue suit and the High Court was of opinion that there was thus no reason why the declaration of right to rents for the future should not be asked for in the Civil Courts. DHURONY MOJOOMDAR v. BISSAMBUR MOOKERJEE, 2 W.R. Act X, Rul. 103.

(98)—Surety on behalf of lessee—Suit against lessee and surety in Revenue Court—Subsequent suit in Civil Court against surety.—A lessee's wife became security for the rent. On default in payment of the rent, the lessor sued the lessee and the surety in the Revenue Court and got a decree for the amount. But the High Court set aside the decree as against the surety, holding that the Revenue Court had no jurisdiction under Act X of 1859. Subsequently, the lessor sued the surety in the Civil Court. Held that the proceedings instituted in the Revenue Court were no bar to the entertainment of the present suit against the surety. MUSSUMAT RANEE GUNESH KOOER v. MUSSUMAT OOMDUT-OON-NISSA BEGUM, 6 N.W.P. 77.

(99)—Jurisdiction—Civil Court—Suit for declaration of ryot's title as lakherajdar—Decree for rent in Revenue Court—Res judicata.—A suit was filed in a Revenue Court against a ryot for arrears of rent under a kabuliyat. The ryot pleaded that the land was lakheraj. The Court, however, passed a decree for rent against the ryot. Now the ryot brought the suit in the Civil Court for a declaration of his title as lakhirajdar in certain land. Held that the Civil Court had jurisdiction to re-open the question and try the suit. The decision of the question of the ryot's title in the Revenue Court is not final and conclusive. TARA CHAND MYTEE v. NILAMBUR MUNDUL, 3 W. R. 227. [R., 12 C.L.R. 38.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(100)—Evidence—Chitta—Admissibility—Res judicata—Rent suit—Subsequent title—Suit.—A decision in a rent suit does not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit brought for establishment of title to land HARI NARAIN v. KHETRA SARDAR, 8 Ind. Cas. 715. (10 C.W.N. 820, 26 C. 428, 3 C.W.N. 266, R.)

(101)—Civ Pro. Code, Act XIV of 1882, s 13—Tender of patta—Revenue Court.—The decision of the Revenue Court in summary proceedings on a question of tender of pattas is not res judicata in a suit in a Civil Court for rent for the same fasli, for the Revenue Court is not competent to try the subsequent suit. RANGAYYA APPA RAU v. RATNAM, 20 M. 392. [R., 21 M. 482, F.B., 31 M. 62=3 M.L.T. 186 =17 M L.J. 601 ; D., 27 M. 65.]

(102)—Act VIII of 1859—Suit for rent—Jurisdiction of Collector—Res judicata.—In a suit brought in the Collector's Court for rent, the defendant, the tenant, set up a mukurrari patta which the Collector disbelieved. Held that that was not conclusive in a second suit in the ordinary Civil Court between the same parties in which the mukurrari patta was again put forward inasmuch as the Collector had no jurisdiction to try the question of mukurrari right between the parties otherwise than so far as it might be incidental to the question of rent due or not due which was before him. MEER BABUR ALI v. SHAIKH DOWLUT ALI, 15 B.L.R. 242, Note=19 W.R. 217. [R., 15 B.L.R. 238.]

(103)—Enhancement of rent—Decree fixing no term—Effect—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Suit for kabuliat—Subsequent suit for declaration of right to hold land in lieu of maintenance.—Where a decree in a suit for a kabuliyat at an enhanced rent fixes no term, the kabuliyat executed is inoperative after the year is out. As a suit for a declaration of the plaintiff's right to hold the lands in dispute in lieu of maintenance on payment of quit-rent to the Zemindar, cannot be tried by a Collector, a suit of this nature and a suit for delivery of a kabuliyat do not and cannot arise out of the same cause of action, and the question of res judicata does not arise in such suits. RAJAH KRISTO CHUNDER MURDRAJ v. POOROSUTTUM DOSS, 15 W.R. 424.

(104)—Decree passed by Court without jurisdiction, not operative as res judicata barring subsequent suit.—In this suit for enhanced rent, the Deputy Collector dismissed the claim for enhancement, and on appeal wrongly taken to the Collector, whereas it lay to the Judge, the plaintiff's claim was decreed in full. On an attachment for rent at the new enhanced rate, plaintiff instituted the present suit to remove it. The Deputy Collector dismissed the claim. Plaintiff appealed to the District Judge who dismissed the appeal. On special appeal, the High Court held that the lower Court's view of the decision of the Collector in appeal was erroneous, the same being without jurisdiction and therefore not binding on the parties. The present claim to remove the attachment based on the decree in such appeal to the Collector, which was without jurisdiction, was therefore one which should have been tried and disposed of on the merits. KALKA PARSHAD v. KANHAYA SINGH, 7 N.W.P. 99. [F., 9 C.W.N. 956=2 C.L.J. 384 ; R., 38 C. 639.]

(105)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro Code, s. 13—Application to eject tenant for building on land—Suit for demolition of building.—The decision of a Revenue Court, disallowing an application by the landlord to eject a tenant because he has built on the land, cannot bar, under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, a suit in the Civil Court to have the buildings demolished. AMRIT LAL v. BALBIR, 6 A. 68=A.W.N. 1883, 212. [Overruled, 23 A. 486, F.B.; Appl., 8 A. 446.]

(106)—Competency of Civil Court to decree ejectment.—The suit was in respect of some land admittedly the holding of P. At P's death, the Zemindar leased the land to K, who held for three years, and subsequently he leased it to the plaintiff and the plaintiff put in the defendants as his shikmis or sub-tenants. The plaintiff afterwards took proceedings in the Revenue Court to eject the defendants. The defendants objected that they were not his tenants but tenants of the Zemindar. The Revenue Court allowed the objection and dismissed the plaintiff's claim. The plaintiff thereupon instituted the present suit in the Civil Court to have it declared that he was the tenant-in-chief. It was contended for the defendants that the decision of the Revenue Court finally decided that the defendants were tenants-in-chief of the land, and next, that assuming that the plaintiff's right was established, he could not obtain a decree in a Civil Court to eject a tenant. Held that neither of the pleas had any force, that the question in the Revenue Court was not as to the class of tenant, whether the defendants were tenants of a particular class but whether they were tenants at all, that by their defence they raised the question of title and of their respective rights in the land, and the Revenue Court was not competent to decide this question, that the Civil Court was quite competent to decree, ejectment in a suit brought as that was, where the defendants' own act had determined the tenancy, and he was in the position of a trespasser. ARJAN v. RATTU, A.W.N. 1886, 122. [R., 18 A. 270, F.B.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court —continued.

(107) —Civ Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Suit for ejectment—Dismissal of suit on ground that defendant was tenant—Subsequent suit for same relief—Notice to quit not given—Maintainability of suit —Plaintiff sued to eject the defendant from possession of certain land on the allegation that he was now a trespasser. In a previous suit against the defendant for the same relief it was decided that the defendant was not a trespasser, but a tenant rightly holding possession of the land The trespass complained of in the present suit was of a later date than that which was the cause of the complaint in the former suit. Held, that, though the suit was not prohibited by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, still as the present possession was in continuation of the possession, which was held in the former suit as justified by the relation of landlord and tenant, and no notice to quit was given to the defendant putting an end to that tenancy, the suit was not maintainable and was liable to be dismissed. HEERA RAWUT v. RACHA RAWUT, 22 W.R 115.

(108) — Pottah — Genuineness — Decision by Collector—Civil Court to determine genuineness independent of Collector's decision.—A Judge ought not to take into consideration the finding of a Collector as to the genuineness of a lease, together with the appearance of the document and the fact of its having been filed 28 years previously. The Judge ought to determine the question of genuineness independently of the decision of the Deputy Collector. UNNODA PERSHAD MOOKERJEE v. SURENDRA NATH PAL CHOWDHRY, 20 W.R. 105.

(109) —Civ. Pro. Code, Act XIV of 1882, s. 13 —Res judicata —Decision by Revenue Court as to genuineness of document Suit for declaration in Civil Court.—A decision by a Revenue Court as to the genuineness of the counterpart of a lease produced in a suit for rent, is no bar under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, to a trial in a Civil Court of the same issue in a suit for a declaration that the instrument was not a genuine one, since the Revenue Court could not have tried the later suit. S. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code is exhaustive on the subject of res judicata. GOMTI KUNWAR v. GUDRI, 25 A. 138=A W N. 1902 220 (A.W N 1901, 49, 6 C.W.N. 825. R.) [R., 31 M 62=3 M L.T. 186=17 M.L J. 601, 12 P.R. 1909=73 P.W.R. 1908=124 P.L.R. 1908=1 Ind. Cas. 321.]

(110)—Suit in Civil Court under debt-bond —Collector's decision as to genuineness of bond in previous rent-suit, whether conclusive proof as against defendant.—Suit by A against B to recover principal and interest due on a bond. The defendant pleaded that the bond was false and fabricated. It appeared that in a previous suit for rent by B against A in the Collector's Court, A had relied on the bond as authorising him to deduct a certain portion of the rent and apply it in reduction of the amount due under the bond, and the Collector had found that the bond was genuine. The question in the present case was whether the Judge of the first Appellate Court was right in having treated the previous decision of the Collector in respect of the bond as conclusive evidence in support of its genuineness. Held that, in order to render a judgment between the same parties upon the same point in one Court conclusive in another Court, the two Courts must be Courts of concurrent jurisdiction. The Collector, however, had no jurisdiction to give a decree for the balance claimed in the present suit as due on the bond. He had power to give effect to it as an answer to the suit for rent, but no power to enforce it in respect of the balance. His Court was, therefore, not a Court of concurrent jurisdiction, and his decision, which was passed for another purpose, would not be conclusive on the Civil Courts. Concurrency of jurisdiction being a necessary part of the rule which creates an estoppel in such cases, the previous decision of the Collector should not have been treated by the Judge as conclusive evidence except as regards the question of rent. MUSSAMUT EDUN v. MUSSUMAT BECHUN, 8 W.R. 175=2 Ind. Jur. N S 264. [F., 8 W.R. 487; Appr., 10 W.R. 22, 19 W R. 322, 11 C. 301, P.C.=12 I.A. 23; R., 11 W.R 345, 13 W.R. 129, 15 W.R. 32, 24 W R 154, 6 C 406=7 C.L R. 251, 9 C 439=12 C L R 520, 9 B. 75, 25 C. 571= 2 C.W N. 297, 29 M 195, F.B =16 M L.J. 41 =1 M.L.T. 25; D., 10 W.R. 75.]

(111)—Judgment of Collector as to genuineness of pottah, whether can be treated as estoppel in Civil suit for ejectment.—The judgment of a Collector in the matter of the genuineness of a pottah is the judgment of a Court competent to determine that question in order to the determination of the further question of rent or of ejectment; but, as it is not the judgment of a Court of concurrent jurisdiction with the Civil Courts, it cannot be pleaded as an estoppel in the Civil Court in an action for the ejectment of the defendant as a trespasser. ARADHUN DEY v. GOLAM HOSSEIN, 8 W. R. 487. [F, 12 W.R. 284.]

(112)—Res judicata—Question as to genuineness of pottah—Decision by Collector—Subsequent civil suit.—In a former suit in the Collector's Court, the ancestor of one B sued his landlords alleging that he was entitled to possession of the land as their tenant under a mourassi potta and that they had illegally ejected him. The landlords denied the genuineness of the potta. The Collector gave possession holding that the potta was genuine. The landlords who were defendants in the former suit, thereupon brought a suit in a Civil Court to eject the heirs of B from the same land. Held, by the Full Bench (Jackson, J., doubting) that the decision of the Collector was not conclusive between the parties CHUNDER COOMAR MONDUL v. NUNNEE KHANUM, 11 B. L. R. 434, F B.=19 W. R 322 [R., 20 W.R. 105, 20 W.R. 455, 21 W.R 57, 24 W R. 154=15 B.L.R 238. F.B., 7 C. 442, 7 C.L.J. 202; D., 21 W.R. 207, 9 B. 75, 13 M. 287.]

Res Judicata – continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(113) —Mortgage—Settlement proceedings in Central Provinces—Res judicata— Foreclosure proceedings—Right of redemption, extinction of —Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Bai-bil-wafa—Foreclosure proceedings — Central Provinces.—On 10th February, 1857, G mortgaged the village in suit to the appellants and their father to secure a loan, the mortgage bond containing the following provision :—"As security for the above loan I mortgage the village on this condition that, if I fail to pay the money as stipulated, I and my heirs shall without objection cause the settlement of the said village to be made with you." The interest of G in the village was described in the bond as that of a malguzar, and he was, shortly after the execution of the mortgage, declared by the Revenue authorities to have the proprietary interest in the subject of the mortgage; but his payments to the Board of Revenue having fallen into arrear, a lease of the village for ten years was granted to the father of the appellants. On the 3rd November 1860, the appellants, in a suit brought by them on the bond obtained the following decree:—"As the defendant acknowledges plaintiffs' claim, it is therefore ordered that the decree be given to the plaintiffs for principal and interest and costs against the defendant and the mortgaged property." The appellants in proceedings taken under this decree prayed that they might be put into possession of the mortgaged property, and in pursuance of an order of the Deputy Commissioner dated 17th July 1862, they obtained possession thereof, an appeal brought by G, being rejected by the Judicial Commissioner. Various steps were taken by G to recover possession of the mortgaged property or to obtain declaration of his proprietary right therein; but his endeavours were unsuccessful. These steps were: an application by G to the Revenue Board that the village should be restored to him was rejected; an application in 1864 to the Settlement Department for a grant of the proprietary right in the village was refused on the 8th December 1864 and the mortgagor's potta was cancelled and a potta granted to the appellants; an appeal from that decision by G was rejected by the Settlement Officer on 27th July 1865; and lastly a petition in 1867 to the Civil Court on the expiration of the ten years' lease to the appellants' father for a release to him on his satisfying the mortgage-debt was also rejected. In a suit brought by the respondents for redemption of the mortgage and for possession of the village which had been conveyed to them by deed of sale dated 12th August 1867, executed in their favour by G:—Held (a) that the order of the Deputy Commissioner dated 17th July 1862 made in the course of the proceedings taken under the decree of 3rd November 1860, did not constitute a bar to the hearing of the present suit within the meaning of s. 2, Act VIII of 1859; (b) that the settlement of the village made by the Revenue officers with the father of the appellants did not take away the proprietorship of the village out of G and vest it in the other party so as to make the sale by the former to the respondents utterly invalid and that the orders of the Settlement Department dated 8th December 1864 and 27th July 1865 afforded no bar to the suit; (c) that the effect of the document was to create a simple mortgage and that the deed was not meant to operate by way of conditional sale; (d) that the substantial effect of the proceedings taken in execution of the decree of 3rd November 1860 was not to destroy any right of redemption which might previously have existed. In the Central Provinces, a bai-bil wafa or conditional sale does not become absolute on the failure of the mortgagor to pay the mortgage-debt on the day fixed, without the mortgagee taking any proceedings by way of foreclosure. GOKUL DAS v. KRIPARAM, 13 B.L.R. 205, P. C.=3 Sar. 279. [F., 8 C.P L.R. 113.]

(114)—Act IX of 1863 — Partition — Amendment of Collectorate record — Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 2, 8.—Suit in the Civil Court for the establishment of plaintiff's right to and possession of a share in land, by cancelment of an order passed in Revenue proceedings. It appeared that there had been two applications before the Collector in one of which the present defendants sought to obtain an amendment of the Collectorate record by expunging therefrom the names of the plaintiffs who were, it was alleged, out of possession; and upon evidence taken the amendment asked for was made. In the other application, the present plaintiffs applied for a partition under Act IX of 1863. The order of the Collector on this application was made on the day on which the first application was disposed of. It was not in form or effect such an order as may be pronounced under s. 8 of the Act, declining to grant the application until the question in dispute shall have been determined by a competent Court. On the contrary, the Collector entertained the application. But he did not follow the procedure enjoined by law (that is to say, the procedure applicable to the trial of original suits by Act VIII of 1859). He appeared to have proceeded chiefly, if not entirely, on the evidence taken on the other application for the amendment of the Revenue Records. He eventually adjudged that the applicants (plaintiffs) had not established their possession and accordingly refused their application. Held that such an order cannot be considered an adjudication of rights, and was not therefore a bar to the present suit. KISHUN SAHAI v. RAGHOO SINGH, 2 N.W.P. 64.

(115)—Determination of title by Revenue Court—Jurisdiction of Civil Court—Act XVIII of 1873 (N.W.P. Rent Act), ss. 36 and 39.—The decision of an Assistant Collector as to the respective rights of the parties to proceedings under ss. 36, 39 of the Rent Act, can only be regarded as incidental and ancillary to the main point to be determined by him, namely, whether, assuming the relationship of landlord and tenant, the tenant is liable to ejectment, and such a decision cannot prevent the question of such rights being determined by a Civil Court. BIRBAL v. TIKA RAM, 4 A. 11=A.W.N. 1881, 103. [R., 18 A. 270, F.B., 2 O.C. 83 to 87, F.B.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(116)—Res judicata—Determination of title by Revenue Court—N.W.P. Rent Act, XVIII of 1873, ss. 36—39.—The decisions of the Revenue Court on questions of title raised in applications under the N.W.P. Rent Act, are not final, and do not bar a suit in the Civil Courts. RAM PRASAD v. RAM SHANKAR, A.W.N. 1882, 58. (2 A. 200, 2 A. 429, 3 A. 81, 3 A. 521, A.W.N. 1881, 164, R.)

(117)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13—Res judicata—Determination of title by Revenue Court—N.W.P. Rent Act, XVIII of 1873, s. 39.—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, applies to suits, and not to applications such as those under s. 39 of the N.W.P. Rent Act. The Revenue Courts have no jurisdiction to determine questions of proprietary right otherwise than incidentally, for the purpose of deciding the suits which they are competent to decide. PARMU SINGH v. RUKKO, A.W.N. 1881, 16.

(118)—Landlord and tenant—Act XVIII of 1873 (N.W.P. Rent Act)—Application under s. 39—Decision of title under lease.—The decision of a Revenue Court on a question of title under a lease, on an application under s. 39 of the Rent Act, is not res judicata, in a subsequent civil suit, where the question is one peculiarly within the jurisdiction of a Civil Court, and not one which a Revenue Court is competent finally to decide on an application under s. 39, however sufficient the decision may have been for the purpose of disposing of such application. Held, accordingly, in a suit to have the terms of a lease corrected, by the cancelment or removal of a word fraudulently inserted in it, so as to alter its intended character, that a decision of the Revenue Court, upholding the claim of the defendants on the deed, as it stood, was not res judicata. HUSAIN SHAH v. GOPAL RAI, 2 A. 428. [F., 20 A. 241=A.W.N. 1898, 29; R., 18 A. 270, F.B., 26 A. 468 =A.W.N. 1904, 109.]

(119)—Suit for arrears of rent—Decision on title by Revenue Court — Res judicata—Act XVIII of 1873 (N.W.P. Rent Act), ss. 93, 95 and 148—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13.—In a suit for arrears of rent, it may be necessary for the Revenue Court to decide incidentally whether the relation of landlord and tenant exists; but such a question is not one specially within its jurisdiction; its decision on such a question therefore is not that of a competent Court, and cannot prevent such question from being re-opened in a civil suit. GOPAL v. UCHABAL, 3 A. 51. [R., 10 A. 347, 16 A. 464, 18 A. 270, F.B.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(120)—Res Judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Act XIX of 1873 (N.W.P. Land Revenue Act), ss. 56, 62, 241 (g).—The Settlement Officer is not competent to decide a question of right between parties; and an order by him that a certain person should be recorded as a sub-proprietor and not as a lessee as alleged by another person, cannot bar the latter from raising the question in a Civil suit. TOTA RAM v. HAR KISHAN, 7 A.224, F.B.=A.W.N. 1884, 347.

(121)—Res judicata—Settlement Officer—Determination of right of parties—N.W.P. Land Revenue Act XIX of 1873, ss. 62, 63 and 64.—All entries in the record of rights made under ss. 62 and 63 of Act XIX of 1873 are to be founded on actual possession; and all disputes taken up by the Settlement Officer of his own motion, or upon the complaint of the party concerned, are to be investigated and decided by him on that basis; and all persons not in possession, but claiming the right to be so, must be referred by him to the Civil Court. The Settlement Officer is not competent to determine the rights of parties. His decision that one of the parties is the mortgagee and the other the proprietor is not a judicial decision but one beyond his competency. RAM PRASAD v. DALTHAMMAN, A.W.N. 1881, 24.

(122)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, "competent to try such subsequent suit," meaning of—Previous decision in partition case under ss. 113, 114 of Act XIX of 1873—Opposite parties in subsequent suit arrayed on same side in previous suit, no res judicata between.—A previous decree affecting persons who had all been arrayed on the same side in the suit cannot be used for the purposes of res judicata, in the sense of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, as between the same persons when arrayed in opposition, the one to the other, in a subsequent suit. And no plea of res judicata under the section could be based on a previous decision or decree by a Deputy Collector acting as a Court of Revenue and disposing of a partition case under ss. 113 and 114 of Act XIX of 1873, such Court not having been competent to try the subsequent civil suit in which the same issue is raised. HAR CHARAN SINGH v. HAR SHANKAR SINGH, 16 A. 464=A.W.N. 1894, 137. (9 C. 439, 12 A. 578, 6 A. 269, R.) [R., 20 M. 392.]

(123)—Declaratory suit—Division in rent suit—Res judicata—Presumption under Act X of 1859, s. 4.—In a suit by a ryot in a Civil Court to have it declared that he had a mokururee tenure, held, that the lower appellate Court was wrong in raising the presumption of uniform payment under s. 4, Act X of 1859. Held, further that such suit was not barred by the finding of the Deputy Collector as to title in a previous rent suit. ISHAN CHUNDER ROY CHOWDHRY v. BHYRUB CHUNDER DOSS, 21 W.R. 25.

(124)—Collector's judgment re pottah's genuineness—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Declaratory

Res Judicata—continued.

—4.—Competency of Court—continued.

decree—Estoppel—Act X of 1859, s. 23.—A Collector's judgment as to the genuineness of a patta cannot be pleaded as an estoppel in the Civil Court in an action for declaration of title. BHAIRO SINGH v. UDIKARAN SINGH, 3 B.L.R App. 139=12 W.R. 284. (Case No. 137 of 1864, overruling 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 22, R.)

(125)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 1—Reference to Collector—Suit pending before Deputy Collector—Effect of.—Reference to the Collector in a case pending before the Deputy Collector is obviously irregular and the Collector's opinion and order have no weight at all, and could not amount to a decision and become final, just as his order in a case originally tried by him or brought before him regularly in appeal would be. It is the duty of the Court of first instance to try the issue raised by a defendant's plea, and to base his decision on the evidence adduced before it, and not on the opinion of any other officer. SAHIB SINGH v. PUT RAM, 1 Agra Rev. 17.

(126)—Suit in Revenue Court under s. 23 (5) of Act X of 1859—Suit for removal of trees—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts.—A suit for ejectment of a cultivator for breach of conditions of his lease under s. 23 (5) of Act X of 1859 was dismissed as barred by limitation. Held that such dismissal was no bar to a subsequent suit (by the plaintiff) for removal and possession of certain trees, and avoidance of a sale-deed in respect of the said trees, such suit not being one for ejectment nor one of those defined in s. 23 of Act X of 1859, and therefore not cognizable by the Revenue Court. JOGUL KISHORE v. CHUTTER SINGH, 1 Agra 27.

(127)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6—Possessory suit by ryot against Zemindar—Suit by intervenor for confirmation of title not barred.—The applicant for review in this case was an intervenor in a suit brought by a ryot against the Zemindar for illegal ejectment in the Collector's Court under cl. 6, s. 23 of Act X of 1859. The suit having been a possessory suit, the question of title had not been gone into, and it could not therefore bar the present suit for confirmation of title brought by the intervenor in the Revenue Court. The present suit was held to be maintainable as having been based on a wholly different cause of action which cannot be said to have been the subject-matter of the suit before the Collector. TARA CHAND GHOSE v. RADHA MONEE DOSSEE, 7 W. R. 469.

(128)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6—Suit for possession—Illegal ejectment—Jurisdiction of Collector.—In a suit to recover possession on the ground of illegal ejectment, the jurisdiction of the Collector is confined, under cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859, to enquiring whether or not the plaintiff had been illegally ejected and so is entitled to recover possession or not. But he has no jurisdiction to enquire into any matter having reference to the rights of the parties. SHEEB CHUNDER MAHORNEEAH v. BROJONATH ADITYA, 4 W.R. 301. [Rel. on, 7 Ind. Cas. 574.]

(129)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6—Scope—Ejectment suit—Right to possession—Collector's jurisdiction. — Act VIII (B. C.) of 1869, s. 27.—The Collector's Court under cl. 6, s. 23 of Act X of 1859, is one of limited jurisdiction, and it has no power to determine between the parties a question of right to the land larger than the bare right to possession. There may be cases in which a Zemindar may have a right to eject a ryot, but may not pursue that right in a legal manner, and where possession will be restored, although, if the Zamindar had proceeded legally, he could have ejected his ryot. It is those cases which are contemplated by cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859, and by s. 27 Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869. GUNGA GOBIND ROY v. KALA CHAND SURMA GANGOOLY, 20 W.R. 455.

(130)—Ss. 23 (6), 25, Act X of 1859—Suit for ejectment—Question of possession and illegal dispossession—Effect of decision under Act X.—Where questions of title are necessarily tried, an Act X decision may be final, but it is not so in a mere ouster suit under cl. 6, s. 23 or s. 25, depending on the question of possession and illegal dispossession only. SOORJO KANT ROY v. MR. JAMES FURLONG, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 44.

(131)—Suit for rent—Ejectment—Land assigned for building purposes — Application under Act X of 1859, s. 25 — *Order for ejectment—*Res judicata—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.)—Suit on lease.—A suit for ejectment from land assigned for building purposes brought upon a contract is not barred by res judicata under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, by reason of an order for ejectment obtained upon an application under s. 25, Act X of 1859, such an application not being a suit. The only suits for ejectment contemplated by Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 are those consequent on the non-payment of arrears of rent, but not a suit for ejectment from land assigned for building purposes where the suit is brought on a contract by which the defendant is said to have pledged himself to give up the land, when required by the plaintiff to do so, on receipt of a year's rent plus a certain sum of money on account of coolie hire for carrying away the "awlat" or building materials. RAMNARAIN MITTER v. NOBIN CHUNDER MOORDAFARASH, 18 W. R. 208.

(132)—Act X of 1859, s. 25—Dismissal of application to Collector—Decision of competent Civil Court—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—A refusal by a Collector to give assistance under s. 25 of Act X of 1859 is not a determination by a Court of competent jurisdiction in a former suit within the meaning of s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859. GOCOOL CHUNDER v. ALI MAHOMED, 10 W. R. 6. [R., 10 W.R. 295; D., 3 B.L.R. App., 114.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(133)—Act X of 1859, s. 27—Application to Collector to register name—Refusal—Suit to set aside Collector's order and to register name—Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—The plaintiffs sued to have their names registered in the zemindar's sherista in respect of certain lands purchased by them at an auction sale for arrears of rent. They had previously applied to the Collector under s. 27, Act X of 1859, but that officer had rejected their application. Held that the proceedings authorized to be taken before the Collector under s. 27 of Act X of 1859 were not proceedings in a suit and consequently those proceedings were no bar under s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859 to this suit. CHANDRA NARAYAN GHOSE v. KAZI NATH ROY CHOWDHRY, 4 B.L.R.F B. 43=12 W.R. 30.

(134)--Competent Court--Bengal Act X of 1859, s. 28—Jurisdiction of Collector.--If it was established, in a suit under s. 28, Act X of 1859, that the defendant's lakhiraj tenure was created prior to 1790, it was immaterial whether it was within plaintiff's taluk or not. Therefore, the finding upon the question of parcel or no parcel by a Deputy Collector in such a suit was not binding on the Civil Court in any suit which might thereafter be brought to resume the land as invalid lakheraj created prior to 1790, or in any other suit. RAMNEEDHY BOYDE v. MEAMUT, Marsh 355=2 Hay 437.

(135)—Reg. II of 1819, s. 30—Act X of 1859, s. 28—Resumption—Deputy Collector, Jurisdiction of.—A suit brought under s. 30, Reg. II of 1819 and not under s. 28, Act X of 1859, cannot be tried by a Deputy Collector who should return the plaint and refer the party to the Collector who has jurisdiction. GOUREEKANT BANERJEE v. LALL MAHOMED MOLLAH, W. R., F.B. 70=Marsh 265=2 Hay 107.

(136)—Act X of 1859, s. 28—Dismissal of suit for ejectment—Subsequent suit for ouster in Civil Courts—No bar of suit.—Where a suit for ejectment under s. 28, Act X of 1859, was dismissed on the ground of absence of jurisdiction, a subsequent suit in the civil Court for ouster was not barred either by the rule of res judicata or otherwise. BASER MAHOMED v. SUDDER GHAZEE, 7 W.R. 97.

(137)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Intervenor—Inability to prove receipt of rent—Civil Court decree no bar to rent suit.—S. 77, Act X of 1859, applies only to cases in which the plaintiff's right to receive the rent is disputed, and an actual and bona fide receipt of rent by the person claiming this right is proved. It has therefore no application to a case in which, although the plaintiff's right is disputed, no receipt of rent by the person claiming the rent has been proved. [D., 11 W.R. 90.] A decree of a Civil Court, in a suit concerning the title, is not of itself in all cases a bar to a suit against a tenant for rent by the person against whom such decree has been obtained. Where a decree of the Civil Court clearly adjudicates against the plaintiff's right and the Collector sees that it relates to the property in question and is in force, he should give effect to such a decree as a bar to the plaintiff's suit for rent, notwithstanding that the plaintiff may have an actual receipt of rent prior to the time of the institution of the suit. MUSSAMUT TARINEE v. BAMUNDAS MOAKHEF, 1 W.R. 331. [F., 12 W.R. 90; D., 11 W.R. 90.]

(138)—Suit for enhanced rent—Mokurruree right relied on—Decree of Collector—Subsequent suit in Civil Court to establish mokurruree right—Res judicata—Jumma divided into two shares—Cause of action—Splitting up of claim.—A suit in the Civil Court by a tenant to establish his mokurruree right brought subsequent to the passing of a decree by the Collector in favour of the landlord in a suit brought by him for enhanced rent, in which the tenant relied on his mokurruree right, is maintainable unless the mokurruree right is the subject of adjudication in the Revenue Court. [R., 7 W.R. 92, 9 W.R. 592, 13 W. R. 129=12 B.L.R. 282 Note, 21 W.R. 57; D., 10 W.R. 6.] A claim for rent in respect of a jumma which has become divided into two shares should be included in one suit. The fact of the division of the jumma does not of itself justify a splitting of the cause of action. OOMA CHURN DUTT v. J. BECKWITH, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 3=1 Wym. 58.

(139)—Res judicata—Parties accidentally same but legally different with different rights and interests.—Where the parties are accidentally the same persons, but are legally different with different rights and interests, the decision in a former suit brought under Act X of 1859 against the defendants as the plaintiff's tenants is no bar to the present suit brought in the Civil Court against the defendants as the plaintiff's vendors. SHAIK GOLAM AHMED v. SHAM SOONDUR ROY, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 9.

(140)—Res judicata—Dictum of Revenue Court as to bona fides of pottah—Suit in Civil court.—Quaere:—Whether the dictum of a Revenue Court under the provisions of Act X of 1859 with reference to the bona fides or otherwise of a pottah is in any way binding upon the Civil Court in a suit in which the bona fides of the pottah is put in issue. KUMUR ALI v. DHOYA BIBEE, 5 W.R. Act X, Rul. 61.

(141)—Res judicata—Pottah—Genuineness—No adjudication in suit under Act X of 1859—Subsequent suit for declaring it a forgery if maintainable—Court's power to grant less relief than that prayed for.—Where in a suit under Act X of 1859 the genuineness of a pottah was not formally adjudicated upon, though the Collector accepted it as genuine, a subsequent suit for a declaration that the pottah was a forgery was not barred. [F, 15 W.R. 415.] Where a plaint asked for more than the plaintiffs were entitled to, the Court could give them such relief as was within its jurisdiction and as it deems them entitled to. PITAMBUR SHAHA v. RAM JOY GHOSE, 7 W.R. 92.

Res Judicata—continued.

—4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(142)—Collateral issue—Estoppel.—The fact of a mokurrari pottah coming collaterally in issue in an Act X suit for the purpose of enabling the Court to adjudicate upon the question of the amount of rent due, does not imply such a decision upon the validity or otherwise of the mokurrari as would be an estoppel to a suit in a Civil Court. JANESWAR DAS v. GULZARI LAL, 5 B.L.R. 666, Note = 11 W.R. 216. [R., 18 A. 270, F.B.]

(143)- Res judicata—Incidental finding by Revenue Court—Effect.—Where, in a former suit under Act X of 1859 between the same parties, it has been decided by a Revenue Court that a pottah is a genuine instrument, and that finding has not been come to upon any distinct issue regularly laid down as to the genuineness or otherwise of the pottah, but is a mere incidental finding, a Civil Court will not be debarred from going into the question of the genuineness or otherwise of the pottah in a subsequent suit to cancel the pottah on the ground that it was a forgery. SHIB PERSHAD PANAH v. MUDDUN MOHUN DOSS, 15 W.R. 415.

(144)—Rent suit—Res judicata—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869.—After Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 came into force, the plaintiff sued in a Civil Court to recover from the defendants rent which he claimed to be due in respect of certain land at enhanced rates. The defendant pleaded (among other objections) that a portion of the land was lakhiraj or rent free land. The plaintiff relied on the decision in a previous suit in the Collector's Court, under the old Rent law, Act X of 1859, by which it was expressly determined that this land was not lakhiraj, and that the plaintiff had a right to enhance the rent, although it was held that no decree for rent at an enhanced rate could be given in that suit, as the evidence on the question of rates was defective. The question referred for the decision of the Full Bench under these circumstances whether the decision in that former suit in the Collectorate Court, that the land was not lakhiraj, was conclusive as regards that issue in the present suit. Held by the Full Bench (Jackson J., dissenting) that the decision was not conclusive, but was evidence, and that the Civil Court was of course bound to give weight to the decision of the Collector's Court. Per Jackson, J.—A decision in a previous and similar suit, upon an issue raised substantially in the same manner by parties in Revenue Courts, is binding upon them as evidence in a subsequent suit, which, but for the passing of Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, would also have been brought in a Revenue Court. HURRI SANKER MOOKERJEE v. MUKTARAM PATRO, 15 B. L. R. 238 = 24 W.R. 154, F.B. [F., 3 C. 145 = 1 C. L.R. 35, F.B.; R., 7 C.L.J. 202; D., 17 C. 721].

Res Judicata—continued.

—4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(145)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13 — Court of competent jurisdiction.—The defendants in this case sued in the Revenue Court to set aside a mortgage executed by one Jumma, an occupancy tenant, in favour of the present plaintiff. The present plaintiff then denied the ownership of the defendants. The Court found the issue as to ownership in favour of the then plaintiffs and decreed their claim. The present plaintiff brought this suit in the Civil Court for a declaration that the land was his property. Held, that the present suit was not barred by s. 13 of the Civil Procedure Code. The former suit was exclusively triable by the Revenue Court under s. 77 (3) (h) of the Punjab Tenancy Act, for the proper trial of which the Court had to decide incidentally every point, e.g., that relating to the right of ownership of the then plaintiffs in the disputed land which was challenged, which required to be disposed of before the main question before the Court could be taken up, but the decision on such a point was not binding on the Civil Court, the Revenue Court not being competent to try the present suit. SULTAN HABIB-ULLAH KHAN v. MOHABAT KHAN, 170 P.L.R. 1901 = 68 P.R. 1901. (8 W.R. 175, F.B., 11 C. 301, P.C., F.) [R., 54 P.R. 1904, 12 P.R. 1909 = 73 P.W.R. 1908 = 12 P.L R. 1909, 92 P.R. 1902, F.B. = 16 P.L.R. 1903; Disc., 54 P.R. 1904.]

(146)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Suit for declaration of plaintiff's right as lessee.—A suit was brought to obtain a declaration of the plaintiff's right, as lessee of the zemindar, in respect of a certain portion of the tank land. The suit was resisted by the defendants on the ground that they were entitled to the land as occupancy tenants. It appeared that in a former suit between the parties, in which the question at issue was a right to damages for price of certain water-nuts, the produce of the tank, a decision was given that the plaintiff was entitled to the damages claimed by him. Held that the former suit was a suit of the nature cognizable by the Small Cause Court, that the only decree that could be given in that case was a decree for the damages claimed, and that the mere fact that there was an incidental determination as to the rights or position of the parties in respect to the land, furnished no bar to the entertainment of the present suit. CHET RAM v. GANGA, A.W.N. 1886, 44. [F., 4 A.L.J. 517 = A.W.N. 1907, 218.]

(147)—Suit for rent of a Small Cause nature —Incidental determination of title therein— Res judicata.—The incidental decision on a question of title in a suit for rent of a Small Cause nature is not res judicata when the same question arises in a subsequent suit on title. INAYAT KHAN v. RAHMAT BIBI, 2 A. 97. [F., A.W.N. 1907, 218 = 4 A.L.J. 517.]

(148)—Res judicata—Previous Small Cause suit—Incidental determination of title—Subsequent suit for declaration.—A decision in a former suit which was of the nature of a suit

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, on a question of title incident to the determination of the suit, is not conclusive or a bar to the parties raising the issue in a subsequent suit. RAHAT ALI v. ALLADI, A.W.N. 1883, 203. (2 A. 97, R.) [R., 4 A.L.J. 517=A.W.N. 1907, 218.]

(149)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Suit of the nature cognizable by a Small Cause Court—Incidental determination of a question of title.—Held that the incidental determination, in the course of a suit of the nature cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, of a question of title, does not operate as res judicata and prevent the same question being litigated afresh in a Court competent to decide it. ANWAR ALI v. NUR-UL-HAQ, A.W.N. 1907, 218=4 A.L.J. 517. (A.W.N. 1888, 203, A.W.N. 1886, 44, 2 A. 97, F.)

(150)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13—'Competent to try such subsequent suit,' meaning of—Prior suit not appealable, decision of issue in, not res-judicata in subsequent appealable suit.—A previous judgment delivered by a District Court in a Small Cause suit between the same parties, cannot, for the matters and purposes of a subsequent original suit between them, be deemed to operate as res judicata. For the purpose of establishing a prior decision as res judicata, the whole series of possible proceedings up to the highest available ordinary tribunal must be looked to; the words "competent to try such subsequent suit" in s. 13 of the Civ Pro. Code, must be construed to mean competent to try the suit or issue on account of its nature with conclusive effect, since, otherwise, the higher jurisdiction provided by the Code would be excluded by the lower. In the present case, the former decision in the Small Cause suit, passed by the District Court, could not be appealed against the High Court, and thus though the District Court was in one sense competent to try the subsequent suit, and did try it, yet it was not competent to try the subsequent original suit as it had tried the earlier one. BHOLABHAI v. ADESANG, 9 B. 75. [Diss., 25 C. 571=2 C.W.N. 297; Not F., 28 C. 78=5 C.W.N. 483; F., 5 Bom. L.R. 742; Appr., 29 M. 195, F.B. =16 M.L.J. 41=1 M.L.T. 25; R., 1 C.P.L. R. 92, 13 B. 224, 11 A. 148, 15 B. 104, 15 M. 111, 2 M.L.J. 36, 1 C.W.N. 687, 24 B. 456, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 653, 25 B. 625, 54 P.R. 1904, 57 P.R. 1907=66 P.W.R. 1907.]

(151)—Previous decisions on Small Cause suits—Res judicata.—Decisions in previous suits in the nature of small causes, in which there was no right of second appeal, could not operate as res judicata in subsequent suits. GOVIND bin LAKSHMAN SHET ANJORLEKAR v. DHONDBARAV bin GANBARAV TAMBYE, 15 B. 104. [Not F., 28 C. 78; F., 29 M. 195= 16 M L.J. 41=1 M.L.T. 25; R., 15 M. 111, 17 M. 168, 18 M. 189, 1 C.W.N. 687, 5 Bom. L. R. 742, 54 P.R. 1904, 57 P.R. 1907=66 P.W. R. 1907.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

(152)—Suit for declaration of title—Dismissal of suit for damages by Small Cause Court, effect of, on plaintiff's title.—A suit for damages in the Small Cause Court, alleging that the defendant had cut down a tree standing on plaintiff's land was dismissed on the ground the plaintiff had no right to the land. In a subsequent suit by the plaintiff for declaration of his title to the land, held that the decision of the Small Cause Court did not conclude the plaintiff in the matter of his title, but that it clearly gave him a new cause of action by the defendant setting up an adverse title. CHUNDER NARAIN MOJOOMDAR v. PRITHANUND ASRAM, 12 W. R. 290.

(153)—Mortgage—Suit to enforce lien—Prior decree on mortgage-bond by Small Cause Court—Right of vendee of mortgagor to question mortgage.—Suit by a mortgagee to enforce his lien on the mortgaged property. The defendant was the purchaser of the mortgaged property from the mortgagor. The point for consideration was whether the defendant was precluded from questioning the mortgage by reason of the existence of a decree in a suit on the mortgage-bond brought by the plaintiff against the mortgagor in a Court of Small Causes prior to the sale to the defendant. Held that as a Small Cause Court has no jurisdiction to decide as to any lien upon immoveable property, the decree passed by that Court was only relevant as showing that the defendant at that time owed the money in question to the plaintiff. It was therefore open to the present defendant to question the execution and bona fides of the document as affecting the property which he had purchased. POHOLI MULLICK v. FUKEER CHUNDER PATNAIK, 22 W.R. 349.

(154)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Jurisdiction to try subsequent suit—Decision of title in a rent suit.—Held that an incidental decision on a question of title given in a suit for rent does not constitute a res judicata on a question of title to the property itself, when the Court which came to that decision had no jurisdiction to try the subsequent suit. JIWAN DAS v. UMAR, 54 P.R. 1904. (25 C. 136, 26 C. 428, F. B., 9 B. 75, 15 B. 104, 15 M. 111, 18 M. 189, 6 C.W.N. 66, 20 P.R. 1891, F.B., 68 P.R. 1901, R.)

(155)—Res judicata—Decision incidentally of matter in issue in Small Cause suit—Binding character of decision in subsequent suit relating to different matter.—Where in a Small Cause suit a matter in issue was incidentally decided, the decision did not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit relating to a different subject-matter, inasmuch as there was no appeal from a decision of a Small Cause Court. RAMAN NAMBIAR v. PAKAR, 2 M.L.J. 36.

(156)—Jurisdiction—Suit for money—Suit to determine right to extra share of offerings—Small Cause Court—Res judicata.—Where a suit, though ostensibly launched for the recovery of a sum of money on account of an extra share of offerings of a certain shrine, claimed by the plaintiff, was in reality instituted for the purpose of establishing a right to such extra share, held that it was not one that could be heard in a Small Cause Court. Though the right of the plaintiff's father to an extra share in the offerings of a certain shrine formed a part of the claim in a previous suit decided by the Political Agent at Ambala, yet, as the jurisdiction of the Political Agent did not extend to territory under the rule of Ranjit Singh, and as the shrine in question was then subject to the Lahore Government, a right to share in its offerings could not be established by the judgment in the previous suit. The plea of res judicata based on the previous decision was therefore untenable. SODI BRIJ BULLAB SINGH v. SODI KARTAR SINGH. 41 P.R. 1872. [R., 71 P.R. 1876, 74 P.R. 1886; D., 73 P.R. 1877.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—continued.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, s. 38, 10 C. 507.

Decision of a Court of Revenue as to propriety of patta or landlord's title, when res judicata—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 11, 17 M.L.J. 518 = 2 M.L.T. 455 = 30 M. 510.

Collector's decision under s. 13 of Madras Act III of 1895 Subsequent civil suit barred —See MAD. ACT III OF 1895, 30 M. 320.

See U. P. ACT XIX OF 1873, ss. 63, 68, 1 A. L.J. 9.

Partition, suit for—Question of title, decision of Revenue Court upon, jurisdiction of Revenue Court—See U. P. ACT XVII OF 1876, ss. 74 and 75, 2 O C. 351.

Proprietary title—Decision of Revenue Court —Subsequent suit in Civil Court—See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, 1 Ind. Cas. 517.

Decision of question of title by Court of Revenue—Subsequent civil suit for declaration of title—See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, ss. 36, 39, 95, 96, 18 A. 270, F.B. = A.W.N. 1896, 59.

See U.P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 43, 25 A. 282 = A.W.N. 1903, 40.

Suit for profits in a Revenue Court—Determination of title by the appellate Civil Court—Subsequent suit in Civil Court as to title—Decision of appellate Court is no bar to the subsequent suit—See U. P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 93, A.W.N. 1905, 103 = 2 A.L.J. 283 = 27 A. 569.

Determination by Revenue Court of question of proprietary title—Suit in a Civil Court—See U. P. ACT II OF 1901, s. 199, A. W. N. 1907, 1.

Competency of original Court which decided the former suit must be looked to—See EJECTMENT, SUIT FOR, 13 C.L.J. 568.

Res Judicata—continued.

——4.—Competency of Court—concluded.

See KABULIAT—GENERAL, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul., 93.

Decision in Munsiff's Court will not bar suit cognizable by Sub-Court only—See RENT, 9 C. W.N. 656.

——5.—Estoppel by Judgment.

See ESTOPPEL.

(1)—Jurisdiction of Court passing former judgment—Enquiry into.—The Court in which the plea of res judicata may be urged can enquire into the jurisdiction of the Court which passed the former judgment, so far as to see whether that judgment is, on the facts on record, not void on the ground of want of jurisdiction. MULVIE ROWNAE ALLY v. THE BURMA RAILWAY COMPANY, LTD., 2 L.B.R. 24. (22 W.R. 361, 6 C.W.N. 825, F.)

(2)—Bar of decision based on erroneous view of law.—A decision is no less a res judicata though it may have been founded on an erroneous view of the law or a view of the law which has been subsequently overruled. PARMU SAO v. GOBRYA, 14 C.P L R. 109. (10 C. 1087, F.)

(3)—Prior suit determining legal effect of document—Bar of subsequent suit for rectification.—Where the legal effect of a document has been put in issue and determined in a prior suit, a subsequent suit for the rectification of it does not lie. ADANKI GOND v. KANHAIYALAL, 15 C.P.L.R. 167.

(4)—Raising value of suit to avoid bar of res judicata.—It is not open to a litigant to get rid of the bar of res judicata by raising the value of the suit to an amount exceeding the jurisdiction of the Court which first disposed of it. CHAODHARI DAL CHAND v. THAKUR SHAM SINGH, 10 C.P.L.R. 89. (8 B. 31, F.; 8 C.P.L.R 86, 8 M.H.C. 14, 2 M. 400, 1 I.A. 84, 10 C. 697, R.)

(5)—Civ. Pro Code, 1882, ss. 13, 522—Decree in terms of award whether operates as res judicata.—A judgment and a decree of a Court passed under s. 522 of the Civ. Pro. Code according to an award, can constitute res judicata. It has often been held that a judgment by consent cannot be re-opened because such a judgment is intended to put a stop to litigation between the parties just as much as a judgment which results from the decision of the Court after the matter has been fought to the end. A fortiori, a judgment and decree passed, after solemn investigation by arbitrators, on the award, may constitute res judicata. VYANKATESH CHIMAJI v. SAKHARAM DAJI, 21 B. 465. [Appl., 2 O.C. 28.]

(6)—Decision as to status of endowment—Suit for possession.—In 1801, A, the shebait and proprietor of the gadde of a debsheba at K, alienated part of the land by deed of gift to B, for the purpose of founding a sheba at C, which was accordingly done. In 1823 the then shebait of the debsheba at K filed a suit for the recovery of the gifted lands against the shebait of the sheba at C and, in that suit, it was declared that the sheba was independent of the debsheba, and thus the plaintiff was referred to a regular suit. In 1861, the then shebait of debsheba brought a suit for recovery of the lands against the then sheba of the sheba. Held that the decree in the former suit operated as an estoppel against the plaintiff. KISSNONUND ASHROM DUNDY v. NURSING DOSS BYRAGEE, Marsh 485.

Res Judicata—continued.

——5.—Estoppel by Judgment—continued.

(7)—Landlord and tenant—Regular suit to establish right to rent dismissed—Rent not paid subsequently—Suit for rent.—Where the plaintiff, having in 1853 endeavoured to establish his right to take rent from the defendant by a regular suit, failed to establish his right, and from that period no rent had been paid by the defendant nor had he in any way recognized the title of the plaintiff, a subsequent suit for rent does not lie. SOOKHA NUND v. NUNDOO SINGH, 2 Agra 221.

(8)—Res judicata—Rent suit—Rate of rent—Decree for rent of previous years—Decree for amount admitted by defendant.—In a former suit for rent, the Court came to a decisive finding as to what was the proper amount of rent payable by the defendant to the plaintiff, and gave the plaintiff a decree not for the amount claimed by him but for the amount and at the rate admitted by the defendant. In a later suit brought by the plaintiff for rent of subsequent years at the same rate as in the former suit, held (Mitter, J., dissenting) that, unless it was shown by the plaintiff that something had occurred since the former decision to alter the rate of rent, he was only entitled to the rate of rent decreed in the former suit, and that the decree in the former suit operated as res judicata as to the proper rent payable by the defendant. JEO LAL SINGH v. SURFUN, 11 C.L.R. 483. (7 C. 298=8 C.L.R. 310, D.; 23 W.R. 85, 3 C. 383, 4 C. 790, R.) [R., 19 C. 656.]

(9)—Suit for refund of excess of rent after suit for arrears of rent.—The defendant (a zamindar) refused to receive rent from the plaintiffs, talukhdars, at the rate asserted by the latter, who therefore deposited the amounts from time to time in the Zillah Court. The Zamindar, having drawn out these amounts, sued for arrears of rent, alleging that the money paid into Court covered only the principal and interest for a certain period, and obtained an ex parte decree. In a suit brought for a refund of the money paid into Court, which had without the plaintiff's consent been irregularly carried to the account of interest,—held that the claim was barred as res judicata. GOBINDNAUTH SUNDYAL v. ROMANAUTH THAKOOR, 1 Hay 501.

(10)—Judgments not "inter partes", admissibility in evidence of—Evidence Act (I of 1872).

Res Judicata—continued.

——5.—Estoppel by Judgment—continued.

—It was held by a majority of the Full Bench (Mitter, J., dissenting) that a judgment in a former suit, which is neither a judgment in rem, nor one relating to matters of a public nature, is not at all admissible in evidence under any section of the Evidence Act in a subsequent suit, not between the same parties or those claiming under them, though the party against whom the judgment is offered in evidence was a party to the prior suit. Mitter, J., however, held that such a judgment would be admissible in evidence under s. 13 and also under s. 11 of the Indian Evidence Act. GUJJA LALL v. FATTEH LALL, 6 C. 171=6 C.L.R. 439. [F., 4 A. 92=A.W.N. 1881, 137, 11 C. 562, 12 C. 207, 13 C. 352 F.B., 11 M. 116, 12 A. 1, F.B., D; 12 M. 9, 10 A. 585=A.W.N. 1888, 242, 15 M. 19, 18 M. 73, 23 C. 693; Appl., 11 C.L.R. 528; R., 10 B 439, 15 C. 233, 25 C. 522, F.B., 24 B. 591, 9 C.W.N. 403, 56 P R. 1906, 8 C. 985.]

(11)—S. 13—Act XIV of 1882, Civ. Pro. Code—Res judicata—Cause of action.—A second suit brought by the plaintiffs, for ejectment and declaration of title to certain land, against a purchaser of the same from a Municipality would not be barred on account of the dismissal of a prior suit brought by the plaintiff's predecessor in title to recover possession of the same land from the Municipality, which had stacked stones thereon. MODHU SUDAN KUNDU v. PROMODA NATH ROY, 20 C. 732.

(12)—Mesne profits—Details of amount not set forth—Right to deduction—Res judicata.—Where the Court allowed a certain sum in the decree as the annual mesne profits of the land, but the details of the sum were not set forth in the judgment of the Court, and it was therefore impossible to say that the right to a particular deduction claimed by the defendant was adjudicated on by the Court, held that the rule of res judicata had no application to the question as to the particular deduction claimed by the defendant. KACHAR ALACHELA v. SHA OGHAD BHAI THAKARSHI, 17 B. 35.

(13)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Prior decrees awarding cess at certain rates—Value of.—The amount of cess payable by landlords and tenants is not fixed for all time. It is a variable quantity changing from year to year according to circumstances. Therefore, decrees for cesses obtained in previous suits, at a certain rate for a particular year, do not have the effect of res judicata, in a subsequent suit for cess for other years, at a higher rate. But these decrees are admissible in evidence, and may raise a presumption in favour of the defendants. RICKETT v. RAMESWAR MALIA, 28 C. 109.

(14)—Decree for rent in previous suit—Res judicata—Landlord and tenant.—A decree in a previous rent-suit by an ijardar does not operate as res judicata on the question of the existence of the relationship of landlord and tenant arising in a subsequent suit for rent brought by the superior landlord. The decision in that suit, where the rate of rent was not in issue, does not operate as res judicata in the subsequent suit against the tenant regarding the amount of the rent claimed. BALARAM MONDUL v. KARTICK CHANDRA ROY CHAUDHURI, 4 C.W.N. 161. (19 C. 656, 20 C. 505, F.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——5.—Estoppel by Judgment—continued.

(15)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 2—Rule in Duchess of Kingston's Case—Applicability to India — Judgment of Revenue Court — Res judicata. — There is nothing technical or peculiar to the law of England in the rule laid down in the Duchess of Kingston's Case. A, as vendee of certain property, brought a suit in the Revenue Court against B the vendor for arrears of rent, the claim being based on a kabuliyat. B set up an ikrarnamah (said to have been simultaneously executed with the sale deed) under which he claimed to hold a certain portion of the land rent free. This ikrarnamah was denied by A. The kabuliyat not having been proved, the suit was dismissed by the Revenue Court which held the ikrarnamah to be valid. B subsequently sued for redemption contending that the sale-deed and the ikrarnamah simultaneously executed constituted a mortgage. The question arose whether the finding in the previous suit with respect to the ikrarnamah was not res judicata and whether A could not question its validity*a*. Held that there was no question of res judicata. The ultimate decision of the claim for rent did not turn upon the validity of the ikrarnamah. But if the judgment of the Revenue Court had been final in the matter before it, its incidental finding that the ikrarnamah was a valid instrument would not be conclusive between the parties in the present litigation. For the question before it was not the issue now raised between the parties; and its decision was not that of a Court competent to adjudicate on a question of title, for it had only a special jurisdiction to try summary suits for the recovery of rent. KHUGOOWLEE SINGH v. HOSSEIN BUX KHAN, 7 B.L.R. 673=15 W.R. P.C. 30=6 M.J. 146=2 Suther 404=2 Sar. 648. [R., 19 W.R. 322, 24 W.R. 154, F.B.= 15 B.L R. 238 6 C. 406=7 C.L.R. 251, 9 C. 439, 9 B. 75, 18 A. 270, F.B., 7 C.L.J. 202.]

(16)—Decision as to amount of land held as tenant.—In an action for rent, defendant pleaded, by way of estoppel to part of the plaintiff's claim, that, in a prior action for rent previously due, brought by the plaintiff against the defendant, it had been found that the defendant was tenant to the plaintiff of a less quantity of land only than that in respect of which the plaintiff claimed rent in his suit. Held that there was no estoppel, and that the plaintiff might show, notwithstanding such previous judgment, that the defendant was in occupation of the larger quantity. OJOODHYA PERSAD v. BHUGWANTAJAH, Marsh, 12; BHUGWANTAJAH v. OJOODHYA PERSAD, Hay. 31.

Res Judicata—continued.

——5.—Estoppel by Judgment—continued.

(17)—Act XIX of 1863—Widow—Receipt of fixed money by—Effect.—Plaintiff (a widow), who was in receipt of a fixed sum of money for many years, sued for partition of her share. The lower appellate Court, on the strength of a former decree which declared that she had no claim to share in the profits after having accepted a fixed maintenance, decided that she was not entitled to any share. Held, that the former decree decided nothing more than that the widow could recover no more in the share of profits in respect of the share claimed; and that it did not rule that such fixed payment represented a mere claim to maintenance and no substantial right or interest in the property itself, so that, on partition, she must be regarded as having no claim to share in the land; that the question should be investigated afresh, whether the alleged payment represented merely a right to an amount, with no right to a share in the land, in which case the widow as well as her son would be bound, or was merely a matter which the widow herself had assented to, in which case the decree establishing it should not be extended beyond her life. MUSSUMAT MAN KOONWAR v. DILAWUR HOSSEIN KHAN, 1 Agra Rev. 36.

(18)—Adopted son of Hindu widow—Title.—A plaintiff who sues to obtain property which belonged to a Hindu widow, on the ground that he is the adopted son of a brother of the deceased husband, is not barred from setting up his title, because, in a former suit against the same defendant for other property, it was decided that he was not the adopted son of that brother. KRIPARAM v. BHAGWAN DAS, 1 B.L.R. A.C. 68=10 W.R. 100. [Overruled, 1 C. 144; Disappr, 4 C. 199, P.C.]

(19)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 433—Res judicata—Suit for maintenance—Tipperah.—The Maharaja of Hill Tipperah which is an independent Sovereign State, was sued for maintenance It was found that in a former suit tried in British India in respect of the same claim, the Court had ordered the amount of the maintenance, for which it gave a decree, to be paid by the Maharaja and from his estate of R which was in British India. Held that the suit not being a suit for immoveable property would not lie; and, further, that the decree in the former suit was not res judicata to show that the maintenance claimed in the present suit was a charge on the zamindari of R so as to give the Court jurisdiction under cl. (c) of s. 433 of the Civ. Pro. Code. BIR CHUNDER MANIKHYA v. ISHAN CHUNDER TAGORE, 12 C L.R. 473.

(20)—Proceeding under Probate and Administration Act, nature of—Construction of will, finding of Court on—Res judicata—Ss. 19 and 59, Act V of 1887 (Probate and Administration)—S. 41, Act I of 1872 (Evidence).—In a proceeding upon an application for probate of a will, the only question which the Court is called upon to determine is whether the will is true or not, and it is not the province of the Court to determine any question of title with reference to the property covered by the will. A proceeding under the Probate and Administration Act is not a suit properly so called, but takes the form of a suit according to the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code. (4 C. 1, R.) That being so, the finding of a Court on the construction of a will being incidental and for the purpose of determining the question of the representative title of the applicants, cannot be regarded as concluding a party to an application for probate, by res judicata, from obtaining a construction of the will in a suit brought by him. ARUNMOYI DASI v. MOHENDRA NATH WADADAR, 20 C. 888. [Appr., 19 A. 458=A.W.N. 1897, 106; R., 25 C. 354, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 653, 28 B. 644=6 Bom. L.R. 966; F., 5 L.B.R. 78.]

Advocate High Court Jammu & Kashmir Srinagar

Res Judicata*—continued.

——5.—Estoppel by Judgment—concluded.

(21)—Application for probate — Refusal to grant probate, effect of—Subsequent suit by executors, whether barred by res judicata—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), ss. 12, 59.—The circumstance that a Court has refused grant of probate of a will cannot render probate necessary in cases in which it may be optional for the party interested under the will to apply for it or not. It merely relegates the parties to their former position. The High Court, therefore, refused to uphold the contention of the appellant's pleader in this case, that, as the grant of the probate under the Act is conclusive proof, so long as such grant remains unrevoked, of the title of the executors and of the genuineness of the will admitted to probate, a similar consequence, in the opposite sense, must flow from the refusal of the Court to grant probate. From a refusal to grant a probate, it by no means follows that, in the opinion of the Court, the will propounded is not the genuine will of the testator. Under the provisions of Act VII of 1889, such a refusal, until a fresh application has been successfully made, may operate to prevent the executor recovering the debts due to the deceased, but it cannot have any other disabling effect such as that of barring a subsequent suit by the executors filed as persons beneficially entitled under the will for a declaration that the property of the deceased belonged to them and for an injunction to restrain interference in their enjoyment of it. The conclusive nature of probate granted rests on the declaration by the Legislature as expressed in ss. 12 and 59 of Act V of 1881. There is, however, no section declaring that any corresponding result, in an opposite sense, shall flow from the refusal to grant it. GANESH JAGANNATH DEV v. RAMCHANDRA, 21 B. 563. [F, 2 N.L.R. 123; R., 14 C.W.N. 924=12 C.L.J. 185=7 Ind. Cas. 126.]

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 13, 40, 41, 42, 43, 3 B. 3.

See GRANT—CONSTRUCTION, 18 W.R. 469.

Res Judicata*—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points; Effect of.

(1)—Res judicata—Former suit not tried on merits—"Heard and determined"—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—Where the former suit, has not been tried on the merits but was summarily dismissed, a subsequent suit, though on the same cause of action, and between the same parties, is not one on a cause of action which has been heard and determined by a Court of competent jurisdiction in a former suit. SHOKHEE BEWAH v. MEHDEE MUNDUL, 9 W.R. 327. [F., 12 M. 500; R., 6 B. 482; 8 A. 282=A.W.N. 1886, 119, 3 C.P.L.R. 3; D., 12 C. 563.]

(2)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Dismissal of previous suit on preliminary point—Second suit not barred by res judicata.—To conclude a plaintiff on the ground of res judicata, it is necessary to show, not only that there was a former suit between the same parties, for the same matter, and upon the same cause of action, but also that the matter in issue has been heard and decided in the former suit. So, where the former suit itself had been summarily dismissed as premature without being tried on its merits, the second suit for the same purpose cannot be barred by res judicata. RAMIREDDI v. SUBBAREDDI, 12 M. 500.

(3)—Res judicata—Heard and finally decided—Deciding on mere perusal of evidence in a prior suit.—To support a plea of res judicata, it is not enough that the parties are the same, and that the same matter is in issue. The matter must have been "heard and finally decided." A subsequent suit is not barred, if the prior suit was dismissed by reason of defective parties and because a declaratory decree could not be made. [R., 20 A. 110, F.B.] Quære.—Whether the High Court were right in assuming on the mere perusal of the evidence in the first suit to decide a case which was not before them and on which they could not have heard any argument. SHEOSAGAR SINGH v. SITARAM SINGH, 24 C. 616, P.C.=24 I.A. 50=1 C.W.N. 297=7 Sar. 124.

(4)—Reg. XXVI of 1814—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, ss. 2, 148—Dismissal of suit for default—Res judicata.—Where a suit under Reg. XXVI of 1814 was struck off the file on default, held that there was no decision of the suit such as was contemplated by s. 148 of the Civ. Pro. Code of 1859, and as the suit was not 'heard and determined' by the Court, a subsequent suit between the same parties, and founded on substantially the same cause of action, would not be barred by s. 2 of the Code. GUNGA RAM v. KHEM NARAIN POOREE, 11 W.R. 250. [R., 8 C.L.J. 196.]

(5 & 6)—Dismissal of rent-suit for default—Subsequent suit for possession.—The dismissal, for default, of a suit for rent, in which the title of the plaintiff was also questioned by the tenant, would not bar a subsequent suit for possession of the land. GOBIND CHUNDER ADDYA v. AFZUL RABBANI, 9 C. 426=12 C.L.R. 29.

Res Judicata —continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of —continued.

(7)—Res judicata—First suit disposed of on technical point.—Where the former suit brought by the plaintiff against the defendant on the same cause of action, though decided on its merits in the Court of first instance, was decided on appeal on a purely technical point, it cannot be said that the cause of action has already been heard and determined so as to operate as res judicata. RAJAH MOKOOND NARAIN DEO v. JONARDUN DEY BURNICK, 15 W.R. 208.

(8)—Res judicata—First suit struck off on ground of discrepancy.—Where in a former suit there was no evidence taken, no orders passed and no decision come to on the merits, but the case was struck off on the ground of discrepancy between the petitioner's plaint and his deposition, this will not operate as res judicata. GUNGA NARAIN DASS v. PUNCHANUNEE DASSEE, W.R. 1864, 163.

(9)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Splitting of causes of action—Civ. Pro Code, 1859, s. 7.—Dismissal of a former suit for non-joinder of parties does not bar a subsequent suit. [R., 3 C.P.L.R. 3.] A suit for arrears of rent is not estopped under Act VIII of 1859, s. 7, by the fact that plaintiff has split his claim, i. e., the jumma, but the circumstance that a part of the jumma has been omitted would be a bar to plaintiff's suing subsequently for such part. PURSUN GOPAL PAUL CHOWDHURY v. POORNANUND MULLICK, 21 W.R. 272. [R., 3 C.P.L.R. 3.]

(10)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata.—The dismissal of a former suit on the ground of some technical defect or irregularity and not upon the merits, is not a bar to a subsequent suit for the same cause of action. It is not every decree or dismissal which will operate as res judicata, and every dismissal of a suit does not necessarily bar a fresh action. It is also necessary to show that there was a decision finally granting or withholding the relief sought. (8 A. 282, Appl.; 9 A. 155, D.) For the purposes of res judicata, no adjudication can be final unless the parties between whom the doctrine is to be applied were arrayed on opposite sides in the former litigation. MUHAMMAD ZAHIA KHAN v. MIRDAD KHAN, A.W.N. 1887, 246.

(11)—Dismissal of suit "in present form"—Nature of order—Subsequent suit—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, expl III.—The plaintiffs had brought a suit for possession of a pond against the defendants which suit was dismissed in the form in which it had been brought on the ground that all the persons who should have been made parties were not joined in the suit. Thereupon, the plaintiffs brought the present suit for joint possession of the bond against the defendants, who objected that the suit was barred by the rule of res judicata. The lower appellate Court held the suit was barred under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, as contended for by the defendants. The plaintiffs appealed to the High Court. Held that the suit was not barred. In the former suit, there was nothing heard and finally decided within the meaning of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, so as to operate as a bar to the present suit. It was dismissed on a preliminary and technical point and there was no hearing or decision of the matter in issue in that suit. With reference to the contention urged on behalf of the defendants that the suit was barred under explanation III to s. 13, it was held that, in the former suit, there was no intention on the part of the Court of either granting or refusing any relief, nor was there any adjudication of the matter in issue. SALIG RAM PATHAK v. TIRBHAWAN PATHAK, A.W.N. 1885, 171. [R., 8 A. 282; Expl., 11 A. 187.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of—continued.

(12)—Dismissal of suit on technical ground—Subsequent suit in respect of same matter not barred.—When a suit has been dismissed for misjoinder or multifariousness or because all the proper parties have not been joined in it or when it has been dismissed on a purely technical point, a subsequent suit is not barred. So where a mortgagee brought a suit for foreclosure against one of several mortgagors in respect of a portion of the mortgaged property, and the suit was dismissed on the ground that the mortgagee could not split his mortgage, a suit by him subsequently brought against all the mortgagors for the foreclosure of the entire mortgaged property was neither res judicata under s. 13 nor was barred under s. 43. GANPAT RAO v. DOMA PATEL, 3 C.P. L.R. 3.

(13)—Former judgment on technical ground and not on merits—Subsequent suit for same cause of action not barred.—A part of the rent claimed in this suit had been previously sued for, and though that suit was decided in plaintiff's favour by the Court of first instance, the lower appellate Court, proceeding wholly on a trivial technical defect or irregularity, reversed the first Court's decision. Held that the present suit was not barred by the judgment in the previous suit. The cause of action was the same and the former judgment was pronounced by a Court of competent jurisdiction, but the judgment was inconclusive and could not be a bar to the present suit, because it had proceeded wholly on a technical ground and was not determined upon the merits. RAMNATH ROY CHOWDHRY v. BHAGPUT MOHAPUTTER, 3 W. R. Act X, Rul. 140. [Appl., 8 A. 282.]

(14)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, new Code)—Res judicata—Judgment on preliminary point.—Failure of the judgment-debtor, despite notice, to appear and oppose an application for attachment and sale in execution of a conditional mortgage decree, which application, however, was dismissed for want of prosecution, was held not to operate as res judicata in a subsequent application for execution by the decree-holder, as to the question whether the conditional decree was capable of execution before being made absolute, because this question was never before in issue and was not judicially treated on the occasion of the former application. RAM LAL v. NARAIN, 12 A. 539 = A. W. N. 1890, 97. [R., 5 O.C. 251.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of—continued.

(15)—Judgments on preliminary points—Dismissal of joint claim on ground of several liability—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 2.—Where a suit against several defendants for a joint jumma is dismissed on the ground that the jumma is several, and not joint, the plaintiff is not precluded by Act VIII of 1859, s. 2, from afterwards suing each of them severally for the separate jumma. TELOKDHAREE SAHOO v. BISSENDRO NARAIN SAHEE, Marsh 418 = 2 Hay, 528.

(16)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), s. 13—Dismissal of suit for want of jurisdiction.—Where the Court, before dismissing a claim for want of the Collector's certificate under s. 6 of the Pensions Act, inquired into all the issues and even recorded its opinion on every one of them, held, that the opinion so expressed did not operate as res judicata upon a subsequent suit on the same cause of action, as there was no legal pronouncement on the merits of the former case. PUTALI MEHETI v. TULJA, 3 B. 223. [Appl., 18 M. 466; R., 17 A. 174 = A.W.N. 1895, 47.]

(17) - Res judicata — Former suit dismissed for want of cause of action and for want of jurisdiction — Subsequent suit after accrual of cause of action.—One of the sons of an undivided Hindu father governed by the Mitakshara law of the Bombay Presidency sued for a partition of the moveables and immoveables belonging to the family; and the suit was dismissed as regards the moveables on the ground that he could not compel a partition of them during his father's lifetime, and as regards the immoveables on the ground of want of jurisdiction. On the death of the father, the same person brought a suit against his brother for partition of the same properties. Held, that the former suit did not operate as res judicata because in that suit there was no adjudication between the brothers as to their rights in the estate arising on their father's death. LAKSHMAN DADA NAIK v. RAMACHANDRA DADA NAIK, 5 B. 48, P.C. = 7 C.L.R. 320 = 7 I.A. 181 = 4 Sar. 173.

(18)—Suit against several defendants— Suit dismissed for want of jurisdiction against two subsequent suits against them in different Courts on same cause of action—Res judicata, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 42, 43. — The property in suit (situated in Surat) was mortgaged by defendants 1, 2, 3 to plaintiff who sued all of them in the High Court of Bombay for recovering the mortgage-debt. The liability of the defendants under the suit-bond was joint and several. On the contention of defendants 2 and 3 that the Court had no jurisdiction as against them, they being residents of Surat, the suit was dismissed as against them and decreed against the 1st defendant only (who resided in Bombay). The present suit was, thereupon, instituted by the plaintiff on the same mortgage in the Court at Surat against defendants 2 and 3, who contended that the suit was barred by reason of the previous suit against them in the Bombay High Court having been dismissed. Held that, there being no decision on the merits in the previous suit and consequently the proceedings therein in the Court at Bombay against defendants 2 and 3 being a nullity, the present suit against them was not barred. BHUKANDAS VIJBHUKANDAS v. LALLUBHAI KASHIDAS, 17 B. 562. [R., 24 B. 77 = 1 Bom. L.R. 534, 22 A. 307.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of—continued.

(19)—Usufructuary mortgagee—First suit for mesne profits—Second suit for possession.—Where a usufructuary mortgagee brought a suit for mesne profits, which was dismissed on the ground that his mortgagor was not in possession of his share in the property which belonged jointly to an undivided Hindu family, held, that it did not operate as res judicata against a subsequent suit by the mortgagee for the possession of his mortgagor's share in that property. KRISHNAJI LAKSHMAN RAJVADE v. SITARAM MURARRAV JAKHI, 5 B. 496.

(20) Former suit dismissed for want of jurisdiction—Subsequent suit not barred.—The dismissal on the ground of want of jurisdiction, by the Civil Court, of a suit to eject the defendants from the fishing ground of the plaintiffs, situate below low water-mark, does not operate as res judicata so as to bar a subsequent suit by the plaintiffs to recover damages from the defendants for fixing their fishing stakes and nets too near to those of the plaintiffs. BABAN MAYACHA v. NAGU SHRAVUCHA, 2 B. 19. [R., 2 B. 457, L.B.R. 1872—1892, 233.]

(21)—Res judicata—First suit rejected in appeal as being improperly valued—Second suit on same cause of action—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 2, 31, 36.—Where the first suit has been rejected by the District Court in appeal on the ground that the claim was improperly valued, the plaintiff is not precluded from presenting a fresh plaint in respect of the same cause of action, and the case comes within the spirit of s. 36 of Act VIII of 1859. The former suit was not heard and determined, for it failed by reason only of an informality. There is no express power given by the Civ. Pro. Code, to reject a plaint, after it has been registered, on the ground that the claim had been improperly valued. When a suit is, therefore, rejected at any subsequent stage of the proceedings on that account, the rejection ought to have only the same effect, as if the plaint had been originally rejected, in accordance with s. 31 of the Act, when it was presented for registration. DULLABH JOGI v. NARAYAN LAKHU, 4 B.H.C. A.C 110. [F., 12 Bom. L.R. 766=35 B. 38; Appl., 8 A. 282=A.W.N. 1886, 119; R., 19 B. 507, 23 B. 122.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of—continued.

(22)—Indigo trade—Advances of money - Suit for balance of accounts—Suit for proceeds of indigo.—The dismissal of X's suit against Y for a balance due as regards advances made to Y and the brothers on account of indigo is no bar to the institution of a suit by Y to recover the proceeds of indigo consigned to X. PUNCHANUN ROY v. MODOOSOODUN ROY, W.R. 1864, 245.

(23)—Res judicata—First suit under deed of sale—Second suit under deed of mortgage.—A suit will lie for plaintiff's rights under a deed of mortgage, although a former suit for the same property, brought on the allegation that it was a deed of sale, was dismissed without permission to the plaintiff to bring a new suit. RAMKISTO SHAHA v. NEMY CHURN CHOLHAI, W.R. 1864, 110.

(24)—Remand — Right of suit—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 2, 110—A suit in which the plaintiff obtained a decree, was made the subject of an appeal and resulted in a remand; on the remand, no one appeared either for plaintiff or defendant, and the suit was dismissed on default. Held that the plaintiff was not precluded by s. 2, Civ. Pro. Code, from bringing a fresh suit. RAGHUNATH SINGH v. RAMKUMAR MANDAL 5 B.L.R. App. 64=14 W.R. 81.

(25)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Previous suit by co sharer.—In a suit to recover possession of a portion of land, of which the Municipal Commissioners had deprived the plaintiff by heaping stones thereon, and evicting his ryot therefrom, held, that a decision passed in a similar suit brought by a 10-annas sharer in this property against the Commissioners, in which the present plaintiff had been made a pro forma defendant, was not binding in the present suit for any right which the present plaintiff might have with regard to the land. H. PRICE v. KHILAT CHANDRA GHOSE, 5 B.L.R. App. 50=13 W.R. 461.

(26)—Suit for profits—Previous suit for same period dismissed as defendant not served—Effect of such dismissal.—Where a suit for profits against three defendants was dismissed owing to a failure of the plaintiff to cause one of the defendants to be served, held that a second suit for profits, for the same period, against the same defendants, was maintainable. The former judgment, not being a decision on the merits, did not bar the subsequent claim. The principles embodied in s. 99 (A) of the Civ. Pro. Code applied to a case like this. SITA RAM SINGH v. POKHPAL SINGH, 3 A.L.J. 576, F.B.=A.W.N. 1906, 233=1 M.L.T. 447=28 A. 749.

Res Judicata—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of—continued.

(27)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Suit on hundis, before cause of action dismissed—Subsequent suit after cause of action.—Where a suit on hundis brought by the drawees before their presentation, and before objection or refusal of payment had been dismissed as premature, the cause of action not having arisen then, a subsequent suit by the same parties after presentation and refusal of payment, was held not barred by s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. BUTA MAL v. RAMCHAND, 72 P.R. 1885. (148 P.R. 1883, R.)

(28)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 86 and 227—Claim rejected as presented too late—Subsequent adjudication of claim not barred—Admissibility of claim even after proclamation sale.—Where, on the presentation of a claim to attached property, no adjudication has been made, but the claim rejected simply on the ground that it had been presented too late, there can be no bar, in law, to the claim of the person to the property being adjudicated upon when it is again advanced after attachment made under the decree. Although s. 86 read with s. 227 of Act VIII of 1859 requires that the claim of such a nature should be advanced at the earliest opportunity, yet, no period of time has been prescribed by law within which such claim must be made and, therefore, it may be admitted even after proclamation of sale has been issued, provided that the claim has not been designedly and unnecessarily delayed with a view to obstruct the ends of justice. MAHOMED MUBSON v. SUMPUTTEE SAHOON CHOWDHRAIN, 10 W.R. 305.

(29)—Act VIII of 1856, s. 2—Res judicata—Suits based on different causes of action—Several properties held under one title—Cause of action on dispossession—Decree for rent, effect of, on title to land—Rejection of claim in execution—Suit by claimant against third parties—Limitation—Sale for arrears of revenue—Benami purchase—Adverse possession by beneficial purchaser—Sale under Act XII of 1841—Suit to oust nominal purchaser—Act I of 1845, s. 21—Act XI of 1859, s. 36.—The dismissal of a suit for possession of lands based on an alleged act of dispossession does not operate as a bar, under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, to a different suit by the same person to recover other lands, based on a different act of dispossession, though the title set forth by the plaintiff in both the suits is identical. The title upon which a particular property is claimed does not constitute the cause of action. Where several properties are held by a person under one and the same title, a cause of action does not accrue to him with reference to them all, simply because he has been dispossessed of one of them on a particular date. A decree for arrears of rent against ryots does not affect the title to the property itself, the operation of such decree being restricted to the particular rent which it purports to cover. So a suit to establish the plaintiff's title to certain lands was held not barred under cl. 5, s. 1, Act XIV of 1859, by reason of its having been brought more than one year from the date of a rent-decree obtained by a third party against the ryots. Where the rejection of a claim in an execution case was not followed by the sale of the properties attached, a suit by the claimant in respect of the same properties, against a person other than the decree-holder, brought for quite a different purpose and upon quite a different cause of action, was held not barred by reason of its having been brought more than one year from the date of the order rejecting the claim. Where property sold for arrears of revenue is purchased benamee, and the beneficial purchaser remains in adverse and undisturbed possession for more than twelve years from the date of sale, such possession is not only sufficient to extinguish the title of the nominal auction-purchaser, if he had any, but also to create in the beneficial purchaser a title capable of devolving upon his heirs and representatives. Neither s. 21 of Act I of 1845, nor s. 36 of Act XI of 1859, is applicable to a purchase under Act XII of 1841. BOOA RUSSOOLEE v. THE NOWAB NAZIM OF BENGAL, 11 W.R. 382. [Appr., 13 W.R. 347.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of—continued.

(30)—Suit for correction of Settlement Record, dismissal of, as barred by time—Subsequent suit for declaration of proprietary rights—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, ss. 13, 43.—Where a suit for the correction of the Settlement Record instituted in the Settlement Courts under the Punjab Government Notification then in force has been dismissed on the sole ground that it was barred by time, without any adjudication upon the merits of the claim, neither the form of claim in that suit nor the decree therein, is a bar under s. 43 or s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877) to the maintenance of a subsequent suit for the declaration of proprietary rights in the same land. HAMAD v. WAHAB, 190 P.R. 1883.

(31)—Dismissal of prior suit on same cause of action on ground of limitation.—The dismissal of a suit for a mourasi mokurari title to land and for mesne profits, as having been barred by limitation would not, the cause of action not having been heard and determined by a competent Court, bar a subsequent suit on the same cause of action under s. 2 of the old Civ. Pro. Code (of 1859) = s. 13 of the present Code. BRINDHABUN CHUNDER SIRCAR v. DHUNUNJOY NUSHKUR, 5 C. 246 = 4 C.L.R. 443. [D., 7 C.L.R. 103.]

(32)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Decision on a preliminary point—Appeal—Set aside—Remand for trial on other issues—Suit dismissed for default of parties.—In a former suit for rent between the same parties the Collector on appeal held that a certain lease was inoperative and remanded the case for trial. It was then dismissed for default. Held in a subsequent suit for rent that the finding, although it was not embodied in the decree, operated as res judicata inasmuch as it was the basis of the Collector's order. SHEIKH ALAM v. PARAMANAND, 5 A.L.J. 48 = A.W.N. 1908, 41 = 3 M.L.T. 205.

Res Judicata—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of—continued.

(33)—Res judicata—Former suit dismissed for failure to produce evidence, with reservation to bring new suit—Fresh suit—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—A suit brought in the year 1856, to set aside an auction sale of a putnee taluk for arrears of rent, under Beng. Reg. VIII of 1819, was dismissed for want of evidence on the part of the plaintiffs, with a reservation by the Court that the order made was not to be a bar to the plaintiffs, or any other persons who might substantiate their rights, from proceeding to recover. On a fresh suit by the same parties for the same matter, held that such reservation was of no effect as, under s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859, the former suit was a bar, and a plea of res judicata allowed. There is no power in the Courts in India similar to that exercised by Courts of Equity or Common Law in England, to dismiss a suit with liberty for the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit for the same matter, or to enter a non-suit. Such power of the Indian Courts is limited to questions of form, as (1) in the case of misjoinder of parties or of the matters in suit, (2) where a material document has been rejected for not bearing a proper stamp, and (3) if there has been an improper valuation of the subject-matter of the suit; but not to a case where the issue has been joined and the plaintiff fails to produce the evidence he is bound to give to support the issue. WATSON v. THE COLLECTOR OF JILLA RAJSHAHYE, 3 B.L.R. P.C. 48 = 13 M.I.A. 160 = 12 W.R.P.C. 43 = 2 Suther. 269 = 2 Sar. 500. [F., 21 W.R. 291, 12 M. 500, 35 C. 924 = 12 C.W.N. 921; R., 3 A. 528, 9 A. 155, 9 A. 690, 14 B. 31, 19 B. 571, 9 C.W.N. 679, 6 Bom. L.R. 594, 29 B. 219 = 7 Bom. L.R. 90, 29 A. 471 = 4 A.L.J. 375, 18 M.L.J. 198, 11 Bom. L.R. 1109; Cons., 8 A. 282; Observed on. 16 W.R. 276; D., 23 W.R. 345, 3 C.L.R. 447.]

(34)—Plaintiff's failure to produce evidence on date of hearing—Effect—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 114.—A plaintiff neglecting to produce evidence on the date of hearing is precluded from bringing a fresh suit in respect of the same cause of action, in the same way as he would be if the suit were dismissed for default under s. 114, Act VIII of 1859. MOFIZOODDEEN v. SHAIKH AMOODDEEN, 23 W.R. 58. [Appl., 9 C.W.N. 679; D., 12 C. 563.]

(35)—Res judicata—Failure to prove case—Adjudication.—Where a suit for removal of an alleged nuisance is dismissed because the plaintiff has not produced his witnesses, and has failed to prove his case, there has been an adjudication so as to operate as res judicata to bar another suit on the same cause of action. SAHADEO PANDEY v. NOKHID PANDEY, 15 W.R. 573.

Res Judicata*—continued.

——6.—Judgments on preliminary points, Effect of—concluded.

(36)—Civ Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13—Res judicata—Former suit for declaration—Limitation.—Where the appellants had sued the respondents, the mother and the adopted son, for a declaration that the latter was not the adopted son of the deceased, and the suit was dismissed as barred by limitation, held that the appellants could not raise the same contention in this suit. MANNU LAL v. HIRA LAL, A.W.N. 1881, 13.

Suit to evict de facto manager of charity by plaintiffs as de jure trustees—Dismissal of suit as barred by time, whether operates as—against subsequent suit by Advocate General. See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 92, 93, 22 B. 216.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XVII, rr. 2 and 3. 80 P.R. 1899.

——7.—Matters in Issue.

(1)—Res judicata—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code—Matter not in issue in prior suit.—The law as to estoppel by a judgment is stated in s. 6 of Act XII of 1879 and s. 13 of Act XIV of 1882. It is that the matter must have been directly and substantially in issue in the former suit, and have been heard and finally decided. In order to see what was in issue in a suit, or what has been heard and decided, the judgment must be looked at. The decree according to the Code of Procedure is only to state the relief granted, or other determination of the suit. The determination may be on various grounds, but the decree does not show on what ground and does not afford any information as to the matters which were in issue or have been decided. [F., 21 M. 344=25 I.A. 102, 8 C.W.N. 30=31 C. 95; Rel. on, 1 M.L.J. 313; D., 15 A. 3, 17 M.L.J. 423, 9 C.W.N. 679; R., 14 B. 31, 12 M. 500, 15 B. 625, 16 B. 1, 3 O.C. 273, 17 A. 174=15 A.W.N. 47, 11 C.P.L.R. 130, 11 C.P.L.R. 150, 27 B. 418, 27 A. 37, P.C., 1 C.L.J. 337, 57 P.R. 1907=66 P.W.R. 1907, F.B.] Where the matter in issue in the subsequent suit was not directly and substantially in issue in the prior suit and was excepted from the decree therein, the subsequent suit is not barred under s. 13. KALI KRISHNA TAGORE v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 16 C. 173=15 I.A. 186, P.C.=5 Sar 237. [F., 21 M 344=25 I.A. 102, 8 C.W.N. 30=31 C. 95; Rel. on, 1 M.L.J. 313; D., 15 A. 3, 17 M.L.J. 423, 9 C.W.N. 679; R., 14 B. 31, 12 M. 500, 15 B. 625, 16 B. 1, 3 O.C. 273, 17 A. 174=A W.N. 1895, 47, 11 C.P.L.R. 130, 11 C.P L.R. 150, 27 B. 418, 27 A. 37, P.C., 1 C L.J. 337, 57 P.R. 1907=66 P.W.R. 1907, F.B.]

(2)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 2—Res judicata—Same cause of action—Parties in direct contest and with full opportunity.—Where the cause of action is the same in substance in both suits and the former suit was so constituted that the parties to the present suit were in direct contest with each other, and had full opportunity of asserting their rights, the decision in the former suit, which disposed of the same matter and substance as in the present suit, is res judicata. Where, in a suit for rent, the jumma payable was distinctly put in issue and decided, the decision barred the question of the rate of jumma being raised in a subsequent suit between the parties. RAKHAL DOSS SINGH v. SREEMUTTY HEERA MOTTEE DOSSEE, 22 W.R. 282. [F., 1 C. 202=24 W.R. 403; R., 34 A. 172=9 A.L.J. 111=13 Ind. Cas. 154.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(3)—Res judicata—Act X of 1877, s. 13, expl. I (Amended by Act XII of 1879), s. 6.—In order to constitute the bar of res judicata, it is not sufficient merely that an issue on the same point should have been raised in the former suit, although that issue may have been incidentally decided; but it must appear that the matter referred to was alleged by one party and either denied or admitted, expressly or impliedly, by the other. SHAMA CHURN CHATTERJEE v. PROSUNNO COOMAR SANTIKAREE, 5 C.L.R. 251.

(4)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Res judicata—Matter, directly and substantially in issue, being the same, though the subject-matters are different—Bengal Tenancy Act, ss. 48, 29 (b), 85, sub-s. 2—Contract for rate in excess of the maximum prescribed, validity of—S. 66—Suit for ejectment for non-payment of rent—Waiver—Act VIII (B. C.) of 1869, s. 22.—For the application of the principle of res judicata, it is not necessary to show that the subject-matter of the former suit was the same as that of the subsequent suit, in which it is sought to be applied, but that the question, the trial of which is sought to be barred in the subsequent suit, was directly and substantially in issue in the former suit, subject to the specified qualifications. A contract for a rate of rent in excess of the maximum rate prescribed is not wholly void, but nothing in excess of the prescribed rate can be recovered. Such a contract is different from one contemplated by s. 29, cl. (b) and s. 85, sub-s. 2 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. (26 C. 199, 26 C. 199 Note, R.) Where a landlord sues for arrears of rent for four successive years, the landlord's claim for ejectment for non-payment of arrears for the first three years must be held to have been waived, and a decree for ejectment can be made for non-payment of the arrears due only for the year immediately preceding that in which the suit is brought. SITANATH MIDDA v. BASUDEB MIDDA, 2 C.L.J. 540. (14 C. 33, F.) [R., 12 C.W.N. 739=9 C.L.J. 597.]

(5)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, exp. 2—Scope of.—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, expl. 2 refers to the title litigated in the former suit as contradistinguished from the relief claimed, and where several independent grounds of action

G. N. Das
Advocate High Court
Jammu & Kashmir
Srinagar.

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

are available, a party is not bound to unite them all in one suit, though he is bound to bring before the Court all grounds of attack available to him with reference to the title which is made the ground of action. ALLUNNI v. KUNJUSHA, 7 M. 264. [Appr., 13 M.L.J. 448; Rel. on, 12 C.W.N. 292=7 C.L.J. 504; Cons., 25 B. 189; R., 15 M. 336, 26 M. 760.]

(6)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Parties suing in different capacities—Plaintiff not bound to assert all his claim at once.—The plaintiffs, jointly with certain others, first instituted a suit for pre-emption against the defendants. That suit having been dismissed, the plaintiffs then brought a second suit in their own right to recover possession of some of the plots sold, alleging that they belonged to them. Held that the omission of the plaintiffs to claim possession of the suit plots in their previous suit did not bar their present claim for them, firstly, because the capacity in which they now sued setting up a private and exclusive title was different from their previous one where they claimed a right jointly with others, and secondly because, under s. 13, cl. 2, Civ. Pro. Code, a plaintiff is not bound to assert at once all his titles to property or to be estopped from thereafter advancing them. MUHAMMAD DIN v. RAHIM GUL, 6 P.R. 1886. [R., 156 P.R. 1889, 146 P.R. 1890, 12 O.C. 347=4 Ind. Cas. 763.]

(7)—Matters which might and ought to have been made ground of defence—Law and custom.—A person, who is entitled to succeed both by law and custom, is bound to make both as his grounds of attack in the first suit. PALA MAL v. MAYA, 146 P.R. 1890. [Rel. on and F., 55 P.R. 1907.]

(8)—Matter which ought to have been made alternative ground of attack—Omission to raise in former suit—Effect in subsequent suits.—An omission to put forward an alternative ground of attack in the first suit bars a subsequent suit based on that ground. KANHYA LAL v. CHARATI LAL, 4 P.R. 1899. [R., 55 P.R. 1907.]

(9)—Decision of unnecessary issue—Res judicata—Final decision.—Decision in a former suit of question not essential to the decision of a case could not be regarded as a final decision of that question between the parties. FATTA v. HAJI AHMAD, 50 P.R. 1899.

(10)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, explanation—Res judicata—Matter which "ought" to have been made ground of attack—Estoppel—Judgment—Findings essential to sustain judgment.—Whether a ground of attack, which might have been taken in a previous suit, ought to have been so taken, depends upon the particular facts of each case. Where matters are so dissimilar that their union might lead to confusion, the construction of the word "ought" would become important. (19 I.A. 234, 20 C. 79, F.; 16 I.A. 107, 16 C. 682, 31 C. 79, 26 M. 645, 24 B. 189, R.). A plaintiff, having striven to establish his claim by one means and failed, cannot establish that claim by other means, which were equally at his command when the former suit was tried, and so connected with the grounds on which he in that case relied that they ought to have been submitted for consideration together. (3 B. 137, F.) A judgment operates by way of estoppel, as regards all the findings which are essential to sustain the judgment. SOLIMUNNISA v. SHAIKH JONAB ALI, 1 Ind. Cas. 808. (6 C.L.J. 621, F.)

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(11)—Matter in issue—Test of res judicata—Issue incidental.—The true test of res judicata is to see whether the matter has been directly and substantially in issue in the former suit and had been heard and finally decided. Matters, which may have been directly, though not substantially, but rather incidentally, in issue and may have been heard without finally being decided do not constitute res judicata. No matter can be said to be directly and substantially in issue or to have been finally decided, unless a decision thereon is necessary for the decision of the case upon the ground on which the final decision ultimately proceeds. NARAIN DAS v. FAIZ SHAH, 157 P.R. 1889, F.B. (6 C. 301, Diss.; 2 C. 321, 4 M. 134, 7 M. 145, 7 A. 606, 7 B. 464, 29 P.R. 1884, R.) [R., 57 P.R. 1907, 84 P.R. 1908; D., 111 P.R. 1907.]

(12)—Matter directly in issue—Test to determine—Pro forma defendant — Dismissal of prior suit as barred by limitation—Other issues considered—Res judicata.—A practical test for settling whether any matter has been directly in issue in a former suit is to make a separation of the discussions and findings on the various classes of issues dealt with in the judgment, and, after the elimination of all but one such class, to see if the judgment still remains intelligible and self-sufficient for the adjudication of the suit and the decree is in entire harmony with it; if the result of the examination is affirmative, the matter so dealt with has been directly and substantially in issue. A pro forma defendant in a suit, who neither appeared nor defended it and from whom no relief was asked, no decree being given either for or against him, may subsequently sue as plaintiff, although the matter at issue in the second suit, had also been in issue and formally determined in the suit in which he was a pro forma defendant. The decision in a suit dismissed after full consideration on the merits where a finding is given on each of the issues framed, is res judicata, though the suit was also dismissed on the ground of limitation. LABHU v. HIRA SINGH, 41 P.R. 1899. [R., 57 P.R. 1907.]

(13)—Amount of rent annually payable—Challenging decree on the ground of fraud—Tests.—Whether or not a decision in a suit for rent operates as res judicata upon a question of the amount of rent annually payable, depends upon the scope of the issues raised and decided.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

If the question raised and decided relates to the amount recoverable for the particular years in dispute, the decision does not operate as res judicata. On the other hand, if the question raised is as to the amount of rent annually payable, the decision operates as res judicata. (1 C.L.J. 248, R.) The tests to be applied in determining whether a party ought to have challenged the decree on the ground of fraud in the previous suit are, whether the party who seeks to re-open the matter in controversy could have with reasonable diligence raised the matter, whether he had a fair opportunity to obtain an adjudication upon the matter and whether the question was one which formed the proper subject of litigation in the previous suit. PRABHU NARAIN SINGH v. SUNDAR PANDEY, 16 C.L.J. 41=16 Ind. Cas. 447.

(14)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882)—Res judicata—What was in issue—Judgment and not decree, to be looked at.—In order to ascertain, for the purpose of deciding a question of res judicata, what was in issue in a suit or what has been heard and decided, the judgment must be looked at, and it would be wrong to look only at the decree. SRI RAJA RAO LAKSHMI KANTAIYAMMI v. SRI RAJA INUGANTI RAJAGOPAL RAO, 2 C.W.N. 337, P.C.=21 M. 344=25 I.A. 102=7 Sar. 325. (15 I.A. 186, F.) [R., 17 M.L.J. 423, 8 O.C. 124; D., 9 C.W.N. 679.]

(15)—Res judicata—Decree couched in general terms.—Where the final decree is couched in general terms, the extent to which it ought to be regarded as res judicata can only be determined by ascertaining what were the real matters in controversy in the cause. AMRITESWARI DEBI v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 24 C 504, P. C.=24 I.A. 33=1 C.W.N. 249=7 Sar. 101.

(16)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, expl. 2 — First suit decided on a preliminary point—Second suit on a point not decided in the first suit.—Explanation 2 to s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, must be read in conjunction with and as part and parcel of the leading provisions of the section itself. According to those provisions, several conditions are necessary to constitute a matter res judicata. Two of those conditions are (1) that the matter must have been in the former suit directly and substantially in issue; and (2) that it must have been heard and finally decided in that suit. The explanation does no more than lay down that if a matter, which might and ought to have been made a ground of defence in the former suit, is not made such a ground, it shall be dealt with as falling within the first of the above mentioned conditions. That is, the omission shall have the same effect given to it as it would have had if it had been made a ground of defence. But to constitute res judicata, a second condition is necessary; it must have been finally decided. And if the former suit went off on a preliminary ground, not calling for adjudication on any other gounds of defence, whether raised or not, those grounds remain undecided. The same effect must be given to a matter which might and ought to have been but has not been made a ground of defence in the former suit as must be given to a matter which was made a ground of defence in the former suit. ABDULLA KHAN v. KHANMIYA, 10 Bom. L. R. 380=32 B. 315.

(17)—"Any matter"—Court giving leave to bring a fresh suit—A man cannot be deprived of his rights as they exist, merely because he put forward rights that did not exist. There is nothing in s. 13 or its expl. 2 of the Civ. Pro. Code, to show that "any matter" means "matter arising out of the same cause of action." The expl. 2 applies to a defendant as well as a plaintiff. The mere fact that the Court refers the party in its judgment to a fresh suit or gives liberty to bring a fresh suit, is not sufficient to take the case out of the bar of res judicata. TARACHAND v. BAI HANSLI, 6 Bom. L.R. 594. [Not F., 2 N.L.R. 94; R., 8 O.C. 74.]

(18)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, expl. II—Res judicata—Matter of attack or defence in former suit—Explanation II of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code applies to a plaintiff to the same extent as to a defendant. MATHURA PRASAD v. SAMBHAR SINGH, A.W.N. 1892, 224. [F., 19 A. 517.]

(19)—Rent, rate of—Previous suit for rent—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Directly and substantially in issue—Expl. II—Constructive res judicata—Heard and finally decided.—The question whether an issue as to the rate of rent generally is a direct or indirect issue in a suit for arrears of rent must be determined with reference to the frame of such suit, and cannot be determined upon any general a priori grounds, if the rent is claimed at a certain annual rate on the simple ground of rent having been paid at that rate in the preceding year, it cannot be said that an issue as to the annual rate of rent generally, is a direct issue in such a suit. On the other hand, if the rent is claimed at an annual rate alleged to have been stipulated for in a binding contract between the parties, either written or oral and the Court proceeds to try the question what is the yearly rent payable according to the contract set up, the general issue must be taken to be a direct one. Exp. II, s. 13, Civ Pro. Code, which provides that any matter which might and ought to have been made ground of defence or attack in such former suit, shall be deemed to have been a matter directly and substantially in issue in such suit, is applicable only when the subject-matter of the two suits or of the issues raised therein is identical. (16 C. 682, 20 C. 79, P.C., D.) Quære:—Whether, in order to bar the subsequent suit or the trial of a issue therein, under expl. II, s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, it is necessary to show not only that the matter which might and ought to have been made ground of defence or attack was directly and substantially in issue in the previous suit, but also that it had been heard and finally decided. Quaere further :—Whether the observations in 24 C. 711 that both these elements must be proved, are consistent with the decisions of the Judicial Committee in 6 C.W.N. 889. RAJENDRA NATH GHOSE v. TARANGINI DASI, 1 C.L.J. 248. (24 C. 711, 6 C.W.N. 889, Expl.) [Expl., 35 C. 979=12 C.W.N. 862=8 C.L.J. 82 ; R., 1 C.L.J. 337.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(20)—Res judicata—Subject-matters, if not heard and decided are not res judicata—Expl. 2, s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882.—Expl. 2, s. 13, is comprehensive in its terms. Even if the matter in issue might and ought to have formed a ground of defence or attack in a previous suit, the same will not be res judicata in a subsequent suit, unless it has been heard and finally decided in the previous suit. Expl. 2, s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, does not, therefore, preclude a defendant in a rent-suit from raising the plea that the plaintiff is a benamidar, notwithstanding that he did not raise this plea in a previous rent-suit. KAILASH MONDUL v. BARODA SUNDARI DASI, 24 C. 711= 1 C.W.N. 565. (24 C. 83, F.) [F., 28 C. 17, 107 P.R. 1906=76 P.L.R 1907, 96 P.W.R. 1907= 55 P.R. 1907=65 P.L.R. 1908; R., 20 A.110=17 A.W.N. 1897, 157, F.B ; 21 M. 91, 25 B. 189 =2 Bom. L.R. 872, 1 C.L.J. 337, 4 C.L.J. 211, U.B R (1906), C.P.C., 46, Cons., 12 C.W. N. 862=8 C.L.J. 82=35 C. 979 ; Doubted, 1 C. L.J. 248; D., 29 C. 252=6 C.W.N. 238.]

(21)—"Matter which might and ought to have been made ground of defence"—Scope of expln. IV to s. 11, Civ. Pro. Code.—This explanation enacting that any matter which might and ought to have been made ground of defence or attack, shall be deemed to have been a matter directly and substantially in issue in such suit, gives no warrant for saying that such matter shall also be deemed to have been heard and finally decided ; and it will not entitle a party to consider as having been decided in his favour, a point not actually so decided. Where a defendant has a defence, which, if he had wished, he might have pleaded, but where, by his not doing so, the suit was decreed against him, this explanation is applicable SAIFUL RAHMAN v. UMAR-UD-DIN, 124 P.R. 1892.

(22)—Decree in favour of plaintiff—Res judicata against all including pro forma defendants.—A decree passed in any suit must be treated as an adjudication of right as between the plaintiff on the one side, and the defendants collectively and severally on the other, except only so far as the decree itself contains any modification or reservation in regard to any of the individual defendants. The rule of law is that any issue which is material to the rights of the parties in the matter of suit between them, whether actually contested or not, shall not be afterwards raised in a subsequent suit between the same parties, and the necessity of putting some term to litigation is the foundation of this rule. In this respect, a defendant brought in pro forma is in exactly the same situation as any other defendant. DEOKEE NUNDUN ROY v. KALEE PERSHAD, 8 W.R. 366. [D., 19 W.R. 219.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(23)—Res judicata—Operation of.—A matter which has been directly adjudicated upon by a Court of competent jurisdiction can be treated as res judicata in a subsequent suit, but not matters determined for incidental or collateral purposes only. So it was held that, where a suit for arrears of rent at enhanced rates was dismissed for want of notice, but it was also found that the patta set up by the defendant was not genuine, the decision was no bar to the defendant pleading the patta in a subsequent suit for rent for a subsequent year. JARDINE SKINNER AND CO. v. DWARKANATH CHUCKERBUTTY, 14 W.R. 412.

(24)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata.—Unless the cause of action in a suit was put in issue and directly determined, it cannot be said to have been heard and determined in a former judgment. Any opinion incidentally expressed canot be considered to be a finding upon the issue. A decree in a former suit against one of the two defendants in that suit, after the determination of that person's liability alone, would not bar a subsequent suit against the other defendant. SHIB NATH CHATTERJEE v. NUBO KISHEN CHATTERJEE, 21 W.R. 189.

(25)—Collateral issue—No finality.—Where the issue as to the rights of the parties was only collateral upon the claim which was then preferred for enhancement of rent, any decision on such collateral issue is not a bar to another suit, directly on the point so decided. SALAHMUNISSA KHATOON v. MOHESH CHUNDER ROY, 16 W.R. 85.

(26)—Res judicata—Reasoning on findings of fact—Estoppel.—Such matters only as are decided between the parties by the decree in the suit ought to be treated as binding against them in subsequent litigation. No part of the reasoning on the findings on fact which have induced the Court to come to its decision, are binding as between the parties further than for the purposes of the particular decision. AUKHIL CHUNDER MOOKERJEE v. SHIB NARAIN GHOSE, 15 W.R. 527.

(27)—Suit dismissed as premature—Finding on issue not necessary to decision, not res judicata in subsequent suit.—Where a suit is dismissed as premature, the finding of the Court on any issue on the merits would be unnecessary to the determination of the suit, and would not therefore be conclusive upon an issue involving the same point in a subsequent suit. KANHYA SINGH v. DEWA SINGH, 27 P.R. 1879, F.B. [R., 41 P.R. 1899 ; D., 146 P.R. 1890, 111 P.R. 1907.]

(28)—Finding in previous suit, when conclusively binding—Identical material issue in subsequent suit, trial and decision of, in previous suit.—Against the decision passed by the lower appellate Court in favour of the plaintiff in this case, defendant appealed on the ground that that Court had based its judgment exclusively on a previous decision which it wrongly held was necessarily conclusive against the appellant merely because he was a party to it, but, which, however interpreted, could in no way be binding or conclusive as against him in respect of the subject-matter of the present suit. The High Court remanded the case because the lower Court's decision, besides being exceedingly confused, had omitted to state the facts of the case, the issues tried, and the finding of the Court thereon with the distinctness with which they were required by law to be stated. The decree in the previous suit contained no such finding of fact as the lower Court supposed that it did. Further, even assuming that it did contain such a finding, the lower Court, while declaring such finding conclusive in the present suit, ought to have given its reason for considering it to be so; for, the mere existence of a finding in another suit to which he was a party would be no bar as against the appellant, unless it be shown that the issue in question in the latter suit was distinctly raised and tried in the other suits and was a material issue in it. DAHOO MUNDER v. GOPEE NUND JHA, 2 W. R. 79.

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(29) - Res judicata, force of.—The force of res judicata attaches not only to the bare condemnation or discharge of a defendant, but to all the objective grounds distinctly found by the Judge as the basis of his decision. RAMASAMI PADEIYATCHI v. VIRASAMI PADEIYATCHI, 3 M.H.C. 272.

(30)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), s. 13—Decision in previous suit of matter essential for its decision—Issue relating to same matter in subsequent suit—Res judicata.—The decision in a former case between the same parties of a matter of which the decision was necessary to the decision of the former suit, is conclusive upon the same matter when it comes in issue in a subsequent suit between the same parties in the same Court, both being equally within the competency of such Court. MUHAMMAD BAKSH v. NAMDAR KHAN, 18 P.R. 1882, F.B. [R., 163 P.R. 1883, 145 P.R. 1888, 20 P.R. 1891.]

(31)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Suit to declare adoption invalid.—Where the daughter of a deceased Hindu sues for a declaration that the defendant is not her father's adopted son as he claims to be, and her suit is dismissed on its being proved that the alleged adoption was valid, the same question cannot be raised a second time in a suit by the adopted son to recover possession of certain properties transferred to the daughter by way of gift. VENKATARAGHAVA v. RANGAMMA, 15 M. 498.

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(32)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13—Adoption.—Where the question of an adoption which a person was interested in denying, was decided in the negative and in his favour by a competent Court, such decision would be res judicata in a subsequent suit by his son claiming through him, in which the son is interested in establishing the adoption, even though the suit should relate to different properties. PITTAPUR RAJA v. BUCHI SITAYYA, 8 M. 219, P.C.=12 I.A. 16=4 Sar. 598. [F., 11 A. 148; R., 13 B. 25, 14 B. 206, 26 M. 760, 27 A. 37, P.C., 9 C.L.J. 597=12 C.W.N. 739; D., 1 C.L J. 337.]

(33)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Cause of action.—A and B were brothers. After their father's death, A, who was in possession of a portion only of the family estate, sued B, who was in possession of the remainder, for the recovery of his share therein. The suit was decreed. Subsequently, B came forward to claim partition, in his favour, of a portion of the same family property on the ground that A held more than his share. Held, that the suit was barred. If what A sought, in the provious suit, was more than he was entitled to, then B might and ought to have urged that fact as a ground of defence in that suit. MUKTUN VALAD MOHIDIN v. IMAM VALAD MOHIDIN, 10 B.H.C. 293. [R., 1 A. 75.]

(34)-Suit against Hindu widow and her daughter for recovery of property.—Two brothers, on a division of the family estate, agreed that the villages of the shares of both of them should, in future, descend only to the sons and grandsons, and so on, of them both, but must not go to any others. On the death of one of them, the other brother sued his widow to recover the property which she had taken as heir to her husband. This suit was dismissed, as the shares had descended according to law. In a subsequent suit, brought by the surviving brother, against the daughter of the other, to whom the widow had transferred the property, the question of the title of the widow would be res judicata. VENKATADRI APPA RAU v. PEDA VENKAYAMMA, 10 M. 15, P.C.

(35)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Decision on issues raised necessary for proper adjudication of suit—No specification as to issue on which decision was based—Decision on one of the issues necessary in determining subsequent suit—Res judicata.—On the death of a widow, the reversioner sued to recover the lands alienated by her, during the widow's lifetime, plaintiff had instituted a suit for a declaration that the alienation was not beyond her lifetime. In that suit, two issues had been raised: one was whether the suit had been barred by limitation and the other as to the binding character of the alienation. The Court decided both the issues against the plaintiff and dismissed the suit. It did not however say on the decision of which of the issues the suit was dismissed. The question now was whether the prior suit was a bar to the maintainability of the present suit.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

Held, that the question as to whether the alienation by the widow was binding on the reversioner was necessary for the decision of the previous suit in the same way as the question of limitation. As the decision of that question was between the same parties and binding on them all, it operated to make that decision res judicata. NANJAPPA GOUNDAN v. NANJAPPA GOUNDAN, 7 M.L.J. 274.

(36)—Alienation by widow—Suit by reversioners to set aside -Former suit to set aside earlier alienation — Decision regarding plaintiffs' position as reversioners—Res judicata—Act X of 1877, s. 13. Expl. II.—The reversionary heirs of one W, sued for a declaration that a mortgage of his land made by his widow J, in favour of her brother's son-in-law K, was not binding upon them. The suit was against J and K, and the first question which arose was, whether the plaintiffs were the reversioners and entitled to bring the suit. It was contended by the plaintiffs that the above question had been raised in a former suit in 1866 between the same plaintiffs, and J, and decided in favour of the plaintiffs, and that, as the co-defendant K claimed under a title derived from J, it was not competent to the Court, with reference to s. 13, Act X of 1877, to try the same question again in the present suit. The former case in 1866 was in respect of a mortgage by J, in favour of her brother G, and the present plaintiffs had sued her and G to have the mortgage set aside on the ground that it had been made without necessity. One of the questions raised and decided in that suit in favour of the plaintiffs was whether the plaintiffs were entitled to raise the objection, with the result that a decree was passed in favour of the plaintiffs for cancellation of the mortgage. The defendants in the present case contended that the question of the plaintiffs' locus standi as reversioners was only raised incidentally in that case and that, not having been "a matter directly and substantially in issue in the former suit" within s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code the Court was not debarred from raising and trying it again in the present suit and ought to do so. Held that, though the object of the former suit was not to try the question whether the plaintiffs were reversionary heirs to the land, yet it was a question which had necessarily to be decided in that suit, and as the allegation by the defendants that the plaintiffs were not the reversioners and therefore not entitled to sue to set aside the mortgage, would, if proved, have been a good defence to the suit, under expl. II to s. 13 of the Code, the competency of the plaintiffs as reversioners to contest the validity of the alienation by J. was directly and substantially in issue in the former suit, so that the decision passed on it would be binding upon the parties to the present suit KHAIRDIM v. AHMED, 95 P.R. 1881.

(37)—"Matters directly and substantially in issue" Will, Revocation of—Hindu widow, will executed by, in accordance with husband's wish. —The plaintiff was the widow of G, who was the son of a daughter of H by his wife S. H died in 1870 and his two widows S and B obtained possession of his villages. S died in 1885. In 1887 B sued G in the Court of the District Judge for possession of B's half share in the villages, on the allegations that the heirs of H were his two widows, that they had executed the will, dated the 21st December, 1872, in favour of G under undue influence, that they had cancelled that will, &c., &c. G admitted that H died leaving his two widows as his heirs, but alleged that the widows had executed the will in his favour in accordance with the verbal will of H, that he was entitled to possession under the will &c., &c. The District Judge framed among others the following issues :— (1) Did H, prior to his death, express a wish that his widows should execute a will in G's favour of his estate? (2) Was the will dated the 21st December 1872, executed in accordance with H's wishes or was it executed without his authority? (3) Did B and S revoke the aforesaid will and could they legally do so? The District Judge dismissed the suit in January, 1888, holding that H, prior to his death, had verbally expressed a wish that his widows should execute a will in favour of G of his estate, that the will, dated the 21st December, 1872, was executed by the widows in accordance with such wish, and that the widows did not revoke that will. B died in 1895 and G in 1896. The plaintiff claimed as his widow sued the defendants, who claimed under a deed of gift, dated the 15th September, 1890, executed by B for possession of B's halfshare in the villages on the allegati on that in his lifetime H expressed the wish that, after his death, his two widows S and B should have possession of the villages, and that as each of them should die, G should take her share, that on the 21st December 1872 both the widows, in accordance with the wish of their husband, executed a will in favour of G, who under the will on B's death succeeded to her half share. The defendants denied that H had expressed any such wish as was alleged by the plaintiff, that his wish was not binding on his widows, and that B had revoked the will in 1890. Held, that the determination of the questions, whether H expressed a wish that the widows should execute a will in G's favour and whether the will, which they executed, was executed in accordance with such wish, was material and necessary for the right decision of the previous suit, and those questions were consequently "directly and substantially in issue" in that suit. Held therefore, that in the second suit the matters, whether H had expressed a wish that his widows should execute a will in favour of G, that the will which the widows had executed was executed in accordance with such wish, and that the widows had not revoked the will, were matters which the Court was prohibited by s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, from trying, by reason of the decision of the District Judge in the former suit. It having been found that the property in suit was the separate and divided property of H, which by custom his widows had power to alienate by way of "sale, mortgage or gift," held that B was competent to revoke the will, dated the 21st December, 1872, that the will was not the will of H but of the widows, and that the fact that it was executed in accordance with H's wish could not make it his will. KISHAN DAYAL v. MUSST. CHAMPA KUAR, 4 O.C. 145 (B).

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(38)—Res judicata—Matter in issue decided in former suit—Will, validity of.—Where the question of the validity of a will was decided in a former suit in which the plaintiff and the defendants in the subsequent suit were the defendant and plaintiffs respectively, the same question cannot be raised in the subsequent suit. KAMINI DEBI v. ASUTOSH MUKERJEE, 16 C. 103=15 I.A. 159=5 Sar. 246. [R., 14 B. 206, 8 C.L.J. 369.]

(39)—Sivaganga sanad of 1803—Failure of suit alleging fraud — Possession known and acquiesced in prior to adjudication.—The High Court of Madras dismissed, on the facts, a suit brought in 1886, grounded on fraud attributed to the lineal ancestor of the principal defendant, in obtaining in 1803, the grant of the sanad of the Sivaganga zemindari, to which the plaintiff claimed title. The plaintiff's case was that the defendant's ancestor, the younger of two brothers, had fraudulently caused the sanad to be made out in his own name, whereas it was intended to be, and ought to have been, a grant to the elder brother, who was the plaintiff's lineal ancestor. Those through whom the plaintiff claimed had not made any such charge, although they had knowledge of all the facts connected with the grant of the sanad of 1803 to the younger brother and with the long possession by him and his descendants, among whom there had been litigation, resulting in a decision as to the ownership. In these circumstances, a suit could not be maintained to re-open the question. BALA GAURI VALLABA TEVAR v. PERIASAMI UDAYAR TEVAR, 17 M 384=21 I.A 93=4 M.L.J. 139, P.C.=6 Sar. 466.

(40)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 2—Claim to estate against person in possession.—When a plaintiff claims an estate, and the defendant, being in possession resists it, he is bound to resist it upon all the grounds that it is possible to him, according to his knowledge, then, to bring forward: if he fails to do so, he is estopped from asserting any of them thereafter. The facts are exactly similar to those in 1 A. 75. JADU LAL v. RAMGHOLAM, 1 A. 316. (1 A. 75, F.) [Overruled, 26 A. 61, F.B.; F., 3 A. 189.]

(41)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 2—Claim to estate—Defence.—When a plaintiff claims an estate, and the defendant, being in possession, resists it, he is bound to resist it upon all the grounds that it is possible to him, according to his knowledge, then, to bring forward; if he fails to do so, he is estopped from asserting any of them thereafter. Where, therefore, in a former suit for possession brought by the defendants against the plaintiff, the latter unsuccessfully pleaded his title as auction-purchaser, but did not set up the right of pre-emption with respect to the property, which had already accrued to him, held that the subsequent suit, based on such right of pre-emption, was res judicata. BALDEO SAHAI v. BATESHAHAR SINGH, 1 A. 75. [Overruled, 26 A. 61 =A.W.N. 1903, 106; F., 1 A. 316, 3 A. 189, 20 A. 516; R., 11 B. 708.]

(42)—Civ. Pro. Code (1859), s. 2—Title.—Where, in a former suit between the same parties, the whole question of the plaintiff's title to the plaint property as against the defendant was laid open by the pleadings and decided against him, held, in a subsequent suit for the same relief brought by the plaintiff in a different capacity, but a capacity that had already accrued at the time of the former suit and was also inconsistent with his capacity in the first suit, that the suit was res judicata. RADHIA v. BENI, 1 A. 560.

(43)—Title—Former suit--Estoppel.—Where, in a former suit, a decree-holder sought to establish his right in execution to a taluk as belonging to his judgment-debtor T, and S, one of the defendants in that suit, set up a plea that the taluq belonged to him by virtue of a hibbanamah executed in his favour by T, and it was then decided that the taluk did not belong to S and was liable to be sold, held that S was estopped from suing, in a subsequent suit, for a declaration of his right to the taluk as against the decree-holder. MOONSHEE ABDOOL GUNNEE v. KISHNANUND DOSS ALIAS KEBUL RAM DOSS, 17 W. R. 350. [D., 22 W. R. 349.]

(44)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. 1—Res judicata—Suit for possession of portion of property.—Where, in a former suit for possession of a portion of certain property, the plaintiff alleges that he is entitled to the other portion as well, and the defendant denies the same, and an issue being framed on this point, the question is decided against the plaintiff, such decision is res judicata, as between the same parties in a subsequent suit. WILAITI BEGAM v. NUR KHAN, 5 A. 514=A.W.N. 1883, 110.

(45)—Suit for possession.—In 1852, one Tiery acquired a plot of land, lot No. 104, under a Government grant. In the year 1851, the Nawab Nazim, claiming then to be the owner of lot No. 100, adjoining to lot 104, granted a lease of it to one Bhart Chunder Roy, and in the year 1853, one Nazir Ali granted a lease of the same lot to Nund Lall Ghose, but it was not clear under what the title of Nazir Ali was. In 1859, Nand Lall Ghose instituted a suit against Tiery on the ground that the latter, trespassing beyond his bounds, had appropriated a parcel of lot 100, and obtained a judgment in his favour against which Tiery appealed to the Privy Council on the 14th August, 1862. In the meanwhile, Bharut Chunder, the lessee of lot 100 from Nawab Nazim, brought an action against Nand Lall Ghose, Ghose's lessor Nazir Ali, and Tiery, suing Tiery not as the owner of lot 100, but as a manager for the purpose of obtaining possession of lot 100. Tiery disclaiming any interest, Bharut Chunder succeeded in both the Courts and obtained judgment for lot 100 on the 30th of August, 1862. Pending his appeal, Tiery died, and one Belchambers was substituted as the appellant. Nand Lall Ghose did not take active measures to contest the appeal, because of the judgment of 30th August, 1862. During this time, Bharut Chunder failed to pay his rent, and lot 100 was sold by Court auction and was brought by Dhur. Dhur applied to be made the respondent in the appeal to the Privy Council, and was accordingly made the respondent. The Privy Council held that Nand Lall Ghose had not proved that the disputed lot belonged to lot 100; and that the land in dispute belonged to lot 104, but stated that they did not adjudicate upon any question of title between Dhur and the other respondent. Gobind Chunder, a representative of Nand Lall Ghose, or any other person who might be interested in lot 100. Thereafter, Dhur sued, as the owner of lot 100, and claimed the disputed land as part of lot 100. Held that the plaintiff's claim was res judicata by reason of the previous judgment of the Privy Council. BELCHAMERS v. ASHOOTOSH DHUR, 7 C.L.R. 308, P.C.=5 Sar. 736.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(46)—Matter which ought to have been made ground of defence—Suit for possession.—Where, although in the first suit plaintiff did not expressly plead his right of possession as a non-proprietor, he should have done so, and where, even, without his doing it, the suit was of such a nature that the Court was satisfied in considering the point without its being specially urged, the second suit for possession as non-proprietor is barred. NEK MUHAMMAD v. SATTAR MUHAMMAD, 6 P.R. 1896.

(47)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13 (Expl. III), 211, 244—Res judicata—"Future" mesne profits.—Where the plaintiffs had put the question of future mesne profits in issue in the former suit, and have specifically asked for relief in respect thereof, and the decree was silent on the subject, such relief must be deemed to have been refused (See s. 13, Expl. III of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882). And the provisions contained in s. 211 and the last paragraph of s. 244 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, do not contemplate a case in which the plaintiff has directly insisted on a decision upon his right to future mesne profits, or override the rules laid down in s. 13 of the Code. NARAIN DAS v. KHAN SINGH, A.W.N. (1884) 159. (Overruled, 21 A. 425, F.B.=A.W.N. 1899, 153.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(48)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13, Expls. I and II—Suit for possession by donee—Mortgage.—Where a previous suit, for possession by the donee of certain property, against the defendant who was alleged to have trespassed upon it, was dismissed on the ground that the defendant held under a mortgage executed by the donor as guardian of the donee, a subsequent suit by the donee claiming under the gift and alleging that the mortgage to the defendant was invalid, would be barred as res judicata unedr Expls. I and II to s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, inasmuch as the mortgage was matter substantially in issue in the previous suit. NIRMAN SINGH v. PHULMAN SINGH, 4 A. 65 =A.W.N. 1881, 117. [R., 13 B. 25.]

(49)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. II—Res judicata—Title which might have formed alternative ground in previous suit, not to be relied on in subsequent suit.—A claim to possession under an absolute title and claim to possession under a mortgage title are not such dissimilar claims as would cause confusion by being pleaded in the alternative. In the present case, the plaintiff's claim to hold as mortgagee was one that he not merely might, but ought to, have added, as an alternative ground of attack against the defendant, to the prayer in the former suit brought by him against the defendant, for possession of the property, claiming merely on his title as owner thereof. Consequently, the plaintiff's alternative claim to possession as mortgagee not having been made the ground of attack in the former suit, as it ought to have been done, such claim would be barred, from being set up in the subsequent suit, by the principle of res judicata laid down in expl. II, s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code. IMAM KHAN v. AYUB KHAN, 19 A. 517=A.W.N. 1897, 143. (A.W.N. 1891, 132. A.W.N. 1892, 224, 16 A. 252, 16 M. 117, 19 I.A. 234, R.) [Diss., 2 O.C. 139, 55 P.R. 1907=65 P.L R. 1908=96 P.W.R. 1907, 12 O.C 347; F., 20 A. 516; R., 4 P.R. 1903, 2 A.L.J. 342.]

(50)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, present Code)—Res judicata—Prior mortgagee's omission to plead his charge in a suit by a subsequent mortgagee—Decree for sale—Subsequent suit by him on mortgage, not maintainable.—If, in a suit by a subsequent mortgagee for sale of the mortgaged property, a prior mortgagee who is impleaded as defendant, fails to plead his prior mortgage, and his right to have it redeemed, and a decree is passed for sale of the mortgaged property, but not subject to his prior charge, a subsequent suit by him on his prior mortgage will be barred by Expl. II to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. SRI GOPAL v. PIRTHI SINGH, 6 C.W.N. 889, P.C.=4 Bom. L.R. 827=29 I.A. 118=24 A. 429=8 Sar. 293. [F., 2 C.L.J. 574, 12 C.W.N. 862=8 C.L J 82; Rel. on, 31 C. 428; Expl., 1 C.L.J. 248, 1 C.L.J. 337; Appl., 17 M.L.J. 301=2 M.L.T. 330=30 M. 353; R., 13 M.L.J. 448=26 M. 760, 5 C.L.J. 611, 12 C.W.N. 292=7 C.L.J. 504.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(51)—Sale of mortgaged property by mortgage —Purchaser suing for possession—Sale impeached by mortgagor—Decree in favour of purchaser — No finding whether the sale was bona fide—Mortgagor subsequently suing mortgagee for redemption -- Maintainability of suit—Res judicata.—T mortgaged certain property to A and B in 1874 who subsequently sold it to one X. The latter brought a suit against the mortgagor T for possession. The defendant in that suit pleaded that the sale to X was fraudulent and void, because the mortgagees had been in possession of the property and in receipt of the rents and profits since the sale. A decree was passed in favour of X, but no finding was recorded whether X was a bona fide purchaser for value or not. The present suit was instituted by the son of T against the mortgagees A and B for redemption of the mortgaged property and for a declaration that the sale by the mortgagees was not bona fide and as such void as against him. The defendants (mortgagees) pleaded that the decision in the previous suit operated as res judicata and that the present suit could not be maintained. Held that the issues raised for decision and the decree in the previous suit operated as res judicata and barred the present suit. In the previous suit, the purchaser of the mortgaged property (X) gave evidence that his purchase was bona fide. Though no actual finding was recorded on that issue, it must be taken that the issue was decided in the affirmative because a decree was passed in favour of X (in the previous suit). RAMKRISHNA JAGANNATH v. VITHAL RAMJI, 15 B. 89. [R., 25 B. 115, 6 Bom. L.R. 288.]

(52)—Suit on mortgage — Plea as to property being waqf not raised by defendant—Decree—Attachment of mortgaged property—Suit to release property as being waqf—Res judicata.—The plaintiff in the present suit was defendant in the former suit which was based upon two mortgage bounds, and the prayer of the former plaint was in the alternative either for payment of the principal and interest due under the mortgage or for possession of the mortgaged property. The present suit was for a declaration that the mortgaged property which the plaintiff in the former suit had caused to be attached in execution of his money decree was waqf, and for its release from attachment. In the former suit, the fact of the mortgage was not denied, but no plea was raised that it was inoperative as against the property on the ground of its being waqf. Held, that the defendant in the former suit might and ought to have pleaded in the alternative that the mortgage was inoperative to bind the property of which the plaintiff therein sought possession, and that the present suit was therefore liable to be dismissed on the ground of res judicata. BANNE SHAH v. KARM CHUND, 89 P.R. 1881.

(53)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata —Matter which might have been made ground of attack in former suit.—Where a puisne incumbrancer, who as such might have claimed redemption of a prior incumbrance, sued only for a declaration, as against the auction purchasers under a decree on the prior mortgage, of his right to bring the property purchased by them to sale in virtue of his mortgage, held that he could not subsequently sue for redemption of the prior mortgage. JHAMMAN v. DWARKA PRASAD, A.W.N. 1897, 100.

(54)—Decree for redemption of mortgage—No provision for foreclosure or payment within fixed time—Mortgagee subsequently suing for sale of mortgaged property—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl II - Limitation.—Where a decree for redemption does not provide that the mortgage-money should be paid within a fixed time and that, in default, the mortgaged property shall be foreclosed, it operates of itself as a foreclosure decree, if it is not executed within three years. When once such a decree is passed, the mortgagee cannot subsequently institute a suit for sale of the mortgaged property, because s. 13, expl. II of the Civ. Pro. Code, bars such a suit. The defendant obtained on 12-11-1883 a decree for redemption, which did not provide for payment of the mortgage-money within a fixed time or for foreclosure in case of default. On 26 11-1884, the plaintiff (mortgagee) instituted the present suit against the mortgagors for sale of the mortgaged property. Money was paid into Court by the mortgagor on 8-4-1885. The mortgagee refused to accept it and insisted that the property should be sold. Held:—(1) That no time having been fixed for redemption, the defendants (mortgagors) who obtained the redemption-decree in the previous suit, had, under the Limitation Act, 1877, three years within which they could execute it, and that, as they had paid the money within 3 years, they were entitled to recover the property, (2) That the decree made in the redemption suit would practically be a decree for foreclosure if not executed within three years and would therefore effectually determine the rights under the mortgage both of the mortgagee and the mortgagors, and (3) That the plaintiff (the mortgagee) having failed to obtain a provision for sale in the redemption decree in the former suit, as he might and ought to have done if he wished to preserve the right of sale, that right must be held to have been a matter directly and substantially in issue in the former suit within the meaning of expl. II to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882; and to have been, in effect, negatived by the judgment. MALOJI v. SAGAJI, 13 B. 567. [Diss., 93 P.R. 1908=164 P.L.R. 1908=133 P.W.R. 1908; Not F., 15 M. 366; F., 19 A. 202, 23 B. 592; Appr., 3 O.C. 371, 25 M. 300; Rel. on, 10 C.L.J. 115=1 Ind. Cas. 71; R., 16 B. 243, 26 B. 661, 24 A. 44, 43 P.R. 1907=169 P.L.R. 1908=101 P.W.R. 1907.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continue d.

(55)—Suit for redemption decreed—Subsequent suit for recovery of the amount not taken into account—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 92 and 94.—In a suit for redemption there ought to be a complete and final settlement of all accounts between the mortgagor and the mortgagee, right up to the date of the redemption. Where, therefore, a mortgagor obtained a decree for redemption, and paid up the amount found due, and subsequently brought a suit for recovery of the amount, which, he alleged, the mortgagee had collected during the time he was in possession, and which was not taken into account in the previous suit, held that the suit was barred. KASHI PERSHAD v. BAJRANG PERSHAD, 4 A.L.J. 763=A.W.N. 1907, 281=30 A 36 [R., 30 A. 225=A.W.N. 1908, 96=5 A.L.J. 192, 12 O.C. 152=2 Ind. Cas. 834.]

(56)—Res judicata—Some issue in two suits—Finding in one incorporated in the other—Appeal against one decree only — Effect of —In two suits for sale upon different mortgages, one of the defendants, a prior mortgagee, pleaded that his mortgage had not been satisfied. The Subordinate Judge found in the one case that the mortgage had not been satisfied and incorporated that finding in the other case. The plaintiff appealed in the one case against that finding, but allowed the decree in the other to become final. Held, that the judgment in the case not appealed against operated as res judicata. DAKHNI DIN v. SYED ALI ASGHAR, 7 A.L.J. 995=7 Ind. Cas 909. (7 A.L.J. 816, F.B., F.)

(57)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. II—Res judicata—Matter which might have been made a ground of defence in former suit.—A R and C P, in three separate suits, obtained decrees against C L and others for sale of certain hypothecated property. C L never appeared to defend those suits; but, when execution of the decrees therein was sought, he filed objections, which objections were overruled. C L then brought a separate suit for a declaration that the property against which the decree-holders A R and P G held decrees was not liable to sale by reason of the want of title on the part of the mortgagors to mortgage the same. In this suit, he got a decree in respect of the property dealt with in two of the former suits, but, as to the property dealt with in the third, his suit was dismissed. He then appealed and the decree-holders also appealed as to the other two suits. Held, that the matters alleged by the judgment-debtor, plaintiff, were matters which might and ought to have been made a ground of defence in the former suits in which he was a defendant and the present suit was, therefore, barred by the principle of res judicata. AMOLAK RAM v. CHAMPA LAL, A.W.N. 1891, 132. [F., 19 A. 517.]

(58)—Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, s. 11—Rent, rate of—Quantity of land or area—Issue, incidental or going to the root—Authorities, review of.—The question of res judicata in rent suits is one of constant recurrence and the decision must depend on the circumstances of each case. In all such suits where questions of res judicata arise, what is necessary to see is this, namely, whether the decision in the former rent suit was given on an incidental point or on a question that went to the very root of the case. Where, in a previous suit for rent, one of the issues was "what is the jama payable by the defendants for the lands in arrears and for the period of action," and the decree in that suit with regard to the rate of rent was in the following terms, "that the rent in respect of the land claimed by the defendants be fixed at Rs. 16 per annum," and, the plaintiffs and defendants of the rent-suit were respectively plaintiffs and defendants in a subsequent suit, and the land for which rent was claimed in the rent suit included the land in the subsequent suit, in which the plaintiffs' case was not that there was any alteration effected with regard to the annual rental fixed by the decree in the previous suit: Held, that the issue in the rent-suit involved three questions, namely, (1) what was the jama payable by the defendants for the land in arrears; which therefore included, (2) what was the land in arrears, and (3) what was the jama for the period in question, and all those points were, therefore, directly and substantially in issue between the parties in the previous suit and could not be regarded as incidental only, and that the question as to the area of the land was the sole question that was in controversy between the parties at the hearing and was the point on which the whole decision turned, and that it went to the very root of the case and the decision of it must, therefore, be regarded as conclusive between the parties, and the subsequent suit is barred by the rule of res judicata. MANE MAHAMMED v. DHANI MAHAMMED, 17 C L.J. 71=16 Ind. Cas. 22=17 C.W.N. 76. (21 C. 236, D.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(59)—Rent suit—Scope of issue—Incidents of tenancy—Not relating to claim for particular year — Raikumat — Legally recoverable if payable, under custom—Decision that raikumat payable, whether res judicata.—The decision in a rent suit may operate as res judicata, where it is upon a question as to the incidents of the tenancy, not merely in relation to the claim for that particular year, but from a wider point of view Raikumat is legally recoverable if it is payable under a custom. Therefore, a decision that raikumat was payable in a previous rent suit, involved, by implication at any rate, a decision that the raikumat claimed was payable under a custom; and the decision, being upon a mixed question of fact and law, operates as res judicata. BECHA RAM SAHU v. CHAMRU URAON, 15 Ind. Cas 837.

(60)—*S.*13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Res judicata—Decree in rent suit—Question of annual rent payable — Ex parte decree. — Whether the decision, as regards the amount of rent payable annually, in a previous suit, operates as res judicata, must be determined with reference to the question whether the issue in the previous suit related to the amount of rent payable for a particular period, or to the rent payble for the full term of the lease. In the former contingency, the decision is not res judicata: in the latter event, it is (11 C.L.J. 248, 28 C. 318, F.) an ex parte decree operates as res judicata, not only as regards questions which were substantially and directly in issue and had been decided, but also as regards points which ought to have been taken in defence and were not taken in defence by the absent defendant. BEPIN BEHAR DAS v. HARA CHANDRA BAIRAGI, 2 Ind. Cas. 11. (31 C. 79, F.; 16 C. 300, F. B., R.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(61)—Previous rent suit — Decree at certain rate—No subsequent change—Subsequent rent suit—Whether previous decree res judicata.—In a previous rent suit, an issue was to the effect: "At what rate is the plaintiff entitled to get rent." The first Court gave a decree at a rate between the rates alleged by the parties. The Appellate Court gave a decree at the rate admitted by the defendant. Subsequently, there was a title suit which was taken up to the High Court and in which it was held that the question of the jama payable was res judicata: Held, that, there having been no change alleged, the rate at which rent was decided to have been payable in the previous suit was res judicata in subsequent rent suit. KASIMADDI MUHAMMAD v. SHIB PROSAD DAS CHOWDHURY, 16 Ind. Cas. 590. 19 C. 656, 20 C. 505, 6 C.W.N. 589, R.)

(62)—Res judicata—Evidence—Decision on merits—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—A suit for arrears of rent was dismissed by the Munsiff on the ground that, in a former suit between the same parties, the kabuliat on which the plaintiff sued was declared inadmissible in evidence, and that this decision was a bar to the plaintiff's claim under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859. The Judge, on appeal, considered that the Munsiff was wrong in holding the claim of the plaintiff barred as res judicata, but held that the former decision was a strong piece of evidence against the plaintiff and he upheld the decree of the Court below. Held that there had been a decision on the merits. KUMMEN KISHEN SEN v. MR. J. P. WISE, 18 W.R. 196.

(63)—First suit for rent for one year—Abatement of rent claimed to a smaller extent and decided—Second suit for abatement of rent to a larger extent in the future barred.—Where, in a suit for a year's rent, the tenant claimed abatement and a judgment was passed determining the amount to be abated on materials applicable to one year as well as to another, held that the question of abatement was once for all decided and became res judicata NUBO DOORGA DOSSEE v. FYZ BUKSH CHOWDRY, 24 W.R. 403=1 C. 202. [Appr., 3 C. 383; D., 3 C. 271, 21 C. 236; R., 13 M. 287, 9 B. 75, 1 C.L.J. 248.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(64)—Act X of 1877, s. 13, Expl. II—Res judicata—Ejectment.—In a suit for arrears of rent ejectment, and defendant pleaded that his tenure was istemrari and so he was not liable to be ejected. The Judge found that the istemrari character of the tenure was not established, and gave a decree for the rent claimed and for ejectment of the defendant on failure of payment within fifteen days from the date of the decree. The defendant saved his tenure by paying off the arrears. In a subsequent suit by the same plaintiff against the same defendant for ejectment, the defendant cannot urge that his tenure is both transferable and istemrari. DINOMOYI DEBIA CHOWDHRAIN v. ANUNGO MOYI, 4 C.L.R 599. [11 B.L.R. 158, F.]

(65)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. II—Res judicata—Matter which should have been made a ground of defence in previous suit—Subject-matter, if must be identical—Rent suit—Ex parte decree—Plea of payment not raised—Claim of set off in subsequent rent suit.—In a suit for rent, the defendant claimed a set off for a certain sum which, he said, he had paid on account of previous arrears of rent, but for which no credit had been given by the plaintiffs in a suit for the rent of that period. That suit had been heard ex parte and decreed in the plaintiff's favour. Held, that the plea of payment now raised should have been made a ground of defence in the previous suit, and the defendant was precluded from claiming a set off in regard to it by Expl. II of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, (1 C.W.N. 565=24 C. 711, 1 C.L.J. 248, Cons.; 20 A. 110, F.; 6 C.W.N. 889=24 A. 249, R.) Semble, per Ryves, J.—The Privy Council in 6 C.W.N. 889=24 A. 249 has by implication overruled the decision in 1 C.W.N. 565=24 C. 711. JAMADAR SINGH v. SERAZUDDIN AHAMAD CHOWDHURY, 12 C.W.N. 862=8 C.L.J. 82=35 C. 979.

(66)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl. II. —Suit for enhancement — Compensation for improvements accrued due previous to prior suit for enhancement defendants, not competent to plead non-payment of.—In this case, the lower Courts had held that the defendants were at liberty to plead in answer to the present suit for enhancement of rent the fact that the plaintiffs, the landlords, had not paid compensation for improvements made prior to the institution of a former suit for enhancement between the same parties, decided on 2nd March 1872. Held that the defendants might and ought to have pleaded in defending the former suit that they had not been compensated for improvements as required by ss. 37 and 38 of the Tenancy Act, and since they had omitted to raise such a plea in answer to the previous demand, Expl. II, s. 13 Civ. Pro. Code, applied, precluding them from relying on the same matter of defence again. KESAR SINGH v. JAWAND SINGH, 142 P.R. 1884. (96 P.R. 1881, Cited) [R., 76 P.R. 1897, 55 P.R. 1907 =65 P.L.R. 1908, 12 O.C. 347=4 Ind. Cas. 763.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(67)—Res judicata—Suit for malikana.—A subsequent suit for malikana (which substantially raises the question of the proprietary right to the estate) would, where the question of proprietary right has been decided in a previous suit, be barred as res judicata. GOPINATH CHOBEY v. BHUGWAT PERSHAD, 10 C. 697. [R., U.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. II, 535.]

(68) — Res judicata — Parties — Remand— Question of title —Lands held under a jote tenure were sold in execution of a decree for rent obtained by the landlord, and they were purchased by one J who was put in possession in 1839. Another suit, which was pending between the tenants and their mortgagee, in which a question arose whether those jote lands were included in the mortgage, was decided in favour of the mortgagee in 1841. To this suit J was no party, but was in possession of the lands. Subsequently, by an order in 1845, the mortgagee succeeded in getting possession of the same lands. In 1856, the representatives of J, who were not bound by the decision in 1841, sued to recover possession of the jote lands. The Privy Council remanded the case in order that the issue whether the land was parcel of the jote or not might be tried. Held that this order of remand was conclusive and that the question of the title of the representatives of J to the jote lands could not be re-opened. JUGGODUMBA DASEE v. TARAKANT BANERJEE, 6 C.L.R. 121, P.C.

(69)—Arrears of rent, suit for—Res judicata —Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Interest— Rent Act, Oudh, s. 141— Discretion of Court in awarding interest — Breach of contract — Contract Act, s. 73.—In a dispute between G. B. who had obtained the sanad of a taluka, and B. B. and U. P., with reference to the taluka, a razinamah was executed on the 4th May 1864 under which the taluka was divided between these three persons; G. B. taking one-half, and B. B. and U P. taking one-quarter each. Certain villages were allotted to each of them, and three villages, namely, K, G, and H were held in common. The razinamah provided that B. B. and U. P. were to pay to G B. the government revenue until the assessment of the regular settlement jama, to which G. B. was to add his half share of the jama; that after the regular settlement the jama assessed on each village, whatever its amount, was to be paid by the party in possession above mentioned, but that in respect to the villages held in common, B. B and U. P. were to pay half and G. B. the other half; and that U. P. and B. B. were to pay to G. B., along with the instalment, Rs. 10 per cent on account of talukdari right on the Government revenue which might be assessed from time to time. The village G, one of the villages mentioned in the razinamah as held in common, was acquired under a mortgage. B. B. died in 1865, and was succeeded by his widow, on whose death U. P. obtained possession of B. B.'s share.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

After the death of B. B. the mortgage of the village G was redeemed and the village B was purchased with the consent of B. B's widow, U. P. and the plaintiff, who had succeeded to the taluka on the death of his father, G. B. The plaintiff, as talukdar or superior proprietor, brought a suit against the defendants, the son and grandson of U. P., as under-proprietors, for arrears of rent for 1305 Fasli in respect of the villages held by them. The main points in dispute were (1) whether the defendants were jointly liable to pay rent; (2) whether they were liable to pay the Rs. 10 per cent. mentioned in the razinamah in respect of the village B; (3) whether they were only liable in respect of half the Government revenue assessed on the villages K and H; and (4) whether they were liable to pay interest on the arrears. Held, that the question (1), (2) and (3) raised in this suit were res judicata, and that the defendants were precluded from re-opening them. A decision upon a particular matter in dispute is conclusive so far as that dispute is concerned, although it proceeds upon points of law, but the decision as regards the points of law is not conclusive where a different matter is in dispute. Held further, that the defendants were liable to pay interest on rent which was not paid on the date fixed for the payment of revenue. The razinamah was proof of a contract between the parties under which rent was payable by the defendants to the plaintiff, and the breach of the contract rendered the defendants liable to pay interest for such breach. The Court below did not exercise its discretion unsoundly in awarding interest on arrears of rent at the rate recognised by s. 141, Oudh Rent Act. GANESH BAKHSH SINGH v. HARI HAR BAKHSH SINGH, 3 O.C. 22 (B).

(70)—Notice of ejectment — Landlord bound to tender amount due as compensation for improvements—Punjab Tenancy Act, ss. 25, 37, 38 —Suit to contest notice—Ground of non-payment of compensation to be urged—Subsequent suit for compensation—Res judicata—Act X of 1877, s. 13, Expl. II.—Where compensation for improvements is due to a tenant under ss. 37 and 38 of the Punjab Tenancy Act, he is entitled under s. 37 to retain possession of the land until such compensation is paid to him by the landlord, and cannot, until then, be ejected from his holding. The payment of compensation being a condition precedent to the ejectment of the tenant by notice, the landlord is bound to tender the full amount due, before notice of ejectment is served upon the tenant and when the plaintiff sues under s. 25 to contest his liability to ejectment under the notice, he both may and ought to make the non-fulfilment of the condition precedent a ground for contesting his liability to ejectment under the notice, and the Court is bound in such a suit to make an absolute and unqualified decree either that the plaintiff is not liable or that he is so liable and that his suit is dismissed. Consequently, a tenant who, being in fact entitled to compensation, sues under s. 25 of the Act and omits to contest his liability to ejectment upon the ground that the compensation has not been paid, cannot, if his suit is dismissed, maintain a subsequent suit claiming the compensation due at the time of the service of the notice of ejectment. The right to compensation at the time of the service of notice of ejectment was a matter which might and ought to have been made a ground of attack in the former suit brought by the tenant under s. 25, and therefore, under Expl. II to s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, it must be deemed to have been directly and substantially in issue in the former suit, and consequently the trial of the second suit would be barred under the provisions of s 14. KAKA v. BHOLA, 96 P.R. 1881. (39 P.R. 1871, 149 P.R. 1879, R.) [F., 18 P.R. 1883, 39 P.R. 1883 ; Appr., 142 P.R. 1884 ; R., 111 P.R. 1883, 136 P.R. 1883; D., 55 P.R. 1907, 13 P.R. 1882.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(71)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Suit for declaration of agriculturist's land being liable to attachment and sale—Matter which might have been ground of objection in previous suit—Punjab Land Alienation Act, 1900, s. 16 (1).—A third person, alleging himself to be the mortgagee of the share of an Arain Zemindar, resisted the attachment made thereof by a decree-holder in execution proceedings. The third person withdrew the objection founded on his mortgage and put forward a conveyance, in consequence of which, the objection based on the sale deed was held to be sufficient to release the share from the decree holder's attachment thereof. The latter then sued to have it declared that the share was attachable and succeeded in both the courts. But when this decree-holder proceeded in execution, the sons of the third party successfully opposed the execution on the ground of their mortgage. The original decree holder next sued the third party's sons for a declaration like the one he got in his second suit. Held that the sons of the third party mortgagee were barred from putting forward the mortgage in this suit, as it was a matter which ought to have been made a ground of defence in the previous suit and as it must, therefore, be deemed to have been a matter substantially in issue in such former suit ; held further, that s. 16, Punjab Land Alienation Act, does not prohibit an agriculturist's land from being attached in execution proceedings and that a decree-holder may ask for a declaration as to certain land being liable to attachment and for being dealt with under s 326. Civ. Pro Code, 1882. BADAR DIN v. BURA MAL, 4 P.R. 1903. [Rel. on, 55 P.R. 1907.].

(72)—Suit for possession—Right of pre-emption not set up by defendant – Subsequent suit for pre-emption if maintainable—Res judicata.—In a former suit for possession of certain land by the purchaser thereof, the present plaintiff (as defendant) failed to set up his rights of pre-emption and the suit was consequently decreed.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

Held that a subsequent suit to enforce the right of pre-emption was barred by the principle of res judicata. ASGUR MAHOMED v. NUZEEMA BIBEE, 14 W.R. 272. [R., 2 O.C. 9.]

(73)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13—Res judicata—Pre-emption, right of, as a ground of defence.—The appellant purchased certain property from the widow of one Chunni on the 18th November 1874, and brought a suit against his vendor for possession of such property. The respondent, who represented himself to be the nephew of Chunni, and one Chedi Lal, the daughter's son of Chunni, were made defendants in the suit. They contended that the widow was not competent to alienate such property. The respondent subsequently brought the present suit against the appellant in which with reference to such sale, he claimed to enforce his right of pre-emption in respect of such property. Held that the suit was barred by the provisions of s. 13 of Act X of 1887 as the claim for pre-emption might and ought to have been made a ground of defence in the former suit, and must be deemed therefore to have been a matter directly and substantially in issue in such suit. TIWARI GANDHARAP v. PITAM, A.W.N. 1881, 47.

(74)—Res-judicata — Matters in issue — Defence not raised in previous suit—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. II — Pre-emption — Mahomedan Law—Sale in execution of decree.—Where the plaintiff, in a suit for pre-emption, had, in a former suit in which the present defendant had obtained a decree against her for possession of the property now in question, omitted to assert her pre-emptive right as ground of defence. Held that the suit for pre-emption was barred by s. 13, expl. II of the Civ. Pro. Code. A sale in execution of a decree does not give rise to a right of pre-emption under the Mahomedan Law. RAJ BIBI v. SUKHI, A.W.N. 1889, 175.

(75) — Right of pre-emption as ground of claim and of defence—Civ. Pro. Code. 1877, s. 13, Expl. II.—Where the right of pre-emption, though available as a defence, was not pleaded in a former suit, a subsequent suit between the same parties to enforce such right would be barred under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, Expl. II. NARAIN DAT v. BHAIRO BUKSHPAL, 3 A. 189. (1 A. 75, 1 A. 316, F., but doubted. [Overruled, 26 A. 61, F B. = A.W.N. 1903, 196; R., 14 B. 31.]

(76)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=s. 11, new Code)—Res judicata—Former suit for possession by purchaser resisted on ground of ownership—Subsequent suit for pre-emption by former defendant barred.—A who purchased a certain property brought a suit against B who was in possession thereof, and the suit was resisted by B on the ground that he was the owner of the property. The Court, however, made a decree in favour of A. Subsequently,

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

A brought a suit against B for pre-emption in respect of the same property. Held, that the subsequent suit was barred under Expl. II to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, because B ought to have raised in the former suit the defence in the alternative that he had a right of pre-emption. PULANDER SINGH v. JWALLA SINGH, 20 A. 516 = A.W.N. 1898. 134. (11 M.I.A. 50, 20 C. 79, 1 A 75, R.) [Overruled, 26 A. 61, F.B.; Not F., 1 A.L.J. 426 = 27 A. 78; R., 55 P.R. 1907 = 65 P.L.R. 1908 = 96 P.W.R. 1907.]

(77)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Question of title raised incidentally in Small Cause suit, how far res judicata in subsequent original suit.—In a suit for declaration of plaintiff's right to carry an idol in procession during certain festivals, the decision in a previous suit between the same parties on that question will operate as res judicata, where it appears that, although there is some variance between the details of the ceremonies set out at length in the plaint in the previous suit and in the present suit, the relief in respect of the right of procession is substantially the same. Per Kernan, J.—Where in a suit of a Small Cause nature a question of title is decided incidentally, the decision on that question does not operate as res judicata in a subsequent original suit between the parties where the question of that title is in dispute, as there could be no second appeal in the former suit. (3 M. 192, F.) Per Wilkinson, J.—Where in the previous suit the parties were the same, and they were litigating under the same title and the Court which tried the case had jurisdiction finally to decide the question, the mere fact that the question was decided incidentally in the former suit would not bar the judgment in the previous suit from operating as res judicata, as the question of res judicata has nothing to do with the question of second appeal. SINGARA CHARIAR v. KRISHNASAWMY, 1 M.L.J. 313. (10 C. 173, F.)

(78)—Res judicata—Denial of sonship in prior suit—Subsequent suit based on same title—Bar of suit.—Where, in a suit for a declaration of the plaintiff's right to certain properties on the ground of his being the son of the deceased owner thereof, a person alleging himself to be the illegitimate son of the said owner intervened as a co-defendant and the Court held against him on the question of sonship, a subsequent suit by the same person for maintenance, on the ground that he was such illegitimate son was barred by the rule of res judicata. RAM SOOKH v. TARA SINGH, 3 Agra 40.

(79)—Civ. Pro Code, 1882, s. 13 (= s. 11, new Code)—Decree for partition not acted upon—Subsequent suit for the same—Res judicata, how far applicable.—When a decree declaring a right to partition has not been given effect to by the parties proceeding to partition in accordance with it, it is competent for them, or any of them, if they still continue to be interested in the joint property, to bring another suit for the declaration of their right to a partition in case their right to partition is called in question at a time when, by reason of limitation or otherwise, they cannot put into effect the decree first obtained. The former decree may, however, operate as res judicata as regards any claim or defence which was or might have been raised in the suit in which it was passed. NASRAT-ULLAH v. MUJIBULLAH, 13 A. 309 = A. W. N. 1891. 117. [F., 10 C. W. N. 839, 28 A. 627 = A. W. N. 1906, 142 = 3 A. L. J. 379; D., 3 Bom. L. R 94.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(80)—Suit for dower amounting to money claim—Claim to establish lien for dower on specific property—Distinct nature of causes of action—Res judicata.—Plaintiff, the widow of a Mahomedan, instituted this suit against his heirs for recovery of money being the amount of dower payable on the dissolution of marriage to the plaintiff by her late husband. The dissolution of the marriage had occurred on the death of the husband, and if the plaint merely amounted to a money claim, it was clearly barred by limitation. The High Court was of opinion that the claim for the money amount of dower and a claim to establish a lien on specific property in respect of such amount constitute distinct causes of action; but even assuming that the plaint in the present case sought enforcement of a right of lien on the property of the husband, the decree in ejectment that had been obtained by the heirs, the present defendants, was an absolute decree of right in them as against the present plaintiff; and it was given in a suit in which she might or ought, if she ever relied upon it, to have raised as a defence the very right of lien now sought to be set up as a substantive claim on her part but never did so. Consequently, as between the parties, the right of lien was res judicata. MUSSAMUT WAFEAH v. MUSSAMUT SAHEEBA, 8 W.R 307. [F., 14 W.R 272; R., 3 B.L.R. 175, 12 C.W.N. 292 = 7 C.L.J. 504; D., 19 W.R. 219.]

(81)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata.—Agreement to sell.—The plaintiff agreed to sell to the defendant a house in consideration of a payment of Rs. 41, and also of the transfer of a plot of land to build a shop to be held rent-free by the plaintiff as long as the business was carried on; the plaintiff refusing to perform his part of the contract was sued for possession of the house on payment of Rs. 41 and in it he stated as his defence that the agreement was not binding on him; but did not plead that the consideration of the sale was not Rs. 41, but Rs. 41 and possession of the plot of land. The suit was decreed against the present plaintiff He thereupon sued to enforce the agreemen tas regards the plot of land. Held, that he was barred by the operation of the rule of res judicata as in the previous suit, no such defence was set up. BADLI v. GAURI DIAL, A.W.N. 1881, 18.

(82)—Matter in issue—Sale-deed being fictitious.—Where a house and land were sold by one sale-deed, the finding in the first suit in respect of the house that the sale-deed is void is conclusive in the subsequent suit in respect of the land, the material issue, viz., whether the sale deed conveyed a title or was fictitious being identical in both suits though the subject-matter was different. ZAFARYAH KHAN v. FATEH RAM, 100 P.R. 1898, F B. [R, 79 P. R. 1905; Rel. on, 55 P.R. 1907.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(83)—Code of Civil Procedure (1908), s. 11, Res judicata—Former suit—Two suits instituted on same day—Same question raised—Abatement of one appeal—Effect of.—Two suits were instituted by the same plaintiff on the same day in the same Court for the same reliefs, one against A alone and the other against A and S, raising the same questions and were decided by one judgment, but separate decrees were passed on the same day allowing the plaintiff's claim. In the case in which there were two defendants only S preferred an appeal, and in the case in which A alone was the defendant an appeal was also preferred, but, during the pendency of the first appeal and before the decision of the latter, the appellant S, having died and the appeal having abated, the decision of the Court became final. Held that the decree in the case against S and A having become final, before the decision of the appeal preferred by A, it operated as res judicata for the purpose of the other case. ANANT DAS v. UDAIBHAN PARGAS, 11 A.L.J. 214=19 Ind. Cas. 76=35 A. 187. (33 A. 51, F.B., F.)

(84)—Oaths Act—Adjudication on oath in previous suit—Binding in subsequent suit.—An adjudication by a Court on an oath made by one of the parties to the suit would make the matter or issue covered by the adjudication res judicata in a subsequent litigation between the same parties, though the subject matter of the suit is different. SANYASI BARITYA v. ARTASWARO, 13 M.L.T 261=M.W.N. 1913, 220=24 M.L.J. 321=36 M. 287=18 Ind. Cas. 835.

(85)—Finding between co-defendants—Act V of 1908, s. 11.—Held, that necessary findings on an issue regarding consideration in a previous suit by reversioners against a widow's alienees, to which widow was also a party as a defendant, are res judicata as between the alienees and the widow, in a subsequent suit by the alienees against the widow for possession of the land sold. (140 P.R. 1890, F; 25 B. 74, 11 B. 216, 31 C. 95, 11 M 205, R.) Held, also, that ownership does not pass independently of the payment of consideration, if there is proof of intention to that effect. DHANNA SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT BUDHI, 157 P.W.R. 1912=188 P.L.R. 1912=103 P.R. 1912=16 Ind. Cas. 80. (55 P.R. 1911, F.)

(86)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, ss. 2, 139—Issues framed on pleadings—Findings on some issues—Effect.—If, in a suit in which a number of issues are framed on the pleadings, the findings on some of the issues are enough to dispose of the suit, the Court is not bound to refrain from determining the other issues, nor can its adjudication on them be treated as a nullity. And its findings on such issues will be res judicata and cannot be reopened in a subsequent suit between the same parties or their representatives. MAN SINGH v. NARAYAN DAS, 1 A. 480 [R., 7 A. 606, F.B.=A.W.N. 1885, 89, 17 A. 174.]

(87)—Decision on question of law in previous suit—Same subject-matter in issue in subsequent suit.—Defendant executed a bond to plaintiff promising to pay the amount due under a decree in certain instalments. He did so without obtaining the permission of the Court under s. 257 A of the Civil Procedure Code. Thereafter, a suit was brought on the bond for two instalments and it was dismissed on the ground that the bond was invalid because it contravened the provisions of s. 257 A of the Civ. Pro. Code. Sometime after, a second suit was brought, on the basis of the same bond, for some more instalments. The defence was that the judgment operated as res judicata, on the question of the validity of the bond. Held, the second suit was barred by the rule of res judicata, even though the decision in the first suit might be erroneous, the validity of same bond being in issue between the parties in both suits and the other conditions, as regards res judicata, having been satisfied in the case. It is not every decision of a question of law between the parties, which is binding upon them in a subsequent suit, but a previous decision of a question of law, which affects the subject-matter of the subsequent suit or creates a legal relation between the parties or defines the status of either of them, is as binding upon them as a previous decision of a question of fact, if the other requirements of the rule of res judicata are satisfied. M. MOHAMMAD BAHADUR v. RAM PERSHAD, 8 O.C. 37. (5 M. 304, Diss.; 22 B. 669, 10 C. 1087, 15 C. 756, P.C., 15 M. 403, 11 M. 393, 15 A. 327, 1 C.W.N. 687, 28 C. 218, R.) [R., 10 O.C. 145.]

(88)—Knowledge of party—"Might"—Claim to be barred must be within knowledge of person during first suit.—The plaintiff first brought a suit as heir of her father, claiming that an account should be taken of the partnership between her father and the defendants. The suit was dismissed as barred by limitation under art. 106 of the Limitation Act. She then brought another suit against the same defendants claiming as heir of her father and mother, and alleging that on her father's death, the mother was admitted into the partnership; and she prayed for an account of both the partnerships:—Held, (1) that so far as the partnership with the father was concerned, the claim was barred as res judicata by the decision in the previous suit: (2) that the claim relating to the partnership between her mother and the defendants cannot be rejected as res judicata unless it was shown that during the previous suit she was aware of the claim. The word "might" in explanation II to s. 13 of the Civ. Pro Code, 1882, pre-supposes that the person defending or attacking in the former suit had knowledge of the matter at the time of that suit and could have made it a ground of defence or attack therein. MANIKBAI v. VIRCHAND, 9 Bom. L.R. 1020. [F., U.B.R. 1910, 4th Qr., p. 66; R., 9 A.L.J. 111.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(89)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 - Res judicata—Explanation 2—Might and ought.—The defendant brought a suit for settlement of accounts against the plaintiff and obtained a decree. The plaintiff thereupon brought this suit for recovery of a sum of money, on the ground that the defendant had received it on his behalf in the years for which the defendant had brought the previous suit. Held that the plea might and ought to have been raised in the previous suit and the present suit was barred by the rule of res judicata. JAGAN NATH v. BALKISHAN, 4 A.L.J. 675=A.W.N. 1907, 275.

(90)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13—"Matter in issue"—"Subject-matter" of suit.—In s. 13 of the Civ. Pro Code, it is the "matter in issue," not the "subject matter" of the suit, that forms the essential test of res judicata. Therefore, where, in two suits for two different instalments due upon the same bond for money, the question whether interest on such instalments was due from the date of bond or from the date of default was in issue between the parties and was decided in the first suit, such decision would be res judicata in the second suit. PAHLWAN SINGH v. RISAL SINGH, 4 A. 55=A.W.N. 1881, 110. [F., 13 B. 25, 15 M. 494; Appl, 23 A. 5; R., U.B.R. 1892-1896, Vol. II, 214, 24 A. 112; D., 14 B. 206.]

(91)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13— Res judicata—Matter directly and substantially in issue.—Meaning of the term "suit".—In a suit for the recovery of four bonds, on the ground, that all of them had been satisfied, the decision in a previous suit on two of them, in which the defence, that all the four had been discharged was found against, is res judicata only in respect of the two bonds therein sued on, and not in respect of the other two, which were not directly and substantially in issue in that suit, as the only issue to be decided therein was, whether the two bonds in suit had been satisfied or not. [R., 28 B. 338.] The word "suit" in s. 13. Civ. Pro. Code, must be understood to mean such a matter as might have formed the subject of a separate suit independently of the special provisions of the Civ. Pro. Code, such as s. 45, which enables the plaintiff to unite several causes of action in one and the same suit. (Mahmood, J.) SHEORAJ RAI v. KASHINATH, 7 A 247, F.B.=A.W.N. 1885, 15. [R., 8 A. 324, 12 C.P.L.R. 91.]

(92)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13 (=Civ. Pro. Code, 1908, s. 11)—Defence not allowed to be taken in prior suit—Bar in a subsequent suit—Estoppel—Where, in a former suit the defendant was not allowed to deny the plaintiff's title, but it was not found that the plaintiff had any title, held that, in the present suit, no question of estoppel arises, and that the defence on title was not barred. BHADRA RAJAYYA v. MACHABATHUNI LAKSHMI DEVAMMA, 7 M.L.T. 107=5 Ind Cas. 815.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(93)—Res judicata—Finding in prior suit, not material to the decree therein.—Where a decree dismissing a suit is not based upon a finding adverse to the defendant therein, but in spite of it, such finding would not bind the parties in a subsequent suit. NUNDO LALL BHUTTACHARJEE v. BIDHOO MOOKHY DEBEE, 13 C. 17. (6 C. 319 impliedly overruled by 11 C. 301 =12 I.A. 23. [Rel., on, 18 C. 647; R., 18 B. 597, 7 C.P.L.R 139, 17 A. 174=A.W.N. 1895, 47, 24 C. 900, 25 B. 115, 9 C.W.N. 60, 5 C.L.J. 611=36 C. 193.]

(94)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Joint trial of two issues.—Where two suits are tried together, the decision of an issue in one of them, which is not appealed against, cannot be regarded as res judicata, so far as that issue is concerned, in an appeal from the decision in the other suit, and s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, does not apply. ABDUL MAGID v. JEW NARAIN MAHTO, 16 C. 233. [F., 23 P.R. 1897, 31 P. R. 1898, 29 M 333=16 M.L.J. 63, F.B., 4 C L.J. 149=10 C.W.N. 934=33 C. 1101; Cited, 85 P.R. 1905=151 P.L.R. 1905, F.B.; D., 5 O.C. 384; Diss., A.W.N. 1908, 211=4 M.L.T. 172.]

(95)—Defendants having had no right of appeal in first suit—Matter in issue not being same in the first suit and the second suit.—First suit was brought by plaintiff for recovery of certain mortgaged property on the allegation that the mortgage had been discharged by payment partly to the mortgagees and partly to the defendants in the present suit. Present defendants were made supplemental defendants to the former suit after settlement of issues. The decree was to the effect that the present defendants had no interest in the property and that payment made to them was of no avail. The decree further directed possession to be given to the plaintiff on his paying to the original defendants, the sum which he alleged to have paid to the present defendants. The present defendants were accordingly exempted from liability in the first suit. Hence the present suit to recover, from the present defendants, the amount alleged to have been paid to them. The plaintiff pleaded that the decree in the first suit operated as res judicata against the present defendants and that he (plaintiff) was entitled to a decree without going into the merits. Held, the former decree did not operate as res judicata against the present defendants. The defendants were exempted from liability in the former suit and they had, therefore, no right of appeal. It would, under such circumstances, be inequitable to hold that they were concluded by the decree. Further, the matter in issue in this suit had not been gone into between the present defendants and the plaintiff in the previous suit. MALHI KUNWAR v. IMAM UD-DIN, 27 A. 59 =1 A.L.J. 363. (12 C. 580, F.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(96)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13, 43—Omission by plaintiff to raise contentions as defendant in prior suit, effect of.—Where the plaintiff in a suit was defendant in a previous suit which had been brought against him by the father of the present defendant, the fact that he had omitted to make certain averments and to raise contentions thereon, as defendant in the previous suit, would not debar him from making those averments as plaintiff in the latter suit. where the averments in question were not of a nature material to his defence in the former suit. MUTTUVADUGANATHA TEVAR v. PERIASAMI, 16 M. 11=2 M.L.J. 265.

(97)—Finding of lower Court on an issue which is not dealt with in appeal, whether.—The finding of a lower Court, on an issue which is not dealt with in the Court of appeal, is no more res judicata than if the finding were reversed. JIWANMAL WD. THAROMAL v. RADHOMAL THAROMAL, 1 S.L.R. 171. (6 B. 110, R.)

(98)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, expl. II —Res judicata—Party not interested—Applicability of expl. II to s. 13.—A judgment in a suit in which a person not interested in its subject-matter is made a defendant, is not res judicata in a subsequent suit between him and the plaintiff in the prior suit. When a party to a suit could not have raised the matter on which the present plaint is founded as a ground of defence in the former suit to which he was also a party for the simple reason that it would have been no defence at all to that suit so far as his interests were concerned (which were nil) in the properties for the recovery of which that suit was brought, it is clear under expl. II that the "matter" of the present suit could not be deemed to have been "a matter directly and substantially in issue in such suit" between the parties to the suit. GOVINDASAMI THEVAN v. GOPALASAMI SIVAJI MOHITHEI, 14 M.L.J. 281. (12 I.A. 23, F.)

(99)—Issue not decided—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code (1882) (=*s.*11, Present Code).—Where a certain matter was not really dealt with and decided in a previous suit, although an issue was raised in regard to that matter, a subsequent suit involving the same matter would not be barred as res judicata by reason of the previous suit. UMESH CHUNDER DEY v. SHRABESSUR CHUNDER, 5 C.W.N. 304.

(100)—Absence of issue.—The decision in a previous suit that certain alienations were not binding on the plaintiff will not constitute the question, e.g., whether such alienations were bogus transactions, res judicata in a subsequent suit between plaintiff and the alienee. A mere assertion by the plaintiff in the former suit that the transfers were nominal cannot, in the absence of an issue on that point, be treated as evidence on that question. RAYI KRISHNAYYA v. GANGA BAI, M.W.N. 1912, 380=16 Ind. Cas. 357.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(101)—Former suit—Question not raised.—Where the question at issue in the subsequent suit did not arise in the former suit, it could not be held to be res judicata. RANJHA MAL v. BHADAN SINGH, 16 P.R. 1897.

(102)—Res judicata—Decision on collateral facts.—When a Court of competent jurisdiction, in deciding upon a particular subject, thinks it necessary to go into collateral facts for the purpose of that decision, the opinion of that Court on those collateral facts is not conclusively binding in a subsequent suit which relates to a different subject-matter. MODHOO RAM DEY v. BOYDONATH DOSS, 9 W.R. 592. [R., 15 W.R. 424.]

(103)—Issue not essential to decision—Determination of issue whether can be deemed final—Res judicata.—In a previous case the present plaintiff, by his mother as next friend sued the present defendants for rent in kind alleging that they were tenants of his father H. On appeal the Judicial Assistant found that the plaintiff was the son of H, but, instead of proceeding to decide the suit on the merits, dismissed the appeal on the ground that the plaintiff should first sue for possession of the land and then for mesne-profits or should sue for both together. The present suit for possession of the land was then brought by the plaintiff through his mother as next friend. The defendants, as before, denied that he was the son of H, but both the Courts below held that the previous decision made the question res judicata in the plaintiff's favour and decreed the plaintiff's claim. On second appeal, the Chief Court was of opinion that the Judicial Assistant, in the previous case, had merely decided that the suit would not lie as framed, that, therefore, no conclusion come to by him upon any question of fact arising in the case which was not essential to that decision, could be regarded as a final decision of that question between the parties and that, consequently the previous decision, as to plaintiff being the son of H, did not render the same question res judicata in favour of the plaintiff in the present suit. GAMA v. AMERA, 29 P.R. 1884. [R., 151 P.R. 1889, 146 P.R. 1890, 41 P.R. 1899, 50 P.R. 1899.]

(104)—Matter in issue—Decision of unnecessary issues—Appeal in one of two suits regarding same subject.—Where a plaintiff brought her own suit in which the question of her right necessarily and directly arose, she could not be held to have acquiesced in the same issue being treated as a material one in another suit, in

Advocate High Court
Jammu & Kashmir
Srinagar.

Res Judicata -continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

the same Court, in which she was impleaded only as a member of the family, the two suits being tried together. Decision in a former suit of a question not essential to the decision of a case could not be regarded as a final decision of that question between the parties. The decision of an issue in one of two suits tried together and decided by the same judgment, which is not appealed against, cannot operate as res-judicata, so far as the same issue is concerned in the appeal preferred against the decision in the other suit. MALIK RAHIM BAKSH v. MT. FAKHAR-UN-NISSA, 31 P.R. 1898. (16 C. 233, F.; 6 C. 319, 11 A. 148, D.) [R., 85 P.R. 1905=151 P.L.R. 1905, 57 P.R. 1907.]

(105)—Obiter dicta—Eevidence.—Apresumption made in a former case, being only a dictum in a matter immaterial to the decision of the suit, cannot be proof of the thing presumed. HURO DOSS DOSTEEDAR v. SREEMUTTY HURO PRIA, 21 W.R. 30.

(106)—Unexecuted decree for redemption—Fresh suit for redemption—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 2.—Where a mortgagor who obtained a decree for redemption conditional on payment of the mortgage amount into Court within 15 days, took no steps to redeem the property, and brought a second suit for redemption some six years after the decree in the first suit, held that the decision in the previous suit did not bar the second suit. SHIBBU MUL v. PAIRA SINGH, 86 P.R. 1877. [F., 93 P.R. 1879, F.B., 14 P.R 1881, 93 P.R 1908=164 P.L.R. 1908=134 P.W.R. 1908, F.B.; R., 78 P.R. 1878, 132 P.R. 1882, 20 P.R. 1887, 100 P.R. 1905=16 P.L.R. 1906, 100 P.R. 1909=152 P.L.R. 1909; Doubted, 43 P.R. 1907=169 P.L.R. 1908.]

(107)—Suit by mortgagee against mortgagor—Decree for possession--Subsequent suit for redemption—Suit for redemption. In 1869, the mortgagee the present defendant, had sued the mortgagor and some others to set aside their obstruction to the mortgaged property and for confirmation of his possession, and obtained a decree. It was pleaded that that decree was a bar to the present suit for redemption brought by the mortgagor. Held that the decree for possession obtained by the mortgagee could not preclude the mortgagor from suing for redemption. The previous suit and the decree were directed to the relief of possession only, and no opportunity was given to the mortgagor to pay off the debt. The relationship arising out of the mortgage was not the matter submitted to the adjudication of the Court in the previous suit and the contract of mortgage did not become merged in the decree. NARASINHA MANOHAR v. BHAGVANTRAV, 14 B. 327. [Appr., 20 A. 506=A. W.N. 1898, 139.]

(108)—Mortgage — Decree for redemption—Second suit for redemption—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 13, 244.—A decree for redemption of a mortgage which remained unexecuted for three years, is no bar to a fresh suit for redemption. KARUTHASAMI v. JAGANATHA, 8 M. 478. (6 M. 119, Appr., 7 B. 476, Diss.) [Overruled, 25 M. 300, F.B., F. 15 M. 366. R., 13 B. 567, 16 B. 243, 19 M. 40, F.B., 21 M. 18, 21 A. 251, 3 O.C. 371, F.B., 34 A. 44, F.B.=A.W.N. 1901, 194. 100 P.R. 1905=16 P.L.R 1906, 93 P.R. 1908, F.B. =164 P.L.R. 1908=133 P.W.R. 1908.]

(109)—Ss. 13 & 43, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Redemption of kanom—Prior suit to redeem—Subsequent suit based on the kanom and on title not barred.—This suit was brought to redeem certain items of lands, demised under a kanom by the plaintiff's ancestor and the plaintiff set up also his claims to the lands based on his title to them as a distinct cause of action. A previous suit, by him, to redeem four out of the six items mortgaged under the kanom and another suit in respect of the other two items had both been dismissed. The lower appellate Court decided that the present suit is barred by ss. 13 and 43, that it was barred by s. 13 because, so far as the present defendants were concerned, this suit was merely a repetition of the first of the previous suits and it was barred by s. 43 for the reason that, in the latter of the said suits, based on the kanom now sued on, whereas plaintiff could have claimed redemption of all the six items of land he sought to redeem only two omitting the other four. Held, reversing that decision, that the former suits by the plaintiff were not based on his title but on the kanoms only. In the present suit, however, the plaintiff based his claim also on his title—a ground of a claim entirely separate and distinct from the claims upon which those suits had been based. Also, the causes of action in the former suits based on the kanom only had arisen ex contractu and such suits, therefore, could be no bar to the present suit, where there is also the claim on title, against the defendant as trespasser, founded on tort. Neither s 13 nor 43, therefore, can operate as a bar to the present suit. Estoppel by judgment cannot operate where the subsequent suit includes a ground of relief neither arising out of, nor dependent on, any right or title set up in the former suit. PARAMBATH MANAKKAL v. PUTHENGATTIL MOOSAMU, 28 M. 406. (27 M. 760, F; 22 M. 259, Diss.; 3 M.H.C. 320. 7 M.H.C. 160, R. and Appr.) [Appr., 2 N.L.R. 94.]

(110)—Ss. 13, 258, Civ. Pro Code, 1882—Res judicata—Matter in issue in the first and second proceeding different—Part payment—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 20—Part payment should appear in the hand-writing of the judgment-debtor—Burden of proof—Decree-holder should prove part-payment to be in the hand-writing of the judgment-debtor.—The decree-holders obtained two decrees on foot of two mortgages. They applied for execution of one of the decrees, which had apparently become time-barred, alleging that the judgment-debtor had paid the proceeds of certain timber in part payment of the decree. Payment was not proved and the application was rejected. Then the decree-holders made an application to execute the other decree. Here also they made an allegation that a part payment had been made out of the sale proceeds of the timber. Held, that the plea as to part payment by sale of the timber was not barred by res judicata, by reason of its having been adjudicated upon when the application for execution of the former decree was disposed of. Held, further, that a part payment of a decree could be recognised, although the same had not been certified to the Court under s. 258, Civ. Pro. Code, (1882). (26 A. 36, R.) For the purposes of s. 20 of the Limitation Act, 1877, the part payment must be in the hand-writing of the judgment-debtors. It must be proved to be so by the decree-holder. OUDH BEHARI PANDE v. MAHABIR SAHI, 2 Ind. Cas. 524=6 A.L.J. 836=31 A. 590.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(111)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. II—Res judicata—Successive purchase of the same land at two execution sales—Suit to set aside one such sale—Purchaser's defence—Whether he is bound to set up title acquired at the other sale—Ground of defence which "ought" to have been taken.—A purchased village S in execution of a decree obtained by him against C in the Small Cause Court. Subsequently A through B instituted a mortgage suit against C and in execution of the decree obtained therein purchased some lands in the same village S. C instituted two suits, one to set aside the sale in execution of the Small Cause Court decree and the other to set aside the decree and sale in the mortgage suit. The latter suit was dismissed for default but the former succeeded. In this suit, A did not set up as a ground of his defence the title obtained by him at the mortgage sale. Held—that A was not bound to do so, and a suit by A to recover the lands in village S purchased at the mortgage sale is not res judicata under Expl. II of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code. Per Brett, J.—Expl. II of s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code refers to the title litigated in the former suit as distinguished from relief claimed. When several independent grounds of action are available, a party is not bound to unite them all in one suit though he is bound to bring before the Court all grounds of attack available to him with reference to the title which is made the ground of action. This rule equally applies to the converse case of a defendant when pleading in his defence. MOHABIR TEWARI v. PURBHOO NATH CHOWBEY, 12 C.W.N. 292 =7 C.L.J. 504. (12 I.A. 116, 26 M. 760, Rel. on.) [R., 12 O.C. 354.]

(112)—Ss. 13, 43, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, Res judicata—Matter which ought to have been made ground of defence or attack, meaning of—Litigating under the same title.—One B obtained a decree for sale on his mortgage. The mortgaged property was sold, but was found insufficient to pay the amount due under the decree. B died in the meantime. The name of his widow

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

P was brought on the record as legal representative of B and as guardian of the plaintiff who was alleged to be her adopted son. On her application an order for execution against other property of the judgment debtor was made In accordance with this the equity of redemption in 10 annas of the village in suit was put up for sale and purchased by P. P died about 18 years ago. In 1904, plaintiff brought a suit for redemption of the mortgage. The suit was dismissed on the ground that the alleged adoption had not been proved. The plaintiff then brought the present suit for the same relief on the grounds, first, that the purchase by P was for and on behalf of the plaintiff, secondly, as one of the heirs of P irrespective of adoption, and, thirdly, as an heir of B. In the latter two cases based on relationship the plaintiff was entitled to redeem one moiety of the estate on his own account and the other moiety for his co-owner. All these three titles were available to plaintiff when he brought his first suit. Held, that the present claim for redemption as co-owner with another was inconsistent with the former claim to full ownership as an adopted son, and their combination would have led to confusion and embarrassment, and therefore the present claim as a co-owner was not one which "ought" to have been joined in the former suit. Held further, that a plaintiff sought, except under very special circumstances, to join all grounds on which he can claim the same relief against the same defendants; such grounds may be cumulative, each entitling him to the relief claimed, or may be urged in the alternative. He, however, ought not to be compelled to add a ground which he could not urge without the addition of some other party as a co-plaintiff or as an additional defendant. DAYA SHANKAR v. GANGA SAHAI, 12 O.C. 347=4 Ind. Cas. 763.

(113)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl. II —"Matter which might and ought to have been made ground of attack or defence in former suit."—Under a bond, dated 13th May 1870, T mortgaged nine villages to the defendants' ancestor M, who, on 4th May 1874, obtained a decree for sale of all the villages. In 1875, he purchased in execution of this decree seven out of the nine villages, leaving two villages named P and K unsold. In the meantime, on 5th January 1871, T had, by another bond, hypothecated the same nine villages to the present plaintiff. Plaintiff sued on this bond in 1879, impleading M also as defendant. But the village P was not made the subject of this suit, so far at least as M's interest in it was concerned. The plaintiff obtained a decree on 13th August 1879. Subsequently, the defendants (the representatives of M) filed a suit against the plaintiff in respect of two of the villages J and L, asserting their rights therein by virtue of the previous mortgage to and purchase by M. But the suit was dismissed on the ground that this question ought to have been raised in the suit of 1879 (Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl. II), the defendants' ancestor M having already obtained possession, and therefore being bound to defend that possession. In his present suit against the defendants for the village P, plaintiff sought to apply the same rule of res judicata against the defendants. But this contention was held rightly to have been overruled by the lower Courts, for, at the time of the former suit of 1879 M, the ancestor of the defendants, had not obtained possession of the village P. He only held a decree, in execution of which he might, if he chose, take proceedings against that village, on the basis of his decreed lien of 1870. In other words, he was no more than a decree-holder, with a charge on P prior to that of the plaintiff. There was no necessary rivalry between his rights and the plaintiff's pretensions regarding P in that case, and the plaintiff did not therefore raise any case against M which he was bound to defend or might have defended. JAMUNA KUAR v. BALDEO SAHA, A.W.N. 1885, 265.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(114)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Matter directly and substantially in issue—Different causes of action—Custom—Hindu Law—Succession—Daughters — Collaterals — Sarsut Brahmans of Gopalpura Village, Amritsar District—Mortgage with possession—Duty of mortgagee to keep account of rents and profits—Interest.—A person suing for possession of land as mortgagee is not required to put forward in the suit his claim, to succeed to the property as a reversioner, and his omission to do so does not prejudice his right in any way, as s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code is not applicable to such cases. Held, that the parties to the suit, Sarsut Brahmans of Gopalpura Village of Amritsar District, though owned land for generations, were governed by Hindu Law, and not by custom, and that daughter's sons excluded near collaterals according to Hindu Law. In a suit for redemption, the Chief Court held that interest and profits realised by the mortgagee balanced each other, where the mortgagee had failed to keep accounts of the profits realized from the mortgaged property. AMIN CHAND v. TIRATH RAM, 95 P.L.R. 1908.

(115)—Former suit— Issues raised but not decided—Res judicata.—Where a reversioner sued the mortgagor and mortgagee for a declaration that the mortgage-deed should not affect his rights, a subsequent suit for possession by the mortgagee against the mortgagor is not barred. THAKUR DAS v. MUST. MANNA, 77 P.R. 1894. (11 B. 216, Appr.) [R., 97 P. R. 1910=142 P.W.R. 1910.]

(116)—Matter directly and substantially in issue—Cause of action—Landlord and tenant.—Where there is no finding as to the relationship of landlord and tenant in the former suit, but the plaint, together with the plaintiff's statement at the close of the case, disclosed a case cognizable by the Revenue Court, the subsequent suit which is not based on any allegation of tenancy between parties but is merely for the recovery of land on the strength of plaintiff's title as owner, is not the same as the former suit and is not barred. RAM SINGH v. JOWALA SINGH, 55 P.R. 1896. [Cons., 92 P.R. 1902, F.B.=16 P.L.R. 1903; R., 44 P. R. 1908, 45 P.R. 1907.]

(117)—Res judicata—Suit for possession of share of jote—Purchaser of portion of tenancy made defendant—Whether bound to plead under-tenancy.—In a previous suit for recovery of possession of a certain share in a jote, the defendant was made a party on the ground that he had purchased a portion of the tenancy in suit. In that suit the plaintiff was declared to be entitled to rent, and her prayer for khas possession was dismissed on the ground that the defendant was entitled to actual possession as an under-tenant under the vendor of the plaintiff. In a subsequent suit for recovery of possession: Held, that the defendant is not precluded from pleading his under-tenancy by the rule of res-judicata, as he was not bound to put forward as a ground of defence, in the previous suit, any under-tenancy which he might have. FAZAR PRAMANIK v. URMAN BIBEE, 9 Ind. Cas. 585.

(118)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act X of 1877, s. 13, expl. II.—Issue—Estoppel—Res judicata.—In a former suit, the present plaintiff sued the present defendants for damages for carrying away some crops which were standing on the land, the subject of the present suit, and he put his claim in two ways:—(1) he claimed the land and the crops on it as being the transferee of the jote itself, and (2) whether he was transferee of the land or not, he claimed to have purchased the crops. The defendants pleaded in that suit that the tenure was not transferable. But that defence turned out to be immaterial, because, without going into the question of the plaintiff's title to the jote, the Court decided in his favour on the ground that he had purchased the crops. Now the present suit was brought by the same plaintiff against the same defendants for the recovery of possession of the jote on the ground that he was a transferee from the original jotedar. The defendants again contended that the tenure was not transferable. Held, that the defendants were not estopped under s. 13, exp. II of the Code; because the question of the transferability of the jote was immaterial in the first suit and had not in fact been determined. CHURN MANJEE v. ISHAN CHUNDER DHUR, 9 C.L.R. 474.

(119)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Issues heard and finally decided by a Court in a previous suit.—In a suit to eject the defendants, from land claimed by the plaintiffs, who were the ticcadars, as majhes land, that is land ordinarily cultivated by the landlord himself or by the ticcadars, the defendant pleaded that he had a right of occupancy in that land as a raiyat, and could not be turned out of it.

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

The lower Court held that this matter was res judicata, and the defendant was no longer entitled to be heard in respect of it, upon the ground that, in a previous suit brought by the plaintiffs to eject the defendant, the same objection was taken and the Munsif decided it in favour of the plaintiff, but dismissed the plaintiff's suit, because they had not given the defendant a proper notice to quit Held, that the defendant was not barred from raising the same plea in this suit, inasmuch as the decree in the previous suit was not finally decided and as there could be no appeal against the decision on that point, because the decree in that suit was in favour of the party against whom the finding was recorded. THAKUR MAGANDEO v. THAKUR MAHADEO SINGH, 18 C. 647. [R., 18 B. 597, 7 C.P.L.R. 139, 17 A. 174=A.W.N. 1895, 47, 24 C. 900, 23 B. 296, 9 C.W.N. 60, 56 P.R. 1904=84 P L.R 1904, 5 C.L.J. 611=36 C. 193; F., 9 C.L.J. 493.]

(120)—Decision in previous suit, res judicata as to same question in future litigation—Identity of question affected by difference in subject of litigation.—In this suit by an inamdar of a village against a khot in respect of certain cultivated lands therein, a judgment in a previous suit inter partes deciding that the inamdar had proprietary rights in forests and waste lands, was held not to operate as res judicata barring the defendant from pleading his own proprietary title so far as regards the cultivated lands the subject-matter of the subsequent suit. An adjudication or a material element of an adjudication between two parties is generally res judicata between them as to the same question arising in a future litigation. The identity of the question however, may be affected by a difference of the corpus or object of the litigation, and also by a difference of the alleged infringement of the right (causa petendi), as well as of the right (jus) alleged by the plaintiffs or of the persons or the character in which they take part in the litigation. The difference of the law applicable to the forest as waste and to the cultivated lands, constituted such a distinction that the decision in the prior case would not necessarily bind them in the subsequent suit. MORO ABAJI v. NARAYAN DHONDBHAT PITRE, 11 B. 355.

(121 & 122)—Res judicata--Issue not decided in previous suit—Suit for arrears of rent.--A and B were co-sharers in a certain talook to the extent of 7 annas and 4 annas respectively. B died in 1868, and in 1872, A who used to collect the rents on behalf of B, brought a suit against one of the ryots for the rent of the 11 annas. An issue having been raised as to the extent of A's share, omitting that of B, it was decided to be 7 annas only and he got a decree accordingly. In a subsequent suit by A's widow against the same tenant for the rent due for the 11 annas share, held that the decision in the former suit did not debar her from showing that she was entitled to the rent due on account of B's 4 annas share. SHAMADANISSA BEEBEE v. FERRASUTOOLLAH SIRDAR, 2 C.L.R. 23.

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(123)—Civ. Pro Code, Act XIV of 1882, s. 13—Matter incidentally in issue in previous suit—Rent suit—No rent found due—Land declared liable to pay rent.—The primary issue in a rent suit is, whether the rent claimed for the particular period is due. Where, in a rent suit, the suit was dismissed as no amount was found due by the defendant to the plaintiff, a further declaration by the Court that the land was held subject to payment of rent, was only incidental and could not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit inter partes for assessment of rent. HARIHAR PANDE v. CHOWDHURY KARAMUT HOSSEIN, 9 C.L.J. 493=4 Ind. Cas. 175. (18 C. 647, 11 C. 301, P.C., F.)

(124)—Res judicata—Bona fides of pottahs.—The bona fide of pottahs respecting which no issue was raised in former suits cannot be regarded as res judicata. KAILAS CHANDRA ROY v. HIRALAL SEAL, 2 B.L.R.A.C. 93=10 W.R. 403.

(125)—Suit to obtain declaration of lakhiraj nature of lands—Previous decree for rent, how far can operate as estoppel.—The present suit by the plaintiff-respondent for a declaration that certain land was lakhiraj, was held not to be barred by reason of estoppel on account of a previous suit that had been brought by the appellant for the rent of the lands which were sought in the present suit to be declared to be lakhiraj; in the former suit, the question whether the land was lakhiraj or not had not been put in issue and decided. And the rent-decree in that suit would stand good only so far as regards the rent to which it referred. DUKHEENAH MOHUN ROY CHOWDHRY v. KASHEENATH CHATTERJEE, 6 W.R. 37.

(126)—Point not directly and substantially in issue—First suit to declare the land was exclusive property of plaintiff and not shamilat—Second suit for possession on the ground defendants are not khewardars.—Held, that a point not directly and substantially in issue in the previous case is not res judicata in a subsequent suit relating to the same property between the same parties, particularly when it was neither put in issue nor decided in the former suit. On the first occasion, the plaintiffs, at the time of partition of shamilat land, sued for declaration that certain land was their exclusive property and not shamliat, and, therefore, was not liable for partition. Three of the defendants had pleaded that the land was shamilat and as khewatdars they were entitled to get its share. It was then decided that the land was shamilat and consequently the plaintiff's suit was dismissed. But the question whether the defendants were khewatdars in the village was not touched. After partition, the same persons who were plaintiffs on the previous occasion sued for recovering the land allotted to defendants, on the ground that they were not khewatdars and consequently they were not entitled to get a share therein. The question for decision now is whether defendants are khewatdars. Held, that the present suit was not res judicata. JAN KHAN v. AHMAD, 24 P.W.R. 1912=134 P.L.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 445.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(127)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Estoppel—Suit to contest Revenue award.—A suit to have a declaration of right, and to set aside a thakbust proceeding in respect to certain lands, is not estopped by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, by reason of a decision in a previous suit for the value of fruit growing on such lands, in which the question of title to the lands came collaterally in issue. A suit by a plaintiff in possession to contest a thakbust award and map made under Reg. VII of 1822, and IX of 1825 is barred, unless brought within three years, whether plaintiff is legally bound by it or not. MAHIMA CHANDRA CHUCKERBUTTY v. RAJKUMAR CHUCKERRUTTY, 1 B.L.R. A.C. 1=10 W.R. 22. [R., 9 C.L.R. 305.]

(128)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Point not in issue in former suit—First suit to set aside theeka—Second suit for possession.—A former suit brought by the present defendant to set aside a theeka of the property in suit granted by the present plaintiff as surburakhar and in which no issue raising the question of joint ownership now in dispute was framed is no bar to the present suit for a moiety of the property and also for mesne profits on the allegation that the property was purchased with joint funds. NANA v. MUSSUMAT JUMNA BAEE, 2 Agra 192.

(129)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6—Suit for possession after a suit for kabooleut—Estoppel—A suit for re-possession under cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859, is not barred by a previous suit for a kabooleut in which the fair rate of rent was the substantial matter decided and the question of the right of occupancy was not the main point and was not legally adjudicated. KHODA BUKSH v. AKOOL GAZEE, 9 W.R. 595.

(130)—Rent, Enhancement of—Holding, Share of—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss. 3 (9), 30—Res judicata—Decision in former suit must have been necessary to the determination of that suit—Parcel of land.—Where a decision has been passed on two grounds either of which is sufficient to support the decree, the decision upon each of the grounds is conclusive between the parties. But where the decision of a ground is not the basis of the decree, and the judgment is passed in spite of it, the decision of that ground does not operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit between the same parties. (18 C. 647, R; 24 C. 900, D.) A parcel of land is land defined by metes and bounds, and consequently a share in a parcel of land cannot be deemed to be a parcel of land within the meaning of the definition of the term 'holding.' An undivided share of a howla does not come within the definition of the term 'holding' in s. 3, cl. (9) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and therefore does not fall within s. 30 of the said Act. PARBATI v. MATHURA, 16 C.L.J. 9=15 Ind. Cas. 453=16 C.W.N. 877. (25 C. 917, 2 C.W.N. 680, 2 C.L.J. 10, 3 C.L.R. 140, 8 C.W.N. 751, R.)

(131)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Matter directly and substantially in issue—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 69, applicability of—Rent, deposit of—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885, sch. III, art 2 (a)—Onus—Notice, service of by post, presumption—Fact, question of—Order-sheet, ex parte entry in, evidentiary value of—Joint Hindu family, members of, rent due to—Co-owners, suit by some of, maintainability of—Addition of parties after limitation period—Claim joint and indivisible—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 22—Abwabs—Bata usual, Dustur, Hazzatnama, Sonari, Selami, Percentage, and Batta Company.—The Court is not precluded under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code from trying an issue whether the rent of the holding is payable entirely in cash or partly in cash and partly in kind, as it was not directly and substantially in issue in a previous litigation between the same parties, where the substantial relief sought was a declaration that the appraisement made by the Collector under s. 69 of the Bengal Tenancy Act was invalid. S. 69 of the Bengal Tenancy Act is applicable upon the assumption that the rent is taken by appraisement or division; the only matter in controversy between the parties is as to the quantity, value or division of the produce; the section ceases to be applicable when there is a bona fide dispute as to the character of the holding itself. (4 C.W.N. 239, F) If a tenant relies upon clause (a) of art. 2 of sch. III of the Bengal Tenancy Act, he must prove that there was an application which fulfilled the requirements of s. 61, sub-s. (2) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and that a deposit was made under s. 61 after the arrear had fallen due; he must also show that notice under s. 63 was served on the landlord and prove the date when the service was effected. There is no presumption that a letter, which was posted, was properly addressed, and the presumption, that the letter reached the addressee, has no application till it is established that the letter was properly addressed. (9 A. 366, R.). Before the presumption of due service can be applied, it is necessary to prove that the notice was sent in a cover which was properly addressed. The presumption that a notice sent by post was duly served is not a conclusive presumption of law; it is merely a presumption of fact; and whether it arises in a particular case or not depends upon all the circumstances. (3 Bom. L.R. 420, R.; 15 C. 681, D.) An ex parte entry in the order sheet is by no means conclusive evidence, if it is admissible in evidence at all, as against the landlord, who was not a party to the proceedings for deposit under s. 61 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. When rent is due to the member of a joint Hindu family, it is not open to the karta alone to maintain a suit for rent without joining the other members either as plaintiffs or as defendants, except when the tenant has dealt with such karta as sole landlord (3 M. 234, F.; 15 M. 111, 10 B. 32, 12 W.R. 478, 7 B. 217, 21 B. 154, 28 B. 11, 32 I.A. 23=1 C.L.J. 584=32 C. 296=7 Bom. L.R. 1, R.) When the co owner landlords were not unwilling to join as co-plaintiffs but did so with the utmost readiness as soon as objection was taken by the tenant defendants, they should have been joined as plaintiffs in the first instance and if they are brought on the record after the expiry of the period of limitation, their claim is barred by limitation and the entire claim is barred as the claim was joint and indivisible (5 C.L.J. 242, F.B., 6 C. 815=8 C.L.R. 457, 29 A. 311=4 A.L.J. 194, R.; 26 C. 409, D.) The batta usual Dustur, Hazzatnama, sonari chanda, salami and percentage are abwabs. (11 C. 175, F.B., 17 C. 726 F.B., R.) If the tenancy was created before 1836, Batta Company is prima facie not an abwab, but if the creation of the tenancy is of subsequent date, it is prima facie an abwab. MIR TAPURAH HOOSEIN v. GOPI NARAYAN, 7 C.L.J. 251. (7 C.L.J. 202, R.) [F., 7 C.L.J. 262; R., 36 C. 726=10 C.L.J. 189=1 Ind. Cas. 549; Expl., 9 C.L.J. 623=1 Ind. Cas. 530.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(132)—Expl. II, s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Scope and application—Rent-suit—No objection re illegal cess in prior suit—S. 74, Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885).—Although, upon a literal interpretation of the words of Expl. II, s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, it might be contended that a point not raised and not decided in a previous litigation might still be taken as conclusive in a subsequent suit between the parties, yet, upon a proper construction of the section, the question ought not to and cannot be treated as res judicata unless there is a judicial determination, express or implied, on the matter not put directly in issue. A previous rent-suit, wherein the legality of a certain cess was not questioned, does not preclude the defendant from questioning its legality, in the absence of a judicial determination of the point in the former suit. WOOMESH CHANDRA MAITRA v. BARADA DAS MAITRA, 28 C. 17. (24 C. 711, F.; 17 C. 726, R.) [F., 107 P.R. 1906=76 P.L.R. 1907; Appr., 1 C.L.J. 337; R., 55 P.R. 1907=96 P.W.R. 1907=65 P.L.R. 1908; D., 35 C. 979=8 C.L.J. 82=12 C.W.N. 862.]

(133)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code (1882)—S. 158, Act VIII of 1885 (Bengal Tenancy)—Dispute as to tenancy between landlord and tenant.—In a proceeding under s. 158 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, an issue relating to a dispute as to the existence of the relation of landlord and tenant between the parties can only be decided collaterally, and does not arise between them in such a manner as to make the decision upon it res judicata between the parties in a subsequent regular suit. PEARY MOHUN MUKERJI v. ALI SHEIKH, 20 C. 249. [R., 21 C. 378, 30 C. 339.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(134)—U.P. Land Revenue Act (III of 1901), s. 185—Decision of the Deputy Commissioner as to the amount of rent and cesses payable by an under-proprietor to a superior proprietor—Summary proceedings to recover rent, effect of—Oudh Land Revenue Act (XVII of 1876), s. 158—Rural Police rate—Effect of neglecting to enforce right for some time—Want of inclusion in settlement amount.—The decision of a Deputy Commissioner in a proceeding held under s. 185 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act or s. 158 of the Oudh Land Revenue Act, 1876, does not render the question of the amount of rent and cesses payable by an under-proprietor to the superior proprietor res judicata. S. 185 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, like s. 158 of the Oudh Land Revenue Act of 1876, provides a summary remedy for the recovery of rent and other sums payable by the under-proprietors. Such proceedings do not result in a decree and cannot have the force of res judicata. A superior proprietor cannot be deprived of his rights merely because for some years he had neglected to enforce them. A claim for rural Police rate cannot be rejected on the ground that it was not included in the amount fixed as rent by the Settlement Officer at the revision of Settlement, where the Settlement was revised before the rural Police rate was imposed. RAJPAL SINGH v. PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH, 12 Ind. Cas. 331.

(135)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 12—Res judicata—Suit for confirmation of possession.—Where, after obtaining a decree for confirmation of possession of land and for the recovery of the value of the produce of one of the plots constituting the suit land, which was alleged to have been wrongfully carried away by the defendants, the same plaintiff brought the present suit against the same defendants, again asking for confirmation of possession, alleging that, while the first suit was pending, the defendants dispossessed the plaintiff, and also for the recovery of the produce which had been raised since the institution of the prior suit, held that s. 12, Civ. Pro. Code, was no bar to the present suit. BISSESSUR SINGH v. GUNPUT SINGH, 8 C.L.R. 113. [R., 11 A. 148.]

(136)—Grant—Suit for mesne profits of Jirayati village—Law of limitation.—A suit brought by V against N in the Court of the Agent at Vizagapatam to recover, with mesne profits and other incidents, a jirayati village alleged by V to form part of his zamindari and to be wrongfully held by N by virtue of the execution of a decree of the Commissioner of the Northern Circars passed in 1844. N pleaded that he held on a permanent lease subject to a fixed quit-rent, that he and his ancestors had held on that tenure since and previously to the permanent settlement, and that the quit-rent had been received from him by V. The Agent dismissed the suit on the ground that the matter had become res judicata against V by a former decree of 1807. Held that the matter of the present claim was not res judicata, because the question of the existence and validity of the alleged grant of which N relied was not determined in the previous decree; that as N in his written statement relied on the right to hold the village in perpetutity under a grant made before the date of the permanent settlement, subject to a kattubadi or quit-rent payable to V, the amount of which N distinctly stated that V had received from him since 1857, V's claim to eject could not now be disposed of absolutely on the ground that it was barred by the Act of Limitation, and that, as the plaint prayed for the recovery of possession and proceeded on the ground, amongst others, of the invalidity of the grant relied on by N, the question as to the validity of the permanent kattubadi tenure claimed by N was properly open for determination in the present suit. NARAYANA RAZ BAHADUR, ZAMINDAR OF KURUPAM v. B. PATANJALI SHASTRI, 3 M.H.C. 120.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in issue—continued.

(137)—Civ. Pro Code, s. 13 -Suit for partition by adopted son.—An action was brought by the descendant of a person who claimed to be the adopted son of one S against the son of S. to obtain a partition of S's property. It appeared that a previous suit was brought by this plaintiff against the defendant, and in it the plaintiff claimed partition of a particular portion of the property left by S. The defence to this suit was (1) that the suit could not succeed as the plaintiff sought partition of only a portion of the estate left by S, whereas he should have brought the whole property into suit, (2) that the plaintiff's ancestor was not the adopted son of S. The first Court held that the suit was maintainable in its then form and decided upon the merits and gave a decree in favour of the plaintiff. The appellate Court held that the suit was not maintainable in its then form, because it were of opinion that the plaintiff was bound to sue for a partition of the whole estate and could not sue for partition of a portion only of it. Upon this ground alone the appellate Court dismissed the suit. It appeared that the appellate Court proceeded to record its opinion upon various other points in the suit. It was contended in the present (second) suit that the matter in dispute was res judicata by reason of the decision in the previous suit. Held that the decree in the previous suit was the decree of the appellate Court and that the appellate Court should not be considered to have decided the question at all as it was not substantially in issue at that stage of the suit, and that therefore the second suit was not barred by res judicata. UMRAO SINGH v. PIARE LAL, A.W.N. 1886, 53.

(138)—Suit to set aside adoption and for declaration of title—Previous suit deciding in favour of adoption—Effect.—G brought a suit to set aside the adoption of R, to declare G's title to certain lands and for possession. It appeared that previous to this suit, there had been a suit by G's son against G and R to obtain a moiety of the family property, in which it had been decided that R was the adopted son of G's brother. Held that the decision in the prior suit did not operate as res judicata in the later suit. GOPALAYYAN v. RAGHUPATHI AYYAN, 3 M.H.C. 217. (1 M.H.C. 45, 2 M.H.C. 131, D.) [R. & F., 14 M.L.J. 404=28 M. 457, F.B.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in issue—continued.

(139)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl. II, —Suit by widow and alleged adopted son in alternative—Defendant not bound to dispute validity of adoption set up—Effect of decision in favour of alleged adopted son.—Where a Hindu widow and her alleged adopted son sued in the alternative and one of them, in the circumstances of the case, was bound to succeed, an adjudication in favour of both the plaintiffs did not bar a subsequent suit by the defendant to set aside the alleged adoption, because in that suit there was no issue with reference to the question of adoption and the defendant was not bound to make it a ground of defence that no adoption had taken place. ADILAKSHMI v. VENKATARAMAYYA, 13 M.L.J. 359. [Not F., 29 M. 390=16 M.L.J. 307=1 M.L.T. 183.]

(140)—Res judicata—Certificate under Act XXVII of 1860—Application for letters of administration—Suit to set aside order granting certificate—Will.—K died leaving a widow M as his heir. M also died leaving a Will in favour of B. One G applied under Act XXVII of 1860 for a certificate to collect debts due to the estate of M, and B applied for letters of administration with the Will annexed. The Judge granted certificate to G and refused the application of B Thereupon B sued for the establishment of the Will and for setting aside the order granting the certificate to G. The Court held that, though the Will of M was genuine, the property which was disposed of by it to B was the property of her husband, and that in consequence the Will passed nothing to him, and that, although the evidence as to G having been the heir of M's husband, was doubtful, yet the Court could not say that he was not her heir. G now sued for the rents of those properties accruing for the period subsequent to the death of M and contended that the decision in the previous suit brought by B operated as a bar to the hearing of the question of title. Held, that the principle of res judicata did not apply. GOOROO CHURN SIRCAR v. BRIJA NATH DHUR, 24 W.R. 111.

(141) -Finding in previous suit in respect of will—Opinion of Court ultra vires—Object of previous suit different —Judgment conclusive only as regards points then in issue—Will by Hindu — Formalities — Intention of testator, Ascertainment of — Mitakshara law — Son's right to profits of ancestral estate.—It was contended that the finding in a previous suit between the parties with regard to the Will and petitions in question was ultra vires and could not be binding on the parties in the present appeal. The High Court held that the above contention was sound, observing that the real object of the previous suit was different from that of the present one and was not for a declaration on the present point, viz., how far the Will and the petitions were officious and operative and the appellant was therefore entitled to a fresh declaration with regard to the effect of the Will and of the petitions. The judgment in the previous suit should be deemed to have conclusively dealt only with the points then in issue; and, as, in the present case, the Court had to go further on to determine how far the Will and petitions were officious and operative and how far they were not, the matter now legitimately before the Court was a difierent matter entitling the plaintiff to a specific decision thereon. In order to constitute a valid Will in India, no formalities have been laid down by law as having to be necessarily gone through, and all that is required for the purpose is that the intention of the testator should be ascertained in whatever way it may be ascertained, whether by word of mouth or in writing, clearly and unmistakeably. Under the Mitakshara law, the son gets, from the moment of his birth, a vested right in ancestral property, and is entitled, equally with his father, as well to the profits of the ancestral property as to the property itself, from the moment of his birth or of his adoption (as in the present case); and so, property which has been acquired out of the proceeds of ancestral property is to be deemed ancestral equally with that actually inherited from ancestors. SUDANUND MOHAPATTUR v. SOORJOO MONEE DEBEE, 8 W.R. 455.

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(142)—Suit by reversioners—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Declaratory order—Contingent rights.—A suit by reversioners against a childless widow as being without title, where the answer was that she had a title as next of kin to her brother, was held to be no bar, under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859, to a suit by the same plaintiffs, after the death of the widow, to obtain possession of the same lands held by defendant as the alleged adopted son of the widow. BABOO MOHAN LAL BHAYA GYAL v. LUCHMAN LAL, 5 B.L.R. 663=14 W.R. 73. [R., 16 W.R. 179, 11 C.W.N. 147.]

(143)—Res judicata—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Ex parte decree—Court of competent jurisdiction—Fresh cause of action.—Held, that an ex parte decree may operate as res judicata when it becomes final by being executed, and the time for objections to set it aside has expired. It cannot be shown in a fresh suit that the defendant had no notice of the previous claim when an application to set aside the decree had been rejected. Held, also, that it is always allowable in a subsequent suit, in which the plea of res judicata is set up, to show that the former decision was passed by a Court without jurisdiction. The word 'jurisdiction' as used in s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, means competency to entertain the suit with reference to its subject-matter and to the powers of the Court. Held, further, that a fresh suit, on a cause of action which has arisen since the decree was passed in the former suit and which is not affected by it, is not barred. CHUNI LAL v. MUSST. AMIR BIBI, P.L.R. 1900, p. 431=39 P.R. 1900. [R., 57 P. R. 1907.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(144)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. II—Suit for possession by right of inheritance—Defence—Possession under deed of gift and for satisfaction of dower-debt—Suit dismissed—Subsequent suit to recover the plaintiff's share on payment of dower-debt—Matter which might and ought to have been made a ground of attack in the former suit.—A suit was brought by the plaintiffs, appellants, to recover their share, by right of inheritance, of the property of a deceased Mahomedan in the hands of his widow. The widow set up the defence that she was in possession of the property under a deed of gift from her husband and was also entitled to hold the same until her dower-debt, which remained unpaid, was discharged. It was held in that suit that the deed of gift was not true, but she was entitled to possession until payment of her dower-debt. The present suit was instituted by the plaintiffs to recover their share upon payment of the dower-debt. Held, that the suit was not barred by the provisions of s. 13 of the Code, as the cause of action in this suit was distinct from the cause of action in the former suit. Under the section, a plaintiff was only bound to make, as a ground of attack in the suit, a matter which not merely might, but ought to, have been made a ground of attack. ZIANT-UN-NISSA v. RAJAN, 27 A. 142=A.W.N. 1904, 191=1 A.L.J. 498. (A.W.N. 1886, 69, F.)

(145)—Unnecessary finding—Pro forma defendants—Court's power to examine former decision—Burden of proof.—A person died leaving sons and daughters. One of the sons sued to enforce an award and to have the deceased's property awarded to himself and his brothers in accordance with it; in the alternative, to partition the property, if the award was not binding on any one, among the brothers, on the ground that the daughters were excluded by custom; but that, if this was not proved, then, to partition the property among all the issues, male and female, of the deceased, according to Mahomedan Law. The daughters were impleaded in that suit, because they were alleged to have consented to the reference. But the lower Courts found that the daughters have been duped into consenting to the reference and were, therefore, not bound by the award. The Courts also held that the daughters were excluded by a custom and, consequently, their consent to the reference being immaterial, gave a decree in accordance with the award in favour of the brothers alone. Subsequently, some of the daughters sued for possession by partition of their shares in their father's property under the Mahomedan Law. The defence pleaded that this suit was res judicata under the decree in the prior suit, on the ground that the Courts found that the daughters were excluded by custom. Held that there is no res judicata. In the previous suit, all that the Court below had to do was to pass a decree against the male defendants in the terms of the award, on the finding that it bound them, and the decision on the question of status of the daughters with reference to Mahomedan Law or custom was ultra vires, inasmuch as that issue did not arise and, therefore, the finding on the issue cannot be pleaded in bar of the present suit. When the question arises whether an issue was a necessary one, the finding on which is set up as a bar to a fresh trial of the same issue, the Court has power to examine the pleadings and the facts of the former case and the grounds of decision and to see for itself whether the issue was a necessary one, or, in other words, whether the matter pleaded as res judicata was directly in issue before. The fact that the Court in the former suit thought the issue to be a necessary one is not conclusive. The party setting up the plea of res judicata has to establish and to satisfy the Court trying the later suit that it is substantiated. RAJAB-UN-NISSA v. HABIB BAKHSH, 57 P R. 1907 = 66 P.W.R. 1907. (157 P.R. 1889, F.B., 7 A. 606, 92 P.R. 1895, R.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(146)—Widow suing for share of her husband's property and declaration that she was lawfully wedded wife—Denial of her marriage—Reference to arbitration—Decree on award—Subsequent suit by widow—Res judicata—Release—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13.—One H, a Cutchi Memon Mahomedan died intestate in 1878, leaving him surviving 2 widows (F and A) and other members of his family. F had a daughter M. In 1879, a suit (No. 616 of 1879) which A filed against the executors of her father-in-law's Will to recover certain money belonging to her husband was decreed in her favour and was afterwards referred to the Commissioner for certain enquiries being made. In 1882, F and her daughter M sued the other widow A, in No. 227 of 1882, to recover a certain share in the estate of H and also for a declaration that F was the lawful wife and M, the lawful daughter of H. The plea set up by the defendant in that suit was that F was only a mistress kept by H and as such entitled to no share in his property. By consent of parties, both the suits were referred to arbitration and a decree was passed on the award. The decree gave F Rs. 55,000 in full satisfaction of all her and her daughter's claims on the estate of H and declared A to be entitled to the remainder of the estate. In 1882, A filed a suit (No. 198 of 1882) against the executors of her father-in-law and obtained certain ornaments which she claimed as her stridhanam property. In October 1886, A remarried. Thereupon F instituted the present suit against her for a declaration that, according to the custom obtaining among Cutchi Memons, A had forfeited all rights to her husband's estate, and that she (F) was solely entitled thereto, being the only surviving widow of H. The defendant contended (1) that the award and the decree passed in the two previous suits was a bar to the present suit. (2) that the plaintiff's present claim to be the widow of H was res judicata, because her prayer in the previous suit for a declaration that she was the lawful wife of H must be taken to have been refused, under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, the decree in the suit containing no such declaration, (3) that Rs. 55,000 having been awarded to the plaintiff in full satisfaction of all her claims against the estate of H by the decree in suit No. 227 of 1882, she was precluded from bringing the present suit, and that her (defendant's) re marriage did not give the plaintiff any right to sue, and (4) that, under the decree in the previous suit, the plaintiff had released all her claims to the property in suit in favour of the defendant. Held (1) that the former suit (No. 227 of 1882) was no bar to the present suit under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. Although F litigated in the former suit as widow of H the matters substantially in issue in the two suits were quite distinct. In the former, F claimed her share in the estate of H as one of his lawful heirs entitled to succeed to him on his death. In the present suit her claim was based on a subsequent event by reason of which she contended that the defendant's (A's) share was, by custom and law, forfeited and reverted to the estate of H; (2) that the status of plaintiff as widow of H was not res judicata. In suit No. 227 of 1882, the declaration which had not been made, that she was the lawful wife of H, not having been sought for by the plaintiff by way of specific relief, but simply as the ground for the real and substantial relief, to obtain which the suit was instituted, viz., the payment by the defendant of plaintiff's share in the estate of H. S. 13, Expl. III, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, was not intended to apply to such a case. With reference to the contention that the award and decree in the previous suit constituted a valid and binding release or final settlement of all claims whatsoever, whether present or future, which the plaintiff might have on the estate of H, held that, when the award and decree were properly construed and read with reference to the character in which the parties were litigating as widows of H, claiming to succeed to his property on his decease, there was no such clear intention shown to include in the settlement effected by them a future contingent claim of the special nature now put forward, as to prevent the plaintiff from setting it up in the present suit. FATMABAI v. AISHA BAI, 13 B. 242. [R., 25 B. 115.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

Res Judicata*—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(147)—Plea of non-liability not raised in prior suit—Bar of plea in subsequent suit in Court not having jurisdiction to entertain same.—Where in a suit for interest due under a bond a defendant did not raise the objection that he was not liable under the bond, in a later suit on the same bond for principal and interest due subsequently, in a Court not having jurisdiction to entertain it, the defendant was not debarred from setting up the plea of non-liability. BADI BABI SAHIBAL v. SAMI PILLAI, 2 M.L.J. 235.

(148)—Res judicata—Finding on collateral issues—Limitation.—In a suit for possession of certain lands, it was considered necessary to find the boundary between two villages one of which belonged to the plaintiff and the other to the defendant, and a decree was passed in favour of the defendant on the ground that the suit lands fell within the defendant's village. In a subsequent suit between the same parties for possession of some other lands, the defendant contended that the suit lands fell further towards his village than the lands in the former suit, and that consequently the present suit was barred by res judicata. Held that the decision in the former suit was conclusive only with regard to the particular land then in dispute; and although the Judge may, for his own purposes and as one of the means of arriving at a decision in that suit, have thought proper to ascertain the boundary line between the two villages, that does not make his decision conclusive as regards the boundary line or as regards any other lands than the lands then in suit. The merging of an issue of limitation in an issue as to possession is not an error in law. MONI ROY v. MUSST RAJBUNSEE KOOER, 25 W.R. 393. [R., 12 C.W.N. 739=9 C.L J. 597, 16 C.W.N. 317=14 C L.J. 578=10 Ind. Cas. 376.]

(149)—Contract for sale of land and execution of sale-deed—Suit for specific performance of contract—Decree—Sale-deed executed by Court—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 262—Subsequent suit for possession—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, Expl. II and s. 43.—The defendant contracted to sell his land to the plaintiff and received the purchase-money. The plaintiff, who was given possession of the land, having been subsequently dispossessed, sued the defendant for specific performance of the contract, and had the sale deed executed in his favour by the Court on behalf of the defendant under s. 262, Civ. Pro. Code. He thereupon brought the present suit for possession on the strength of the sale-deed. The defence set up was that the suit was barred under the provisions of s. 13, Expl. II and s. 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882. Held that the present suit was not barred by s. 43, which was not applicable to the present case because the alleged cause of action in the present suit was not the breach of the contract but a new and distinct one arising from the deed of sale itself, which the defendant had contracted to pass. Nor was the suit barred under Expl. II to s. 13, because the object of that explanation would seem to be to compel the plaintiff to rely on all the grounds which were open to him in support of the claim made by his plaint which in the first suit was confined to obtaining a regular deed of sale. NATHU valad PANDU v. BUDHU valad BHIKA, 18 B. 537. [Diss., 22 M. 24=8 M.L.J. 147; F., 4 N.L.R. 14; Cons., 37 C. 57=14 C.W.N. 527=5 Ind. Cas. 205; Appr., 8 Ind.Cas. 9; Appl., 5 Ind. Cas. 439=13 O.C. 19.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(150)—Water kept out of fishery—Obstruction—Damages—Fresh suit—Res judicata.—Where the plaintiff's damages occurred at a time when the defendant, notwithstanding the decision in a previous suit, thought fit to maintain the obstruction whereby water was kept out of the plaintiff's fishery, and whereby he was precluded from receiving the profits of such fishery, held, that there was nothing to prevent the plaintiff from recovering further damages by a fresh suit. LALL MOHUN BANERJEE v. KADUMBINEE DOSSEE, 24 W.R. 471.

(151)—Principal and agent—Previous suit against Government as representing principal dismissed—Subsequent suit against agent and principal—Res judicata.—A lent money to B as agent of C. Government having confiscated C's property. A sued Government for this debt, but the suit was dismissed. He then sued B and C. It was admitted by the plaintiff that B was only the agent of C, but the plaintiff stated that he looked to B alone for payment as he had no hope of getting the money from C. Held that the suit must be dismissed as against A who was admittedly an agent, and that, as against C, the suit was not barred by the dismissal of the previous suit. For, the issue in the previous suit was as to the liability of Government as having confiscated his property; it had no reference to C's own liability; whereas, in the present suit, the issue was as to the liability of B or C. The plaintiff's statement that he looked to B alone for the payment of the money cannot, in the face of his admission that B acted as agent of C, have the effect of exonerating C, against whom, therefore, the suit had to proceed. MAHOMED MOHKAM v. RAMZANEE, 10 P.R. 1868.

(152)—Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), decision in insolvency proceedings under, subsequent proceedings under Civ. Pro. Code, s. 344 not precluded by—Res judicata.—In this case, the Judge of the Small Cause Court invested with powers under s. 360 of Act XIV of 1882 refused to grant a discharge under the Code as insolvents to the judgment-debtors, the present appellants. The refusal was based solely on the ground that in a previous proceeding under the Insolvency section of the Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872) an order of discharge had been refused to the same insolvents (the same creditors also being their opponents), and that the ground of refusal being fraudulent entries in the accounts concealment of assets, and recklessness in accumulating debts, which were also specific grounds of refusal under s. 351 of the Code, the matter was res judicata. Held, that the matter in issue was not res judicata, since insolvency proceedings under the special provisions of the Punjab Laws Act do not amount to a "suit" as the term is used in s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. CHIRANJI MAL v. CREDITORS, 145 P.R. 1884. [Overruled, 75 P.R. 1905=193 P.L.R. 1905; Appr., 62 P.R. 1886.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(153)—Same issues.—On the 12th July 1861, a decree based on mortgage was passed for Rs. 7,080 against K. In execution proceedings, the Court added to the decree a direction to pay interest over the decretal amount, on the 22nd October 1866; but this direction was set aside in appeal on the 15th September 1869. In the meanwhile, on the 22nd December 1868, K's widow M passed a sale-deed in favour of the decree holder. The consideration of the sale-deed was made up of three parts: (1) Rs. 7,080 due under the decree; (2) interest on that sum subsequent to the date of the decree; and (3) a fresh cash advance of Rs. 7,280. On the 23rd December 1869, the reversioner brought a suit against the decree-holder and others claiming a right of pre-emption in the property sold. The suit was dismissed on the ground that no right of pre-emption was proved. M died on the 31st May 1894. At her death the estate passed to the reversioner, who brought a suit on the 21st February 1899 to recover the property. Two defences were raised to the suit. (1) sale in question was justified by necessity, and (2) the suit was barred by Expl. II to s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code: Held, (1) that the defence of necessity existed in respect only of the first item of consideration but not with respect to the other two. Held, (2) that the suit was not barred by s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code. What was in question in the former suit was the right of pre-emption, in respect of what he had power to convey and did convey, that is his widow's interest, and the introduction of any question as to the effect of the conveyance upon the reversion would have been incongruous to the matter of the suit. DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF KHERI v. KHANJAN SINGH, 9 Bom. L.R. 591=5 C.L.J. 344=11 C.W.N. 474=4 A.L.J. 232=2 M L.T. 145=17 M.L.J. 233=29 A. 331=10 O.C. 117=34 I.A. 72.

(154)—Suit by reversioners to set aside alienation—Subsequent suit to enforce pre-emption in respect of same property — Distinct causes of action—Separate suits—Res judicata—Civ. Pro Code, ss. 13, 42 and 43.—One M sold the house in suit to the defendant and plaintiffs brought a suit against her and the vendee to have the sale cancelled on the ground that they were reversionary heirs of her late husband and entitled as such to succeed to the house on her death, and that the sale was made without necessity. It was held that the sale was for necessity, and the suit was accordingly dismissed. Subsequently, M having died, the present suit was brought by the plaintiffs against the purchaser to obtain possession of the house in virtue of their right of pre-emption: Upon the facts above stated the question arose whether the suit was barred either under s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, or under s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code. Held that the suit was not barred under either of the sections; the matter directly and substantially in issue in the present suit, that is, the plaintiffs' right of pre-emption in respect of the house in dispute was clearly not in issue in the former suit, either expressly or with reference to Expl. II, s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, constructively, and s. 13, therefore, could not bar the suit. On the question which arose with respect to s. 43, it was held that, in the first suit, the plaintiffs sought relief for the infringement of their reversionary right viz., to have the sale set aside as against them. In the second case, they sought, by enforcing their right of pre-emption, to obtain possession of the house. Two different cases were thus set up by the plaintiffs in the two suits and the subject-matter and scope of each were different. The plaintiffs in the first case cannot therefore be said to have omitted to sue in respect of any portion of the claim which they were entitled to make in respect of the cause of action in that suit; nor must the claim in the present suit be necessarily regarded as a portion of the claim which they were entitled to make in respect of the cause of action sued upon in the first suit. KHAIRATI v. AKKO, 108 P.R. 1882. [R., 47 P.R. 1886, 55 P.R. 1907=65 P.L.R. 1908.]

Res Judicata—continued.

—7.—Matters in Issue—continued.

(155)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), ss 12, 13—Res judicata—Suit for restitution of conjugal rights—Issue as to liquidation of dower, determination of by district Court—Bar of second trial of same issue in another Court.—A Mahomedan having instituted a suit for restitution of conjugal rights in a District Court against his wife, the latter sued him for payment of dower in the Small Cause Court. The question about the liquidation of dower being in issue in both suits, the Small Cause suit was postponed till the disposal of the suit in the District Court. The latter Court subsequently decided that the dower had been paid. Held that the issue regarding the payment of dower could not be tried by the Small Cause Court, as its trial there was stayed by consent of parties pending decision of the same issue in the District Court, whose decision was, under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, a bar to the second trial of the same issue in the Small Cause Court. MUSSAMMAT GAITIARA BEGAM v. MUSSITA BEGH, 118 P. R. 1880.

(156)—Res judicata—Adoption—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—Where, in a former suit between the present plaintiff and the defendant, the question as to the validity of the adoption of the latter had been substantially tried, a subsequent suit for setting aside the alleged adoption was held to be barred by res judicata

Res Judicata*—continued.

——7.—Matters in Issue—concluded.

under s. 2, Act VIII of 1859. KRISTO BEHAREE ROY v. BUNWAREE LOLL ROY, 19 W.R. 62.

(157)—Civ Pro. Code, (Act X of 1877), s. 13, Expl. V—Res judicata —Held that s. 13, Expl. V. of the Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), barred a suit by certain proprietors in a Thulla for possession of land, where a former suit by other proprietors in the Thulla litigating for all, of which the plaintiffs in the second suit had notice, had been dismissed, the point at issue being the same. CHET RAM v. BAHAL SINGH, 108 P. R. 1880. [D., 111 P. R. 1882, 38 P. R. 1897.]

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, W. R. 1864, 20.

See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 P. R. 1892.

——8.—Parties.

See PARTIES TO SUIT—ADDING PARTIES TO SUITS.

(1)—Plea of, maintainability of.—To maintain the plea of res judicata it must appear from inspection of the record that the person whose interest it is sought to bind was in some way a party to the suit. A mere intention on the part of one of the parties that it should be for his benefit is not enough to support the plea. CHAUDRI AHMED BAKHSH v. SETH RAGHUBAR DAYAL, 7 Bom. L. R. 912=2 C.L.J. 413, P.C.=15 M. L. J. 407=10 C.W.N. 115 =2 A.L.J. 813=9 O.C. 7 = 28 A. 1=32 I. A. 229=8 Sar. 882.

(2)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata —"Under whom they or any of them claim" meaning of—Privity—Landlord and tenant—Estoppel.—For the purposes of res judicata, the ground of privity is property and not personal relation. (8 A 324, R.) Though the words "under whom they or any of them claim" in s. 13 are wide, there seems to be no difficulty in the way of restricting them, so as to bind the party to the subsequent suit by the decision in the former suit, only in respect of interests represented by the party to the former suit at the time of suit. Other interests, with which he had parted before the suit and which he had ceased to represent, could not properly be the subject of adjudication in the suit. As regards the interests represented, however, it does not matter whether they vested in the privy before or after the former suit. Quaere:—Whether a tenant may be represented by his landlord in so far as his holding subordinate. Conduct to create an estoppel must be found to have misled the plaintiff. SESHAPPAYA v. VENKATRAMANA UPADYA, 5 Ind. Cas. 732=20 M.L.J. 752=33 M. 459.

(3)—Benami suits—Conclusiveness of decrees.—A decree of Court, until it is set aside, is, as between the parties to it, conclusive both as to the rights of those parties and the character in which they sue; and it is not open to any of the parties to show for whose benefit the suit was carried on, e.g., for the defendant to show that he was the plaintiff. BHAWABAL SING v. MAHARAJA RAJENDRA PRATAB SAHOY BAHADUR, 5 B.L.R. 321=13 W.R. 157. [F., 6 N.L.R. 177; D., 17 W.R. 454, 12 C. 156.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(4)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—A matter may be res judicata in a subsequent suit, although the parties in that suit between whom the matter was decided were arrayed as co-defendants in the former suit and not as plaintiff and defendant, if the matter in the second suit formed the subject of active controversy between the co-defendants in the former suit. The question of res judicata cannot be decided by the judgment in the former case without the decree. MADHEVI v. KELU, 15 M. 264. [F., 22 A. 386, 29 M. 515; R., 24 A. 112, U.B.R. 1907, 2nd Quarter, Civ. Pro. Code, p. 5; D., 18 A. 65.]

(5)—Estoppel.—There must be mutuality in order to create the identity of parties necessary to sustain the plea of res judicata, and without mutuality there can be no estoppel. GNANAMBAL v. PARVATI, 15 M. 477=2 M.L.J. 212. [R., 6 C.L.J. 621.]

(6)—Civ. Pro. Code, s 13.—When there is no identity of the substantial issue in the later suit with that in the former and the parties to them are not the same, the first does not operate as res judicata to bar the second suit. RAMAN v. NANU, 5 M. 9.

(7)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1859, ss. 2 and 7, whether applicable to suits under Act X of 1859.—The principles of ss. 2 and 7 of Act VIII of 1859, being based on the most equitable considerations, should be applied to suit under Act X of 1859, although those sections are neither incorporated in that Act nor are specially made applicable to suits under that Act. PURBHOO TEWAREE v. RAMJEAWUN PATUCK, 1 N.W.P. 119.

(8)—"Same parties."—The decision of a matter directly and substantially in issue in a suit is res judicata in a subsequent suit between parties who, though they were nominally on the same array of parties in the first suit, were really opposed to each other with respect to such matter. SHADAL KHAN v. AMIN-ULLAH KHAN, 4 A. 92=A.W.N. 1881, 137. (6 C. 171, Concurred in) [F., 2 O.P.L.R. 52; D., 8 A. 91.]

(9)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Suit against two persons—One of whom was exonerated and a decree passed against the other—Subsequent suit against the exonerated defendant—Bar under s. 13. Where in a previous suit the defendant was exonerated, and the petition as against him was dismissed with costs, and a decree for the full amount was given against the other defendant, it was held that this was a dismissal of the claim against the exonerated defendant under s.13. THIRUVENGADASAWMY NAIDU v. BALAGURUNATHA CHETTY, 4 M L.T. 413. (23 B. 235, 32 B. 296, D.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(10)—Res judicata between co-defendants—Issue affecting defendant necessary to be decided for giving relief to the plaintiff—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11.—Where it is necessary to determine a certain issue, for the purpose of granting relief to the plaintiff, and the Court, as a matter of fact, decides that issue, and the decision affects the defendants inter se, the decision will operate as res judicata between the co-defendants. GOLAB SINGH v. NET SINGH, 10 Ind. Cas. 324.

(11)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s 11—Res judicata between co-defendants.—Where it is necessary to adjudicate between co-defendants the question of the title of one of the defendants in order to give relief to the plaintiff, the adjudication would be res judicata between the defendants as well as between the plaintiff and the defendant. PURSHOTAMA NAND GIR v. LAKHPATTI, 7 Ind. Cas. 67=8 M.L.J. 244. (22 A. 386, 18 A. 65, F.)

(12)—Res judicata between co-defendants—Conflict of interest.—Where there is a conflict of interests between defendants inter se, an adjudication of rights may be res judicata between them as well as between the plaintiff and defendants. NEHAL SINGH v. CHANDA SINGH, 140 P.R. 1890 (11 B. 216, F.) [R., 79 P. R. 1905, 57 P.R. 1907, 97 P.R. 1910=142 P.W.R. 1910.]

(13)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, Expl. V—Res judicata between co-defendants.—When an adjudication is necessary to give the appropriate relief to the plaintiff in the prior suit, the adjudication is res judicata even as between co-defendants, when the right asserted by the plaintiff and decided in the previous suit was one so asserted and decided as common to himself and others. LATCHANNA v. SARAVAYYA, 18 M. 164. [Not F., 28 M. 457 F.B.=14 M.L.J. 404; R., 9 M.L.J. 60; D., 16 C.P.L R. 161.]

(14)—Rights of parties, ascertainment of, from pleadings and judgment—Defendants inter se, questions between, when binding and conclusive—Constructive res judicata.—To determine the question of res judicata, it is essential to ascertain what were the rights in dispute between the parties and what were alleged between them, and this must be done, not merely from the decree, but also from the pleadings and judgment (1 C.L.J. 337 and 31 C. 95, R.) Where an adjudication between defendants is necessary to give the appropriate relief to the plaintiff, there must be an adjudication; and in such case, the adjudication will be res judicata between the defendants, as well as between the plaintiff and the defendants; but, for this, there must be a conflict of interest amongst the defendants, and the judgment must define the real rights and obligations of the defendants inter se (30 C. 95, 22 A. 386, 25 B. 74, 26 M. 337, R.) Quaere: Whether the doctrine of constructive res judicata is applicable where the subject matters of the two suits are different? (1 C.L J. 337, R.) GURDEO SINGH v. CHANDRIKAH SINGH, AND CHANDRIKAH SINGH v. RASH BHEARY SINGH, 5 C.L.J. 611=36 C. 193=1 Ind. Cas. 913. [F., 10 C.L.J. 91=1 Ind. Cas. 677, 11 C.L.J. 461, 6 M.L.T. 313; R., 7 C.L.J. 152, 6 C.L.J. 320, F.B.=11 C.W.N. 1011=35 C. 61, 6 C.L. J. 612=12 C.W.N. 107, 5 C.L.J. 653, 6 C.L J. 46, 3 M.L T. 395=31 M. 439=18 M.L J. 306, 11 C.L.J. 226=14 C.W N. 617=5 Ind. Cas. 165; D., 6 C.L J. 547=12 C.W.N. 590, 35 C. 837=12 C.W.N. 849=7 C.L.J. 492.]

(15)—When a finding in a suit is res judicata between co-defendants.—The plaintiffs sued to recover certain property from the defendants. In a previous suit both the present plaintiffs and the defendant's grandfather B, were arrayed as co-defendants; and B pleaded therein that the present plaintiffs were trespassers. Issue was joined on the question of the present plaintiffs' title and it was decided in favour of the present plaintiffs. The decision of the issue was essential for giving relief to the plaintiffs in the previous suit. In these circumstances, held, the finding as to plaintiffs' title in that suit is res judicata and cannot be disputed now. RAMASWAMY REDDY v. ABBOY CHETTY, 2 M.W.N. 1911, 306=11 Ind. Cas. 17=11 M.L T. 71. (28 M. 457, D.)

(16)—Adjudication between two persons in a former suit, whether res judicata in a subsequent suit between one of them and the successor in title of the other.—An adjudication, in a former suit, between two co-defendants, that one of them acquired a title by adverse possession, is res judicata, in a subsequent suit between one of them and the successor in title of the other. KANDIYIL CHIRYA CHANDU v. THE ZAMORIN OF CALICUT, 29 M. 515. (15 M. 264, 22 M. 323, F.; 18 M. 374, D.) [F., 17 M.L.J. 260=30 M. 447=2 M.L.T. 368, 17 M.L.J. 22, Note; R., 7 M.L.T. 89.]

(17)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata between co-defendants—Burden of proof that property in the hands of widow is part of her husband's estate.—Where an adjudication between the defendants is necessary to give the appropriate relief to the plaintiff, there must be such an adjudication, and in such a case the adjudication will be res judicata between the defendants as well as between the plaintiff and the defendants. There must be a conflict of interest amongst the defendants, and the judgment must define the real rights and obligations of the defendants inter se. (11 B. 216, F.; 18 A. 165, 11 M. 204, 26 M. 337, 28 M. 457, 29 M. 515, 30 M. 447, R.) He who claims property through some other person, must show the property to have been vested in that person. NARASIMMA AMMAL v. SRINIVASA RAGHAVA IYENGAR AND OTHERS, 7 M.L.T. 89=33 M. 112=5 Ind. Cas. 760. (26 I.A. 226, R.)

Res Judicata*—continued.

—8.—Parties—continued.

(18)—Res judicata—Decision of matter between co-defendants necessary to give relief to plaintiff—Effect of such decision on subsequent suit.—A Hindu son instituted a suit for partition against his father and the alienee of the family property from the father. The plaintiff obtained a decree for his share in the property, it being held that the sale effected by his father was purely nominal and that the property did not pass. Subsequently, on the death of his father, plaintiff instituted a suit as his father's heir to get possession of the other half of the property on the ground that the sale-deed executed by his father did not pass the property. Held that as between the plaintiff's father and the defendant it was held that the sale was a nullity and as the adjudication was necessary in order to give the appropriate relief to the plaintiff in the prior suit the matter had become res judicata between the plaintiff and defendant, and that plaintiff was therefore entitled to a decree as prayed for. NAGASAMI v. SUNDARARAJAN, 2 M.L.J. 203.

(19) — As between defendants — Mortgage — Sub-mortgage.—A decree in favour of a plaintiff in a suit cannot be taken to have decided the rights inter se between the defendants, unless for the purpose of giving relief to the plaintiff it was necessary to adjudicate and the Court by that decree did adjudicate upon the rights as between the defendants. Where there is such an adjudication it becomes binding upon the defendants and constitutes res judicata in a subsequent suit between them. Where a mortgagee and his sub-mortgagee are defendants in a suit for redemption of the original mortgage by the original mortgagor and a decree is passed to redeem the mortgage, the relationship existing between the mortgagee and his sub-mortgagee comes to an end; and a subsequent suit for redemption of the sub-mortgage is barred. BALWANTRAO v. NARAYANSHET, 5 Bom L.R. 97.

(20)—S. 11, Civ Pro. Code, 1908—Co-defendants—Mortgagor and prior mortgagee.—In a puisne mortgagee's suit on his mortgage, the prior mortgagee was made a party defendant. The subsequent mortgagee questioned the validity of the prior mortgage on the ground that no consideration has passed. The mortgagor kept silence The Court held that the prior mortgage was a good mortgage and was for consideration. Subsequently the prior mortgagee brought a suit on his mortgage, making the subsequent mortgagee as well as the mortgagor parties to the suit. The mortgagor pleaded that it was without consideration: Held, that it was not open to the mortgagor in the second suit to question the validity of the prior mortgage. JAI NARAIN v. MITTHU LAL, 6 Ind. Cas. 375.

Res Judicata*—continued.

—8.—Parties—continued.

(21)—Estoppel by judgment—Suit for foreclosure—Prior suit between parties in respect of same matter—Finality of prior decision.—Where in a former suit the parties were the same, and appeared in the same capacity, and the same point was in issue, the judgment on such point is conclusive on those parties. It is not necessary that the form of action should be the same in each case. Suit for foreclosure. The present second and third defendants were the plaintiffs in the former action respecting one of the two houses comprised in the present suit, and the present plaintiff was a defendant the same mortgage was set up as in the present case; the present plaintiff had claimed as mortgagee under that instrument; and the Court gave judgment to the effect that the document in question was not genuine. In the present case, nine other houses were in litigation, but under precisely the same claim of right set up in respect of the self-same mortgage. Held that the present plaintiff was estopped by reason of the former judgment from having the present suit heard and determined. The addition of the mortgagor who made no defence in the present suit, did not make any difference. MOHIDIN v. MUHAMMAD IBRAHIM, 1 M.H C. 245. [F., 5 C. 832, 6 C. 715 =9 C.L.R. 216.]

(22)—Joint Hindu family — Mortgage by father—Foreclosure decree against father binding son's interest also.—Where a Hindu father, who was undivided in interest from his son, executed a mortgage of the joint family property, which mortgage was written by the son for his father, held that a foreclosure decree in a suit on the mortgage against the father alone was binding on the son's interests, also in the property, although he was not made a party to that suit. MAYARAM SEVARAM v. JAYVANTRAO PANDURANG, 5 B. 683, Note (2). [R., 5 B. 685, 7 B. 467, 9 B. 198; D., 10 B. 21.]

(23)—Estoppel—Inconsistent positions, litigants if should be permitted to take up—Mortgage by Hindu widow, suit on, for foreclosure—Reversioner joined as transferee, dismissed from suit on setting up title adverse to widow—Decree for foreclosure against widow—Suit by decree-holder to eject reversioner—Adverse title set up in defence—Suit decreed—Death of widow, suit by reversioner after, to recover, if lies.—Where a Hindu widow, B, who had executed a mortgage, was sued for foreclosure by the mortgagee, who also joined in that suit A, alleging him to be the transferee of the equity of redemption, but A, having in his written statement repudiated the mortgagor's title in the property and set up exclusive title in himself, was dismissed from the suit, and the mortgagee got a foreclosure decree against B, but, having been resisted when taking possession by A, sued A in ejectment, and A again denied the mortgagor's title and set up his own title adversely to hers, and it was held in that suit that the mortgagor B was the sole exclusive owner of the property and that A had no title in it: Held, in a suit by A, brought after the death of B, to recover possession, on the allegation that he was the reversionary heir of a predeceased son of B, to whom B had succeeded as mother, that the suit was barred by res judicata. That A could not be allowed to take up inconsistent positions. BHAGARATHI DAS v. BALESHUR BAGERTI, 17 C.W.N. 877.

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(24)—Civ. Pro. Code (1882), s. 13, expl. II (=s. 11, expl. IV, new Code)—Res judicata—Mortgage—Prior mortgage not pleaded in suit on subsequent mortgage.—It is not necessary for the application of s. 13, when expl. II applies, that the matter in question should have been heard and finally decided in the previous suit. (16 C. 682, P.C., 20 C. 79, 24 C. 711, Ibid, 616, R.)—In a suit by a subsequent mortgagee, the defendant who held three prior mortgages, omitted to rely on one of them. A suit, by the prior mortgagee, based on the mortgage omitted to be pleaded in the first suit, was held barred under expl. II to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code. SRI GOPAL v. PIRTHI SINGH, 20 A. 110, F.B.=A.W.N. 1897, 216. [Affirmed, 24 A. 429, P.C.; F., 31 C. 428; Cons., 1 C.L.J. 337; R., 26 M. 760, 1 C.L.J. 248, U.B.R. 1906, 3rd Qr., C.P.C., 46, 10 O.C. 145, 35 C. 979, 8 C.L.J. 82=12 C.W.N. 862.]

(25)—Prior and subsequent mortgages—Prior mortgagee made party to a suit on subsequent mortgage—Prior mortgage not set up—Parties—Prior mortgagee not a necessary party.—A prior mortgagee is not a necessary party to a suit wherein a puisne mortgagee seeks to sell the property subject to the prior mortgage. Where, however, the prior mortgagee is impleaded (though as a mortgagor of other properties) in the suit of the puisne incumbrancer, and is aware of the fact that the latter is seeking to sell the property without the burden of the prior mortgage upon it, and omits in that suit to set up his encumbrance, held, that a suit on foot of the prior encumbrance is barred by the rule of res judicata. GAJADHAR TELI v. BHAGWANTA, 10 A.L.J. 244=34 A. 599=16 Ind. Cas. 8.

(26)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13, expl. II—Res judicata—Mortgage.—In a suit upon a mortgage, the plaintiff made the appellants in this case defendants, because they set up a title to a portion of the mortgaged property as purchasers, and on no other ground. The defendants did not defend the suit. Subsequently, when the auction-purchaser in execution of the mortgage decree took possession, the appellants objected and instituted a suit. Held that this suit was barred by s. 13, expl. II of the Civ. Pro. Code. GOPINATH v. BALEO SAHAI, A.W.N. 1883, 40.

(27)—Benamidar, suit for redemption by—Dismissal of suit—Second suit by beneficiary—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—The plaintiff-respondent brought a suit for redemption of certain land on the ground that the land belonging to him had been mortgaged by his sister, whom he had left in charge of it, to the defendant's ancestor about twenty years ago. In a previous suit for redemption brought by the sister against the defendant's ancestor, the suit was dismissed on the ground that the transaction amounted to a sale and not a mortgage. It was also found in that suit that the sister had no personal interest in the land and had instituted the suit benamee for plaintiff. Held, that the present suit was barred by res judicata as the plaintiff was bound by the decree in the former suit. NGWE GYI v. SHWE BO, 3 L.B.R. 18. (3 A. 812, 18 A. 69, 15 M. 267, 22 B. 672, 1899 P.J.L.B. 512, Cited.)

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(28)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Benamidar.—When a benamidar brings a suit with the knowledge of the true owner, for the possession of property purchased in his name, and the suit is dismissed, a subsequent suit by the true owner for the same purpose is barred under s. 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure. SHANGARA v. KRISHNAN, 15 M. 267=2 M L.J. 93. [R., 18 A. 69, 22 B. 672, 13 C.P.L.R. 33, 21 A. 380, 4 C.W.N. 283, 3 L.B.R. 18, 30 M. 245=17 M.L.J. 174, 10 O.C. 263.]

(29)—Summons to appear—No appearance—Bindingness of decision.—A party who has been summoned before the Judge and has not appeared is bound by such decision.—Per Pontifex, J. NOBODEEP CHUNDER CHOWDHRY v. BROJENDRO LALL ROY, 7 C. 406=9 C.L R. 117. [Doubted, 12 C. 33.]

(30)—Principal—Agent—Contract.—A person, who chooses to treat a transaction as creating a contract of one description, sues upon it and fails, cannot be permitted to sue a second time upon it as creating a contract of a different description producing a different kind of liability. Accordingly, a previous suit where the plaintiff elected to sue the defendants as principals, was held to bar another suit on the same contract where the same defendants were charged as responsible agents under a usage of trade. DEVRAV KRISHNA v. HALAMBHAI, 1 B. 87. (2 C.W.N. 31, P.C.=9 M I.A. 539, F.) [D., 8 B. 175.]

(31)—Judgment based upon award of arbitrators—Question dealt with by such award raised in subsequent suit.—A question dealt with in an arbitration award, in accordance with which a judgment had been passed, is res judicata in a subsequent suit between the same parties. WAZEER MAHTON v. CHUNI SINGH, 7 C. 727=9 C L.R. 377. [F., 21 B. 465.]

(32)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata.—A purchaser at a Court sale represents the judgment-creditor in so far as he had a right to bring to sale the right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor in the property sold. Where, therefore, a plea of res judicata could be successfully raised in a subsequent suit, if a judgment-creditor were a party to it, it would likewise be available if the purchaser were a party instead. KRISHNABHUPATI DEVU v. VIKRAMA DEVU, 18 M. 13. (19 I.A. 203.) [D., 1 N.L.R. 150.]

Res Judicata—continued.

— 8.—Parties—continued.

(33)—Absence of title in vendor — Decision in previous litigation against third parties, effect of, as res judicata between vendor and vendee.—When, in a previous suit for possession instituted by the vendor and vendee jointly against third parties in possession, it was found that the vendor had no title, such decision as to his want of title would be res judicata in a subsequent suit by the vendee for recovery of the purchase money paid up and for damages. KRISHNAN NAMBIAR v. KANNAN, 21 M. 8.

(34)—Res judicata—Suit by some partners for dissolution of partnership—Opposition by other partners—Order of reference by consent—Subsequent suit by defendant partners for damages—Maintainability—Some members of a partnership business instituted a suit for dissolution, on the plea that the partnership was for a term and dissolvable at their option. The other partners opposed the suit and contended that they were entitled to damages at least for loss of profits. But, when the suit came on for settlement of issues, the defendants did not ask for an issue as to whether the plaintiffs were entitled to a decree for dissolution, and consented for an order of reference to chambers in order that the accounts of the partnership might be taken. Thereafter the defendants instituted the present suit for damages for loss of profits. Held that the order of reference amounted to an adjudication that, on the terms of the partnership agreement and in the event which had happened, the then plaintiffs were entitled to a decree for dissolution. It also amounted to an adjudication on the question of the right of the plaintiffs in the present suit to damages for the unexpired portion of the term of the partnership. Consequently, the present claim for damages was res judicata. NAGASAMY AIYAR v. RAMAIYAR, 12 M. L. J. 445.

(35)—Suit by Official Assignee on behalf of insolvent's creditors—Fraud of defendant, brother of insolvent—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 18—Civ Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 13, 43—Person made party for purposes of inspection and discovery only, whether subject to res judicata — Several joint wrong doers, judgment obtained against one, a bar to action against the others.—This was a suit brought on behalf of the creditors of an insolvent, by the Official Assignee against the brother of the insolvent. The Official Assignee alleged that the insolvent, before his adjudication, had arranged various fraudulent schemes with his brothers and others "for the purpose of concealing his property and defrauding his creditors. The fraud of the brother, the present defendant, was, the plaintiff alleged, only recently discovered. The main legal defences raised to the various claims were:—That the claims were barred by limitation under the Limitation Act XV of 1877, under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, the matters having been in issue and finally decided between the same parties in a former suit, under s. 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code, the plaintiffs having omitted to claim these moneys in the former suit in which the present defendant was a party, and that the two brothers were joint wrong-doers, and that the judgment against one was a bar to a suit against the other. On the question of the bar by limitation, held that though, ordinarily, such a suit would be barred in three years from the date when the Official Assignee became entitled to sue for the moneys due to the insolvent, there was, in this case, as alleged by the Official Assignee, evidence of fraud enough on the defendant's part to bring the case under s. 18 of the Limitation Act; the next two points turning on ss. 13 and 43 of the Civ. Pro. Code, depended on the question whether the admission of the present defendant on the record of the previous case as party for purposes of discovery made him a party for all purposes. The defendant was previously on the record only for a special purpose. He was merely a nominal defendant. No relief was asked from him, nor any decree passed against him. He was not a party to the former suit in such a way as to bring the present suit within the application of the said sections. On this point, it was held to be settled law that a judgment recovered against any one of several joint-debtors merges the remedy for the joint-debt, and is a bar to an action against a co-debtor upon the joint liability, and, similarly, in a matter of tort-feasance, a judgment against one of several wrong-doers is a bar to an action on the same matter against the others. Where judgment has been recovered against one wrong-doer, the other cannot be subsequently sued for the same matter, even if the judgment in the first action remains unsatisfied. RAHMUBHOY HUBIBBHOY v. C. A. TURNER, 14 B. 408. [Confirmed, 17 B. 342; R., 22 A. 307=A.W.N. 1900, 73; D., 6 Bom. L.R. 697.]

(36)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13—"Same parties."—An issue decided in a suit by a minor, by his next friend, in which the minor is only a nominal party and the next friend the real litigating party, would be res judicata in a subsequent suit by the next friend himself against the same defendant. KHUB CHAND v. NARAIN SINGH, 3 A. 812=A.W.N. 1881, 79. [R., 20 C. 418.]

(37)—Parties to suit—Defendant improperly impleaded as a minor—No objection raised by defendant during suit—Subsequent suit for declaration that decree was not binding on defendant—Estoppel.—A certain defendant was impleaded in a suit as a minor under the guardianship of his mother, who was his certificated guardian. He and his mother, jointly defended the suit, and, at no period, did the defendant raise the objection that he was not a minor

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

when the suit was instituted. A decree was passed in favour of the plaintiff and no appeal was preferred either by the defendant or his guardian ad litem. Held, that it was not competent to the defendant to sue subsequently, to have the decree declared not binding upon him, upon the ground that he was, in fact, of full age when it was instituted and that his mother had betrayed his interests. GANGA RAM v. MIHIN LAL, A.W.N. 1906, 73=3 A L.J. 187=28 A. 416. (20 A. 90, A.W.N. 1905, 229, D.)

(38)—Mother appearing as guardian in former suit—Minor, subsequent suit by res judicata.—Where, in a former suit, the plaintiff's mother, appearing as his guardian, conducted the defence, and the question in the present suit had been decided in the former suit, held, that the matter was res judicata, the Court presuming that the plaintiff's mother had the permission of the Court to appear and represent the minor's interest in the former suit. BONOMALEE KESH v. HUNGSHESSUR ROY, 17 W.R. 492.

(39)—*Suit for possession to Oudh talukdari—Representation of estate by widow of talukdar—*Res judicata—Parties to such prior suit—Manager under Act XXIV of 1870 (U.P.)—An order by the Privy Council, regarding the succession to an Oudh talukdari, in a prior suit against the widow of the last talukdar, determining the right to succeed as upon intestacy (a will by such talukdar authorising the widow to appoint a successor having been found to have been revoked), was, where a person (who had been appointed by the widow to succeed to the estate) claiming the estate in a later suit, contended that he would not be bound by such order on account of his minority at the time of the institution of the first suit, held, to bind such person on the ground that, the widow, holding an estate at least as large as that of a Hindu widow in husband's property, was the full representative of the estate in such first suit, the appointment made by her being such as would operate only on her death. (9 M.I.A. 604, F). It was held that, although the manager of the estate, appointed under the Oudh Talukdars' Relief Act (XXIV of 1870), had not been made a party to the suit, the omission would not affect the validity of the decree between the parties under s. 25 of the Act. PERTABNARAIN SINGH v. TRILOKINATH SINGH, 11 C. 186=11 I.A. 197, P.C.=4 Sar. 567. [Rel. on, 10 C.W.N. 955=33 C. 1001; D., 107 P.R. 1906=76 P.L.R. 1907; R., 29 P.R. 1895, 9 O.C. 339, 6 C.L.J. 490.]

(40)—Possessory suit—Whole question of plaintiff's title decided—Conclusiveness of decision—Res judicata.—Where the whole question of plaintiff's title was raised and decided in a former suit, held, that that decision was conclusive between the parties as to every portion of the land held under that title. NUND KISHORE v. HUREE PERSHAD MUNDUL, 13 W.R. 64. [R., 5 C. 832=6 C.L.R. 305, 6 C. 406=7 C.L.R. 251, 9 C.L.R. 216=6 C. 715.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(41)—Suit for property—Rights as between contesting defendant and non-contesting intervenors.—The intervenors, in a suit for property, who were allowed to put in their claim to a portion thereof but did not press it, could not institute fresh proceedings in respect of it against the contesting defendant, who lost both in the suit and on appeal, the decree in such suit being conclusive as between them. SHEO CHURN SINGH v. FAKERA DOOBAY, 6 C. 91=7 C.L.R. 69. (1 M. 312=5 I.A. 61, D.) [Principle applied, 9 C.L.R. 365].

(42)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code—Same question directly and substantially in issue in former suit—Parties in subsequent suit same as in previous suit, or their representatives—Binding nature of decree in previous suit.—A talukdar executed a deed of gift, in favour of his grandson by his first son, of nearly the whole of the talukdari estate. Differences arose, afterwards, between the talukdar and his grandson. The talukdar brought a suit for a declaration that, notwithstanding the deed of gift, the estate and the power to dispose of it by will, were vested in him. This suit was compromised. Sometime after, Rajah Rampal Singh, the grandson above referred to, conveyed by a registered deed certain villages in the estate to his wife. The talukdar and his second son filed a suit asking for the cancellation of the above deed and to displace the possession of the grantee. It was then held that, by virtue of the previous decree, Rajah Rampal Singh, above referred to, had only a life interest in the talukdari property, the subject of the previous suit. A little later on, in execution of a decree against Rajah Rampal Singh, a talukdari village was sold. Thereupon, another grandson of the talukdar, by his second son, brought a suit against the purchaser at Court-sale, the decree-holder and Rajah Rampal Singh for a declaration that, as immediate reversioner, by virtue of the first decree, he was entitled to the absolute estate in the mouzah sold after the death of Rajah Rampal Singh. The plaintiffs contended that they were claiming under the provisions of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, inasmuch as the previous suit had decided that the Rajah was entitled only to a life interest. Held, that the plaintiff's father was a party to the second suit and the question directly and substantially in issue was whether he had a contingent or vested interest under the compromise decree first passed. It was then held that the plaintiff's father had a vested interest in the properties in dispute and Rajah Rampal Singh only a life interest with remainder to the plaintiff. Held, consequently, the plaintiff was entitled to a decree by the rule of res judicata. RAJAH RAMPAL SINGH v. RAM GHULAM SINGH, 1 C.L.J. 46=27 A. 37=2 A.L.J. 237. P.C.=32 I.A. 17=8 Sar. 727. [R., 6 C.L.J. 621].

(43)—Karnavan — Member of a tarwad — expl. V, s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code—S. 30, Civ. Pro. Code.—A member of a Malabar tarwad claims under the karnavan, and is, as such, bound by a decree against the karnavan of the tarwad. [Anpr., 20 M. 129, F.B.; Cons., 10 M. 79; D., 5 M. 201, 6 M. 121.] Expl. (v) of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, is not limited in its language to a suit under s. 30. VARANAKOT v. VARANAKOT, 2 M. 328. [D., 6 M. 121.]

Res Judicata*—continued.

—8.—Parties—continued.

(44)—Decree against karnavan — Res judicata.—When a suit is instituted by the representative of the estate and on behalf of the tarwad, the junior members are constructively parties to the suit, unless fraud is shown, and they are bound by the decree passed in the suit. SUBRAMANYAN v. GOPALA, 10 M. 223. [R., 15 M. 19, 20 M. 129, F.B.]

(45)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, expl. V—Bona fide litigation by karnavan in representative capacity—Gross negligence in conduct of case—Non-production of necessary documents—No fraud or collusion—Operation of decision as res judicata on junior members.—Where a suit bona fide litigated by the karnavan of a Malabar tarwad in his representative capacity was conducted by him in a careless and negligent manner and necessary documents were not produced by him, the decision in the suit was binding on the junior members of the tarwad, inasmuch as there was no fraud or collusion on the part of the karnavan in the conduct of the suit. The fact that the Judges who tried the subsequent suit by the junior members in respect of the same matter attached great importance to the documents which were not filed in the former suit, did not prevent the operation of the rule of res judicata. MADHAVAYA v. KERALA VARMA, 13 M.L.J. 68.

(46)—Decision in suit between judgment-debtor and other members of his family to which judgment-creditor was party is res judicata in subsequent suit between other members of the family and judgment-creditor—Right of junior members of alyasantana family to sue for a declaration that judgment-debtor did not represent the family.—An ex parte decree was obtained against the yajaman of an alyasantana family. The yajaman sued the other members of his family for a declaration that the family property was liable for the payment of the above decree debt. The judgment-creditor was made party to the suit, which, however, was dismissed. The judgment-creditor, thereupon, attached certain immoveable property of the family in execution of his ex parte decree; but the other members of the family instituted a suit against the judgment-creditor and the judgment-debtor for a declaration that the attached property is not liable to be sold. Held that the decision in the prior suit was res judicata in the subsequent suit. The judgment-creditor had a right to appeal against the dismissal of the prior suit (7 M. 149, 28 M. 457, 29 M. 515, 9 C.W.N. 584, R.) and even if he had no right to appeal, that cannot have any effect upon the question of res judicata. It is open to the family to show that the judgment-debtor did not represent the family, when the debt was incurred. YUSUF SAHIB v. DURGI, 17 M.L.J. 260=2 M.L.T. 368=30 M. 447. [R., 17 M.L.J, 291, 7 M.L.T. 89, 9 M.L.T. 39=8 Ind. Cas. 337.]

(47)—Suit by or against manager of joint Hindu family—Effect of decree in such suit on other members of family.—The manager of a joint Hindu family can both sue and be sued in his representative capacity, and a decision fairly obtained against him is binding on the other members of the family and operates as res judicata in a subsequent suit. BINDHACHAL RAI v. GAYA RAI, 17 Ind. Cas. 290. (9 A.L.J. 819=34 A. 549=15 Ind. Cas. 126, 9 A.L.J. 844=34 A. 572=15 Ind. Cas. 138, F.)

(48)—Hindu Law—Hindu father with ancestral estate—Suit by father as representative of the estate—Subsequent suit by son with same issue raised again—Decision in previous suit how far final—Res judicata—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2.—Although, according to the Mitakshara law, the son takes by birth, an interest in the ancestral estate, yet, until a partition has been effected the father possesses large powers over the ancestral estate which he may exercise for lawful purposes in the interests of the family independently of his son. He fully represents the ancestral estate, or rather the joint family of which he is the head, in its relations to that estate, in litigation to which he is party respecting the estate, and the subordinate, associated members of the family as well as himself are bound by the result of such litigation. The decision in such a suit brought against the father and defended by him in the interests of the family, would be binding upon the sons although the suit may not have been brought against him as representing the family. Consequently, when in any case the question arises whether a decision obtained in a former suit regarding the ancestral estate to which the father was alone a party, does or does not bind the son who, though living, was not a party to it, the point to be considered is whether in such former suit the father represented the estate. If he did, the decision is, and if not, it is not, binding upon the son. ARJUN MULL v. JHUNDA MULL, 103 P.R. 1879. [R., 141 P.R. 1908.]

(49)—Joint Hindu family—Judgment against Hindu father—Effect—Son not entitled to bring subsequent suit on same cause of action.—In a joint Hindu family, suits instituted by a father for ancestral property or relating to joint family business are instituted by him as a manager representing his whole family, and not in his individual capacity as a mere member. So when a Hindu father brings a partition suit for the division of the ancestral property belonging to a joint family, the judgment passed against him in such a suit is binding on his son and bars the son from bringing a subsequent suit for the same purpose, on the plea that he was not a party to the prior suit. RAMAN MAL v. HEM RAJ, 141 P.R. 1908=189 P.W.R. 1908. (103 P.R. 1879, 68 P.R. 1903, 68 P.R. 1905, R.; 10 A. 411, 5 B. 685, 14 M.I.A. 367, D.)

Res Judicata—continued.

—8.—Parties—continued.

(50)—Civ. Pro. Code (1859), s. 2—Joint Hindu family—Decree against manager binds other members of family.—A decree against the managing member of a joint Hindu family may operate as res judicata as against the other members, although they were no parties thereto. Where a joint Hindu family consisted of an uncle and his two nephews, with the uncle as the managing member, and a decree was obtained in a suit against the managing member in respect of a certain land of the joint family, held that a subsequent suit by the nephews against the decree-holder and the managing member for the recovery of that land was barred by res judicata, especially where the nephews had assisted their uncle in defending the former suit and no collusion was proved between the parties therein. NARAYAN COP HABBU v. PANDURANG GANU, 5 B. 685. [F., 10 B. 21; R., 6 B. 703, 7 B. 467, 9 B. 198, 141 P.R. 1908; D., 10 A. 411.]

(51)—Joint Hindu family—Suit by or against one member—Decree binds other members.—Where the interest of a joint Hindu family is at issue and one member of that family has prosecuted a suit or has defended a suit, and a decree has been made therein, such decree may afterwards be considered as binding upon all the members of the family, their interest being taken to have been sufficiently represented by the party in the original suit. JOGENDRO DEB ROY KUT. v. FUNINDRO DEB ROY KUT, 5 B. 687, Note 1. [R., 5 B. 685.]

(52)—Dismissal of Hindu daughter's claim as heiress—Effect—Res judicata.—The dismissal of a Hindu daughter's claim as heiress to a share in a certain property, will bind the reversioner (in this case her son) after her. HARI NATH CHATTERJEE v. MOTHUR MOHUN GOWSAMI, 21 C. 8, P. C.=20 I.A. 183=6 Sar. 334. (9 M.I.A. 539, F.) [F., 20 A. 341=A.W.N. 1898, 65, 28 A. 241=2 A.L.J. 843=A.W.N. 1905, 270; R., 9 C.P.L.R. 59, 23 C. 636, 6 C.L.J. 462, 6 C.L.J. 490, 6 C.L.J. 621; Diss., 5 Bom. L.R. 885; D., 10 O.C. 159.]

(53)—Hindu widow—Suit by reversioners—Daughters bound by decision—Res judicata.—A finding in a previous contested suit brought against the widow by the reversioners would be binding on the daughters in a subsequent suit between them and the reversioners. BULCHA v. BHAWANI PRASAD, A.W.N. 1881, 106.

(54)—Hindu Law—Suit against widow—Representation of estate—Suit by reversioner—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13—Res judicata—Admission by widow subsequent to decree, effect of, on reversioner.—Where a suit by an alleged adopted son against the alleged adoptive mother, in which the latter denied the adoption, was dismissed under s. 158, Civ. Pro. Code, owing to the plaintiff not adducing any evidence, he was estopped by the decree in the suit, from setting up the adoption, in a suit by a reversioner for the recovery of the estate. And the right of the reversioner could not be affected by an agreement subsequent to the decree in the first suit, in which the widow admitted the adoption. ARUNACHALA v. PANCHANADAM, 8 M. 348. [R., 9 C.P.L.R. 59.]

(55)—Res judicata—Hindu widow—Reversioner.—A Hindu widow succeeding to her husband's estate as heir, represents the estate fully; and reversioners, claiming to succeed after her, are bound by decrees relating to her husband's estate, obtained against her without fraud or collusion. NAND KUMAR v. RADHA KUARI, 1 A. 282. [Appl., A.W.N. 1881, 106; R., 8 A. 365=A.W.N. 1886, 129, 29 P.R. 1895, 107 P.R. 1906.]

(56)—Suit by reversioner impeaching alienation by widow—Compromise by reversioner in good faith—Whether such reversioner's son can subsequently sue to set aside alienation.—Where a widow alienated certain property, and the whole of the reversioners then having any apparent rights sued and entered into a compromise in bona fides, they and their successors in title are clearly bound by their action; such action can only be attacked, by a more remote or subsequent reversioner, on the ground of mala fides. The principle that, in respect of ancestral land, succession is a right derived from the common ancestor who first acquired the land, is not one which interferes with the ordinary application of the principles of res judicata, limitation and the like. It is immaterial whether the compromise did or did not have the effect of improving the widow's estate, as regards the property left to her under the compromise. The reversioner's sons are bound by the compromise, whatever its effect might be. DEVI DIAL v. UTAM DEVI, 37 P.R. 1907=120 P.L.R 1907. (15 P.R. 1903, 97 P.R. 1906, Appr.)

(57)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Binding nature of previous judgment.—Where a suit for partition was brought by a person against his father, and a creditor was also added as a party and the son prayed in the suit for a declaration as against the creditor that that debt was not binding on his share of the properties, and this matter was eventually decided against him, in a subsequent suit brought by the creditor against both the father and the son, held that the son was concluded by the decision in the former suit as to the amount of the debt due to the creditor. KRISHNASWAMI AYANGAR v. SRINIVASA AIYANGAR, 11 M.L.J. 7.

(58)—Hindu idol or deity—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Suit by one shebait, binding nature of, on succeeding shebait.—The decision in a suit brought by one shebait is binding on a succeeding shebait. TULASIDAS MAHANTA v. BEJOY KISHORE SHOME, 6 C. W.N. 178.

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(59)—Civ Pro. Code, s 13, expl. 5—Res judicata—Mahomedans—Partition— Ex parte defendant.—In a previous suit by certain members of a Muhammadan family for their share, one of the defendants contended that one of the properties was his own, but this plea was decided against him. In a subsequent suit by the mortgagee of one of the defendants in the previous suit (who had remained ex parte) to recover his share of that property, the subject of the mortgage, in which both the above defendants were impleaded, the same plea was raised by the same contesting defendant. Held, with reference to expl. V of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, that it was res judicata, as the interests of the plaintiffs and the ex parte defendant in the previous suit were identical; and that, therefore, the title of the contesting defendant must be held to have been actively contested between him and the ex parte defendant under whom the plaintiff claimed. CHANDU v. KUNHAMED, 14 M. 324=1 M.L.J. 529. [Overruled, 28 M. 457=14 M.L.J. 404; F., 15 M. 264; Appr., 18 M. 164=4 M.L.J. 282; R., 21 M. 373.]

(60)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, expl. II (=s. 11, expl. IV, new Code)—Mahomedan Law—Previous suit for partition among heirs—Subsequent suit for dower debt—Res judicata as between co-defendants.— This was a suit by two daughters of a deceased Mahomedan for a large share of the estate of their deceased father on account of their deceased mother's dower. In a previous suit by some other daughters, the plaintiffs in the second suit, being defendants, did not set up the title of dower. It was held that the claim to dower was res judicata in the subsequent suit by virtue of expl. II to s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, not only against the plaintiffs to the former suit, but also as against the other defendants to that suit. DOST MUHAMMAD KHAN v. SAID BEGAM, 20 A. 81=A.W.N. 1897, 199. [R., 4 O. C. 108, 8 C.L.J. 369, 12 O.C. 347; D., 1 A.L. J. 394, 55 P.R. 1907=96 P.W.R. 1907=65 P. L.R. 1908; 11 O.C. 69.]

(61)— Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13 — Suit by Karnam for mirasi land—Dismissal of previous suit by his father—Res judicata.—Where, on a suit by a Karnam for recovering certain mirasi lands of his office, it appeared that a previous suit brought by his father, for the purpose, had been dismissed, the suit was held to be barred by res judicata, since the previous suit must be taken to have been brought by the father in the interest of all the future successors consequent on the jural relation between the office and the land. VENKAYYA v. SURAMMA, 12 M. 235. [R., 12 C.W.N. 739, 9 C.L.J. 597.]

(62)—Res judicata—Pro forma defendant—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13.—The plaintiff in a suit for certain property cannot be barred by the decision in the former suit for the same property by the plaintiff's tenant (a third party), merely because he was joined as a defendant therein. 3 C. 146, F.B., not in point. BROJO BEHARI MITTER v. KEDAR NATH MOZUMDAR, 12 C. 580, F.B. [F., 13 C. 352, F.B., 6 C.P.L.R. 87, 1 A.L.J. 363=27 A. 59=A.W.N. 1904, 162; Appl., 25 B. 74; Diss., 15 M. 264; R., 23 C. 693, 5 C.W.N. 421, U.B.R. 1907, Civ. Pro. Code, 5.]

(63)—Res judicata—Rent suit—Intervenor.—In a suit by plaintiff for arrears of rent against one set of tenants, defendant intervened, claiming a moiety of the whole estate. His claim was dismissed in the lower Courts and the case came up on special appeal. Meanwhile, plaintiff brought suits against another set of tenants on the same estate, in which defendant again intervened on the same ground as before. Held that the decision in the former set of cases, unless and until set aside in special appeal, was binding on the intervenor, even though the estate was of such value that the Court which passed the decrees in the rent suits would not have jurisdiction to try the title which was in dispute. PRAN NATH SANDYAL v. RAM COOMAR SANDYAL, 2 C.L.R. 33. [F., 9 C.L.R. 216.]

(64)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Question of title—Suit prior to Act X of 1859.—Where a rent-suit was instituted and heard in a Civil Court before Act X of 1859 came into force, and an issue as to title between plaintiff and an intervenor was raised and decided, held that a subsequent suit by plaintiff for possession was barred by s. 2, Act VIII of 1859. CHOWDHARI NILKANTH PRASAD SINGH v. DIGNARAYAN SINGH, 1 B.L.R. A C. 30=10 W.R. 75. (8 W. R. 175, D.) [R., 13 W.R. 129.]

(65)—Ss. 13, 562, 578 and 584—Civ.Pro.Code, 1882—Res judicata—Judgment not operating as res judicata—Value as evidence—Second appeal—Evidence, disregard of Finding of fact—Act VIII of 1885 (Bengal Tenancy), s. 149—Onus—Suit for rents in deposit—Question of title.—Where an order of remand by the lower appellate Court was not strictly in accordance with the provisions of s. 562 of the Code, held, that this amounted to an irregularity, such as was covered by the provisions of s. 578, of the Code. (5 C.W.N. 509=28 C. 324, F.; 14 C. 537, 17 C. 829, 8 C.W.N. 248, R.) Where, in a second appeal, the question was whether certain lands appertained to plaintiff's tenure. Held, that a finding of the lower appellate Court thereon, which amounted merely to an expression of opinion, could not be accepted as a finding displacing the finding of the first Court, and, further, that the lower appellate Court had erred in law in disregarding certain evidence without giving sufficient reasons for rejecting it. Where a suit was brought under the provisions of s. 149, cl. (3) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and the plaintiff made out a very strong case in support of his title to the rents in deposit. Held, that the onus was then shifted on the defendant, and that plaintiff was entitled to succeed, although he was not in a position to prove realisation of rents from the tenant, the plaintiff's case being that the defendant had been preventing her from realising them. Although the matter relating to the title of the plaintiff was not res judicata against the defendant, still the matter having been in issue in a suit, in which the defendant was a party, and that suit having been decided in favour of the plaintiff, and, in accordance with the decree passed in that suit, a conveyance having been executed in favour of the plaintiff's predecessor-in title. Held, that this constituted a strong case in favour of the plaintiff's title and possession, which it lay heavily on the defendant to displace. TRAILOKYA MOHINI DASI v. KALI PROSANNA GHOSE, 11 C.W N. 380. [R., 7 C.L.J. 40 Note.]

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(66)—Suit to declare that certain property is ijmalee—Dismissal—Subsequent suit for partition—Res judicata.—Where a claim to have certain property declared ijmalee has been dismissed, a subsequent suit for partition against a defendant who was a party to the former suit as well as against defendant not in possession, is barred on the principle of res judicata. SHAIKH BESHARATOOLLAH v. SHAIKH AJOO, 14 W.R. 195.

(67)—Previous suit—Decision as to liability of rent—Question as to proper measuring rod in subsequent suit not barred.—This was a suit for abatement of rent on the plea of decrease of area to the extent of certain beeghas. Defendant pleaded that, in a suit for arrears of rent decided in the year 1861, the area had been found by local enquiry and measurement not to be diminished by the amount stated by the plaintiff. The lower appellate Court, on defendant's appeal, held that the case was res judicata by the previous rent suit and that the plaintiff's present suit was therefore barred. The contention ofthe plaintiff on special appeal that the matter was not res judicata was accepted by the High Court on the ground that the rent suit did not directly decide what was now in direct issue—namely, whether 20 or 18 inches went to the cubit of the local standard of measurement; and further, the question relating to the area was as regards the area at the time of the present suit, and not as to what it was before the suit. SREEMUNT MUNDAL v. MEER ATHUR ALI, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 93.

(68)—Form of suit—Parties to suit—Effect of decision against intervenor in a rent suit.—When once it is made clear that the self-same right and title was substantially in issue in two suits, the precise form in which the suits are brought, or the fact that the plaintiff in the one suit was the defendant in the other, becomes immaterial, and the second suit would be barred by the judgment in the first suit.

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(15 B.L.R. 238, F.B. = 24 W.R. 154, F.) [F., 6 C. 715 = 9 C.L.R. 216, 9 C. 120; D., 12 C. 580, 5 C.W.N. 234.] If, in a rent-suit, a third party intervenes and a question of title is raised as between him and the plaintiff, upon which the whole case depends, he (intervenor) must be bound by the decision of that question, and cannot raise it again in any subsequent suit, whether as plaintiff or as defendant. GOBIND CHUNDER KOONDOO v. TARUCK CHUNDER BOSE, 3 C. 145 = 1 C.L.R. 35, F.B. [F., 3 C. 705 ; R., 5 C. 832 = 6 C.L.R. 318, 6 C. 406 = 7 C.L.R. 251, 12 C.L.R. 38.]

(69)—Res judicata—Partition among tenants—Suit by one for possession of certain plots—Second suit for declaration that the decree is null and void.—The parties were joint tenants of certain occupancy holding. Disputes arose between them, which were referred to arbitration. The arbitrators partitioned the tenure. In 1906 the present defendants brought a suit in the Civil Court for possession of the plots now in dispute, alleging that they belonged to them. The plaintiffs claimed some of them exclusively for themselves. The present defendants obtained a decree. The plaintiffs thereupon brought this suit for a declaration of their right, on the ground that the former decree was null and void, the Court having no jurisdiction to entertain that suit. Held, that the former suit was not a suit for partition, and the Civil Court had jurisdiction to entertain it. The same question could not be raised in the present suit. Per Stanley, C.J.—Joint tenants can agree themselves to occupy and cultivate distinct parts of the joint holding, provided their so doing in no way prejudices the land-holder. Under such an agreement, the tenants continue to be liable to the landlord for the entire rent, and the agreement between them is not a partition which is enforceable as between them and the landlord. A partition, to bind the landlord, must be a partition with his consent. RAGHUNATH KALWAR v. BALADEEN KALWAR, 7 A.L.J. 918 = 7 Ind. Cas. 398.

(70)—Litigating under different title—Suit not barred.—Where a plaintiff litigates not under the same title as in the former suit, the suit will not be barred. AHMAD KHAN v. MUSST. BHAGBHARI, 142 P.R. 1892.

(71)—Res judicata between co-defendants.—Where the parties to the present suit were ill-advised to ask to be made defendants in a previous suit and were accordingly added as parties but were not allowed to give any evidence therein, held, that the previous suit would not be binding upon them in the present case, as they were not allowed to adduce any evidence therein. AIN ALI v. JUGGUT CHUNDER ROY CHOWDHRY, 25 W.R. 416.

(72)—Res judicata — Judgment obtained against a dead man cannot operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit.—If a judgment be improperly obtained so that it never ought to have been signed, there can be no doubt, when set aside, it ought to be treated as never having existed. Where, therefore, a judgment was obtained against a dead man and subsequently another suit was brought against his representatives, it was held that the former judgment must be treated as never having existed, and that it could not operate as res judicata. Where causes of action are different the principle of res judicata does not apply. HAJI NOOR MAHOMED v. MACLEOD, 9 Bom. L.R. 274.

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(73)—S. 11, Civ. Pro. Code, 1908—Representative character.—Even though a person claims under, in the sense of deriving title from, another who was a party to a former suit in respect of the same subject-matter, yet if such another person did not fill that character before or at the time when the first person claiming derived his title from such another person, the first person claiming is not claiming as a party to that suit within the meaning of the section and is not concluded by the decision in such former suit. SHAM SUNDER v. BHAIRON PERSHAD, 51 P.R. 1894. (8 A. 324, R.)

(74)—S. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 (=s. 11, new Code)—Parties.—The principle of res judicata has no application in a dispute between parties, all of whom claim under the person in whose favour the decision in the previous suit was given. ASGHAR REZA KHAN v. MAHOMED MEHDI HOSSEIN KHAN, 30 C. 556, P.C. =30 I.A. 71=7 C.W.N. 482=8 Sar. 439.

(75)—Decision must be necessary for disposal of suit.—Questions decided in a suit between a plaintiff on the one hand, and a group of defendants on the other hand, are not to be considered as res judicata unless the determination of such questions was absolutely necessary for the determination of the plaintiff's own rights in the suit. ANTAO v. ARDESHIR, 1 Bom. L.R. 303.

(76)—Judgment not inter partes or in rem.—Held, that a judgment, which is not inter partes to a suit or in rem, does not make the question decided by it res judicata in a subsequent suit. But such judgment or the whole record in the previous suit is admissible as evidence that a right had in the previous litigation been set up unsuccessfully by one of the parties to the subsequent suit. AMAR SINGH v. SHANKAR SINGH, 105 P.W.R. 1912=142 P.L.R. 1912=14 Ind. Cas. 66. (12 A. 1, F.B., 24 B. 591=2 Bom. L.R. 386, 31 B. 143=9 Bom. L.R. 65, R.)

(77)—Res judicata—Judgment not inter-partes.—A judgment in a previous suit to which the present defendant is not a party cannot operate as res judicata upon the question of title in the present suit. GOOL KHAN v. TETAR GOALA, 4 C.W.N. 63.

(78)—Party to suit—Necessary party—Nominal party.—A judgment in a previous suit

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

does not operate as res judicata against a person who was merely a nominal party to the previous suit and who was under no obligation to make any defence in that suit. The test which distinguishes a necessary party from a nominal one is that there must be a conflict of interests among the defendants and the judgment must define the real rights and obligations of the defendants inter se. BALAMBHAT v. NARAYANBHAT, 2 Bom. L.R. 511=25 B. 74. [R., 5 C.L.J. 611, 36 C. 193.]

(79)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Parties to suits.—The question in this case was whether the present suit was barred by a decree made in a former suit which was dismissed. The plaintiffs in the prior suit were four in number. Two of them along with another were the plaintiffs in the present suit. Held, that the former suit could not be said to have been between the same parties or to have been brought by parties under whom the plaintiffs in the present case claimed. The present suit was therefore not barred by s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859. OOMESH CHUNDER ROY v. NOBIN CHUNDER MOJOOMDAR, 10 W.R. 457.

(80)—Nominal or pro forma defendants—Applicability to.—Where the plaintiffs in the subsequent suit have been merely pro forma defendants in the former suit, the suit is not barred by reason of the former suit. (Per Plowden, C.J., and Rivaz, J. Benton, J., Diss.) Per Benton, J.—Pro forma defendants and other defendants stand on the same basis and if a pro forma defendant does not show that he is substantially interested in the matter, the decree will bind him. ZAMAN ALI v. MANJI, 60 P.R. 1894. (19 C. 159, R.)

(81)—Res judicata—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 13, expl. II.—This was a claim by certain proprietors in a village, for a share of land recovered by suit by the defendants, other proprietors of the village on the death of an occupancy tenant, from persons who alleged themselves to be the tenant's representatives. It was urged in defence that the plaintiffs did not join the defendants in making the original claim. When the defendants impleaded them as pro forma defendants they did not defend the suit but asserted their right to share in any land which might be recovered from the original defendants; some of the plaintiffs even gave evidence for the defendants in the previous case. The Divisional Judge dismissed the suit on the ground that the decree in the previous suit was a bar to the claim. Held, that the judgment of the Divisional Court was wrong. There was no conflict of interests between the parties to the present suit, inter se and expl. II of s. 13, Civ. Pro. Code, was not applicable. SAHRI SINGH v. SHER SINGH, P.L.R. 1900, p. 409=70 P.R. 1900.

Res Judicata—continued.

——8.—Parties—continued.

(82)—Estoppel as between co-defendants, in a suit—Objection by respondent, under s. 348, Act VIII of 1859.—It is open to a respondent to take any objection under s. 348, Act VIII of 1859. A decision in a former suit cannot operate as an estoppel as between co-defendants in that suit or parties claiming under them. MUDHOO MOKEE DABEE v. GUNGA GOVIND MUNDLE, W.R. 1864, 299.

(83)—Decision as between co-defendants—Estoppel.—The decision of a Court as between co-defendants is not necessarily an estoppel in a subsequent suit to try their title. RAM CHAND SAMARDHAR v. KALA CHAND CHUCKERBUTTY, 1 W.R. 287.

